The mints have capacity for $45,000,000 of silver per year, without interfering with other coinage.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—All the banks here resumed currency payments to-day. Nothing unusual occurred and no excitement. Confidence seems restored and deposits exceeded drafts.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 27.—The bale of cotton donated by Colonel Creed Taylor, of Arkansas, for the benefit of the Memphis sufferers, and sold in that city for $1,500, and subsequently shipped to St. Louis and sold there for $90, was forwarded to this city and to-day sold on 'Change and purchased by the members of the Chamber of Commerce for $2,030.08. It will be shipped hence to some other city, to be again sold for the same purpose.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 27.—From Saturday to Sunday noon there were twenty-six yellow fever deaths, and eight from other causes. From Sunday noon to noon to-day there were fourteen from yellow fever and three from other causes.

Ice formed this morning. No new cases were reported at the Howard Association. They are discharging nurses.

Information gathered from all available sources goes to confirm the opinion that the yellow fever is rapidly decreasing. The warm rain of yesterday did not increase the number of new cases, as was feared. On the contrary, there have been fewer applications for nurses to-day than since the beginning of the plague. The rooms of the Howard Association are crowded with nurses, waiting application, and at noon the association began discharging them, as there is every assurance that the scourge is routed.

MOBILE, Oct. 27.—There have been nineteen deaths from yellow fever here since the disease first appeared. No deaths reported within the past forty-eight hours.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Oct. 27.—Five yellow fever deaths have occurred during the past forty-eight hours.

The Alabama State Fair has been postponed from November 2 to November 18.

SHREVEPORT, Oct. 27.—There have been eight interments in the city cemeteries during the forty-eight hours ending at four P. M.

MARSHALL, TEXAS, Oct. 28.—Total number of deaths from yellow fever since the appearance of the disease, sixty, of which twenty-two were last week. There was a good frost last night, and ice an eighth of an inch thick this morning. There are prospects of black frost to-night, which, it is hoped, will prevent a further spread of the fever. Now (seven P. M.) the mercury stands at forty.

It is estimated that there are at least sixty cases under treatment in the city and country.

Five more New Orleans nurses arrived to-day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The German government has taken an additional $3,000,000 of American five per cents., making a total of $10,000,000 taken by the German government.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The Board of Aldermen appropriated $50,000 for Memphis, in answer to the appeal of the municipal authorities.

FOREIGN.

ROME, Oct. 23.—It is reported that the father general of the Jesuits has transferred the headquarters of the order to Malta. Cardinal Pitra is about to leave for France, it is understood, on a mission from the Vatican to French bishops.

VIENNA, Oct. 23.—The German Emperor and Bismarck visited the exhibition yesterday. They expressed a particular desire to see the American machinery in motion, and were conducted through the department of the United States, where they examined several of the most curious inventions. As the Emperor approached the French department many of the exhibitors left the premises.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—The Memorial Diplomatique says Count DeChambord has assured foreign powers that his policy will not be aggressive, and that he will not attempt to reinstate the Pope in his temporal possessions.

The King of Saxony is dead.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Sir Samuel Baker, recently from Africa, is seriously ill with inflammation of the lungs.

GLASGOW, Oct. 26.—Nothing has been heard from the Ismalia, nearly one month out from New York.

HAVANA, Oct. 27.—A telegram from Spain announces that the government is getting steam transports ready to carry five thousand more troops to Cuba before November 30.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Rev. Dr. Parker, a delegate to the Evangelical Alliance at New York, has returned home. He preached at Exeter Hall last night, and spoke in the highest terms of the institutions, resources and future of the United States.

ROME, Oct. 27.—The Jesuits will quit their establishments on November 2, and nearly all will go to private houses. The father general of the society proceeds to Belgium.

---

THE citizens of New Orleans, says the Picayune, will be glad to learn that their old friend, the Rev. Dr. Newman, late chaplain of the United States Senate and some time missionary at this point, is doing well. Notwithstanding the distinguished services he rendered "the party of great moral ideas" in illegally holding Southern church property till forced to give it up, he was not rewarded with a bishopric; but the President, who has an eye for merit and is a judge of men, gave him the position of inspector of consulates. It appears that he likes the situation, for he writes back to signify his intention of remaining abroad a year longer. Possibly he has found the labors of his office too onerous to be thoroughly discharged in the time originally contemplated; just possibly he rather likes foreign travel at the government expense.

We hope Dr. Newman is paid by the job and not by the day; and we hope that his reports will, as a rule, be more closely observant of fact than were certain statements which he promulgated in the North relative to matters here.

---

A RECENT VICTIM says that the devices which dentists use to persuade one to have a tooth out are "tooth in."

---

WHAT burns to keep a secret? Sealing-wax.

---

BEST tent for the summer—Content.

From the Work.

LIND GROVE CIRCUIT, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: We have held a series of protracted meetings at five different places, closing the last yesterday. Some of these were extraordinary seasons of rejoicing, while all resulted in great good to the church, reviving the membership, and adding others, who have taken up their line of march for the kingdom in a manner worthy of imitation, provoking others to better works. We have baptized quite a number of infants and adults; had eighty-five accessions and a large number of conversions, and all the various interests of the church quickened. Among the rest the Mexican mission came in for a liberal share; over $100 already pledged for its support. Also a lot of ground secured upon which to build a parsonage, with nearly $500 raised by subscription for its erection; and the prospect good for the balance. In the meantime the work is to proceed. While something has been done, yet there is much more to be done. We look forward to the time when a corresponding revival shall obtain among us in the way of church-building.

We would say to the brethren: "Spur up" if you do not wish to be left behind in the Conference collections. Though we be a "feeble folk," yet I trust "God is our strength and portion forever." Pray for us.

T. H. McCLENDON.

PLANTERSVILLE, LA., Oct. 14, 1873.

---

PAULDING CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: The camp meeting on the Paulding circuit is over. The first sermon was preached on Thursday night, and the exercises closed the next Wednesday morning. This is a new camp ground, just established last fall. We had but few tenters last fall, but this fall we had about twenty-five regular ones, besides a number of cloth-tents, and wagons without number. On Sunday there must have been twenty-five hundred persons in attendance. Notwithstanding the magnitude of the crowd, the strictest order and decorum was observed, and all seemed attentive, and exceedingly respectful to the place and occasion. Much interest was manifested, and we have no doubt much good was accomplished. I think not less than fifty professed faith in Christ. We had thirty-six accessions to the church, and baptized ten children. All who took part in the services were greatly blessed. The following itinerant ministers were in attendance: W. B. Hines, our presiding elder, T. B. Philips, G. M. Gilmore, J. E. Taylor, T. S. West, A. Y. Armstrong, L. P. Meador. Local ministers: John Watts, John R. Cox, D. A. Little and A. M. Fikes. I have received, up to date, sixty-five into the church, and have baptized twenty children, and I have two more protracted meetings yet to hold.

J. B. HOLLAND, P. C.

P. S.—There will be a camp-meeting on the Paulding circuit, Mississippi Conference, embracing the first Sabbath in October, 1874.

PAULDING, Oct. 16, 1873.

---

REMBERT HILLS CIRCUIT, ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: The church at every appointment in this charge has been visited with revival power. At the old Easley camp ground the meeting resulted in profit to the church and four accessions.

At Wesley chapel we had a season of refreshing and seven accessions. At Magnolia the third quarterly meeting was continued five days, resulting in many conversions and forty-five accessions. Bro. Briggs, the presiding elder, was with us most of the time, laboring with his accustomed zeal and ability.

At Hampden the indications at first were discouraging. The unconverted part of the congregation was composed of those who had successfully resisted the faithful efforts of all the surrounding meetings. The faith of the church began to fail. But not so with the indefatigable pastor, Bro. Pilley. To fail did not enter into his calculations; and his efforts were crowned with glorious triumph. Quite a number of conversions and twenty-five accessions. Thus is closing a Conference year of unusual religious prosperity for Rembert Hills circuit. With these encouraging results it is proper to speak of the causes which have worked them. 1. In the early part of the year the faithful and efficient pastor, Bro. S. A. Pilley, organized his forces by holding church meetings. 2. Diligence in the circulation of our church literature. 3. Sunday schools were organized and put in good working order. 4. Encouragement was given to family religion to the extent that the number of family altars was raised from six to thirty in a few months. These are the efficient causes. Such causes are never fruitless. Thank God for a faithful, self-sacrificing, living ministry.

GEORGE F. ELLIS.

OCTOBER 20, 1873.

---

SALEM CAMP MEETING.—Mr. Editor: This meeting was held at old Salem camp ground, Jackson county, Mississippi, which has been a yearly resort as such for more than thirty years, where many ministers have labored and many souls have been converted. The religious influence is felt from this camp ground in all the region around it. The people who camp and worship at this sacred place are plain, pious people, without show or ostentation. They come together to worship God in the simplicity of the gospel. Their hospitality is as proverbial as their Christian plainness and earnestness. There were only four preachers present—C. F. Gallaspie, presiding elder, P. H. Napier, preacher in charge, Rev. David Merchant, pastor at White Plains, and Rev. John Ward, a local preacher. The services commenced on Thursday, the sixteenth, and closed on Monday morning, the twentieth instant. The meeting was a good one; some capital sermons preached; some twenty to thirty conversions (supposed,) and the membership greatly blessed. Quite a number joined the church. One of the features of the meeting was the prayer meetings in the woods after the three o'clock services closed. On Sabbath evening the brethren retired south and the sisters north. They had conversions at both points. The membership was much stirred up. Each wing returned to the arbor singing and praising God. They met at the stand without any other signal than songs and praises. The whole people assembled, and a most glorious outpouring resulted, such as we seldom see. Soon the thronged passages to the altar were opened, and mourners crowded in, and filled the altar, nearly all of whom were converted in a short time. We may say that for about two hours the meeting seemed to need neither preacher nor leader, for the people worshiped, prayed and praised God in earnest simplicity, and great power attended. The preacher in charge requested me to write a brief report for your excellent paper. There were no preachers and few people from abroad. Come to Salem next year. You will not regret it, and the people will appreciate it. The writer traveled about seventy miles to it, and was amply rewarded. God bless the camp meetings. They are being revived almost everywhere.

OCTOBER 23, 1873.

---

OUR MEETING AT ARMSTRONG CHAPEL.—Mr. Editor: Through the request of the minister in charge, Bro. L. F. Dowdell, whose time is wholly occupied as the Conference year draws to a close, I give you an account of our meeting, which has just closed, and which has resulted in great good. It was held in a neat country church, situated in Macon circuit, Alabama, on the road leading from Auburn to Tuskegee. We have a flourishing Sunday school, and have preaching frequently, apart from Bro. Dowdell's appointment, which is on the third Sabbath in every month.

On the third Sabbath in September indications of deep interest were manifested, and the meeting was continued, Bro. Dowdell being assisted by Bros. A. Tatum and William Menefee, also by Bros. Crawford and Green. From the first sermon, which was preached on Saturday previous by Bro. Crawford, there was a feeling of interest, and on Sabbath, at the eleven o'clock service, the altar was crowded with mourners—honest, earnest seekers after truth. On Monday the meeting commenced with power. It was varied as a prayer and experience meeting among the members. Again at eleven the altar was crowded with mourners, and the church, as before stated, gathered near them to aid in prayer, in admonition and singing, and in all that pertained to a labor of love among Christians. Our Baptist brethren and sisters also were with us, uniting their words of prayer and praise from time to time. The church was kept moving all the time—no time to be idle. In some cases whole families were gathered in; in others the wife joined the husband, and in three cases husbands and wives all together; in other cases there were orphan brothers and sisters, whose parents had preceded them to heaven, and whose parting injunctions were: "Strive to meet us." They also are among the happy number gathered in. It was joyful indeed to hear their shout of praise as it echoed: "Reunion in a better world." The meeting had all along been honored by two venerable ministers, Bros. Tatum and Menefee, who preached and exhorted with great zeal and power, whose rejoicing "was joyful to see," and whose exhortations to faithfulness, in connection with their own Christian course, will long be remembered by both young and old of this community. We had two sermons also from Bro. Mangum at the close of the meeting. He is the stationed minister in Tuskegee.

During the entire service of two weeks the most profound respect pervaded the congregation in attendance. At intervals during that time the ordinance of baptism was administered, and on the last Sabbath the Lord's Supper was also commemorated. The young converts, forty in number, joined in the communion service. It was a gracious, a solemn time—one long to be remembered. Among the number were twenty young gentlemen of our immediate section.

MRS. M. E. POPE.

NOTASULGA CIRCUIT, Oct. 19, 1873.

---

ONE MORNING Patrick went out very early in search of some game on an estate where the game laws were strictly enforced. Turning a sharp corner, whom did he meet but the gentleman who owned the estate. Patrick, seeing the game was up, coolly advanced toward the gentleman and said: "The top of the morning to your honor; and what brought your honor out so early in the morning?" The gentleman replied by saying: "Indeed, Patrick, I just strolled out to see if I would find an appetite for my breakfast," and then, eyeing Patrick suspiciously, said: "And now, Patrick, what brought you out so early this morning?" Patrick replied: "Indade, your honor, I just strolled out to see if I could find a breakfast for my appetite."

The Evangelical Alliance.

MR. EDITOR: There exists considerable misapprehension in regard to the denominational composition of the Evangelical Alliance. This composition was not as general as supposed. Numerically the representatives of the Reformed and Presbyterian churches were largely in the ascendant. The Lutherans of the old and this country especially stood suspiciously aloof. Being surprised at this, knowing that among Protestants the Lutheran Church is the most influential, I found an explanation in the Luth. Zeitschrift, published at Allentown, Pennsylvania, which, for the benefit of your readers, I translate. The paper named says:

"Pedagogical theologians, having no knowledge of the practical pastorate, nor conscientious scruples in regard to doctrinal differences, may espy from their altitude a possibility of all Protestants unitedly reaching out toward a common object. But upon a little reflection the actual state of things appears quite different. I shall, for instance, sit with a Methodist brother on the same bench, and consult with him about the sufferings of the Lutherans in the eastern provinces of Russia. But coming home, I find that that same brother holds a protracted meeting, allures my members to his church, stating affectionately that the Lutheran preacher means very well, is a good fellow, but can do no more than bring poor sinners to the 'narrow gate'—not through it. Or, peradventure, I am on a committee, with a Baptist brother, to report about the most feasible method of evangelizing the Turks; but this brother deems me practically a heathen, for he declares my baptism in infancy as without value. He, going home, contrives ways and means to rebaptize my members, and builds up a Baptist congregation at the expense of my church. Or, again, I'm thrown together with an Episcopal clergyman, to prepare a document setting forth the true relation of the Church to the State; but on to-morrow, buttoning his coat again tightly, this same man will declare publicly and privately that I am not even an ordained minister, because a bishop of 'regular succession' did not ordain me.

"This is not fiction; it is taken from actual pastoral life. It is manifest hypocrisy for the Alliance to cry, 'Peace! peace!' when practically there is no peace. I cannot do otherwise than call the Alliance a rope of sand, because the necessary prerequisites—reciprocal respect and confidence among the various Protestant churches—are altogether wanting."

A.

Temperance.

At the regular meeting of the Homer District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, held at Homer, Louisiana, September 3-8, 1873, the committee on temperance made the following report, which, with the accompanying resolutions, was received, adopted and spread on the minutes, as follows:

Your committee on temperance have endeavored to collect statistics from all sources which presented themselves, and find that some of the brethren composing this District Conference have faithfully tried to carry out the spirit of their own resolution, as adopted at the last Annual Conference, and have found that, by giving encouragement to the organization known as the Temperance Reform, much good has been done.

With regard to this order your committee beg to report as follows, to wit:

In this organization in the State of Louisiana there are one thousand two hundred and sixty members, all of whom have been enlisted in the cause during the past three years.

This number is distributed almost entirely within the bounds of this district, and is composed of persons of different denominations of Christians, and also of persons not members of any church, all of whom are enlisted in twenty-six subordinate councils, together making the Grand Council of the State of Louisiana.

These councils are so many shining lights and sacred retreats furnishing protection to the sober young men of the country, gathering into their folds the confirmed inebriate and moderate drinker, assisting them to throw off the shackles of intemperance and to resist the allurements of King Alcohol.

In view of the above facts we submit the following resolutions, to wit:

Resolved, That we recommend to the favorable consideration of our people, within the bounds of our respective charges, the order of the Temperance Reform.

Resolved, That we invite D. B. Hayes, G. W. A. D., and M. R. Bryan, G. R. and F. S., and others traveling in the interest of the order of the Temperance Reform, to our respective charges.

Resolved, That the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE be requested to publish this report.

ROBERT PARVIN,
Chairman.

---

BOSWELL once asked Johnson if there was no possible circumstance under which suicide would be justifiable. "No," said Johnson. "Well," said Boswell, "suppose a man had been guilty of fraud, and that he was certain to be found out." "Why, then," was the reply, "in that case let him go to some country where he is not known, and not to the devil, where he is known."

Dishonesty.—The Remedy.

MR. EDITOR: Those were fearful truths and faithful warnings you recently announced on the subject of dishonesty. We are anxious to discover, if possible, the causes and the remedies for the prevailing lack of pecuniary honesty. Perhaps it is a proper time to study this question, while the consequences of our follies and of our sins are pressing heavily upon us. To the credit system we think a large portion of the dishonesty in the land, as well as of the financial calamities now upon us, is to be attributed. By the operation of the credit system every man becomes a link in a chain, any one link of which being broken the whole chain is vitiated. A thousand honest men are thus put at the mercy of a single dishonest man, so far as their ability to pay their debts is concerned. If one man choose to pocket his money, and fraudulently refuse to pay his debts, he thereby deprives a thousand men, who are anxious to discharge their obligations, of the means of doing so. But it may be asked: How are we to avoid using credit? How is a man without capital to get a start? The best way to get capital is to work for it, and not to borrow it. Work for wages till you can have capital of your own. You cannot afford to use another's capital; for if you lose it you have nothing with which to replace it. If you lose your own you can make more. I know of no stronger temptation to dishonesty than the credit system. As soon as a man finds that he owes more than he has means to pay he begins to inquire how he can get rid of his debt without paying it. If all he has will not pay all he owes, then less than all will pay a part, and he thinks of hiding a portion or all from his creditors. Why cannot men learn to make their money the year before they spend it, instead of risking the making of it the year after? Make your money before you spend it, and you will save half at least. You will buy less and buy cheaper. We have tried this rule, and it has worked to our entire satisfaction thus far through life.

Another reason of the dishonesty prevalent in our day is to be found in the inadequacy of the laws for the collection of debts. Other things being equal, dishonesty will prevail in exact proportion to the facilities for escaping the obligation to pay debts. A wise man has said that the "borrower is servant to the lender;" and we think he ought to be till he returns what he has borrowed. When one man has had the benefit of another's labor or property, not only his property, but his person, his muscles, skill and all resources he may possess, are bound for the return of the equivalent. So long as the law hunts for property, and, finding none, discharges the debtor, general honesty can never prevail. A false principle can never work truth in its results. A man who owes a debt belongs in justice to his creditor till the debt is paid. Let the law enforce this idea, and would debts be contracted as recklessly as they are? Let the law hunt the man who owes, and hold him deprived of liberty till he finds or makes property sufficient to pay his debts, and the amount of indebtedness would wonderfully diminish. This is, of course, no new principle. The ancient Roman and Jewish codes recognized it as a fundamental principle of justice that a man's life and labor should be held bound for his debts. This may appear to some harsh or severe; but we are looking for that justice which lies at the foundation of our religion. "What doth the Lord thy God require of thee but to do justly." A Christianity which ignores or overlooks this essential element of justice will be found false in foundation, and feeble and unsound in all its developments. "Owe no man anything;" but if you do owe, place yourself, as well as all you have, at the disposal of your creditor till all is paid. From the universal and almost unlimited extension of the credit system have arisen loose notions of the moral obligation of debts, which, being countenanced and even encouraged by a feeble legislation on the subject, have resulted in a woeful deficiency of genuine honesty among the people. It is to be hoped that the calamitous effects of these errors will help us to discover and apply the remedy.

H.

---

JOSEPH BARKER, who was, during former years, probably the most able and successful champion of infidelity in England or this country, and whose lectures against the Bible, in this and other cities, attracted great attention, is expected to spend Sunday, August 31, in this city, and will give at that time an account of the wonderful change in his views which has recently taken place, and will tell of his personal experience of the power of Jesus to save, even from such darkness and error as once filled his mind. Men who have heard Mr. Barker recently speak with amazement of the wonderful unction and power which accompany his simple relations of the mighty change wrought in him.

---

"LET GO THAT JIB, let go that jib, quick!" shouted the captain of a down East sloop to a raw hand in a squall. "I ain't touching yer jib!" replied Jonathan indignantly.

---

GOD hath promised pardon to him that repenteth, but he hath not promised repentance to him that sinneth.

---

THE softer the head the harder the work of driving anything into it.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1873.

"It is finished." JOHN XIX. 30.

[illegible]—no, not a shilling;
[illegible]—no, not a fee:
All that was needed to deliver to me
Jesus has done (in his own blessed way)

[illegible]—no, not a stroke;
Gone is the captor, gone is the yoke:
Jesus at Calvary severed the chain
And since can imprison his freeman again.

[illegible]—no, not a jot;
[illegible]—no, not a spot:
Christ is my peace, and I've nothing at stake
Satan can hurl neither harass nor shake.

[illegible]—all has been paid:
[illegible]—peace has been made:
Jesus alone is the sinner's resource;
Jesus he has made by the blood of his cross.

[illegible]—I'm thankful to say
Jesus has met it and borne it away:
Dreadful it all up when he hung on the tree,
Leaving a cup full of blessing for me.

[illegible]—it hasn't a place
In a heart that is filled with a sense of his grace:
My peace is divine, and it never can cloy,
And that makes my heart overbubble with joy.

[illegible]—no, not a shade;
[illegible] the blood let any remain
My conscience is purged and my spirit is free—
Fullness that blood is to God and to me.

[illegible]—ah, there I rejoice!
[illegible] its claims and silenced its voice:
He was fulfilled when the work it is all done,
Satan never can speak to a justified one.

[illegible]—it hasn't a sting;
[illegible] to a Christian no terror can bring,
Death has been conquered, the grave has been spoiled,
Every foeman and enemy foiled.

[illegible]—ah, feint not to them!
[illegible] my standing? "Who shall condemn?"
God is for me, there is nothing so clear,
Satan and man I have nothing to fear.

[illegible]—ah, that I may bring Offering a holy, acceptable thing:
Jesus is the temple where Jesus abides,
The temple where God by his Spirit resides.

[illegible]—no, thanks be to God,
Jesus the ransom is settled—the price was the blood:
Precious the blood of the victim, a ransom divine:
Believe it, poor sinner, and peace shall be thine.

[illegible]—Jesus, my Lord,
Will come down the sky and roll up the cord:
Home with himself in the mansions above,
Reigning forever his matchless love.

London Christ ian.

Modern Culture.

(See page 119.) "The child of twelve years old to-day, who has been taught to look through nature up to nature's God, knows more of the grand purposes of existence, the great mysteries of life, than he at whose feet the Queen of Sheba sat in adoring wonder." Where did this child of twelve years old learn so much? Not in Sunday school, not from the Bible, but from science—by "looking through nature up to nature's God." Does he mean to say that this child, by any means, knows more of God than Solomon did? It would seem so, for otherwise why should he be "looking through nature up to nature's God." Then let him bring forward this child to teach Tyndall and Thompson; for they, by "looking through nature," have not been able to find a god who can answer prayer. Let him come to teach Herbert Spencer; for he, by "looking through nature," has not been able to find a personal god—only the persistence of force. I tell you, Mr. Editor, the scientific world needs the help of that child. If you compare "Modern Culture" with the same number of pages from the Proverbs, you may reach the conclusion that the writer himself needs the help of that wonderful child. If he means that this child of twelve years old knows more of railroads and telegraphs and lucifer matches—more of the results of physical science—than Solomon did, we concede it. But if he means no more than this, to what legitimate elements does he reduce "the grand purposes of existence, the great destinies of life." But this is not the worst of it. By implication he makes this child of twelve years old wiser than Christ; for either Christ knew this better method of "looking through nature," or he did not. If he did know it, and did not teach it, he was not wise; for wisdom is the choice of the best means for the attainment of the best ends! If he did not know the better method, then the child is not only wiser than Solomon, but also wiser than he who "spoke as never man spake."

(See again page 114, second paragraph.) Here he avows the inference we have drawn above. "In the infancy of the human race a theocracy was a necessity. * * * With an unlettered intellect, uncultivated heart and untried will, it was well for him that Jehovah was the oracle of his thought. But to superinduce such a civilization as that upon the modern mind would be just as absurd as to offer the breast of the mother to him who has expanded into the full vigor of manly maturity. The alphabet of life was to be learned, and God was the only being who could teach it. Hence the necessity out of which among the Jewish theocracy. But with that necessity passed away that in which it had given birth." Here two things are patent. First, that the writer considers a "theocracy" or a divine government as only adapted to "the infancy of the human race;" second, that in leaving the "theocracy" or the divine government there was an advance. Both of which contradict the facts as stated in Scripture. The people demand a king, and God said unto Samuel: "They have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me, that I should not reign over them." The people confess, amid the manifestations of his divine anger: "We have added to all our sins this evil: to ask us a king." Here is such an advance as Adam made by eating the forbidden fruit, or as Cain made by killing his brother. The idea of advance by leaving the divine government is not original with our author. The serpent preached it to Eve: "In the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods." To reject the divine government is to advance in civilization; to make "Jehovah the oracle of thought" is to stultify man—to make him a babe again! I suppose he could not pray: "Thy kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." The answer to that petition would restore the "theocracy." "To superinduce such a civilization as that" would be to remand the human race back to the "breast of the mother!" According to this view the "New Jerusalem"—the grand metropolis of the universe—would be a very uncivilized place, since the government is a pure "theocracy." In the other place we may expect to find a "higher type of civilization;" for indeed they are not trammeled by having "Jehovah the oracle of their thought," but they "think with their own minds, feel with their own hearts, act with their own wills." (See next paragraph.) But, really, if men, all men, do not "think with their own minds, feel with their own hearts," with whose minds and hearts do they think and feel? We hold that to advance from the divine to the human is to "advance by a retrograde movement."

But what does he mean by the scientific method, which might even have saved Romanism, and which he seems to regard the light of the world and the salt of the earth? I suppose he does not mean the method of the mathematician, though his is a "scientific method." He does not mean the Baconian method of induction, nor the Descartean method of deduction; for these methods might suggest the possibility of philosophy. The method of philosophy is by the widest generalization to harmonize the sciences. The possibility of a philosophy will therefore depend upon the possibility of harmonizing the sciences. If the sciences be complete and harmonious, then a philosophy is possible. But if science be mostly terra incognita, then we shall have a chaos and not a cosmos—then philosophy is impossible. Take, for instance, his one "true philosophy, the survival of the fittest," let it run on till we have the "descent of man" from an ape, by "insensible" graduations. This, indeed, does not even have the sanction of comparative anatomy, else why the resort to "insensible" graduations. If this be the "scientific method," it will not bear the test of the philosophic method. Philosophy requires that it should harmonize with the teaching of other sciences. Psychology teaches that man is peculiar, distinguished the poles asunder, from the lower animals, by his capacity to generalize, to form conceptions. Max Muller has shown that no animal below man has ever been able to use language, properly so called. Philosophy cannot therefore recognize the theory of man's development from any of the lower animals. The reader may see here the reason why he denounces "all philosophy as a stupendous failure." Yet in clinging to our "true philosophy, the survival of the fittest," he reminds us of what has been related of Thomas Jefferson's brother, who, when the fine mansion was in flames, fiddled and danced, crying: "Never mind the house. I have saved my fiddle!" By the scientific method I suppose he means experiment and observation. Let us try this method on some articles of the creed. I know he sneers at "fossil dogmas." But I suppose no one will give up that "fossil" creed, commonly called "the apostles'," because he dogmatizes against "dogmatism." Let us test the "scientific method" on the creed. "I believe in God the Father. * * * In Jesus Christ. * * * In the Holy Ghost." Can he by experiment and observation distinguish between Father, Son and Holy Ghost? Can he thus manifest the unity of the triune personality? Or will he reject all this as mere "dogmatism," not demonstrable by the "scientific method." Take further: "Conceived by the Holy Ghost." Is this within the ken of observation or within the range of experiment? If not, it must go as mere "dogmatism." So must the "resurrection" and the "judgment." By the "scientific method" we transpose the scriptural method so that we walk by sight, and not by faith.

But the worst is yet to come. (See page 119, third paragraph.) "Upon those who reject the deliverances of modern science, simply because they cannot find them in the formulas of their creeds, we pronounce the anathema which Christ himself hurled against those who took away the keys of knowledge in his day." Wesley, Clark, Olshausen, all agree that "the key of knowledge" is not the knowledge of Scripture in general, but the knowledge of Messiah. If he hurls the anathemas which Christ hurled against those who took away the knowledge of Messiah, then he must consider the "deliverances of modern science" of equal importance with the "truth as it is in Jesus." But I suppose he hurls anathemas heedlessly and at random. The man who shoots among men, heedless of whom he may kill, is as guilty as the man who aims at some particular man. It reveals the animus, it shows a reckless disregard of human life; so we may predicate of this random cursing. I know a good, simple-hearted Christian, who abounds in good works, and who rejoices because "the love of God is shed abroad in his heart by the Holy Ghost;" yet he does not believe that the earth turns, because he thinks such a doctrine contradicts Scripture. He is mistaken. But it is such a mistake as does not affect his loyalty to Christ, or his present and ultimate salvation from sin. Thanks be to God that "humble Love, and not proud Science, keeps the door of heaven." To anathematize this man is to curse whom Christ has blessed. To anathematize this man, because he does not receive "the deliverances of modern science," is to add to what is written in the book. I suppose the following "deliverance" of St. John applies also to all Scripture: "If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book." Christ uttered anathemas; Paul and others did so by divine inspiration; but who is this who assumes to himself the prerogative of God, snatches the thunderbolts of Jehovah, and hurls them down upon the heads of men because they "reject the deliverances of modern science?"—hurls them even as if he were "Christ himself." Vain man, forbear! Thou art bewildered, "intoxicated" by "the deliverances of modern science."

> "Their shallow draught intoxicates the brain,
> But drinking largely sobers us again."

In elevating science to equal or superior authority with Scripture, he is "teaching for doctrine the commandments of men." He is teaching another gospel. I commend to him the "deliverances" of the great apostle (Gallatians i, 7, 8, 11, 12:) "There be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. * * * But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man. For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ." Let "the deliverances of modern science" be relegated to school and lecture-rooms, where they belong. But let us not preach such moonshine for the glorious "gospel of God our Savior."

I should like for a number of persons to read "Modern Culture" carefully, and furnish me with answers to the following questions: Does the writer have stronger faith in Scripture or in science? Which of the two does he think more likely to be in error? Which does he regard the masterful power? Does he know the power of God—"whether there be any Holy Ghost?" For ourselves we hold that the "weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds; casting down imaginations and every strong thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God." Science, notwithstanding the vain babblings of scientists, knows no more of the origin of things than was known in the days of Moses. Infidelity has never won any triumph except in the shadow of a corrupt church. Let "the heralds of the cross" preach the pure, simple, unadulterated gospel—Christ and him crucified—"with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven," and all will be well. "Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts."

W. A. McCARTY.

The Unknown.

I found an altar with this inscription, To the unknown God.—Acts xvii. 23.

Paul must have felt like a visitor to a new world in the great metropolis of Greece; and especially so when he passed around through the Acropolis, and beheld the many objects of heathen devotion which thronged it, until it seemed a forest of statuary—a field of altars to gods, whom to name the nomenclature of nations had been impoverished. At length a familiar object meets his view—an altar inscribed: "To the unknown God"—to his God, the same God he preached.

We know that some commentators seem to think that this altar had been reared to any god then unknown to the Athenians, and not especially to Jehovah—the God of the Hebrews. St. Jerome thinks St. Paul saw an altar inscribed: "To the unknown gods." There may have been an altar or altars to the unknown—i. e., unheard-of gods—in the Acropolis; but this one was to the unknown God, not gods. St. Paul says it was to the God he preached: "Whom, therefore, ye ignorantly worship; him (the very one ye worship) declare I unto you." Unless St. Paul misrepresents the matter, that altar was reared to Jehovah.

The unknown God!—grand, mysterious, unknown. Not only among the Athenians was he characterized the Unknown, at the very mention of whom a mysterious feeling of awe, we imagine, stole over the soul, but also among his own "peculiar people." Job asks: "Canst thou, by searching, find out God? Canst thou find out the Almighty unto perfection? It (the knowledge of him) is as high as heaven; what canst thou do? Deeper than hell, what canst thou know?" The psalmist says: "He made darkness his secret place; his pavilion round about him were dark waters and thick clouds of the skies." Thus figuratively he teaches us that his God is the Unknown. The names given him by the Hebrews teach the same truth—Jehovah, the self-existent, eternal One, the uncaused Cause of all, that name the Jew till this day writes, but dares not to pronounce, saying instead, Adonai and Elohim, the mysteriously three-one God.

Is he not the Unknown? "Who can know him?" Can we grasp a single attribute of his? Let us see.

He is a Spirit, says Jesus. Now what can we, without divine illumination, know of spirit? Describe it. What is its color and shape? How is it moved, or how may it move itself? By divine illumination in his revealed word we learn what spirit is, but are not enabled to comprehend the mode of its existence. It is something ungraspable, unknown.

God is eternal. Can the most vivid human imagination explore a beginning, a dawn to the day of eternity. Fly back beyond the only beginning we read of; scour the fields of utter nothingness, and dive deep into the depths of unerected night. Can you see eternity's orient streaked with the beams of its yet unrisen sun? O crushing thought! Now overstep the dreadful catastrophe of time's last day, and wade out into the boundless fields of the future; stride on and on, outwinging the lightning bolt. Can you hear the vesper bells of eternity, and see the last lingering rays of eternity's setting sun, or feel the twilight shade of nonentity gathering over you? The length of that eternity is the duration of our God. "High as heaven, what canst thou do? Deeper than hell, what canst thou know?"

God is omnipresent—everywhere. Can you measure space any easier than you can eternity? Can you survey the outstretching plains of ether? If you, with the lightning's wing, could fly to the remotest star that you dimly see twinkling in the darkened depths of space, and plant upon it a telescope long enough to reach from here to the moon, you could see through it—what? The outposts of space? No, but dim, twinkling orbs, no larger than did the orb on which you stand seem, when gazed upon with the unaided eye, from earth. While gazing there, contemplate also the omnipotence of God. Are not both of these attributes ungraspable? What shall we say of the Divine Providence? Of his holiness, purity, goodness, what do we know? How much can our minds take in? The angels—those six-winged seraphs old Isaiah saw—in trying to gaze upon it, overpowered, veiled their faces, and in grand amazement shouted: "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts." Too grand even for seraphs to grasp art thou, O Unknown!

> "The while the first archangel sings,
> He hides his face behind his wings."

In short, when we try to grasp the unknown Jehovah, we try to comprehend the infinite. Our minds are finite; and the finite can never comprehend or take in the Infinite. We can no more comprehend the great Unknown than my hand can grasp the sun.

> "In his sublime research, philosophy
> May measure out the ocean deep—may count
> The sands or rays of sun; but, God, for thee
> There is no weight or measure; none can mount
> Up to thy mysteries. Reason's brightest spark,
> Though kindled by thy light, in vain would try
> To trace thy counsels infinite and dark;
> And thought is lost ere thought can soar so high,
> Even like past moments in eternity."

Thus sang the Russian poet—thus we may sing. What the Athenian inscribed on his altar, we may inscribe on the only altar we as Christians can rear: "To the unknown God."

H. WALTER FEATHERSTUN.

School-Books.

MR. EDITOR: Whenever a book is written and presented for public patronage, in a certain sense it becomes public property, and any one has the right to present what he may conceive to be error. This is specially the case in reference to our text-books. I have recently examined Dr. Rivers' Moral Philosophy, a work that stands high in the public estimation, and deservedly so in many respects, and has been adopted in many of our colleges. The doctor stands high as a minister, theologian and educator; but, as among Protestants we attach infallibility to no man, it will be considered a little less than profanity to question some of his views; the doctor himself will not set down aught to malice in one who honestly searches for truth. I refer to the chapter on "Moral Conduct." The doctor gives the views of several eminent writers on this subject, which he very clearly shows to be erroneous, and finally comes to Mr. Paley's definition of virtue, which he calls the "selfish system," to which he also objects:

Dr. Paley defines virtue: "The doing of good to mankind in obedience to the will of God, and for the sake of everlasting life." I shall not attempt to answer all the author's arguments in detail; for if a few are successfully answered this will suffice for the whole. I think the doctor has given Dr. Paley's definition a wrong appellation—the "selfish system." The selfishness to which he refers—the desire of everlasting life—is nowhere condemned in the Scriptures. The strongest inducement to obey the law of God—and this constitutes virtue—is the hope of reward, the fear of punishment. If we strike out the hope of reward, in my humble judgment we destroy all motive to human action; and this, as an incentive, is continually kept before us in the Scriptures. Moses looked forward to the "recompense of the reward." "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life." The reward is continually presented as the motive to moral action, and the great encouragement to overcome selfishness; which is always represented as being confined to this life.

On page 129 the doctor says: "It (Dr. Paley's system) is opposed to the precepts of the great Teacher. He says: 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength; and thy neighbor as thyself.' But according to this theory we should love ourselves with all our strength, and love God only because it would advance our interests. Again he says: 'If any man will come after me, let him take up his cross and follow me.' But according to the selfish system the terms of discipleship should have been: Promote self—be selfish."

I must acknowledge that I am a little surprised at this part of the doctor's argument, and it does not accord with his general acumen and sound logic. I can see no motive to love God without the reward, and in every command in the Scriptures it is either expressed or implied. What advantage is it to me, or how am I moved to love God by simply knowing that he is a great and good being, without knowing that these attributes will be exercised for me? Our beneficent Creator has certainly thought it necessary, with these attributes, to account the reward as the greatest motive, and with the desire for this reward there is certainly none of that selfishness which the Scriptures condemn. Take the quotation which the doctor gives: "If any man will come after me, let him take up his cross and follow me." What for, I would ask? That in the end he may attain everlasting life—that crown which is undefiled and fadeth not away. There are other points which I might notice, but this will suffice. If I am wrong in these views I would thank any one to set me right.

ALPHA.

SCHOOLMASTER—"How many kinds of axes are there?"

Little boy—"Broad ax, narrow ax, iron ax, steel ax, ax of the Apostles, and ax of my father!"

Schoolmaster—"Good; go to the top of the class."

THE LADIES of the harem of the King of Siam have put off the Siamese harem costume and donned the European harem-scarem costume, consisting of chignons, high-heeled gaiters and back files of newspapers.

A TEACHER who in a fit of vexation called her pupils a set of young adders, on being reproved for her language, apologized by saying that she was speaking to those just commencing their arithmetic.

EASINESS of disposition conciliates kind and good alike; it draws affections to it, and relaxes enmities; but that same easiness renders us too often negligent of our graver duties.

Obituaries.

DIED, in Shreveport, Louisiana, September 14, 1873, of yellow fever, WILLIAM HOWARTH DYER, aged twenty-three years and nine months. He was converted and joined the Felicity Street church, New Orleans, in 1869. At the time of his death he was a member of the Methodist Church in Shreveport, under the pastoral care of Rev. John Wilkinson. For three days before his death he was unconscious, and consequently left no dying testimony. I was acquainted with Bro. Dyer from his childhood, and can testify to his generous and noble spirit, and his sincere Christian earnestness and humility. We have no doubt that the malignant fever of which he died so suddenly found him prepared for the change. He was a brother of Rev. T. W. Dyer, of the Alabama Conference, and leaves a mother and other kindred to mourn his early death. May God sustain the bereaved!

LINUS PARKER.

WILLIAM G. SADDLER was born in Edgefield district, South Carolina, February 9, 1814, and departed this life September 18, 1873, aged fifty-nine years, seven months and nine days. At twenty-one years of age he moved to Greene county, Alabama, where he became a successful planter; so much so that before the late war he had, by his industry and care, accumulated a handsome fortune, which, however, was mostly swept away by the disasters of war. The loss of his property, together with the difficulties of the times, his efforts again to rise, and to rear and educate a number of orphan children he had in charge, all preyed heavily upon his mind, and no doubt had much to do in bringing on the attack—typhoid fever—which ended his life. In 1844 he connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and endeavored faithfully to discharge his duties as a member of said church. For a number of years past he had been filling the office of a steward, and as such he ever manifested a deep interest in the welfare and support of his pastor. His house was always a pleasant and welcome home to all ministers, but especially so to the weary itinerant. To the church and poor he was liberal and charitable. Some of the last acts of his life exhibit his tender feeling toward the widow and orphans. Six of these helpless ones sheltered in his house and ate around his hospitable board at the time of his decease. When will they find another such friend? He was married to Miss R. E. Brown June 25, 1850, and became a true and devoted husband. She survives him to mourn his loss. During his last illness he was rational only at times, but when so he seemed impressed that he would not live long. He bore his sufferings with great patience; told his family he put his trust in a merciful God, and often prayed fervently to him to extend his pardoning mercy toward all his past failings and sins, and prepare him for passing safely the vale of death.

G. HAWKINS.

WASHINGTON FLURRY, son of Rev. J. Flurry and Mrs. F. E. Flurry, was born in Jackson county, Mississippi, November 12, 1853, and lived in said county till the tenth of May, 1873. The circumstances by which he was removed from our midst were peculiarly sad. Early in the year he went to live with his uncle, Henry Flurry. About the first of May the heavy rains set in, and, not being very busy with his uncle, he hired himself to Mr. Thomas, who was giving a good price for hands to raft timber in Red creek. Bro. W. Flurry and a young man by the name of Broom were to prevent the timber from forming jams in the creek for a given distance. These two young men left Bro. H. Flurry's place, which is near the creek, on the tenth of May, and proceeded down the creek, and, not wishing to take a load with them, they each rode a log. Having traveled some three or four miles, they came to a ferry, where two men were standing in a flat. One of the men asked them if they would have a boat. They replied that they would land without a boat. Passing a little below the ferry, young Broom jumped off his log and swam ashore. Bro. Flurry, being a little nearer the center of the current, jumped off his log also, and attempted to swim out almost at right angles with the current, and, although an expert swimmer, he said to his companion: "I cannot make it." Mr. Broom bent a long, slim bush, that grew on the bank, toward him, and encouraged him to swim and take hold of the bush; but he said, "I cannot make it," and turned down stream and said, "I will go to my log," at the same time asking for a boat. Mr. Broom went for a boat, but before he could reach his friend he had sunk beneath the turbid waters of Red creek. His body was found on the fourteenth of May, two miles below where he sank, and his precious remains were deposited in the family graveyard.

Bro. W. Flurry joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South in the fall of 1871, and was converted about the first of November, 1872. He loved the Sabbath school and to attend the preaching of the word, was a devoted lover of his Bible, and reproved sin when he saw it in his companions. In fact this article might be prolonged indefinitely in praise of his many virtues; but we will only add that he kept good company.

D. MERCHANT.

WEST PASS. ADVOCATE, August 22, 1873.

MRS. ELLEN HAGAN was born in Jackson county, Mississippi, September 25, 1829.

In 1855 she was happily converted to the Christian faith, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and lived a consistent member of the same until removed from the scenes of this world. She was first taken with congestion of the brain; then typhoid fever followed; and after a long and painful illness, of five weeks' continuance, she died in great peace, at Hickory Branch, Calcasieu parish, Louisiana, June 11, 1873. Sister Hagan leaves a husband, eight children, and a large number of friends and relatives to mourn her death. But why should they grieve, knowing that their loss, and the loss of the church in such a good member, is her eternal gain.

Our departed sister was a great sufferer, but a very patient and uncomplaining one. From the time she was first taken sick, and through all the course of her suffering, she was calm, patient and resigned. With her faith resting in the never-failing promises of God, the comfort of the blessed Spirit abounded unto her in no small measure. With the consolations of religion to sustain her, she quietly endured the present, calmly surveyed the future, and awaited the Master's call, knowing that the "sufferings of the present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed." Yes, even while lingering on these mortal shores—while worn down by pain and disease, when she could get short relief from intense suffering—in her dozing moments her spirit would make quick journeys to the better state, and, catching the sweet strains of the heavenly harpers, would ask on awaking: "Did you not hear that beautiful singing on the other side?" And then, ever and anon, having become oblivious to all below, going off into transports of joy, with closed eyes she herself would break out into singing:

> "When shall I reach that happy place,
> And be forever blest?
> When shall I see my Father's face,
> And in his bosom rest?"

The hour of her final departure having arrived, and having given her children her parting charge and dying blessing, having bid adieu to husband and friends, having commended her all into God's keeping, she fell asleep in Jesus, in comfortable assurance of a glorious immortality beyond the grave. Thus passed away this Christian woman, this affectionate wife and this good mother.

A. J. COLEMAN.

GEORGE KELLER, son of Rev. James H. and Mrs. Martha Ann Muse, was born at Pleasant Hill, East Feliciana parish, Louisiana, May 25, 1817; was married to Miss Rhoda Carney January 21, 1838, and died where he was born, at twenty minutes to two o'clock P. M., August 25, 1873.

His honorable birth, his education abroad, designed to fit him for one of the learned professions, together with his genial disposition and easy manners, gave him access to the best society the country affords, and where best known he was most loved.

As a son, in affectionate regard, he was all that a parent could ask, scarcely realizing, when in the presence of his father, that he was anything more than a child. As a brother his life seemed inseparably linked with that of his only surviving sister, and he was devoted to the memory of the loved and lost. As a friend he was ever faithful and true. As a citizen he was scrupulously just. But as a husband, in the home circle, his virtues shone brightest. Here, in the firmament of his own loved home, his many virtues were gathered into a beautiful constellation, shading down into each other and blending their light together until the effect produced would justly the appellation of a good husband. Of this I speak confidently, as I have lived in his family and knew his manner of life; but I forbear to draw aside the veil.

His religious life and dying testimony are now of paramount interest to his friends, and as his pastor I rejoice to unfold the vision and raise it to pass before you. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South at Olive Branch, as a seeker of religion, some time in September, 1871, under the ministry of Rev. William E. Ballard. The fact that he was a member of the church had a restraining influence upon him, and he strove to keep and perform the vows and obligations he had taken upon himself; but without the religion of Jesus to sustain him he found it difficult to walk, and sometimes he fell. He made good resolves, and broke them because his reliance was not on God. I know not that he ever went astray without confession and contrition.

About six months ago, in the midst of sore disappointment, and much mental and bodily affliction, seeing that earth afforded nothing to satisfy the cravings of his immortal nature, he turned to Jesus, hungering and thirsting for the bread and water of life, and the promise of the great Teacher was made good, for he was filled until he hungered no more, neither thirsted any more. Of his conversion he gave abundant evidence, both in his life and conversation. He at once erected an altar to God in his house, and kept up regular family worship as long as his health would permit. From this time his life flowed on evenly; so much so that he said: "I have just begun to live."

During his last illness he conversed freely with his wife and friends, as well as with myself, as his pastor, concerning his condition and hopes, always assuring us of his readiness to depart and be with Christ. On last Wednesday there was a scene around his bed over which, I doubt not, angels rejoiced; when, with his mind as lucid as day, he attempted to sing, and asked others to sing for him: "Sweet hour of prayer." After singing several hymns, during which his face lighted up with a heavenly radiance, we again asked him of his hopes, when he again assured us of his readiness for the change which he knew must soon come. His last words on this subject were: "I am going home to be with the Lord, to be forever blessed." After this he lingered for about seventy-five hours, when, with but a slight quiver of the face, he fell on sleep and was gathered to his fathers.

W. H. LEITH.

PLEASANT HILL, August 23, 1873.

SOULS are won more by the unction of grace—by the weapons of love—than by the power of argument.

THE next worst thing to raining, pitchforks must be hailing omnibuses.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1873.

THE HUMMING BIRD.

BY JAMES MAURICE THOMPSON.

Poised in a sheeny mist
Of the dust of bloom,
Clasped to the poppy's breast and kissed,
Baptized in violet perfume
From foot to plume!

Zephyr loves thy wings
Above all lovable things,
And brings them gifts with rapturous murmuring;
Thine is the golden reach of blooming hours,
Spirit of flowers!

Music follows thee,
And continually
Thy life is changed and sweetened happily,
Having no more than rose-leaf scale of gham,
O bird of blood!

Thou art a winged thought
Of tropical hours,
With all the tropic's rare blooms clear to fraught,
Surcharged with beauty's indefinable powers,
Angel of flowers!

Castle Scharfenberg.

The most beautiful region of northern Germany is the superb valley of the Upper Elbe, in the kingdom of Saxony; and there, about four miles from the lively and beautiful city of Meissen, stands one of the relics of the middle ages, Castle Scharfenberg, than which all Germany contains nothing more picturesque and romantic, excepting the grand old ruins of the castle of Heidelberg.

Castle Scharfenberg is the oldest castle still standing in the mountainous part of Saxon Misnia. Some historians date its origin from the times of the Emperor Henry the First, who, they said, built it as a stronghold against the hostile Sorbe heathens at the time when the latter made sad havoc in the extreme eastern districts of the German empire. Be this as it may, at the time of Rudolph of Hapsburg, Castle Scharfenberg was partially destroyed, and it remained in ruins until the beginning of the Thirty Years' war, in 1618, when the noble knight, Sigismund of Miltitz, rebuilt it in its original shape, in which it is still preserved, the delight of the tourists who visit it, and who find in it, at almost every step, something calculated to conjure up before their minds the grandeur and splendor of past ages, and of antiquarians, to whom it proves an inexhaustible mine for their studies and researches.

This picturesque relic of the age of knighthood and the Minnesingers is situated on the crest of the Scharfenberg—that is to say, the Steep mountain—upward of two hundred feet above the Elbe river; and, strange to say, in the last few years it has been discovered that the building had been erected directly over the entrance to a silver mine of great value. Since 1871 this mine, which for four hundred years had lain dormant underneath the old castle, has been worked again, and it now yields the proprietors of Castle Scharfenberg an annual revenue of $100,000.

Castle Scharfenberg is still in the same condition in which it was in 1618, and you reach it by the same convenient road which the good Sir Sigismund of Miltitz built in that year from the river bank up to the front portal of the castle. When you reach the latter you believe yourself to have suddenly been placed back—may be by a magician's wand—into the early part of the sixteenth century. Whose is that gigantic statue above the heavy old portal—a knight who seems to be about to jump down from the niche? Legend says that that was the Knight Thalgund von Hirten, a poor vassal of the Miltitzes, who, during the Thirty Years' war, when Castle Scharfenberg was sorely pressed by the imperialists, boldly jumped down from the second story of the castle into the midst of the enemy, made terrible havoc with his trusty blade among them, and spread such terror among them that they took to their heels, leaving him victorious, but mortally wounded, on the field.

Entering the castle, you ascend the curious old staircase and pass into the wassail-room. What picturesque and ancient old tables, chairs and sideboards! One of the latter consists of burned clay. It is very large, and contains the basso-relievo busts of most of the German emperors of the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. You find there also wonderfully-shaped goblets, antlers mounted with silver, and coats-of-arms—all of them vividly recalling the peculiarities of the era of German chivalry.

There is a narrow staircase behind the wassail-room, and, descending it, you find yourself transported, in a minute or two, from a scene of merriment and feasting to one of woe, horror and starvation. Through a door barely three feet in height you enter a small, dark room—stone walls, stone floor, and a small grated window, just allowing a sunbeam to throw its cheering light upon what otherwise would be nothing but darkness and desolation.

This was the ordinary prison in which the Miltitzes confined their captured prisoners. In the walls are iron rings and iron chains, some of which still contain human bones, horribly suggestive of the terrible fate that befell the unfortunates who had to pine away their existence in this dismal vault! Close to the damp and slimy walls stand yet the jugs in which the prisoners received their water once a day.

But the treatment of those who were confined in this ordinary prison was mild as compared with that which those unfortunates had to undergo at the hands of their tormentors, who had incurred the special displeasure of the latter, and who, for that reason, were confined in the dungeon below. A door, scarcely three feet in height, leads into this terrible vault. Complete darkness reigns there. Earth, slimy and slippery, forms the floor. Heavy rings and chains are fixed in the walls. When the guide, with a lamp, ushers the traveler into this dungeon, he beholds a small wooden bench, and upon it, horrible to see, a grinning human skull! That bench was the only seat and couch of poor men who had to pass in this dungeon twenty and thirty years of their lives; and the skull is that of the last victim of the despots of Scharfenberg—a poor Catholic nobleman of Bohemia, whom they kidnapped, and who had to undergo the horrors of nineteen years' confinement in the dungeon of Scharfenberg, his skull having been left there ever since as a memento of past cruelty and barbarism.

It is a feeling of relief which we experience in emerging from these scenes of woe and horror when we ascend to the pinnacles of the castle-tower, and see before us the incomparable panorama of the blessed land of Misnia; the Elbe, with its magnificent rocky banks; the waving corn-fields, than which the most fruitful regions of Germany have none finer; the numerous thrifty towns and villages—the whole forming a prospect equally lovely and majestic.

The Polyp World.

What is a polyp? The word is familiar to most people, and yet very few outside of the scientific world have any definite notion of the structure and habits of this wonderful animal. Books on the lower forms of animal life are dry and technical at the first glance; and, then, they contain so much matter that the beginner is apt to lose courage before his interest is really excited. This is unfortunate, for the polyp kingdom is one of the most wonderful, and opens an easy way to conquer a method of investigation whereby more complicated structures may be understood. It is possible to present the salient characteristics of the polyp family in a few words, and so simply and clearly that any one mastering these will be impatient to take up the charming work of M. Moquin Tandon ("Le Monde de la Mer,") or of some other savant who handles these humble forms of life with the devotion of the sincere student.

To begin, then, with these salient characteristics, let us take an isolated specimen of the common fresh-water polyp, the Hydra viridis. Imagine a little, straight bag, semi-transparent, greenish in hue, open only at one end, and this end trimmed with eight or ten long, thread-like tentacles. This is the plan on which all polyps are constructed. The bag or tube is the body, the cavity is the stomach, and the fringe is the arms or tentacles by which the animal seizes its food and conveys it into the stomach. The polyp loves the light, and is most sensitive to any sound or contact. By the closed end of its tube it attaches itself to aquatic plants or bits of wreck, while nearly every snail is a slow stage-coach for one or more of these little creatures, who ride very jauntily and gracefully, stretching out their fringy arms in every direction, on the alert for any stray water-bug or little mollusk or worm. As the hydra has no teeth, he does not injure his prey in swallowing it; and, if this happens to be a worm, it not unfrequently attempts to crawl out. In such case one of the long arms is thrust into the stomach to hold the victim in place until the digestive fluid can act upon him and reduce him to quiet. The arm, however, is not affected by the operation that reduces the food to a paste or liquid.

If you cut off the lower end of the hydra, he does not seem to be materially discommoded. He eats, perhaps, a little more voraciously than before, though to little purpose; for he is like the bottomless cask of the Danaides, and can neither be filled nor satisfied. However, the polyp is not to be nonplussed by any such trivial accident! He has even more than one way to recover his normal state: one is to make the end of the tube grow together where severed; another and much more wonderful way is to develop arms or tentacles on the opposite extremity, and commence eating at both ends—that is, two individual polyps are thus developed, and the partition between them grows thinner and slimmer, until they finally separate and become perfect individuals of their kind.

The color of the fresh-water polyp depends upon his food: feeding him upon water-bugs, he becomes green; a diet of tadpoles makes him almost black; while the red color of the wood-louse tints him a beautiful pink. Like all or most of the polyps, the hydra may be turned inside-out, like a glove-finger; but he does not seem comfortable when thus treated, and always tries to recover his normal position. Failing in this, however, he accepts the situation, stoically making his skin and the lining of his stomach change functions. He is a decided gourmand, and, whenever a good opportunity offers, will stuff himself out like a ball, and then his weight compels him to sink. Very likely he will throw up some of his repast at once; and, in any case, he will reject in this way all that will not digest. This is the only way provided by the animal economy of the polyp to dispose of the unassimilated portions of the food.

The external surface of the hydra's body is often found nearly covered with little tubes, that gradually increase and lengthen. These are the polypites. As they grow large enough to take care of themselves, the point of their attachment becomes attenuated, finally gives way, and so the young are born. The little coral polyp, so long believed to be a plant with a beautiful eight-petaled flower, produces its young in a very curious way: it places its eggs in its stomach, thus making the organ serve for digesting, and also as an incubating pouch.

Polyps do not generally live isolated; on the contrary, they form the most wonderful aggregations, the most permanent and extensive communities on the globe. It would require volumes to describe the marvelous building of the polyp tribe. Thousands of miles of the sea-bottom are covered with domes, and spires, and grottoes, and gigantic forests of coral, every part of which has been slowly built up during the ages by past generations of minute polyps; and their building goes on forever through the new races continually being born. Nor do they work so slowly as has been supposed. Portions of the submarine cable between Genoa and Sardinia, when taken up lately for repairs, were found in certain places incrusted to the size of a barrel from coral incrustations. We can easily find how many years the coral polyps required for this work; but we do not yet know how long they have taken to build up the South sea archipelago; or that single reef of coral, more than a thousand miles long, that fringes the Australian coast.

Four Texts.

How uncertain is language to convey the idea conceived in it. It must be the experience of many, brought up from childhood to read and to hear the Bible, that as years pass on and life matures they find frequent occasion to correct erroneous conceptions received from the text. Sometimes very simple mistakes, diverging widely from the true idea, hang to us for many years.

Let me give four examples of texts which seem to me apt to be misunderstood:

1. Matthew v, 19. "Whosoever, therefore, shall break one of these least commandments and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven." Here and has the force of although. We may paraphrase thus: Although a man teach men so (as I have been teaching you) and yet shall break, etc.—that is, if he do not come up to his correct teaching by a correct practice.

2. Luke xxii, 31. "Satan hath desired to have you (the apostles,) that he may sift you (the apostles) as wheat; but I have prayed for thee (Peter,) etc.

By attending to the grammatical number, we avoid sifting Peter individually. It seems that satan's desire was allowed, and he sifted out, not Peter, but Judas, for the traitor.

3. Romans xii, 10. "In honor preferring one another."

Prefer here is simply anticipate, or prevent, as David prevented the morning. The meaning is: Do not wait for your brethren to salute you, but try to be first in taking honorable notice of them.

4. Hebrews xii, 1. "The sin that doth so easily beset us." The first signification of beset is to environ, as an enemy; but this is a peace scene—a race. So we must take the secondary meaning, which is to fit or sit; as when we say: The coat fits well. So the sense is, if you would run the Christian race, you must throw off not only your overcoat and your new and ill-fitting undercoat of sin, acknowledged impediments, but you must part even with that light and easily-fitting sin, which you have worn so long that your conscience takes little note of it, and you scarcely feel it about you. You must strip off all sins, even to the neck-tie, that no flying rag may work the least hinderance. So did the racers in the ancient games, whence this illustration is taken.—M. Soule, in Interior.

A NEW ENEMY TO TELEGRAPH CABLES DISCOVERED.—A short line of submarine cable between Kurrachee and Gwadur, in the Arabian sea, suddenly failed recently, and a steamer, the Amber Witch, with an electrical and engineering staff, was sent to repair the damage. The cause of the sudden breakdown was found to be very curious, and is described as follows by a correspondent:

"The soundings at the fault were very irregular, with an overfall from thirty to seventy fathoms. On winding in the cable unusual resistance was experienced, as if it were foul of rocks, but after persevering for some time the body of an immense whale, entangled in the cable, was brought to the surface, when it was found to be firmly secured by two and a half turns of the cable immediately above the tail. Sharks and other fish partly had eaten the body, which was rapidly decomposing, the jaws falling away on reaching the surface. The tail, which measured fully twelve feet across, was perfect, and covered with barnacles at the extremities. The sea being too rough at the time to make use of the boats, an attempt was made to haul the whale on board, but its own weight broke it away from the injured cable as soon as it was above the surface. Apparently the whale was at the time of entanglement using the cable to free itself of parasites, such as barnacles, which annoy them very much, and the cable hanging in a loop over a submarine precipice, he probably, with a fillip of his tail, twisted it round him and thus came to an untimely end. During the time the Amber Witch remained on the ground a large school of whales continued to play in the close vicinity of the ship, frequently blowing within a dozen yards of the vessel, and even rubbing themselves against the hawser by which the ship was secured."

HOW CHURCHES GROW.—Says Andrew Fuller: "There was a period in my ministry marked by the most pointed, systematic efforts to comfort my serious people; but the more I tried to comfort them the more they complained of doubts and darkness. I knew not what to do, nor what to think, for I had done my best to comfort the mourners in Zion. And this time it pleased God to direct my attention to the claims of the perishing heathen in India. I felt that we had been living for ourselves, and not caring for their souls. I spoke as I felt. My serious people wondered and wept over their past inattention to the subject. They began to talk about a Baptist mission. The females especially began to collect money for the spread of the gospel. We met and prayed for the heathen; met and considered what could be done among ourselves for them; met and did what we could. And while all of this was going on the lamentations ceased. The sad became cheerful, and the despondling calm. No one complained of a want of comfort. And I, instead of having to study how to comfort my flock, was comforted by them. They were drawn out of themselves. That was the real secret. God blessed them while they tried to be a blessing."—Presbyterian.

WHEN does a farmer work a miracle? When he turns his horse to grass.

Scientific.

IN A recent number of Les Mondes the editor states that experiments are being made to acclimatize in Europe the Coriaria thymifolia, or ink-plant of New Grenada. The juice of this plant, locally termed chanchi, is at first of a somewhat reddish color, but becomes intensely black in a few hours. This juice can be used for writing without requiring any further preparation; it corrodes steel pens less than ordinary ink, and has, moreover, the advantage of better resisting chemical agents. When the portion of America named above was under Spanish dominion, all public documents were written with chanchi, which was not removed from paper by sea-water.

AT A recent meeting of the Royal Dublin Society Dr. Reynolds called attention to Heiseb's test for detecting sewage contamination in water. It is one of the best known, but has been strangely neglected. About half a pint of the water to be examined should be placed in a colorless, glass-stoppered bottle, and a few grains of the best loaf sugar added. The bottle should then be placed in a position where it will be directly exposed to the rays of the sun. The liquid should not become turbid, even after a week or ten days' exposure. If there is a perceptible cloudiness, sewage contamination may be strongly suspected. Frankland has stated that this turbidity is due to phosphoric acid present in sewage, and it has also been suggested that it is due to fungoid growths.

ANTHRACENE BLUE.—A few years since aniline was the great source of new and beautiful colors. Now that every possible shade of color, surpassing in number and beauty the hues of the rainbow, have been produced from aniline, the chemist has taken up the study of anthracene and alizarine, also coal-tar products. While preparing artificial alizarine from anthracene, Springmuhl has obtained a by-product, from which he has made a beautiful blue color, superior in some respects to any of the aniline blues. The process by which it was prepared he keeps a secret. Dried in vacuo, it is a blue powder with a few little crystals. In this it differs from the aniline dyes which are one color when dry, an other when in solution. When pure hot water is poured over anthracene blue, it mostly dissolves, but leaves a little insoluble residue. The addition of an alkali destroys its color, which is restored, however, by an acid. The strongest mineral acids are unable to destroy its color, but rather heighten its tone. Unlike aniline dyes, it is insoluble in alcohol and ether. Experiments show that it withstands the action of light better than aniline blue. Unfortunately, it is at present very expensive, for Springmuhl obtained but 2.5 grains of anthracene blue from twenty-five thousand grains of anthracene, which makes it cost about $3,000 per pound at present. A cheaper method of making it is certainly desirable.

WHAT IS STEEL?—We have, in various editorials, repeatedly put this question during the last five years, claiming that the term steel had neither a scientific nor a commercial signification that was of any value. The word is merely a categorical term characterizing a large class of alloys of iron, possessing or capable of acquiring a degree of hardness beyond that ordinarily attributed to iron. Advances in metallurgic arthave, during the past few years, so thoroughly corroborated this view that it is somewhat remarkable it has not before this time been generally recognized. A movement, however, has been set on foot in England, which doubtless will lead to a more correct classification of the various compounds of iron with tungsten, chromium, etc. The movement has been initiated by the Albion Steel and Wire Company, which has issued a circular expressing the desire to obtain the establishment, for commercial purposes, of a satisfactory definition of the difference between steel, cast-iron and wrought-iron. In discussing the question thus raised by the Albion Steel and Wire Company, the Engineer attempts to give a definition. It says that any combination or alloy of iron that will forge, harden and temper, is steel. It enumerates the following varieties of steel coming under this category, namely, carbon cast-steel, tungsten cast steel, chromium steel, cyanogen cast-steel, and titanium cast-steel, besides which several other metals have been alloyed with iron to make steel. Other varieties of steel are what is called blistered steel, made from malleable bar-iron by the process of cementation, German steel, made directly from the ore, and sometimes from pig-iron, and steel made by still other processes. The Engineer gives, as a distinction between cast-iron and steel, that when it is capable of being forged it is steel, and when it will not forge it is cast-iron. And the line between malleable iron and steel is that when it will harden and temper it is steel, and when it will not harden and temper it is malleable iron. At least one fault in these definitions is apparent at first sight, and that is that there is no limitation to the means employed for hardening and tempering. Thus, for instance, a piece of malleable iron may be made hard by the process of case-hardening. In other words, its surface may be converted into a variety of steel by this process. The definitions would have been more accurate if it had been stated that such alloys of iron as will harden, when, after being heated, their temperature is suddenly reduced by contact with cold substances, and which become softer again upon being heated, are steel. And yet this perhaps would not be sufficient, for it is stated that Mushet's special tool steel does not so comport itself. We believe that it would be of general scientific and commercial advantage to have a special name given to each special alloy corresponding to the various varieties of metal now called steel.—American Artisan.

A GRAVE mistake—Burying a man alive.

Religious Intelligence.

THERE are about 100 Protestant churches in Italy; but few of them, if any, are self-supporting.

THE Sabbath Association of Philadelphia is moving for a more rigid enforcement, in that city, of the existing laws in regard to the desecration of the Sabbath.

PRIMITIVE METHODISM appears to be flourishing in Great Britain. The organ of this branch of the church mentions the ceremonies of dedicating and laying the foundation of three fine chapels during the week ending August 21.

IN THE city of New York the Presbyterians number 15,818 members, being one in every 53 of the population; the Episcopalians 11,281, or one in every 81; the Baptists 11,223, or one in every 81; the Methodists 10,021, or one in every 89.

IN PRUSSIA, according to the latest statistics, there are 15,614,830 Evangelicals, 31,333 Lutherans, 12,792 Baptists, 12,702 Mennonites, 14,614 Moravians, 3,321 Irvingites, 1,920 Old Catholics; odd sects, 11,511; Roman Catholics, 8,950,679; Jews, 776,999; and about 1,200,000 Greeks.

BY THE new Geneva law regulating Catholic worship, it is more than probable that the Old Catholics will come into possession of the city churches. The movement, with Hyacinthe at its head, is remarkably successful. They are already talking of electing an Old Catholic bishop for Switzerland, as they have done in Germany.

THE mania for pilgrimages has attacked the Roman Catholics of Holland. Thousands of persons recently went to Brielle to find relief from the water of an old well, which is said to possess supernatural power to cure incurable diseases. This month a monster pilgrimage is announced to the shrine at Thorn, a village in the neighborhood of Ruremonde.

REPEATED personal investigation of the Chinese missions leads Bishop Alford to say, in the Mission Field, that the work in China is sound and real, that it is an expanding work, and that, without depreciating the value of the European and American missionaries there, it is the native clergy and agents who can best reach the Chinese people. The latter should be largely increased in number.

THERE are said to be some thirty churches of Irvingites in England, some fifty in Germany, one in Paris, six in Scotland and two in Ireland. Not a few wealthy English families belong to the community. The Duke of Northumberland adheres to it. It not only holds to continuance of miracles, tongues, etc., but is strongly inclined to ritualism. Its principal church in London cost $150,000, and looks like a Catholic cathedral.

A REQUEST having been made by the London Sunday School Union that the Sabbath schools in the United States should unite with schools in foreign countries in observing October 19 as a day of prayer for Sabbath schools, Rev. Dr. Vincent, of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School Union, has indorsed the appeal, and asks the schools throughout the country to observe that day, the lesson for the occasion not to be omitted, however.

THE final programme of the forthcoming Church Congress, to be held at Bath, England, early in October, has been published. Among the subjects to be discussed are: "Foreign Missions;" "The Union of Church and State;" "Lay Helpers;" "The Church and the Temperance Movement;" "The Increase of the Episcopate;" "The Means of Bringing the Influence of the Church to bear on the Masses of the People;" and "The Religious Wants of Children."

THE valedictory dismissal of eighteen missionaries of the Church Missionary Society (English) took place in London the first of last July, half of whom were either returning to old fields of labor or were transferred to new, while the other nine were proceeding for the first time to their mission labors. They are sent out as follows: to West Africa two, East Africa two, Palestine one, North India four, Western India one, South India one, Ceylon two, China one, Japan two, and North Pacific one.

THE Free Church of Scotland has selected, for foreign work, India and Southern Africa; and on them it is concentrating its strength with excellent results. It has twenty-four missionaries, nine ordained native ministers and 207 other Christian agents. It has 1,979 communicants. Baptized or admitted on profession since the commencement of the missions, 3,854. Children baptized in 1872, 172; number of scholars in its schools, 10,018. This church is doing a great work for Christ at home and abroad.

A PARTY of missionaries, of whom Mr. Heine was leader, with a headman named Abaja, has, by the permission of the Rajah of Kuta, visited a lake in the Batta district, Sumatra, never before seen by Europeans. This lake is said to be about forty miles long and half as many broad, with an island in the center. The country around is densely populated; but the missionaries were prevented from making many observations in regard to it by the Rajah, who had exacted a promise that the travelers should return at once after seeing the lake.

CONSECRATION OF BISHOP REINKENS.—A letter from Rotterdam, dated on Monday afternoon, August 11, furnishes the Guardian with the following interesting particulars of Dr. Reinkens' consecration: "Dr. Reinkens has been consecrated first Bishop of the Old Catholic body in Germany, and thereby the church has founded itself. He was consecrated, together with the Bishop of Haarlem, by the Bishop of Deventer, assisted by two dignitaries of the Dutch Church, the Vicars-General of Haarlem and Utrecht. The ceremony was minutely observed according to the Roman form, with the exception that the Pope and Roman See were conspicuous by their absence from the ritual. There was naturally no oath of obedience to the Pope, no acknowledgment of the supremacy of the chair of St. Peter, and no transmission of the Pallium from Rome; otherwise the form and ceremony was strictly carried out. The new bishops were anointed, the mitre, ring, tablet, gloves, etc., were all presented, and the offering to the consecrator made. One more notable exception was that there was no use of holy water. The church was crowded in every corner. About forty delegates from Old Catholic bodies of Germany were present, in the place of honor; among them Profs. Friedrich, Langen, Reusch, of Bonn, Baron Wullfing, Hasenclever, Rothe, etc. The bishop elect was supported by Knoodt and Reusch at the altar with two chaplains. About twenty priests were vested at the communion. The service was preceded by the reading of the vote, in Dutch, of the pastors of the Haarlem district, and in German, of the delegates of the Old Catholic congregations. After the consecration the Bishop of Deventer delivered a long charge in Dutch to the newly-consecrated prelates, to the clergy and to the people. The whole service ended, the congratulation from Germany assented to, the episcopal house, a protocol of the proceedings was drawn up and signed, and an address was presented to the Bishop of Deventer.

IT SEEMS that the marriage of the Duke of Edinburg has a theological significance. At least this is the way the Church Journal looks at it. It says: "The approaching marriage of the Duke of Edinburg with the Russian princess has this unusual feature: conformity to the Greek Church is not as heretofore demanded as a prerequisite to the alliance. It indicates that the Holy Orthodox Church of Russia regards the Church of England as an independent branch of the church catholic, not as a mere Protestant sect. The marriage is to be according to the forms of the Russian Church, the service of which church the duke will attend while in that country. But in England the duchess will probably conform to the English Church."

THE progress of Christianity and of Christian civilization is becoming so rapid in India that almost every week furnishes some new facts to chronicle. Our devoted missionary, the Rev. William Taylor, has recently transferred his operations from Bombay to Calcutta. We learn from the Lucknow Witness that he preached for two weeks in the Wesleyan church, where the work was greatly blessed and a number of persons converted to God. He soon began independent services with a view to develop the same kind of an organization as has proved so effective in Bombay and Poona; for some reason his immediate success was not so great as in West India; we now rejoice to learn that he has organized a church with some fifty members, and that he is pushing forward the work with his usual vigor and zeal. His plan is to open up, with God's blessing, a church of working Christians; and also, for the present to confines his labors to the English-speaking population, his ultimate aim is to reach the natives through the agency of those who are among them as Christians." He has decided also on building a place of worship at Calcutta, at a cost of about $10,000; of this sum one-half has already been furnished by a friend in Bombay. Mr. Taylor is already calling for helpers, and proposes to make both his and their work self-supporting. Another item is the purchase by the Presbyterian mission, from a tea company, of seventeen villages, with a view to the establishment of a Christian community, to be called the "Happy-town Christian Colony." The land has been divided into allotments of five acres each. This is a great undertaking, and will require for its success good executive administration. But the idea of Christian colonies is, we think, a sound one. When the natives have made some progress in the usages of Christian life than is perhaps possible at present, such colonies will be common enough.—Methodist.

THE Zeyst Missionary Association, which is made up of members of the Moravian Church, most of whom reside at Zeyst, near Utrecht, Holland, has put forth its efforts mainly on behalf of the mission in the Dutch colony of Surinam, in South America. On the first of July, ten years ago, slavery was abolished in Surinam; but the negroes of the colony, now about 40,000 in number, forming the bulk of the inhabitants, were to serve an apprenticeship for six years. At last all restrictions were removed and they now enjoy their rights as free citizens. Hitherto, during this decade of pupilage, the negroes have been obliged to keep their children from six to twelve years of age in school; but hereafter, the matter being left optional with the parents, there is some anxiety felt by the mission as to whether they will continue to make use of the educational advantages afforded them under the new order of things. In Paramaribo, the Zeyst Missionary Association propose to erect a building for common school purposes, which shall accommodate 500 pupils. These schools are especially designed for the colored infants who, while their parents are at work through the day, are exposed to the tender mercies of the street. This undertaking is so great that the association goes out from its own confines and appeals to Christians in other lands for aid—an appeal which it would probably have no occasion to make were it not that the boards of missions in Holland are now raising some $225,000 for the missionaries in the Dutch colonies of the East Indies. The missionaries of Surinam have much superstition to contend with, particularly the terror of witchcraft, which prevails almost universally among the negroes, the Christian believers even having great fear of the arts of the witch-doctors. The doctors themselves, however, say to the missionaries, have no fear, for that they can do nothing to them. In spite of these drawbacks, the Moravians have had marked success in Surinam, and now number thirteen mission stations, with about 2,000 church-members, including children, of whom 6,000 live in Paramaribo, the city of the colony.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1873.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. A. J. BRIGGS.
REV. J. W. RUSH.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. O. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. WILLIAM V. TUDOR, D. D.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

REDUCTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers hereafter at the following rates:

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year | $2 00 |
| Six Months | 1 25 |
| Three Months | 75 |

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

to all Ministers of the Gospel, traveling or local, and widows of deceased traveling preachers.

FREE ONE YEAR

to any person forwarding to us four new yearly subscribers, with EIGHT DOLLARS.

Forsaking Their Nets.

It took no little faith on the part of Simon and Andrew to abandon their nets. By so doing they gave up the implements by which they had hitherto made their living, and cut themselves off from the only means of support that they knew. It is therefore a significant fact that when the Master called it is written: "And straightway they forsook their nets and followed him." Their following began empty-handed, and when their nets were left on the shore their life of trust became a heroic and complete self-consecration. Once, after the Savior's resurrection, Peter and others went a fishing, and they met their risen Lord and had a net full of great fishes; but they found also, as if to rebuke their distrust, that he had beforehand a fire kindled, and bread and fish prepared. They dined off of the things Christ had provided, and not from what they themselves had caught.

That dining on the beach and impressive interview were in good time perhaps to strengthen the faith of these honest but sometimes distrustful fishermen. They had years ago forsaken their nets, but there was danger that they might be tempted to return to them. It was a test of their devotion to Jesus to thus leave all for him, to drop their fishing-tackle instanter, and to venture thus boldly upon the providence of God, with no visible or tangible means for the supply of their daily wants. The severer test doubtless came afterward, when the pressure of persecution, and the need of food and raiment, naturally led them to think of the boats and nets and abundance they had given up for a life of danger and suffering. To have left their nets exhibits a decision and self-denial which commands our surprise and admiration, but the persistent and life-long refusal to return to them is probably the more striking display of firmness and zealous adherence to the path of duty.

This history, of course, finds its readiest and most literal application to the Christian ministry. The prompt obedience, the simple confidence, the self-denial, the persevering sacrifice, are qualities which all believers should illustrate. Doubtless also there are, among those not called to preach, many who, by reason of being in the wrong place and in the wrong business, must forsake their nets, or the following of Christ will be for them impossible. There are some pursuits that are evil, and others that have the appearance of evil, which no true Christian can follow and be blameless. It is, however, the preacher who is distinctively called to abandon his trade or business for the gospel, and to abandon the ordinary supports for what may come in the course of labor and toil in the service of Christ.

Without pressing the matter too far, we may safely assume that Christ calls many to this entire severance from secular affairs, and, as a consequence, to a life of peculiar trust, consecration, and, possibly, sacrifice. Are they heeding the voice of divine authority? In too many instances their faith fails, and, instead of venturing upon the goodness and faithfulness of God, they cling to their nets, and by so doing their ministry is narrowed and embarrassed, where it is not altogether destroyed. That some leave their nets who have not been called, and who ought to have stuck to them, we sincerely believe; but there are others who stop their ears to the voice of God, and fail in meeting the demands of a most manifest and important duty. The more profitable and successful a young man is in business, or in a profession, the more difficult it is for him to leave it for the ministry. But it is the successful and capable that God wants and that the church needs. Those who have no nets, and no enterprise to use them or to mend them, are not likely to be useful as fishers of men. Because a young man is doing finely in worldly affairs, there is no presumption in this that Christ has not called him to forsake all for the work of the ministry. But to give up the law, medicine, merchandise, farming, teaching, for a calling which promises almost certain poverty, and many other inconvenient and disagreeable things besides, is a supreme trial.

When the nets are once let go there is the temptation, ever present or often recurring, to go back to them. While it would seem to be well for preachers to have something in the way of trades, professions or industrial pursuits "to fall back on," it is a circumstance fraught with danger. Some are doubtless perfectly right in returning to secular affairs, to such an extent as their necessities demand. Paul's example has been much used in this connection, and abused and misapplied frequently. There is danger at this point of yielding too soon, and of giving way to distrust. We have the boats, the tackle, and the fishing promises a bountiful return, and the somewhat tried and embarrassed preacher gives way to the solicitation, and the nets to which he returns prove a ruinous or at the least a most hurtful snare. To forsake their nets, and then to resist the temptation to return to them, are the trials of a preacher's faith.

Not all Christians are called to this special phase of self-denial and obedience, and not all who minister may be rigorously bound to its literal performance. But it is a path in which many are called to walk, and in respect of which there are many who are unfaithful. Christ calls the young men—the busy, capable, enterprising—who are also, but not only, good. Those who have the strongest and best nets, and have the trimmest ships, and have had the most successful fishing, are called. And many a tried and sore-broken itinerant who thinks it would be right in him to mend up his nets, and go back to the business of his youth, is perhaps yielding too soon. God help the brave and good, who are thus straitened, to maintain their integrity and to be sure of the approval of their divine Master!

Two Riches.

Rich in faith and rich in good works. In these two respects are Christians to be well off. In other respects, as in property, stocks and bank deposits, they may be very poor indeed. The poor of this world may be "rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom." Faith is the condition of our sonship, "and if children, then heirs—heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ." By faith all things come to be the property of the believer. "The world, life, death, things present and things to come, all are yours." The riches which faith secures are truly beyond computation, and far exceed our comprehension, because they embrace the eternal and the heavenly. But there are riches in the soul where faith dwells. Rich in faith—having much faith, and having much that faith bestows upon the trusting heart.

There is with faith a wealth of goodness and an affluence of precious and heaven-born graces, and there is also a "joy unspeakable and full of glory." Faith fills the soul with peace "which passeth all understanding," and brings in the fullness of a divine love. Nothing in the universe is so poor as the unbelieving soul where sin reigns, and there are naught but base affections and earthly hopes. Unbelief impoverishes, makes the highest enjoyment of this world impossible, strips man of the beauty of holiness, separates him from all good, and leaves him "without God in the world." The present is abused and wasted, and the blessedness of heaven is lost to him forever. Who so utterly poor as he who comes to the death-hour unconverted, time and earth fading, and nothing but darkness and despair in the dread future? Rich in faith is to have faith abundantly, and to have in us the largeness and grandeur of its fruits, the graces it nourishes, and the strong grasp it lays upon the unseen and the eternal. Let it comfort the poor that they are rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom.

The rich are particularly admonished "that they be rich in good works." Doing good enriches a man in himself, makes him better by the unselfishness, the generosity, the benevolence it cultivates in him. It reacts to make the man who gives rich in grace, and is an antidote to churlishness and the love of money, which is the root of all evil. But there is the future as well as the present reward—not of debt but of grace; still God will remember the doing, and it will be recognized in that day. Abounding in good works enriches us by the consciousness of duty performed, by the gratification of the results seen and ever growing unto the final harvest, and by the assurance that these works of mercy and faith shall meet us, and somehow contribute to the heavenly glory. To be rich in good works is not to give stintedly, nor to labor grudgingly, but to cast our bread upon the waters with a free and generous abandon. This is a peculiar kind of riches. Men may be rich in money, rich in talent, rich in influence, but not rich in good works.

Let the two riches be considered as one. Rich in faith we must be if rich in good works; and if rich in good works, truly rich in good works, we shall also be rich in faith. If our giving and our charities are without faith, the principles which give them value in God's sight are wanting. If our faith exhibits not the heartiest doing, it is likely that we are without the faith which justifies. The two riches thus go together. Paul and James are true yoke-fellows and harmonious. The true believer has them—both of them—in a well-balanced mind, and a life that is sweet and pure within, and bright and attractive without.

Letter from Mobile.

MR. EDITOR: The yellow fever appeared in the City Hospital about two months ago, and has been in Mobile ever since, though not as an epidemic. The number of cases, all told, will not exceed forty. But in this small number were three pastors—Revs. Mr. Palmer, of the Jackson Street Presbyterian church, J. E. Foust, of St. Paul's Methodist, and Preston Nash, our city missionary. Bro. Palmer is well, and was at his church last Sunday. Bro. Nash is recovering rapidly, and we hope will soon be out again. Bro. Foust's was a very bad case, but he is now free from fever, and once or twice has set up a short time. He is considered out of danger. Dr. Shapard has been well all the time, and at his work daily, losing only one day from a slight bilious attack.

In 1853 it was observed that every mother of a new-born babe was exceedingly liable to the fever, and to take it was almost certain death. For this special liability Bro. Foust and myself were urged by physicians and others to remove our families. He failed to secure a suitable place, and consequently remained. His babe was born, and died at the age of eleven days. I was more fortunate, and went two miles out of the city limits, where, at the house of my long-tried friend, Prof. Dixon, our babe was born, and where, alas! it also died—twelve days old. Both the dear little creatures were buried last Sunday. Yesterday I brought my other children back, and to-morrow expect to bring home my wife. My own health has been very good all the summer.

Our congregations have been reduced very low by fear of yellow fever, and by the actual presence of dengue. This last disease is very prevalent, but not fatal.

I write this that our friends and the friends of the church may know the real condition of affairs here, and may not be unnecessarily distressed by the exaggerations which are afloat all through the Conference.

Yours truly, J. W. RUSH.

MOBILE, October 22, 1873.

Hinderances.

Under this head the Western Christian Advocate discourses with much vigor and point. The following extract will do for this latitude. We are fully of the Western's mind about catechetical instruction.

Our children sadly need catechetical instruction. The prevalent Sunday school appliances, good as they are, do not supply the desideratum in a degree at all commensurate with our needs or their own bulk and pretensions. Nothing can be wisely substituted for the catechism, unless it be another catechism better than the one we have. Brief, systematically arranged formulations of Christian truth are demanded by the laws of the human mind in its early development, and are abundantly justified by the experience of ages. Hence the wisdom of that much-neglected direction of the Discipline to preachers "to see that our catechisms be used as extensively as possible in our Sunday schools and families; to preach to the children, and publicly catechise them in the Sunday schools and at public meetings appointed for that purpose."

The fear of exhausting the generous patience of our readers, or of putting a great and vital theme in peril by prolixness, compels us, for what remains, to content ourselves with a few bones of a ghastly skeleton.

The prevalence of fashion in the church—not its decent compliances, but its audacious and wasteful extremes—is a hinderance that paralyzes half the energies of our women, to say nothing of our masculine defenders of the faith. American women can afford to assert their national independence; and Christian Methodist women ought to be able to stand unabashed against all the froth and pitiable effeminacy of the two hemispheres.

Weak, diluted, tepid—theatricals, and beggarly gambling in church enterprises.

A low-toned social religion. "If the common lukewarmness were banished, and every shop and every house busied in speaking of the word and works of God, surely God would dwell in our habitations, and make us his delight. And this is absolutely necessary to the welfare of our people, some of whom neither repent nor believe to this day. Look around and see how many of them are still in apparent danger of damnation. And how can you walk and talk and be merry with such people when you know their case?"—Discipline.

Self-indulgence with respect to bodily appetites occasions spiritual paralysis.

The absence of a clear, commanding sense of individual responsibility for the health, reputation and usefulness of the church, sums up in a sentence the mother-sin under which we groan. On account of it we break the Sabbath in the name of religion, patronize the Sunday press, read frivolous books, sing frivolous songs, indulge worldly tempers, are greedy of earthly riches and human praise, are unpunctual, inactive, unearnest in religion, and unconsecrated in heart. He who hinders God's work fights against God.

Statistics of Inebriety.

Some startling statements have been made by Dr. McKinley, of Chicago, says the Baltimore Episcopal Methodist, in a pamphlet entitled "Statistics of Inebriation in the United States." The pamphlet contains two chapters filled with figures, one chapter being a report to the Board of Health of Chicago, and the other an address to the executive and legislative authorities of the United States; and, on the whole, we do not remember any other document of only nineteen printed pages which makes so many serious charges or adduces such an array of tables and deductions as this. Originally intended to apply to Chicago, the statistics have been amplified so as to embrace the whole Union, and the results, considered from Dr. McKinley's standpoint, are simply appalling. For example, he gravely announces that out of every eleven Congressmen one is a perpetual drinker, one an occasional drinker, five drink periodically, and only four are sober at all times; or, taking the whole number of 330 members of Congress, only 120 are sober men, 30 are confirmed inebriates, and 150 are periodical drinkers. So much for the Congressmen. Next comes the American woman. Out of every 100,000 women in the United States 428 are confirmed inebriates, or 21,429 in every 5,000,000. Of habitual inebriates in both sexes in every 10,000,000 there are 71,429. In an urban population of 300,000, on the aggregate basis of calculation, there are 3,600 confirmed drunkards. Putting the case in a general way, the net results for the whole country are as follows:

The population of this country is 40,000,000.

Of 300 men 122 never drink ardent spirits at all, 100 drink moderately, but not to intoxication, 50 are ephemeral drinkers, 25 drink periodically, called "spreeing," and three are habitual inebriates.

To every 178 who drink three are confirmed inebriates, 25 are periodical drinkers, 50 are ephemeral drinkers, 100 are moderate, and non-drinkers 122.

Grand total, 300. One confirmed inebriate to every 59½.

It is gratifying to us to know that the "American women," of whom Dr. McKinley gives so unpleasant an account, do not live in this latitude. We of the South have not the high honor of being Americans. Not having their renown, it is some consolation to be exempt from their vices.

THE Spectator, in a review of a volume of discourses by the Bishop of Argyle, entitled "Revelation Considered as Light," says: "Perhaps in no other writer, since Cromwell's chaplain, Jeremiah White, uttered his prophesying on 'The Restoration of all Things,' do we find a tone of so much jubilant hopefulness touching the destinies of the race as we meet with in this farewell volume of the Bishop of Argyle. Open where we will, the refrain—and well may we use the term, for the bishop often is borne up into a region very near to song—in these sermons is still the same: 'Hope on, hope always, for God is light, and in him is no darkness at all; progress is the law—the Christ growing within us, till the perfect stature and wisdom be attained.' After all, our great teachers have only one word to give us. But that word serves our needs a long while. Luther gave us justification by faith; Wesley, the urgent love of God; Bishop Ewing has said to us, revelation is light; and perhaps for some time to come this great axiom of his will occupy the thought of all men who yet believe either in the fact or the probability of a revelation from a source beyond the phenomenal surroundings of the life that now is."

REV. JOSEPH PARKER, D. D., the well-known author of Ecce Deus, was present at the Congregational Ministers' Meeting, Boston, on Monday, September 15. The Congregationalist says he has several vices in speaking, one of which is that, during considerable periods of his utterance, he sinks it into a whisper so low as to be scarcely audible. One of his remarks, which seems to have been perfectly audible, was this: "I came to America hoping to hear considerable preaching, but so far have only heard considerable organ."

A FEW minutes' devotion at night will not clear the conscience of a foul trick done during the day, nor will going to church on Sunday atone for the willful sins of a week.

Bismarck and Christianity.

The absurd popish calumny against Prince Bismarck, charging him with avowed hostility to Christianity, which has been industriously circulated in this country and in Europe, is set at rest by the following letter from Dr. Bendan, late professor in the New York University:

DRESDEN, Ammon Strasse, 24, Sept. 8, 1873.
To the Editor of the Herald:

I send you a translation of an authentic reply from Prince Bismarck to the stories of a conversation on the subject of religion which a Berlin correspondent of the New York World communicated to his paper, and which other papers, more bent upon sensation than truth, have copied without discrimination or scruple. The subject seemed to me important enough to warrant a correspondence with Prince Bismarck, and I elicited the following reply, which he gave me full liberty to use at my discretion:

"Dr. Bendan—I received your communication with many thanks. So many falsehoods are told on my account that I am not astonished at this barefaced invention. I do not know if there are people stupid enough to believe such things; but one thing is certain—I never had with any one a conversation of an import similar to that to which you refer. There can consequently not even be a misunderstanding alleged as a pretext for that falsehood (Lüge—lie.) But it strikes me that the phrase 'to crush Rome in order to crush Christianity,' very plainly shows the source and purpose of that calumny.

"That my convictions and my belief are the opposite of what that fable puts in my mouth no man in Germany doubts, and also in America people will say that if one were so God-forsaken (Gottverlassen) as to think so he would hardly be fool enough thus to talk.

V. BISMARCK."

The translation is as literal as I could make it without spoiling the scope and point of his declaration.—New York Observer.

Wild Beasts in India.

The numbers of people destroyed by wild beasts constitute an extraordinary feature of Indian life. Rewards are offered by the government for the killing of these animals, but still the loss of life is very great in some districts, and in others it is less only because goats are abundant, and the wolves prefer kids when they can get them. No less than 14,529 persons lost their lives by snake-bites in 1860, and in 1871 there were 18,078 deaths reported as caused by dangerous animals of all classes; but Dr. Fayrer is of opinion that systematic returns would show that there are more than 20,000 deaths annually from snake-bites. The inhabitants of the border lands between jungle and cultivation are killed and eaten by tigers in such numbers as to require the serious attention of the government. A single tigress caused the destruction of 13 villages, and 256 square miles of country were thrown out of cultivation. Another tigress killed 127 people in 1869, and stopped a public road for many weeks. A third killed 108 people in the three years, 1867-9. In Lower Bengal alone 13,401 human beings were killed by wild beasts in six years, and 40 in South Canara in the single month of July, 1867. The chief commissioner of the central provinces has to report 946 persons killed by tigers in three years ending with 1869. There are difficulties in the way of extirpating tigers: the natives regard the man-eating tiger as a kind of incarnate and spiteful divinity whom it is dangerous to offend; and, as readers of correspondence which we published some time ago on the subject will remember, it is the desire of a few in India naturally to preserve tigers for sport. Mr. Frank Buckland has suggested an organized destruction of the tiger cubs in the breeding season, and the attraction of full-grown tigers to traps by means of valerian, of which tigers (which are only gigantic cats) are exceedingly fond.—London Times.

A PICTURE.—We refer to the handsome wood-cut of Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana, which now graces our sixth page. The engraving does not flatter in the least, but gives a tolerably good idea of the spacious buildings and beautiful situation. We believe the quarantine which the Jackson authorities have enforced for some weeks back has been removed, and that there is now no let or hinderance to the entrance of students from anywhere. Now is the time to send the boys forward. Times may be hard and money scarce, but this matter of education cannot be delayed. The boys do not stop growing, and the time for educating them will soon be past. The loss of a few months or a year to a boy in his teens is often irreparable. With reference to Centenary and all of our institutions of learning we would urge our people to a prompt and generous patronage. We can as well afford to stop eating as to stop educating our children. The schools must be kept up, and our young people must have the advantages of thorough culture.

FROM the letter of Bro. Rush, published this week, it will be seen that our brethren in Mobile have passed through perils and suffered. The bereaved have our deepest sympathy. We are truly thankful that the lives of the faithful pastors have been spared. May God keep them and their flocks.

WE KNOW God in the same sense in which we know ourselves and things of ourselves.

Books and Periodicals.

FIRESIDE SAINTS, MR. CAUDLE'S BREAKFAST TALK AND OTHER PAPERS. By Douglas Jerrold. Boston: Lee & Shepard, publishers; New York: Lee, Shepard & Dillingham, 1873.

The papers, here published for the first time in a collected form, are such as only Douglas Jerrold could write. His genius for humor and satire shines in every paragraph. People who wish to sharpen their wits, and enjoy the scintillations of "a fellow of infinite jest, of most excellent fancy," will buy this book. For sale by R. J. Harp, Methodist Depository, 110 and 112 Camp street, New Orleans. Price, $1.50.

THE TURNING OF THE TIDE, OR RADCLIFFE RICH AND HIS PATIENTS. By Elijah Kellogg. Boston: Lee & Shepard; New York: Lee, Shepard & Dillingham, 1873.

A story for young people, full of practical wisdom, and written in an entertaining style. A 12mo of 288 pages, handsomely bound and illustrated. For sale by R. J. Harp, Methodist Depository, New Orleans.

WE ARE INDEBTED to the University Publishing Company, New York and Baltimore, for a copy of Maury's Physical Geography. It is a work of rare merit, and contains all the most recent discoveries. The work is divided into six parts, as follows: 1. The earth; 2. Features of the land; 3. Meteorological phenomena; 4. Phenomena and life of the sea; 5. The life and products of the earth; 6. The American continent. The charts, maps and engravings are numerous and of superior finish. For sale at the Southern Methodist Depository, 110 and 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

THE MORNING STAR is a collection of new music for choirs, singing schools, conventions, etc., and is divided into six parts, to wit: Musical notation, vocal culture, four-part songs and glees, hymn tunes, anthems and chants, and standard tunes. The work is by D. F. Hodges and G. W. Foster. Lee & Shepard, Boston, publishers, and G. H. Tilden & Co., Keene, New Hampshire, 1873.

GOLDEN SUNBEAMS, published by Lee & Shepard, Boston, and Lee, Shepard & Dillingham, New York, 1874, is a collection of music for the Sunday school, social meeting and home circle. The songs and tunes appear to be an unusually good selection.

FROM HENRY HOLT & Co., publishers, New York, we have received Ingraban, by Gustav Freytag, translated from the German by Mrs. Malcolm.

OUR SUNDAY SCHOOL PERIODICALS for November are promptly to hand, and will, we think, satisfy everybody. The Magazine, we are glad to see, keeps up in full measure and quality those most important departments: Illustrative Readings and Notes for Teachers and Bible Students.

THE METHODIST QUARTERLY REVIEW, OCTOBER, 1873.—D. D. Whedon, LL. D., editor. Nelson & Phillips, New York; Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati. Contents: Theodore Parker; The Soushlp of Christ; Carl Immanuel Nitzsch; Nature of a Christian Sacrament; Chamberlayne on Saving Faith; The Resurrection; An Inquiry into the Nature of Matter. The editorial department, embracing Synopsis of the Quarterlies, Foreign Religious Intelligence, Foreign Literary Intelligence and Quarterly Book Table, is full, able and replete with interest.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY for November has the following articles: The Great South—Old and New Louisiana; November Morning; For Pastime; Sonnets; The Story of a Telescope; A Spiritual Song; Edmund Clarence Stedman; Alpenglow; Katherine Earle; Duty; Earthen Pitchers; An Arctic Quest; Only Half a Woman; Annals of an English Abbey; Elizabeth Barret Browning; Topics of the Time; The Old Cabinet; Home and Society; Culture and Progress; Nature and Science; Etchings.

THE SUNDAY MAGAZINE for October contains: The Doctrine of the Resurrection of the Body; Earlier Historical Illustrations of the Bible; Notes from the South Pacific, and other articles of great value. Good Words for October contains a great variety of articles, and all are meritorious. Among them we note: Our Dwelling-Houses; Pictures of Italian Life; Christianity and Ritual; The Cloud of Witnesses.

JOURNAL OF THE EXPOSITION is the title of a new illustrated weekly, published at Philadelphia, in the interest of the National Centennial Exposition. Price, $4 per annum.

THE GALAXY for November contains a number of very clever articles, and will prove one of the best numbers of the volume.

IT IS BECOMING the rule for most editors of large papers to employ the aid of a stenographer to do the vast amount of writing incident to such a position. Such is the practice of Whitelaw Reid, Charles A. Dana, Manton Marble, D. G. Croly, Samuel Bowles, John W. Forney and some others. Yet Murat Halstead, Horace White and Henry Watterson still do the bulk of their writing each with his own hand.

OUR FRIEND, Dr. J. J. Lyons, as appears from his card in another column, has removed from 502 Ramport to 219 Carondelet street, between Julia and St. Joseph. We take great pleasure in commending Dr. Lyons to the public as a physician of experience and skill.

IT WILL BE SEEN from the card of Dr. Bickham, which will be found among our new advertisements this week, that he has removed his office and residence to the corner of Second and Magazine streets.

IF THERE be any good in thee, believe that there is much more in others, that so thou mayst preserve humility.

Tribute of Respect.

At a regular meeting of the board of stewards of the Carondelet Street Methodist Episcopal Church South, held on Monday night, October 13, 1873, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has been the sovereign pleasure of our heavenly Father to remove from the family on earth to the family in heaven our beloved brother, companion and friend, HENRY F. GIVEN; therefore, be it

Resolved, That words cannot express our sorrowful sense of the loss which we have sustained, as a church and as an official board, in his sudden demise.

Resolved, That we would hereby testify to his honorable and noble record as a faithful steward of this church for many years—always in attendance at the meetings of the board when in health, always punctual, always sharing and bearing, according to his ability, the financial and other burdens which fall to the lot of stewards to sustain.

Resolved, That we would also hereby express our respect, affection and esteem for Bro. Given as a good man, a warm friend and an earnest follower of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Resolved, That we do hereby extend to his stricken widow and family our sincere condolence, with prayers for the consolation of divine grace to abound unto them.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, duly signed, be presented to the family of the deceased, and furnished for publication in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

W. V. TUDOR, Chairman.
J. L. DUNNICA, Secretary.

IF YOUR errand-boy takes an unusually long time to bring you the morning mail from the postoffice, don't reprove him for being slow till you find out how many postal cards he has to read.

MARRIED.

PROCTOR—LAW.—At the residence of the bride's stepfather, on the sixteenth of October, by the Rev. W. R. D. Stocktun, Mr. William J. Proctor to Miss Fannie E. Law, all of Bell county, Texas.

LAMAIRE—GALL.—At the Methodist church, New Iberia, Louisiana, October 8, by Rev. T. H. White, Leon Lamaire and Mary Gall.

BELL—FITZHUGH.—At the residence of T. B. Fitzhugh, near St. Martinsville, Louisiana, October 23, by Rev. T. H. White, Erwin A. Bell and Henrietta A. Fitzhugh.

Conference Register.

| Conference. | Place. | Time. | Bishop. |
|---|---|---|---|
| West St. Louis | Springfield | Oct. 1 | Wightman. |
| Louisville | Princeton | Oct. 1 | Keener. |
| Tennessee | Franklin | Oct. 8 | McTyeire. |
| Pacific | Colusa | Oct. 8 | Doggett. |
| St. Louis | Charleston | Oct. 15 | Wightman. |
| Holston | Marion | Oct. 15 | Keener. |
| Northw. Texas | Waco | Oct. 15 | Kavanaugh. |
| Los Angeles | Santana | Oct. 23 | Doggett. |
| Indian Mission | Tallequah | Oct. 23 | Pierce. |
| Trinity | Dallas | Oct. 29 | Kavanaugh. |
| Arkansas | Hardanelle | Nov. 5 | Pierce. |
| East Texas | Palestine | Nov. 12 | Kavanaugh. |
| White River | Forest City | Nov. 12 | Pierce. |
| N. Alabama | Talladega | Nov. 19 | Marvin. |
| Memphis | Memphis | Nov. 19 | McTyeire. |
| Virginia | Norfolk | Nov. 26 | Keener. |
| Little Rock | Camden | Nov. 26 | Pierce. |
| N. Mississippi | Grenada | Nov. 26 | Paine. |
| Alabama | Selma | Dec. 3 | Marvin. |
| Mississippi | Brandon | Dec. 10 | Wightman. |
| North Carolina | Goldsboro | Dec. 10 | Keener. |
| South Carolina | Sumter | Dec. 10 | McTyeire. |
| North Georgia | Newnan | Dec. 10 | Paine. |
| Texas | Austin | Dec. 10 | Kavanaugh. |
| South Georgia | Macon | Dec. 17 | Paine. |
| West Texas | Lockhart | Dec. 18 | Kavanaugh. |
| Louisiana | Baton Rouge | Jan. 7 | Morvin. |
| Florida | Jacksonville | Jan. 7 | Pierce. |
| Baltimore | Baltimore | Mar. 6 | Doggett. |

Publisher's Department.

Acknowledgments of Letters and Funds

RECEIVED BY MAIL,

For the Week Ending Oct. 25, 1873.

A—American News Company, T. K. Armstrong, American Sunday School Union two letters, A. S. Andrews, D. Appleton & Co., R. Abbey, A. C. Allen.

B—W. T. Brooks, J. H. Butler & Co., P. H. Bridges, A. A. Hatte, Barnes & Wilkinson, Bigbow & Main, J. A. Bolls, S. P. Bernard, F. T. J. Brandon, Charles E. Butt, Bouranu & Pease, A. J. Briggs, George W. Brown $10.

C—Colton, Zalun & Roberts, S. T. Collins, W. H. Chidester, John T. Cheshire, E. H. Cushing; Miss M. P. Chambers.

D—L. F. Dowdell $5, A. M. L. Douglass $6.70, C. H. Ditson & Co. two letters, C. L. Dobbs, Robert H. Downer.

E—10, G. W. Ellis.

F—Flint, Chamberlin & Holt, S. C. Forsythe & Co., C. H. Fisher, E. N. Freshman two letters.

G—J. O. Gibbs, W. H. Gober.

H—Philip Hake, Mrs. J. R. Harkness 50 cents, R. F. Hughes, D. W. Harris.

I—Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co. two letters.

J—J. W. Jordan 25 cents, W. J. Joyce, H. F. Johnson, R. J. Jones, R. R. Jayne, E. T. Josey $50.

K—Miss Mary Kay.

L—R. M. Lenton, J. B. Lippincott & Co. three letters, E. A. Lenoake, Lee, Shepard & Dilllingham.

M—William McCormick, E. H. Mounger, H. M. Marsh $10, Eugene Miller 75 cents, Jas. M. McKee, G. & C. Merriam, John A. Miller, J. H. Millspaugh, J. Maury, John Manning, Mrs. E. H. McLean, C. Miller, Alexander Mills, A. W. Moore, E. F. Mullins, W. F. Martin, Martin & Davenport.

N—Matthew T. Nicholson $5.

O—James Ormond.

P—Powers Paper Company, W. O. Pipes 50 cents, J. H. Packwood.

R—W. M. Rushing, George P. Rowell & Co. three letters 50 cents, J. K. Randall, A. H. Redford, J. F. Rigg, J. W. Rush.

S—A. Stephens, J. E. Surratt, R. A. Smith, W. P. Sampson, George M. Smith & Co., Sheldon & Co., B. W. Stubbs, E. Similar, J. A. Steugall & Co.

T—C. W. Thomas, E. K. Thurber $1.50.

U—Joseph Umberger.

W—Fred. White, John F. Wynne, Walker, Taylor & Co., W. H. Wild, T. H. White two letters, N. J. Woodbridge, Anson West, C. C. Watkins $2, H. S. Walkley, L. M. Wilson, H. Ward.

THE WEEKLY WATCHMAN, LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS.—Under contract with E. H. Hotchkiss, editor and proprietor, the subscribers of the Watchman will be furnished with the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE during the time of the suspension of said paper, being thirty-six weeks further, as agreed upon, or until notice thereafter.

AT NOS. 19 and 29 Canal street Mr. M. Cogan is selling, at greatly reduced prices, a large lot of clothing damaged at the recent fire.

SANTIAGO M. LAPEYRE, wholesale and retail dealer in imported and domestic cigars, No. 53 St. Louis street.

SEE Braselman & Adams' advertisement of bargains.

OUR READERS are requested to read the notice to planters and millers, in another column.

J. W. BLACKMAN'S Commercial College, 131 Carondelet street.

BARGAINS at Braselman & Adams', Magazine and St. Andrew.

HUMAN HAIR MANUFACTORY.—Mr. J. G. Bermel, at No. 121 Canal street, claims to have the cheapest human hair manufactory in the South, and also keeps on hand a complete stock of gloves, fans, perfumery, brushes, combs, fancy and jet jewelry, pocket-books, opera glasses, walking-canes, crutches, umbrellas, parasols, etc. A fine assortment of rich bronze and gilt ornaments, well adapted for the approaching holidays.

MR. LOUIS GRUNEWALD has erected, at great expense, on Baronne street, near Canal, an imposing building, to which he has removed his large stock of pianos and musical instruments, and would be pleased to receive his old and many new customers. Parties desiring to purchase pianos, etc., will find at Mr. Grunewald's establishment a most complete and varied stock.

ALEXANDER MILLS, 539 Broome street, New York, is prepared to fill all orders for pipe and parlor organs. We are informed that Mr. Mills put up several organs in this city before the war, and was formerly in the employ of H. Erber. He has attained a reputation in his line in the North, where he has served many of the most prominent churches.

MAGIC LANTERNS.—McAllister's patent Artopticon is the most powerful magic lantern ever made; with a brilliant oil lamp; for home, Sunday school and lectures. Stereopticons, etc. Slides at reduced prices. A profitable business for a man with small capital. Send stamp for catalogue. Address W. Mitchell McAllister, 1314 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

WE CALL ATTENTION to the advertisement of John C. Pooley, No. 315 Julia street, dealer in every description of building material, lumber, shingles, sash, laths, etc. Purchasers will receive prompt attention from Mr. Pooley, assisted by Mr. John Keiffer.

BOOTS AND SHOES.—George John Wagner, for many years at the sign of the red boot, corner of Ursulines and Dauphine streets, desires to inform the readers of the ADVOCATE that, in consequence of the hard times, he is selling boots and shoes at reduced prices.

COAL.—Messrs. H. & C. Tyler, No. 9 Carondelet street, will sell Pittsburg, anthracite and cannel coal, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates. We recommend them to the patronage of our readers.

AT THE cash store, corner of Magazine and St. Andrew streets, our readers will find a large and superior stock of dry goods, which Messrs. Braselman & Adams are selling at low rates.

THE New Orleans Butchers' Hide and Tallow Company, of which Mr. Jean Berthin is president, and A. D. Duchiron is secretary, advertise, in this issue, their extensive business, to which we call the attention of our readers.

F. ESTEVA, at his cigar depot, corner of Camp and Girod streets, New Orleans, has on hand a large stock of Havana and domestic cigars. Country orders promptly attended to.

SEND to B. S. Twichell for price list of the Chicago farm pumps, which he claims are the cheapest and best, and are adapted to all climates.

BOOK-BINDER.—Mr. F. J. Kuhnholz, No. 112 Gravier street, is prepared to fill orders for ruling and binding of every description.

MESSRS. BRASELMAN & ADAMS, corner of Magazine and St. Andrew streets, are selling a superb stock of imported black silks at reduced prices.

FOR THE TABLE of every family the Halford Leicestershire Table Sauce is expressly adapted for use upon fish and meats of every description. It is the cheapest relish, and the best that is made in any part of the world. Sold by all A1 grocers at only fifty cents per pint bottle. oc16 4t

COLGATE & CO.'S new perfume for the handkerchief, "CASHMERE BOUQUET," will be appreciated by all who have enjoyed the delicate and peculiar fragrance of their toilet soap of the same name, which is so universally popular. je12 1y

BUSINESS NOTICES.

MRS. M. G. BROWN'S METAPHYSICAL DISCOVERY kills the root of all disease—Deafness, Baldness, Blindness, Catarrh, etc. Three preparations form the Metaphysical Discovery, which enters the system through the Eyes, Ears and Scalp. No drugs through the mouth. Price, $1, $1.50 and $5. Sold by Fredericksen & Harte, 139 Canal street, and E. J. Hart & Co., 77 to 79 Telegraphic Place, New Orleans, and by druggists generally; or will be sent to any address, on receipt of price, from the Metaphysical University, 51 Bond street, New York, where please inclose stamp for pamphlet. oc31 1yetw

LADIES will find relief from their headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, etc., by taking Simmons' Liver Regulator. Persons living in unhealthy localities may avoid all bilious attacks by taking a dose of Simmons' Liver Regulator occasionally to keep the Liver in healthy action. It should be used by all persons, old and young. It is not unpleasant, is a purely vegetable compound, is not injurious to the most delicate constitution, and will keep the Liver in healthy action. oc30 1t

NO PAY if Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment does not cure, when first taken, cholera, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramp, colic and seasickness. Taken internally, warranted perfectly harmless (see bottle accompanying each bottle), for chronic rheumatism, sore throat, lumbago, pains, bruises, old sores, pains in the limbs, back and chest. Externally, this Liniment has been warranted for over twenty-six years, and not one bottle returned. Many families have used it for years, and state that if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. oc23 4t

HAMILTON'S preparation of Buchu and Dandelion cures that most distressing malady, Piles, by increasing the digestive function of the stomach, and by securing a proper secretion and excretion of bile for the lubrication of the bowels. This prevents constipation, and constipation is the immediate cause of Piles. There is common sense in this treatment. Go to Fredericksen & Harte's or E. J. Hart & Co.'s drug stores and tell them you want Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion. They can tell you all about the remedy, and sell it to you also. oc2 2m

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, New York.

| | |
|---|---|
| Assets | $21,000,000 |
| Income | 11,000,000 |

Branch office—33 CAMP STREET.

A. P. CLEVELAND,
General Agent.
fe13 1y

PIERSON & HEWS, fine Clothing, Shirts and Furnishing Goods, 13 and 15 Camp street, opposite City Hotel, New Orleans, Louisiana. We invite visitors from the interior to examine our stock and prices. We claim to sell first-class goods as low as can be afforded and live. We sell the celebrated Shomder-Seam Shirts, warranted to fit, wear and give satisfaction. Liberal deduction made to Clergymen, and their trade solicited. fe27 1y

$77.60.—Agents' profits per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHIDESTER, 267 Broadway, New York. oc2 2m

WE ADVISE those wanting to buy carriages, buggies or harness not to do so until they examine D. M. Hollingsworth's stock, at 54 and 56 Baronne street. oc2 6mosw

TEN DOLLARS A DAY.—Employment for all. Patent Novelties. GEORGE L. FELTON, 119 Nassau street, New York. oc9 8t

REMOVAL.—New Orleans Steneil Works, to 82 Gravier street. oc16 6t

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE TO

PLANTERS AND MILLERS.

A Licensed Engineer of twenty years' experience desires employment. Practical, alert, sober and honest. Address ENGINEER, oc30 3t No. 141 Carondelet street.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

AWARDED IN 1873 TO

J. G. BERMEL,

121.....CANAL STREET.....121

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Cheapest Human Hair Manufactory in the South.

Gloves, Fans, Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Fancy and Jet Jewelry, Pocket-Books, Opera Glasses, Walking-Canes, Crutches, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc. A fine assortment of rich Bronze and Gilt ORNAMENTS, well adapted for the approaching Holidays, will be sold at cost. oc30 2m|5p

THE FIRE ON CANAL STREET

SETTLED

WITH THE INSURANCE.

$9,000 worth of Fine CLOTHING,
$3,000 worth of BOYS' CLOTHING,
$4,000 worth of Winter OVERCOATS,
$1,500 worth of Stylish HATS,

All more or less damaged by water only, which will be sold at

Fifty Per Cent. Below Cost.

At M. COGAN'S,
19 and 29 Canal street,
oc31 1m But the Customhouse and the River.

L. GRUNEWALD'S

MAMMOTH

PIANO AND ORGAN WAREROOMS,

18, 20 AND 22 BARONNE STREET.

The Largest and Finest Store,
The Largest and Best Assortment,
The Best and Finest Pianos,
The Cheapest Prices, and
The Most Accommodating Terms.

Every Piano warranted to be as represented, and to give satisfaction.

Twenty second-hand PIANOS at $100, $125, $150 and upward; in perfect order. Sold below their value, on time or for cash, to make room for new stock now arriving. oc30 1m

NEW ORLEANS BUTCHERS'

HIDE AND TALLOW CO.

Capital.....$100,000.

JEAN BERTHIN, President.
A. D. DUCHIRON, Secretary.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| J. Berthin, | P. Lacoze, |
| B. Dabat, | A. D. Duchiron, |
| P. Centac, | A. Malthes, |
| L. Inclos, | M. Lanues, |
| J. Dubarry, | J. Soulbie, |
| J. Bernichan. | |

oc30 2m

CHEAPEST AND BEST!

CHICAGO FARM PUMPS!

Send for Price List.

B. S. Twichell,
New Orleans.
oc30 6m

J. W. BLACKMAN'S

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,

131.....CARONDELET ST.....131

This is the only Commercial College in this city where students from the country can board in the family of the Principal. There is ample accommodation for thirty to forty students to board in the college building. This department is in charge of Mrs. Blackman, and in case of sickness students will be properly cared for, and not sent to a hospital, or the cold care of strangers.

All Commercial branches taught. Terms over Thirty per cent. less than other colleges in this city. The Principal has been established in New Orleans since 1851. For circulars address

J. W. BLACKMAN,
oc30 3m 131 Carondelet St., New Orleans, La.

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Boots, Shoes and Brogans,

Corner Ursulines and Dauphine Sts.,

(SIGN OF THE RED BOOT.)

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of articles in the Boot and Shoe line, for Ladies', Gentlemen's and Children's wear, constantly on hand, and offered at the LOWEST PRICES. oc30 2m

JOHN C. POOLEY,

Dealer in every Description of

Building Material, Lumber, Shingles,

SASH, LATHS, ETC.,

315.....JULIA STREET.....315

Near corner of Liberty (New Basin.)
P. O. Box No. 687, oc31 1m New Orleans.

F. ESTEVA,

CIGAR DEPOT,

Corner of Camp and Girod Streets,

New Orleans, La.

Havana and Domestic Cigars always on hand. Country orders promptly attended to. oc31 2m

COAL.....COAL.

H. & C. TYLER,

9.....CARONDELET ST.....9

Will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates.
oc31 3m H. & C. TYLER.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

Corner Magazine and Second Streets,

New Orleans.

Office Hours—Eight to nine A. M. and three to four P. M. je29 1y

F. J. KUHNHOLZ,

Book-Binder,

112.....GRAVIER ST.....112

Orders for Ruling and Binding executed with neatness and dispatch. Merchants and others requiring Blank-Books will find it to their interest to order direct from the binder. oc30 2m

SANTIAGO M. LAPEYRE,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

Also Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Etc., Etc.,

No. 53 St. Louis Street,

oc30 2m Cor. St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

MAGIC LANTERNS.

McALLISTER'S PATENT ARTOPTICON.

The most powerful Magic Lantern ever made; with a brilliant Oil Lamp; for Home, Sunday School and Lectures. Stereopticons, etc. Slides at reduced prices. A profitable business for a man with small capital. Send stamp for catalogue.

W. MITCHELL McALLISTER, oc30 2m 1314 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

YELLOW FEVER

Can be successfully treated by any one. See Dr. S. S. FITCH'S

NEW FAMILY PHYSICIAN.

Sent free of charge to any person sending their name and address to 714 BROADWAY, New York. oc30 4t

GREAT FORTUNES, AND

HOW THEY WERE MADE.

An elegant Book, by J. R. McCabe, FORTY eminent lives, and each like a lesson. Thrilling in interest, and all true. Beautifully illustrated; original engravings.

Agents Wanted.—Rapid sales and very best commissions. No investment required. Do you mean business? Then send and get our Extra Terms.

E. HANNAFORD & CO., Publishers, se4 1f 177 West Fourth St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

CHRISTMAS BELLS SENT FREE ON receipt of stamp. An Illustrated Journal of Amusements, Novelties and Gifts, curious, rare and useful. Address ADAMS & CO.,
oc30 2teow Publishers, Boston, Mass.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

BARGAINS!.....BARGAINS!

SILKS! SILKS!

WE HAVE THIS DAY

REDUCED THE PRICES

OF

OUR SUPERB STOCK OF

IMPORTED BLACK SILKS

AS FOLLOWS:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| $1 25 | Silk reduced to | 87½ per yard. |
| 1 40 | Silk reduced to | $1 00 per yard. |
| 1 50 | Silk reduced to | 1 10 per yard. |
| 1 75 | Silk reduced to | 1 20 per yard. |
| 1 80 | Silk reduced to | 1 30 per yard. |
| 1 87½ | Silk reduced to | 1 37½ per yard. |
| 1 90 | Silk reduced to | 1 45 per yard. |
| 2 00 | Silk reduced to | 1 50 per yard. |
| 2 20 | Silk reduced to | 1 60 per yard. |
| 2 25 | Silk reduced to | 1 65 per yard. |
| 2 40 | Silk reduced to | 1 75 per yard. |
| 2 50 | Silk reduced to | 1 85 per yard. |
| 2 60 | Silk reduced to | 1 90 per yard. |
| 2 75 | Silk reduced to | 2 00 per yard. |
| 2 87 | Silk reduced to | 2 10 per yard. |
| 3 00 | Silk reduced to | 2 15 per yard. |
| 3 25 | Silk reduced to | 2 25 per yard. |
| 3 50 | Silk reduced to | 2 37½ per yard. |
| 3 75 | Silk reduced to | 2 50 per yard. |
| 4 00 | Silk reduced to | 2 75 per yard. |
| 4 25 | Silk reduced to | 3 00 per yard. |
| 4 50 | Silk reduced to | 3 25 per yard. |
| 4 75 | Silk reduced to | 3 25 per yard. |
| 5 00 | Silk reduced to | 3 37 per yard. |
| 5 50 | Silk reduced to | 3 50 per yard. |
| 6 00 | Silk reduced to | 3 75 per yard. |
| 6 50 | Silk reduced to | 4 00 per yard. |
| 7 00 | Silk reduced to | 4 25 per yard. |
| 7 50 | Silk reduced to | 4 50 per yard. |

WE HAVE ALSO

MARKED DOWN TO FIFTY CENTS

ANOTHER LOT OF

JAPANESE AND PONGEE SILKS.

IN DOMESTICS

We are also offering Great Inducements to buyers.
We sell Real LONSDALE at 15 cents.
We sell Sea Island COTTON at 10 cents.
We sell choice PRINTS at 10 cents.
We sell English 4-4 PRINTS at 12½ cents.

SPLENDID VALUE IN

WORSTED DRESS GOODS,

From Fifteen Cents to the Finest.

SUPERB STOCK OF FLANNELS

At Less Than Manufacturers' Prices.

All-Wool White FLANNELS, 25 cents, etc.

House-Furnishing Dry Goods,

SUCH AS

Shades, Curtains, Mattings, Two-Ply Carpets, Piano and Table Covers, Repps, Damasks, Sheetings, Pillow Cashings, Towellings, Napkins, etc.,

IN FULL STOCK, AND AT Prices that Show we Need Money.

BRASELMAN & ADAMS,

MAGAZINE AND ST. ANDREW STREETS.

CASH HOUSE. oc30 1t

WATERS' CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS are the most beautiful in style and perfect in tone ever made. The CONCERTO STOP is the best ever placed in any Organ. It is produced by one extra set of Reeds peculiarly voiced, the effect of which is most charming and soul-stirring, while its imitation of the human voice is superb. Terms liberal.

A Great Offer.—HORACE WATERS & SON 481 BROADWAY, New York, will dispose of FIVE HUNDRED PIANOS AND ORGANS, of first class makers, including Waters', at extremely low prices for cash or part cash and balance in small monthly payments. New Seven-Octave first-class Pianos, all modern improvements, for $275 cash. Organs, Five-Octave, $70, Double Reed Organs, Four Stops, $11. Eight Stops, $125. Illustrated catalogues mailed. A large discount to Ministers, Churches, Sunday Schools, Temperance Societies, etc., etc. Agents wanted. jy31 1y

IMMENSE SUCCESS OF

DITSON & CO.'S

New Collection of Organ Music,

ENTITLED

THE ORGAN AT HOME.

No musical home complete without it, for it contains over two hundred selections of the most popular music of the day, well arranged for the Reed, Parlor or Pipe Organ. Contains everything which is so-called "popular"—melodies of the day, marches, waltzes, voluntaries, variations, transcriptions of the best sacred airs, gems of Handel, Mozart, Schumann, etc.; in fact the best of all music from Beethoven's Adagios to Strauss' Danube Waltz. First edition sold in two weeks after publication, and Fourth now ready. Price, $2.50 boards; $3 cloth.

Unparalleled Success of Dilson & Co.'s which contains literally the gems of Strauss' Waltzes, Mazurkas, etc., and is to-day the most popular music-book in America, over Twenty Thousand copies having been sold in ten months. Price, $2.50; in cloth, $3.

GEMS OF STRAUSS.

GREAT SALE OF

THE STANDARD.

This great Church Music-Book, by L. O. Emerson and H. R. Palmer, has double the merit and is likely to have double the sale of common books by one composer. The works of either gentleman have sold by the hundred thousand, and the STANDARD will continue to be called for until every choir, singing class and convention is supplied. Price, $1.50. Published by

CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.,
711 Broadway, New York.
OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
Jy24 1y Boston.

KESSLER WAGON WORKS,

EAST GIRARD AVE., PHILADELPHIA,

MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF

Plantation, Road, Express and Sugar-Cane Wagons,

Ox, Horse and Cane Carts, Timber Wheels, etc.

HENRY KESSLER.
se25 2m GEORGE KESSLER.

JOSEPH HEITKHAUS,

CARRIAGE BUILDER,

No. 1204 Frankford Road,

Above Girard Avenue,

se18 3m PHILADELPHIA.

S. COLLINS & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PRINTING INK.

Office and Depot—20 Frankfort St.,

oc9 3m NEW YORK.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Those who contemplate giving up housekeeping this winter, and desire to have their FURNITURE carefully packed for shipping or storing, will do well to call on

J. ROIS,
No. 291 Camp street.

N. B.—Furniture repaired and bought. Carpets taken up and cleaned. oc23 2m

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NEW ORLEANS

SAVINGS INSTITUTION,

136.....CANAL STREET.....136

Incorporated March 15, 1855.

OFFICERS.

L. F. GENERES, President.
THOS. A. ADAMS, First Vice President.
THOS. ALLEN CLARKE, Second V. President.
CHARLES J. LEEDS, Third Vice President.
SAM JONES, Jr., Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| Dr. W. Newton Mercer, | David Urquhart, |
| L. F. Generes, | John G. Gaines, |
| George Jones, | Carl Kohn, |
| Thos. A. Adams, | Christian Schneider, |
| Thos. Allen Clarke, | Samuel Jamison. |
| Charles J. Leeds, | |

SIX PER CENT. INTEREST on deposits.
oc23 3m

THE WEED SEWING MACHINE.

THE WEED

SEWING MACHINE

HAS JUST RECEIVED

THE HIGHEST AWARD

AT VIENNA,

THUS

REPEATING ITS EXPERIENCE

AT PARIS IN 1867.

No Machine possesses so many good qualities for general Family use.

The universal satisfaction given by this Machine justifies its claim to the well-known name:

FAMILY FAVORITE.

COMPANY'S OFFICE IN

| | |
|---|---|
| New Orleans | 207 Canal St. |
| Houston | 113 Main Street. |
| Atlanta | 27 Marietta St. |
| Savannah | 27 Ball Street. |

se11 3m

BILLINGS' PATENT

Sewing Machine

SHUTTLES.

Twenty Varieties Now Made.

Forged solid from bar-steel and cold pressed.

TRADE B MARK.

Also Wrought Iron and Steel

DROP FORGINGS

of all descriptions, for Guns, Pistols, Sewing Machines, Agricultural Implements, etc.

MANUFACTURED BY

Billings & Spencer Co.,

LAWRENCE STREET,

se25 6m Hartford, Conn.

CHURCH AND

SCHOOL FURNITURE.

We are the Sole Manufacturers of

Peard's Folding-Lid Desk and Seat,

which obtained the highest awards at Vienna and the American Institute Fairs.

Our stock of Maps, Globes, Charts, etc., embraces all the leading publishers in the country.

HALL AND CHURCH SEATING a specialty.

Full illustrated catalogues and price lists sent free on application.

NATIONAL SCHOOL-FURNITURE CO.,
oc24 13m 108 Chestnut street, St. Louis, Mo.

WANTED.....WANTED.

20,000 AGENTS

TO MAKE UP CLUBS FOR

THE CINCINNATI

Weekly and Semi-Weekly Gazette.

The GAZETTE is the leading Republican newspaper of the West, and has the Largest Aggregate Circulation

of any paper west of New York. It is the paper for the Farmer, Mechanic, counting-house and family circle. Send for terms to agents.

se18 4teow CINCINNATI GAZETTE CO.

FINE-TONED, LOW-PRICED, WARRANTED. Circulars sent free.

BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO.,
(Successors to Blymyer, Norton & Co.) Cincinnati, O.
ap3 1yeow Office and Works, 864-894 W. Eighth St.

Mills and Bolts

For Flour, Fine Meal, Stock Feed and other uses. Send stamp for catalogue of 1873.

EDWARD HARRISON,
oc2 4teow New Haven, Conn.

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ

134 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans,

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Caleche built anywhere. oc23 3m

PATENTS For INVENTIONS, TRADE MARKS, Copyrights, etc., etc., procured by

JOHN A. WIEDERSHEIM & CO.,
110 South Fourth street, below Chestnut,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Full information without charge.
Call or send for Book of Instructions. se18 1y

SAMUEL WEST,

GLASS STAINER AND CUTTER,

No. 115 Eliot Street, au7 3m Boston, Mass.

ST. JULIAN HOTEL,

PORTLAND, MAINE.

George E. Ward, Proprietor.

aq21 3m

ATLANTA PAPER MILLS.

JAMES ORMOND, PROPRIETOR.

For "News" we refer to this issue of this paper. au21 6m

ROGERS' EFFERVESCING

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA,

in six-ounce bottles, in powder. This Magnesia is a mild purgative and aperient, very acceptable to the stomach for sick Headache, Sour or Sick Stomach, and all Febrile cases. Good for all seasons of the year. For sale by druggists. Prepared by ARTHUR ROGERS, 193 Spring St., N. Y. se9 3m

MEDICAL.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY

—IS—

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver diseases most prevail. It will cure diseases caused by derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

OR MEDICINE

is eminently a Family Medicine; not to be kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.

After over forty years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians recommend it as the

MOST EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC

for Constipation, Headache, Pain in the Head, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, despondency, gloom and forebodings of evil, all of which are the offspring of a diseased Liver.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion it has No Equal.

It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world. Manufactured only by

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia.

Price, $1. Sold by all druggists.

TESTIMONIAL.

TESTIMONIAL.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,
No. 44 Dauphine street,
New Orleans, September 20, 1873.

CAPT. TRYON J. WOODWARD,
Agent Maguire's Medicines,
No. 18 Magazine street.

External Use—From a feeling of heartfelt gratitude and a general sense of duty I am prompted to address you, and respectfully beg to give you a history and brief statement of my past and present state of health, and my personal experience in the use of MAGUIRE'S CUNDURANGO CURE AND BLOOD BITTERS, and SARSAPARILLA TONIC.

My health for years has been bad, but from the commencement of this year I rapidly declined, forcing me to abandon all character of business and upon becoming completely paralyzed in my right arm, and with my whole right side threatened, I became helpless and hopeless indeed. I was attended upon by the most skillful physicians of this and other States and cities, with no benefit, and, in fact, my own medical knowledge forced me to realize the fact that unless some change and improvement took place soon with me I would shortly die, and made my every earthly arrangement accordingly, when by a most providential circumstance I was directed to and met you about a month ago, and from your generous proposal was induced (to gratify you, but with no confidence or hope of benefit to myself) to only try the Cundurango; and to my utmost astonishment and gratification am now almost entirely restored to perfect health, and that by the use of but one bottle of the Cundurango Liver and Blood Bitters and one bottle of the Sarsaparilla Tonic. I am indeed, a renewed and resurrected man, and as ever, my dear sir, be grateful in my remembrance of you for the kind interest and generous sympathy shown me in my wretched helplessness. I am convinced that to the use of Cundurango, under Divine Providence through you, I am indebted for a new lease upon life.

From a sense of duty, let me ask that a perusal of my case be made—and by my happy experience none need despair—and that through you, in the use of Cundurango, they may also find relief and restoration to health, when even hope has fled. With respect and gratitude, I remain

Yours truly, etc.,

THOMAS M. LOGAN, M. D.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20, 1873.

We, the undersigned, being personally acquainted with Dr. Logan, cheerfully certify that the above statement is true and correct in every particular.

J. C. McALLISTER,
REV. P. M. GOUHENEY, oc24 1w DANIEL HICKOK.

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

THE STARTLING DRAWBACK of nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for an agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY and STRENGTHEN

At One and the Same Time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which fully realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. This important desideratum is which purifies the blood and removes all corrupt humor and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or prostration whatever, but, on the contrary, tones the system and invigorates the body during the progress of its operation. It unites the hereditore irreconcilable qualities of a strengthening purgative and a purifying tonic.

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,

DR. TUTT'S PILLS are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after one has taken the patient is aware of their great efficacy. They may be taken at any time without exposure of diet or occupation. They produce appetite and sea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.

Price, 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists.

Principal Office, Nos. 18 and 20 Platt street, New York. oc2 6m

MANUALS OF MATHEMATICAL INSTRUMENTS,

MICROSCOPES, MAGIC LANTERNS,

METEOROLOGICAL INSTRUMENTS,

Physical Apparatus,

Profusely illustrated and priced, mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents each.

JAS. W. QUEEN & CO., Opticians,
601 Broadway, New York, and
se11 6m|5p 924 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

JACOB C. BAKER,

300 WEST COMMERCIAL STREET,

Portland, Maine,

KEEPS CONSTANTLY ON HAND

PRESSED HAY, STRAW, LUMBER AND FLOUR.

Southern patronage solicited oc23 3m

TO CLERGYMEN AND OTHERS

desiring to add to their income by acting as Agents or Canvassers for really useful works, advantageous offers will be made by address ing

T. B. ELLWOOD ZELL,
se18 2m|5p Publisher, Philadelphia.

The Child's Corner.

SHUT THE DOOR.

[illegible]

That Ruffian, Burgan.

BY ROSELLA RICE.

One day the professor of the village academy came to me, at the beginning of a new school term, and said:

"I would like to ask your advice, Rosy. This is likely to be a very full term; new students are coming from all directions, and there is one whom I may have to reject. I want your opinion first. He comes from the coal regions; is a large, dark, thick-set fellow, with strange black eyes, and he looks ruffianly and coarse. His character is not good. He uses profane language; and when I was talking to the boys about their duty, his lip curled, and he looked doubting and scornful. I feel as if I didn't want him here at school; and yet we might do him good. Appearances may be against him; he may have had a sad, gloomy childhood, and low associations, and no opportunities. We know not what the poor young man may have encountered—what battles of the soul he may have fought, what sorrows undergone. He is trying to take a step forward in the right direction—he is walking toward the light; I dare not turn from him. God forbid!"

And so the young man's name was enrolled among the students of Brookside Academy. He did look coarse and ill-bred, and he had sooty black hair, and his pantaloons were tucked inside of his boots, and his thick lips set as though, come what would, he was determined to meet it doggedly.

We all understood each other, and resolved to treat him "like one of us," to show him respect and attention, and to do him all the good we could. It was not much I could do—I was only one of the patrons—but when I met him I always smiled or nodded or waved my hand. Two or three times—when we had strawberry short-cake or peaches and cream—I invited him to take tea with us.

Would you really believe it? before three months the stern lines in his face began to relax and soften; a sunny light came in his dark eyes; he began to know what to do with his hands, and he would raise his hat gracefully when he met a lady. The interested ones nudged each other and said:

"How Burgan grows! Did you ever?"

More than one pair of eyes were misty with tears—real tears of rejoicing and gratitude. I frequently said to the professor:

"Is it well with the young man Burgan? Have you not observed his growth in every desirable direction?"

"I cannot feel grateful enough," said he, "for the good angel's whisper that induced me to look with favor upon that poor fellow."

Last week was commencement. The students held a reunion in the evening. No face in the throng was more expressive than the poor boy's upon whose life hard fate had set her seal. As they were about separating, and were shaking hands, with "Good-by, Dick," "Farewell, Tom," "Let us hear from you, Will," and all these cheery-sad things, that make the tears come in spite of made-up laughter, Burgan said huskily:

"Will you come into the library a moment, professor?" He went, and when the door was closed the poor boy, standing up before his teacher, said: "I could not possibly go away without telling you how much I am indebted to you. I wish I could make you know how much it is—" and here he lifted up his trembling hands and tenderly laid the open palms on the sides of his benefactor's face, leaned his head down upon the faithful breast, and cried out like a broken-hearted woman. It was very touching. Brokenly he said: "I hadn't a friend when I came here; I stood alone in this world, with every human face turned against me. I was despairing; this was my last chance—my last effort. I had tried to be a good boy, but people distrusted me, and met my endeavors with scorn and doubt in their faces. They called me 'that ruffian—that lord case, Burgan.' I had learned to hate my very name. I had nothing to plant my feet upon; no rock to stand on; no rope to lay hold of; no light; the very heavens were brass. I happened to pick up a waif of a newspaper in which was the advertisement of Brookside Academy—a quiet village, where no intoxicating liquors were sold, and where the inhabitants were peace-loving and united. Perhaps a good angel dropped the paper in my way—I don't know; I almost believe it—but something urged me to come. You know the rest. God bless you, sir! you planted my feet upon a rock, and put new resolves into my poor heart. I have tried to drop my bad habits. I have only used profane language a few times, and then not because I wanted to—it came from mere habit. Oh, I'm coming back again, professor!" and he smiled royally; and his teacher told me that the face before him seemed illumined with a beauty that was heavenly.

And thus they parted, in a rain of tears; and those two strong, muscular men, with bearded faces, kissed each other like weeping women.

That must have been a sight beautiful enough for the seraphim to witness—the glad teacher, and the poor student, behind whom lay all his past years, dwarfed and shadowed and broken, and filled with thwarted [illegible] and terrible experiences.—Lutheran Corporal.

THE CONSCIENTIOUS BOY.—A little sailor boy, named Ned, once took with him on shipboard a kitten for a pet. Sailors are very fond of having such little pets that remind them of home, and of the dear ones there. So Ned had no difficulty in making friends for his kitty. But in the course of the voyage a fearful storm overtook them. The ship sprung a leak, and was likely soon to go down. A boat was lowered into the foaming sea, and little Ned was about to step into it when he thought of his kitten. There was no selfishness about him, and he could not think of leaving her to go down in that terrible storm. So he rushed into the forecastle to find her. When he came back the boat was gone. Pretty soon another boat was lowered and made ready, and into this went little Ned and his kitten. Now it happened so that out of the several boats that left the ship this was the only one that was saved. The one in which he first intended to go, and in which he would have gone if he had been a selfish boy, and had not cared for his kitten, was lost, and all on board of it perished. If Ned had been a selfish boy he would have perished too. But there was no selfishness about him, and that saved his life.

BEAUTIFUL DEATH SCENE.—When one of Martin Luther's children lay on her death-bed the great man approached her and said to her: "My dear little daughter, my beloved Margaret, you would willingly remain with your earthly parents; but if God calls you you will go with your heavenly Father?" "Yes, dear father, it is as God pleases." "Dear little girl!" he exclaimed, "O, how I love you! The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak." He then took the Bible and read to her the passage: "Thy dead men shall live; together with my dead body shall they arise. Awake and sing, ye that dwell in the dust; for thy dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast out the dead." He then said: "My daughter, enter thou into thy resting-place in peace." She turned her eyes toward him and said, with touching simplicity: "Yes, father."

A FABLE.—One day General Grammar mustered his auxiliary forces, and bade them answer to their names.

"Do?"
"Here, sir."
"Be?"
"Here, sir."
"Have?"
"Here, sir."
"Shall?"
"Here, sir."
"Will?"
"Here, sir."
"May?"
"Here, sir."
"Can?"
"Here, sir," answered Will.
"What do you mean, man?" thundered the general. "You have answered to your name already. I called for Can!"
"Beg pardon, your honor. Can is only another name of mine," replied Will, giving the salute.—Good Things.

Farm, Garden and Household.

The Best Soil for Fruits.

Much has been said and written in regard to the cultivation of fruits, and the adaptability of certain kinds of soils for certain kinds of fruit. For instance, that soil will bring good apples, and that good pears, etc. This idea contains a good deal of truth; but not all truth. For example, I find, after an experience of eighteen years in fruit-growing, that my greatest success is in putting the different varieties of apples and pears in certain localities where the greatest results can be obtained. I am forced to the conclusion that nearly all upland soil varies very greatly from the fact that when I planted my grounds first I supposed if any variety of apple or pear would do well anywhere on it, every variety would do equally well. Such is not the fact, and for want of a proper knowledge of adaptability of certain varieties to certain spots I have been under the necessity to regraft one-half of my grounds. When I first planted the Beurre Chirgeon pear I planted it on the strongest or what I thought was the best pear soil I had. The trees were very unthrifty, scarcely growed at all, and what few fruit they bore were wretched, small, nasty specimens. I tried this variety in different places, all on strong soil; all were a failure. I had condemned the variety as worthless, and top-grafted all; meantime I had previously grafted one tree over, standing on high, thin soil, and, to my surprise, when it bore fruit it was of the largest and most perfectly developed, and the tree thrifty. I find the Beurre d'Anjou on strong soil is a rapid grower; on thin soil it will starve. I regrafted one over, that stood on high, thin soil, with Beurre Chairgeau, and it was very thrifty. The Doyenne du Comice I find does far better on thin soil than on strong. The Golden Beurre of Bilbon is a very poor grower on thin soil, and rapid on strong. Had I left my orchard as I first planted it one-half would have been worthless, as on these principles does the whole or greatest success of fruit-growing depend—on putting varieties where the soil will produce a thrifty tree and good fruit.

I have never seen any very perceptible benefit from leached or other ashes when applied to the pear; but all varieties of apples are greatly benefited.—Gardeners' Monthly.

Keeping Butter.

While a well in this vicinity was being cleaned recently a half pound of butter was found in the bottom as good and sweet as when first made. How long it had been there no one knows. The present occupant of the premises has been fifteen years on the place, and, the pump being in constant use, there had been no occasion before to have it cleaned. The butter must have been there all this time, and how long before it is not known. The outside was of a paler color than that within, but otherwise there was no change.

It is not unknown to good dairy folks that butter will keep well in cool, pure spring-water, and some have taken advantage of the fact to preserve butter in close vessels under the surface. But we think it is not generally known that it would keep so long in actual contact with the water. It might be worth considering whether this hint about preserving butter might not be taken advantage of, so as to initiate a regular plan of preserving butter sweet and fresh until markets or other circumstances favor good prices.

The water, of course, must be cool and pure. At a high temperature, such as most water near the surface reaches, vegetable organisms grow that would soon communicate decay to any organic matter in the water; but there are many places where a lagoon of the proper condition of pure well-water could readily be constructed.

It may not be out of place here to remark that little hints such as these are continually occurring to almost every one's experience; but only soon to be forgotten. Yet often, if the suggestion be listened to and the thread followed up, one might get on the track of some good idea that would rapidly make a fortune. We think that new inventions require much study; but the truth is, most of our best discoveries have been by accident.—Germantown Telegraph.

TO KEEP TOMATOES FOR WINTER. A correspondent sends the Rural New Yorker the following: "As the tomato season has commenced, I can give one way of keeping them for winter use that may be new to some of your readers. I ate them in February, sliced and seasoned with sugar and a little vinegar, that seemed every way as nice as tomatoes freshpicked from the vines. They are prepared thus: Dissolve a teacup of salt in a gallon of water. Pick ripe tomatoes, but not over-ripe, leaving a little stem on. The tomatoes must be well covered with brine, and they will keep till spring or longer."

A WRITER in the Lancaster Inquirer, who has been long successful in raising Lima beans, says that "two things are indispensable to complete success: first, to pinch off the top of each vine when it reached the pole-top, at six feet; second, to save the earliest pods for seed." By the last-named plan the maturity may be in time advanced several weeks.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL FURNITURE.

Patent School Desks.

W. P. FILINGER,

921 Chestnut St., Phila.

FACTORY,

Columbia Avenue, below second.

ESTABLISHED 1850.

se18 3m

LANDRETHS' WARRANTED GARDEN SEEDS

LANDRETH'S SEEDS

Have spoken their own praise for upward of three-quarters of a century.

☞ The attention of Market Gardeners is particularly requested.

LANDRETH'S RURAL REGISTER AND ALMANAC will be mailed without charge to all who apply,

DAVID LANDRETH & SON,
21 and 23 South Sixth street,
Philadelphia, Pa.

se28 4in

SADDLERY AND HARNESS

AT ST. LOUIS PRICES.

McClellan Saddles, $4.75; Texas Rig do., $5; Ladies' do., $5.50, Buggy Harness, $12; Cart do., $10.50; Two-Horse Plantation do., $17; Stage do., $21. All other goods in our line equally as low.

GEORGE PLUMB & CO.,
131 Poydras street,
se18 2mt Between Camp and St. Charles.

ALEXANDER MILLS,

ORGAN BUILDER,

NO. 539 BROOME STREET,

oc2 3m NEW YORK.

"DOMESTIC" PAPER FASHIONS.

AGENTS WANTED.

☞ Send for Catalogue. ☜

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE CO.,

ap4 13m New York.

AMERICAN HOUSE,

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

The Largest first-class Hotel in the City.

Centrally located. Contains apartments with bathing conveniences adjoining. Also Passenger Elevator, Billiard Hall, Telegraph Office and Cafe.

au14 1y LEWIS RICE & SON.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

THE NEXT TERM OF THIS VENERABLE INSTITUTION OPENS ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER, 1873.

Faculty.—REV. C. G. ANDREWS, A. M., President and Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Political Economy and International Law; REV. A. R. RODOMBE, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Adjunct Professor of Natural Sciences; O. H. WILEY, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages; T. S. JONES, M. D., Professor of Natural Sciences; REV. R. D. NOBLE-WORTHY, A. M., Principal of the Preparatory Department, etc.

Charges.—Tuition per session of forty weeks in the College, $60; in Preparatory Department, $40. Contingent expenses, $5. A matriculation fee of $5 must be paid by each student on his first session. One-half the charges must be paid when the student enters; the other half on the beginning of the second term, March 1.

Board.—Board, including washing, lights, fuel and all ordinary incidentals, $16 per month. Day boarding with the same families, $8 per month. Rooms provided in the dormitories, rent free. Each student required to board at least one month.

Location.—This institution is located in the pretty village of Jackson, [illegible] parish, Louisiana, on the line of the New Orleans, Jackson and Great Northern Railroad, one hundred and twenty-eight miles from New Orleans. The station is reached easily by the Clinton and Port Hudson Railroad. The location is remarkable for its healthfulness, and its cultivated and refined society.

When Founded.—The college was originally chartered by the State of Louisiana, in 1845, and ceded to the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1855.

Alumni.—Its Alumni numbers two hundred and thirty-seven, of whom a large number have become prominent men in the land.

Apparatus and Cabinet.—The college possesses an Philosophical Apparatus and a Chemical Apparatus, and also a well-selected Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet. The apparatus includes a Theodolite, Sextant, Compass, Chronometer, Aneroid Barometer, Whirling Table, Electrical Machine, Air Pump, various combinations of the Mechanical Powers, Battories, Chemical Tests, etc., sufficient for a thorough and extended course of observations and experiments. Steps have been taken by the Board of Trustees to get these in thorough repair.

Literary Societies.—There are two regular Literary Societies connected with the institution. These are of great utility to young men acquiring a liberal education—improving them in the art of public speaking, making them in some degree familiar with the proceedings of deliberative bodies, and inculcating systematic business habits. Each society has a convenient hall and a well-selected Library—about one thousand six hundred volumes each, which, added to the College Library of two thousand volumes, makes over five thousand volumes in the college.

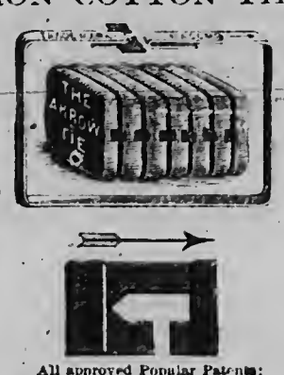
Buildings.—The Trustees are determined to continue the repairs on the building till completed. The grand Center Building is a noble specimen of architectural beauty and adaptation to the purposes of its erection. The wings built of solid brick present each a front of two hundred feet, with upper and lower galleries the entire length, supported by Tuscan columns and with the center making in the rear give a continuous front of seven hundred feet.

Preparatory Department.—In the Preparatory Department students are fitted for regular college classes, or may obtain a thorough English or commercial education.

The Faculty.—Its Faculty are men of experience and success in teaching.

Board of Trustees.—Rev. Bishop J. C. KEENER, D.D., President, New Orleans.

Rev. J. A. Godfrey, Clinton,
Hon. John McVea, Clinton,
Hon. and Rev. James H. Muse, St. Helena parish,
Hon. Edward McGehee, Woodville, Mississippi,
Hon. E. T. Merrick, New Orleans,
Prof. W. H. S. Magruder, Baton Rouge,
Rev. John C. Miller, Jackson,
Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans,
Hon. J. O. Fuqua, Baton Rouge,
William L. Nugent, Esq., Jackson, Mississippi,
Rev. J. L. Forsythe, Jackson,
Rev. L. Parker, D. D., New Orleans,
D. C. Hardee, Esq., Clinton,
Hon. A. K. Farrar, Adams county, Mississippi,
Hon. Edward J. Gay, parish of Iberville,
Samuel J. Norwood, Esq., Shreveport, Louisiana,
C. C. Mesmer, Esq., Williamson county, Miss.,
Rev. W. H. Watkins, D. D., Natchez, Mississippi,
Rev. H. H. Montgomery, Sharon, Mississippi,
Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Port Gibson, Mississippi,
Rev. John A. Ellis, Meridian, Mississippi,
Robert N. Wampler, Esq., New Orleans,
Josiah H. Nettles, Esq., East Baton Rouge, La.,
Wilmot H. Goodale, Esq., Baton Rouge,
Rev. C. G. Andrews, Jackson, Louisiana,
Rev. A. E. Goodwyn, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.



THE BEST ROUTE to the college is to leave the Mississippi river at Port Hudson, take the Clinton and Port Hudson Railroad to Midway station, report to Captain F. J. Haynes as a student for Centenary and he will convey you to the college, a distance of seven miles, for $1.50 for single passengers or $1 each, where several are together. Address jy24 6m C. G. ANDREWS, President, Jackson, La.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

IMPORTANT TO PLANTERS.

IRON COTTON TIES.

THE ARROW TIE AND ALL OPEN SLOT TIES.

All approved Popular Patents:

ARROW,
ANCHOR, WALLIS
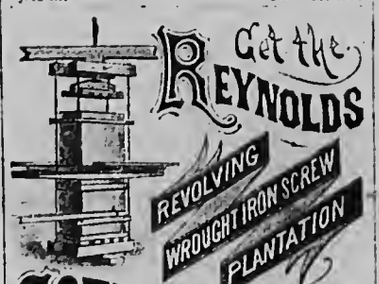
ALLIGATOR
AND DUNN.



For sale by all dealers in New Orleans, Mobile and Memphis, and by country merchants generally throughout the Cotton States.

BARTLETT & RAYNE,

GENERAL AGENTS,

48 CARONDELET STREET, COR. UNION,

je12 6m New Orleans

COTTON PRESS

IF YOU WANT THE BEST

W. H. REYNOLDS,

Cor. SOUTH MARKET & FULTON Sts.

P.O. Box 1690. NEW ORLEANS.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR

je19 6m

THE UNRIVALED

BUCK'S BRILLIANT STOVE.

Every Brilliant is Fully Guaranteed.

H. HALLER,

NO. 49 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS,

Sole Agent for Louisiana.

Sole Agent for the

CELEBRATED RINGEN WASHER

in the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi.

jy6 1y

LEWIS JOHNSON,

ENGINE AND MACHINE BUILDER,

Corner Julia, Delta and Water Streets.

NEW ORLEANS.

Castings at all kinds. Repairing executed with dispatch. Steam and Vacuum Gauges repaired. Glass Box 753, Postoffice. ap17 1y

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,

AT BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA.

The exercises of this school will be resumed on WEDNESDAY, the first of October next.

As the number of pupils is limited, it is desirable that all applications be made as early as possible. For circulars apply to

W. H. N. MAGRUDER
au14 4in Baton Rouge,

WHITWORTH FEMALE COLLEGE,

BROOKHAVEN, MISSISSIPPI.

ON THE NEW ORLEANS, JACKSON AND GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD, one hundred and twenty-eight miles from New Orleans, will reopen on the TWENTY-FOURTH OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.

The health is good, discipline firm but parental, instruction thorough, and economy in dress enforced. The expenses are as low as the advantages given will allow.

The Director of the Music Department, Prof. ECKHARDT, is unexcelled. Madame JULIUS, an accomplished Parisian lady, has charge of French and the ornamental branches.

During the past term there were Thirteen in the Faculty, and Two Hundred and One pupils in attendance, over one hundred of whom boarded in the college.

All the branches of a thorough education are taught, including the Languages, ancient and modern; also the higher mathematics.

Particular attention is paid to Spelling, Writing, Reading and Composition; also to the neatness, good manners and morals of the pupils.

For a catalogue address

jy17 tf REV. H. F. JOHNSON, President, Brookhaven, Mississippi.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

DANIEL & JAMES D. EDWARDS,

NOS. 22, 24, 26 AND 28 FRONT ST.,

AND

NOS. 21, 23, 25 AND 27 DELTA ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

MANUFACTURERS OF

Copper, Brass, Iron and Sheet Iron

WORK OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

ALSO OF

Best and Most Improved Steam Trains for Making Sugar.

DEALERS IN

Wrought Iron Pipe and Fittings, all sizes,
Brass Work for Steam, Water and Gas,
Boiler Tubes, Bolts, Nuts and Washers,
Well and Cistern Pumps, Drove Well Pumps and Well Points, Steam Syphon Pumps, Rubber Hose, Steam Packing, Steam and Water Gauges, Pipe Brushes, Sheet Copper,
Brass and Iron, Copper and Brass Wire,
Machinists' Tools and Machinery Supplies, etc.

AGENTS FOR

Cameron's Patent Steam Pumps,
Webster's Patent Combination Wrenches
And National Fire Extinguisher.

☞ Send for new Illustrated Price List. je20 1y

B. J. WEST,

DEALER IN

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS,

Plantation Hardware and Machinery.

115 AND 117 MAGAZINE STREET,

AGENT FOR

Poole & Hunt (Baltimore) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
H. & E. Blandy (Zanesville, Ohio) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
B. W. Payne & Sons' (Corning, New York) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
George L. Squier & Bro. (Buffalo, New York) Sugar Mills, Horse Powers, etc.
E. Ball & Co. (Canton, Ohio) "World" and "Ohio" Mowers, and Mowers and Reapers combined
D. M. Osborne & Co., "Kirby" Mowers, etc.
R. C. Taylor, Hay Rakes.
Nishwitz" and "Monrine" Pulverizing Harrows
"Excelsior" Lawn Mower.
R. Ball & Co. (Worcester, Massachusetts) Wood Working Machinery.
H. B. Smith (Smithville, New Jersey) Wood Working Machinery.
American Saw Company, New York.
Hubbard, Lapham and Bakewell & Co., Saws.
"Gunpowder" Copper Works, Baltimore.
Mathes Plow Company, Plows and Cultivators.
Winship & Bro. (Atlanta, Georgia) Cotton Gins.
"Stafford" Cultivator and "Sattley" and "Pond Gang Plows.
"Buckeye" Foundery, Bells.
B. J. West's Cotton Seed Huller.
B. J. West's "Improved Felton Patent" Grist Mill and Corn-Cob and Stalk Crusher combined.
T. C. Nisbet (Macon Georgia) Cotton Press Screws etc. au27 8m

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE,

WASHINGTON COUNTY, VA.

On the Eleventh of September

our scholastic year begins, and continues Forty consecutive weeks. It is divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. The Spring session begins January 29, 1874. Students can enter at any time though they should, if possible begin with the session. The entire expenses for the forty weeks, including board, tuition, fuel, room-rent, washing and contingent fees, need not exceed $230. These rates, so remarkably low considering the superior advantages here offered, must recommend this institution to the favor of those seeking thorough collegiate training. Before selecting your school consult any of those knowing the college, especially our Alumni and old students, prominent men in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and professors of the University of Virginia, who have authorized this reference, or send directly to the undersigned for a catalogue or for any information desired.

jy3 6m R. R. WILEY, President, Emory P. O., Virginia.

EAST MISSISSIPPI

FEMALE COLLEGE.

A Chartered Literary Institution under the Auspices of the M. E. Church South.

Located at Meridian, Mississippi.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The annual term of 1873-4 will open on WEDNESDAY, September 24, 1873. It will be divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. Comfortable convenience for boarding in the college building will be furnished and supervised by the president. The Board of Trustees claim to have made ample arrangements for the Literary, Scientific, Ornamental and Musical departments of the college, by the election of competent and even talented ones for the various departments, and that facilities for thorough and liberal education in the East Mississippi Female College may no more than be equaled by the best of other similar institutions. Our college is recommended to public consideration with confidence and with confidence of a successful career. We hope to see its interests and influence widen and deepen, under continued and steady prosperity, and it is apprehended that young ladies who now place their names upon the roll of this institution will be pleased in coming years by recalling in their riper years a living and honored success of educational enterprise.

BOARDING.

Boarders engaged for the whole term will be charged $100, $50 of which must be paid at the opening of each session.

Those engaged for one session will be charged $60, $30 of which must be paid at the beginning of the session. Those engaged for a shorter or run to definite time will be charged $3 per month, to be paid quarterly in advance.

Extra charges will be made for washing and lights. Each boarder must furnish two sheets, one blanket and two towels. Especial printed regulations will be given each boarder, giving her directions and restrictions respecting their family and social relations and practices.

In all cases of sickness, resulting in the removal of boarders from the college, advance payments will be promptly refunded. No pains will be spared to render each boarder comfortable and happy. Their treatment will be parental, and influences of strict propriety and refinement will be continually brought to bear upon all their habits.

Our college is in its infancy. The enterprise has been recognized by the Mississippi Conference as meeting a growing demand for educational facilities in east Mississippi. In the judgment of the church and Conference, Meridian is the proper place for the institution. The location is healthy, access is easy, society is of the right type, and almost every considerable stronghens the judgment of the board and Conference in locating the college at this place. Since this institution is under the supervision of the church there is no hesitancy in urging earnest co-operation on the part of the ministry in the surrounding country. Our appeal is earnest. We propose to place the standard of instruction high, that they who graduate here may prove themselves worthy of honors conferred, and thereby honor themselves, the college and the world. Address J. W. ADKISSON, President.

au14 3m

HOMER COLLEGE.

HOMER, CLAIBORNE PARISH, LA.

COURSE OF EDUCATION

THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL.

Total Expense Per Annum from $187 to $207.

SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 15, 1873.

☞ Send for a catalogue to

REV. J. LANE BORDEN, President.

Tuition free to children of Preachers in regular work. jy26 3m

MEMPHIS CONFERENCE

FEMALE INSTITUTE,

JACKSON, TENNESSEE.

Rev. A. W. Jones, D. D., President.

Fall session begins SEPTEMBER 1, 1873. The buildings are of brick, commodious and suitable. Situated in a refined, intelligent and moral community. It furnishes the best advantages of a first-class female college.

Send for a catalogue and give us a trial. We insure satisfaction. au21 3m

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

A GOOD BOOK.

SOLD BY CANVASSING AGENTS ONLY.

DR. DEEMS' "JESUS."

A National History to Prove the Divinity of Christ.

☞ Agents will find this the best-selling Book of the season. Clergymen, students and book agents address

UNITED STATES PUBLISHING CO.,
oc6 3m 11 and 13 University Place, New York.

AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE FOR

KIT CARSON'S

LIFE AND ADVENTURES.

Wem facts narrated by himself. Embraces events in the life-time of America's Greatest Hunter, Trapper, Scout and Guide; includes vivid accounts of the every-day life, inner character and peculiar customs of all Indian Tribes of the Far West; an accurate description of the country, its condition, prospects, resources, its mountains, rivers, valleys and natural wonders. Also, a full and complete history of the Modoc Indians and the Modoc War.

Splendidly illustrated and sells at sight. Agents reporting from 75 to 100 subscribers each per week. Illustrated circulars and terms sent free to any address by

QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
oc2 1y

NEW BOOK FOR AGENTS.—We want Agents everywhere for a new, beautifully illustrated work of the author's own adventures.

WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.

Incidents of nearly THIRTY YEARS of hunting and trapping, captivity among the Comanches, in the Mexican wars, encounters with Apaches, Grizzly Bears, etc. Thrillingly interesting. Send for circular and the most LIBERAL terms; or, if in haste to begin work, send $1 for complete outfit.

F. A. HUTCHINSON & CO.,
oc9 1y New Orleans, La.

AGENTS WANTED.—ACT AT ONCE.—The people everywhere are eager to buy the only authentic and complete history of

LIVINGSTONE.

His wonderful discoveries and thrilling adventures during Twenty-eight Years in the wilds of Africa, and rescue by the daring STANLEY. Over 600 pages, beautifully illustrated; only $2.50. Selling like wildfire! Write for extra terms; or, if you wish to begin at once, send $1 for outfit.

VALLEY PUBLISHING CO.,
oc9 1y New Orleans, La.

Wanted

More Farmers, Lawyers, Ministers, Young Men and Women (one in every township, to $225 to $75 a week) to act as Agents for

Mary Clemmer Ames' New Book,

TEN YEARS IN WASHINGTON.

It tells of the "Inner Life," wonders, mysteries, secret doings, &c., of Official "Life as Women See Them." Its accurate revelations will open everywhere, and large, and good wages are all that is demanded of every agent—man, woman, or child. Is popular everywhere, is thoroughly and healthy and what fortunes. 300 Engravings. Send for circular of extra terms. Agents, don't waste time. Money for You in this work. Terms Elegant. Address to nearest or the address, everywhere, to all agents. Outfit Free to workers. We pay freight on Books. Don't say be at home for part—as offered to

A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.
sep11 1y

LUCKY AGENTS WANTED

TO SELL OUR

Modern United States and State Maps,

And Pictorial and Religious Charts.

Large profits to Agents. Small capital needed.

E. C. RICHMAN, oc13m No. 5 Barclay street, New York.

WIDE-AWAKE AGENTS WANTED. WONDERS OF THE GREAT DEEP. By Prof. Gosse. It includes submarine diving, ocean telegraphing, Arctic discoveries, thrilling adventures, whale fishers and everything of interest in the ocean. Fully illustrated. Bound in superior styles. Subject now. Selling rapidly. Extra terms. For full particulars address

QUAKER CITY PUBLISHING CO.,
se18 2m 217 and 219 Dudrey St., Philadelphia.

THE TEMPLE HARP.—THE SCIENCE of music no longer a mystery. This music book should have been published a hundred years ago. It contains beautiful music, and the elementary department alone is worth more than 10 times the amount asked for the book. Published by S. C. COLLINS, No. 705 Jayne street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and for sale by booksellers generally. Retail price, $1.25. To the trade, and all other music-books. se13 3m

BIG GUEST Commission on rapidly-selling works for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Red Men, Mechanics, Temperance, etc. Sales unprecedented. One Agent clears $1,200 in three months, another over $200 in five days, another $90 in eight hours, scores $50 in one day. Write for circular and prove this. Give number of your Lodge, and name this paper.

J. HALE POWERS & CO.,
ja30 1y Fraternity Publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE PRACTICAL POCKET COMMENTARY AND BIBLE DICTIONARY.

Ten volumes. One Dollar each. Acknowledged to be the best and cheapest Commentary on the whole Bible extant. By the Rev. Drs. JAMIESON, FAUSSET & BROWN. Sold only by subscription. Agents wanting territory address

BLACKLEY & TURNER,
jy17 1y Room 9, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

TEACHERS WILL PLEASE WRITE for FREE SAMPLES of Reward Cards, Helps to School Management, Chromo Prizes, Monthly Reports, Registers etc., to E. F. BUCHART & CO., Educational Publishers, St. Louis, Missouri.
oc24 1m

AGENTS WANTED TO ENGAGE IN A permanent, lucrative and respectable business. None but energetic and responsible persons need apply.

A. POYLE,
oc23 6m 419 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo.

DO YOU wish to read a book that will delight and instruct you? And that will hold you SPELLBOUND from beginning to end? Then get

The WHITE CHIEF. BELDEN

Not a romance, but the record of an actual experience during a captivity of nearly 12 years, by an intelligent educated Albion, among the Wild Indians of the Plains.

AGENTS WANTED. OUTFIT FREE. Freight prepaid. Send for circulars, with 20 sample Illus., full terms, glorious extracts, and a brief account of his Powerful Life and Tragic End. C. F. VENT, Pub., Cincinnati je12 1y

EASY ROAD TO FORTUNE.

AGENTS WANTED to sell our cheap, fast-selling and highly illustrated Books. Retail at 50 cents, and sold to agents at very low wholesale prices. Any man can succeed at the business. New books now ready. These publications sell on sight. Address se18 3m 21 N. Seventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

BARCLAY & CO.,

MISCELLANEOUS.

FROM A RECENT ANALYSIS BY Prof. W. H. Atwater, of Yale College, the following table will show the chemical composition of YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Albuminoids | 12.45 | Sugar | 13.66 |
| Gum | 5.21 | Starch | 57.62 |
| Fat | 8.59 | Cellulose | 2.05 |
| Ash | 2.42 | | |

It will be seen that the Albuminoids (albumen, gluten, casein, etc.) constitute nearly thirteen per cent. "These," says Youmans, "are the flesh-forming principles—the true elements of nutrition."

It is particularly valuable to all requiring a highly nutritious food at the same time easily assimilated diet, and hence is used as an article of daily consumption in climates which occasion rapid waste of the system. "Almost all Asiatics, Americans and (aboriginal) Americans use it as their chief nourishment."—Lossing's Hist., in his work on Vegetable World.

In Hermetically-sealed YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN all the nutritive qualities of the grain are preserved. The grain is cut from the ear and placed in tin canisters with the rich juices (or milk) which exude from it, and is then sealed air-tight and the canister subjected to steam heat, which coagulates the albumen. In this condition it will keep for years. It will be seen by this that all the nutritive properties of the grain are preserved, and the most nourishing article of food in the domain of nature placed within the reach of all.

RECEIVED THE AWARD OF THE

Paris Exposition, American Institute, and Great Exposition of Cordova.

Sealed under the original patent. Ask your grocer for it. PORTLAND PACKING CO., ap24 6m Portland, Maine.

J. WINSLOW JONES'

WORLD-RENOWNED GREEN CORN,

AND

UNRIVALED LOBSTER AND SALMON.

The only reliable brand. For sale by all first-class grocers. J. WINSLOW JONES, ja23 9m Portland, Maine.

BUSINESS CARDS.

J. M. ELKIN. P. STRINGER.

ELKIN & CO.,

108.....CANAL STREET.....108

Near Baronne, New Orleans,

IMPORTERS OF ALL VARIETIES OF

English Carpetings, Rugs, Etc., Etc.

Also Oil Cloths, Mattings, Curtain Damasks, Lace Curtains, Window Shades, etc. oc24 1y

WILLIAM VELDEN,

DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,

Corner Prytania and Philip Streets.

Oak, Ash, Bakers' Pine, Lightwood and Charcoal always on hand. Wood sawed to stove-length and split. se1 2m

JOHN I. ADAMS. JAY L. ADAMS. WM. B. BENAIM.

JOHN I. ADAMS & CO.,

WHOLESALE GROCERS,
AND DEALERS IN
PROVISIONS, LARD, OIL, ETC.,
Nos. 13, 15 and 17 Peters Street,
(Formerly New Levee.)
mh27 1y New Orleans.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,

SEED MERCHANT,

12.....Dauphine St.....12

Near the French Market, New Orleans.

Dealer in BUIST'S GARDEN SEEDS, which are the most reliable seeds sold in the Southern market. Almanacs and catalogues furnished on application. Prices reasonable. jy31 3m

JAMES N. QUIN,

PRACTICAL

GAS AND STEAM-PIPE FITTER,

All kinds of Brass Work, General Southern Agent for the celebrated Nichols Patent Challenge Wind Mill; also for Challenge Feed Mills, Hay Cutters, Corn Shellers and Drove Wells. For price list and circulars address J. N. QUIN, ja31 1y 316 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans.

R. F. BRITTON. H. E. EPPLER.

BRITTON & EPPLER,

STEAMBOAT AGENTS

AND FORWARDING MERCHANTS,

No. 135 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.

Forwarding done free of commission. je5 6m

J. P. PAYNE. GEORGE MORMAN.
H. M. PAYNE. J. O. PAYNAM.

J. P. & H. M. PAYNE & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS,

61 and 66.....Baronne Street.....61 and 66

Between Union and Gravier streets,

je19 1y NEW ORLEANS, LA.

F. WAGENER, AGENT,

FRAMING STORE,

63 Baronne St., near Canal, New Orleans.

Frames of all descriptions made to order at the shortest notice and at New York prices.

Pictures and Window Shades put up. Cords, Tassels and Shade Fixtures for sale. nov15 1y

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING,

CUTTING AND FITTING,

At Reasonable Prices, by

MRS. M. TOURNABEN,
No. 206 Prytania street,
up27 1y Corner of St. Mary, New Orleans.

A. S. FITLER,

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,

136½.....Camp Street.....136½

Bet. Third and Lafayette, New Orleans.

Graining, Gilding, Glazing, Kalsomining and Wall-coloring. jy5 1y

Box 35, Mechanics' and Bankers' Exchange.

L. A. LUM. FRANK H. HOOKER.

L. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

102 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES. nov29 3m

RICHARD BRODERICK,

CISTERN MAKER,

132.....Julia Street.....132

Between Camp and Magazine, New Orleans.

Second-hand Cisterns always on hand. All work guaranteed.

All orders left at Box 30, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange, will meet with prompt attention. my8 6m

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

B. D. WOOD & BROS.,

106 Carondelet St., opposite City Hotel.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or lesser on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied. my1 1y

T. W. BOTHICK, UNDERTAKER,

No. 271 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Metallic, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Rosewood COFFINS always on hand. Black, Satin, Brown and White Merino Ladies' and Children's Shrouding. Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Hearses, Carriages and Cabs for hire. Funerals attended to in person by the proprietor, who hopes, by strict attention, to obtain a share of public patronage. no28 1y

WILLIAM EBERT,

ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS,

AND GENERAL HOUSESMITH.

Iron Railings, Tomb Railings, Fences and Verandas of all kinds made to order; also Iron Shutters, Doors, Window and Door Gratings.

161 and 163 Magazine St., New Orleans.

Box 213, Mechanics' Exchange. ap6 1y

LEWIS LOCKWOOD,

MANUFACTURER OF

DR. D'ALEY'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEGS AND ARMS,

125 Gravier St., New Orleans.

Prices from $75 to $150. Satisfaction guaranteed. No advance payment required. The patient can put on the leg and practically test it as long as he sees fit. Pamphlets sent free. my5 1y

CRESCENT MACHINE SHOP.

JOSEPH WALKER,

Machinist, Engineer, Blacksmithing, ETC., ETC.,

CORNER ST. JOSEPH AND CONSTANCE STS., New Orleans.

☞ Plantation Machinery manufactured and repaired. Jobbing promptly attended to. jy31 1y

C. SAMPSON. F. G. SAMPSON.

SAMPSON BROTHERS,

(LATE C. C. SAMPSON.)

FURNITURE,

33 and 35.....Royal Street.....33 and 35

NEW ORLEANS.

Established in 1833. jy23 1y

GEORGE PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door Steam Factory,

AND LUMBER YARD,

Corner St. Charles and Clio Sts., New Orleans.

Lumber Depot—Corner Claiborne and Delord.

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS, MOULDINGS, ARCHITRAVES, Base, Newels, Pilasters, Balusters, Cisterns, Doors; Blinds and GLAZED SASH. Rough and Dressed Lumber, Flooring, Ceiling, Weatherboarding, Laths and Shingles always on hand at lowest market prices. Door and Window Frames of all forms and sizes made to order. jy28 1y

JOHNSON & HILLSMAN,

PRACTICAL PAINTERS,

141.....Magazine Street.....141

House and Sign Painting, Steamboat, Store and Office Painting, Graining, Marbling, Gilding and Kalsomining. All work promptly attended to, and charges moderate. No. 141 Magazine, between Julia and Girod streets. feb6 1y

TO THE PUBLIC.—I AM NOW PREPARED to remove and repair IRON SAFES; also Lightning Rods repaired and put up to order. I have also on hand New and Second-hand SAFES for sale, both Burglar and Fire-Proof. Particular attention paid to repairing Bank Locks and Printing Presses, on most reasonable terms.

GEORGE COATS,
de26 1y No. 168 Magazine street, near Julia.

Second-hand Sewing Machines always on hand and for sale. Also second-hand Copying Presses.

ST. CHARLES NURSERY,

BY JAMES E. WALDO & CO.

Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Evergreens, Flowering Shrubs, Roses, Greenhouse and Bedding Plants, well-grown Orange Trees, Plants for Hanging Baskets and Flower Vases. Every exertion made to give full satisfaction in filling all orders from city or country. Packing done in a manner to insure safety in shipment any reasonable distance. Hammocks and Floral Designs made to order. Gardens laid out and taken care of. City Depot, 122 Camp street, New Orleans. no23 1y

BUSINESS CARDS.

THE PREMIUM BUTCHER STALLS.

MARTIN LANNES, BUTCHER,

STALLS 37, 38 and 7,

MAGAZINE MARKET,

New Orleans, Louisiana,

respectfully informs his friends and the public in general that he is prepared to furnish Families, Hotels, Boarding-Houses, Steamboats, Ships and Steamships with the best BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, SAUSAGES, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Game, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords, at the very lowest Rates. Thanking my customers for past favors, I solicit a continuance of the same. Recollect the Stalls, Nos. 37, 38 and 7, Magazine Market, where all orders sent will be thankfully received and promptly filled. ☞ All Meats delivered free of charge. oc23 6m

WILLIAM J. HEIRNE & CO.,

PROPRIETORS OF

Washington Cooperage Establishment,

COR. MARENGO AND LEVEE STS.,

have the most improved steam machinery in operation, and are thus able to make the finest quality of Sugar Hogsheads and Molasses Barrels. Their work guaranteed to prove satisfactory. Office—28 and 29 Front street. oc24 4m

HENRY RIGBI.

STYLISH HATTER,

No. 3 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

All orders from the country promptly attended to. oc23 1f

SOUTHERN SALE STABLES,

COR. DELORD AND BIENVILLE STS.

Having purchased the stock of Stables from George W. Fisher, I will constantly keep on hand the largest variety of Kentucky MULES; also Harness and Saddle HORSES. Take the Jackson Railroad and Bienville street cars, foot of St. Charles street; they take you to the Stables in five minutes. Merchants, planters and dealers will find it to their interest to give me a call before purchasing elsewhere. oc21 3m O. P. ALLORD.

NEW ORLEANS STENCIL WORKS

AND

MAGIC BATTERY MANUFACTORY.

AGENCY OF THE GOLDEN WONDER

GEORGE E. TEETZEL & CO.,

ENGRAVERS, STENCIL CUTTERS, STAMP AND SEAL-MAKERS,

82.....Gravier Street.....82

New Orleans, Louisiana.

Manufacturers of all kinds of Cotton Brands, Steadl Plates, Ribbon Stamps, Seal Presses, Burning Brands, Door Plates, House Numbers, etc., etc. ja26 1y

THE MITCHELL & RAMMELSBERG FURNITURE CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN ALL KINDS OF

FURNITURE,

MATTRESSES,

LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.

Nos. 103 and 105 Camp Street,

Corner Poydras, Moresque Building, New Orleans,

Have the largest and best assortment of FURNITURE OF ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.

Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. my2 1y

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND

—AND—

DOOR FACTORY,

ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,

301, 303, 305 and 307 Gravier Street,

je3 1y New Orleans.

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARETTES,

and a full assortment of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, constantly on hand and for sale cheap by

ED. L. ZELL,
Corner Canal and Carondelet streets,
de9 1y New Orleans, La.

S. B. HAGGART,

ARCHITECT,

No. 5 Commercial Place, New Orleans.

Plans, detail drawings and specifications of Churches, school-houses and buildings of every description. de12 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

R. D. MARLIN,

No. 31 Carondelet Street.

Pittsburg, Anthracite and American Cannel Coal, screened for family use. All orders from the country will receive immediate attention.

Yard, cor. Third and Tchoupitoulas Sts. mh13 1y

E. HEATH. M. LAHA.

HEATH & LAHA,

Importers and Dealers in

UPHOLSTERERS' GOODS, WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES AND FURNICES,

Mirrors, Frames, Molding and Wire Screens,

No. 99 Camp Street,

no21 1y New Orleans.

JOSEPH PATZELT,

FURNITURE AND CABINETMAKER,

No. 172 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Repairing, Varnishing and Upholstering executed at the shortest notice. Furniture made to order. no21 1y

P. A. LEBLANC. T. A. BECK.

LEBLANC & BECK,

COOPERS,

Nos. 23 and 21 Front street, between Customhouse and Bienville streets, Sugar Landing, New Orleans, have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Hoop Poles, etc. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to trimming. no28 1y

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.

COR. CANAL & ROYAL STS.
NEW ORLEANS
SOUTHERN AGENTS FOR THE

GORHAM MFG COMPANY

THE LARGEST MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD OF

STERLING SILVER WARE

de9 1y

McALLISTER'S HOUSE,

COR. CARONDELET AND JULIA STS.,

NEW ORLEANS.

Has large, well-ventilated rooms, wide halls and galleries, making it pleasant for families. Day boarders wanted at $2 per month. Transient, $2 per day for board and lodging. be7 1y

MULTUM IN PARVO.

HINES' COMBINATION STEAM COOKER.

The most perfect Steam Cooking Apparatus ever invented. Will cook SIX different articles at ONE TIME—MEATS, POULTRY, FISH, VEGETABLES, PUDDINGS, etc.—without one article tainting another, without the possibility of over-cooking or burning, and at the same time afford HOT WATER for Tea or Coffee, without interfering with the process of cooking.

No. 1, small family size.....$10 00
No. 2, medium family size.... 13 00
No. 3, large family size..... 16 00

Cookers sent to any part of the country on receipt of price, or C. O. D., with full instructions for using.

For sale at No. 52 GRAVIER STREET, New Orleans.

Agents wanted in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Send for circulars. Address

GODBWYN & CO.,
jy31 6m Lock Box 161, New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

D. H. HOLMES,

DIRECT IMPORTATION OF

DRY GOODS,

NO. 155 CANAL STREET AND NO. 15 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

IMPORTER OF

Silks, Embroidery, Laces, Ladies' and Children's Suits, Hosiery,

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, MATTINGS, ETC.

ap24 1y

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 210 CARONDELET STREET,

Between Julia and St. Joseph,

ja2 1y New Orleans, La.

DR. JOHN G. ANGELL,

DENTAL SURGEON,

152.....Julia Street.....152

All operations in Operative, Mechanical and Surgical Dentistry carefully performed.

Nitrous Oxide and other Anæsthetics administered. no28 1y

DENTAL NOTICE.

DR. N. P. GODFREY, having returned from his summer tour, is prepared to see his friends, as usual, at his rooms, at all business hours. Families requiring his attention will find it advantageous to call early, while he is not so much engaged.

Office—183 Canal Street. no14 1y

O. W. RACE. W. H. FOSTER.
E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice, Louisiana.

RACE, FOSTER & E. T. MERRICK,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,
se25 NEW ORLEANS.

IRON WORKS—RAILS.

BOSTON ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS.

EMPIRE LAWN MOWERS.

The Best in the Market.

Fountains, Vases, Statues, Deer, Dogs, Lions and other Lawn and Garden Ornaments.

Iron and Wire Railings for public and private buildings, banks, cemeteries, window-guards, etc.

Iron Crestings for Mansard roofs.

Iron Stable Fixtures of the most approved designs.

Copper Weather Vanes. Over two hundred new and original designs.

Emblematic Signs, suitable for every trade and profession.

Reynolds' Iron Roofing. Warranted.

All kinds of Wrought and Cast Iron made for building purposes. Estimates given. Send for catalogue.

BUBIER & CO., Proprietors,
Office—23 Exchange street,
au21 6m Factory—83 Merrimac St., Boston.

RAILINGS.....RAILINGS.

WROUGHT IRON AND WIRE RAILINGS

FOR

Public Grounds, Cemeteries, Cottages, Etc., Etc.

Iron Bedsteads, with Wire Stockings, for Hospitals, etc. Verandas and every variety of Wrought Iron and Wire work. Every information by addressing the manufacturers.

M. WALKER & SONS,
se18 1y 55 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WIRE RAILING

AND

ORNAMENTAL WIRE WORKS.

DUFUR & CO.,

No. 31 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.,

Manufacture Wire Railing for Cemeteries, Balconies, Grave Fences, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc. oc7 1y

PATENT COMBINED

IRON FENCES.

(The Most Perfect Fence Made.)

The best and neatest in the world for public and private grounds. Send for designs.

J. B. WIEDERSHAM & SONS,
se23 3m Sole Manufacturers,
1063 Ridge avenue, Philadelphia.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

Established in 1837

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the Celebrated Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,

102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati
R. J. WEST, Agent,
mh6 1y 115 and 117 Magazine St., New Orleans.

MENEELY & KIMBERLY,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.

Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.

☞ Illustrated catalogue sent free. jy30 1y

NEW ORLEANS PURCHASING BUREAU.

To the Ladies of the South.

A Purchasing Agency has been established in New Orleans, Louisiana, for the benefit of those residing at a distance from the city, and who have not the facilities for obtaining just what they require.

MRS. H. MOORIDGE

respectfully offers her services in selecting, purchasing and forwarding any article of apparel or personal adornment for ladies' and children's use, including MILLINERY, DRY GOODS, JEWELRY, BRIDAL TROUSSEAUX, Every and Other Articles, Trimmings, Underwear, Sewing Machines etc., etc.

Scrupulous care with reference to the price and quality, and fidelity to the interest and fulfillment of the wishes of correspondents, will be sedulously carried out.

MRS. H. MOORIDGE,
At Mrs. Doherty's Elegant Millinery and Dressmaking Establishment, 40 Canal St., Over Zieverman's Jewelry Store, New Orleans.
☞ Send for circular. be4 1y

BRINLY PLOWS

Best and Cheapest in Use,
Have taken over 300 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for illustrated Catalogue with Prices, and also Certificates of Planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
Louisville, Ky.
se25 6m

MARCY'S SCIOPTICON

With Improved and Cheapest

MAGIC LANTERN SLIDES.

For Home, School and Lecture Room (it is marvellous). Brilliant and effective. Circulars Free. Catalogues 10 cts.

J. MARCY, 1310 Chestnut St., Philadelphia
ap11 26t

MEDICAL.

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

THE STANDARD REMEDY FOR

SCROFULA,

And all diseases arising from

IMPURITY OF BLOOD,

such as Eruptions, Pimples, Boils, Ulcers or Sores, Abscesses, White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, etc., and all affections of the Eyes, Ears, Throat or Lungs, occurring in Scrofulous constitutions. For pamphlets, illustrating cases, send to

SWAIM'S LABORATORY,
1118 Seventh street, below Chestnut,
oc24 1m Philadelphia, Pa.

A BOX OF

LIVER PILLS (FREE)

GOES

WITH EVERY BOTTLE

OF OUR

AGUE MEDICINE,

which we authorize every druggist to sell on

THE WARRANT

that, if taken according to directions, and it fails to cure,

The Money Shall be Refunded.

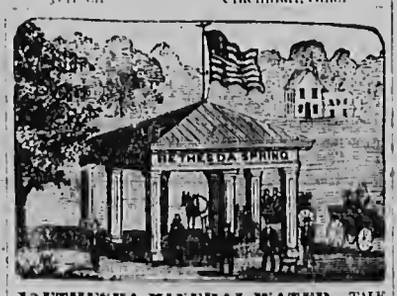
We guarantee that it contains neither Arsenic, Strychnine nor any other poisonous ingredient.



Hear what those who have used it say of it:

READ THIS.

Thos. Broughton, with John D. Park, of Cincinnati, says: "H. C. Hamilton & Co. I had had the Ague for two long years, and had tried several remedies of acknowledged or pretended merit without any good result. I finally tried your preparation—KRESS FEVER TONIC. One bottle completely broke up the malady, and I am now perfectly well. I can safely say that your medicine does all you claim for it; and it is only due to you that this acknowledgment should be made, especially as so many worthless quack medicines are now offered."

☞ Ask for KRESS FEVER TONIC, and remember the guarantee of the proprietors.

W. C. HAMILTON & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
jy17 6m Cincinnati, Ohio.

BETHESDA MINERAL WATER.—THE acknowledged cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Liver and Illinous Affections, Kidney and Urinary Diseases. Sold, wholesale or retail, at 38 Magazine street. J. C. McALLISTER, Sole Southern Agent.
Address Glass Box 825. mh6 1y

TASTELESS MEDICINES.—CASTOR OIL and many other nauseous medicines can be taken easily and safely in

Dundas Dick & Co.'s Soft Capsules.

No taste. No smell. Sold by your druggist. Ask him for our little book, or send for circular to 88 Wooster street, New York mys 6m

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

G. M. BAYLY & POND,

WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

Nos. 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Canal, and 59 and 61 Common Street,

ja23 1y New Orleans, La.

J. L. DUNNICA, NEW ORLEANS,
T. A. HAMILTON, MEMPHIS.
G. P. HARRISON, NEW ORLEANS.

J. L. DUNNICA & CO.,

FLOUR, PRODUCE AND PROVISION COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

50.....Tchoupitoulas Street.....50

oc22 1y New Orleans, Louisiana.

ANDREW J. AIKEN. JOHN W. WATT.

AIKEN & WATT,

COTTON FACTORS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS

40 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

Special attention given to orders for the purchase of all descriptions of Produce, Agricultural Implements and Plantation Supplies. no2 1y

WATER WHEEL

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED

N. P. Burnham's New Turbine

WATER WHEEL

To be the Best ever Invented.

Pamphlet Free. Address—York, Pa.
jy21 6m

PENNSYLVANIA

STAINED GLASS WORKS.

Aickin & Isaac, Proprietors.

Office and Works—3737, 3739 and 3741 FILBERT street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Designs and estimates furnished on application for Memorial, Subject and other Church Windows; also for Hall and Staircase Windows and Skylights for private residences and public halls. se18 3m

CARPET WAREHOUSE,

17.....CHARTRES STREET.....17

A. BROUSSEAU & CO., Importers and Dealers, at Wholesale and Retail, in English and American Carpetings; Floor Oil Cloths; Table and Enameled Oil Cloths; Window Shades; Table and Piano Covers; Crumbs Cloths, in square or pieces Curtain and Furniture Materials; Brocatelles, Potentes, Terries, Reps, Lace and Nottingham Lace Curtains; Hair-cloth Ticking; Springs; Burlaps; Stop Covers, etc.

jy21 1y A. BROUSSEAU & CO.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARBLE

—AND—

GRANITE WORKS.

GEORGE STROUD,

Late of and successor to John Stroud & Co.,

(Established in 1839,)

158, 160, 162 AND 164 ST. CHARLES ST.,

Corner of Girod Street, New Orleans.

Every description of Monumental, Cemetery and Building Work done in the best manner.

Particular attention given to all COUNTRY ORDERS.

A long experience in and an aptness at the business enables the proprietor to meet the views and ideas of his country friends by letter, as well as by a visit to the city.

Designs and Sketches will be furnished on application. no29 1y

BABCOCK SELF-ACTING FIRE ENGINE,

FOR CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE USE.

The Babcock Fire Extinguisher, Hook and Ladder Trucks, with Portable Fire Extinguishers attached. The Fire Departments in the principal cities of the Union use them daily. They are safe and simple, and a powerful protection. Forty-six railroads use them. Insurance companies reduce rates where it is introduced.

A. M. GRANGER, General Agent,
mh6 1y Exposition Building

CABINS.....LUMBER.....CABINS.

PLANTATION CABINS, manufactured in the city and shipped to the country, all framed, fitted, and each piece marked and numbered, so that a common hand can put them up without the aid of a carpenter.

The above represents a double Cabin of two rooms, each 14x18, built with boards placed upright and the joints stripped. Price, delivered to boat, including all hardware, nails, shingles, etc., $126. We make them of all sizes. Cost in proportion.

We also keep a large stock of LUMBER, SASH, etc., on hand, and make a specialty of sawing bills to order. W. W. CARRE & CO.,
ja23 1y 350 Delord street, New Orleans.

THE IMPROVED

LASH WASHING MACHINE.

PRICE ONLY $15.

Warranted Entirely Satisfactory If Used as Directed.

Is unequaled as a "Family Washer," and equally adapted to Schools, Colleges, Hotels, etc. Will "thoroughly wash" the worst-soiled clothing without hand-rubbing in one-third the time usually required, and will not injure the most delicate fabric.

Call on or address Union Box and Machine Manufacturing Co., Room 3, Bear 3128, WALNUT St., Philadelphia, or No. 5, North SEVENTEENTH street. se25 3m

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.

UNDER CARE OF

The Holston Conference, M. E. Church South.

Founded in 1849. Greatly improved. Boarding-house, with farm of five hundred acres. Fare generous. Faculty full. Instruction thorough. Located in the quiet country, seven miles from Sweetwater, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad. Expenses of tuition, board, fuel, lodging and washing less than $150 a year. Conveyance any day. For further information address

REV. J. H. BRUNNER,
se25 6m Sweetwater, Tenn.

READVILLA SEMINARY

—WILL—

Reopen on Monday, October 2, 1875,

with a limited number of pupils, and with a full corps of experienced and successful teachers.

Students returning to the Seminary, and those desiring to enter it, are requested to be present the first day of the session.

For further information in reference to the school inquire of its pupils and patrons throughout the South, or for catalogues apply to the Principal,

MRS. M. W. READ,
se4 3m Baton Rouge, La.

BINGHAM HOUSE, PHILADELPHIA,

Corner of Eleventh and Market Sts.

CARLIS DAVIS, PROPRIETOR.

This popular Hotel being centrally located and accessible by street cars from all depots, makes it a desirable stopping-place for travelers. It will be conducted in the same liberal manner as heretofore, it being the intention of the proprietor to maintain the reputation it has always enjoyed of being in all respects a first-class hotel.

Terms, $3 a day. se11 1y

JOHN GIBSON,

ENGRAVER

AND

Steam Power Lithographic Printer,

82 BEEKMAN ST., NEW YORK.

Checks, Notes, Drafts, Receipts, Bonds, Certificates of Stock and Deposit, Bill, Letter and Note Headings, Business Cards, Envelops, Druggists' Fancy and Perfumery Labels, etc. Druggists wishing Labels, send for catalogue. jy31 1y

CHURCH AND

SCHOOL FURNITURE.

The undersigned calls the attention of all interested in fitting up Churches and Schools to his numerous styles of School Desks, especially his NE PLUS ULTRA DESK, which has been adopted in all the new Public Schools erected this last year in New York; as also new styles of Pulpits, Settees for Sunday Schools, Pews, etc.; also his last Patent of combined Easel and Map or Lesson-Card Elevator.

Atlases, Tuberuncles, Runners, Almanac Boxes, Etc.

NATH. JOHNSON,
No. 681 Hudson street, New York.
Catalogues forwarded on application. no2 3m

FLINN'S PATENT

SELF FASTENING AND ADJUSTABLE

BED SPRINGS

Make the Best Spring Beds in Use.

They are complete

New Orleans Markets.

From the New Orleans Price Current.

Nothing of much importance has been reported from the country with regard to the cotton crop. The general impression is that we must look for a material falling off from last year, and few anticipate more than 3,750,000 bales, while the general [illegible]

COTTON.—The following are the arrivals since the twenty-fourth instant:

| | |
|---|---|
| Louisiana and Mississippi | bales. 9,877 |
| Texas | 46 |
| Alabama | 1,287 |
| Florida | 1,536 |
| Florida | 14 |
| Texas | 234 |
| Total | 13,093 |

On Saturday the market opened with a moderate demand. The sales (not including 1st bale sold Monday) on Friday) embraced 2,500 bales, and included good ordinary at 14⅞@15c., good ordinary to strict good ordinary at 15c., strict good ordinary at 15⅜c., strict good ordinary to low middling at 15⅝c., low middling at 15⅝c., and strict low middling at 15⅞c. On Monday the movement was much more active, but at prices showing increased irregularity and a further decline of ⅛@⅜c. The sales reached up to 4,000 bales, and good ordinary closing at 14⅝@14¾c., strict good ordinary at 15c 15⅛c., low middling at 15⅜@15⅝c., strict low middling at 15⅞@15⅝c., middling at 16¼@16⅜c., and good middling at 17c. The sales included low kinds at 12@12½c., good ordinary at 14⅜@15c., strict good ordinary at 15⅛c., strict good ordinary to low middling at 15¼c., low middling at 15⅜@15⅝c., strict low middling at 15⅞@16c., middling at 16¼c., and good middling at 16⅝c. Prices exhibited so much irregularity that quotations were, to some extent, nominal. On Tuesday buyers again came forward with a fair degree of spirit, and the business summed up 4,000 bales, but prices exhibited continued irregularity, some transactions showing no further decline and others a falling off of ⅛@¼c. Good ordinary sold at 14⅝@14¾c., strict good ordinary to low middling at 15c., low middling at 15, 15¼, 15⅜@15⅝c., the last for good staple, strict low middling at 15⅝@15¾c., the latter, benders, and strict middling, good style, at 16¼c.

The above makes the aggregate for the past three days of 10,800 bales, against 6,800 for the corresponding time last week and 3,100 the week before.

The receipts proper at this port since the first of September, exclusive of the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, are 91,338 bales, against 153,⅞ bales to the same date last year, and the decrease in the receipts at all the ports up to the latest dates, as compared with last year, is 166,986 bales. In the exports from the United States to foreign countries, as compared with the same date last year, there is a decrease of 37,342 to Great Britain, of 23,57 to France and of 17,638 to other foreign ports. We quote:

| | |
|---|---|
| Good ordinary | 14⅝ @ 14¾ |
| Strict good ordinary | 11⅞ @ 15 |
| Low middling | 15⅜ @ 15½ |
| Strict low middling | 15⅞ @ 15¾ |
| Middling | @ 16¼ |
| Strict middling | 16⅛ @ 16¾ |
| Good middling | — @ 17¼ |

COTTON STATEMENT.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Stock on hand Sept. 1, 1873...bales | ... | 7,177 |
| Arrived past three days | 13,093 | |
| Arrived previously | 94,502— | 107,595 |
| | | 114,772 |
| Exported past three days | 12,091 | |
| Exported previously | 39,518— | 62,209 |
| Stock on hand and on shipboard | | 52,563 |

SUGAR.—Arrivals from plantation are coming in a little more freely, though they are yet confined to small lots. The supplies are sold to dealers as received, but at weakening prices. On Monday 83 hhds. were received, and sold at 7¾c. for common, 8¼c. for fair, 9¼c. for good fair, 10⅜@10⅝c. for yellow clarified, and 10⅝c. for white clarified.

MOLASSES.—The supplies from plantation are increasing, and are disposed of, as landed, to dealers, but at a reduction in prices. On Tuesday the receipts comprised 458 bbls. and 1 half bbl. The demand was good, and the supplies were mostly sold at 50c. for common, 40@42c. for centrifugal, 57½@70c. for prime, 72c. for strictly prime, and 77c. for choice. The sales were all to dealers.

COAL.—The market continues dull. The supply is very light, with no limited demand, at irregular prices. On Tuesday 1,500 sacks sold at 78c. for mixed in burlaps, 78c. for mixed in gunnies, and 80c. ₱ bushel for rhodes white.

OATS.—The supply is light and the demand is limited. On Saturday and Monday 650 sacks sold at 62½@65c. ₱ bushel.

BRAN.—Has been in light supply and limited demand at previous prices. Sales on Saturday and Monday embraced 225 sacks at $1.15 ₱ 100 lbs.

PORK.—There is no demand, and the market is still more depressed. Mess is offering in round lots at $16 ₱ bbl., and no buyers. It is jobbing at $16.25@16.50, and retailing at $17@17.50 ₱ bbl. On Tuesday 63 bbls. mess sold, in job lots, at $16.25@16.50 ₱ bbl.

MONETARY.

Gold opened on Tuesday at 108@108¾ for currency and 113¾@114 for checks (against 108¾ at New York,) but closed unsettled and nominal against 108¾ at New York.)

Nothing has been reported in silver, and we now quote American half dollars at 101@105 for currency and 100@110 for certified checks. Mexican dollars are entirely nominal.

New Orleans Wholesale Prices.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

Made up from Actual Sales as they Transpire.

| ARTICLES. | FROM | TO |
|---|---|---|
| AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS: | | |
| Cotton scrapers | $5 00 | $6 00 |
| Cotton sweeps | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth | 9 00 | 18 00 |
| Cultivators, riding and walking | 25 00 | 45 00 |
| Shovels and spades | 7 50 | 10 50 |
| Axes | 12 00 | 17 50 |
| Shovel plows | 6 00 | 9 00 |
| Half do., with cutters | 8 00 | 10 00 |
| Ready's double-shovel plow | 6 00 | 9 75 |
| Corn mills, Coleman's | 120 00 | 225 00 |
| Bradford's grist mills | 150 00 | 235 00 |
| BACON, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Lake | 13 00 | 16 00 |
| Country | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| English dire | 45 00 | 50 00 |
| American dire | 35 00 | 43 00 |
| CANDLES, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sperm, New Bedford | 33 | 36 |
| Tallow | 17 | — — |
| CHOCOLATE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Cocoa | 38 | 60 |
| No. 1 | 50 | 53 |
| Sweet | 25 | — — |
| COAL, ₱ ton: | | |
| Anthracite | 12 50 | 13 00 |
| Western, ₱ bbl | — | — — |
| COFFEE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Mexican | 27 | 28 |
| Java | 30 | — — |
| COTTON SEED: | | |
| Bough, ₱ ton | — — | 11 00 |
| In sacks | — — | — — |
| EGGS, ₱ dozen: | | |
| Western | 20 | 25 |
| FERTILIZERS, ₱ ton: | | |
| Stern's raw-bone superphosph'e | — — | 65 00 |
| Stern's lime-ground bone | — — | 45 00 |
| FLOUR, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Double extra | 6 75 | 7 00 |
| Superfine | — — | — — |
| Fine | — — | — — |
| GLASS, ₱ box of 50 feet: | | |
| French, 8 by 10 | — — | 4 00 |
| French, 10 by 12 | 4 00 | 4 25 |
| French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 18 | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20 | 4 50 | 5 00 |
| HAY, ₱ ton: | | |
| Prime | — — | 27 00 |
| Choice | — — | — — |
| IRON, ₱ ton: | | |
| English, ₱ lb | 4¾ | 5¼ |
| Swedes, assorted | 7¾ | 8 |
| Hoop | 7 | 9 |
| Steel | 7 | 10 |
| Nail rods | — — | 9¾ |
| Castings, American | 5¾ | 6 |
| LEATHER, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sole, hemlock | 30 | 33 |
| Sole, oak | 40 | 44 |
| Harness | 38 | 45 |
| Calf-skins, ₱ dozen | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Texas, rough, ₱ lb | 24 | 26 |
| LIME, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Western | 1 75 | — — |
| Cement | 2 75 | 3 00 |
| Plaster Paris | 3 50 | 3 75 |
| LUMBER, ₱ M feet: | | |
| Boards, yellow pine | 13 00 | 15 00 |
| Boards, cypress | 20 00 | 25 00 |
| Flooring, dressed | 18 00 | 21 00 |
| Flooring, rough | 14 00 | 17 00 |
| Ceiling, dressed | — — | 12 00 |
| Weatherboards, dressed | 15 00 | 18 00 |
| Weatherboards, rough | — — | 12 00 |
| Scantling | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| Shingles, ₱ M | 3 50 | 4 00 |
| Laths | 2 50 | 2 75 |
| OILS: | | |
| Lard, ₱ gallon | — — | — — |
| Coal oil, in barrels | 22 | 25 |
| Linseed, raw | 1 05 | — — |
| SUGAR, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Havana, white | — — | — — |
| Havana, yellow | 10½ | 11 |
| Havana, brown | 10 | 10¾ |
| Crushed | 12¼ | — — |
| Pulverized | 12¼ | — — |
| TEAS, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Imperial | 50 | 1 30 |
| Gunpowder | — — | 1 60 |
| Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Young Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Fouchong | 30 | — — |
| Oolong | 40 | 1 10 |
| WAGONS, CARTS, ETC.: | | |
| Wagon, two-horse | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 110 00 | 125 00 |
| Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein | 85 00 | 90 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 100 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane wagon | 180 00 | 210 00 |
| Ox wagon | 90 00 | 125 00 |
| Ox cart, complete | 110 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane cart | 85 00 | 120 00 |
| Tongue cart, complete | 120 00 | 125 00 |
| Plantation cart | 55 00 | 70 00 |

CATTLE MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28, 1873.

| | |
|---|---|
| Texas beeves, choice, ₱ head | — @ 50 00 |
| Texas beeves, first quality, ₱ head | 35 00 @ 45 00 |
| Texas cattle, second quality, ₱ head | 20 00 @ 28 00 |
| Texas cattle, third quality, ₱ head | 12 00 @ 15 00 |
| Western beeves, ₱ lb. net | 10 @ 12½ |
| Sheep, first quality, ₱ head | 4 00 @ 5 00 |
| Sheep, second quality, ₱ head | 3 00 @ 4 00 |
| Milch cows, choice, ₱ head | 80 00 @ 100 00 |
| Milch cows, ₱ head | 35 00 @ 50 00 |
| Calves, ₱ head | 7 00 @ 10 00 |
| Shoulders, ₱ head | 8 00 @ 12 00 |

Business Directory

OF THE

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Agencies.
American Family Bible Publishing Company, Cincinnati Ohio
Barclay & [illegible], Philadelphia
E. C. Bleakman, New York.
W. H. Chidester, New York.
A. Coyle, St. Louis, Mo.
George L. Felton, New York.
I. C. Hamilton, Springfield, Massachusetts.
E. Hannaford & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Mrs. H. Mogridge, purchasing agent, 96 Canal street.
G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.
T. Ellwood Zell, Philadelphia.

Architects.
S. H. Haggart, 5 Commercial place.

Artificial Legs and Arms.
Lewis Lockwood, 50 Camp street.

Banks.
New Orleans Savings Institution, 156 Canal st.

Bed Springs.
John Flinn, Philadelphia.

Bells.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Buckeye Bell Foundery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Books and Stationery.
Robert J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.
American Sunday-school Union, Philadelphia.
T. Belknap, Hartford, Connecticut.
Continental Publishing Co., St. Louis, Missouri.
E. F. Hobart & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
F. A. Hutchinson & Co., New Orleans.
Morgan Envelope Company, Springfield, Mass.
Nettleton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. Hale Powers & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Quaker City Publishing Co., Philadelphia.
Queen City Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
James W. Queen & Co., New York.
Redding & Co., New York.
Shepard & Gill, Boston, Massachusetts.
Smith, English & Co., Philadelphia.
Soards' New Orleans City Directory, 1874.
H. R. Thompson & Co., 9 Lakeside building, Chicago, Illinois.
United States Publishing Company, New York.
Valley Publishing Company, New Orleans.
C. F. Vent, Cincinnati, Ohio.
A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn.

Butchers.
Martin Lannes, stalls 37, 38 and 7 Magazine market.

Canned Goods.
J. Winslow Jones, Portland, Maine.
Burnham & Morrill, Portland, Maine.

Carpets.
A. Brousseau & Co., 17 Chartres street.
Elkin & Co., 158 Canal street.

Carriages, Wagons, Etc.
Joseph Beckman, Philadelphia.
W. F. Clark, 134 Bampart street.
H. M. Hollingsworth, 54 and 56 Baronne street.
J. A. Lilar & Co., 162 Gravier and 13 Union street.

Caterns.
R. Broderick, 132 Julia street.

Clothing.
Pierson & Hews, 13 and 15 Camp street.

Coal and Wood.
John D. Macfin, 31 Carondelet street.
R. B. Wood & Bros., 106 Common street.
Wm. Velden, cor. Prytania and Philip streets.

Cooperage.
Wm. J. Behrne & Co., cor. Marengo and Levee.
LeBlanc & Beck, 23 and 24 Front street

Cotton Ties.
Bartlett & Rayne, 48 Carondelet street.

Croquet.
Bradley's Patent Croquet, Robt. J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.

Crockery, China, Etc.
Navra & Offner, 174 Canal street.
W. C. Shepard & Co., 55 Camp street.

Dentists.
Dr. John G. Angell, 152 Julia street.
Dr. N. P. Godfrey, 183 Canal street.

Dry Goods.
D. H. Holmes, 155 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

Educational.
Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana.
Clarksville Female Academy, Clarksville, Tennessee.
Collegiate Institute, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
East Mississippi Female College, Meridian Mississippi.
Emory and Henry College, Washington county, Virginia.
Hillsboro College, Sweetwater, Tennessee.
Homer College, Homer, Louisiana.
Memphis Conference Female Institute, Jackson, Tennessee.
Readville Seminary, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
Southern University, Greensboro, Alabama.
Wesleyan Female Institute, Staunton, Va.
Whitworth Female College, Brookhaven, Miss

Engravers and Lithographers.
John Gibson, New York.
George E. Teetzel & Co., 82 Gravier street.

Factors and Commission Merchants.
Aiken & Watt, 60 Carondelet street.
G. M. Bayly & Pond, 34 to 42 Canal and 59 and 61 Common street.
J. L. Dunnica & Co., 64 Tchoupitoulas street.
J. U. & H. M. Payne & Co., 64 and 66 Baronne st.

Fire Engine.
Babcock Self-Acting Fire Engine, A. M. Granger, general agent, Exposition building

Frames.
F. Wagener, 13 Baronne street.

Furniture.
J. Buis, 291 Camp street.
M. A. Davis & Sons, Philadelphia.
Nath. Johnson, New York.
The Mitchell & Rammelsberg Furniture Co., 103 and 105 Camp street.
National School Furniture Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Joseph Putzell, 172 Camp street.
Sampson & Bros., 33 and 35 Royal street.
W. P. Uhlinger, Philadelphia.

Gas and Steam-Pipe Fitters.
Barbarin Gas Machines, F. Roberts, superintendent, 2 Triangle building and 255 Peters st.
Jas. N. Gulp, 118 and 120 Tchoupitoulas street.

Glass Stainer and Cutter.
Samuel West, Boston, Massachusetts.

Glass Works.
Atkin & Isaac, Philadelphia.

Grocers.
John L. Adams & Co., 43, 45 and 47 Peters street.

Hats.
Henry Brisbi, 3 Carondelet street.

Hay.
Jacob C. Baker, Portland, Maine.

Hotels.
American House, Boston, Massachusetts.
Bingham House, Philadelphia.
McAllister's House, cor. Carondelet and Julia.
St. Julian Hotel, Portland Maine.

Ink.
Printers' Ink, S. Collins & Co., New York.

Insurance.
Ætna Life Insurance Co., 2 Carondelet street.
American Life Insurance Co., 10 Carondelet st.
Crescent Mutual Insurance Company.
Equitable Life Assurance Co., 33 Camp street.
Franklin Fire Insurance Co., 114 Common st.

Iron Manufactories.
Billings & Spencer Company, Hartford, Conn
Boston Ornamental Iron Works, Boston, Mass.
M. Walker & Sons, Philadelphia.
J. H. Wickersham & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

Jewelry.
A. B. Griswold & Co., cor. Canal and Royal sts.

Lumber.
W. W. Carre & Co., 350 Delord street.
George Purves, cor. St. Charles and Clio streets.
Roberts & Co., 301 to 307 Gravier street.

Machinery.
N. F. Burnham's Water-wheel, York, Pa.
Daniel & James D. Edwards, 22 to 28 Front and 21 to 27 Delta street.
Edward Harrison, New Haven, Connecticut.
Lewis Jahnson, corner Julia, Delta and Water streets.
Meneely & Kimberly, Troy, New York.
W. H. Reynolds, corner Fulton and South Market streets.
Jos. Walker, corner St. Joseph and Constance streets.
B. J. West, 115 and 117 Magazine street.

Manufacturers.
William Ebert, 164 and 166 Magazine street.

Marble.
George Stroud, 158 to 164 St. Charles street.

Medical.
Mrs. M. G. Brown's Metaphysical Discovery, 51 Bond street, New York.
Citrate of Magnesia, etc., Hofmann & Co., N. Y.
Cundinamarca Bitters, 44 Dauphine street.
Cure for Consumption, Craddock & Co., Phila.
Fever and Ague cure, Billings, Clapp & Co., New York.
Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Sirup, E. J. Hart & Co., New Orleans.
Fits and Epilepsy cure, T. H. Sayre, New York.
Hamilton's Bachu and Dandelion, W. C. Hamilton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Dr. Roesch's Hair Regenerator, 134 Thalia st.
Rogers' Citrate of Magnesia, Arthur Rogers, New York.
Stimmons' Liver Regulator, J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Swaim's celebrated Panacea, 170 William st., New York.
The Greatest Medical Discovery, Dr. Kennedy, Roxbury, Massachusetts.
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills, 18 and 20 Platt street, New York.

Mineral and Soda Water.
Bethesda Mineral Water, J. C. McAllister, agent, glass box $25, New Orleans

Millinery.
Mrs. M. Tournaben, 206 Prytania street.

Musical Instruments, Publications, Etc.
Robert J. Harp, 110 and 112 Camp street.
Boosey & Co., New York.
S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, Ohio.
S. C. Collins, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
Charles H. Ellson & Co., New York.
Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, Massachusetts.
Alexander Mills, organ builder, New York.
Horace Waters & Son, New York.

Newspapers.
Cincinnati (Ohio) Gazette.

Painters.
A. S. Cutler, 130½ Camp street.
Johnson & Hillsman, 144 Magazine street.

Paper Fusileons.
Domestic Sewing Machine Co., New York.

Paper Mills.
Atlanta Paper Mills, Atlanta, Georgia.

Patents.
John A. Wiedersheim & Co., Philadelphia.

Pens.
R. Esterbrook & Co., New York.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

Perfumery.
Colgate & Co.'s Cashmere Bouquet.

Plows.
Brinly Plows, Brinly, Miles & Hardy, Louisville, Kentucky.

Preserved Coca.
Portland Packing Company, Portland, Maine.

Printing.
Pelican Job Office, 112 and 114 Poydras street.

Professional.
Dr. C. J. Beckham, office, 680 Magazine street.
Dr. J. J. Lyons, office, 542 Ramparts street.
Race, Foster & E. T. Merrick, law office, corner Camp and Commercial place.

Railroads.
Great Jackson Route, E. D. Frost, general manager; A. D. Sheldon, agent.

Saddlery.
George Plumb & Co., 131 Poydras street.

Scientific.
Marcy's Sciopticon, L. J. Marcy, Philadelphia.

Seeds and Flowers.
Richard Frotscher, 12 Dumaine street.
Kern, Steber & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
D. Landreth & Son, Philadelphia.
James E. Waldo & Co., 122 Camp street.

Sewing Machines.
Weed Sewing Machine, 207 Canal street.

Soap.
J. H. Keller, 110 Gravier street.

Stables.
Southern Sale Stables, [illegible]

Steamboat Agents.
Britton & Eppler, 135 Gravier street.

Steamships and Shipping.
Cromwell Line New York Steamers, Alfred Monlton, agent, 41 Carondelet street.
Merchants' Line New York Steamers, John H. Ladwigsen, agent, 190 Common street.

Stoves.
H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Tobacco and Cigars.
Ed. L. Zell, corner Canal and Carondelet streets.

Undertakers.
T. W. Bothick, 271 Camp street, New Orleans.

Upholstery.
Heath & Lara, 99 Camp street

Wants.
Goodwyn & Co., lock box 161, New Orleans.

Washing Machines.
Lash Washing Machine, No. 5 North Seventeenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Ringen Washer, H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Watches.
New York Watch Company, Springfield, Mass.

Wire Dulling, Etc.
Dufur & Co., Baltimore, Maryland.

Special Notices.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—When you reach Selma report at the Methodist church. The railroads will pass you on the following terms:

S. and N. O.—Pay full fare coming, and obtain a return ticket from the conductor.

Alabama Central and S. M. and M.—Pay full fare coming, and return free on certificate of the secretary of Conference.

S. R. and D., and S. and G.—Buy full ticket to come, and get from the agent a certificate, which, when indorsed by the secretary of Conference, will return you free.

Mobile and Girard.—Pay full fare coming. Return on certificate of presiding officer.

Western Road.—Procure from agents round-trip tickets.

Mobile and Montgomery.—Get excursion tickets, with coupons attached to return.

Mobile and Ohio.—Excursion tickets at one and one-fifth fare for the round trip.

Montgomery and Eufaula.—Haven't heard from.

Comply strictly with the above directions if you wish the benefit of half fare. Get your excursion or round-trip tickets for at least fifteen days, if you can. Last year some were charged on their return from Conference who had ten-day tickets. The time had elapsed. Presiding elders will send me promptly full lists of lay members of the Conference, and of preachers coming up for admission and for ordination. Brethren who expect to bring their wives will please notify me.

M. S. ANDREWS.

PREACHERS of the third year, in the Alabama Conference, will please meet the committee of examination in Selma, December 1, at half-past seven o'clock P. M.

Bro. Rush will examine on Watson's Institutes, part 2, and on the Discipline and Manual of the Discipline.

Bro. Ellis will examine on Rivers' Mental Philosophy, and on Wesley's Sermons, volume 3.

The chairman will examine on Coppee's Logic, and on Edgar's Variations of Popery.

Each member of the committee will examine the class on the Bible—its reference to the life of Christ.

The class will please read all the books of reference, and be prompt to meet the committee at the time appointed.

H. M. HENDON,
Chairman Committee of Third Year.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

NOTICE.—The Publishing Committee of the ADVOCATE gave it as their opinion that the insertion of the notices of Quarterly Conferences once or twice was sufficient, and, as the space of the paper is valuable, they passed a resolution recommending that they "be not inserted more than once or twice." Our friends who are interested in these appointments will take due notice thereof, as we propose to be governed by the resolution in future.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Big Cane circuit | Oct. 18, 19 |
| Bayou DeGlaize mission | 25, 26 |
| Alexandria and Pineville | Nov. 1 |
| Columbia circuit | 15, 16 |
| Caldwell circuit | 19, 20 |
| Harrisonburg | 22, 23 |
| Atlanta mission | 29, 30 |
| Raphine circuit | Dec. 6, 7 |
| Spring Creek and Bayou Beouf circuit | 13, 14 |
| Centerville circuit | 20, 21 |
| Trinity circuit | 27, 28 |

30 FRED. WHITE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Trenton | Oct. 18, 19 |
| Delhi and Floyd | 25, 26 |
| Oak Grove | Nov. 1, 2 |
| Rayville | 8, 9 |
| St. Joseph, at Wesley | 15, 16 |
| Waterproof | 22, 23 |
| Lake Providence | 29, 30 |
| Lind Grove | Dec. 6, 7 |
| Oak Ridge | 13, 14 |
| Bastrop | 20, 21 |
| Winnsboro, at Oakly | 27, 28 |
| Monroe | Jan. 1, 5 |

23 J. E. COBB, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Carondelet street | Oct. 5 |
| Algiers | 12 |
| Morgan street | 19 |
| Plaquemine and Grosse Tete, at Livonia | 25, 26 |
| Cadiz street | Nov. 2 |
| Lafourche and mission, at Thibodaux | 9 |
| German charges | 16-23 |
| Felicity street | 30 |
| Louisiana avenue | Dec. 21 |
| Baton Rouge | Jan. 3, 4 |

16 LINUS PARKER, P. E.

INSURANCE.

AMERICAN
LIFE INSURANCE CO.

SOUTHERN BRANCH,

10 CARONDELET ST. 10

New Orleans, La.

Insures on LOW ALL-CASH RATES. All restrictions as to travel and residence removed.

Premiums paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually, at option of parties insuring.

The company is one of THE OLDEST in the United States, and beg a share of the patronage of the public

☞ Any particulars gladly furnished at the above place.

oc23 2m CAPT. JOHN D. SCOTT, Agent

STRICTLY FIRE.
THE FRANKLIN
FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF NEW ORLEANS, LA.

D. LEURRIE, President.
FRED. A. JOHNSON, Secretary.

Capital.....$250,000.

OFFICE—No. 114 Common St., Cor. Camp.

TRUSTEES.

| | |
|---|---|
| Hon. J. Sauer, | David Lenbrie, |
| Hon. Chas. Montaldo, | Fred. A. Johnson, |
| Dr. E. S. Drew, | R. Stewart Dennee, |
| Hon. W. H. Decker, | John W. Fairlax. |
| A. M. Miller, | |

OTTO MUECK, General Agent. oc23 1m

ETNA LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
HARTFORD, CONN.

WILLIAM E. FITZGERALD,
Manager for Louisiana and Mississippi,
NO. 2 CARONDELET ST. (Room No. 10,)
oc23 3m New Orleans, La.

CHILDREN OFTEN LOOK PALE AND sick from no other cause than having Worms in the stomach.

Brown's Vermifuge Comfits

will destroy Worms without injury to the child being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CUITIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton street, New York.

Sold by druggists and chemists and dealers in medicines at Twenty-five cents a box. jy10 1yeow

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS.

MAKE YOUR HOME ATTRACTIVE
BY REPLENISHING YOUR
TABLE-WARE
FROM
W. C. SHEPARD & CO.'S,
55.....Camp Street.....55
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

See What a Little Money Will Buy.

An elegant White Granite DINNER SET, comprising 130 pieces, for..... $15 00
to wit:

| | |
|---|---|
| 12 Dinner Plates, | 1 Soup Tureen, |
| 12 Breakfast Plates, | 1 Sauce Boat, |
| 12 Tea Plates, | 1 Salad Dish, |
| 12 Soup Plates, | 2 Covered Dishes, |
| 12 Preserve Plates, | 2 Vegetable Dishes, |
| 12 Butter Plates, | 4 Meat Dishes, |
| 12 Tea Cups and Saucers, | 2 Pickle Shells, |
| 12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers. | |

A Porcelain DeTerre DINNER SET (equal to French China in appearance, and much more durable,) same assortment as above.. $18 00

A French China (best quality) DINNER SET, same assortment, 136 pieces..... 30 00

Decorated Porcelain DeTerre and French China DINNER SETS, from..... $30 up.

White Granite CHAMBER SETS, 11 pieces $1 00

White Granite TEA SETS, 44 pieces..... 4 00

French China TEA SETS, 44 pieces..... 6 50

French China Decorated TEA SETS, 44 pieces..... 7 50

Good Table GOBLETS, from 50 cents per set up.

Granite Dinner Plates, per dozen..... 1 40

Granite Breakfast Plates, per dozen..... 1 25

Granite Tea Plates, per dozen..... 1 15

French China Dinner Plates, per dozen..... 3 00

French China Breakfast Plates, per dozen.. 2 75

French China Tea Plates, per dozen..... 2 25

NOTE.—The prices above contemplate "Firsts" goods, every piece being warranted regular and perfect. "Seconds" or imperfect goods, warped in making and otherwise irregular, we will furnish for those that desire at twenty per cent. discount from these prices. We shall meet all competition promptly, and as we import our own ware our customers can depend upon getting the BEST GOODS at the lowest possible prices.

AGENTS FOR THE CELEBRATED
BLANCHARD CHURNS,
AND THE LARGEST DEALERS IN
HOUSEKEEPING NOVELTIES
IN THE SOUTHWEST.
W. C. SHEPARD & CO.,
my29 6m No. 55 Camp street, New Orleans.

RECONSTRUCTION!
DOWN WITH THE PRICES
TO SUIT THE TIMES.

French China as Cheap as Stoneware
NOW; AND
STONE CHINA AS CHEAP AS COMMON WARE.

300 Casks French China,

Which will be sold as follows:

French China DINNER SETS, comprising 103 pieces, will be sold during the summer season at..... $20 00

141 pieces, all large and serviceable..... 25 00

French China Dinner and Soup PLATES, per dozen..... 2 50

French China Breakfast PLATES, per dozen.. 2 25

French China Dessert PLATES..... 2 00

French China Tea PLATES..... 1 75

French China Ice-cream or Preserve PLATES 1 25

French China Tea CUPS and SAUCERS..... 2 50

French China After-dinner COFFEES..... 1 50

All Other Goods in Proportion.

White Granite or Stone China DINNER SETS..... $14 50

White Granite TEA SETS..... 3 75

White Granite or Stone China CHAMBER SETS..... 3 75

N. B.—We omitted to mention that our French China TEA SETS, comprising 44 pieces, are only $6 per set.

GOLD-BAND CHINA.

We have the largest and best assortment of any house in the city, which we sell in sets or single pieces. Persons wishing to match up Broken Sets can be accommodated with the same at the ONLY CHEAP CHINA, CROCKERY, GLASS AND HOUSE-FURNISHING EMPORIUM.

NAVRA & OFFNER,
my8 6m5p No. 174 Canal street.

STEAMSHIPS—STEAMBOATS.

FOR NEW YORK.

The Cromwell New York and New Orleans Steamship Line.

Leaving New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage..... $50 00

Steerage Passage..... 25 00

Through bills of lading to foreign and coastwise ports issued.

ALFRED MOULTON,
m120 1y No. 41 Carondelet street.

FOR NEW YORK.

Merchants' Steamship Line.—

Sailing from New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage..... $50 00

Steerage Passage..... 25 00

Through tickets to Liverpool and the Continent.

New Orleans wharf—Foot of Jefferson street.

New York wharf—Pier No. 4, North River.

JOHN H. LUDWIGSEN, Agent,
fe13 1y No. 190 Common street.

RAILROADS.

GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.

Trains depart and arrive as follows (from Depot foot of Calliope street:)

DEPART.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 7.50 A. M. |
| Mail | 5.55 P. M. |
| Accommodation | 4.00 P. M. |

ARRIVE.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 11.00 P. M. |
| Mail | 9.40 A. M. |
| Accommodation | 8.50 A. M. |

This line is many miles the shortest and many hours the quickest to all points North and East, and the only line running Pullman's Palace Sleeping-Cars to Humboldt and Louisville without change. Only one change to principal cities North and East. Tickets for sale and all information given at corner of Camp and Common streets, under City Hotel, New Orleans.

A. D. SHELDON, Agent.
E. D. FROST, General Manager. my22 6m

GEORGE BURNHAM, JR. J. E. BURNHAM.
P. S. MORRILL.
BURNHAM & MORRILL,
PACKERS AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN
HERMETICALLY-SEALED GOODS,
MEATS, FISH AND VEGETABLES,
No. 61½ Commercial Street,
And corner Commercial St. and Burnham's Wharf,
PORTLAND, MAINE.
au28 6m

MASONIC.....MASONIC.

WANTED—On salary or commission, F. A. M. as agents for the New York Splendidly illustrated and of absorbing interest. Send for descriptive catalogue and terms.

REDDING & CO.,
Publishers of Masonic Works,
oc9 1m 544 Broadway, New York.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

SMITH, ENGLISH & CO.,
BOOKSELLERS AND IMPORTERS,
(ESPECIALLY OF THEOLOGICAL BOOKS,)
No. 710 Arch Street, Philadelphia,

(Opposite [illegible]) all purchasers of Religious Books, to their large assortment of works in this department, being by far the best and most complete collection in the country. A Classified Catalogue, with Alphabetical Index and Supplements to September 1, will be sent to any address upon receipt of 30 cents. This catalogue has been prepared with great care, is corrected to date, and is invaluable to purchasers.

☞ Smith, English & Co. have lately published or imported the following valuable works, which will be sent by mail upon receipt of the prices annexed:

Cox's Expositors' Note-Book. Brief essays on obscure or misread passages. Large 12mo..... $2 50

Leathe's Structure of the Old Testament. A series of popular essays. 16mo..... 1 25

Fisher's Family Assistant, or Book of Prayers for the use of Families, and for Special Occasions. 12mo..... 1 25

Junkin's Commentary on the Hebrews. 12mo. 2 00

Public Worship, Partly Responsive: Designed for any Christian congregation. With an Introduction by Rev. Daniel March D. D. 16mo..... 1 25

Lange's Life of Christ. 4 vols., 8vo..... 12 50

Spurgeon's Treasury of David. Exposition of the Book of Psalms, with illustrative extracts, homiletical hints, etc. To be comprised in six volumes large 8vo. Vols. 1, 2 and 3 now ready..... per vol... 4 00

Spurgeon's Feathers for Arrows. Illustrations for preachers and teachers. 18mo... 1 25

The Homilist. Edited by David Thomas, D. D. Editor's series. Seven volumes now ready..... per vol... 2 50

Thomas' Homiletical Commentary on Matthew. Large 8vo..... 4 50

Luthardt's Moral Truths of Christianity. 12mo..... 2 50

Brandes on Preaching. 12mo..... 2 00 sell 2m

T. BELKNAP,
HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT,

publishes the following Books by subscription only, for which he wants Agents in every county in the country. Circulars, giving terms and all necessary information, sent by mail on application:

LOSSING'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES. 400 beautiful Wood Engravings and 12 full-page Steel Engravings. One volume, 8vo.

LOSSING'S PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE CIVIL WAR. With 1,200 Engravings. This is a perfectly reliable and impartial History, written entirely after the war. Three volumes, 8vo.

LOSSING'S LIVES OF 300 CELEBRATED AMERICANS. 100 Portraits. One volume, 8vo.

FIFTY YEARS IN THE MAGIC CIRCLE. By Signor Blitz. With wonderful feats and tricks, and with laughable incidents and adventures. Beautifully illustrated. One volume, 12mo.

THE EXPOSE OF MORMONISM AND MORMONISM. By a Sister of a High Priest. Full of startling facts and disclosures. One volume, 12mo.

TRAVELS AND ADVENTURES IN SOUTH AND CENTRAL AMERICA. A new and beautiful work. By Ramon Paez, a native of the country.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH,

VOL. 19. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1873. NO. 45.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 30.—For the twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock last night there were nine yellow fever deaths and nine from other causes. The Board of Health officially notifies absentees that they may safely return.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—In the Stokes case a verdict of manslaughter in the third degree was rendered, and he has been sentenced to four years' hard labor.

Judge Davis said: "In rendering this verdict, Stokes, the jury have exhausted and more than exhausted all mercy in your case. No appeal to this court can diminish the sentence for the highest penalty affixed by the statute in the degree in which you are convicted, and that is too light and apparently trifling as compared with the great crime you have committed." Stokes was surrounded and embraced by many of his relatives and friends, and hurried to the Toombs.

SHREVEPORT, Oct. 30.—The Southwestern Telegram of this evening contains a report of the joint meeting of the physicians of Dallas, New Orleans and Shreveport, and reports the following resolution unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we, a committee of the members of the medical profession of the city of Shreveport, respectfully recommend that in our opinion it is perfectly safe to renew our social and commercial relations with the outside world.

J. T. ALLEN,
J. S. CUTLIFF,
J. F. DAVIS,
T. G. FORD,
E. S. HURD.

Fever no longer epidemic at Marshall. Telegraph force all well.

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 1.—The Board of Health announces that it is safe for refugees to return, and those who have business can visit the city with impunity.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 2.—Up to six o'clock on Saturday, November 1, there were 7 yellow fever deaths and 1 by other causes. In the week, yellow fever deaths, 86, and others, 47. Decrease on previous week, 83 yellow fever; 12 by other causes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—As an evidence of hard times in this city it is stated that the pawnbrokers are doing four times the amount of business they were doing a few months ago, and, owing to the scarcity of money, are giving less than a third of the value of the articles presented.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Accounts from Grant parish, Louisiana, of outrages, attributed partly to the negroes and partly to the Metropolitan police, create a profound feeling in official circles. The details are not fully believed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Private advices from Mexico, per steamer Newbern, state that the revolution in Alimas, Sonora, is about quelled. However, further troubles are anticipated from the unsettled condition of affairs in the country.

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 4.—The condition exhibits no improvement to-day. Weather cloudy and gloomy.

John McCloud, a prominent steamboatman, died this evening.

Four new cases of fever and a number of relapses.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Lewis Gaylord Clark died at his residence at Piermont, on the Hudson, last night, after a sickness of only a few hours, resulting from a paralytic stroke.

Mr. Clark was editor of the Knickerbocker magazine from 1832 until it ceased to exist, and subsequently was engaged in the New York custom-house, frequently contributing, however, to literary periodicals.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4, 8 P. M.—The earliest returns received from the interior of the State indicate a Democratic victory if New York city gives the Democrats twenty thousand majority.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4.—The Daily Sentinel, the Washburne organ, estimates, from the way the returns are coming in, that Taylor, the Democratic candidate for Governor, will carry the State by five thousand majority. The prominent Republicans now concede Washburne's defeat.

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 4.—Kemper's official majority in Richmond is 1,610; in Norfolk 824, a gain over the Walker vote of 900. All the returns show Conservative gains, except in a very few instances.

DANVILLE, Nov. 4.—Staunton, Winchester and other cities give additional Conservative gains. Partial returns from thirty counties indicate that the State has gone Conservative by a large increase over Walker's majority in 1869, which was over 18,000.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Scattering returns indicate Washburne's election by 8,000 to 10,000 majority.

General Banks beats the regular Republican nominee for the State Senate.

Returns from the towns give Washburne 11,000, Gaston 7,000.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—The House is probably three-fourths Republican; the Senate, two to one opposed to the prohibitory liquor law.

FOREIGN.

ROME, Oct. 29.—Dispatches have been read here confirming the report of the existence of a second letter from the Pope to the Emperor of Germany.

DRESDEN, Oct. 29.—The Duke of Saxony, the eldest son of the late King John, assumed the succession of the throne of Saxony to-day. His majesty has issued a proclamation, in which he promises to uphold the constitution, and announces that the present ministry will remain in office.

ROME, Oct. 31.—Several Jesuits left here yesterday for the United States.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—It is reported that the marriage of the Duke of Edinburg to the Princess Marie, of Russia, will be solemnized according to the forms of the Church of England, and that the Dean of Canterbury will go to St. Petersburg to perform the ceremony.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—Prince Bismarck has resolved to summon the Roman Catholic bishops, who refuse to comply with the government measures in relation to the ecclesiastical law, to tender their resignations.

MADRID, Nov. 1.—A dispatch has been received at the ministry of war announcing the total defeat of the Carlists under Instany by the national troops. The insurgents were scattered, and fled in all directions.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The latest advices from India are a little more encouraging. The crops in some districts of Bengal are improving, and, with a continuance of favorable weather, there are hopes that a famine may be averted or greatly mitigated.

National Thanksgiving.

The President of the United States has issued the following proclamation of a day of national thanksgiving:

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 14.

By the President of the United States of America—A Proclamation:

—The approaching close of another year brings with it the occasion for renewed thanksgiving and acknowledgment to the almighty Ruler of the universe of the unnumbered mercies which he has bestowed upon us. Abundant harvests have been among the rewards of industry. With local exceptions, health has been among the blessings enjoyed. Tranquility at home and peace with other nations have prevailed. Frugal industry is regaining its merited recognition and its merited rewards. Gradually, but under the providence of God surely, as we trust, the nation is recovering from the lingering results of a dreadful civil strife. For these and all the other mercies vouchsafed, it becomes us as a people to return heartfelt and grateful acknowledgments, and with our thanksgiving we may unite prayers for the cessation of local and temporary suffering. I therefore recommend that on Thursday, the twenty-seventh day of November next, the people meet in their respective places of worship to make their acknowledgments to almighty God for his bounties and his protection, and to offer to him prayers for their continuance. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this fourteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord 1873, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-seventh.

U. S. GRANT.

By the President:
HAMILTON FISH, Sec. of State.

DARWIN'S CONVENIENT TREATMENT OF FACTS.—Darwin's method of dealing with the facts is so characteristic that it well deserves a word or two of special comment. It indicates the presence and active working of a strong preconception in the author's mind. Mr. Darwin tells us that the principle of evolution had occurred to him upward of thirty years ago, and that he has observed the phenomena of expression at intervals ever since, in order mainly, as it would seem, to find illustrations in confirmation of the principle. But parental attachment to a new principle may be just as disturbing an element in the way of unbiased observation as partiality for any established method. And it is impossible to read far in "The Expressions of Emotions" without feeling that the facts have been selected, arranged and interpreted according to the exigencies of the new theory rather than according to their actual character and the results they spontaneously afford. There is an obvious effort from the first to bring vividly into view not what is most distinctive in the expression of human emotion, but what is common to men and animals. The aim all through is to stretch this common element in every conceivable way, and make it appear as large as possible. For this purpose the higher human emotions are not dealt with at all, or, if incidentally noticed, are at once dismissed as artificial, conventional, and the like. As in "The Descent of Man" the higher mental powers, being inconvenient, were passed over, so in the interpretation of expression the nobler emotions are treated in the same way, and for the same reason. For the same purpose the very limited expressive element in the countenances and gesture of animals is habitually overstated, while the enormously higher power of expression possessed by man is systematically understated. In relation to the first point, the extent to which Mr. Darwin persistently reads his own theory into the ambiguous muscular twitches and spasms of monkeys and other animals is often amusing in a high degree. The manner in which he continually degrades and vulgarizes human emotion is equally striking. Quarterly Review.

WHEREVER there is much to offend there is much to pardon, and where there is anything to pardon be assured there is something to love.

REPROVE thy friend privately; commend him publicly.—Solon.

From the Work.

ALLENTON, ALABAMA.—Mr. Editor: It may be encouraging to the friends of Zion to learn that we have just closed a meeting of several days at Allenton, in which the power of God was manifest in the conviction of sinners and the conversion of mourners. The entire community was greatly blessed. Several professed conversion and nine united with the church. We had the efficient services of Dr. Andrews, of Selma, and Rev. J. A. Spence, of Pleasant Hill, Alabama. Revs. Moses Padget and A. R. Purifoy, local brethren, were also with us in the spirit of the Savior. A. M. JONES.

OCTOBER 23, 1873.

NEWTON STATION, MISSISSIPPI.—Mr. Editor: Dr. T. S. West, our pastor, closed quite an interesting protracted meeting at this place last night. It was of thirteen days' duration. The Lord was manifestly in our midst, and showered many blessings upon us in answer to prayer. The result of the meeting was thirty-eight accessions to the church. The older members are greatly revived. Toward the last the meeting was marked by a deep feeling pervading the whole congregation, and was not confined to the outbursts of feeling of the older and better members. The oldest citizens say that it was the best meeting ever held in this place. The few that did not join were deeply impressed, and were almost persuaded to lay aside every weight and the sin that so easily beset them; but the evil one prevailed on them to put it off a little longer.

Yours truly, F.

COLUMBIANA CIRCUIT, NORTH ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: This is a small work, consisting of only three churches. I am closing up my labors for Conference. I feel very thankful to-day for what God has done for me, soul and body, but more especially for what he has done for a portion of this circuit. The labors of myself and the church have been crowned with some success. Some have been reclaimed, while others have had their pure minds stirred up. The revival influence has spread out a little, and the world has felt the power of the Spirit. Souls have been soundly converted, and the fire still burns. There is a meeting now in progress at a wayside appointment, at which there were three conversions last night. There have been six accessions by certificate, and some thirty-five by experience and baptism, to our church this year. Our Sabbath schools are doing well. Our finances were healthy until the money took disease.

R. G. RAGAN.

OCTOBER 28, 1873.

CAMDEN DISTRICT, LITTLE ROCK CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: Some success has attended our labors in this district during the past few weeks. There have been accessions at almost every appointment; and while we feel that the good has not been done at any one point which we have ardently desired to see, yet we feel grateful that the success which we see has resulted from our humble efforts.

Our camp meeting at Walnut Hills was in some sense a great success. The church was revived, and fifteen souls added to it. There were fewer conversions, but some of them were very happy ones. Rev. R. Randle, of North Bossier (Louisiana Conference,) did us very efficient service, and carried six or eight recruits back with him. Bros. Smith, Arnold and Prather, together with other Louisiana brethren, were good to have. If your Conference is all like that part of it which I have seen, you have a good Conference indeed.

Yours, etc., J. A. PARKER.

NEWBERN, ALABAMA.—Mr. Editor: Since my last we have had a good meeting at Flatwood. Some conversions and accessions, and the church very much revived. One at Holly Springs, with about the same result. The Salem camp meeting commenced October 9, and closed on the fourteenth. There were about fifteen conversions and twelve accessions to the church. We succeeded in breaking down the prejudice against camp meetings. Those who came in, in the morning, provided to take care of themselves and friends, and went home at night, were convinced that it would have been less expensive and less troublesome to have tented; and some have selected the place for their tents. We had with us Rev. R. M. Powers, of Eutaw, L. Patterson, of Forkland, and Bro. DuBoise, local preacher. They have appointed the time for their next meeting on Thursday before the second Sabbath in October, 1874.

We have just closed a good meeting at Palmetto. I am indebted to Bro. DuBoise for valuable services rendered. I have had good meetings at all my appointments.

Yours, J. W. MCCANN, P. C.

OCTOBER 29, 1873.

SPARTA, LOUISIANA.—Mr. Editor: Please announce the results of our camp meeting on Sparta and Ringgold circuit. The meeting commenced on Thursday evening, the second instant, and closed on Wednesday, the eighth. The Lord was with us in great power. The meeting was interesting from its commencement, and became more so as it advanced. The woods were made to resound with shouts of Christians and new-born souls. The ladies performed their part well, holding prayer meeting every evening. On Sunday the congregation was large; not so much stir until the restless and uninterested part had left. On Sunday night we assembled at the stand, sang, prayed and sang again. The work broke out afresh, and continued very late, without any chance to preach. The people were well provided for. Upon the whole, it was a glorious meeting. Some thirty conversions, seventeen accessions and many baptisms.

We expect to have another camp meeting about the same time next fall, and hope to have several more tents. The Lord has blessed my little charge this year, and I am so much encouraged that I hope to be able to go more fully into the work next year. D. A. BODDIE, P. C.

OCTOBER 22, 1873.

HOMER, LOUISIANA.—Mr. Editor: Through the columns of the ADVOCATE permit me to send greetings to the friends of our Zion. I commenced a series of meetings on the first Sabbath in August, and at each of the five appointments on the Homer circuit special revival efforts have been made, resulting in some eighty conversions, and an accession of seventy-five members to the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Many of the accessions are heads of families, and will give strength to the church if they are properly developed.

The most signal success attended our meeting in the town of Homer. The District Conference met here the Thursday before the first Sabbath in September, and we protracted three weeks. After the District Conference adjourned valuable assistance was rendered by Bros. H. O. White and J. A. Miller; and Bros. W. P. Kimball, J. H. Jordan and J. Lane Borden were with us most of the time. In the pulpit, at the altar, on the streets and in the families they labored with great success. More than forty joined our church, and ten joined the Presbyterian church two weeks after our meeting closed. During the progress of the work many thrilling incidents occurred, peculiarly interesting to us as a church. We will not, however, occupy your space in relating them. Suffice it to say the church was greatly revived and strengthened, and Methodism is established upon a basis here more permanent than ever before. May the great Shepherd take care of his flock.

N. A. CRAVENS.

OCTOBER 25, 1873.

St. Louis Conference.

This body, says the St. Louis Christian Advocate, met, agreeably to appointment, at Charleston, Missouri, on Wednesday, October 15. Bishop Wightman presided, and L. M. Lewis and R. A. Hatcher were elected secretaries.

A goodly number of ministers were present at the opening of the Conference, but the number of lay members in attendance was small, but considerably increased on the second day by the arrival of others.

The appointments are as follows:

St. Louis District.—W. M. Leftwich, P. E. St. Louis, First church, L. M. Lewis; Centenary, J. H. Linn; St. John's, J. W. Lewis; St. Paul's, E. M. Bounds; Choteau avenue, J. H. St. Clair; Carondelet, first charge, to be supplied; second charge, supplied by J. Turner; Bellefoutaine, W. M. Williams; Bridgeton, F. A. Morris; Eden, Iri R. Hicks; Mount Olive, S. A. Mason; Kirkwood and Fenton, B. K. Thrower; Manchester and Bethel, J. S. Frazier; St. Louis mission, to be supplied; editor Christian Advocate, D. R. McAnally.

Salem District.—T. M. Finney, P. E. Salem and Licking, supplied by J. A. Carter; Houston and Eminence, to be supplied; West Plains and Thomasville, S. A. Ritchey; Alton, to be supplied by J. W. White; Rolla, to be supplied; St. James and Steelville, E. Hicks; Cuba, to be supplied; Washington and St. Clair, J. E. Godbey and C. E. Devinney; Sinking Creek mission, A. M. Robinson.

Poplar Bluff District.—M. Arrington, P. E. Poplar Bluff, supplied by T. Love; Poplar Bluff circuit, supplied by J. R. Ledbetter; Doniphan, Jacob Cox; Piedmont, to be supplied; Coldwater, supplied by S. A. Richmond; Patterson, supplied by W. P. Clanahan; Spring Hill, supplied by E. O. Goodman; Bloomfield, D. F. Gourley; West Prairie, supplied by Davidson; Grand Prairie, R. H. Rodgers.

Charleston District.—D. J. Marquis, P. E. Charleston, L. F. Aspley; Charleston circuit, H. N. Watts; Benton, T. G. Atchison; Jackson, J. T. Allen; Marble Hill, J. R. Eddleman; Perryville, G. H. Adams; Belmont, supplied by P. C. Crumley; New Madrid, L. W. Powell; Gayoso, to be supplied.

Iron Mountain District.—A. T. Scruggs, P. E. Arcadia, J. C. Duncan; Caledonia and Irondale, H. Hanesworth; Iron Mountain, J. C. Berryman; Potosi, S. W. Barbee; Platten, J. A. Russell; Farmington circuit, H. S. Watts; Fredericktown, W. M. Shelton; Fredericktown circuit, L. Hull; Oak Ridge, G. W. Hull; Bellevue Collegiate Institute, J. H. Headlee, principal; agent for Bellevue Collegiate Institute, C. D. N. Campbell.

Delegates elected to the next General Conference: Clerical—A. T. Scruggs and W. M. Leftwich. Reserves—D. R. McAnally and J. H. Linn. Lay—T. Polk and J. C. Moore. Reserves—N. Handy and D. N. Burgoyne.

THERE are two ways of going through this world. One is to make the best of it, and the other is to make the worst of it. Those who take the latter course work hard for very poor pay.

Books and Periodicals.

A TREATISE ON ANALYTICAL GEOMETRY. By William G. Peck, LL. D. A. S. Barnes & Co., New York and Chicago, 1873.

Dr. Peck is professor of mathematics and astronomy in Columbia College, and of mechanics in the School of Mines. This volume contains 212 duodecimo pages; typography, paper and binding all of the best. Price, sent by mail post-paid, $1.75.

THE SOUTHERN REVIEW for October, 1873, is received too late for extended notice. The table of contents exhibits a fine variety of important and entertaining subjects. Contents: 1. Philosophy versus Darwinism; 2. The Prospects of Protestantism; 3. La Grande Mademoiselle; 4. A Memorial of Gessner Harrison; 5. Annals of Lochlee; 6. Corals and Coral Islands; 7. Causes and Consequences of the Sepoy Rebellion; 8. Sir William Hamilton on Perception; 9. Man's Place in the Universe; 10. Notices of Books.

THE ALDINE for November has a superb list of illustrations, and a fine table of contents. The illustrations are: Lake Mohonk, Home and its Treasures, A Chance Meeting, The First Visit, The Ripened Grain they took from the Wain, A White Mountain Brook, The Robber of the Air, English Mastiffs, A Masterpiece, Ratisbon Cathedral, Charles Temple Dix.

OLD AND NEW for November has: Socialism in Europe, A New York View of Finance and Banking, The Labor Reform View of Money, and other articles of ability and general interest. Littell's Living Age of October 25 has a valuable selection of articles from the leading reviews and magazines of Great Britain. Good Things for the Young of all Ages for October is handsomely illustrated, and has a tempting array of articles calculated to amuse and instruct the young people. Woods' Household Magazine for November is filled with sprightly and entertaining articles. Published at New York city and Newburg, New York, at $1 per annum.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL RECORD is a new semi-monthly, published in Richmond, Virginia, and edited by George W. Armistead. Its special object is to promote the interests of Southern Methodist Sunday schools in Virginia. Price, $1 per annum.

WE HAVE RECEIVED a copy of the Constitution and Government of the Congregational Methodist Churches, Opelika, Alabama, 1873.

All That About Methodism.

Starting with some remarks made in a preachers' meeting, there has of late been a world of talk about "the decline of Methodism." We do not think the right key has been touched. Statistics are not always just. Denying the stereotyped eulogy about the veracity of figures, we believe they will lie. The fact that there are a few churches more or less cannot be depended on in estimating the work of a denomination. There may be fewer members in the Methodist church in New York city to-day than once, and yet the usefulness of that church be greater than ever before.

The power of that denomination is at work in all other denominations as in no other day. It has revolutionized other sects on the subject of revivals, and taught them the power of unanimous song, and induced more demonstrative worship throughout Christendom. We never would have known how to sing had not the Methodists shown us the way to do it. That denomination is the precentor of the church militant. Some of the other sects were afraid of revivals till that church showed it was the best way of taking this world for God, the handfuls of chaff gathered at such times nothing as compared with the whole granaries of wheat. The thermometer of the church universal stands twenty degrees higher because of the furnace John Wesley kindled.

Last week we took a Turkish bath. They sweated us, and scoured us, and pounded us, and deused us, and baked us, and froze us, till the work was done. Then we asked the operator if all this process did not weaken his own health. He said: "Yes. It seems as if much of my life passes into the life of those I manipulate!" So if there be a falling off in Methodism, as some of its friends declare, then it is because that life has been administering to the health and strength of other denominations. And if our Lord Jesus gets the glory of the contest, who cares which regiment carries off the most flags.—Christian at Work.

SOME YEARS AGO an honest citizen of Newburyport, who had acquired a competence by hard work, was appointed by his excellency a justice of the peace. The appointment, which had been unsolicited, was regarded by him as a very great honor, and he determined to make himself worthy of it by retiring from active business and giving his attention to books. His first purchase was a copy of the general statutes; his next a volume of the plays of Shakespeare, about whom, as he told his wife confidentially, he had heard the big guns say a great deal. The great poet produced a powerful impression upon him. "I don't suppose," he said, speaking of it afterward to his friends, "there are twenty men in Massachusetts who could have written such a book."

NEW WAY to pay old debts—Settle them promptly and in full.

Death of Rev. William J. Parks.

Just as we are placing the last matter for this issue in the printers' hands, says the Southern Christian Advocate of October 29, we are shocked by the sad intelligence conveyed in the following telegram:

"ATLANTA, Oct. 17.—Rev. W. J. Parks, a well-known minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died at his home in Oxford, Georgia, last night, of congestion of the lungs."

Though Bro. Parks was prostrated about two years ago by a stroke of paralysis, which left him permanently disabled, his general health had so much improved as to justify confident hope that his life would be spared yet many years. The severity of the stroke inflicted upon many loving hearts by his death will therefore be intensified by the abruptness with which the announcement reaches them.

The deceased had been engaged in the work of the ministry for more than fifty years, and was conspicuously identified with the spread of Methodism over the State of Georgia. With strong common sense, and singularly endowed with executive ability, he held rank among his cotemporaries as an ecclesiastical statesman of unmatched sagacity. His arduous service and wise counsels have been of incalculable benefit to the cause of Christ, and especially to the communion now so deeply bereaved by his death. The recognition of his worth was hearty and undisguised on the part of his brethren. He was repeatedly chosen to preside over the Conference in the absence of a bishop; and continuously, from a very early period of his ministry, represented it in the General Conference. A great and good man has disappeared from the militant host, to take his place among the robed and crowned at the right hand of the King. We are without any information as to the incidents of his departure, but it is written: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

We hope to have at an early day a worthy memoir of the noble veteran whose death we thus hastily announce, prepared by some competent hand.

Miss Matlie Stevenson.

Some weeks ago, says the Western Methodist, this young lady came, an entire stranger to our city, from Illinois, for the holy purpose of nursing the sick—a work which she performed so zealously and heroically as to win the admiration of all who witnessed her devotion, and particularly of the physicians. Her devotion was truly Christ-like—she died for others, for suffering strangers. On Monday, October 13, she was stricken with the deadly disease, and notwithstanding she had the best medical attentions of Drs. Blackburn, Rogers and others, and the kind care of two nurses at the Walthall Infirmary, she died on Friday, October 17, a martyr to humanity's cause. The tidings of her death filled all hearts with sorrow. She was buried in Elmwood by the Howard Association, a goodly number of the members, with other leading citizens, including the acting mayor of the city, following her remains to the cemetery. The Rev. Mr. Boggs, of the Second Presbyterian church, officiated in the solemn service at the grave, reading the parable of the good Samaritan, and making an impressive address, after which he offered prayer, and closed with the apostolic benediction. And now she, being dead, yet speaketh—her life of two weeks in Memphis will long be an exemplar and a sacred glory in the hearts of the people. The Howard Association adopted resolutions as a tribute to her memory, and steps have already been taken to provide means with which to erect a monument over her remains.

Indorsed.

MR. EDITOR: Allow me the liberty of a small corner in the ADVOCATE to say that I for one fully indorse the well-timed and appropriate strictures of Bishop Pierce on the subject of organs, choirs, pewed churches, and the like. The time has come to "put on the brakes," and right glad am I that we have such a watchman as the Bishop to sound the alarm on this "down-grade." Many of the men-singers and women-singers, with their operatic and highfalutin "music," have so often stifled the very breath of devotion out of us that we exclaim with an emphasis: "Down upon this grievous straight-jacket, and away with this 'petrified respectability;' and let all the people, and the preachers too, say 'Amen.'"

A SUFFERER.

Death of Rev. John Cassady.

Died, at the residence of his mother, at Lawrenceville, Henry county, Alabama, of congestion of the brain, Rev. John Cassady, of the Alabama Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church South. His funeral took place on Monday morning from the Methodist church. The services were conducted by Rev. T. C. M. Golland, pastor of the church, assisted by Revs. E. M. Bounds, of Eufaula, and C. L. McCartha, of Hilliardsville. Bro. Cassady leaves a wife, an aged mother, and brothers and sisters to bewail his loss. He was forty-six years of age.

T. C. M. GOLLAND.

A WOMAN'S LOVE for a military officer is generally uniform.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1873.

FROM DAY TO DAY.

BY ELIZABETH B. RICE.

From day to day the ceaseless change
Of winter's cold or summer's heat.
The months their miracles repeat,
Yet are they ever new and strange.

The yellow moons that wax and wane,
The eager tides that rise and fall,
The swift decay that comes to all
Which has not therefore lived in vain.

The restless drift of human life,
The fear that creeps, the hope that flies—
All these things pass before our eyes,
And tell their tales, with meanings rife.

With meanings rife. But who shall give
The hearing ear, the seeing eye,
Or speak of Nature worthily,
Or guess at what it is to live?

Each day some little line we spell,
And half interpret it aright;
And when we sink to sleep at night
We question: Have we read it well?

Ah! who can say? For each must write
The self-same thought a different way,
And each reflect a different ray
From the one universal light.

Who knows why one poor flower can wake
Sometimes our souls from deepest gloom?
Or why, again, the perfect bloom
Of summer fields shall fail to make

One pulse of pleasure? Why the hills
Bring peace and comfort unto me;
And yon the solemn, murmuring sea
With the same quiet gladness fills?

So glides our life from day to day,
Like noonday streams, that swiftly run
At first, but, ere their course is done,
Wind slowly through a devious way.

What time their sparkling race began
The shallow tide each pebble showed;
But now they roll too deep and broad
For any eye their depths to scan.

But, swift or slow and dark or bright,
They pass to meet the waiting sea;
And we can trust eternity
To give us freedom, knowledge, light.

Independent.

Notes on Popery.

FALSEHOOD AND FORGERY TAUGHT AND PRACTICED IN THE CHURCH OF ROME.

MR. EDITOR: Long has it been the policy and practice of Rome to deny everything and admit nothing. It is important to bring this fact fully and prominently to light, and hold it up before the bar and gaze of public opinion, that the world may know how Romanism is to be understood and dealt with.

On the eleventh of January, 1855, Mr. J. R. Chandler, from Pennsylvania, declared in Congress that the Pope neither claimed nor exercised any civil or temporal power or jurisdiction over the Christian world whatever, and produced in proof statements to that effect from Bishop England, Archbishop Kenrick, Dr. Troy, Archbishop of Dublin, Archbishop Hughes, of New York, and six Catholic universities. The language of one of these universities (Valladolid) substantially expresses the whole: "Neither Pope, cardinals nor general council have any civil authority, power or jurisdiction, directly or indirectly, in the kingdom of Great Britain or any other kingdom. * * * Nor can they absolve the subjects of Great Britain from their oaths of allegiance or dispense with their obligations. * * * The obligation of keeping faith is grounded on the law of nature, which binds all men equally, without respect to their religious opinions." It will be seen that the points objected to and so explicitly disclaimed by Mr. Chandler and his authorities are: The power of the Pope to depose sovereigns, absolve their subjects from sworn allegiance, and that no faith was to be kept with heretics. Now who could believe that Mr. Chandler's authorities were telling willful falsehoods? Who can believe that these bishops and archbishops, and six university professors, did not know the true doctrines of their church? And if these high dignitaries will knowingly and willfully withhold the truth and tell the contrary, ought their testimony or that of their brethren to be credited in any court under heaven?

Now look at the other side of this question, and let the reader decide for himself. Here is the language of Pope Gregory the Seventh, as quoted by Dr. McClintock out of Dupin: "I absolve all Christian subjects to the empire from that oath whereby they are wont to plight their faith unto true kings. * * * We, adhering to the statutes of our holy predecessors, do, by apostolic authority, absolve those from their oath who are bound by fealty or oath to persons excommunicated." Did not Pope Paschal the Second, and Innocent the third, and Gregory the Ninth, and Boniface the Eighth, and Paul the Third, and Paul the Fifth, all exercise this fearful power in deposing sovereigns and absolving their subjects? Mr. Brownson, editor of the Catholic Quarterly Review, as quoted by Dr. McClintock, in his Temporal Power of the Pope, thus declares: "The deposing power * * is inherent in her (the Church of Rome) as the spiritual authority, as the guardian and judge of the law under which kings and emperors hold their crowns, and have the right to reign; for in deposing a sovereign, absolving his subjects from their allegiance, and authorizing them to choose a new sovereign, she does but apply the law of Christ to a particular case." Mr. Brownson, in 1849, received a letter of "approbation" from Bishop Kenrick, of Philadelphia, signed by twenty-four bishops of the Catholic Church, among them Bishop Michael, of Mobile, and Bishop Anthony, of New Orleans, declaring Mr. Brownson to be an "able advocate" and "defender of their faith." Now mark what follows. Mr. Brownson, in the very same number of his Quarterly Review from which the above is taken (April, 1855,) with the names of twenty-four bishops approving him, tells us that "they indorse no sentiment or doctrine he advances." Now what is the world to think of such deception and false dealing? This charge of lying and falsehood is a serious one, and we propose to make it good—not of all Catholic writers, but of some whose practice therein has never been disapproved by the authorities of the church. Let us first hear from B. Pascal, himself a Catholic. In the fifteenth of his Provincial Letters, page 296, he says: "Now I undertake to prove, fathers, that it is your deliberate intention to tell lies, and that it is both knowingly and purposely that you load your opponents with crimes of which you know them to be innocent. * * * This doctrine (of lies) is common in your schools and books, and even in your public theses, such as you delivered in Louvain, 1645, in which you say: 'What is it but a venial sin to calumniate and forge false accusations to ruin the credit of those who speak evil of us.'" On the next page Deasville, a Jesuit, is thus quoted on lying. He says: "I still maintain that calumny, when employed against a calumniator, though it should be a falsehood, is not a mortal sin, either against justice or charity, and in proof I refer to the whole body of our fathers, to whole universities, the professors of the University of Vienna, to Father Gans and Father Bastile, to the University of Prague and the University of Gratz, to Father Henri and others." Now here is quite an array of "fathers" and "universities" engaged in teaching systematic falsehood. I would recommend the whole of this fifteenth chapter of Pascal to all Catholic and Protestant readers, and see if the charge of lying—serious and awful as it—is not fully sustained. To this we add other forms of falsehood—that of forged documents and the mutilation of books. Witness the forged "Decretals," about A. D. 800, to increase the Pope's power and extend his prerogatives. Mark the corruption of the Nicene canons by Pope Zosimus, and proved on him at the Council of Carthage, 407.—Bishop Jewel's Apology, page 161. In a Catholic edition of Origen the whole of the sixth chapter of John is omitted, where he taught on many points contrary to them.—Bishop Jewel's Apology, page 129. I. Clement, a Catholic, when he thought that no other copy of Bishop Theodoret could be found, tore out and cast into the fire some leaves that clearly and fully taught that the nature of bread is not annihilated in the eucharist.—Bishop Jewel's Apology, page 128. The Inquisitors of Spain had a commission from the king to purge all Catholic authors. Chrysostom's works, printed at Basil, were corrupted; and of Augustine they say: "All things which could affect the minds of the faithful with heretical pravity, or would cause them to deviate from the Catholic orthodox faith, be taken away."—See Elliot on Romanism, volume 1, pages 160 and 161. The learned Scaliger tells us that from the last chapter of the Acts to the middle of Trojan all was "confusion" as to reliable history; as Varro speaks, a mere chaos of time, filled up with the rude conceptions of Paphus, Heroine and others.—Stillingfleet's Iren, page 322. Not only has profane history been mangled and mutilated, but the Bible itself, by unholy hands, has also shared the same fate. Take the Rhenish New Testament, and turn to Hebrews xi, 21, which translates thus: "By faith Jacob, dying, blessed every one of the sons of Joseph, and adored the top of his rod." Poor Jacob dying in the very act of idolatry! Yet Catholics don't worship images! No, no. Not even after opening the door for its authority.

J. A. SPENCE.

Agriculture in Louisiana.

PLOWING—ITS IMPORTANCE.

MR. EDITOR: If we were asked in what the science of farming chiefly consisted, we would unhesitatingly answer: Plowing. Not that kind of plowing, however, which has been in vogue in Louisiana and Mississippi for the last fifty years. To illustrate, let us detail the system almost universally pursued. Usually the energetic farmers commenced plowing about the middle of January, but by far the greater number between the first and fifteenth of February. This plowing in the bottoms was usually done with two mules, and a plow cutting a furrow nine or ten inches wide, and from one and a half to two inches deep. In the hills and sandy lands it was done with one mule, and a plow cutting a furrow from seven to eight inches wide, and from one and a half to two inches deep. It must not be imagined that with even this kind of plowing the whole field was plowed before planting. It was accepted as a universal maxim that when four furrows were thrown together in every row, the planter was fully ready to plant, leaving the middles to be broken out in the more leisure moments of summer. The main object was to get the greatest quantity of land ready, or rather in an excusable condition, to plant. We have even heard an experienced farmer boast that by the system of four furrows, followed by single furrowing, he could make a crop of corn by plowing the crop but once. That such a system should have prevailed in the infancy of our agriculture is not surprising; but that it should be still adhered to, in the midst of subsoilers and gang-plows and steam cultivators, is marvelous, and reminds one of the "heathen Chinee" eating rice with his chopsticks in the midst of forks and knives and spoons. The fact, however, is that the heathen Chinee has the greater justification, for he can get in enough rice to satisfy all the wants of hunger; whereas this system of plowing leaves the poor plant in a starving condition all its days.

By plowing, then, we mean thorough breaking up to the depth of from twelve to eighteen inches, and done at the right time. Indeed the value of plowing depends as much upon the time when it is done as upon its thoroughness. Instead of beginning in January and February, it ought to be done in November and December, after having previously turned under the green crops of the fall, and put on all the manure we have been able to manufacture and gather in the barn-yard. This plowing ought to be done with a turning-plow, which will readily plow to the depth of five or six inches; its width of furrow being left to the strength of the team. If the land has not been subsoiled within two years, each furrow of the turning-plow ought to be followed by a subsoiler to the depth of at least ten inches below the bottom of the furrow of the turning-plow. If the crop is for anything except small grain, the land ought to be thrown up into beds of such width as are suitable to the contemplated crop. In six weeks or two months these beds should be reversed, and just before planting, and preparatory thereto, the center of the water furrows ought to be plowed out as deep as possible with two furrows of the turning-plow, and the beds again reversed by throwing them upon these newly-planted water furrows.

We know that our old friend Four Furrows will meet this prescription with the cry: "I can't. I can hardly get four furrows together in time to plant in March and April." We answer: It is easier to do your plowing in November, December, January and March than in January, February, March, April, May and June, and what is well done in the first-named months will not have to be done again in April, May and June. We propose to do in winter what Four Furrows reserves for the heat of summer. But this is not all: we not only propose to do it more thoroughly, but at less expense.

A gentleman told me that he plowed in forty acres of wheat with two yoke of oxen. I asked: "Who drove?" He answered: "I did." "Then who held the plow?" "No one." It was fastened to the axle of a pair of wagon-wheels, and, thus guided, executed its work well. What was done fifteen years ago in Illinois we ought to be able to do to-day in Louisiana. We ought, with gang-plows and steam-plows and other improved implements, to do better. Power concentrated is the great essential in deep plowing. It constitutes the great merit of the steam-plow; and although we may not be able to have steam-plows, we are able to concentrate our power by doubling, tripling or quadrupling our teams. One hand, with four or six mules or oxen, will be able to do as much plowing as two hands with double teams, and to do it much more thoroughly. With two yoke of oxen it would be a moderate task for one hand to plow and subsoil—in a word, prepare—twenty acres as it never was or never could be with a single mule; and when thus prepared, as we have already described, it would be worth more than sixty acres four-furrowed in January. This by concentrating our power we have not only dispensed with one hand, but with forty acres, and the manual labor required to plow it. In a word, we have dispensed with two-thirds of the usual demand for manual labor. This lessening the demand for manual labor would enable us to procure what we needed; but if it did not we could better afford to pay a laborer $3 per day to plow with four mules or oxen, in November, December and January, than to pay him $1 to plow with two mules in January, February, March, April and May; and there never was and never will be a condition in which high wages will not secure labor. We may, then, conclude this article by repeating our assertion that the science of farming consists in plowing; and if it is true in every other part of the world, it is an hundred times a more important truth to the South in her present condition.

AGRICOLA.

Sinfulness of Our Best Deeds.

We are apt to think that there is such a difference between our open sins and our religious exercises that any defilement attaching to the latter must be so inconsiderable in itself, and so outweighed by the sacredness of the act performed, that no particular account need to be taken of these sins. God's estimate is very different indeed. His eye sees the sins of our religious services in another light, as being no less heinous than other iniquities, and needing special forgiveness no less than they. Not merely our open transgressions, our scarlet and crimson sins, need pardon, but our holy services, our good words and deeds, our prayers, our praises, our worship, our breaking of bread at the table of the Lord. In every one of these there is such an amount of sin cleaving to and mingled with every act and feeling and thought and word, as to render them in themselves so miserably defective and defiled as to be utterly unacceptable in the sight of the holy One. When seeking God we need to have our way of seeking and our act of seeking forgiven. When praying for pardon we need to have that prayer itself forgiven. Each petition bears witness against us. There is such imperfection, such coldness, such formality, such deadness, such wandering, such half-heartedness, such a want of everything that constitutes prayer, that, were there not forgiveness for the sins of our holy things, we might as well cease to pray. When coming to Christ we need forgiveness for our act of coming, for the impure motives which lead us to come, as well as for the defective way in which we come. All this is provided for. There is forgiveness not merely for the sins we bring to Christ, but for our way of bringing them. This is a point where many stumble. They say that they know there is full pardon for them in Christ, and full provision to be found in him for every want, but their difficulty is about the coming to him. They think that the act of coming should be as holy as possible, and that, unless it be so, their acceptance is a very doubtful thing. They think that if they could only come in a right way, and from right motives, there would be no danger of their success; but, with so much that is defective in their way of coming, they doubt whether they can venture to do more than merely hope the best. Now this is just to say that their acceptance depends in part, at least, upon themselves—upon their coming aright; whereas the gospel takes for granted that there is nothing right about them, either about themselves or their way of coming, but that everything about them and done by them needs forgiveness. Such forgiveness is provided, and it is here prefigured by the high priest bearing the iniquity of our holy things. Thus there is no place left for any such misgivings. Where is there room for a single doubt to thrust itself? What point is there at which God does not meet every possible doubt that can arise? There is no room for saying: My sins are too great to be forgiven. Neither is there any room for saying: My way of coming to Christ is so defective, my way of seeking pardon is so sinful, that I am doubtful whether I shall be accepted. The full provision made for us in Christ is such as to meet us on all these points, and exclude every shadow of a doubt, from whatever quarter it may arise.—Christian Treasury.

NOT WILLINGLY.—There is strong consolation in these words of the weeping prophet: "He doth not afflict willingly!"

The word translated "willingly" means "from his heart." "He doth not afflict from his heart," but only and always from his hand. When his hand is lifted up against us, his heart is yearning over us with unspeakable tenderness. When Joseph "made himself strange" unto his brethren, and "spake roughly" to them, his heart said: "O my brothers!" So when God makes himself strange to us in the disguise of some dark providence, when he speaks roughly to us, his heart is overflowing with more than a mother's tenderness. When he says, "Hear ye the rod," his heart says: "How can I give thee up?"

And if we are his, can we not kiss the rod? When it falls upon us all we have to do is to look up, and we shall surely see our Father's hand at the other end of it. It is not, then, wielded by a tyrant, nor is it an iron rod; neither is it a dead bramble, but rather a living rose-branch. Like Aaron's rod it buds and blossoms, and bears fruit—"the peaceable fruits of righteousness."

Are we passing under the rod today? Behold how the smiting shakes off the precious fruits! And what a beautiful variety there is, and all from one branch! There is everlasting love and sweet peace and meek patience and perfect submission and holy joy and abiding hope—but we forbear. Time would fail us to count up all the precious fruits of our Father's rod.

We are exhorted to "hear the rod," but we should use our eyes as well as our ears, and look when we hear, that we may see where the fruit falls, and may gather it up and eat it, that it may be unto us the joy and rejoicing of our hearts. Let us take all our trials as love tokens, for surely in kindness only are they sent. God does not afflict willingly. He sees the "needs be," though we may not. Let us, then, be patient and prayerful under the rod.

ADORNING CHILDREN'S GRAVES.—The following story is quoted in Dr. Thompson's Seeds and Sheaves. It shows that many a sexton has a tender heart, and carries delicate sentiment into his work:

Mr. Gray had not been long minister of the parish before he noticed an odd habit of the grave-digger; and one day coming upon John, smoothing and trimming the lonely bed of a child which had been buried a few days before, he asked why he was so particular in dressing and keeping the graves of infants. John paused for a moment at his work, and looking up, not at the minister, but at the sky, said: "Of such is the kingdom of heaven."

"And on this account you tend and adorn them with so much care?" remarked the minister, who was greatly struck with the reply.

"Surely, sir," answered John, "I cannot make overbraw and fine the bed-covering of a little innocent sleeper that is waitin' there till it is God's time to waken it and cover it with a white robe, and waft it away to glory. When she grandeur is awaiting it yonder, it's fit it should be decked out here. I think the Savior will like to see white clover spread above it; dae ye no think sae tae, sir?"

"But why not cover large graves also?" asked the minister, hardly able to suppress his emotions. "The dust of all his saints is precious in the Savior's sight."

"Very true, sir," responded John, with great solemnity; "but I canna be sure who are his saints, and who are no. I hope there are many of them lying in this kirkyard, but it wad be great presumption to mark them out. There are some that I am gey sure about, and I keep their graves as nate and snod as I can. I plant a bit floure here and there as a sign of my hope, but daurna give them the white skirt," referring to the white clover. "It's clean different, though, wi' the bairns."

TWO OR THREE of the richest men in this country have recently given, in sententious language, the secret of their worldly success and fortune. "There is no secret about it," said Commodore Vanderbilt; "all you have to do is to tend to your business and go ahead—except one thing," added the commodore, "and that is never to tell what you are going to do till you have done it." The millionaire, Asa Packer, who has no views whatever on political subjects, gave his idea to get rich in the remark: "Economy and safe investment are about the best means of attaining financial prosperity." George Law, who is also a tolerably rich man, though not, we suppose, quite as rich as Vanderbilt or Asa Packer, remarked in conversation: "There is nothing so easy as making money when you have money to do it with; the only thing is to see the crisis and take it at its flood;" and when further pressed to tell the secret of his own success, he quickly responded: "Determination to work and working." These opinions are certainly worth something, and will, doubtless, be eagerly studied by young men ambitious of wealth. But they are incomplete without a remark of A. T. Stewart, who is richer than either Vanderbilt or Asa Packer, and who told an anxious inquirer that he "considered honesty and truth great aids in the gaining of fortune."—New York Tribune.

IF YOU have a bright thought, express it in the simplest language possible. A diamond should have a plain setting.

Obituaries.

LANDRUM BYRON HESTER, son of J. W. and Emily Hester, was born in Union parish, February 2, 1863, and died of congestion of the brain, in St. Landry parish, on Sunday, September 14, 1873, aged ten years, seven months and twelve days.

This was the severest affliction ever experienced by this Christian family. Little Byron was the first of eleven children to pass through the "dark valley of the shadow of death." He was an interesting child, always cheerful though quiet in his disposition. Byron was a member of the Sabbath school, and could repeat the Ten Commandments fluently. His seat in the Sunday school is vacant—there is a void in the family. May God grant comfort to the bereaved family, and may they rejoice in hope of a reunion with little Byron in the world of glory, where there will be no sorrowing.

J. W. SWINDALL.

TOLLIE AND HARRIS.

God gave to us two darling boys:
Beautiful as life were they;
Yet, Jesus calling them to come,
They would not with us stay.

We did not see their folded wings,
And dreamed not they would die;
Yet, mounting on their pinions bright
They soared to God on high.

Oh, stricken, pine not after them,
By faith behold thy boys,
For, nestling in the Savior's arms,
Their cups run over with joys.

Thank God he left them here so long,
And took them ere they lost
The beauty of their innocence,
Or felt of sin the cost.

'Tis hard indeed to give them up,
E'en at our God's command;
Yet, heavy though the stroke may be,
'Tis from our Father's hand.

God's will be done! for everything
He doeth is done well!
We'd praise him e'en for this sad blow—
His loving kindness tell.

Blest angel boys, with harp in hand,
Praise ye our God for aye!
Though now we may not catch thy notes,
We'll hear them by and by!

OCTOBER 13, 1873. T.

TRIBUTE TO LITTLE ELLA.

On the eighth day of September little ELLA ELLIS died, in Jefferson, Alabama, aged five years, nine months and fifteen days. One day before her death she rose early and dressed to go to Sunday school, which she devotedly loved. But it was soon discovered by a fond mother and doting father that her place would be no more filled in the Sunday school, and would soon be vacant in the family circle. O how sad are these vacancies! And it falls the writer with sadness to think he will no more be greeted by his sinless visits to this deeply-afflicted family by the cheerful smiles and joyous voice of this precious little child. But the reflection is full of comfort that heaven is the home and heritage of little children.

"For 'twas to bless such souls as these
The Lord of angels came,"

and

"Millions of infant souls compose
The family above."

G. F. E.

DIED, near Etna, Cherokee county, Texas, October 12, 1873, Mrs. EMMA ELKINS, wife of Thomas Elkins, and daughter of Rev. Joel Sanders, of the Louisiana Conference. She was born in Bienville parish, Louisiana, August 31, 1848, and embraced religion at a meeting held by the Rev. R. Ronntree, at Alto, Cherokee county, Texas, in the autumn of 1866, and from that time to the time of her death was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Her death was sudden; none of her father's family got to see her. On being told that her father had been sent for, she replied: "When pa comes he will not see me—only this old frame. I shall be gone up to paradise, under the tree of life." She leaves a husband, and a little son nineteen months old, to mourn their loss, having buried a little daughter in July, 1872. We mourn, but not as those who have no hope, for we feel that our loss is her eternal gain.

HER FATHER.

IN MEMORIAM.

Died, near Knox's Academy, in Attala county, Mississippi, on the twenty-eighth of August, 1873, WESLEY, eldest son of W. B. and Jane Turnage, aged fourteen years. He was a boy of energy and firmness, an original thinker, and possessed more than ordinary talents. During our three years' acquaintance he endeared himself to us by his manly and truthful deportment; and it is hard for us to realize that we shall no more hear his merry laugh resound from the play-ground, nor see him in his accustomed place among us.

No wonder his parents are bowed down, and their hearts almost crushed with sorrow. Their boy—their pride—one on whom they relied so much, and were looking forward with joyful anticipations to his filling a useful and honored place in society, has been victimized by the grim monster so suddenly and in the morning of life.

Also, one week later, little DORA went to join her brother and the host of angels above. She was too pure a bud to blossom here, and God transplanted her to a fairer clime. While she was with us her countenance seemed lighted up with seraphic sweetness, and she was the embodiment of gentleness. The family circle is broken, and their vacant seats remind us that the angel of death has been here. And lo! two little lambs are gone to our Father's bosom.

THEIR TEACHERS.

MARY J. PARVIN, consort of Rev. Robert Parvin, of the Louisiana Conference, and daughter of M. W. and M. H. Edwards, was born in Fayette county, Tennessee, August 3, 1833, and died in Union parish, Louisiana, August 11, 1873. Her parents removed to Arkansas when she was quite young. This was her home till last year, when she was married to Rev. Robert Parvin, and went immediately with him to his field of labor in Louisiana.

Sister Mary was born from above in her sixteenth year, at Liberty camp ground, Hempstead county. Like her of sacred memory, she ever sat at the feet of her Master, holding daily communion with him. She was the most devoted Christian we ever saw. She loved the church and all her ordinances. She was a friend to the preachers; they always found a welcome at her home. She was a mother to the young preacher, encouraging him by her advice and prayers. Now that she is gone we miss her. The Sabbath school, church and community missed her when she removed away, and were much grieved to hear of her death. She visited her relations this year, spent some time with them, and left (August 4) for her home. She died on the eleventh, died suddenly from heart disease, but when the summons came she was ready. How appropriate her last words!—how expressive of her faith in Christ: "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." May the religion she professed and practiced comfort the hearts of husband, relations and friends. Let us not think of our loss, but think of her as the inhabitant of a better land, clothed in the habiliments of glory. May we live so as to meet her in that happy land where parting is no more. May her orphan child be endued with her spirit, and clothed with the mantle of righteousness.

BASCOM WARE.

HUGH LEWIS was born in Marlboro district, South Carolina, May 1, 1800. About 1812 his parents moved to Marion county, Mississippi, where they resided until after the subject of this memoir had attained his majority. He was married, in the twentieth year of his age, to Miss Elizabeth Ball. Soon after his marriage he removed to Copiah county, Mississippi, and lived there until 1840, when he settled in Madison county, where he has since resided. His wife having died subsequently to his removal to Madison county, he was married, some time afterward, to Mrs. C. E. Magruder, who survives him. He had —— children by his first marriage, and three by his last, of whom four of the eight and two of the last are still living.

Bro. Lewis' connection with the church was of more than a century's duration, he having joined the church previous to 1823—the exact date being unknown. As a disciple of the Lord Jesus he deemed it his duty to hold family prayer, which he began to do soon after he had assumed the obligations of church-membership; and from that time until his death his fidelity in that regard was truly exemplary. Even during the somewhat protracted period of decrepitude, both mental and physical, which preceded his decease he continued to pray in his family and morning with his family, though he was often too feeble to rise from his knees without assistance. Nor did he neglect private prayer. Not only did he pray in secret studiously, but his heart was uplifted in humble supplication whenever he felt the need of help from the omnipotent Arm. Possessed of an irascible temper, which, notwithstanding his heroic efforts to maintain at all times a Christian equanimity, would sometimes assert its supremacy in violent ebullitions, he was accustomed, after such unsuccessful conflicts, to retire to some secret place for prayer. Bro. Lewis' piety was not of the demonstrative kind. He seldom spoke of his spiritual state, and when he did so it was apparent that he entertained very humble views of his spiritual attainments.

His devotion to the Master's cause was attested by his willingness to give pecuniary support to any enterprise that looked to the prosperity of the church or the relief of suffering humanity. In the days of "auld lang syne," when camp meetings, the primitive plan were annually held at old Crystal Springs, Bro. Lewis was prominent among those who bore the burden of the enterprise. Our neat church and parsonage at Madison station are largely indebted for their existence to his munificence. His contributions to the support of the ministry were not only liberal but well-timed, it being his custom to pay his pastor monthly in advance, except when he deemed it best to prepay his yearly quota.

To the inspired injunction, "Not slothful in business," no man ever yielded a more perfect obedience. Beginning his career almost penniless, his industry and frugality were such that he was soon possessed of a vast fortune. Nor did prosperity abate his diligence; he remained the same active, stirring man until the infirmities of age unfitted him for business.

A prominent trait of his character was punctuality. It was one of his settled principles to meet every engagement precisely at the time designated. His rigid adherence to this principle was often a subject of remark among his acquaintances.

Bro. Lewis breathed his last October 2, 1873. Though his health had been poor for some months, his death was exceedingly sudden. An attack of paralysis of the heart terminated his earthly existence instantly, not even giving him time to bid adieu to his family. Thus another veteran has gone to his reward—another name is transferred from the list of membership of the church militant to the muster-roll of the church triumphant.

W. C. BLAIR.

MADISON STATION, MISS., Oct. 8, 1873.

A TOUCHING INCIDENT.—A short time since, in this city, a brilliant and much-admired lady, who had been suffering for some time with trouble of her eyes, was led to fear speedy change for the worse, and immediately consulted her physician. An examination discovered a sudden and fatal failing in the optic nerve, and the information was imparted as gently as possible, that the patient could not retain her sight more than a few days at most, and was liable to be totally deprived of it any moment. The afflicted mother returned to her home, quietly made such arrangements as would occur to one about to commence so dark a journey of life, and then had her two children, attired in their brightest and sweetest costumes, brought before her; and so, with their little hands lifted to hers, and tears hardly repressed, the light faded out of the mother's eyes, leaving an indelible picture of those dearest to her on earth—a memory of bright faces that will console her in many a dark hour.—Covington (Kentucky) Journal.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1873.

TIME.

Time speeds away, away, away!
Another hour, another day,
Another month, another year,
Drop from us like the leaflets sear!
Drop like the life-blood from our hearts;
The rose-bloom from the cheek departs,
The tresses from the temples fall,
The eyes grow dim and stronge to all.

Time speeds away, away, away,
Like torrents in a stormy day!
He undermines the stately tower,
Uproots the trees and snaps the flower.
And sweeps from our all-wearied breast
The friends that loved, the friends that blest,
And leaves us weeping on the shore
To which they can return no more.

Time speeds away, away, away!
He wings through the skies of day,
He wind along the shore can flee
As swiftly or so smooth as he,
His fiery steed, from stage to stage,
He bears us on from youth to age,
Then plunges in the fearful sea
Of fathomless Eternity!

Scientific Preaching.

In Dr. Calderwood's admirable address before the General Synod there is a striking passage, which derives all the more consideration as coming from the successor of Dugald Stewart and Sir William Hamilton, the chair of metaphysics of the University of Edinburg. Ranking among the most profound living exponents of mental science, and understanding the skeptical tendencies of modern thought, he plants himself squarely upon the gospel itself as the only true defense against those assailing forces. One of his strong reasons for closer bonds between the branches of the Christian church which hold to the same faith is found in the fact "that we can see clearly, as the result of science, the increasing dubiety respecting the power and energy of evangelical religion." What is the remedy? Scientific preaching, or the preaching of science? This is the popular but mistaken notion. But Dr. Calderwood shows us "a more excellent way." Thus:

"If there be such a tendency, we must have many zealously devoted to the preaching of the gospel, rather than to mere scientific dissertations. Not scientific Christian men are not wanting for scientific preaching. They desire the homely truth, and that the Lord's day be devoted chiefly to spiritual refreshment. And if the circumstances of the day call upon us to give full proof that there is strong spiritual life, and that the power of Christ is increasing continually in us; that evangelical religion is not dying out; that Christian brethren are not isolated; that the Christian church is more clearly, deeply, earnestly understanding the great work committed to it, and is prepared, in the name and strength of the Master, to go in the spirit of faith."

These weighty words have the sanction of Christ and of the apostles. They have a historical basis in the planting and training of the Christian church. The Augustan age was pre-eminently an age of materialistic philosophy, of intellectual irreligion and of cultured disdain. Christ and the apostles preached "the gospel of the kingdom," not literature, nor science, nor philosophy.

And it is literally true, as the Edinburg professor said, that our Christian men of science are not craving for scientific preaching." Lawyers do not care to hear preaching upon law, nor doctors upon physic, nor artists upon art, nor business men upon banks and cotton and railroad securities. They know more of these things than ministers do. They want the pure, fresh and simple gospel, applied with all wisdom to the regulation of human motives, words and deeds, and to the wants of living men. But they want it also as "spiritual refreshment," the manna of the desert pathway, the stream that follows them from the source in the smitten rock. They have enough of secular things all the six days of the week, but on the Lord's day let them have some of the "heavenly meat and drink." Every pastor of an educated and intelligent people will testify that their most learned Christian parishioners are less critical, less exacting and far more inspiring hearers than those who have only a smattering of science or of literature.

The real conflict between the gospel and science must necessarily be waged in other fields. It is a war of the giants with their own weapons. And while there are special occasions when the pulpit may properly treat of scientific themes, yet the common sense and common religious consciousness of men dictate that the best way to propagate the gospel is to "preach the word," and that the mightiest barrier against modern skepticism is the gospel in the hearts and lives of men. On purely scientific grounds Darwin and Herbert Spencer are more than a match for ninety-nine out of their hundred critics. But a village preacher, heralding the truth as it is in Jesus, from Sabbath to Sabbath, among his well-instructed people, and teaching the children the way of salvation, possesses a spiritual power which he cannot afford to throw away upon scientific theories, which not one in a thousand of his people can understand. Let the pulpit do its own legitimate work. That work only has the promise of the Spirit. The preacher who subordinates the gospel to any human sciences is more likely to make skeptics than believers.

We say these things in no spirit of irreverence toward true science. We agree entirely with the discriminating views of our eloquent Scotch delegate that there is nothing in science to awaken fear in the Christian church, and the very spirit of doubt which has been aroused by Hume and other speculative unbelievers has been a positive gain to philosophy, to theology and to religion, bringing them "into a higher and stronger place."

The most recent phases of the scientific controversy indicate great conflicts between the leaders themselves. They are showing that there is no infallibility either in the statement of facts, reasoning or conclusions among these oracles. Dr. Calderwood's closing paragraph, finely generalizes the whole subject. Let it be pondered by every thoughtful mind:

"But," he says, "howsoever science may pass over the physical field, the highest inquiry in men concentrates in spirit, and the inquiries of spirit concentrate in the question: How shall we stand before God? Then comes the gospel. The profound depths of the profound love opens up to him the clear, straight pathway to the throne of Jehovah, before which we stand accepted in the Beloved."

The time is coming, and it may be nigh, when the limits of scientific thought will be strictly defined, and when its own eminent Christian votaries, like the celebrated Dr. Carpenter, of England, in his recent important contributions to the relations of science and religion, will compel a hearing which will not be given to the pulpit. The two spheres are distinct, and if, at times, they touch each other at the rim, experience will prove that contact is not necessarily conflict, and that the true correlation of their forces will yet produce a divine harmony. Let the pulpit be true to itself, and its reward shall be sure.—Christian Intelligencer.

The Gilbert Islanders' Bible.

BY S. C. DAMON, D. D.

On Good Friday, April 11, A. D. 1873, the Rev. Hiram Bingham completed the translation of the entire New Testament into the language of the Gilbert Islanders. When all the circumstances are duly considered, I do not hesitate to rank this translation as among the most remarkable of modern times. He has accomplished the great undertaking almost single-handed, only aided by his scholarly and accomplished wife and native assistants. No other white man ever acquired a sufficient knowledge of the Gilbert Island dialect to make the translation, even if he had been so disposed.

Sixteen years ago away two thousand miles to the southwest of the Sandwich Islands there were living thirty thousand or forty thousand inhabitants on the Gilbert or Kings Mill Group of Islands. They were living in the very lowest condition of heathenism. A peculiar species of Fetich idolatry was their only religious belief. They were utterly destitute of a written language, reported very cruel and savage, dwelling on low coral islands, without any commodity except cocoanut oil to exchange for articles of civilized life, and having no desire for trade except for tobacco. Their clothing consisted of the veriest fig-leaf arrangements, made of the Pandanus leaf. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bingham took passage for those islands on the first trip of the "Morning Star." They left Boston in the autumn of 1856, touched at Honolulu in the spring of 1857, and during the summer landed there and commenced their missionary labors. Their first work was, of course, to learn the language, but without the aid of grammar, dictionary or any other book. Their only interpreters were a few cocoanut oil traders, who had picked up a few words which enabled them to carry forward a limited barter trade with the ignorant, debased and savage people. The Gilbert Islanders were as much below the Sandwich Islanders in the scale of civilization and education, refinement and intelligence as the North American Indians are below the inhabitants of New England. They are the lowest on the scale of all the tribes and inhabitants of Polynesia.

In 1864 a small portion of the Gospel of Matthew was printed at the Gilbert Islands on a small printing press, and under very peculiar circumstances. A shipwrecked sailor, who had navigated himself in an open boat six hundred miles to reach that group of islands, most providentially arrived just at the right moment to render important service, as he was a practical printer. The difficulties attending their work were very great, as may be learned from the following paragraph in Mr. Bingham's sketch of the history of his work, read to a company assembled in Honolulu to congratulate him on the completion of his work:

"It may be here remarked that about one-fourth of the letters were a's, and k's are very numerous. As our font of type was very limited, we were obliged to cut off the d's for additional a's, and to cut a nick in the right hand part of our h's for additional k's."

At this gathering were assembled all the old missionaries and their families now residing in Honolulu, including the venerable Mrs. Thurston, now the only surviving member of the first company of missionaries landing upon these islands, more than half a century ago. The meeting was held at the residence of the Misses Bingham, who are engaged in teaching a native female boarding school. It was a pleasing feature of this gathering to meet his majesty, Lunalilo, who mingled most freely with the assembled company, and congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Bingham on the success of their work of translation. His majesty then conducted the venerable Mrs. Thurston to the refreshment-room, where a generous entertainment had been prepared. Not an uninteresting feature of the gathering was the presence of seven natives of those remote islands, who had found their way to Honolulu, but who now came forward and laid down their money (six dimes) as the price of the New Testament, now translated into their own language, wherein they were born. Yes, on that day, Good Friday, the translation was not only completed, but actually printed, and a few copies bound by our enterprising printers and book-binders in Honolulu.

Among the native Gilbert Islanders present was a young man who had been Mr. Bingham's assistant. His knowledge of the Bible was truly remarkable, as appeared from the numerous questions put to him by the guests present, and interpreted by Mr. Bingham. By the instruction of his missionary teachers he had acquired a good knowledge of the leading facts in the Old Testament history. Not only has a translation of the New Testament been made into the Gilbert Island dialect, but a few other publications have been issued, as appears from the following memoranda:

"List of Gilbert Island Literature.—The New Testament, translated by the Rev. Hiram Bingham; Hymn-Book, edited by the Rev. Hiram Bingham; Reading-Book, edited by Mrs. Bingham; Old Testament Bible Stories, written by Mrs. Bingham; Primary Geography, prepared by Mrs. Bingham; Primary Arithmetic, prepared by Mrs. Bingham; Catechism, translated from Hawaiian by the Rev. J. H. Mahoe."

The literary labors of Mr. and Mrs. Bingham while residing in Honolulu have been for the most part performed in the "Old Bindery" house of the American Board, nearly opposite the "Study,"—where the Rev. Hiram Bingham, Senior, performed so much missionary labor, nearly fifty years ago, when engaged in reducing the Hawaiian language to a written form, and in translating the Bible and other books. When I pass those buildings I have awakened in my mind emotions somewhat similar to those which were called up when, in December, 1869, I visited Bethlehem, and my guide pointed out the cell or chamber in the Church of the Nativity where St. Jerome completed, in the fourth century, the Latin Vulgate, or when, in the following month of January, 1870, I visited the city of Beirut, and the Rev. Mr. Dodge pointed out "the study" on the mission premises where the Rev. Eli Smith translated the Arabic Bible.—Independent.

Freemasonry in Brazil.

RIO JANEIRO, June 14, 1873.

This morning the decision of the religious question has been given by the government upon the appeal taken by one of the Brotherhood of the Tertiary Order of Pernambuco against the Bishop's interdict of the brotherhood, because of the non-expulsion of the Freemasons in its membership. The following is the important document:

RIO JANEIRO, June 12, 1873.

To the Bishop of the Diocese of Olinda:

Most Reverend Sir—To his majesty the Emperor has been presented the appeal taken by the Brotherhood of the Most Holy Sacrament of the Parish Church of the parish of San Antonio, of the city of Recelle, in conformity with a decree of March 28, 1857, against the sentence by which your most reverend excellency judged it interdicted; and having consulted the section of affairs of the empire of the Council of State, which reported as follows, and having also consulted the full Council of State, which accepted the doctrine and the conclusions of the said report:

Considering that the decrees of the councils and apostolic letters, as also all other ecclesiastical constitutions, depend for their execution on the beneplacet of the government or on the approval of the legislative General Assembly, when they contain a general provision, article 102, section 14, of the political constitution of the empire:

Considering that the bull's fulminating excommunication against the Masonic societies had not the beneplacet; considering that Masonry, as a secret society, is permitted by the civil law, has no religious aims and does not conspire against the Roman Catholic religion, and that therefore it is without the character and purposes which should subject it to the ecclesiastical jurisdiction and to condemnation without form and figure of trial:

Considering that the organic constitution of the Brotherhoods in Brazil belongs chiefly to the civil power, and that the diocesan prelate, on whom depends the approval of their statutes in the purely religious part, has an authority limited to those matters of a religious kind, which the associates undertake:

Considering that the appellant Brotherhood has not failed in those duties, such as they are defined in its undertaking, having the force of law, nor has it been thus alleged:

Considering that the said Brotherhood had no power to expel from its membership those who belonged to Freemasonry—a case not thought of in its undertaking approved by the ordinary—and, consequently, that it did not commit against the ecclesiastical authority any punishable disobedience when it declared itself unable to obey an order going beyond the orbit of the attributes of the said authority:

Considering that, even were the Masons subject to the penalty of expulsion and loss of the rights which civil law guarantees to them as members or a Brotherhood, a personal motive of censure and punishment could not be extended to all the brothers to produce the effect of their all being declared interdicted because they did not wish to take the responsibility of an act which upon the face of their undertaking they considered violent and illegal.

The same august lord has been pleased to conform with the report that the appeal should be confirmed, and he orders that, within the term of one month, this decision shall be fulfilled, ceasing the effects of the acts against which the aforesaid brotherhood appealed, as though it had not existed.

While transmitting to your most reverend excellency this resolution of the Imperial government—one founded on the constitution and the laws until now respected by the Brazilian bishops—I have to observe that just and grave rebuke is due to words and acts opposed to the legitimacy of the appeal to the crown, as well as to that beneplacet which is in use in almost every Roman Catholic State, and which in Brazil always was and must be respected.

It is required, therefore, that your most reverend excellency, convinced of the high propriety of the most perfect accord and harmony between the spiritual and temporal powers, each keeping itself in the sphere of action limited by its laws and genius, shall receive and observe the decision of the Imperial government in accordance with the intention and the duty which dictated it; this act, however, in no way diminishing the consideration merited by the person of your most reverend excellency and the respect due to the episcopacy, on whose holy ministry so greatly depends the peace of the faithful and the splendor of the Brazilian church.

God guard your most reverend excellency.

JOHN ALFREDO CORREIA DE OLIVEIRA, Minister of the Empire.

SUNDAY.

"A whisper softly broke the air—
A soft, light tone, and low,
Yet barbed with the stones and woe;
Now might it persist only there,
Nor further go!

Ah, too! a quick and eager ear
Caught up the ill-omening sound;
And other voice had breathed it clear;
And so it wandered round,
From ear to lip, from lip to ear,
Until it reached a gentle heart,
And that it broke".

How Gunpowder Is Made.

A HOUSE WHERE MEN NEVER LAUGH.

How do you think you would like to live fearing every moment to be blown up, none daring to speak aloud to jar anything for fear of starting an explosion that would send you in an instant to the other world?

You don't think it would be very pleasant? Well, it isn't; yet hundreds of men live in just that state—work, receive pay, and live year after year in the very sight of death, as it were—all that the world may have gunpowder. You may easily guess that these men go about quietly and never laugh.

You know that gunpowder is very dangerous in a gun or near a fire, but perhaps you don't know that it is equally dangerous all through the process of making. A powder mill is a fearful place to visit, and strangers are very seldom allowed to go into one. They are built far from any town, in the woods, and each branch of work is done in a separate building. These houses are quite a distance from each other, so that if one blows up it won't blow up the rest. Then the lower parts of the building are made very strong, while the roofs are very lightly set on, so that if it explodes only the roofs will suffer. But, in spite of every care, sometimes a whole settlement of the powder-mills will go off-bang! in an instant, and every vestige of the toil of years will be swept away in a second.

But, though you feel like holding your breath to look at it, it is really a very interesting process to see. It is made, perhaps you know, of charcoal, saltpeter and brimstone. Each of these articles is prepared in a house by itself, but the house where they are mixed is the first terrible one. In this building was an immense millstone, rolling round and round in an iron bed, and under the stone are put the three fearful ingredients of gunpowder. There they are thoroughly mixed and ground together. This is a very dangerous operation, because if the stone comes in contact with its iron bed it is very apt to strike fire, and the merest suspicion of a spark would set off the whole. The materials are spread three or four inches on the bed; the whole, which goes by water power, is started, and every man leaves the place. The door is shut, and the machinery is left to do its terrible work alone. When it has run long enough the mill is stopped, and the men come back. This operation leaves the powder in hard lumps or cakes.

The next house is where the cakes are broken into grains, and of course is quite as dangerous as the last one. But the men can't get away from this; they are obliged to attend to it every minute, and you may be sure not a laugh or a joke is ever heard within its walls.

Every one who goes in has to take off his boots and put on rubbers, because one grain of the dangerous powder, crushed by the boot, would explode the whole in an instant.

The floor of this house is covered with leather, and is made perfectly black by the dust of the gunpowder. It contains a set of sieves, each one smaller than the last, through which the powder is sifted, and an immense ground and laboring mill, where it is ground up, while men shovel it in wooden shovels. The machinery makes a great deal of noise, but the men are silent, as in the other houses. The reckless crashing of the machinery even seems to give greater horror, and every one is very glad to get out of that house.

The stoving-room is next on the list, and there the gunpowder is heated on wooden trays. It is very hot, and no workmen stay there. From there it goes to the packing-house, where it is put in barrels, kegs and canisters.

Lastly, through all these houses, it goes at last to the storehouse. One feels like drawing a long breath to see the fearful stuff safely packed away out of the hands of the men in this curious house.

You have heard of things being as dry as a powder-house, but you would not think this house very dry. It is almost imbedded in water. Did you ever hear of a water roof before? Instead of steps to go in there are shallow tanks of water, through which every one must walk to the door. In none of these powder-houses is any light ever allowed except sunlight. The wages are good, the day's work is short, always ending at three or four o'clock. But the men have a serious look that makes one think every moment of the danger and glad to get away.—American Sportsman.

CONVEY thy love to thy friend, as an arrow to the mark, to stick there not as a ball against the wall, to rebound back to thee; that friendship will not continue to the end that is begun for an end.—Quarles.

PHILOSOPHY is the art of discovering the place of truth in every encounter, event and circumstance—to attune all relations to truth.—Novalis.

A MOWER who can't mow might as well be no mower.

Religious Intelligence.

THE London Wesleyan Methodist Recorder is "gratified to learn that Isaac Holden, Esq., has just presented the munificent sum of £3,000 (nearly $15,000) in aid of the erection of the new church, schools and residences at Naples, being one-tenth of the estimated cost."

THE Jewish Messenger says: "New York Judaism bids fair to be spirited, indeed, the coming season. In church phraseology, we shall experience, perhaps, a revival. Two new English lecturers, Drs. Gotthold and Wise, are to arrive in this city in a few weeks. It is possible that the Rev. Prof. D. M. Isaacs, of Manchester, England, will pay us a brief visit. And last, though not least, Sir Moses Montefiore lately said that he would like to come to America."

MEXICO.—Dr. Butler, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has secured the unembarrassed and immediate possession of the cloisters of the Convent of San Francisco, in the City of Mexico, for mission purposes. It is a magnificent structure, and will give our mission in that city a most desirable and advantageous position. The cost, including the original purchase and improvements on buildings, will amount to about $30,000, about one-fifth of the original cost of the property.

REV. J. L. WOODSIDE, says the Lucknow Witness, has purchased in behalf of the American Presbyterian mission, with which he is connected, seventeen villages from the Dehra Doon Tea Company, for a native Christian colony, to be called the "Hope Town Christian Colony." This is the most extensive undertaking of the kind ever attempted in India, as the sum paid for the property is not less than $90,000. The land has been divided into 1,600 shares, of five acres to each share, costing $60.

THE Friend of India states that Mr. Bruce reports an increased interest by cultivated Persians in the study of the Christian Scriptures, and their earnest desire for religious liberty. Mr. Bruce is working at a Persian translation of the New Testament, and in his composition of a Bible history he is helped by a very learned Soofy and a tolerably learned Moollah, both of whom abhor Mohammedanism. He has purchased the mission-house at Julfa, and waits for the Church Missionary Society to do its duty to Persia in the new era.

IN A LATE religious revival at Impolweni, reported by Mr. Allison, of the Free Church of Scotland mission station at Pietermaritzburg, South Africa, fifty-three converts were added to the church, many of them from heathenism, which doubles the number of church-members. Mr. Allison, a missionary of forty years' experience, is the head of this Natal mission, assisted by one lady and nine native exhorters. Mr. J. Stalker, a newly-appointed missionary, is about to relieve his senior of the work at Pietermaritzburg, leaving Mr. Allison at liberty to go with his training school to Impolweni, the scene of the recent revival.

FROM the Pulney Hills Mr. Tracy, of Tirupuvanum (Madura mission of the American Board,) writes that during the first three months of the present year sickness and other causes prevented the catechists from carrying on their work in the villages as they would wish. They have, however, visited 188 villages, preached in 222 different places, to more than 4,000 hearers, and have traveled 1,396 miles. From the station school six scholars have been admitted recently to the church, and most of the boys of the first class have for some time before the close of their last term been in the habit of going out daily to different villages, in company with the catechists, to preach and distribute books. They have also daily, during the year, taken turns in teaching the children on the compound, under the direction of Mr. Tracy.

JAPAN.—The Foreign Missionary for September has an interesting article on Japan, from which we gather the following: The empire of Japan stretches for about 1,500 miles along the eastern coast of Asia, extending from thirty degrees to forty-five degrees north latitude. Its climate varies from extreme cold to one so soft, mild and warm that the orange and palm grow luxuriantly. The population is about thirty millions. The missionary force here consists of some thirty-four Protestant missionaries, all Americans but two, representing Presbyterian, Reformed Congregational, American Episcopal, Baptist, English Episcopal and American Methodist churches, at present distributed at Yeddo, Yokohama, Osaka, Kobe and Nagasaki. We rejoice that our own church is waking up to the subject of increasing this force at once.

THE new German ecclesiastical law contains some stringent and restraining provisions. Its more important points are that no Catholic priest can publish any disciplinary law or act, excepting as it affects purely religious matters, or concerns the clergy; no priest can inflict or publish any disciplinary penalties against any person for fulfilling the laws of the State, whether they conflict or not with the laws of the church; no priest can publish any disciplinary penalties, to be inflicted upon persons for voting or not voting at public elections; no priest can name any person by name in the publication of disciplinary penalties. The penalty affixed for the violation of these provisions is a fine of not less than one thousand thalers, and imprisonment for not less than two years, and, moreover, the offender can be suspended from practicing the profession of clergyman.

A BALDACHIN is a canopy made of some costly material, supported by columns, and placed over an altar or bishop's seat. It is a Romish invention, but otherwise is about as harmless and unnecessary a piece of church furniture as could well be devised. The clergy of St. Barnabas, Pimlico, recently petitioned their bishop for a baldachin, and he was inclined to give permission for its erection. Objection was made, however, by the parishioners, who feared a Romish innovation, which undoubtedly was intended. The whole matter was referred to the chancellor of the diocese, who has taken the case under advisement. Regarding this whole matter, the Bishop of London writes to the Times, in reply to an article in that paper, that the question of its legality is one that has never yet been raised. He is desirous to have it decided, because Dean Milman did propose to have such a structure over the altar in St. Paul's cathedral, in accordance with the original plan of Sir Christopher Wren, which the present committee on restoration of that cathedral are disposed to carry out. The aggrieved parishioners in this case turn out to be Dissenters.

THE first pastoral of the Old Catholic Bishop Reinkens is of great interest. In its first part he defends the validity of his episcopate, as consecrated by the clergy and people after the primitive manner. He says: "I am not named by the Pope of Rome. I have not sought his confirmation. I have sworn to him no oath. Christ, our Lord and Savior, the bridegroom of his church, has set no man, in heaven or earth, over his bride. He has appointed and defined the church as the highest moral authority. How can I bind myself by an oath to the man who withstands the Lord, and places himself above the judgment of the church?" After showing that the lack of an oath to the Pope does not at all invalidate the episcopal office, and pointing out the degenerate condition into which the Church of Rome has come, he proceeds to ask, "What is here mine office?" and answers it to the effect that it is not a lordship. The episcopal office has no personal privilege for preference, but is a service for the faithful. * * * It is a steward and dispenser of the mysteries of God, and it is the first concern that such a steward should be found faithful, and especially faithful to the Lord God; that he should not seek to put himself in the place of the Lord, as if he were the owner of the treasures of grace. Only one has the key of David who opens and no man shuts, who shuts and no man opens. The steward has also to hear the church in order that he may be found faithful. The latter part of the pastoral is given to the proposition that "the bishop has to uphold and advance every ordinance which is of God, and this through the conscience of the believer." Hence he speaks briefly of the relations of the Church to the State. Not the province of faith, but of power and law, is Cæsar's; therefore it belongs to the apostolic office to exhort to obedience the worldly ruler by the will of the Lord, for conscience' sake. The two chief enemies to the fulfillment of his work in time is "ecclesiastical unterialism and indifferentism, both begotten by and brought up from the shadowing Romanism of the Western Church."

CHRISTIANITY IN THE SOUTH SEA ISLANDS. The Rev. Dr. Neslit, of Samoa, addressing a committee of the Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Victoria, gave an interesting account of the mission work of the London Missionary Society in the South Sea Islands. He stated that he had been a missionary in Polynesia for about thirty years. Sixty years ago every island in Polynesia was under the spell of heathenism. There were now about 400,000 Polynesians who professed Christianity, who had been reclaimed from heathenism, and from many of whose islands cannibalism had been extirpated. Had Christian missions been a success in Polynesia? It must be borne in mind that these missions were still in their infancy. Their converts were children. It could not be expected that they would develop the same exalted standard of moral excellence as older communities. In these latter communities Christianity was the growth of many ages. The Samoan group comprised ten islands, large and small, having a population of 35,000. European missionaries took up their abode in these islands thirty-six years ago. Then the Samoans were a heathen, barbarous people, without any written language. Heathenism had been rooted out from among the Samoans as a people. The 34,000 Samoans were a professedly Christian people. Ordinances of religion were observed, and there were schools in every village. The people were a church-going people, both on Sundays and week-days. The Bible had been translated into their language, and they had an increasing Christian literature. From Samoa the gospel was being sent to regions beyond, and the voluntary Samoan contributions to the cause of Christianity averaged upward of £1,000 a year. About eighty Samoan students were now in the training institution there, which institution sent forth some twenty students yearly. The students had spread far and wide for the purpose of teaching Christianity among the islands of the Pacific, and their teaching had been very effective. He then alluded to the kidnapping trade. From one of the Pacific Islands, lately occupied by the missionaries, a thousand inhabitants had recently been taken away. Since one of the teachers had been stationed at another of those islands, about three years ago, eighty men had been taken from that island by labor expeditions. He could hardly trust himself to speak about the abominations of this labor traffic. At last, however, this traffic was to receive a death-blow. Polynesia had great and special claims on the churches of Australia; and he might state that it was for the commercial interests of Australia to open up and maintain a trade with the Polynesian Islands. The Samoan imports and exports alone ranged from £50,000 to £100,000 a year. If Australia reaped the benefit of Polynesian earthly things, surely Australians should endeavor to make the Polynesians partners of their spiritual things. With regard to New Guinea, he said that a mission had lately been established on that island, on which there was a population numbering 1,000,000. A very encouraging beginning had been made there. There were other large islands near New Guinea, which, it was hoped, speedy efforts would be made to Christianize.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1873.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. A. J. BRIGGS.
REV. J. W. RUSH.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. WILLIAM V. TUDOR, D. D.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

REDUCTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers hereafter at the following rates:

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year | $2 00 |
| Six Months | 1 25 |
| Three Months | 75 |

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

to all Ministers of the Gospel, traveling or local, and widows of deceased traveling preachers.

FREE ONE YEAR

to any person forwarding to us four new yearly subscribers, with EIGHT DOLLARS.

A Time of Need.

The present is a time of need, financially, with many—a time of unusual stringency with tens of thousands. Unfortunately, but, alas! very naturally, economy usually begins at the house of God. The preachers and their families, in too many instances, are sorely pressed for the ordinary comforts of life. Even devout and sometimes considerate and generous people are so absorbed in taking care of themselves that they have no time or disposition to think of their suffering pastors.

A cry of distress comes up from some of our mission-fields, and from other works which are accounted self-supporting. The emergency of the present hour calls for the utmost effort on the part of stewards, and for a self-denying liberality on the part of all. The preacher's allowance is generally below a comfortable support, and when a small portion of this is withheld suffering or the embarrassment of debt is sure to be the result. There is nothing, even in a temporal point of view, so well worth paying for as the gospel. The thought of some may be that this claim can be put off and the preachers will continue to labor all the same, and that they will live somehow. This is a hard view of the case, and, as a matter of policy, is unwise. A faithful ministry, to be efficient, must be supported, and to stint and starve it is sure to end in loss to those who should have shown a more generous spirit.

We put in a few words, here and now, on this subject, because we know of the wants and destitution whereof we speak, and because we believe that this distress may be greatly alleviated if all will do their best. In such times as these the church assessment should be among the first things to be paid, and the preacher should come in, if not for his full claim as a preferred creditor, yet as having a right to a pro rata division. To discriminate against the support of the ministry and of missions, as is too generally the practice, is a sin of no common magnitude. Our present condition demands that extraordinary effort and self-denial be practiced in meeting the financial demands of the church.

We find the following story going the rounds, and we bring it in here as in point. This is the time to bring out the idle Joachims.

A traveler in Switzerland relates the following story: "I was told a great deal at Geneva about M. Legrand, who lately died there. He was a friend of the celebrated Oberlin, very wealthy, and remarkable for his simplicity. M. Legrand, while holding a meeting one day, and speaking of numerous necessities of the church of Bohemia, where many of the pastors' wives were barefoot, made an appeal to the liberality of his auditors, and to encourage them he related this anecdote: 'One day Luther was completely penniless, and nevertheless was applied to for money to aid an important Christian enterprise. He reflected a little, and recollecting that he had a beautiful medal of Joachim, elector of Brandenburg, which he very much prized, he went immediately to the drawer, opened it and said: "What art thou doing there, Joachim? Dost thou not see how idle thou art? Come out and make thyself useful." Then he took out the medal and contributed it to the object. Come, my dear friends,' added M. Legrand, 'look in your pockets and see if there be not some idle Joachims in them.' Money hoarded is money wasted."

BISHOP KEENER reached home last week, in tolerable health. He will leave for Virginia about the middle of the present month.

The Holston Conference.

DISTRICT SCHOOLS—NEW ARM OF METHODISM.

BY BISHOP KEENER.

MR. EDITOR: I send you the delegates from the Holston to the General Conference: Clerical—R. N. Price, C. Long, J. M. McTeer, E. E. Wiley, W. G. E. Cunnyngham and J. S. Kennedy. Lay—H. S. Bowen, W. W. Stringfield, J. W. Hunt, R. W. Jones, J. W. Paulett and F. W. Earnest.

The Conference is, as you see, a very large one. It occupies a territory embracing parts of East Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and Georgia. But the body is very homogeneous, and no one could see the State lines in the preachers. This may come from the Methodist habit of shaking up every twelve months and redistributing, or it may come from the fact that State lines are but arbitrary divisions, and indicate no substantial difference in population. The whole territory of the Conference is hilly. Valleys and mountain ranges traverse it in every direction. Harvests of corn, wheat, tobacco and hay support upon it a hardy race of men, who, like the region they inhabit, constitute a backbone for both Church and State. Besides the grain, a vast amount of sheep, hogs and beeves go annually forward to the Baltimore market from this rich farming breadth of the Alleghany and Blue Ridge mountains.

The preachers live on the best butter, mutton and beef of any that I know. They look well—a shade fuller than those of Louisiana, but not quite so tough. Howbeit, they imagine that the work among the spurs and hillsides of Virginia is much harder than that among the swamps and bayous of the South. A speech was made in Conference apologetic for the slim collections which had come up from some of the circuits, which in very graphic style depicted a Methodist Sahara as stretching away five hundred miles toward the Ohio, where there have been small cultivated patches of earth amid ledges of granite and rock surface of appalling sterility, and where only here and there might be seen a spare coon-skin upon which to draw for benevolent purposes. This stretch of desert, as it happens, abounds in people—good church-going people—and sends up a report of from five to seven hundred members in each circuit. I suspect there is some poetry in all this dearth, and that there is not a single district in this Conference but might bring up a larger widows' and orphans' collection than the whole Conference now yields. But to do this, system and attention will be required upon the part of the preachers much in advance of present training. With thirty-five thousand church-members, why not $35,000 for missions? Was the church ever so primitive during the days of St. Paul, so persecuted or so poor as not to yield that much per member for the extension of the message of life to the regions beyond?

A good deal of time was profitably spent upon the statistics of each circuit and station. The rabbit ran across the field in full view. Many a young man got credit for the work he had done whose labors and success might elsewise have remained unknown to his brethren. And it is not unlikely that the good effects of this scrutiny will be felt next year by every widow and superannuate in the Conference.

The preachers have to contend with the Northern Methodist element in the very heart of their territory. At Knoxville the Methodist Episcopal Church has a very sightly building; and, besides that, holds our church property, with $3,500 which were allowed the Church South for damages by the government. Our people hope by the force of law presently to recover this; and after they have succeeded will feel in better humor for "fraternal relations" than at present. Bishop Haven wishes the Vanderbilt and everything else God-speed, as he thinks and says that it will all ultimately find its way into the charitable maw of his own Zion. The Holston preachers meanwhile understand the population they have to deal with, and are gradually and surely reabsorbing their ancient folds. The affiliation of our Northern brethren with that rare ebony, mahogany and chocolate-colored civilization, and which so enthuses the Boston Bishop, is not shared very heartily by his less ardent Anglo-Saxon co-laborers. The Holston Methodist is doing a work here that other church papers do not seem equal to. It is full of live issues, and the editor is not afraid to call things by their right names, which to me is always a comfort. It will limit and define the range of the Methodist Episcopal Church as illustrated by its representatives in eastern Tennessee. I see it copied extensively, and it is to be hoped that such a labor of love will not go unrewarded. Unless I am greatly mistaken, the esprit of the Holston Conference is fairly identified with its success.

I hope by this time next year that we shall have a fine church at Knoxville, worthy of the noble membership which in that place, through evil report and good, have stood firm to Southern Methodism.

Among many excellent things which were brought to my attention are the educational interests of this Conference—its grand Emory and Henry College, its Martha Washington, its Hiwassee and its Sullins Colleges. Besides which it has inaugurated a scheme which I hope to see engrafted upon our Methodism at the next General Conference—its district high school system. Each district selects a place for a school—the site determined by the bids made, buildings offered, etc.; the building deeded to the Conference, with a clause giving the president of the Conference the right of appointing the principal of the school; in all other respects the property is held by trustees, as other church property; the principal may be a member of the Annual Conference, a local preacher or a layman, but subject to appointment annually; he, when appointed, to have full control of the school—of employing assistants, and of its discipline. The school to have a primary department, tuition at $1 a month, and a high school department, at $2 a month; tuition always in advance on the first Monday in each month. The upper classes to go as far as algebra, Graeca Minora and Cæsar—preparing youth for college; the primary, reading, writing, ciphering, geography and history. The advantages of such a system would be: 1. To give all our people a chance to send to their own schools, where the Bible is read and prayer offered; 2. To distribute good schools all over the country, instead of letting a bureau fit it up with teachers from Harvard and schools in which God is not recognized; 3. To constitute feeders for our colleges. 4. To furnish opportunity for the graduates of our institutions who wish to devote themselves to teaching; and also to afford a place where hundreds of our young ladies, who have been well educated, may find employment. 5. To open a field for men who might well be placed in the business of teaching for a time, who are now only available for the pulpit, and also to afford a change from the school-room to the pulpit of those who, though called to preach, have been confined by force of circumstances too long to the school-room.

This is now working successfully in the Holston, and I made several appointments of members of the Conference this year to be principals of district high schools for the ensuing twelve months. And to enforce the whole scheme, I conclude this notice of it by quoting the language of Bishop Asbury: "What I now recommend as your duty and privilege is to give the key of knowledge, in a general way, to your children, and those of the poor in the vicinity of your small towns and villages. * * * We have but small hopes of coming properly at the lambs of the flock until you have schools of your own founding and under your own direction; that neither yourselves nor the teachers may be under restraints from refractory men."

Our church is certainly moving ahead all over and through this healthy territory. The preachers are in fine spirits; they have sound minds in sound bodies; they preach justification by faith only; regeneration as necessary and immediate; holiness as attainable and essential. They are poor but entirely solvent, and, despite of the gulf which financiers see yawning on every side, they steadily go forward, "making many rich," "as having nothing, yet possessing all things."

SELMA, October 27, 1873.

An Outrage.

The negro Lieutenant Governor of Louisiana, Governor Kellogg being purposely absent, has recently sent a force of Metropolitan police to Grant parish, avowedly to assist the United States marshal in arresting certain persons supposed to have been concerned in the Colfax massacre of last spring. No doubt the expedition was planned for effect, and urged forward by the result of the election in Ohio, and by the near opening of Congress. To get up a disturbance, and to excite an outbreak just at this time, might have a favorable effect for Radical interests. Several of the fall elections are yet to come off, and the Louisiana case is to come up in Congress. If an oppressed, cruelly outraged and insulted people can only be excited to resist the rudest and most villainous tyranny ever inflicted upon any community, the end of the oppressor will then be accomplished. Mr. Charles J. Merrill, writing to the Picayune from Colfax, October 29, speaks of an outrage and of the expedition of the Metropolitan police as follows:

In haste, and with feelings of horror, I write to inform the public, through the columns of the Picayune, of the accursed actions of the Metropolitan police sent here by Lieutenant Governor Antoine during the absence of Kellogg. On Saturday night last the house of one of the most respectable widow ladies on Red river was fired into, near this place, the doors broken open, and the unfortunate lady and her daughter of seventeen summers were taken out and, horrible to relate, violated.

Neither of the ladies could be found until late on Sunday afternoon. An infant eighteen months old, and grandchild of Ex-Gov. Wells, was found out in the road, some half mile from the house, and near the spot where the foul deed was perpetrated. Great God! is this the mission of Kellogg's soldiers? Is the violation of our women, the killing of our children, under the pretense of catching violators of the law, the motive that prompted your acting negro Governor, Antoine, to send these accursed criminals in our midst? It is said here that when Colonel DeKlyne was informed of the outrage he smiled and said his troops were up here for a higher purpose than arresting men for such a petty offense.

The infant was the niece of the widow lady and child of Mumford Wells, the oldest son of Ex-Governor Mat. Wells. The negroes up here all say that it was the soldiers, and we all believe, if they were not the perpetrators, they instigated the negroes to the horrid deed of infamy.

Some seven or eight of those supposed to have been engaged in the battle of Colfax have been arrested, but the most of these will prove an alibi.

For God's sake let the world know at once the terrible state of affairs at this heaven-cursed sink—Colfax. Antoine is believed to have sent these creatures up here to give the negroes a chance of revenge; and one told the writer that he had a right now, under the protection of the United States, to shoot any white man he wanted to shoot, and to violate any woman he met. I said to him that these were State troops, and not United States troops, and he replied that "the colonel had said at a negro ball, the night before, that he wanted all the colored people to come and see him; that now they could do as they pleased, as they were under the protection of his soldiers!"

The Picayune of November 2, referring to the statement of Mr. Merrill, says:

A gentleman who yesterday arrived in the city from Grant parish confirms the report published in the Picayune on Saturday morning.

The feeling of indignation and horror throughout the parish and surrounding country is very great, but the people are willing to await the action of the constituted (self or otherwise) authorities, confident in the belief the fiends engaged in the terrible affair will not go unwhipped of justice.

By the proceedings of a public meeting of the citizens of Alexandria, held October 28, the facts are confirmed. From the proceedings of this meeting we make the following extract:

At a meeting held at Alexandria, Louisiana, on Tuesday, the twenty-eighth instant, M. Ryan was called to the chair, and T. Spence Smith was chosen as secretary.

On motion the chair appointed a committee of five, expressing the sentiments of the meeting—W. F. Blackman, J. G. White, F. Selp, R. J. Bowman and Dr. E. B. Price, who reported as follows, viz.:

Whereas, Reliable information has reached us of the perpetration in Grant parish of a detestable outrage of rape upon the persons of two respectable ladies, by members of the New Orleans Metropolitan police, or by negroes who are emboldened to commit acts of violence by the presence of that police, and terror and alarm have been occasioned in the locality where the crime was committed, as also in the surrounding country:

Resolved, That we will first appeal to the constituted authorities of the country, civil and military, for protection to our people before consulting or initiating any extra legal measures, and to this end a committee of five shall be appointed by the chairman to wait upon the commanding officer of the United States troops stationed opposite this town, and solicit his intervention and the ordering of a portion of his command to the disturbed neighborhood.

Resolved, That we appeal to our fellow-citizens of this and contiguous parishes to curb their indignation, justly aroused by this outrage, and to restrain themselves within the bounds of law while the authorities to whom we appeal are vindicating our right to protection, or shall have refused to do it.

Resolved, That we are fully sensible of the violation of law by whosoever dispatched the police of New Orleans several hundred miles in the interior of the State ostensibly to assist the deputy United States marshal in the execution of process; and we have not failed to discern the real purpose of this State military and naval expedition to be the hope and expectation that some tumult might be raised by our people, of which political capital might be made to our disadvantage—a hope we intend to disappoint.

The appeal here made in favor of moderation and forbearance is, no doubt, wise, and will be heeded. The crimes and outrages incited and perpetrated by the minions and usurpers of a political despotism may some day return upon those who are guilty. If the truth could be made known, we do not doubt that all right-minded men would unite in condemning the infamy of our Louisiana tyrants.

GOD is the Christian's banker. He honors all drafts drawn by a clear conscience, written by the pen of faith, with the ink of love, on the paper of innocence.

Pacific Conference.

We find the following account of the session in the Pacific Methodist of October 17:

The Pacific Conference closed its twenty-third session at Colusa, on Wednesday, October 14, after six days of active labor. The attendance was larger than usual, and the interest of the occasion very great. We have no doubt this Conference session has made an impression on northern California which will add greatly to the strength and permanence of our church. No former session of the Conference has been more elegantly entertained. Nowhere in California have we ever met with a finer type of hospitality or with people whose larders were better supplied. Though there was a great crowd of visitors, the preacher in charge of the work had difficulty in satisfying the demands of his people for guests. The temper of the Conference was religious, and of course harmony prevailed to a great degree. Differences of opinion created discussion, but nothing occurred to create any serious division.

Bishop Doggett is a sweet-tempered presiding officer, quick to perceive the merits of a discussion, wise to guide it to its proper results, and patient in his management of difficult cases. His cabinet of presiding elders are warm in their praises of his deep religious sentiment while engaged in the work of making the appointments. His preaching electrified the community. On Sunday he preached to a vast audience in the Dramatic Temple, and held them spell-bound for an hour and a half. The preaching throughout the session was of a high character.

The reports of the preachers evinced considerable progress in all parts of the State, the large increase of material wealth being particularly noticeable.

The blessings of God have been poured out upon our people during the past year, and we have entered upon another year determined to cultivate the ground more wisely, more vigorously and more efficiently than ever before.

The statistical report shows the following totals: Members, 3,316; increase, 151; local preachers, 58; adults baptized, 175; infants baptized, 170; value of church property, $154,370; increase, $31,450.

Clerical delegates to General Conference—F. K. Miller, George Sim. Reserves—J. C. Simmons, O. P. Fitzgerald. Lay delegates—J. W. Goad, L. H. Bascom. Reserves—Wick B. Parsons, C. E. Wilcoxen.

Next Conference is to be held at Stockton.

Tennessee Conference.

The Tennessee Conference held its session at Franklin, Tennessee, October 8-15. Bishop McTyeire presided. We gather the following items from the Nashville Christian Advocate:

The statistics are as follows: The Nashville district has 3,173 members, 32 local preachers, 162 adults baptized, 82 infants baptized. The Lebanon district has 3,526 members, 14 local preachers, 301 adults baptized, 96 infants baptized. The Carthage district has 2,570 members, 30 local preachers, 242 adults and 74 infants baptized. Sparta district has 2,761 members, 28 local preachers, 291 adults and 91 infants baptized. Murfreesboro district has 2,419 members, 8 local preachers, 179 adults and 67 infants baptized. McMinnville district has 2,703 members, 31 local preachers, 167 adults and 81 infants baptized. Fayetteville district has 3,178 members, 32 local preachers, 245 adults and 55 infants baptized. Pulaski district has 3,410 members, 28 local preachers, 340 adults and 100 infants baptized. Savannah district has 2,405 members, 40 local preachers, 223 adults and 72 infants baptized. Columbia district has 1,526 members, 19 local preachers, 159 adults and 63 infants baptized. Franklin district has 2,826 members, 16 local preachers, 275 adults and 58 infants baptized. Centerville district has 3,266 members, 31 local preachers, 149 adults and 57 infants baptized. Clarksville district has 3,863 members, 21 local preachers, 187 adults and 71 infants baptized. McKendree district has 2,019 members, 19 local preachers, 38 adults and 80 infants baptized. Recapitulation: White members, 39,645—last year, 38,591; colored, 22—last year, 53; local preachers, 340—last year, 307. Baptized, infants, 1,000—last year, 1,118; adults, 2,938—last year, 2,950. Sunday schools, 371—last year, 351; teachers, 2,223—last year, 2,007; scholars, 18,045—last year, 17,388. Necessary for claimants, $8,000—last year, $3,000; collected, $2,476.80—last year, $2,287.85. For missions, $5,185—last year, $5,520.24. The next session is to be at Gallatin.

The following ten brethren were admitted on trial: A. P. McFerrin, Charles M. Baldwin, John W. Bell, Thomas A. Kerley, Rufus W. Seay, William J. Collier, Samuel L. Fain, Moses J. Mabry, Henry S. McBride, Benjamin F. Haynes. W. A. Bridges was discontinued.

Transferred.—B. F. Stone, to Trinity Conference; E. W. White, to East Texas Conference; B. H. Malone, to Little Rock Conference; W. C. Blair and Lacy Boone, to West Texas Conference; W. F. Mister, to West St. Louis Conference; J. R. McClure, to Western Conference.

Delegates to General Conference.—Clerical—John B. McFerrin, John W. Hanner, A. L. P. Green, Robert A. Young, J. B. West, R. P. Ransom, W. Burr, F. E. Pitts. Reserves—R. K. Hargrove, W. Mooney. Lay—Colonel Watson M. Cooke, Hon. C. G. Smith, T. M. N. Jones, Hon. Atha Thomas, Prof. W. R. Webb, Rev. J. M. Sharpe, W. F. Holder, Rev. J. M. Sowell. Reserves—General G. G. Dibrell, Colonel D. T. Reynolds, John S. Erwin.

THE end of learning is to know God, and out of that knowledge to love him and to imitate him, as we may the nearest by possessing our souls of true virtue.—John Milton.

Centenary College of Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: My own gratification, and the desire of having the friends of Centenary share it with me, prompt me to make public an extract from a letter just received from our Bro. Keller, of your city. He has recently paid a visit to his son, who is pursuing his studies here at our college, and a few days after his departure I received a letter from him, which, along with many other encouraging things, contained this most interesting item, viz.:

I was so well pleased with all I saw at your place that I made up my mind to donate $100 per month, for ten months to come, for the restoration and improvement of Centenary College.

So you will please draw on me every first of each month, for ten months to come, for $100.

Hoping it will meet your approval, I remain, very respectfully,
Your brother in Christ,
J. H. KELLER.

You may well imagine, Mr. Editor, that it did meet my approval—my most hearty approval. We have a place ready and waiting for each hundred dollars as it comes in, and the very fence and the new plastering and the fresh paint shall all proclaim our thanks to Bro. Keller.

We have now a new and complete roof on the west wing, and this makes all our buildings to be safe from the weather; and we need only a few more such friends as Bro. Keller to restore our whole establishment to its former finish and magnificence.

We have not had quite so good an opening as at this season last year, owing mainly, I think, to yellow fever having been on the lines of travel. Our students are coming in cheeringly, however, and we know of many others who are expected daily.

C. G. ANDREWS.

JACKSON, La., October 24, 1873.

Death of Mrs. McGehee.

Mrs. Mary Burruss McGehee, wife of Hon. Edward McGehee, died at the family residence, near Woodville, Mississippi, on Thursday morning, October 30. The announcement of her death will be received with regret by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. Her death is indeed a bereavement and a calamity to hundreds outside of her family, who loved and esteemed her for her many admirable qualities. She was a gifted and cultivated woman, and a most intelligent and devoted Christian. Her temperament was naturally bright and cheerful, and religion beautified and completed a character of rare excellence. She was from her youth a member of the Methodist Church, and to the last a considerate and generous supporter of its institutions.

Although she was in the sixty-second year of her age, she retained much of the freshness and beauty of her earlier years up to the time of the sickness—of a week's duration—which closed her life on earth. She was the daughter of the Rev. John C. Burruss, whom she resembled in many respects. But a few days before her illness she wrote us concerning her father and of her purpose to collect some memorials of his life. The venerable husband, Judge Edward McGehee, now about eighty-seven years of age, in age and feebleness still survives. May he realize in this hour of affliction that "the name of the Lord is a strong tower."

THE following notice informs us of the bereavement of Bro. Livermaa, of the Louisiana Conference. May God comfort and sustain the stricken parents.

Died, October 13, 1873, of dentition, George Matthews, infant child of Rev. George M. and Lavinia E. Liverman, aged one year, nine months and five days. He lived long enough to gather into his own bosom the tenderest affection of his parents, and died soon enough to present them untainted to the Savior. If the eyes and hopes of the family follow his little feet over the shining way to heaven, and rest on him there in his infant service and song, his life has not been unavailing.

Your brother,
MONROE, LOUISIANA. C. F. E.

REV. T. B. WHITE and family left this city on Thursday, October 30, for Oregon. They go by river to St. Louis, thence to San Francisco, and from thence to Portland by sea, we believe. Sorry that we were not in town to see them. Some parting words from Bro. White, written on the steamboat, and just received, will appear next week. May the Lord prosper his way and preserve all in their long journey.

MOVING.—Rev. S. M. Cherry, writing to the Western Methodist about the recent session of the Tennessee Conference, says:

After careful count I find that one hundred and fifteen districts, stations, circuits and missions have new preachers, and thirty-four preachers return to their former charges. Seven of the fourteen presiding elders of last year have districts this year. Bishop McTyeire knows the work and men well.

ONE ACT of charity is worth a century of eloquence.

The Child's Corner.

LITTLE FEET.

Little feet, dimpled feet,
Designed to gather trim and neat,
Tripping lightly o'er the ground,
Till the echo of a sound,
Passing down the great highway:
Little maiden, little gay!

Lustrous beaming, asking eyes,
Catching lights; demurely wise;
Wandering sunbeams everywhere
Weaving witchcraft, wondrous fair
Guiding down the busy street
Little maiden's fairy feet.

What her errand, what her task?
Read the one who'd lightly ask
Beneath the breathless lip to herself
Inspired, beating little elf—
Gliding down the crowded way,
Little maid, with feet of fay.

Wondrous secret. Pal'pitic heart:
Little woman's cunning art
Not by glance or look or word,
Shows she what her heart has stirred;
Stirred her heart and sent her feet
Swiftly down the busy street.

Here she enters! we without Stop to find her secret out,
See! she buys a great wax doll!
Errand's done! yes, that is all.
Change and hastens up the street,
Joyous maid with little feet.

Carl's Duty, and What Came of It.

"You must give it up, my dear boy; there is no help for it. Now your poor father is gone I cannot afford to have you taught. I must get you a place somewhere as errand-boy, and you must try and earn a trifle for yourself."

Carl sighed heavily. He was but a child, but the dream of his little life had been to be a musician like his father; and now that father was dead his mother would have to work hard to keep himself and him, and of course no lessons were possible.

Mrs. Schmidt was an English woman, but she had married a German violinist, in regular employment in London, and for some years they had lived very happily. But Frank Schmidt, never in good health, had suddenly been struck down by an epidemic then raging in the city, and soon the poor woman was a widow and her boy fatherless.

It was only about a fortnight after the funeral that Carl and his mother were sitting together, and Mrs. Schmidt made use of the words with which this story opens.

Carl went to bed that night more sorrowful than he would have owned to his mother. It seemed very hard that with a strong love of music, and a longing for the life and work of a musician, he should have to become a mere drudge—a little errand-boy, carrying parcels for a small tradesman, and every day getting further and further from reaching his desire. But the poor child did not suffer his grief to take the form of grumbling. Young as he was, he knew that duty should be done cheerfully; and he was too loving a son to add to his mother's troubles by any selfishness of his own.

So he fell asleep at last with his eyelashes wet, but with a resolve in his brave, young heart to do what was right. You might have smiled, perhaps, but you certainly would not have laughed, could you have heard the concluding sentence of Carl's prayer—a prayer which he had said just before his weary eyes closed in slumber: "O Lord Jesus, help me to be very good, though I am only to be an errand-boy, and am never to learn music."

A week later Carl Schmidt got a situation as errand-boy to a neighboring baker, where he earned eighteen pence a week. His duties were many, though not very difficult. He went out in the cart with the baker's man when the bread was taken round to people's houses; he cleaned the windows of the shop, he washed the counters and swept the floor, and sometimes, when both master and man were out, be served any customer who happened to come in for a bun or a penny loaf.

We cannot say that Carl liked this sort of work, but he tried to take an interest in it, and to do it faithfully; and so he was contented and happy, as everybody is who cheerfully does his duty.

The baker was a bachelor, and as he had some nice rooms over the shop he was in the habit of letting them to lodgers.

Just before Carl entered the baker's service one of these lodgers had gone, and now another came, looked at the rooms, and took them. To Carl's great delight he turned out to be a German; and one day, as the boy was running up stairs for something his master wanted, he heard a sound which sent the warm blood mounting to his very temples, and made his heart throb wildly with joy. It was the tone of a violin—the new lodger was a violinist!

Carl longed to throw himself down outside the musician's door, and listen to the practicing; but his time was not his own, and he must not do this without leave. Back he went to his master, whom he astonished by his excited looks.

"O, sir," cried the boy, "the new lodger is a violinist, like my dear father; I just heard him play!"

"Well, what of that?" said the baker.

"Only, sir," replied Carl, "if you would be so good as to let me stay a few moments after my work is done, so that I may hear him practice, I should be so happy and so grateful."

"Oh, dear, yes," said the baker kindly, "you may begin to-night, if you like."

So that evening Carl placed himself outside the new lodger's door, where he sat down on the floor with his head in his hands, and listened for the violin. The music began at last, and every note brought rapture to Carl's sensitive ear. The thrilling melodies, some of which he knew so well, drew tears to his eyes, and once, as the music paused, he forgot himself as far as to sob aloud.

In an instant the door opened, and the musician's face appeared.

"Why, what are you doing here, mein kind" (my child,) said he gently. "Ah! crying too? Poor little man, who has been scolding you?"

"No one, sir," sobbed Carl. "I am not crying for that. It is your music, that beautiful fiddle, which has made me cry."

Herr Rubner, for that was the man's name, laid his hand on the child's shoulder and drew him into his room.

"Now tell me," he said, "why you love music so much, and what made you cry."

In a few words Carl told his little history—his father's profession, and that father's promise that his child should follow it—the long-cherished hope of one day becoming a musician; then the father's death, and the poverty of the bereaved home, and the giving up of all the fondest wishes that had made the future so bright.

Herr Rubner listened silently to all, then, drawing the child nearer to him, he said: "Tell me, my boy, would you still like to learn the violin?"

"Like it? Oh, sir! don't ask me; my heart is almost broken because I cannot be what my father promised, because I must never hope to learn."

"Don't be too sure of that," said the man, with something very like a twinkle in his eye. "Look here now—I have a little old fiddle which will do very well to learn upon; and if you like to come to me every night after you have finished for the landlord down stairs, I will give you a lesson."

"You, sir? You really will! O, sir, this is too much; how shall I ever thank you!" and Carl seized the hand of the violinist, and pressed it again and again to his lips.

"There, there, mein kind, it isn't worth all that," said Herr Rubner kindly. "Run away now, and come to me to-morrow at this time."

From that day Herr Rubner began to give Carl regular lessons, and the boy made such progress as amply to repay his kind master. Meanwhile the boy did not neglect his duties, but performed them well, rising daily in his employer's favor.

Carl had his desire, and, after years of hard work, he became a professional and a successful violinist. But through life he never forgot that it was while trying to discharge his distasteful duties with cheerfulness that God had sent him what he so longed for, and he was often heard to say: "If any one, whether man or child, only does what he believes to be right, God will take good care of the rest, for truly 'he leadeth the blind by a way which they know not.'"

Farm, Garden and Household.

Longevity of Trees.

The Wadsworth oak, at Geneseo, New York, is said to be five centuries old, and twenty-seven feet in circumference at the base. The massive, slow-growing live-oaks of Florida are worthy of notice, on account of the enormous length of their branches. Bartram says:

"I have stepped fifty paces in a straight line from the trunk of one of these trees to the extremity of the limbs."

The oaks of Europe are among the grandest of trees. The Cowthorpe oak is seventy-eight feet in circuit at the ground, and is at least one thousand eight hundred years old. Another, in Dorsetshire, is of equal age. In Westphalia is a hollow oak which was used as a place of refuge in the troubled times of medieval history.

The great oak at Saintes, in southern France, is ninety feet in girth, and has been ascertained to be two thousand years old. This monument, still or recently flourishing, commemorates a period which antedates the first campaign of Julius Cæsar!

The "Cypress of Montezuma," near the City of Mexico, is forty-five feet in girth, and its age is estimated at upward of twenty centuries. In the church-yard of Santa Maria del Tule, in the Mexican State of Oaxaca, is a cypress which "measures one hundred and twelve feet in circuit, and is without a sign of decay." At Palenque are cypresses growing among the ruins of the old city, whose streets they may have shaded in the days of its pride. By the usual methods the writer in the North American Review calculates the age of the cypress at Santa Maria del Tule at five thousand one hundred and twenty-four years, or, if it grew as rapidly during its whole life as similar trees grow when young, it would still be four thousand and twenty-four years old. Popular Science Monthly.

MANURE FOR GRAPE-VINES.—Professor Bache says: Herbaceous plants and vegetables furnish numerous instances of the influence of peculiar manures on the quality of the products. The cheese and milk of certain localities are highly prized on account of the peculiar aroma of the grass in those localities.

Besides this bad influence of odorous nitrogenous manures on wine, we must bear in mind that this process restores to the soil only a small portion of the potash consumed by the canes, the leaves and the fruit, and that it also tends to exhaustion, since it returns to the soil but one-fifth or one-sixth of the amount of potash taken from it. Moreover, nitrogenous substances exclusively used hasten the decay of vineyards and the exhaustion of the soil. We have a report from Baron Von Leibig of the exhaustion of a vineyard at Bingen, on the Rhine, through the exclusive use of horn scrapings. The result at first seemed good, but after a few years the growth and production decreased rapidly. The extra growth induced by the horn scrapings had divested the soil of all its potash without returning any.

Nitrogenous manures also increase in the grape the proportion of albuminous and mucilaginous matters, and correspondingly diminish the saccharine; the wine contains less alcohol, and is consequently more subject to alteration. In fact sugar-producing plants never want strongly nitrogenous manures; and sugar-makers are aware that beets manured with highly nitrogenous compounds—although more bulky—contain less sugar and more organic matter, to the detriment of the manufacturer.

ORCHARD PROFITS.—It was stated at a late meeting of the fruit-growers of New York that an orchard of Baldwin apple-trees, one hundred and forty in number, yielded last year one hundred barrels. As the ground covered was about two acres, the net profits were $800 per acre. This orchard had been planted fifteen years, and the average yield during all this time was over $50 a year. Another orchard, which was planted thicker, yielded an average for each year, from the time of planting, of $370. It was said, in conclusion, that apples can be grown at a profit of $1 a barrel, and more money can be made than with any other crop. Now, although this relates to New York, the same is true of other States, north and south, but let it be peaches instead of apples, and not so much to sell green as to cull and dry.

LEMON-TREES FOR ORANGE GRAFTING.—One of our California exchanges says: The Oak Shade Nursery and Orchard Company, near Davisville, Yolo county, have now growing from the seed, planted this last spring, forty thousand Chinese lemon-trees. It is their intention, when these trees are two years old, to bud them with orange, and then plant out one of the most extensive orange orchards in the State. By grafting or budding the orange into the lemon the trees will commence bearing two or three years sooner than if with the orange-tree without budding, or with budding on to the orange stock. The lemon-root being a better feeder than the orange, imparts to the tree a more rapid and stocky growth.

MUSHROOMS AND MOONBEAMS.—M. Charbonnier, of Paris, states that he has in his aquaria a very remarkable growth of cryptogamous vegetation under the influence of the light of the full moon. Gardeners have long affirmed that the moon's rays give great activity to the growth of mushrooms. It will be interesting to prove by careful experiments if this be a fact or fancy.

APPLE-FLOAT.—Take one quart of apples, partially stewed and well mashed, put in the whites of three eggs, well beaten, and four heaping tablespoonfuls of loaf-sugar; beat them together for fifteen minutes, and eat with rich milk and nutmeg.

MILK BISCUIT.—Take one and a quarter pounds of flour, two pounds of butter, three tablespoonfuls of yeast, two pints of milk; make them into dough and let them rise. Bake them in tins.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL FURNITURE.

Patent School Desks.

W. P. UHLINGER,
921 Chestnut St., Phila.

FACTORY,
Columbia Avenue below Second.

ESTABLISHED 1852.
se18 4m

LANDRETH'S SEEDS

Have spoken their own praise for upward of three-quarters of a century.

☞ The attention of Market Gardeners is particularly requested.

LANDRETH'S RURAL REGISTER AND ALMANAC will be mailed without charge to all who apply.

DAVID LANDRETH & SON,
21 and 23 South Sixth street,
Philadelphia, Pa.
se18 4m

SADDLERY AND HARNESS
AT ST. LOUIS PRICES.

McClellan Saddles, $4.75; Texas Rig do., $7; Ladies' do., $5.50. Buggy Harness, $13; 1 mule do., $10.50; Two-Horse Plantation do., $17; Stage do., $24. All other goods in our line equally as low.

GEORGE PLUMB & CO.,
131 Poydras street,
se18 2m Between Camp and St. Charles.

ALEXANDER MILLS,

ORGAN BUILDER,
NO. 539 BROOME STREET,
oc2 3m NEW YORK.

"DOMESTIC" PAPER FASHIONS.

AGENTS WANTED.
☞ Send for Catalogue. ☜
DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE CO.,
se4 13t New York.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

G. M. BAYLY & POND,
WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Nos. 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Canal, and 59 and 61 Common Street,
ja23 1y New Orleans, La.

J. L. DUNNICA, NEW ORLEANS.
T. A. HAMILTON, MEMPHIS.
O. P. HARRISON, NEW ORLEANS.

J. L. DUNNICA & CO.,
FLOUR, PRODUCE AND PROVISION COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
50.....Tchoupitoulas Street.....50
oc22 1y New Orleans, Louisiana.

ROGERS' EFFERVESCING
CITRATE OF MAGNESIA,
in six-ounce bottles, in powder. This Magnesia is a mild purgative and aperient, very acceptable to the stomach for Sick Headache, Sour or Sick Stomach, and all Febrile cases. Good for all seasons of the year. For sale by druggists. Prepared by ARTHUR ROGERS, 193 Spring St., N. Y. oc9 8m

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

THE NEXT TERM OF THIS VENERABLE INSTITUTION OPENS ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER, 1873.

Faculty.—REV. C. G. ANDREWS, A.M., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Political Economy and International Law. REV. A. R. HOLCOMBE, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Acting Professor of Natural Science; G. H. WILEY, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages; T. S. JONES, M. D., Professor of Natural Sciences; REV. R. D. NOTT-WORTH, A. M., Principal of the Preparatory Department.

Charges.—Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in the College, $60; Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in Preparatory Department, $40; Contingent expenses, $5. A matriculation fee of $5 must be paid on entering any regular College class. One-half the charges must be paid when the student enters the other half on the beginning of the second term, March 1.

Board.—Board, including lodging, washing, lights and fuel, can be had in the best families for $12 per month. Day-boarding with the use of fuel, $6 per month. Rooms provided in the dormitories free of rent. Board to be paid in advance at least one month.

Location.—This institution is located in the lovely village of Jackson, about twelve miles from Bayou Sara, in a grove of pine, magnolia, oak and beech. The location is remarkable for its beautiful woodlands, its bland and delightful atmosphere, its pure water, its unrivaled healthfulness, and its cultivated and refined society.

When Founded.—The college was established by the State of Louisiana in 1825, and ceded to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1845.

Alumni.—Its Alumni numbers two hundred and three, and they are to be found in the most honorable and useful stations in the land.

Apparatus and Cabinet.—The college possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus, and also a valuable Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet. The apparatus includes a Theodolite, Sextant, Compass, Chronometer, Atwood's Machine, Whirling Table, Electrical Machine, Air Pump, various combinations of the Mechanical Powers, Batteries, Chemical Tests, etc., sufficient for a thorough and extended course of observations and experiments. Steps have been taken by the Board of Trustees to put these in thorough repair.

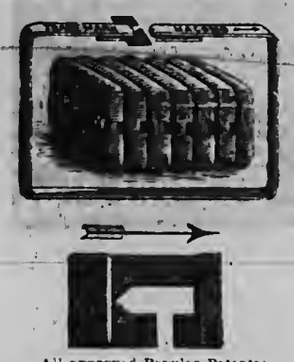
Literary Societies.—There are two regular Literary Societies connected with the Institution. These are of great utility to young men acquiring a liberal education—improving them in the art of public speaking, making them in some degree familiar with the proceedings of deliberative bodies, and in cultivating systematic business habits. Each Society has a convenient hall and a well-selected Library—about one thousand six hundred volumes each, which, added to the College Library of two thousand volumes, makes over five thousand volumes in the college.

Buildings.—The Trustees are determined to continue the repairs on the buildings till completed. The grand Center Building is a noble specimen of architectural beauty and adaptation to the purposes of its erection. The wings, built of solid brick, present each a front of two hundred feet, with upper and lower galleries the entire length, supported by Tuscan columns, and with the center making in the perspective a continuous front of seven hundred feet.

Preparatory Department.—In the Preparatory Department students are fitted for regular college classes, or may obtain a thorough English or commercial education.

The Faculty.—Its Faculty are men of experience and success in teaching.

Board of Trustees.—Rev. Bishop J. C. KEENER, D. D., President, New Orleans.



Rev. J. A. Godfrey, Clinton.
Hon. John McVea, Clinton.
Hon. and Rev. James H. Muse, St. Helena parish.
Hon. Edward McGehee, Woodville, Mississippi.
Hon. E. T. Merrick, New Orleans.
Prof. W. H. Maurder, Baton Rouge.
Rev. John C. Miller, Jackson.
Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans.
Hon. J. O. Fuqua, Baton Rouge.
William L. Nugent, Esq., Jackson, Mississippi.
Rev. J. L. Forsythe, Jackson.
Rev. L. Parker, D. D., New Orleans.
B. C. Harder, Esq., Clinton.
Hon. A. K. Farrar, Adams county, Mississippi.
Hon. Edward J. Gay, Iberville.
Samuel J. Norwood, Esq., Simmsport, Louisiana.
C. G. Merideth, Esq., Wilkinson county, Miss.
Rev. W. H. Watkins, D. D., Natchez, Mississippi.
Rev. H. H. Montgomery, Sharon, Mississippi.
Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Port Gibson, Mississippi.
Rev. John A. Ellis, Meridian, Mississippi.
Robert M. Walmsley, Esq., New Orleans.
Josiah D. Nettles, Esq., East Baton Rouge, La.
Wilmot H. Goodale, Esq., Baton Rouge.
Rev. C. G. Andrews, Jackson, Louisiana.
Rev. A. E. Goodwyn, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

jy24 6m Address C. G. ANDREWS, President, Jackson, La.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

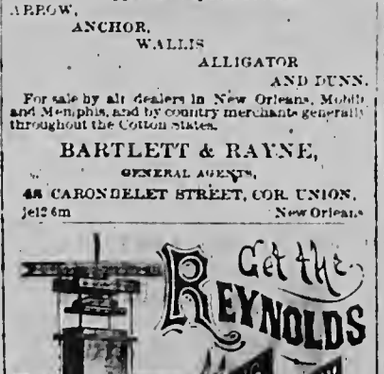
IMPORTANT TO PLANTERS.

IRON COTTON TIES.



THIS ARROW THE AND ALL OPEN-SLOT TIES.

All approved Popular Patents:
ARROW,
ANCHOR, WALLIS
ALLIGATOR
AND DUNN.

For sale by all dealers in New Orleans, Mobile and Memphis, and by country merchants generally throughout the Cotton States.

BARTLETT & RAYNE,
GENERAL AGENTS,
48 CARONDELET STREET, COR. UNION, je12 6m New Orleans

je19 6m

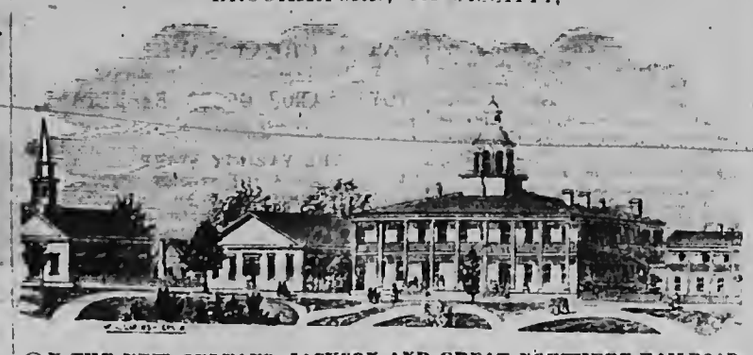
THE UNRIVALED

BUCK'S BRILLIANT STOVE.

Every Brilliant is Fully Guaranteed.

H. HALLER,
NO. 40 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS,
Sole Agent for Louisiana.

Sole Agent for the
CELEBRATED RINGEN WASHER
In the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi. no7 1y



LEWIS JOHNSON,
ENGINE AND MACHINE BUILDER,
Corner Julia, Delta and Water Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
Castings of all kinds. Repairing executed with dispatch. Steam and Vacuum Gauges repaired. Glass Box 763, Postoffice. ap17 1y

AMERICAN HOUSE,
BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

The Largest first-class Hotel in the City.

Centrally located. Contains apartments with bathing conveniences adjoining. Also Passenger Elevator, Billiard Hall, Telegraph Office and Cafe.
au14 1y LEWIS RICE & SON.

WHITWORTH FEMALE COLLEGE,
BROOKHAVEN, MISSISSIPPI.

ON THE NEW ORLEANS, JACKSON AND GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD, one hundred and twenty-eight miles from New Orleans, will reopen on the TWENTY-FOURTH OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.

The health is good, discipline firm but parental, instruction thorough, and economy in dress enforced. The expenses are as low as the advantages given will allow.

The Director of the Music Department, Prof. EICKHARDT, is unexcelled. Madame JULIUS, an accomplished Parisian lady, has charge of French and the ornamental branches.

During the past term there were Thirteen in the Faculty, and Two Hundred and One pupils in attendance, over one hundred of whom boarded in the college.

All the branches of a thorough education are taught, including the Languages, ancient and modern; also the higher mathematics.

Particular attention is paid to Spelling, Writing, Reading and Composition; also to the neatness, good manners and morals of the pupils.

For a catalogue address
REV. H. F. JOHNSON, President, jy17 tf Brookhaven, Mississippi.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

DANIEL & JAMES D. EDWARDS,
NOS. 22, 24, 26 AND 28 FRONT ST.
AND
NOS. 21, 22, 25 AND 27 DELTA ST.
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA
MANUFACTURERS OF
Copper, Brass, Iron and Sheet Iron
WORK OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
ALSO OF
Best and Most Improved Steam Trains for Making Sugar.
DEALERS IN
Wrought Iron Pipe and Fittings, all sizes,
Brass Work for Steam, Water and Gas,
Boiler Tubes, Bolts, Nuts and Washers,
Well and Cistern Pumps, Drove Well Pumps, and Well Points, Steam Syphon Pumps,
Rubber Hose, Steam Packing, Steam and Water Gauges, Flue Brushes, Sheet Copper,
Brass and Iron, Copper and Brass Wire,
Machinists' Tools and Machinery Supplies, etc.
AGENTS FOR
Cameron's Patent Steam Pumps,
Webster's Patent Combination Wrenches
And National Fire Extinguisher.
☞ Send for new Illustrated Price List. fe2 1y

B. J. WEST,
DEALER IN
AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS,
Plantation Hardware and Machinery,
115 AND 117 MAGAZINE STREET,
AGENT FOR
Poole & Hunt (Baltimore) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
H. & F. Blandy (Zanesville, Ohio) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
B. W. Payne & Sons' (Corning, New York) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
George L. Squier & Bro. (Buffalo, New York) Sugar Mills, Horse Powers, etc.
E. Ball & Co. (Canton, Ohio) "World" and "Ohio" Mowers and Mowers and Reapers combined
D. M. Osborne & Co., "Kirby" Mowers, etc.
P. C. Taylor, Hay Rakes.
Nishwitz" and "Monroe" Pulverizing Harrows
"Excelsior" Lawn Mower.
R. Ball & Co. (Worcester, Massachusetts) Wood Working Machinery.
H. B. Smith (Smithville, New Jersey) Wood Working Machinery.
American Saw Company, New York.
Hubbard, Lipphincott, Bakewell & Co., Saws.
"Gunpowder" Copper Works, Baltimore.
Moline Plow Company, Plows and Cultivators.
Winship & Bro. (Atlanta, Georgia) Cotton Gins.
"Stafford" Cultivator and "Fattley" and "Pfiel Gang Plows.
"Buckeye" Foundery, Bells.
B. J. West's Cotton Seed Huller.
B. J. West's "Improved Felton Patent" Grist Mill and Corn-Cob and Shuck Crusher combined.
T. C. Nisbet (Macon Georgia) Cotton Press screws etc. mh27 8m

HOMER COLLEGE,
HOMER, CLAIBORNE PARISH, LA.
COURSE OF EDUCATION
THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL.
Total Expense Per Annum from $187 50 to, $267.
SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 15, 1873.
☞ Send for a catalogue to
REV. J. LANE BORDEN,
President.
Tuition free to children of Preachers in regular work. jy3 6m

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
AT BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA.
The exercises of this school will be resumed on WEDNESDAY, the first of October next.
As the number of pupils is limited, it is desirable that all applications be made as early as possible. For circulars apply to au11 3m W. H. N. MAURUDER
Baton Rouge,

EAST MISSISSIPPI
FEMALE COLLEGE.
A Chartered Literary Institution under the Auspices of the M. E. Church South.
Located at Meridian, Mississippi.
ANNOUNCEMENT.

The annual term of 1873-4 will open on WEDNESDAY, September 24, 1873. It will be divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. Comfortable convenience for boarding in the college-building will be furnished and supervised by the president. The Board of Trustees claim to have made ample arrangements for the Literary, Scientific, Ornamental and Musical departments of the college, by the election of competent and experienced teachers for the various departments, and that facilities for thorough and liberal education in the East Mississippi Female College may no more than be equaled by the best of other similar institutions, that college is recommended to public consideration with candor and with confidence of a successful career. We hope to see its interests and influence widen and deepen, under continued and steady prosperity, and it is apprehended that young ladies who may place their names upon the roll of this institution will be pleased in coming years by recognizing in their Alma Mater a living and honored witness of educational enterprise.

BOARDING.

Boarders engaged for the whole term will be charged $180, $60 of which must be paid at the opening of each session.

Those engaged for one session will be charged $90, $30 of which must be paid at the beginning of the session. Those engaged for a shorter or an indefinite time will be charged $10 per month, to be paid quarterly in advance.

Extra charges will be made for washing and lights. Each boarder must furnish two sheets, one blanket and two towels. Especial printed regulations will be given each boarder, giving her directions and restrictions respecting their family and social relations and practices.

In all cases of sickness, resulting in the removal of boarders from the college, advance payments will be promptly refunded. No pains will be spared to render each boarder comfortable and happy. Their treatment will be parental, and influences of strict propriety and refinement will be continually brought to bear upon all their habits.

Our college is in its incipiency. The enterprise has been recognized by the Mississippi Conference as meeting a growing demand for educational facilities in east Mississippi. In the judgment of the church and Conference, Meridian is the proper place for the institution. The location is healthy, access is easy, society is of the right type, and almost every consideration strengthens the judgment of the board and Conference in locating the college at this place. Since this institution is under the supervision of the church there is no hesitancy in urging earnest co-operation on the part of the ministry in the surrounding country. Our appeal is earnest. We propose to place the standard of instruction high, that they who graduate here may prove themselves worthy of honors conferred, and thereby honor themselves, the college and the world. Address J. W. ADKISSON, au14 3m President.

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE,
WASHINGTON COUNTY, VA.
On the Eleventh of September

our scholastic year begins, and continues Forty consecutive weeks. It is divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. The Spring session begins January 29, 1874. Students can enter at any time, though they should, if possible, begin with the session. The entire expenses for the forty weeks, including board, tuition, fuel, room-rent, washing and contingent fees, need not exceed $230. These rates, so remarkably low considering the superior advantages here offered, must commend this institution to the favor of those seeking thorough collegiate training. Before selecting your school consult any of those knowing the college, especially our Alumni and old students, prominent men in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and professors of the University of Virginia, who have authorized this reference, or send directly to the undersigned for a catalogue or for any information desired.

E. F. WILEY, President,
jy3 8m Emory P. O., Virginia.

MEMPHIS CONFERENCE
FEMALE INSTITUTE,
JACKSON, TENNESSEE.
Rev. A. W. Jones, D. D., President.

Fall session begins SEPTEMBER 1, 1873. The buildings are of brick, commodious and suitable, situated in a refined, intelligent and moral community. It furnishes the best advantages of a first-class female college.

Send for a catalogue and give us a trial. We insure satisfaction. au21 3m

New Orleans Markets.

From The New Orleans Price Current.

The financial situation is manifestly improving. The banks are reported to have increased their supply of currency nearly half a million within a week and their collections have been satisfactory.

The river is 14 feet 6 inches below high-water mark.

COTTON.—The following are the arrivals since the thirty-first ultimo:

| | |
|---|---|
| Louisiana and Mississippi | bales 15,611 |
| Mobile | 4,[illegible] |
| Florida | [illegible] |
| Texas | 356 |
| Total | 20,000 |

On Saturday the demand was more general than for several days previously, and factors who desired to realize found it necessary to make some concessions in order to bring out buyers. Prices consequently exhibited some irregularity, opening weaker but without any quotable falling off, but closing at an average decline of ⅛c. Strict good ordinary sold at 14½c., strict good ordinary to low middling at 14c., and low middling at 14, 14⅛ & 14⅛c. The market was depressed by a decline at New York of ⅛c. in spots and ¼@⅜c. in futures. The sales embraced 2,500 bales. On Monday, under heavy receipts and the demoralizing influence of a decline in gold and sterling exchange, as well as unfavorable accounts from New York and Liverpool, the former giving way ¼c. and the latter 1-64d., the tendency was to still lower rates, and in order to keep up the movement factors were compelled to make further concessions of ⅛c. in good ordinary to strict low middling inclusive, and ¼@⅜c. in the higher grades. This, however, brought out buyers with rather more spirit, and the sales summed up 3,300 bales. On Tuesday, with sterling exchange at 112, francs almost unobtainable, no market at New York, and a decline of ⅛d. at Liverpool, prices gave way about ⅜c., good ordinary selling at 13c., strict good ordinary at 13⅝c., low middling at 13¾c., low middling at 13⅜@13½c., strict do at 13⅝@13¾c., and strict middling to good middling at 13¾@13⅞c. The movement, however, exhibited a fair degree of animation, the sales summing up 4,200 bales. Prices have now declined to a point at which the net proceeds will hardly repay planters for the actual cost of production.

The above makes an aggregate for the past three days of 10,050 bales, against 10,000 for the corresponding time last week and 6,900 the week before.

The receipts proper at this port since the first of September, exclusive of the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, are 122,362 bales, against 103,454 bales to the same date last year, and the decrease in the receipts at all the ports up to the latest dates, as compared with last year, is 177,398 bales. In the exports from the United States to foreign countries, as compared with the same date last year, there is a decrease of 34,774 to Great Britain, of 38,460 to France and of 21,515 to other foreign ports. We quote:

| | |
|---|---|
| Good ordinary | 12¾ @ 13c. |
| Strict good ordinary | 13¼ @ 13½ |
| Low middling | 13⅝ @ 13¾ |
| Strict low middling | 14 @ 14⅛ |
| Middling | 14⅜ @ 14½ |
| Strict middling | 15⅛ @ 15⅜ |
| Good middling | 15¾ @ 15⅞ |

COTTON STATEMENT.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Stock on hand Sept. 1, 1873...bales | | 7,177 |
| Arrived past three days | 10,100 | |
| Arrived previously | 122,818 — | 131,257 |
| | | 140,434 |
| Exported past three days | 9,348 | |
| Exported previously | 73,105 — | 81,454 |
| Stock on hand and on shipboard | | 58,980 |

SUGAR.—On Tuesday there were receipts of 157 hhds. There was some local demand for good kettle and yellow clarified, otherwise the market was dull. The receipts were mostly sold at 6½c. for common, 7@7⅜c. for good common, 8c. for fair, 8½c. for good fair, 9c. for seconds, 10c. for gray clarified and low yellow clarified, 10¼@10½c. for yellow clarified and low white clarified, and 10½c. for standard A pure white clarified—the first pure white received this season.

MOLASSES.—On Tuesday there were receipts of 310 bbls. The market is steady, with a fair demand and the receipts were mostly sold at 50@52c. for fair, 56@57c. for prime, 58@60c. for strictly prime, a lot of strictly prime to choice commanding 61c. ₰ gallon.

CORN.—On Tuesday 1,870 sacks sold, in lots, at 74c. for yellow inlaid, 73c. for yellow, and 72c. for white.

OATS.—On Tuesday the demand was good, and 2,000 sacks sold at 52@53c. A small lot brought 54c. and one 55c. ₰ bushel.

BRAN.—In consequence of better supplies prices have declined. On Tuesday 550 sacks sold at $1@1.02½ ₰ 100 lbs.

PORK.—On Tuesday 175 bbls. mess sold, in four lots, at $15.25@15.50 ₰ bbl., and two offers of $15.50 were refused for two lots of 200 bbls. each, and $15.75 asked. It is retailing at $16@16.50 ₰ bbl.

COTTON SEED.—Is bought by the mills at $11 ₰ ton.

MONETARY.

Gold opened on Tuesday at 106@106⅛, for currency and 106@106⅜ for checks, no quotation from New York, where it was a legal holiday, and closed at the opening rates.

Nothing has been reported in silver, except $1,000 in American half dollars on Tuesday at 10%. We quote American half dollars at 100@101 for currency and 100@105 for certified checks. Mexican dollars are entirely nominal.

New Orleans Wholesale Prices.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

Made up from Actual Sales as they Transpire.

| ARTICLES. | FROM | TO |
|---|---|---|
| AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS: | | |
| Cotton scrapers | $0 60 | $0 00 |
| Cotton sweeps | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Cultivators, Diam. and slimvel-tooth | 9 00 | 18 00 |
| Cultivators, riding and walking | 25 00 | 45 00 |
| Shovels and spades | 7 50 | 18 50 |
| Axes | 12 00 | 17 50 |
| Shovel plows | 8 00 | 9 00 |
| Hall do., with cutters | 8 00 | 10 00 |
| Mark's double-shovel plow | 6 00 | 9 75 |
| Corn mills, Coleman's | 120 00 | 425 00 |
| Bradford's grist mills | 150 00 | 235 00 |
| BRICKS, ₰ M: | | |
| Lake | 13 00 | 16 00 |
| Country | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| English fire | 45 00 | 50 00 |
| American fire | 35 00 | 43 00 |
| CANDLES, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Sperm, New Bedford | 33 | 36 |
| Tallow | 17 | — — |
| CHOCOLATE, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Cocoa | 34 | 60 |
| No. 1 | 50 | 52 |
| Sweet | 25 | — — |
| COAL, ₰ ton: | | |
| Anthracite | 12 50 | 13 00 |
| Western, ₰ bbl | — — | — — |
| COFFEE, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Mexican | 27 | 28 |
| Java | 30 | — — |
| COTTON SEED: | | |
| Bough, ₰ ton | — — | 11 00 |
| In sacks | — — | — — |
| EGGS, ₰ dozen: | | |
| Western | 18 | 20 |
| FERTILIZERS, ₰ ton: | | |
| Stern's raw-bone superphosph'e | — — | 65 00 |
| Stern's fine-ground bone | — — | 45 00 |
| FLOUR, ₰ bbl: | | |
| Double extra | 6 50 | 6 75 |
| Superfine | 5 75 | 6 00 |
| Fine | 5 00 | 5 25 |
| GLASS, ₰ box of 50 feet: | | |
| French, 8 by 10 | — — | 4 00 |
| French, 10 by 12 | 4 00 | 4 25 |
| French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20 | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20 | 4 50 | 5 00 |
| HAY, ₰ ton: | | |
| Prime | 21 00 | 25 00 |
| Choice | — — | 27 00 |
| IRON, ₰ ton: | | |
| English, ₰ lb | 4½ | 5½ |
| Swedes, assorted | 7½ | 8 |
| Hoop | 7 | 9 |
| Sheet | 7 | 10 |
| Nail rods | — — | 9¾ |
| Castings, American | 5¾ | 6 |
| LEATHER, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Sole, hemlock | 30 | 33 |
| Sole, oak | 40 | 44 |
| Harness | 38 | 45 |
| Calfskins, ₰ dozen | 35 00 | 100 00 |
| Texas, rough, ₰ lb | 24 | 28 |
| LIME, ₰ bbl.: | | |
| Western | 1 75 | — — |
| Cement | 2 75 | 3 00 |
| Plaster Paris | 3 50 | 3 75 |
| LUMBER, ₰ M feet: | | |
| Boards, yellow pine | 14 00 | 15 00 |
| Boards, cypress | 20 00 | 25 00 |
| Flooring, dressed | 18 00 | 21 00 |
| Flooring, rough | 14 00 | 17 00 |
| Ceiling, dressed | — — | 12 00 |
| Weatherboards, dressed | 15 00 | 18 00 |
| Weatherboards, rough | — — | 12 00 |
| Scantling | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| Shingles, ₰ M | 3 50 | 4 00 |
| Laths | 2 50 | 2 75 |
| OILS: | | |
| Lard, ₰ gallon | — — | — — |
| Coal oil, in barrels | 22 | 25 |
| Linseed, raw | 1 05 | — — |
| SUGAR, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Havana, white | — — | — — |
| Havana, yellow | 10½ | 11 |
| Havana, brown | 10 | 10¾ |
| Crushed | 12½ | — — |
| Pulverized | 12½ | — — |
| TEAS, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Imperial | 80 | 1 30 |
| Gunpowder | — — | 1 60 |
| Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Young Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Pouchong | 35 | — — |
| Oolong | 40 | 1 10 |
| WAGONS, CARTS, ETC.: | | |
| Wagon, two-horse | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 110 00 | 125 00 |
| Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein | 85 00 | 90 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 100 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane wagon | 180 00 | 210 00 |
| Ox wagon | 90 00 | 125 00 |
| Ox cart, complete | 110 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane cart | 85 00 | 125 00 |
| Prague cart, complete | 120 00 | 125 00 |
| Plantation cart | 55 00 | 70 00 |

CATTLE MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4, 1873.

| | |
|---|---|
| Texas beeves, choice, ₰ head | $— — @$50 00 |
| Texas beeves, first quality, ₰ head | 35 00 @ 45 00 |
| Texas cattle, second quality, ₰ head | 20 00 @ 28 00 |
| Texas cattle, third quality, ₰ head | 12 00 @ 18 00 |
| Western beeves, ₰ lb. net | 10 @ 12½ |
| Sheep, first quality, ₰ head | 4 00 @ 5 00 |
| Sheep, second quality, ₰ head | 3 00 @ 4 00 |
| Milch cows, choice, ₰ head | 80 00 @100 00 |
| Milch cows, ₰ head | 35 00 @ 50 00 |
| Calves, ₰ head | 7 00 @ 10 00 |
| Yearlings, ₰ head | 5 00 @ 12 00 |

Business Directory

OF THE

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Agencies.
American Family Bible Publishing Company, Cincinnati Ohio.
Barclay & Co. Philadelphia.
E. C. Bridgman, New York.
W. H. Chidester, New York.
A. Coyle, St. Louis, Mo.
George L. Felton, New York.
J. C. Hamilton, Springfield, Massachusetts.
E. Hannaford & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Mrs. H. Mogridge, purchasing agent, 98 Canal street.
G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.
T. Ellwood Zell, Philadelphia.

Architects.
S. B. Haggart, 5 Commercial place.

Artificial Legs and Arms.
Lewis Lockwood, 40 Camp street.

Banks.
New Orleans Savings Institution, 146 Canal st.

Bed Springs.
John Flinn, Philadelphia.

Bells.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Buckeye Bell Foundery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Book-Binder.
F. Knhnholz, 112 Gravier street.

Books and Stationery.
Robert J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.
American Sunday School Union, Philadelphia.
T. Belknap, Hartford, Connecticut.
Continental Publishing Co., 66, Louis, Missouri.
E. F. Hobart & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
F. A. Hutchinson & Co., New Orleans.
Nettleton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. Hale Powers & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Quaker City Publishing Co. Philadelphia.
Queen City Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
James W. Queen & Co., New York.
Redding & Co., New York.
Smith, English & Co., Philadelphia.
Soards' New Orleans City Directory, 1874.
H. R. Thompson & Co., 9 Lakeside building, Chicago, Illinois.
United States Publishing Company, New York.
Valley Publishing Company, New Orleans.
C. F. Vent, Cincinnati, Ohio.
A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn

Boots and Shoes.
George John Wagner, corner Ursulines and Dauphine streets.

Butchers.
Martin Lannes, stalls 37, 38 and 7 Magazine market.

Canned Goods.
J. Winslow Jones, Portland, Maine.
Burnham & Morrill, Portland, Maine.

Carpets.
A. Brousseau & Co., 17 Chartres street.
Elkin & Co., 108 Canal street.

Carriages, Wagons, Etc.
Joseph Beckman, Philadelphia.
W. F. Clark, 134 Rampart street.
D. M. Hollingsworth, 54 and 56 Baronne street.
J. A. Lum & Co., 162 Gravier and 13 Union street.

Cisterns.
R. Broderick, 122 Julia street.

Clothing.
M. Cogan, 19 and 29 Canal street.
Pierson & Hews, 13 and 15 Camp street.

Coal and Wood.
John D. Marlin, 34 Carondelet street.
H. & C. Tyler, 9 Carondelet street.
B. D. Wood & Bros., 106 Common street.
Wm. Velden, cor. Prytania and Phillip streets.

Cooperage.
Wm. J. Beirne & Co., cor. Marengo and Levee.
LeBlanc & Beck, 23 and 24 Front street

Cotton Ties.
Bartlett & Rayne, 48 Carondelet street.

Croquet.
Bradley's Patent Croquet, Robt. J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.

Crockery, China, Etc.
Navra & Offner, 174 Canal street.
W. C. Shepard & Co., 55 Camp street.

Dentists.
Dr. John G. Angell, 152 Julia street.
DR. N. P. Godfrey, 183 Canal street.

Dry Goods.
D. H. Holmes, 155 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

Educational.
Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana.
Clarksville Female Academy, Clarksville, Tennessee.
Collegiate Institute, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
J. W. Blackman's Commercial College, 131 Carondelet street.
East Mississippi Female College, Meridian Mississippi.
Emory and Henry College, Washington county, Virginia.
Hiwassee College, Swantwater, Tennessee.
Homer College, Homer, Louisiana.
Memphis Conference Female Institute, Jackson, Tennessee.
Readville Seminary, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
Southern University, Greensboro, Alabama.
Wesleyan Female Institute, Staunton, Va.
Whitworth Female College, Brookhaven, Miss

Engravers and Lithographers.
John Gibson, New York.
George K. Teetzel & Co., 82 Gravier street.

Factors and Commission Merchants.
Aiken & Watt, 60 Carondelet street.
G. M. Bayly & Pond, 34 to 42 Canal and 59 and 61 Common street.
J. L. Dunnica & Co., 66 Tchoupitoulas street.
J. U. & H. M. Payne & Co., 64 and 66 Baronne st.

Fire Engine.
Babcock Self-Acting Fire Engine, A. M. Granger, general agent, Exposition building

Fireman.
F. Wagener, 13 Baronne street.

Furniture.
J. Bois, 201 Camp street.
M. A. Davis & Sons, Philadelphia.
Nath. Johnson, New York.
The Mitchell & Rammelsberg Furniture Co. 103 and 105 Camp street.
National School Furniture Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Joseph Patzelt, 172 Camp street.
Sampson & Bros., 31 and 33 Royal street.
W. J. Uhlinger, Philadelphia.

Gas and Steam-Pipe Fitters.
Barbarin Gas Machines, F. Roberts, superintendent, 2 Triangle building and 255 Peters st.
Jas. N. Quin, 118 and 120 Tchoupitoulas street.

Glass Stainer and Cutter.
Samuel West, Boston, Massachusetts.

Glass Works.
Aicklin & Isaac, Philadelphia.

Grocers.
John I. Adams & Co., 43, 45 and 47 Peters street.

Hats.
Henry Bridbl, 3 Carondelet street.

Hay.
Jacob C. Baker, Portland, Maine.

Hides and Tallow.
New Orleans Butchers' Hide and Tallow Co.

Hotels.
American House, Boston, Massachusetts.
Bingham House, Philadelphia.
McAllister's House, cor. Carondelet and Julia.
St. Julian Hotel, Portland Maine.

Human Hair Goods.
J. G. Bermel, 121 Canal street.

Ink.
Printers' Ink, S. Cullins & Co., New York.

Insurance.
Ætna Life Insurance Co., 2 Carondelet street.
American Life Insurance Co., 10 Carondelet st.
Crescent Mutual Insurance Company.
Equitable Life Assurance Co., 33 Camp street.
Franklin Fire Insurance Co., 114 Common st.

Iron Manufactories.
Billings & Spencer Company, Hartford, Conn
Boston Ornamental Iron Works, Boston, Mass.
M. Walker & Sons, Philadelphia.
J. H. Wickersham & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

Jewelry.
A. B. Griswold & Co., cor. Canal and Royal sts.

Lumber.
W. W. Carre & Co., 350 Delord street.
John C. Pooley, 315 Julia street.
George Purves, cor. St. Charles and Clio streets.
Roberts & Co., 301 to 307 Gravier street.

Machinery.
N. F. Bruhlam's Water-wheel, York, Pa.
Daniel & James D. Edwards, 21 to 28 Front and 21 to 27 Delta street.
Edward Harrison, New Haven, Connecticut.
Lewis Johnson, corner Julia, Delta and Water streets.
Mencely & Kimberly, Troy, New York.
W. H. Reynolds, corner Fulton and South Market streets.
Jos. Walker, corner St. Joseph and Constance streets.
B. J. West, 115 and 117 Magazine street.

Magic Lanterns.
W. Mitchell McAllister, Philadelphia, Pa.

Manufacturers.
William Ebert, 164 and 166 Magazine street.

Marble.
George Stroud, 158 to 164 St. Charles street.

Medical.
Mrs. M. G. Brown's Metaphysical Discovery, 51 Bond street, New Ynrk.
Citrate of Magnesia, etc., Hofmann & Co., N. Y.
Cinduranga Bitters, 44 Dauphine street.
Fever and Ague cure, Billings, Clapp & Co., New York.
Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Sirup, E. J. Hart & Co., New Orleans.
Fits and Epilepsy cure, T. H. Sayre, New York.
Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion, W. C. Hamilton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
New Family Physician, New York.
Dr. Resch's Hair Regenerator, 134 Thalia st.
Rogers' Citrate of Magnesia, Arthur Rogers, New York.
Simmons' Liver Regulator, J. H. Zellin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Swaim's celebrated Panacea, 170 William st., New York.
The Greatest Medical Discovery, Dr. Kennedy, Roxbury, Massachusetts.
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills, 18 and 20 Platt street, New York.

Mineral and Soda Water.
Bethesda Mineral Water, J. C. McAllister, agent, glass box $25, New Orleans

Millinery.
Mrs. M. Tournaben, 206 Prytania street.

Musical Instruments, Publications, Etc.
Robert J. Harp, 110 and 112 Camp street.
Bossey & Co., New York.
S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, Ohio.
S. C. Collins, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
Charles H. Ditson & Co., New York.
Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, Massachusetts.
Louis Grunewald, 18, 20 and 22 Baronne street.
Alexander Mills, organ builder, New York.
Horace Waters & Son, New York.

Painters.
A. S. Cutler, 120½ Camp street.
Johnson & Hillsman, 144 Magazine street.

Paper Fashions.
Domestic Sewing Machine Co., New York.

Paper Mills.
Atlanta Paper Mills, Atlanta, Georgia.

Patents.
John A. Wiedersheim & Co., Philadelphia.

Pens.
H. Esterbrook & Co., New York.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

Perfumery.
Colgate & Co.'s Cashmere Bouquet.

Plows.
Brinly Plows, Brinly, Miles & Hardy, Louisville, Kentucky.

Preserved Corn.
Portland Packing Company, Portland, Maine.

Printing.
Pelican Job Office, 112 and 114 Poydras street.

Professional.
Dr. C. J. Bickham, office, corner Magazine and Second streets.
Dr. J. J. Lyons, office, 279 Carondelet street.
Race, Foster & E. T. Merrick, law office, corner Camp and Commercial place.

Pumps.
Chicago Farm Pumps, R. S. Tuthehill, agent.

Railroads.
Great Jackson Route, E. D. Frost, general manager; A. D. Sheldon, agent.

Saddlery.
George Plumb & Co., 131 Poydras street.

Scientific.
Marcy & Stockton, 1, J. Marcy, Philadelphia.

Seeds and Flowers.
Kern, Steber & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
D. Landreth & Son, Philadelphia.
James E. Waldo & Co., 122 Camp street.

Sewing Machines.
Wood Sewing Machine, 207 Canal street.

Soap.
E. H. Keller, 110 Gravier street.

Stables.
Southern Sale Stables, cor. Buford and Dryades.

Steamboat Agents.
Britton & Eppler, 145 Gravier street.

Steamships and Shipping.
Cromwell Line New York Steamers, Alfred Moulton, agent, 41 Carondelet street.
Merchants' Line New York Steamers, John H. Ludwigsen, agent, 190 Common street.

Stoves.
H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Tobacco and Cigars.
F. Estava, corner Camp and Girod streets.
Santiago M. Lapeyre, 31 St. Louis street.

Trunks.
T. Zell, corner Canal and Carondelet streets.

Undertakers.
T. W. Bothick, 271 Camp street, New Orleans.

Upholstery.
Heath & Lara, 99 Camp street

Wants.
Goodwyn & Co., lock box 161, New Orleans.

Washing Machines.
Leah Washing Machine, No. 5 North Seventeenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Ringen Washer, H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Watches.
New York Watch Company, Springfield, Mass.

Wire Railing, Etc.
Dufur & Co., Baltimore, Maryland.

Special Notices.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—When you reach Selma report at the Methodist church. The railroads will pass you on the following terms:

S. and N. O.—Pay full fare coming, and obtain a return ticket from the conductor.

Alabama Central and S. M. and M.—Pay full fare coming, and return free on certificate of the secretary of Conference.

S. R. and D., and S. and G.—Buy full ticket to come, and get from the agent a certificate, which, when indorsed by the secretary of Conference, will return you free.

Mobile and Girard.—Pay full fare coming. Return on certificate of presiding officer.

Western Road.—Procure from agents round-trip tickets.

Mobile and Montgomery.—Get excursion tickets, with coupons attached to return.

Mobile and Ohio.—Excursion tickets at one and one-fifth fare for the round trip.

Montgomery and Eufaula.—Haven't heard from.

Comply strictly with the above directions if you wish the benefit of half fare. Get your excursion or round-trip tickets for at least fifteen days, if you can. Last year some were charged on their return from Conference who had ten-day tickets. The time had elapsed. Presiding elders will send me promptly full lists of lay members of the Conference, and of preachers coming up for admission and for ordination. Brethren who expect to bring their wives will please notify me.

M. S. ANDREWS.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

NOTICE.—The Publishing Committee of the ADVOCATE gave it as their opinion that the insertion of the notices of Quarterly Conferences once or twice was sufficient, and, as the space of the paper is valuable, they passed a resolution recommending that they "be not inserted more than once or twice." Our friends who are interested in these appointments will take due notice thereof, as we propose to be governed by the resolution in future.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Big Cane circuit | Oct. 18, 19 |
| Bayou Dechinje mission | 25, 26 |
| Alexandria and Pineville | Nov. 1, 2 |
| Columbia circuit | 15, 16 |
| Caldwell circuit | 19, 20 |
| Harrisonburg | 22, 23 |
| Atlanta mission | 29, 30 |
| Rapides circuit | Dec. 6, 7 |
| Spring Creek and Bayou Beuf circuit | 13, 14 |
| Centerville circuit | 20, 21 |
| Trinity circuit | 27, 28 |

30 FRED. WHITE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Trenton | Oct. 18, 19 |
| Delhi and Floyd | 25, 26 |
| Oak Grove | Nov. 1, 2 |
| Rayville | 8, 9 |
| St. Joseph, at Wesley | 15, 16 |
| Waterproof | 22, 23 |
| Lake Providence | 29, 30 |
| Lind Grove | Dec. 6, 7 |
| Oak Ridge | 13, 14 |
| Bastrop | 20, 21 |
| Winnsboro, at Oakly | 27, 28 |
| Monroe | Jan. 4, 5 |

23 J. E. COBB, P. E.

INSURANCE.

AMERICAN

LIFE INSURANCE CO.

SOUTHERN BRANCH,

10 CARONDELET ST. 10

New Orleans, La.

Insures on LOW ALL-CASH RATES. All restrictions as to travel and residence removed.

Premiums paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually, at option of parties insuring.

The company is one of THE OLDEST in the United States, and beg a share of the patronage of the public

☞ Any particulars gladly furnished at the above place.

oc23 2m CAPT. JOHN D. SCOTT, Agent

STRICTLY FIRE.

THE FRANKLIN

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF NEW ORLEANS, LA.

D. LEUBRIE, President.
FRED. A. JOHNSON, Secretary.

Capital ..... $250,000.

OFFICE—No. 114 Common St., Cor. Camp.

TRUSTEES.

Hon. J. Souer, David Leubrie,
Hon. Chas. Montaldo, Fred. A. Johnson,
Dr. E. S. Drew, H. Stewart Dennee,
Hon. W. H. Decker, John W. Fairlax.
A. M. Miller,
OTTO MUECK, General Agent. oc23 1m

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.

WILLIAM E. FITZGERALD,
Manager for Louisiana and Mississippi,
NO. 2 CARONDELET ST. (Room No. 10,)
oc23 3m New Orleans, La.

BULBS! SEEDS! OUR Autumn CATALOGUE OF

Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocus, Lilies, Etc.,

IS NOW READY,

and will be mailed FREE to all applicants. We desire every lover of Flowers to write us for a copy. Our assortment of Vegetable and Flower SEEDS is complete, and growing our own Seeds, and importing from reliable sources, we know that our Seeds are pure and true. Correspondence solicited. Address

KERN, STEBER & CO.,
Seed Growers and Merchants,
oc23 3m No. 211 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

J. WINSLOW JONES'

WORLD-RENOWNED GREEN CORN,

AND

UNRIVALED LOBSTER AND SALMON.

The only reliable brand. For sale by all first-class grocers. J. WINSLOW JONES, nu25 6m Portland, Maine.

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS.

MAKE YOUR HOME ATTRACTIVE

BY REPLENISHING YOUR

TABLE-WARE

—AT—

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.'S,

55 ..... Camp Street ..... 55

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

See What a Little Money Will Buy.

An elegant White Granite DINNER SET, comprising 136 pieces, for ..... $15 00
to wit:

| | |
|---|---|
| 12 Dinner Plates, | 1 Soup Tureen, |
| 12 Breakfast Plates, | 1 Sauce Boat, |
| 12 Tea Plates, | 1 Salad Dish, |
| 12 Soup Plates, | 2 Covered Dishes, |
| 12 Preserve Plates, | 2 Vegetable Dishes, |
| 12 Butter Plates, | 4 Meat Dishes, |
| 12 Tea Cups and Saucers, | 2 Pickle Shells, |
| 12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers. | |

A Porcelain DeTerre DINNER SET (equal to French China in appearance, and much more durable,) same assortment as above.. $18 00

A French China (best quality) DINNER SET, same assortment, 136 pieces ..... 30 00

Decorated Porcelain DeTerre and French China DINNER SETS, from ..... $30 up.

White Granite CHAMBER SETS, 11 pieces ..... $1 00

White Granite TEA SETS, 44 pieces ..... 4 00

French China TEA SETS, 44 pieces ..... 6 50

French China Decorated TEA SETS, 44 pieces ..... 7 50

Good Table GOBLETS, from 50 cents per set up.

Granite Dinner Plates, per dozen ..... 1 00

Granite Breakfast Plates, per dozen ..... 1 25

Granite Tea Plates, per dozen ..... 1 15

French China Dinner Plates, per dozen ..... 3 00

French China Breakfast Plates, per dozen ..... 2 75

French China Tea Plates, per dozen ..... 2 25

NOTE.—The prices above contemplate "First-choice" goods, every piece being warranted regular and perfect. "Seconds" or imperfect goods, warped in making and otherwise irregular, we will furnish for those that desire at twenty per cent. discount from these prices. We shall meet all competition promptly, and as we import our own ware our customers can depend upon getting the BEST GOODS at the lowest possible prices.

AGENTS FOR THE CELEBRATED

BLANCHARD CHURNS,

AND THE LARGEST DEALERS IN

HOUSEKEEPING NOVELTIES

IN THE SOUTHWEST.

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.,
my28 6m No. 55 Camp street, New Orleans.

RECONSTRUCTION!

DOWN WITH THE PRICES

TO SUIT THE TIMES.

French China as Cheap as Stoneware

NOW, AND

STONE CHINA AS CHEAP AS COMMON WARE.

200 Casks French China.

Which will be sold as follows:

French China DINNER SETS, comprising 108 pieces, will be sold during the summer season at ..... $20 00

141 pieces, all large and serviceable ..... 25 00

French China Dinner and Soup PLATES, per dozen ..... 2 50

French China Breakfast PLATES, per dozen ..... 2 25

French China Dessert PLATES ..... 2 00

French China Tea PLATES ..... 1 75

French China Ice-cream or Preserve PLATES ..... 1 25

French China Tea CUPS and SAUCERS ..... 2 50

French China After-dinner COFFEES ..... 1 50

All Other Goods in Proportion.

White Granite or Stone China DINNER SETS ..... $14 50

White Granite TEA SETS ..... 3 75

White Granite or Stone China CHAMBER SETS ..... 3 75

N. B.—We omitted to mention that our French China TEA SETS, comprising 41 pieces, are only $5 per set.

GOLD-HAND CHINA.

We have the largest and best assortment of any house in the city, which we sell in sets or single pieces. Persons wishing to match up Broken Sets can be accommodated with the same at the ONLY CHEAP CHINA, CROCKERY, GLASS AND HOUSE-FURNISHING EMPORIUM.

NAVRA & OFFNER,
my3 6m5p No. 174 Canal street.

STEAMSHIPS—STEAMBOATS.

FOR NEW YORK.

The Cromwell New York and New Orleans Steamship Line.

Leaving New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage ..... $50 00

Steerage Passage ..... 25 00

Through bills of lading to foreign and coastwise ports issued.

ALFRED MOULTON,
mh20 1y No. 41 Carondelet street.

FOR NEW YORK.

Merchants' Steamship Line.—

Sailing from New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage ..... $50 00

Steerage Passage ..... 25 00

Through tickets to Liverpool and the Continent.

New Orleans wharf—Foot of Jefferson street.

New York wharf—Pier No. 4, North River.

JOHN H. LUDWIGSEN, Agent,
fe13 1y No. 190 Common street.

RAILROADS.

GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.

Trains depart and arrive as follows (from Depot foot of Calliope street:)

DEPART.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 7.50 A. M. |
| Mail | 5.55 P. M. |
| Accommodation | 4.00 P. M. |

ARRIVE.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 11.00 P. M. |
| Mail | 9.40 A. M. |
| Accommodation | 8.50 A. M. |

This line is many miles the shortest and many hours the quickest to all points North and East, and the only line running Pullman's Palace Sleeping-Cars to Humboldt and Louisville without change. Only one change to principal cities North and East. Tickets for sale and all information given at corner of Camp and Common streets, under City Hotel, New Orleans.

A. D. SHELDON, Agent.
E. D. FROST, General Manager. my22 6m

GEORGE BURNHAM, JR. J. E. BURNHAM.
C. S. MORRILL.

BURNHAM & MORRILL,

PACKERS AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

HERMETICALLY-SEALED GOODS,

MEATS, FISH AND VEGETABLES,

No. 61½ Commercial Street,

And corner Commercial St. and Burnham's Wharf,

PORTLAND, MAINE.

nu28 6m

MASONIC.....MASONIC.

WANTED—On salary or commission, F. A. M. as agents for the New Work. Splendidly illustrated and of absorbing interest. Send for descriptive catalogue and terms.

REDDING & CO.,
Publishers of Masonic Works,
oc9 1m 544 Broadway, New York.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

SMITH, ENGLISH & CO.,

BOOKSELLERS AND IMPORTERS,

(ESPECIALLY OF THEOLOGICAL BOOKS)

No. 710 Arch Street, Philadelphia,

Invite the attention of Clergymen especially, and all purchasers of Religious Books, to their large assortment of works in this department, being by far the best and most complete collection in the country. A Classified Catalogue, with Alphabetical Index, and supplements to September 1, will be sent to any address upon receipt of 30 cents. This catalogue has been prepared with great care, is corrected to date, and is invaluable to purchasers.

☞ Smith, English & Co. have lately published or imported the following valuable works, which will be sent by mail upon receipt of the prices annexed:

COX'S EXPOSITORS' NOTE-BOOK. Brief essays on obscure or misread passages. Large 12mo. ..... $2 50

LEATHES'S STRUCTURE OF THE OLD TESTAMENT. A series of popular essays. 16mo. ..... 1 25

FISHER'S FAMILY ASSISTANT, or Book of Prayers for the use of Families, and for Special Occasions. 12mo. ..... 1 25

JUKES'S Commentary on the Hebrews. 12mo. 2 00

PUBLIC WORSHIP, Partly Responsive. Designed for any Christian congregation. With an Introduction by Rev. Daniel March D. D. 16mo. ..... 1 25

LANGE'S LIFE OF CHRIST. 4 vols, 8vo. ..... 12 50

SPURGEON'S TREASURY OF DAVID. Exposition of the Book of Psalms, with illustrative extracts, homiletical hints, etc. To be comprised in six volumes large 8vo. Vols. 1, 2 and 3 now ready. ..... per vol... 4 00

SPURGEON'S FEATHERS for ARROWS. Illustrations for preachers and teachers. 16mo... 1 25

THE HOMILIST. Edited by David Thomas, D. D. Editor's series, seven volumes now ready. ..... per vol... 2 50

THOMAS' HOMILETICAL COMMENTARY on Matthew. Large 8vo. ..... 4 00

LUTHARDT'S MORAL TRUTHS OF CHRISTIANITY. 12mo. ..... 2 50

BROADUS on Preaching. 12mo. ..... 2 10

sel1 2m

T. BELKNAP,

HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT,

publishes the following Books by subscription only, for which he wants Agents in every county in the country. Circulars, giving terms and all necessary information, sent by mail on application:

LOSSING'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES. 400 beautiful Wood Engravings and 12 full-page Steel Engravings. One volume, 8vo.

LOSSING'S PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE CIVIL WAR. With 1,200 Engravings. This is a perfectly reliable and impartial History, written entirely after the war. Three volumes, 8vo.

LOSSING'S LIVES OF 340 CELEBRATED AMERICANS. 340 Portraits. One volume, 8vo.

FIFTY YEARS IN THE MAGIC CIRCLE. By Signor Blitz. With wonderful feats and tricks, and with launch of incidents and adventures. Beautifully illustrated. One volume, 12mo.

THE EXPOSE OF MORMONISM AND MORMONISM. By a Sister of a High Priest. Full of startling facts and disclosures. One volume, 12mo.

TRAVELS AND ADVENTURES IN SOUTH AND CENTRAL AMERICA. A new and beautiful work. By Ramon Paez, a native of the country.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 19. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1873. NO. 46.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—Henry R. Tracy, a widely-known journalist, died of consumption, at Cambridgeport, this evening.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—From the latest returns it is estimated that the Legislature will stand: Senate, Democrats 23, Republicans 3; House, Democrats 68, Republicans 15.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 5.—The nurses who were in the employ of the I. O. O. F. were escorted to the depot this morning, on their departure to their homes in New Orleans, by the I. O. O. F., Knights of Pythias and members of the press in procession. Nearly the entire membership of both organizations participated.

CAIRO, Nov. 5.—Mrs. P. A. Taylor has a plurality of 352 in this city, and is probably elected school superintendent, though the county vote, which is a strong one, for Mrs. Brown will make the race a close one. The male candidate for school superintendent received but a small vote.

Rev. John Early, D. D., Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died to-day at Lynchburg, aged eighty-seven.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—The Democratic majority in the State is twenty thousand.

SELMA, ALA., Nov. 6.—Gen. W. H. Hardee, of this city, died at Wytheville, Virginia, this morning. His remains will be brought to Selma.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 6.—Ten mills of various kinds at Manayunk have suspended operations entirely. They usually employ 1,750 hands. Another mill employing 500 hands is running three days in the week; others are running three-quarter time. General Patterson's mill, with 30 hands, is running full time, at a reduction of 15 per cent. in wages. The paper mills are all running on full time, and will continue until navigation closes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—In nine police precincts of this city over $4,000 were subscribed for the Memphis sufferers on election day. The reports from the other precincts are yet to come in. The police have contributed $2,200 for the Memphis police.

JACKSON, MISS., Nov. 7.—The returns come in very slowly. Only twenty-three counties have full reports in. Ames' majority is given at 26,567. These counties always go Republican, and when official returns are received from other counties the majority will perhaps be somewhat less than now estimated. The vote was very light everywhere.

The Republicans have a good majority in both branches of the Legislature.

CORPUS CHRISTI, TEXAS, Nov. 7.—The Corpus Christi and Rio Grande Railroad Company was organized here to-day under the charter of the State of Texas. The line connects this place with Laredo, besides controlling the Rio Grande trade, and will exercise a powerful influence in checking border depredations, and in opening to settlement the rich lands of the Nueces valley.

Parties of laborers are being placed in the field, and the construction of the road will be rapidly pushed. Representatives of Northern capitalists are here, and Colonel Thomas H. Robb, late president of the frontier commission, has accepted the presidency of the road. Much local enthusiasm is excited, and a powerful stimulant is given to immigration and to the trade of this place.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Intelligence has been received here of the death of Mrs. Lee, widow of General Robert E. Lee, at Lexington, Virginia, on Wednesday, the fifth instant. She had been an invalid for some years, and the recent death of her daughter bore heavily upon her declining strength. Mrs. Lee was the only daughter of George Washington Parke Custis, of Arlington, who was the youngest child of John Parke Custis, a son of Mrs. Washington by her first husband, and aid-de-camp to General Washington at the siege of Yorktown.

His two youngest children, one of them the father of Mrs. Lee, were adopted by General Washington. G. W. P. Custis was brought up at Mount Vernon, and remained a member of the Washington family until the death of Mrs. Washington, in 1802, when he went to reside on the Arlington estate, near the city, which he had inherited from his father, and where he had erected the mansion known as the Arlington House. He was married in early life to Miss Mary Lee Fitzhugh, of Virginia, and left an only daughter, who became the wife of General Robert E. Lee. The late Mrs. Lee was a lady of exemplary conduct and unassuming, and of gentle character. She was between sixty and seventy years of age at the time of her death.

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 8.—The funeral obsequies of Mrs. Mary Custis Lee, wife of the late General Robert Edmund Lee, who died in Lexington on Wednesday morning, took place yesterday in the Memorial chapel in that town.

Her three sons, W. H. H. Lee, Custis Lee and Robert E. Lee, Jr., and her daughter were present, besides a large concourse of friends.

Her remains were deposited by the side of her husband's, in the memorial-room. Mrs. Lee was sixty-seven years of age.

Business was entirely suspended in Lexington yesterday, many places being draped in mourning, and the obsequies were very imposing.

SELMA, Nov. 8.—The remains of General W. J. Hardee reached the city this morning, and were met at the depot by a vast concourse of citizens.

There was a spontaneous outpouring of our whole people to-day to receive the remains of General Hardee. The military, fire department, municipal authorities, bar, clergy and people all did honor to the memory of the illustrious dead. The bells were tolled during the day and business was suspended. The funeral procession was the largest ever witnessed in this State; it was not a formality, but there was genuine grief in the demonstration.

The general's old black war-horse, "Shiloh," with empty saddle and the old Confederate gray coat of the deceased upon it, brought tears to the eyes of many a man who had seen the loved form of the gallant dead in the fields of carnage and amid the smoke of battle. He was hurled this evening at four o'clock. The burial ceremonies of the Episcopal Church were performed by the Rev. Dr. Clements.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 11.—But one death from yellow fever to-day, that of Charles Calame, of Geneva. The Howards report four new cases.

FOREIGN.

HAVANA, Nov. 4.—The tribunal at Santiago de Cuba, before which the prisoners captured in the Virginius were brought, condemned Bernabe Varoni, Pedro Cespedes, Jesus del Sol and General Ryan to death, and they were shot on the morning of the fourth instant.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The committee on the prolongation of the president's powers have elected M. L. Abonday their reporter, and have resolved to instruct Itemusat to confer with President MacMahon.

Frost in a Fever-Stricken City.

The Memphis Appeal thus describes the coming of the frost at Memphis: "While it was yet twilight, and ere the dappled east had yet opened the gates of day to the rising sun, hastily-attired men and women, with half-nude children in their arms, were out in the streets breathing the precious air of the purifying frost. Here, stooping down, one gathered a handful of the glittering hoar-frost, which, pure and beautiful, lay upon the earth, and, gazing on it with somewhat of the gladdening spirit with which the Israelites gathered the manna in the desert of Arabia, exclaimed: 'O, God! we thank thee for this blessing!' Others came and touched with reverential fingers the pure, cold messenger of health, as if to satisfy themselves, like the half-believing Thomas of old, that the Savior of the city had not risen but descended from heaven, to save the people from the destroying angel of the pestilence. Groups of men and women moved from place to place, to prove by cumulative evidence that indeed it was frost, and not some optical delusion; that the wished-for guest had not merely confined its visitations to one locality, but enjoyed the freedom of the city. Here a pale, once a handsome woman, with a tender babe at her breast, knelt down on the cold ground to thank God that the frost had come! Poor, stricken heart! she and her orphan boy were all that the pestilence had spared out of a once happy family. Strong men, bare-headed and bare-armed, walked excitedly hither and thither, rejoicing in the fact that a physician had come, to whose nostrums the whole faculty must yield precedence as the only true panacea for the yellow fever. Windows and doors were thrown open, woolen and cotton garments were exposed to the disinfecting agency of the cold and rarefied air, and everywhere in the city, as well as in the vicinity of the infected region, the enthusiasm was as marked, if not as fervent and joyous.

THE VICTIM OF GRANT PARISH.—Sad Denouement.—Last evening we learned the sad intelligence of the death of Miss Lacour, the unfortunate victim of the Grant parish outrage. On Friday last the sorrowing friends of the beautiful and accomplished young lady followed her to the grave. The severe nervous shock to her system was such as to leave but little hope of her recovery, and, sinking gradually, she breathed her last on Thursday. If anything was wanting to add to the horror already made known, it is the cutting off of the life of this lady in the bloom of maidenhood. The steamer Garry Owen brought down a relative of the deceased, but so great was his anguish and feeling with regard to the affair that little could be gathered from him. He neither came to the table nor talked on the trip down, and his melancholy was such as to arouse the sympathies of all on board. It is now almost certain that the citizens have a clew to the whole transaction, and, were it not that it might defeat the ends of justice, an interesting development could be made.—Picayune, November 11.

AN IRISHMAN, who had just landed, said:

"The first bit of mate I ever ate in this country was a roasted potato, boiled yesterday. And if you don't believe it, I can show it to ye, for I have it in my pocket."

A CHICKEN in Taberg came from the shell recently with two bills. We are happy to know that it is dead. There are too many bills in the world now.

SUCCESS is full of promise till men get it; and then it is as a last year's nest, from which the bird has flown.

From the Work.

ELMORE CIRCUIT, ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: I have just closed my seventh protracted meeting the present year. Truly the Lord is with us, and I feel greatly encouraged to continue my labors for the Master. My much-beloved brother, H. J. Hunter, was with me at some of my meetings, and labored with more than ordinary zeal. The local preachers on the work are zealously affected in the good cause. I have received up to this time one hundred and thirty-two members, baptized thirty-seven infants and fifty adults, and dedicated one church, which will seat two hundred and fifty-four persons. To God be all the praise.

R. F. PERDUE, P. C.

OCTOBER 28, 1873.

AMITE CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: Adams', Salem, Liberty and Woodland now constitute this circuit. We have had some very interesting meetings on this circuit. The protracted meeting at Adams' continued eleven days, with an interest increasing gradually. At this meeting there were fourteen accessions and nine children baptized. The protracted meeting at Salem was continued a week, and was a blessing to that community. The church was cold at the commencement, but this soon passed away, and the brethren labored earnestly for the success of the meeting. The interest seemed to increase toward the close, and if it could have continued two or three days longer the fruits of the meeting would have been more abundant; but other engagements made it necessary to close. There were eight added to the church. The number of conversions at these meetings was not ascertained, but it was considerable among the accessions. For ministerial aid my thanks are due Bros. Jagers, Tarver, Wood, King, Givens and Germany, all local except Bro. Givens. Bro. B. Jones accompanied me to Liberty and preached eight sermons there, which were highly interesting and edifying. Favorable impressions were made, and we trust the labor was not in vain. Thanks to Bro. Jones. J. W. SANDELL.

COLUMBIA CIRCUIT, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: We have lately had some seasons of religious refreshing on the Columbia circuit. On the second Saturday and Sunday in October we had a very happy and successful two days' meeting at Ouachita church. The church-members were very much revived and encouraged, and several persons united with the church of God. On Sunday I took seven persons into the fellowship of the church, as per form of our church service. One dear young man who joined the church chose to remain a time on probation. May he abide the proof, "and when he is tried" may he "come forth as gold."

I also baptized on that day three young men, one by immersion. In all this service, even in the immersing, we were quite happy, feeling that, "in the water or out of the water," we were serving the Lord.

On Saturday night before the third Sunday in October we began at Columbia. Bro. Allen, of the Louisville circuit, was with us and preached with good effect. Christian hearts were warmed; five persons united with the church. Bro. C. R. Godfrey, of the Caldwell circuit, came in near the close of the meeting and preached once for us.

We are hopeful and happier, while we feel that the prospect for God's Zion is brighter.

WM. F. ALEXANDER.

COLUMBIA, LA., October 26, 1873.

FRANKLIN, LOUISIANA.—Mr. Editor: "News from the churches" is always an interesting portion of the ADVOCATE. We generally find in this department good news—revival news, the news of victory over sin. It is my privilege to tell the lovers of Jesus that in many places in my district God has owned and blessed the labors of his servants in the conversion of sinners and the upbuilding of Zion. There has, however, been a Providence over us this year that has led us to deep, searching, prayerful thought. By the excessive rains, followed by the cotton worm, the cotton regions of my district have been reduced almost to beggary. The people are really in a state of suffering. Up to this time I have not held a quarterly meeting that has not been attended with some serious drawback over which we had no control. During the first round, excessively cold sleets and rains; during the second and third rounds, storms of rain, with exceeding high waters; and from constant exposure to these rains during my fourth, thus far, personal bad health totally incapacitating me for travel or toil. In addition to all this, the loss, by transfer, of two of my preachers leaves me necessitated to double my work by becoming pastor to one of the vacated stations. Owing to the poverty of a large portion of my district our finances are in arrears. The people, however, have done and are doing nobly, and I still hope that ere the close of the Conference year the preachers will have received a good share of their quarterage, and at Conference be able to report a fair amount for the various objects of church effort.

Why, in God's providence, are these things so? Mr. Editor, I believe the "Sabbath was made for man;" but I believe it was made to subserve higher and more important interests than the physical and temporal. It is right to "take the ox from the ditch;" but if we use the Sabbath only for this, we have made it to subserve a poor interest indeed, when compared to our moral and religious culture. Persons in the olden time were cursed for the non-observance of the Sabbath. May not a people be cursed for the same offense now, when there is so much more light? The anti-Christian influence of Catholicism is doubtless responsible, in the main, for this most outrageous crime; but we know better, and yet we buy and sell, and travel and seek pleasure on the Sabbath. Let me appeal to the Methodists of the Opelousas district on this subject, and implore them to "remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." One other appeal: Touch not, taste not, handle not, that blasting curse of souls—wine, strong drink.

B. F. WHITE.

NEW IBERIA, LA., October 27, 1873.

ROLLING FORK, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: There are two churches on the circuit, at one of which our pastor preaches every Sabbath night, and every alternate Sabbath at eleven o'clock. He has established another appointment, where he preaches once a month, and has a flourishing Sabbath school. There is also a good Sunday school at each church, the one at Rolling Fork consisting of about fifty pupils and nine teachers. There are at the three appointments about one hundred and twenty-five Sunday school scholars.

Our pastor, Rev. H. Walter Featherston, has been the instrument, in God's hands, of doing a great work here. He has had a most glorious revival at each appointment during the past summer, and has received sixty-three persons into the church. Our membership now is more than double what it was when he came to the work. We have at Rolling Fork church, besides our regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting, a young men's and a ladies' prayer meeting—the men meeting at the church, the ladies at a private house, every Sabbath afternoon. These are most interesting and profitable meetings, and are attended by all denominations.

We intend building a parsonage this fall, so that if Conference sends us a man of family we will have a home for him. This country is being rapidly settled up, and we wish our church to grow with it. To accomplish this we must have good, faithful ministers, and to secure these we must provide homes for them.

This is the second year Bro. Featherston has been with us, and we have become so much attached to him that we would willingly keep him longer; yet, if Conference should think it best to make a change, we will be ready to give the new preacher a warm welcome, and will continually pray that God's choicest blessings may rest upon "our pastor" wherever he may be sent. VIOLA.

ROLLING FORK, MISS., Oct. 10, 1873.

CAMP MEETINGS ON THE DEMOPOLIS DISTRICT.—Mr. Editor: Bro. Wright, I see, has given you a short account of the camp meeting on the Butler circuit, but his modesty forbade him to say that it was his own indomitable perseverance that built the tents and harbor, and established the camp ground. They will doubtless have a good board harbor next year, and that camp ground may be considered permanently established.

At Smith's camp ground, on the Gaston circuit—Bro. C. C. DuBose, preacher in charge—we had a most excellent meeting. Forty-nine joined the church, and perhaps more than that number made profession of faith in Jesus. Preachers and people were baptized with the Spirit of love and grace. Many from a distance, who came on the ground careless and thoughtless, went away with the love of God in their hearts and church certificates in their pockets. The Holy Ghost owned and blessed every service, and hundreds of Christians were renewed in the faith and love of God. A splendid board harbor had just been finished by the earnest labors and perseverance of Bro. Richmond Allen, assisted by Bro. D. H. Smith and others. The tents were comfortable, the preachers' tent especially so. The tent-holders tried to accommodate everybody, and make all feel that they had a cordial welcome to their tents and tables, and their kind hospitality will be gratefully remembered by all visitors on the occasion. Notwithstanding these liberal arrangements, the largest tent-holders assured me that their trouble and expense were not as much as they would have been to have entertained their friends during a protracted meeting near their homes. A liberal-hearted brother proposes to furnish us with lamps sufficient to light up our harbor next year (hope he will not forget the oil,) and we expect to have additional tents, a greater number in attendance, more conversions and a better meeting. We extend to you a cordial invitation to be present.

Our third camp meeting was at Salem, on the Greene circuit—Bro. J. W. McCann, preacher in charge. Bros. Smith, Turner and Pendergrass said: "We will have a camp meeting; if no one else tents, we will;" and tent they did. And others, encouraged by their example, came to their aid, and God blessed them, and his gracious presence was manifested in the conviction and conversion of their neighbors, friends and children. Money to finish their church was pledged, and a number of our most substantial citizens pledged themselves to tent next year. We hope to have camp meetings next year on the Bladen Springs and the Gainesville circuits. They are the most successful meetings we have—effect a deeper and more extended work for God and the church. Let us have more of them.

S. H. COX.

Bishop Reinkens Acknowledged by the State.

On the seventh of October, in the city of Berlin, Bishop Reinkens took the oath of allegiance to the empire, and is now recognized by the State. He is, of course, for the present, a bishop at large. He is, however, the acknowledged head of a Christian community, and can now labor, without hinderance, for its consolidation. Internally the church which he represents is fully organized, and externally it has entered into satisfactory relations with the government.

The Old Catholic movement, as it may now be reviewed, shows a well-ordered advance since 1870. Beginning in the protest of a few professors in a university, it quickly secured the assent of the people. It revealed instantly an irreconcilable difference between Catholicism of the German and of the ultramontane type. So long as the church evaded a conflict with modern civilization, the German mind contented itself with quiet protests against ultramontane doctrines. The syllabus and the Vatican Council have been too much for Germany, and the inner and so long-concealed dissent has become formal separation.

That Old Catholicism lays hold of convictions deeply rooted in the German mind is seen from two facts already noticed in our columns—the prompt admission of the laity to a share in the government of the church, and the placing of the Bible in the hands of the people. The restoration of the laity to their proper position is the overthrow of ultramontanism, which assumes that, as far as regards its powers, the clergy are the church; the complement of this is the free circulation of the Bible among the people.

The end of the Old Catholic movement seems likely to be the formation of a national church, with a popular constitution and an open Bible. This is, if not avowedly, yet really the end toward which Bismarck is working. It is the old struggle of Germany to become ecclesiastically independent of Italy, carried on under the conditions of life in the nineteenth century. It may become the second act in the drama of the Reformation. The Catholic nations of Europe may separate themselves from Rome, and thus end forever the dream of universal spiritual empire.—Methodist.

The Dean in No Danger.

If anybody supposes that the dear Dean of Canterbury, whom we all love, will have his head cut off, when Tozer of Zanzibar tells the archbishop about his taking the holy communion at the hands of Pacson Adams, let him read what the archbishop said when the dear dean's predecessor did just the same thing.

In 1857 the predecessor of the present Dean of Canterbury, the distinguished Dean Alford, at a conference of the Evangelical Alliance, in Berlin, not only participated in a communion administered by those not in episcopal orders, but assisted in the distribution of the elements. Dean Alford afterward thought that in the distribution of the elements he might have violated the twenty-seventh canon of the Church of England, but the Archbishop of Canterbury, in the midst of the storm of abuse which poured upon the dean from certain quarters, wrote to him as follows:

"MY DEAR SIR—* * * I must take this opportunity of saying how much I have resented the bigotry and uncharitableness which the Berlin communion has excited. It is very right that at home we should keep out of canon shot, but, widely as the range has been extended of late years, I never before heard that it could be stretched across the channel.

Very faithfully yours,

J. B. CANTUAR."

The Church and State copies this and remarks: "Archbishop Usher says: 'I do protest that with like affection I should receive the blessed sacrament at the hands of the Dutch ministers if I were in Holland, as I should at the hands of the French ministers if I were in Charentone.' Dean Cosin, a distinguished authority among High Churchmen, says: 'I do not see but that both you and others that are with you may (either in case of necessity, when you cannot have the sacrament among yourselves, or in regard of declaring your unity in professing the same religion, which you and they do) go otherwhiles to communicate reverently with them of the French Church.' Not to mention other cases in this country, Bishop Brownell, years after he was a bishop, received the Lord's Supper at the hands of a Presbyterian minister."—New York Observer.

AT A LARGE dinner party once the poet Rogers was speaking of the inconvenience of having windows formed of one sheet of glass. "They look as if there were no glass," he said. "A short time ago, as I sat at the table with my back to one of these panes, it appeared to me that the window was open, and such was the force of imagination that I actually took cold." "Dear me," said Mrs. Babbage, who sat opposite, "how old it is, Mr. Rogers, that you and I should make such a very different use of the faculty of imagination. When I sleep unexpectedly away from home, and consequently have no night-cap, I should naturally catch cold. But by tying a piece of packthread tightly round my head I go to sleep, imagining I have a night-cap on, and catch no cold at all."

Philip Embury's Monument.

The National Local Preachers' Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church held its sixteenth annual convention this year in Cambridge, New York. It has been an occasion of unusual interest, as covering with its session the anniversary of the death of Philip Embury, the first great Methodist local preacher of America, and the founder of its first church organization; and also as celebrating the completion of an adequate monument to his memory, which his local brethren, at this late day, have most appropriately raised to his memory. Bishops Janes and Simpson were present during the session. A large delegation, from all portions of the church, were gathered together. The dedicatory services at the cemetery occurred on Monday, October 20, Bishop Simpson delivering the address.

Dr. Stevens, in his unrivalled church history, has done full justice to this faithful lay preacher—a carpenter by trade, like his Master—to whom there was given the providential honor of laying the corner-stone of Methodism in this country, preaching the first sermon, projecting the first chapel, being its first trustee, treasurer, class-leader and preacher; building its first pulpit, and delivering its dedicatory sermon. This dedication of the first John Street chapel, New York city, occurred in 1768.

Embury was descended from the fugitive Palatines of the Rhine, who, under the persecutions of Louis the Fourteenth, fled for refuge to the county of Limerick, in Ireland. Philip Embury and his wife emigrated to New York in 1760. He was aroused from a backslidden state, into which he had fallen, by the exhortations of a relative, Mrs. Barbara Heck, in 1770, and was induced to commence public religious services in his own house, and afterward in a hired rigging-loft on William street. A great revival followed the completion of the first stone chapel, under the preaching of Embury and Captain Webb; sometimes a thousand people were crammed within and around it. In 1770 Embury removed to the village of Cambridge, in Washington county, and died of an injury received while mowing his fields in 1773. He was then in his prime, only forty-five years of age. He had continued to preach as a local minister, and had formed a Methodist Episcopal society in the town. The services of the convention were particularly interesting; their details will doubtless be given by our correspondent. Harper's Weekly, November 1, presents fine portraits of Embury and his wife, the kind, motherly and devoted face of Barbara Heck, and the graceful pile of marble that now marks the resting-place of the honored carpenter preacher.—Zion's Herald.

Southern University.

The mess department of this place is working admirably well. The boys are well pleased with the fare and with the manner in which the mess system is carried on in general. There is no reason why our mess system should not give satisfaction for we live well enough, and have a splendid cook, who knows how to fix things up in the right way. Board only costs from $8 to $9 per month—$10 paying all necessary expenses. The government of the mess is to a very great extent like that of family government; just as the members of a family who are accustomed to family worship assemble around the altar for prayer, so does the mess assemble for prayer every night.

Our well-beloved president takes great pains in looking after the general welfare of the students, seeing that all are well provided and cared for. Taking all things into consideration, the cheapness, moral and refining influences, I know of no better place for young men seeking an education than the Southern University. S. M. HOSMER.

GREENSBORO, Alabama.

Nashville Christian Advocate.

DR. ROBINSON'S LIBEL SUIT.—Our readers, says the Interior, may remember that, in January of last year, the Evening Post of this city contained the following paragraph:

"Rev. Stuart Robinson, of Louisville, who advocated from the pulpit, during the war, the shipping of yellow fever-infected clothing to Northern cities, narrowly escaped death from smallpox last week."

When this was printed Dr. Robinson was supposed to be lying at the point of death. As soon as he was well enough to make it safe for him to talk on such matters, the paper containing the paragraph was shown to him, and he immediately directed his attorneys, Messrs. Moore & Caulfield, to commence suit against the proprietors of the Evening Post for damages to the amount of $100,000.

Suit was accordingly brought in the United States Circuit Court. Before the issue was made up, however, a manly and unsolicited apology appeared in the columns of the Post. The suit went to trial without a jury, and the court assessed the damages at $25,000, with costs, and Dr. Robinson immediately, through his attorneys, remitted all of the amount, except $654 for attorneys' fees and costs of conducting the suit.

THOU canst not do one good thing, nor overcome the weakest enemy, nor take one step in the way to heaven without Christ.—Romaine.

HOW MUCH passes current for prayer with man which is not prayer with God!—Dr. Octavius Winslow.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1873.

THE HAPPY HOUR.

The busy day is over,
The household work is done;
The cares that fret the morning
Have faded with the sun;
And in the tender twilight
I sit in happy rest,
With my darling little baby
Asleep upon my breast.

White lids, with silken fringes,
Shut out the waning light;
A little hand, close folded,
Holds mamma's fingers tight;
And in their soft, white wrappings
All-teal in perfect rest,
Two dainty feet are cuddled
Like birdies in a nest.

All hopes and love unworthy
Depart at this sweet hour;
All pure and noble longings
Renew their holy power;
For Christ, who in the Virgin
Our motherhood has blest,
Is near to every woman
With a baby on her breast.

Appleton's Journal.

The Southern Review and the Temperance Cause.

MR. EDITOR: The writer of the ninth article of the April number of the Review, in giving his own creed on the temperance question, says as follows: "If men can use wine temperately, let them do so; it is nowhere prohibited by our Savior. If they cannot, then let them abstain. Their own safety requires it." It is a matter of interest whether the author intended, in the use of the term wine, and none other, to exclude all distilled liquors, or whether he intended to employ the word in a general and extended sense, and as the representative of all alcoholic liquors, and thus to approve of the temperate use of all the members of the family. It may be said that it is not in accordance with the usage of good writers in the English language to use the term wine as a type of the stronger alcoholic liquors, or a generic term including them; and as our writer seems to be a master of the language, and acquainted with all its proprieties, it would be unjust to regard him as using any word in a sense anywise forced or unusual. Moreover, it cannot be said that he is deficient in candor, or is unwilling to assume any responsibility a free and full expression of his own opinions may impose. If, then, he intended to use the word wine in any extraordinary sense, he would unquestionably have said as much. If he had intended to justify the temperate or moderate use of the distilled liquids which are much more alcoholic and more powerful in their effects than any kind of wine, it is fair to him to assume that he would have been explicit in his declaration to that effect. We can well see how he may have intended to justify the use of other fermented liquors than wine, since they are all produced after the same process, and are weaker and less intoxicating than wine, and the justification of the use of the greater may with propriety be regarded as the justification of the use of the less; but we cannot believe that he intended more.

It seems a fair conclusion, then, that the writer is in harmony with temperance men in respect to all liquors stronger than wine and the fermented liquors. His opinion appears to be that, so far as the lllery and more highly charged liquors are concerned, entire abstinence is the better plon. He approves, moreover, of the use of wine only when it can be taken temperately, and by temperately he must mean not to excess, not to excitement or intoxication, or to any unnatural condition of the brain or of the general system. He distinctly advises those who cannot use wine thus temperately to abstain, for their own safety requires it. Here, then, we perceive that the difference between the reviewer and temperance men is reduced to rather a narrow compass. He believes in total abstinence from distilled liquors, and so do they; he believes that those who cannot drink wine and fermented liquors temperately, or without going to excess, should abstain from them altogether, and so they believe. The only difference is this: temperance men teach that all persons should abstain from all alcoholic liquors, distilled and fermented; the reviewer teaches that all who can use wine or fermented liquors temperately are at entire liberty to do so and should be subjected to no reproach therefor.

He lays great stress upon the making and use of wine by the Savior, and brings it as a charge against temperance men that to them "it is nothing that wine was used at the marriage feast, that the first miracle our Savior performed was changing water into wine (not wine into water,) and that he used wine when he and his disciples met for the last time before his crucifixion," and that "their purity exceeds the purity of him and his apostles." There is something to be said in regard to the wine of Scripture. It is the matured opinion of some of the ablest scholars of our age that two distinct kinds or states of wine existed among the ancients, and are spoken of in Scripture—the one unintoxicating, pleasant and wholesome, and the other drugged, intoxicating and demoralizing. They quote from classical authors to prove the existence of these different wines, and to show that the unintoxicating was considered the superior—was more highly appreciated, and more often drank by the better class of people. They affirm that upon no other hypothesis can the diverse methods of speaking of wine in the Scriptures be reconciled. At one time it is spoken of as a "comfort, a blessing, or a libation to God," and ranked with corn and oil; at another it is called "a mocker," connected with "revelry and drunkenness," and made the emblem of the divine wrath. In the first case the wine spoken of was unfermented, or "contained no alcohol that could have a mischievous tendency;" in the second case the wine spoken of was fermented, alcoholic and intoxicating. Both of these liquids, being the juice of the grape with more or less of modification, were called by the one generic name—wine. If this view be correct, there can be no question as to the kind of wine made and used by our Savior and his apostles—it was the innocent and unintoxicating liquor, and none other. In the opinion of two distinct sorts or states of wine, as mentioned in Scripture, concur Prof. Moses Stuart, the eminent critic of Andover, Prof. George Bush, the learned biblical scholar of New York, Prof. Taylor Lewis, of Union College, Dr. Whedon, author of Commentary on the New Testament, Dr. Jacobus, author of Commentary on the Gospels, etc. If the position of these critics be correct, the example of our Savior and his apostles can furnish no support to those who contend for the moderate use of the fiery, alcoholic and drunk-making wines which constitute the main mass of those consumed in our day. There is a perfect contrast between the innocent and pleasant liquors which our theory supposes our Savior to have made and used, and those powerful fluids which now are classed among wines.

There are, however, it is fair to say, other critics of eminence who strenuously contend that grape-juice is not wine until it undergoes fermentation and has alcohol formed in it, and that wherever wine is spoken of in the Scriptures or in profane authors the reference always is to a fermented, and therefore to an alcoholic liquid. Let us, for the sake of argument, admit this position to be true. It cannot be denied that the wines in ordinary use in Priest line contained very slightly of the alcoholic principle, and could scarcely be said to be intoxicating. Kitto, in his history of Palestine, tells us that "wine was used freely among the Jews, whose country was indeed noted for wine and oil," and that "the kind most commonly drank was weak or much diluted with water, and was used much as the English use table ale or beer." Barnes, the well-known commentator, assures us that "the wine of Judea was the pure juice of the grape, without any admixture of alcohol, and commonly weak and harmless," and that "it was the common drink of the people, and did not tend to produce intoxication." It must be understood that the wines among the Jews contained no more alcohol than was produced in the liquid itself by the transformation of its own sugar through the process of fermentation. Distillation was not discovered until long centuries after, and the wines could not be made stronger, as they now are, by the addition of alcohol in some of its forms. Their strongest wine did not contain more than six or eight per cent. of the alcoholic element. It is true that wines in those ages were rendered more intoxicating by the addition of powerful drugs, but we have no reason to believe that such method prevailed to any extent among the Jews in our Savior's day. Again, wine among the Jews, as among all the ancient nations, was drank much diluted with water. Kitto alludes to the custom in the passage quoted from his history. Among the Greeks, "to drink wine unmixed was held disreputable, and those who were guilty of such excess were said to act like Scythians." Among the enlightened nations of antiquity, "to drink equal parts of wine and water was considered unsafe, and the dilution varied from one part of wine and four of water to two of wine and four or five parts of water, which last seems to have been a favorite mixture." Sometimes the dilution was carried still further, and with truth it could be said that "the wines were merely used for giving a flavor to the water."

From all that we can learn, the Jews, at the time our Savior dwelt among them, were a people of very temperate habits. There is no reason to believe, from the Scripture history, that our Savior came in contact with a drunken man during his entire ministry; and in all the severe reproaches which he utters against the manner of life of the scribes and Pharisees, he nowhere charges them with the sin of drunkenness. The Jews, in fact, boasted of their proper external conduct, and their contemporaries among the heathen, in all controversies with them, never deny their assumption, or ascribe to them or to the primitive Christians the sins of luxury and drunkenness. It must be remembered that our Savior's labors were confined to the Jews—he was not "sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel;" that he scarcely ever passed beyond the limits of their territory or held communication with those of another race. It cannot be assumed, with any regard for propriety, that the use of a mild, refreshing and practically unintoxicating wine among a people so temperate as the Jews is a justification of the use of the wines of our day, containing, many of them, as much as twenty-five per cent. of the alcoholic principle, and among a people with whom drunkenness enormously prevails, and too many of whom possess by inheritance appetites fearfully perverted. The wines are widely different, the people are different, and the drinking habits are different; there is no analogy, but all contrast. It is due to the purity and benevolence of our Savior firmly to believe that he never made or used, or encouraged others to use, any liquid which, in any quantity in which it was likely to be taken, was calculated to unbalance the mind or to excite the passions or to corrupt the tastes of those who consumed it.

How few there are in our day who can drink our wines and stop there. They pass on to the use of those liquids developed in distillation, and which contain, some of them, as high as seventy per cent. of alcohol. There has been a great cry among a certain class for the cultivation of the vine in our country, and for the production among us of a pure article of wine, which might drive out the vile and poisonous compounds which are consumed among us in such alarming quantity. The experiment of vine-growing and wine-making has been tried on a great scale in California, and with what result upon the drinking customs of the community we can now ascertain. Our Bishop McTyeire, who traveled through that State a few months since, and whose observation is so acute, and whose judgment so calm that any opinion of his has almost the force of a judicial decision, tells us that "our countrymen do not get disgusted at strong drink because a weaker is abundant and cheap, nor does access to it take off the edge of morbid appetite," and that "the moral results hoped for by the friends of temperance have not been realized."

Our reviewer says: "If men can use wine temperately, let them do so;" "if they cannot, let them abstain." But are there not imperative reasons why even those men should abstain who can use wine temperately in the sense of the reviewer? There are some, even the reviewer admits, who cannot drink wine temperately, and whose safety requires that they should abstain from that, and of course from all intoxicating liquors." A sad and calamitous experience teaches that there are many in society who are so constituted that they cannot indulge at all in alcoholic drinks without going to excess, and without not a few becoming degraded sots. Now drunkenness, we know, is one of the most awful besetments that can befall a man. It debases his intellect, pollutes his morals and wrecks his body; it excludes him from the society of the pure and good in this world—it too often makes him a miscreant and an outcast—and in the world to come it will exclude him from heaven, and consign him forever to the abode of the damned. For this class of persons there is certainly no safety except in entire abstinence from wine and every other intoxicating drink.

We all have influence, and we are responsible to God for its proper exertion. By our precept, and far more by our example, we are gradually yet surely affecting those with whom we may associate for weal or for woe—we are moving them to virtue or to vice, to the formation of pure habits, or to such as may perchance degrade them to the very level of the beast. Here is an article called wine—the juice of the grape properly—too often a villainous compound of hurtful drugs—which is not necessary, as a beverage, to the health, to the intelligence, to the rational enjoyment or to the real welfare of any individual, and which in any respect is wonderfully fascinating in its nature, and calculated to deceive and destroy. From my own constitution I am certain that I can resist its influences, and use it in moderation, without deriving therefrom any special harm. Here, however, are my children, my friends, my fellow-men, who respect my opinions and are inclined to follow my example. Many of these, I know, cannot drink wine to any extent without forming a taste for alcoholic liquors and becoming incurable drunkards. What is my duty in the premises? Plainly to abstain myself, and to throw the whole weight of my influence in favor of honor and safety to others. Without such practical abstinence on my part, whatever may be my precept, my influence will be naught for good and potent for evil. Truly did the great apostle tell us that it is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor to do anything whereby my brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak. To make sacrifices which are real and costly, in behalf of others, is of the very essence and genius of Christianity. He who would not forego the precarious enjoyment derived from the use of wine to save his unfortunate brother has little of the spirit of Christ, who, though he was rich, yet for our sakes became poor, that we through his poverty might be rich. From my standpoint, total abstinence from wine and every other alcoholic liquid becomes an imperative duty.

Thus have I endeavored to controvert the views of the writer in the Southern Review, and to defend from his reproaches this great reformation. I trust I may have said something to strengthen temperance men in their faith and to encourage them to continued exertion. S.

MANSFIELD, Louisiana.

Methodism in Wilkinson County, Mississippi.—No. I.

The history of the planting of Methodism in Wilkinson county is now known, perhaps, to but one sole, surviving pioneer. The Rev. Lewis Hobbs was the second preacher who is remembered to have performed ministerial work on the circuit in what is now Wilkinson county and the country south of it. It is believed that he was sent out as a missionary from the South Carolina Conference. He arrived at the log cabin of his friend, Edward McGehee, on the waters of Thompson's creek, in the eastern part of the county, in 1812. His field of labor extended from Wilkinson county east to the Amite river, down the Amite to a town called Galveztou—now extinct—up the Manchac to the Mississippi river, thence to the Dutch Highlands, where he was kindly received and entertained by the family of Kleinpeters, some of whom he gathered into the church. Thence he went to Baton Rouge; from Baton Rouge to the plains, preaching everywhere and forming societies. Thence to St. Francisville; thence to Pinckneyville, where a few saintly souls were formed into a class. The name of Mrs. Sarah Evans, one of the loveliest of Christian women, was recorded in that list. From Pinckneyville his route led to the Point of Rocks, on the Buffalo; thence along the dividing ridge between the Buffalo and the Homochitta—everywhere praying, teaching, preaching, wherever a house was opened to him; thence to Lunehart's, where his ministry was eminently successful, and thence to the home of his friend, Edward McGehee. Here, after six weeks of arduous and incessant travel, he permitted himself to enjoy two days of rest. He found thirty-seven nominal members of the Methodist Church in all this wide field. At the end of the year he returned the names of two hundred and seventy enrolled on his church record.

A part of his circuit was in what was then called West Florida. The people went to hear him preach, invited him to their homes, and entertained him with cordial hospitality. The evenings were frequently passed in dancing, and while the festivity continued he sat a quiet spectator; but before the neighbors separated, in the gentlest manner he would request permission to close the evening with prayer. This request, thus preferred, was never refused; and many times the tender, fervent petitions of the man of God carried conviction to the hearts of those present, and some who knelt with him from courtesy, rose from their knees penitent and in tears, and afterward became members of the Methodist Church. Numbers were gathered into Christian communion by these simple, apostolic labors. Many, who have long ago laid down the burdens of life and entered into their rest, dated their first religious awakening to the prayers and tears and earnest exhortations and holy life of the humble, gentle, saintly Lewis Hobbs.

His delicate constitution broke down under the long and exhausting rides, in the burning summer sun and under the rain and cold of winter, while he sought the lost sheep and called them to the fold. It might be well for us, in these days of steamboat and railroad facilities, to take a map and trace the route which this frail man pursued on horseback, and which was called his circuit. The labor performed might well put to shame many a stalwart brother who aspires to the title of Methodist traveling preacher.

From this extensive circuit Lewis Hobbs was sent to New Orleans as a missionary, where the labor was less, and where the exposure was not so great. But he did not rally. Too feeble to work, he returned to his friend, E. McGehee, and then prepared for his journey to his friends in Georgia. The Indian war, then being waged between the Creeks and the United States, prevented him from going directly home. He went first to Nashville, and then home. Very soon after his arrival he died in great peace.

The first church at Bethel, Wilkinson county, was built of logs, in the winter of 1813. Previous to the erection of this house of worship preaching and social religious meetings were held in private houses. During that winter, and while the men were employed on the building, it was noted as something remarkable that for sixty-five days in succession, three days only excepted, a white frost covered the ground each morning; and the laborers, as they proceeded to their work, crunched the crisp frost under their feet. The builders were not skilled in architecture, but they worked with willing hearts and hands. As this was during what used to be called "the late war," no foreign articles could be procured. Nails were very scarce, and could not be bought for less than twenty-five cents per pound; and these nails were wrought singly, by hand. Of course they must be reserved for the most needed and most important finishing. The walls being built of logs, of necessity the roof was to be of boards. John Thomas, a brother of the late David Thomas, of Clinton, Louisiana—well known for his kindness of heart and genuine piety—sent a man-servant who understood the art of riving boards. John Phares sent one to pin the rafters, a job which required skill and a practical knowledge of the art. Francis Richardson, Sr., had a servant who was skillful in pinning the boards to the roof with wooden pins the last course of boards being fastened on with nails. Thus the work was carried to completion, and a rude temple was erected, amid the primeval forests, for the worship of almighty God.

The edifice was not completed—the floor being only partly laid—when the Rev. Lewis Hobbs was requested to dedicate it. Seats of rough slabs, guiltless of the plane, were arranged on the floored part of the building for the women. The men were seated on the sleepers. A temporary pulpit was erected, and those who had labored together now rejoiced together, while they pledged themselves anew to the service of that God who had kept them in all the way which they had come, and had given them homes in this new land. The house was named Bethel, and many, since the day of that simple dedication, have here enjoyed so great a sense of the presence of God as to be ready to exclaim with Jacob: "This is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven."

Your informant supposes that William Winans came to the circuit in 1811 or 1812, but has no written memorandum of the fact, as all these perished in the fire kindled in October 1861, by Federal soldiers.

The first camp meeting was held at Bethel in 1813. We do not recollect with certainty, but suppose that Miles Harper, William Winans and others, whose names are not now remembered, were present at that meeting.

Samuel Sellers came from Tennessee in 1815. He was a godly and useful man, but died early.

A regular preaching-place on the circuit was about twelve miles northeast of Edward McGehee's home. He and his wife rode on horseback, through the cane thicket, to attend class meetings and prayer meetings at that place, which was called Graves' meeting house. Afterward the people of that vicinity built the church which was called Midway. In the grove near that church the precious remains of the Rev. Mark Moore were laid. He was sent to New Orleans, from Baltimore, by Bishop McKendree. As a preacher he had few equals. His style was tender, persuasive, pathetic, and at times rose to an overpowering grandeur. In his life he was a pure and loving Christian—one to whom guile was unknown. His preaching was attended with great power, and many souls were converted under his short yet brilliant ministry.

Ministerial Support.

MR. EDITOR: I see that "Indamora" discusses this interesting subject. Objecting to the manner in which some have treated it, "Indamora" observes: "Follies are sometimes cured by this sort of treatment, but matters of principle never." What a boundless vision this subject opens. We are always making discoveries. Who ever dreamed that the writers on this subject were trying to "cure a principle?" Who ever had an imagination bold enough to conceive that the want of ministerial support was a "matter of principle?" Truly "the spirit of brotherhood causes us to throw the mantle of kindness and forbearance over the small peculiarities of mental vision we perceive in others."

"Indamora's" reference to logic is most unfortunate. He says: "Neither the logic of Hamilton nor Mill furnishes a process of reasoning whereby the pains of want can be overcome, for the reason that an empty stomach comes not within the purview of logic." I always heard that the greater part of John Stuart Mill's life and logic was applied to this very thing—to show people how to obtain bread for their stomachs. And it is well known to every one that to Sir William Hamilton belongs "the quantification of the predicate in its extension to negative propositions." Now this ministerial support is by a good many people considered a negative. However that may be, it does seem to me that this subject comes directly "within the purview of logic." For instance, we have the church—the support; the ministers and the facts show a clear case of "undistributed middle." How infelicitous is "Indamora's" reference to logic! He says further: "Instead of finding fault, it were a nobler way to keep silence or point out some better method of obtaining the object." How hard it is for people to take the advice they give! He begins immediately to paint a burning shame upon the cheeks of church-members, and to accuse them of a want of spirituality. Is it true that the church is not as spiritual as in former years, and is this want of ministerial support an evidence of it? I think if brethren will take the trouble to look at statistics they will find that the ministers are better supported now than ever before. Then, if the church has lost in spirituality, this is not the evidence of that loss. When ministers are better supported than ever before, oh, ye logicians! don't say that this better support is evidence of a loss in spirituality. What "Indamora" says about faith and works is very good, but it would have been better if he had said that works grow out of faith, instead of saying that they were "joined with faith." "Indamora" came very near the solution of this great difficulty in one of his sentences; and it shows how close a man may skirt along the edge of a great discovery without making it. He says: "Better by far would it be were more attention given to impressing the congregations with the need of holy living and doing than in striving to swell the numbers in our churches of those who lack the one thing needful." Here, brother, you are very near the solution of this problem, and it is better for you that you work it out yourself.

For the edification of all who are interested in this subject I commend the following paragraph from one of Bishop Keener's addresses:

"After a man has that measure of the love of God in his heart by which he knows that God has forgiven him his sins, without demanding anything of him, for the sake of Jesus Christ; and after God has touched his heart and given him something of the approbation of a good conscience, and emotions of the nature of a child of God; after he has enkindled something of gratitude and left in him something of liberality, and has given him abundant evidence of his readiness to bestow without consideration; after all this has taken place, and the man goes on, and struggles and tries to be developed, as the Christian church now tries under that first blessed gift of a new heart; and by and by there is something wanting, and he does not know exactly what it is—does not comprehend the difficulty in the way—and he begins to look around for the right channel and to make the inquiry, then may be the time for the Holy Spirit to show him this grand, blessed doctrine, which before he was not prepared to see—that there is a grace which constitutes the 'riches of liberality,' and is in itself the highest achievement of the Spirit in his workings upon the human mind."

QUIS.

Obituaries

JAMES H. MARTIN was born in Crawford county, Georgia, February 29, 1838. He joined the Baptist Church in 1861, and died in Natchitoches parish, Louisiana, August 4, 1873.

He had a daughter named Elizabeth, who was attacked with the same disease about the same time, and who died July 25—sick only three days.

The writer was not present at their bedsides during their illness, but was informed that their end was calm and peaceful.

JAMES E. BRADLEY.

AUGUSTUS CRESWELL SAMUEL, youngest son of Mrs. F. A. Samuel, was born in Rankin county, Mississippi, November 21, 1860, and died in Burleson county, Texas, October 19, 1873.

One-half of Sister Samuel's family have crossed the river of death. She is comforted with the assurance that a few more days, or years at most, will end her earthly pilgrimage, when she shall again meet her loved ones who have preceded her to the better land. Her great concern now is for a son who is unconverted. May the Lord in great mercy hear the prayers of the widowed mother, and save her family without the loss of one in his kingdom above.

J. L. LEMONS.

JOSEPH M. POOL was born near Baltimore, Maryland, November 19, 1815, and died in New Iberia, Louisiana, October 17, 1873.

Bro. Pool was an exemplary member of the Methodist Church for two years previous to his death. Religion seemed to be a principle with him; he attended upon the means of grace diligently. Following a frontier life, as he did—forming one of the Fremont engineers, and spending several years in the wilds of Texas, the Territories and California—it would hardly be expected that the subject of religion would ever take such deep hold upon him; yet his devotions and sincerity none can question. Sister Pool has lost a faithful companion, but we may hope heaven has gained another saint. His disease was congestion. "Write, Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord; yea, saith the Spirit; for they rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

T. B. WHITE, Pastor.

MRS. LETITIA MARSALIS, consort of Ephraim Marsalis, of Johnston Station, Mississippi, was born and raised in Amite county, Mississippi, and died at her home in this place, on the thirtieth of September, of the comatose form of congestive fever, in the fifty-second year of her age.

She was a thorough Methodist, and had lived a consistent member of our church about thirty-five years. She was an agreeable companion, a kind mother, and ruled her household well; was a quiet, sociable neighbor, liberal in sustaining the interests of the church, and a great helper of the needy. Her illness was so short and her death so unexpected that her family and friends have experienced a great shock by this sad bereavement. At ten o'clock P. M. she was attacked, and at five o'clock of the same day she was a corpse.

"Great God, on what a slender thread Hang everlasting things!"

She said nothing in her last hours about dying, for she was speechless from a very early period in her illness; but her long life of strict piety leaves full assurance that she is at rest in the paradise of God. G.

MRS. CLARISSA OZIER, relict of Perry Ozier, deceased, and whose maiden name was Jones, was born in Augusta, Georgia, October 5, 1820, and departed this life, at her home near Pine Level, Alabama, October 19, 1873. Sister Ozier was left an orphan at about the age of ten years, soon after which she gave her young heart to God, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South, of which she ever remained an acceptable member until her death. She leaves nine children and five grandchildren to mourn her loss, her husband, three children and one grandchild having preceded her, as we trust, to the better land. She was a woman of a large, warm heart, and her affections were not only bestowed upon her immediate family, but a large circle of neighbors shared her love and friendship, which was reciprocal, as was attested by the long procession which followed her remains to the grave, and the large congregation of sad faces which assembled to hear her funeral sermon on the following Sabbath. Not the last to miss her will be the writer—her pastor—who in his itinerant peregrinations always found her home a bright and pleasant place to him, and he will never forget the friendly greetings and warm-hearted entertainments received at her hands and those of her dear children. Although the circumstances of her death were such as to deprive us of her dying testimony to the truth of the religion she so long professed, yet when we think of her life-long devotion to God, her strong attachment to the church, her reverence for the Sabbath, her love for the ministry, and her great delight in song and prayer, and then remember that she is gone, we think of her in heaven. All her surviving children are members of the church of her choice except one, who strangely left the church of his parents and joined another. May she never forsake his parents' God, and may the family be unbroken in the Kingdom above.

"Come, ye disconsolate, wherever ye languish,
Come, and at God's altar fervently kneel;
Here bring your wounded hearts, here tell your anguish;
Earth has no sorrow that Heaven cannot heal."

B. F. BLAW.

DIED, at the residence of her son-in-law, Captain J. A. Liddell, in Rayville, Louisiana, on Saturday, August 10, 1873, Mrs. H. M. M. PHILLIPS, aged forty-eight years, eleven months and twenty days.

The deceased was a daughter of John and Harriet McRae, and was born in Wayne county, Mississippi, August 27, A. D. 1821; in infancy moved to Washington county, Alabama, and thence to Sumter county. She was married to Colonel Lawrence D. Phillips in January, 1841, and resided after marriage in Livingston, Alabama, until the year 1851, when she moved to Louisiana. She was a stepdaughter of Mr. William Godfrey.

Since the death of her husband, in October, 1857, Sister Phillips has been declining in health. That fatal stroke from the unrelenting hand of death appears mysteriously to have shrouded in gloom the existence of her remaining days. Like a soul whose temporal mission had been fulfilled, and whose desires doubtless began to stretch out far beyond the brief space of time's allotment, she moved on through life, gradually sinking in physical weakness beneath the accumulating trials of the present world, as if calmly awaiting a summons from the Master, which should say to the troubled waters, "Peace, be still," and call the care-worn spirit to its heavenly rest.

"God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform;"

and though the path of adversity through which some of his children are called to travel during an earthly pilgrimage be in "ways that are past finding out," yet he is a God of love, under the vigil of whose omnipresent care no lily of the valley falls unguided by a fixed purpose in the divine law.

Sister Phillips joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in Sumter county, Alabama, in 1839. She loved the church of her choice, and the ministers of the gospel always found a hearty welcome under her roof. She lived a quiet Christian life, and died a calm and peaceful death, leaving three daughters, whom she lived to see arrive at the age of accountability, and whose lives are now symbolic of early training under the religious precepts and example of a good and pious mother. She rests in heaven. JAMES L. WRIGHT.

GET MUCH of the hidden life into your own soul; soon it will make life spread around.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1873.

THE WONDERFUL SEED.

BY KATE PUTNAM OSGOOD.

It was a wild, neglected ground,
That should have been a garden fair.
No hope of ripening fruit was found
In the rank briers that hedged it round,
No song-bird nested there.

The winding ways were overgrown,
The flowers were choked in vine and plot.
Foul weeds and venomous vines alone
Thing festering on the moldered stone
About the dreary spot.

It seemed a soil unfit to feel
The growth of any wholesome thing—
Yet, under the press of thorn and weed,
Slow waxing, was a wondrous seed
Waiting its time to spring!

The dews of evening filtered through,
The morning sunbeams lent their prime,
And, even and morn, in sun and dew,
In secret ever the good seed grew,
Hiding its perfect time.

At length the final hour was found
Through weary seasons long delayed:
The rain had loosened the stubborn ground,
And, through the matted weeds around,
There peeped a slender blade.

Only a thread of green at first,
Scarce visible amidst the gloom;
But still unfolding, sunshine nurst,
Fresh leaf and twig and branch, it burst
At last in glorious bloom.

No growth of mortal hopes or fears
Had ever blossom half so fair!
It brought the birds, it brought the bees,
It brought the eternal summer breeze
To make new music there.

And springing, spreading, day by day,
So full it filled the garden bound,
The tangled weeds uprooted lay,
The barren briers dropped away
And withered on the ground.

And when the moldered stone lay bare
And blistering in the summer noon,
It wound about it, everywhere,
Deep garlands, where the searching air
Dropped into sweetest swoon:

When every stone a blossom seemed,
And every gap a hidden nest;
Green nooks where secret music streamed,
And scattered dews and petals gleamed
About some flattering breast.

Oh, blessed miracle, indeed!
The desert quickening into flower;
The stubborn growth of thorn and weed
Uprooted by a little seed
Fostered in sun and shower!

Oh, miracle still wrought anew,
While hearts unopened to Heaven retain
Where barren briers and nettles grew
Let fall the kindly sun and dew,
And Eden blooms again!

Obeying Christ and Obeying You.

BY REV. WILLIAM C. WILKINSON.

You are a Christian parent. You sincerely desire to bring your children up in the "nurture and admonition of the Lord." But I wonder if you know well what that expression means. It is a curious expression. It would never have occurred if the Bible had been first written in English. The thought of it would have occurred, but not the phrase. Just what does it mean? I suppose this: "That Christian parents, in the nurture of their children, are to accustom them, by frequent reminders, to the idea of obedience to Christ as their Lord."

Let me illustrate. The other day I saw two little girls running away to hide from their younger sister, a child of four years of age—call her Daisy. Daisy did not enjoy the idea, and she ran after them, crying aloud with vexation. The two older sisters, children of six and eight respectively, ran on, regardless of Daisy's distress, and were soon out of sight among the orchard-trees. At this point the father appeared on the scene, and I was witness of what ensued.

"Daisy," he called, "come here."

Daisy stopped crying and came to her father.

"What were you crying about, Daisy, my dear?"

"They did run away from me," she complained.

"Alice and Esther," called the father, aloud, "come to papa."

The two little sisters soon emerged from among the trees, and somewhat seriously came up to their father.

"Alice, my dear," said he to the older, "what were you hiding from your little sister for?"

"For fun."

"You wanted to have fun, then, by making little Daisy feel bad?"

"I didn't want to make her feel bad."

"Didn't you hear her crying?"

"Yes, sir."

"What was she crying for, do you think?"

"Because we ran away from her."

"You knew, then, that she was feeling bad to leave you leave her behind?"

"Yes, sir."

"Was that obeying the command of Christ: 'Be kindly affectioned one toward another?'"

"No, sir."

"Well, Alice, now that you have disobeyed Christ in one thing, there are two other things that you ought to obey him in. You have committed a fault against little Daisy and one against Christ. What has Christ commanded you to do in such a case?"

"Confess your faults one to another, and pray: Forgive us our trespasses."

"Yes. Will you confess your fault to Daisy?"

Alice was silent. She struggled against the duty. It was not easy for her, more than it is for us older, to make a confession. The father spoke again:

"Alice, if you don't think you ought to obey Christ—"

"I know I ought to obey him," Alice said. But she made little convulsive movements of resistance. The father went on:

"Now, you know, Alice, papa cannot make you do this. I might perhaps make you say over some words to Daisy; but if you did not feel them in your heart it would not be obeying Christ. So I shall not say much more, but if you are not ready to obey Christ—"

"I am ready, but—"

"But you won't," broke in little Daisy, finishing Alice's speech for her in perfect good nature. Daisy had by this time lost all personal interest in the issue. Alice laughed, and said: "No, that wasn't it."

"What is it, Alice?" asked Esther.

"I will do it if—"

"But there must be no ifs, Alice," said the father, gravely. Alice's inward struggle went on.

"Now, Alice," said the father, "as I told you in the first place, I shall not try to make you obey Christ, for I could not do it if I tried. You must do it yourself, of your own free will, or not at all. But unless you are ready to obey now I would like to have you go somewhere by yourself and spend half an hour in thinking it over, and in praying, too, if you want to pray. By that time you can make up your mind fully whether you will obey or disobey."

Alice said:

"Well, Esther always is the one to begin the running away from Daisy."

"Ah! but Alice, my dear, that is confessing Esther's faults; it is not confessing yours."

"Oh! dear, I know that." And Alice began to cry.

"Christ says: 'Confess your faults one to another.' He does not say: 'Confess your sister's faults.' It would be easy to obey that commandment, wouldn't it, dear?"

Alice smiled through her tears and said: "Yes, sir."

"But that is the devil's commandment, not Christ's. It is easy and pleasant to obey the devil's commandments, but the end of it is death and hell."

"You like to say 'hell,' don't you, Alice?" interposed Esther, with a somewhat inconsequent allusion to private talks of like and dislike as to different words between the two little sisters.

"No," shortly responded Alice, occupied with her present struggle, but diverted for an instant. "I like to say 'huge,'" filling her mouth with the big bulk of the word, much to her transient satisfaction.

The father continued:

"It is sometimes hard to obey Christ's commandments, but the end of that is"—and he waited for Alice to say, as she did, "life."

"Yes, life and peace and heaven."

"Well, I will obey Christ."

"When, my dear? You know we disobey until we obey."

"I wish—" said Alice, and something in her manner made her father guess her wish before she uttered it.

"You wish I would go away and let you be alone to do it. Well, I will go; but do you remember that you must obey with the heart or you do not obey at all. And explain to Daisy what command it was that you disobeyed, and then what command it is you are obeying now. Make her understand."

With that the father left the children by themselves, and Alice performed the sweet sacrament of her confession. With a lightened and brightened face she came and told her father it was done.

"And I, my child," said he, "have also been obeying Christ, who tells me to bring you up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. This is what that means, I think."

"Would you too, Esther, like to obey Christ in everything?"

"Yes, sir," Esther said, with much seriousness.

"Alice, you haven't prayed to God," she reminded her sister; who, on that hint, went by herself to obey the second of the two commands.

The rest of the afternoon all three children played sweetly together, as if under the spell of that solemn "admonition of the Lord." It is right, parent, for you to teach your children obedience to yourself. But try how much easier it is and how much more fruitful to teach them obedience to Christ.—Independent.

The Rev. Narayan Sheshedria.

Those who had the opportunity, says the Interior of Chicago, of hearing this gentleman last Tuesday evening, enjoyed a rich treat. We only regret that Mr. Sheshedria could not have remained long enough in our city to have addressed other and larger audiences, and to have given our ministers the opportunity of forming his acquaintance, and of extending to him a warm Western welcome. Mr. Sheshedria is the son of Brahmin parents. For upward of thirty years he has been a professor of Christianity, and during most of that time an ordained minister of the Presbyterian Church. He speaks English with an ease, affluence and elegance which is equaled by very few among those even who use it as their mother tongue. His Scotch training is evident in his decided Scotch accent, which to our ears is, we confess, very delightful. The account which he gave of the missionary outlook in India was very gratifying; but more encouraging than anything he said was the palpable refutation which Mr. Sheshedria's presence gave of the statement that Christianity has made no impression upon the higher classes of India, and that Brahmin philosophy has hitherto rendered proof against missionary logic. It was like opening a new chapter in the evidences of Christianity to hear one whose kindred trace their ancestry to the brain of Brahma, pleading with an American audience in behalf of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Mr. Sheshedria's position, in respect to the Hindoo Scriptures, stands in very pleasing contrast with that of many in our day, who bring the Vedas into favorable comparison with Christianity. He would have very little sympathy with the remark, for which the Nation is responsible, that it is an impertinence for us to introduce our occidental civilization among a people who can boast of a civilization which is older than our own. He knows the ins and outs of Hindooism too well to see in this remark anything except the shallowness which results from ignorance alike of the Christianity which is disparaged, and the heathenism which is praised. Mr. Sheshedria had been accustomed to be regarded as an incarnation of Deity, and as such to receive divine honors; but his religion did not satisfy him, and when he was referred to the Vedas as containing the philosophy which was to take the place of the mythology which he had outgrown, he did not find them to be the mine of wisdom which some, who are less acquainted with them, affirm them to be.

Not that he failed to appreciate the intellectual vigor far which his people have been remarkable. With Wordsworth he could say:

"Great men have been among us;
Hands that have penned and tongues that uttered wisdom."

And the divinity of the Christian system was evinced in the fact that India had never produced the intellect which was great enough to solve the problem of salvation as it is solved in the religion of Jesus Christ.

It was with peculiar interest that we listened to this turbaned, dark-faced stranger as he told us how the correspondence between the Messianic Psalms and the closing chapters of the gospels led him to embrace Jesus as his Savior, and left him with a belief which he has maintained unfalteringly, notwithstanding all that has been said and written to the contrary, that all Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and that holy men of old spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. It was grand to hear the doctrine of the inspiration of the Scriptures asserted with so much enthusiasm, and it occurred to us that perhaps the time may come when those who are now learning from our missionaries the story of the gospel may find it necessary to repay the debt by coming over to occidental lands to plead for the doctrines which brought them to Christ. It was evident that the truths which many nowadays are disposed to call old fogyish and unsuited to the times, are those which hold the first place in his regard, and perhaps he would be surprised to know that there is many a so-called evangelical pulpit in our land where the sacrificial work of Christ is never alluded to, and the judicial element in the atonement is overlooked; so little do some who pass as evangelical ministers of the gospel know of the grandeur of that system which alone explains how God can be just and justify the ungodly. There is a style of preaching which is in closer sympathy with the theology of Keshub Chunder Sen than with that of Narayan Sheshedria: a style of preaching which reduces Christ's sacrifice to an exhibition of sympathy, which identifies salvation with virtue, and makes every man his own redeemer. This kind of preaching will not convert Hindoos, will not convert anybody. It is another gospel. Upon the Hindoo it may have the effect of paving the way for his admission to the Deistic brotherhood of the Brahmo Somaj. Upon the young men and women of America its only effect will be the disastrous one of leading them to renounce the cardinal doctrines of Christianity.

What to Do With the Boys.

The Pennsylvania Teachers' Association, which has just closed its session in Pittsburg, is destined, we think, to accomplish a great amount of local good, though its membership is unfortunately confined to the western part of the State, and the view taken so far of all educational questions has been that grounded on a public school experience. This is the time of the year when education thrusts itself into view as a most prominent subject of attention. Already the columns of the Tribune are filled with advertisements for the September term of schools and colleges, from the little primer classes taught by young women and widows, to the great universities in which the tyro is plunged into a busy world, with laws, customs, even language of its own, all immature, crude, and stamped with the experience, the zeal and the acrid bigotry of boyhood.

Where shall we send Tom or Bob? is a question argued hotly over many a breakfast-table just now. Of course we have no business to take any part in deciding the question. We would not if we could point out the particular Rugby school or the college where the lad should certainly be taught how and why to reverence God, his neighbor and himself. Every boy is to father and mother a great possibility. About middle age a man is apt to feel his footing in life begin to give way before he has well secured it; his one chance is slipping from him; the inevitable, unalterable night is coming and he has made so little use of the daylight. But there is his boy! He thinks of the lad's life as a successful higher prolongation of his own. He will not fail as a tradesman or a scholar; his wholesome happiness will not be cankered by morbid discontent or hereditary ill-nature; he in some undefined way will not grow old like the mass of mankind, but be immortal. Education is, of course, intended to fit him for all this; but how to educate him? One adviser suggests certain schools where the lad is thrown wholly on his own strength of principle and self-control. He cooks, keeps house in company with his fellows, unaided and ungoverned by any authority; instruction is communicated by lectures, and he learns or does not learn, as pleases himself. The boy in this case turns out an idle dodger of duty for life, or a manly and honorable student, just as he happens to be influenced by his messmates; for it is oftenest the boy and not the teacher who molds the boy.

On the other side are schools patronized by wealthy people and their imitators, who would give their sons, in the vague hope of making "them gentlemen," habits of luxury, without the money to command them. Scholars of the old school assail the doubting parent with arguments in favor of classical training; scholars of the new flout at dead Homer and Cæsar, and the ideas with which they measured life would make every boy a naturalist or a civil engineer. On this hand is the Quaker system, where boys and girls are brought up side by side, and the boy left ignorant of no law of his physical or moral being; on the other the Jesuit training and its modern modifications, where he is placed under constant surveillance, taught from expurgated editions, and launched upon the world, ignorant as a child of its natural condition, or his real position in it.

This is the other extreme from the theory so often broached that there is a certain amount of evil with which every young man must be brought in contact, and the sooner he meets it the less effect it will have upon him. We venture to disagree so far with this creed as to advise that a boy should be fenced from all temptation until he has some defined sense of morality and manliness with which to defend himself—an armor only to be acquired in a pure, intelligent home training. No educated woman is fit to bear children who cannot give them all the instruction they require up to the age of ten years; no woman can have any higher career or nobler exercise for whatever talent God has given her, and if the unmarried women who are seeking outlet for their pent energies would qualify themselves for this highest duty of maternity, they would prove their own frequent assertion that women are born for higher uses than to be household drudges or to bring forth children. Home training in infancy is the only absolute, universal rule of education; after that the parent's course should be modeled by the child's character and temperament.—N. Y. Tribune.

A CORRESPONDENT wishes to be informed who is the author of the phrase: "God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb."

Sterne, the sentimentalist, is the author. A governor of Texas once quoted it in his thanksgiving proclamation as from the Bible; and we have heard it said that clergymen have introduced it in sermons, under the supposition that it was contained in the Scriptures. We have heard it quoted several times, as a comforting assurance, at funerals.

It not only is not from the Scriptures, but it is not true, and there is no sense in it. It is proverbial, in our New England States, that sheep-shearing time is apt to be followed by a cold northeasterly rain; and whoever has seen a flock of sheep shiver through one of these pelting, pitiless storms must have realized that, if it had been tempered to them, it had been tempered very cold.

It may be a very consoling faith to the heartless husbandman, who leaves his shorn lambs shelterless, to believe that the wind is tempered to them; but if he would convert his convenient doctrine into some substantial sheds it would be better for his sheep.

Yet while God does not temper the wind to the shorn lamb, he does temper the shorn lamb to the wind: first, by that principle of physiology which adapts the system, in a great measure, to the degree of temperature to which it is habitually subjected; and, secondly, by the growth of a new fleece to cover the denuded animal, which begins the moment the clipper's shears have taken off the old one.

Faith in Divine Providence is to be cherished and cultivated; but it should be an intelligent and ennobling faith, and not that perverted belief which would justify or excuse our own errors of commission, either toward our fellow-beings or toward the brutes which are dependent upon us, by the supposition that Providence, in some mysterious way, will make up for them, and convert our cruel acts into deeds of kindness.—New York Ledger.

BLUSHING.—Darwin, in his new work, on "The Expression of the Emotion in Man and Animals," has an interesting chapter on blushing. This act, he tells us, is the most peculiar and the most human of all expressions. Animals never blush, although monkeys redden from passion. We cannot produce blushing by any physical means; it is the mind which must be affected; and blushing is not only involuntary, but the wish to restrain it increases the tendency. While the young blush more freely than the old, infants do not blush; women blush more than men; the blind and the deaf do not escape. It is usually the face, ears and neck only that redden; the blush does not extend over the body; but certain races who go habitually nearly naked blush over their arms and chests, and even down to their waists. The limitation of blushing to exposed parts is explained by the fact that these portions of the surface have been habitually exposed to the air, light and alternations of temperature by which the small arteries acquire the habit of readily dilating or contracting. Hindoos blush but little; the Chinese rarely blush; the Polynesians blush freely; the young squaw of our American tribes has been seen to blush; the Kaffers of South Africa never blush, neither do the Australians.

THE WORD SHAH.—Since the Persian monarch has been making his European tour, philologists have been much exercised as to the meaning of his official name. As the Persian belongs to the Shemitic family of languages, the root in shah is the same as in the Hebrew Messiah. Its essential meaning is the anointed one. The shah is the anointed king. The same root appears in the word chess. Chess is an Oriental game, in which the principal figure is the shah or king. When the king is overcome he is said to be shah-mated, or checkmated, which means "the king is dead." The original form of the word has been modified and obscured by the influence of some of the European languages, through which it has come into our own tongue.

HEINE—no godly prophet—predicted that Germany and France would fight, and that France would be utterly put down; that the line of fortifications then built round Paris by M. Thiers would draw there a great hostile army, and that they would crush the city like a contracting iron shroud; and that the Communists would some day get the upper hand in Paris, would strike in a spirit of fiendish rage at the statues, the beautiful buildings and other marks of civilization, and would throw down the Vendome Column in their hate of the man who had made France the foe of every other people, and would further show their execration of the memory of Napoleon by taking his ashes from the Invalides and flinging them into the Seine. The last only of these predictions remains unfulfilled to the letter.

OUR HOMES should be as holy as our churches, to say the least.

Religious Intelligence.

THE Jewish Messenger, published in New York, advocates the non-exemption of church property.

THE Christian Union thinks it is not improbable that the United Brethren in Christ will, before long, unite with the great body of Methodists.

A MILITARY COLLEGE has been organized in Guatemala, and all religious communities are suppressed, and their property dedicated to beneficence and instruction.

AUSTRIA has appointed a commission to regulate the relations of Church and State in Hungary, so as to guarantee the civil equality and free exercise of all religions.

NINETY Old Catholic delegates, representing the various cantons in Switzerland, have met in conference at Altera, and reported a great increase in the numbers of their adherents.

THE British and Foreign Bible Society has just ordered editions of the Scriptures, as follows: 10,000 Chinese New Testaments, 16,000 Bohemian Bibles, 8vo., and 15,000 Bohemian Bibles, small 8vo.

A PARTY of Mormon emigrants, who arrived at Paris, September 9, on their way to America, were notified by the prefect of police that if they attempted to hold their religious exercises in public they would be expelled from the city.

DR. LITTLEDALE estimates that out of the 20,000 clergy of the English Church 10,000 belong to the various altitudes of the High Church party, 5,000 to the Low Church, 3,000 to what he calls the colorless or Nonjuring, and 2,000 to the Broad Church party.

THERE is quite a rapid increase in the number of Presbyterian churches in Spain. In 1871 there were but ten congregations; in 1872 there were sixteen; and this year a general assembly was held in Madrid, and the church of that country divided into four presbyteries.

THE London Wesleyan ministers of the London districts have planned a metropolitan missionary campaign. Nearly 150 services were provided for to take place this month and next. Could not some of our city districts copy this movement?

THE Methodist ministers of New York have opened their regular weekly meetings for the new ecclesiastical year. Hereafter reporters will be excluded, an arrangement which doubtless will contribute materially to the harmony of the denomination in New York and elsewhere.

THE Abbe Michaud believes that out of every ten priests in France two are conscientiously Ultramontane priests, three rationalistic skeptics, and five Catholics, and that the number of rationalistic skeptics is greater proportionately among the bishops than among the priests.

REV. JOHN BOYLE writes from Pernambuco, Brazil: "The Lord is answering our prayers. A gentleman recently called to see us, who has cast off the superstition and idolatry of Rome. A few days ago Vianna called on Bro. Smith, and brought with him a young priest, who has broken with Rome."

THE Methodists of Leeds, England, have been seized with a spirit of church extension that is working out fine results. A meeting was held last month, of which Dr. Punshon was chairman, and much enthusiasm was shown; about £5,500 were raised, and the way is thereby opened for the success of the scheme.

BISHOP BOWMAN said, at the recent session of the Indiana Conference, that a brother had requested him to draw on him for $1,000, to be used in small sums to help build plain churches in destitute places. Up to this time he had drawn for $900. To his certain knowledge this $900 had been instrumental in raising $12,000 more.

THE Swiss Catholic has been started at Geneva as the organ of the Liberal Catholic Association. This body claims to have in the Canton of Geneva alone more than 1,500 matriculated members, and to have in its possession proofs that as many more voters, partisans of its principles, only wait for favorable opportunity to profess their adherence.

A TABLE showing the ecclesiastical genealogy of the Old Catholic Bishop Reinkens has been published, from which it appears that he is the twenty-fourth Old Catholic (or Jansenist) bishop consecrated in Holland since the schism between Utrecht and Rome. The first consecration was given in 1639, by Dominic Varlet, Roman Catholic bishop in partibus of Babylon.

A CORRESPONDENT of the New York Herald, writing from Rio Janeiro, alleges that an opinion, almost a belief, exists in the city to the effect that Pope Pius the Ninth secretly favors a Vatican policy indicative of a removal of the chief seat of government of the Roman Catholic Church, subsequent to his death, from Rome to the territory of the Brazilian empire, thus fixing the center of Catholic propagandism in America.

MADURA is a city of Southern Hindoostan, famed for its magnificent heathen temples, one of which has 10,000 massive pillars of stone. The American Board have one of its most prosperous missions here. Rev. J. T. Noyes writes to the Missionary Herald: "Give us fifty years more, and we shall see not only Madura with her 2,000,000, but all India with her 200,000,000, by the blessing of God on the preaching of a pure gospel, transformed, evangelized and numbered among Christian nations."

BISHOP CUMMINS, of Kentucky, who, in common with the Dean of Canterbury, has been receiving almost daily epistolary shots through the press for partaking of the communion outside of the church episcopal, confessed in Dr. Hall's church, during the Alliance sessions, that to his shame he had not sat down at the table of the Lord with his Presbyterian brethren for twenty-five years; but he declared that, if Heaven permitted, an equal space of time should not elapse before he again enjoyed this blessed privilege. The letter-writers would deny it to him.

THEY have a rather lively way of expressing their religious sentiments in some parts of Great Britain. Not long ago Archdeacon Denison presided at a harvest festival at East Brent. A multitude of persons, in whose eyes the Ritualism of the venerable deacon finds no favor, got up a counter demonstration on the outskirts of the parish. If we must believe the Daily Telegraph, effigies were suspended from gibbets with the mottoes, "No Popery," "No Priests," "No Idolatry," affixed to them.

THE tendency toward the "free seat" system is apparently more marked in the Episcopal Church than in any other, if there can be said to be any tendency in that direction at all. Some encouragement will be given to the advocates of the system by the recent action of the vestry of St. Paul's, New York, which has voted that all the pews now owned and that may hereafter be owned by the church shall be free. Another fact not generally known is that the acts incorporating the proposed Episcopal cathedrals of Albany and New York provide that their seats shall "always be free."

DO THE good people of New York know that we have a heathen temple in the very heart of the city? It is stated that in Baxter street, within a stone's throw of the City Hall, on the second floor of a wretchedly dirty tenement, the Chinese have a temple, where more than 500 assemble regularly to worship a wooden image of the Chinese god Fo. In the very heart of the greatest city of Christian America, paganism has set up its idols, and the poor, misguided heathen "bow down to wood and stone." Here is a field for evangelistic effort. Who are busied in the education of these people? Where are their schools? Why not make an earnest effort to send the common school and the Bible into this outpost of heathenism, and by the conjoined light of education and the gospel open their eyes to their miserable folly and delusion? Let us have a common school for the Chinese in this city, and teach them to read the book which is at once a civilizer and a sanctifier. Christian Intelligencer.

THE Robert College in Turkey is a marvel of the age, and is destined to do a great work in educating youths of heathen countries. It was established a few years ago by Christopher Robert, Esq., a merchant of New York, and placed under the presidency of Dr. Hamlin. It is disconnected with any missionary board. Its object is to provide the best possible instruction, pervaded thoroughly by the Christian, not denominational, spirit, to all who may become students. The president once said to a Jewish lady, who proposed to send her sons there, provided that they hear nothing of Christianity, that her children could not be received under such conditions—that Christianity must permeate all the instructions of the schools. The site of the college is most delightful, occupying a commanding bluff on the Bosphorus, about midway between Constantinople and the Black sea. The building is large, and additional edifices are about to be added to the main one. It has now 216 students, with twenty-three professors and instructors, most of whom are Americans. The college is classified nationally as follows: Armenians, Greeks, Bulgarians, English-Americans, Jews, Italians, Germans, Turks, Dalmatians, French, Dutch, Poles and Prussians, and still the utmost harmony exists. The college is doing a glorious work, and will greatly assist in preparing missionaries for important fields of usefulness in the several countries represented in the institution.

PRESBYTERIAN missionaries in Brazil report rapid advance beyond their highest expectations. The separation of Church and State is the absorbing question now under discussion throughout the country—a question brought prominently forward just at present because of the quarrel between the Roman Catholic Church authorities and the Free Masons, but involving many other interests and principles. In substance, Rev. A. L. Blackford represents the difference to have arisen as follows: The Bishop of Pernambuco ordered several of the brotherhoods in his diocese to expel those of their members who were Masons. This the brotherhoods, as corporate bodies, with statutes approved by government, even had they wished to obey their prelate, could not legally do. In consequence of their refusal they were interdicted by the Bishop, who was supported in his action by other bishops, though they did not themselves proceed to such extremes in the exercise of authority. One of the brotherhoods appealed to the crown. The appeal was referred to the Council of State, an advisory council, which gave the opinion "that the bulls excommunicating the Masons, having never received the Imperial placit in Brazil have no legal force, and that hence the action and position of the Bishop were illegal and unconstitutional." The cabinet and Emperor adopted this opinion, and ordered the prelate to raise the interdict, and forbade any similar action on his part in future. In reply to this the Bishop published "a brief from the Pope, received the same day, sustaining his action and reaffirming all former bulls against the Masons, which brief was to go to all the bishops for execution. The Bishop of Pernambuco publicly declared he would not obey the government." The government declares that it will execute the law, and the Bishop is under prosecution. The Bishop of Para also affirms that he will obey the Pope, in defiance of the law; and the result is that not only the press, but some of the more influential statesmen are arguing strenuously for a separation of Church and State.

A CARELESS HANGER, trimming Sheridan's ears, put him to great pain and uneasiness. "Are you trimming my left ear now?" asked the wit. "No, sir; not till I've done with the right." "Oh! only thought by what I felt that you were passing through to the left ear without going round."

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1873.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, Publisher.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. Harp, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. Linus Parker, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Agents—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. A. J. BRIGGS.
REV. J. W. RUSH.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. WILLIAM V. TUDOR, D. D.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

REDUCTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers hereafter at the following rates:

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year | $2 00 |
| Six Months | 1 25 |
| Three Months | 75 |

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

to all Ministers of the Gospel, traveling or local, and widows of deceased traveling preachers.

FREE ONE YEAR

to any person forwarding to us four new yearly subscribers, with Eight Dollars.

Death of Bishop Early.

Rev. John Early, D. D., one of the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died, at his residence in Lynchburg, Virginia, on Wednesday, November 5, 1873, aged eighty-seven. Bishop Early was born in 1786, joined the Virginia Conference in 1807, ordained deacon in 1809 and elder in 1811, and elected Bishop at Columbus, Georgia, in 1854. He had been in infirm health for several years, and we believe no regular work in holding Conference had been undertaken by him since the General Conference of 1866. For nearly a year past he had been confined for the most of the time to his home, gradually but surely sinking under the weight of years. On the first of next January he would have completed his eighty-eighth year. He had thus about attained to the years of the great and good Wesley, and had reached a green old age. His labors, extending through so long a period, were various and successful. He was in his prime a powerful preacher, a fine organizer, of superior business qualifications, of untiring energy and industry, and altogether devoted to the cause of Christ. His courage and firmness in the performance of duty were something heroic, and we doubt not he would have gone to the stake rather than swerve from what he regarded as the right. He had the strength and iron-heartedness of Luther, and he would have met the trials of the great reformer with an equal courage if they had come in his way. Through his long and active life he was ever a faithful and devoted preacher of the gospel, and among the very foremost of the great men of American Methodism. Stevens, in his History of the Methodist Episcopal Church, gives the following sketch of him, which is in the main a just and truthful delineation of his character and history:

A young man by the name of John Early was admitted to the Virginia Conference in 1807. His family belonged to the most influential class of society in Bedford county, Virginia, where he was born in 1786, became a Methodist in 1804, and was licensed to preach two years later, in his twenty-first year. He had begun his public labors among Mr. Jefferson's slaves at Poplar Forest, in Bedford county, and, notwithstanding his adherence to the policy of the Church South respecting the slavery controversy, he had been noted, from the beginning, for his interest in the religious welfare of the colored race. His strong characteristics quickly marked him as a superior man. Possessing an iron constitution, a practical but ardent mind, a notably resolute will, and habits rigorously systematic and laborious, he became a favorite coadjutor, a confidential counselor of Ashury, McKendree, Bruce, Jesse Lee and their associate leaders of the denomination. He was a renowned, if not indeed a dreaded, disciplinarian. His preaching was simple, direct and powerful, and few, if any of his early fellow-itinerants gathered more recruits into the church in Virginia. In 1811 he received about five hundred probationers on his circuit—Greenville, Virginia. When only about twenty-seven years old Asbury, against his remonstrance, made him presiding elder on the Meherren district, Virginia, an office in which his extraordinary business talents, as well as his energetic preaching, had full scope, and were crowned with memorable success. He held many camp meetings, at one of which, in Prince Edward county, more than eight hundred souls were converted in a single week. Every interest of the church received his devoted and persistent attention. He was a chief founder of Randolph Macon College, Virginia, and has continued to be its rector down to our day. In the General Conference of 1832 he received a large vote for the episcopate, and would probably have been elected had it not been for his connection with slavery.

Possessing surpassing capacity for business, he was often called upon for important services by both Church and State. Clay nominated him for the Cincinnati book agency, and others for that of New York in 1836. His fellow-citizens repeatedly nominated him for Congress; but he declined the honor as a detraction from his ministerial office. The general government offered him the governorship of Illinois when it was a Territory. President Adams solicited him to accept the same office in the Territory of Arkansas, and President Tyler that of Comptroller of the Treasury; but his answer was that "he could not come down" to such positions. He took an active part in the measures that resulted in the division of the church in 1844, and the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church South; shared in its convention at Louisville, Kentucky, in 1845; was the president pro tempore of its first General Conference at Petersburg, Virginia; and was there elected its first book agent. In 1854 he was made one of its Bishops, at Columbus, Georgia.

John Early still lives, after one of the most laborious careers in the history of American Methodist itinerancy. One who has well known him says that "he has probably received more persons into the Methodist Church than any man in it. The accounts he can give of scenes in Conferences, in churches, on the road, in social circles, or around the sick-bed, are 'telling beyond description.' As a presiding officer we seldom see his equal for precision, dispatch and business. His preaching is always dignified, simple and impressive, and often perfectly irresistible; thousands of souls, on earth and in heaven, are the seals of his ministry. He still retains this power; his large blue eye yet flashes with a tranquil and holy zeal; his powerful voice, though affected by age, yet, like the blast of a trumpet, peals forth the invincible truth, and his erect and vigorous form is yet capable of much labor. His knowledge of character is intuitive, his friendship inviolable, his firmness inflexible, his house the home of hospitality and social happiness; and if there be in his well-balanced character one feature more prominent than the rest it is that, in the functions of the episcopal office, he never sacrifices the interests of the church to his prejudices or his friendships; 'if one must suffer, it is always his friend or himself.'" * At the Southern General Conference in New Orleans, 1866, he obtained a release from his episcopal duties on account of his advanced age; but he still sojourns among the Conferences and churches, a welcome guest, venerated for his long services, and laboring according to his strength.

* Letter of Rev. George Rosser to the author.

The Death of Friends.

The death of those with whom we are most intimate, and who are snatched, as it were, in a moment from our sight, is attended by sensations such as no other event excites. We part with friends continually who are moving to distant places, and whom we scarcely expect to meet again in this world; but we may communicate with them, and we still think of them as breathing the common air, and moving amidst the sunbeams which play around our own footsteps. In these separations there is a sorrow, a sadness and a tearful regret; but we are consoled by the reflection that the absent are in the body, and are partakers with us of the nature and conditions of the earthly life. We may meet them again in very much the same state in which we parted, and, if they are still alive, our conceptions of them, however far away they may be, are of the familiar forms and voices which linger in the memory. We follow our friends about in their journeys and homes and employments here, and have some satisfaction and pleasure in picturing to our own minds just how they are, what are their thoughts, and what may be the visible and tangible surroundings—the earth, sky and people amidst which they dwell.

Death is of tremendous significance, and the effect upon us is without comparison. What it is to the one called away—something so fearful, so glorious and yet so incomprehensible—we can imagine, and it is this which separates and secludes it from all other experiences. As it relates to the living the sensation is new, and at the same time solemn and most mysterious. For this world and for the balance of this life we know the separation is absolute. No message can be wafted back, and no post will ever bring us tidings. No cable can span this deep and bring us word of those who have gone to "That undiscovered country, from whose bourn

No traveler returns."

Enoch was not, "for God took him." Thus, as respects any further communication, our most intimate friends, our dearest kindred, are not. They have vanished from us while walking by our side, in the midst of discourse unfinished, and while we had no thought of their taking away. They have completely dropped out of the affairs and associations of time, and so absolutely that they no more exist as a part of this earthly system. They are not on the earth, they no longer breathe this air, nor do they inhabit such bodies as they once had. Nothing so prepares us for their death as to relieve it of all seeming violence, and as to save us from the inevitable shock. In most instances the warning is very brief—a few days at most; sometimes there is none at all. But where age or long illness has led to what we supposed was a calm resignation, the moment which marks the last pulsation and ends the earthly pilgrimage overwhelms us with a grief and a desolation which it would seem impossible to anticipate or prevent. In this state, and altogether as they were in the flesh, we shall see them no more; and when we do meet again, how different the circumstances from those which have attended our associations here!

The death of any one, even a stranger, as announced in a morning paper, sets us to meditating, but the death of one we know and love starts a peculiar train of thought and reflection. Memory is quickened, and the associations of the past, the history as it has been connected with our own, the wrongs and negligences in ourselves especially, and our failure to improve more fully the precious communion, come up with an almost preternatural vividness and rapidity. It is a time for self-reproach, when we feel that reparation is impossible; and the negligences, omissions and inconsiderateness of days gone by have a sting which cannot be extracted. But we do not dwell on the past alone. In such a lame way as is in our power, and doubtless with manifold misconceptions and errors, we follow the departed, trying to realize what death is, what are its physical and mental phenomena, and the emergence, from earth and flesh, of the immortal spirit. We must think of them in some way, and have some sort of conception of their being and of their employments. For their sakes, as well as for our own, we rejoice that life and immortality have been brought to light, and that we can think of our dead friends as helping to swell that great cloud of witnesses which surrounds us. They are "saints in light," and they are still, in character and in consciousness, such as we have known them on earth.

Every tie and relationship has a distinct effect as realized in the death of kindred. In the bereavement of parents, children, husbands and wives there is something which distinguishes each separate sorrow. The death of parents awakens feelings unlike those excited by the death of children, and so of other relationships. Different chords are touched by these various ministries of grief, and a different class of emotions is stirred, according to the character of the affections upon which the blow of affliction falls. In reference to all it is true that these bereavements have a peculiarly mellowing and refining influence upon those who yield submissively to the dispensation. No other troubles—as, for example, those of bodily suffering, or the loss of property, or the disappointment of our plans in life—yield results so beautifying and enriching to the soul as those wherein the tenderest and best affections are for the moment bruised. A death in the household points, as no other means can, to the unseen and eternal world, and helps to a strong realization of the nearness and certainty of the heavenly and the spiritual. There is surely no other form of sorrow that is so effectual in loosening our hold upon temporal things, and in exposing the emptiness and vanity of worldly success. The disruption of all ties, the breaking up of the associations and pursuits, and the sudden ending of all, stamp the earth as an empty and worthless thing apart from its relation to the future life. As men advance in years their path becomes more and more thronged by the images and memories of those who have put off the mortal tabernacle. In early youth we scarcely know any who have passed the solemn boundary; but every year adds some friends to the heavenly company, and as the years advance the number is greater and their fall more rapid, until at length we seem to live almost exclusively amidst the recollections of those who have passed away. The aged survivor especially feels that he is nearly alone, and that his comrades and fellow-travelers have been, for the most part, transferred before him to "the land that is very far off."

The death of friends and relatives ought to affect us deeply, and in a manner most salutary. But the sorrow should be such as consists with a clear apprehension of immortality. If there were no affliction there could be no sanctified application, and the blessed and golden fruits of this peculiar chastening would be lost. It is in the full blaze of life and immortality brought to light that this sorrow purifies our earthly and sordid natures, and lifts the soul to heights and glories hitherto unknown. It is useless to prescribe the bounds and measure of the anguish. He who is "the resurrection and the life" wept over the form of a dead friend whom he was about to raise, and his sympathy comprehended and fathomed all that the stricken sisters felt. As Christians, however, we should not sorrow as those who have no hope. Our dead are in Christ, and our mourning should be such as consists with an unfaltering confidence in him who has "the keys of hell and of death." All mystery will soon be explained, and the conditions which separate the living and the dead will presently cease. The longest life is but an hand-breadth, and the months or years that remain will be passed as a dream. Happy for us if we may fully appropriate David's words of faith and hope: "As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness; I shall be satisfied when I awake in thy likeness."

Bishop Early.

Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season.—Job v, 25.

Richmond, Nov. 5.—Rev. John Early, D. D., Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died today at Lynchburg, aged eighty-seven.

Mr. Editor: At your request I have found the following record of the toils of my venerable colleague during the sixty-one years of his active itinerant life. He was admitted on trial in 1807, in the Virginia Conference; appointed assistant preacher on Cumberland. In 1808, senior preacher on Camden; in 1809, Tar River, preacher in charge; 1810, Caswell, North Carolina; 1811, Greenville; 1812, Greenville; 1813, presiding elder of Meherren district; 1814, Meherren district. He then disappears from the minutes until 1821, when he was placed on the Meherren district as presiding elder; 1822 and 1823, Meherren district; 1824 to 1826, Conference missionary; 1827, Bedford circuit; 1828, left without appointment at his own request. In 1829 he was appointed presiding elder of Meherren district, and remained four years. In 1833, agent for Randolph Macon College; 1834, disappears from the minutes; 1835, agent for Randolph Macon College, and continued agent until 1841, when he was appointed presiding elder of Lynchburg district; the three next years on the same district; in 1844, presiding elder of Petersburg district. This year the Methodist Episcopal Church was divided. For the next nine years he was general book agent of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

In 1854 he was elected Bishop, and was superannuated at the General Conference of 1866, and was in his eighty-eighth year when he died. The accompanying letter was received at the Holston Conference, at its recent session, directed to Bishop Marvin. This was probably the last communication from him to the church. Upon motion of Dr. Wiley a resolution was passed responsive and expressive of the deep sympathy which the Conference felt in his health, and invoking upon him the consolations and blessings of the Father of spirits. It was my intention to have visited him this month on my way to the Virginia Conference.

The first recollection I have of this venerable man was at the time of the General Conference in Baltimore, in 1820. He was on the platform, speaking in aid of the church at Natchez, which had just been destroyed by a fire. Dr. Drake was the principal speaker. I was struck with the number of anecdotes he was telling. He was neatly and Methodistically dressed, for in those days and in those regions we knew a preacher by his coat and his cravat, as well as by his sobriety. He stood very erect, and was dignified and graceful on the platform. His hair was an iron gray; his head and brow indicated much common sense and energy, and he had a certain straightforwardness of method in his address and speech which commanded attention.

The next time I saw him was in 1854, at the General Conference at Columbus. I was no longer a boy in the galleries, but a member of the body. It seemed to me that a good deal of time had elapsed, but Dr. Early was looking about as at first—elastic, quick, positive, yet very pleasing in his manner. He had been serving the church for some years as book agent. At that Conference three bishops were elected, and he was one of them.

As a debater he was marked even among those whose power of speech was far above ordinary. He was well posted in the facts and history of our church legislation, had a wonderful memory for names and dates, was prompt to take position, firm, bold in maintaining it, quick to see the weak points of an opponent, and not wanting in resources at every stage of a discussion. He was sixty-eight years of age, seemingly an advanced period in which to enter upon the toilsome office of the episcopacy; but that he was there placed by his brethren shows in what remarkable vigor his powers were preserved.

Once after this I met him in the cabinet. He was presiding over the Louisiana Conference that year. He was nervous, and we were comparatively a body of raw recruits. So I have no doubt that we gave the dear old man no little trouble on that occasion. It was on that visit to the Conferences of the South that he introduced a morning prayer meeting before the hour of Conference business, and sang with so much freshness,

"How tedious and tasteless the hours
When Jesus no longer I see,"

to a tune which still remains as "Bishop Early's tune."

In private he was most fatherly, affable and courteous. He seemed to know everybody's father or grandfather who had been born in Virginia. He recollected faces and names with surprising accuracy, and at the same time took great interest in all the young people who were coming on. He was especially thoughtful of servants wherever he might be, and many a pleasant and good thing which had been uttered by them he brought forth on occasion. In the office of a pastor I suppose he must have had no superior. His traits were striking, and many of his sayings will survive through generations of preachers. He delighted in the atmosphere of class meetings, love-feasts and camp meetings, in shaking hands in the house of God, and in all that social fervor which characterizes Methodism.

Next in New Orleans, at the General Conference of 1866, I met him. He was very considerate, and advised me several times, showing a true and warm interest in my welfare. Just as the Conference adjourned I had the pleasure of handing him and Bishop Andrew a handsome present of money, committed by a good sister of the Attakapas country to my disposal. The old man was affected to tears, and showed the tender soul that was in him under all that surface of strong will. I heard him preach but once in my life; and feel that my knowledge is so limited of this true son of Virginia Methodism that it would be out of place for me even to attempt a general estimate of his usefulness, and of his character in his native State as an efficient, warm, thorough, painstaking itinerant Methodist preacher. I suppose no man ever lived who was better known in his own State, or who will be longer remembered by the Conference of which he was for so many years an active member. Of his more recent spiritual life and experience the following letter will give us the best information, as the telegram announcing his death has but just been received. Yours in Christ,

J. C. Keener.

New Orleans, November 9, 1873.

Rev. Bishop Marvin, Marion, Virginia:

My Dear Sir—As my father, Rev. Bishop Early, is prostrate and unable to write, he has requested me to address you this communication. He offers you his Christian greetings, and inquires of your health and progress in your arduous work. Father has enjoyed some degree of comfort until recently, when he was attacked with violent sciatica, and simultaneously with bronchitis, which together nearly destroyed his life, rendering him absolutely helpless. He is slowly gaining strength again, but the diseases made fearful havoc of his physical powers. His mind is calm and fearless. He looks to his approaching end with great serenity and triumph. He would be delighted to receive a visit from you at the close of the Holston Conference. And may God bless and prosper you.

Very respectfully yours, etc.,

T. H. Early.

Lynchburg, Va., October 17, 1873.

Relief of the Publishing House.

We give below the circular which the book agent is sending out to the Conferences. It has not, of course, reached the later Conferences, but it will, and the brethren might as well begin at once to order their hundred dollars' worth of books, and to sell them. The people need the books, and it is a good thing to have this extra pressure brought to bear in supplying them. The debt on the Publishing House may thus turn out for "the furtherance of the gospel," and prove to be a great blessing in the end. Our preachers have got somewhat out of the way of this important duty of selling church literature. Let them now return to the primitive style of itinerant work, and see that families and churches have good Methodist books, and a plenty of them. The people are perishing for lack of knowledge—for Wesley's sermons, for Watson's works, for Summers' commentaries, and the like. Some of our houses have not a good-sized Bible in them, many have not a commentary, and there are few families or churches with a liberal supply of hymn-books. We hope the stress on the Publishing House will be turned to this good account, and that light and truth will be sent out and scattered broadcast.

Southern Methodist Publishing House,
Nashville, Tenn., October 1, 1873.

To the Bishop and members of the —— Conference:

As you have already been advised by the annual exhibit of the Southern Methodist Publishing House, which was read before your Conference, our liabilities amounted, July 1, to $243,982.70, about $30,000 of which has since been paid. The interest on $100,000 of this amount, for which we issued bonds, is provided for by the rent of three store-rooms which belong to the Publishing House. The remainder, $113,982.70, is a floating debt, the interest on which is not only oppressive, but must greatly retard all our operations.

To aid in the payment of this debt it was proposed in our book committee, at their late meeting, that we call upon the church for an additional subscription of $50,000. To this proposition we objected, preferring to request each preacher in our connection to purchase one hundred dollars' worth of our publications, and by this means render us the aid we so much need. A purchase to this amount, with such other business as the house would do within the next four months, would relieve us entirely.

The Publishing House is one of the most elegant buildings in the country, and is, we think, worthy the church in whose interest it has been erected. It has a capital of $276,117.43 over and above all its liabilities. During the seven years in which we have been connected with it the capital has increased $188,951.73. If the present incubus can be lifted from it, its capital will be not only ample for all practical purposes, but will be large enough to enable the General Conference next May to adopt such liberal measures in reference to our publishing interests as will meet the wants of the church everywhere. There is not a preacher in charge of a station, circuit or district who cannot sell one hundred dollars' worth of our publications. In so doing two objects will be met—the supplying our people with good literature and the entire relief of the Publishing House. In many places the congregation would purchase hymn-books for the pews to this amount, or the Sunday school for their library. We prefer that the order should be accompanied with the money; but if not, for this specific purpose we will till your order at thirty days. If it suits your convenience to purchase from any depository in stead of the Publishing House, the same purpose will be accomplished if our publications only are ordered. See that your name is forwarded to us.

We send to your Conference our catalogue, addressed to each member, with enough copies in addition for the lay members, which we request you to preserve until you reach your work. Hoping to receive your order at an early day, I am truly yours, A. H. Redford, Agent.

Memphis Conference.—Change of Time and Place.—Bishop McTyeire gives the following notice in the Western Methodist, of last week, and which we transfer to our columns for the benefit of all concerned:

"Accounts received to-day from Memphis are not promising of an early disappearance of the yellow fever. After the epidemic ceases, its effects must for some time remain and be painfully felt. Our friends there, though 'given to hospitality,' will hardly be in a condition to entertain the Conference and its visitors. This necessitates a change of place, and letters from the presiding elders unite in this. Also in choosing Jackson, Tennessee, for the approaching session. The friends and the churches at Jackson have invited us, and I concur in the acceptance of their invitation.

"For reasons connected with the finances of the Conference, I deem it expedient to extend the time from the nineteenth to the twenty-sixth of November. A longer extension would conflict with other appointments that cannot be well moved.

H. N. McTyeire.

Nashville, October 23, 1873.

We are sorry to state, says the Nashville Christian Advocate, that our beloved brother, Dr. Haygood, has experienced a sad bereavement in the death of his sweet little boy, George Pierce Haygood, who died at noon, October 31, 1873. He was eighteen months old, and was baptized last year by the honored Bishop whose name he bore. He had been sick during the summer, and we hoped as autumn advanced he would get better—and so indeed he did, by a removal to that healthful clime where he is forever "safe from diseases and decline!" After a suitable service conducted by the editor of the Advocate, assisted by the Rev. John A. McFerrin, the heart-broken mother and the three children that are left, Dr. Redford and other friends, took a last look at the wax-like remains, and then the afflicted father took them to Atlanta to lay them beside those of his three other children who have "gone before." Our dear friends are graciously sustained by the Hand that has so sorely smitten them.

Southern Methodist Review. Allow me, through the columns of your journal, to inform the patrons of the Southern Review that it will no longer be published in St. Louis, its connection with the Southwestern Book and Publishing Company of that city having been dissolved. It will hereafter be called the Southern Methodist Review, and politics will be excluded from its pages. It will continue to discuss, as formerly, questions pertaining to religion, philosophy, science and literature. The theology of the Review will, in all respects, conform to the twenty-five articles of religion set forth in the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

By copying the above notice the papers of our church will confer a great favor on the editor and publishers of the Southern Methodist Review.

Very truly and respectfully,

A. T. Bledsoe.

Nashville, Tenn., October 29, 1873.

North Alabama Conference. Please announce that members of the North Alabama Conference will be passed over the Selma, Rome and Dalton railroad free on their return. Members should inquire at the depots if they had not better procure excursion tickets.

John A. Thompson.

Jacksonville, Ala., October 23, 1873.

Parting Words.

ON BOARD STEAMER CITY OF QUINCY, Mississippi River, Oct. 31, 1873.

DEAR BRO. PARKER: How much we regretted not seeing you as we passed through your city! I found myself meditating just at night-fall, after leaving the levee yesterday, until, waking from my reverie, I found myself in tears!

Our farewell at New Iberia was truly affecting. We did not know we loved that people so well, nor they us. They "accompanied us to the ship (boat,) and fell on Paul's neck and wept, sorrowing, most of all, that they should see his face no more." When I remember that, in their poverty and the unprecedented financial stress upon them, they lacked only a little over a hundred dollars of paying my whole claim, I am astonished, and my heart is filled with love and gratitude. Noble people! I shall never cease to love them. I pray the benedictions of Heaven upon them.

"Truly God's ways are unsearchable, and his judgments past finding out." With singular clearness has a gracious Providence led me to take the long leap across the continent—from the Louisiana Conference, on the Gulf of Mexico, to the Columbia Conference, on the Pacific ocean. If I could relate to you in detail how the Lord hath led me on, and overcome difficulties and obstacles insurmountable, you, with me, would join in saying: "Hitherto the Lord hath been my helper." Truly the "Lord is a stronghold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth those who trust in him." Henceforth let doubts of a super-ruling Providence be gone. "I do magnify the abounding grace and mercy of God. For me to start on a journey with my family across the continent, on a trip to cost not less than $800, with $460, required a marvelous amount of faith. Yet my faith "staggered not." God, whose I am and whom I serve, is faithful. I used all the skill and resources I could command to get a requisite amount of money. Not a dollar of private means could I make available. I came to the city in that state on my way to my new field of labor in Oregon. I determined I would test God's promises. Banks all suspended, business at a dead halt—only twenty-four hours to stay. Had not decided whether I would go by sea or to St. Louis, thence by railroad to San Francisco. I kept revolving, praying, consulting. "How can you go?" it was asked. "I cannot unless the Lord opens the way." The hours were passing. I met an old friend about eleven o'clock, as I was passing up Camp street; told him in a few words my extremity. "I will see you between twelve and one o'clock," said he. He came at the hour, with eyes flowing with tears, just from the Young Men's Christian Association's noon prayer meeting. Said he could let me have $400, to be paid with paper soon to mature. (God bless that dear, good man!) That was a golden link in the series of providences that has directed and led me in this move to "declare the unsearchable riches of Christ" in the "regions beyond." Now, comfortably quartered on the magnificent City of Quincy, we are moving up the Father of Waters toward our far-away home in the West, four thousand miles distant. There are but few passengers. We (Mrs. White and children) are enjoying the rest and abandon, for we have been in a whirl for a month. I commend this spacious and goodly craft to travelers and shippers. The officers—Captain Bryson and Clerk Snow, etc.—are polite, efficient and trustworthy. The appointments of the boat are all that could be wished for, the fare and bedding surpassing some of the leading hotels in New Orleans.

I was exceedingly glad to meet Bishop Keener. That seemed providential, as he gave me important advice, directions and letters. Thanks to the indefatigable Bro. Harp and others for attentions, and to those thoughtful young men for valuable reading matter in the way of books and papers. We all—even the baby, who looks at the pictures—appreciate the kindness.

Please publish that my postoffice is Corvallis, Oregon.

Farewell, my dear, good Bro. Parker, farewell! By the grace of God we will together join the happy throng

"Where all the ship's company meet,
Who have sailed with the Savior below."

Farewell, brethren of the Louisiana Conference. "Make full proof of your ministry," "testify the gospel of the grace of God!" Farewell, brethren of the laity, scattered over the whole Conference. "We'll know each other there!"

Affectionately in Christ,
THOMAS B. WHITE.

THE FOLLOWING note from Captain A. Britton was received a day or two ago. Captain Britton is an old citizen of New Orleans, and his many friends will be pained to hear of his misfortune. We trust that he may soon recover from the injuries received. Writing from Evansville, Indiana, November 8, he says:

At four o'clock, November 1, on my way to New Orleans, I was capsized in a railroad accident, one hundred and fifty miles below Cincinnati. My left leg passed through a window in the fall, and became fastened between the car and a rock below, as we slid down the embankment of thirty feet, and at the rate of thirty miles per hour. Had the car continued to burn I could not have been extricated, as it took them twenty minutes to cut me out with axes, and I laid near the stove. Flesh and ankle badly mashed to my knee. Suffering much. A kind Providence has spared me yet awhile. Brought here by friends, but unable to travel.

HE THAT hath tasted the bitterness of sin will fear to commit it; and he that hath felt the sweetness of mercy will fear to offend it.—Charnock.

CONSCIENCE warns us as a friend before it punishes us as a judge.—Stanislaus.

WORDS TO PREACHERS.—Seek the Lord with all your heart. Prove in your own experience the salvation you preach to others. Cry mightily to God for help. Keep in the path of duty. Go to Nineveh instead of Tarshish. Remember that all your strength is in the Lord, and that all your success is through his blessing. Remember you are but an earthen vessel. Remember you must meet your hearers in the judgment. Remember there will be a last time to preach, and a last time to pray, and this may be the last time.

Keep Christ before you and before your hearers. Make no excuses. Do your best every time. Have something to say. Say it, and stop. Use not vain repetitions. Tell what you know. Omit guesses and opinions. Make children understand you. Be calm; a cold hammer bends the hot iron. Be patient; gentleness is stronger than rage. Be tender; precious seed is borne with weeping. Be faithful; you must give account to God at last.—The Christian.

REV. H. M. GRANADE, writing from Fort Smith, Arkansas, October 31, says:

The Fort Smith district, Arkansas Conference, has been blessed this year with many gracious revivals, resulting in many conversions and accessions to the Methodist Church. Political excitement and financial depression have greatly hindered us in the work of building churches, supporting the ministry and the usual collections, but something has been done in all these interests.

How to make a tall man short—Ask him to lend you $5.

MARRIED.

PENNY—BULLEN.—At the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Athens F. Scott, by the Rev. John A. B. Jones, October 16, 1873, Captain William K. Penny and Miss Addie A. Bullen, all of Jefferson county, Mississippi.

GOODWIN—MOORE.—At the residence of the bride's father, E. R. Moore, in Newton county, Mississippi, October 28, 1873, by the Rev. John A. Vance, Mr. G. T. Goodwin and Miss Joe Moore.

PEEBLES—ALEXANDER.—By Rev. Robert B. Bonner, at the Methodist church in Bolton's depot, Mississippi, November 5, at eight o'clock P. M., Mr. Tom M. Peebles to Miss Ida K. Alexander, all of Bolton, Hinds county, Mississippi.

TAYLOR—CARTER.—November 4, by Rev. Thomas Price, at the residence of Hon. H. M. Carter, of St. Helena parish, Mr. Albert S. Taylor and Miss Ada H. Carter.

Conference Register.

| Conference. | Place. | Time. | Bishop. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Arkansas | Dardanelle | Nov. 5. | Pierce. |
| East Texas | Palestine | Nov. 12. | Kavanaugh. |
| White River | Forest City | Nov. 12. | Pierce. |
| N. Alabama | Talladega | Nov. 19. | Marvin. |
| Virginia | Norfolk | Nov. 26. | Keener. |
| Little Rock | Camden | Nov. 26. | Pierce. |
| S. Mississippi | Hernando | Nov. 26. | Paine. |
| Northw. Texas | Waco | Nov. 26. | Kavanaugh. |
| Memphis | Jackson | Nov. 26. | McTyeire. |
| Alabama | Selma | Dec. 3. | Marvin. |
| Mississippi | Brandon | Dec. 10. | Wightman. |
| North Carolina | Goldsboro | Dec. 10. | Keener. |
| South Carolina | Sumter | Dec. 10. | McTyeire. |
| North Georgia | Newnan | Dec. 10. | Paine. |
| Texas | Austin | Dec. 10. | Kavanaugh. |
| South Georgia | Macon | Dec. 17. | Paine. |
| West Texas | Lockhart | Dec. 18. | Kavanaugh. |
| Louisiana | Baton Rouge | Jan. 7. | Marvin. |
| Florida | Jacksonville | Jan. 7. | Pierce. |
| Baltimore | Baltimore | Mar. 6. | Doggett. |

Publisher's Department.

Acknowledgments of Letters and Funds

RECEIVED BY MAIL,

For the Week Ending Nov. 8, 1873.

A—Philip Allen, M. E. Adams, N. W. Ayer & Son, D. Appleton & Co., American News Company, J. O. Andrews, E. Alden.

B—R. W. Blew & Co., Booram & Pease, Z. M. Barnes, J. H. Butler & Co., Milton Bradley & Co., Higlow & Main, J. B. Burr & Co., Brewer & Tillotson, Mrs. H. H. Bradley $1, Mrs. R. Berry, S. B. Baird, George W. Brown $2.65, Charles Burch $25, Barnes & Wilkinson $81 80.

C—W. F. Compton, C. S. Cozzle $1, T. M. Coleman, Claxton, Remsen & Haffelfinger, W. L. Cliff ton, Curtis & Mitchell.

D—J. R. Dougherty & Co., G. H. P. Davis, R. A. Davis, C. H. Ditson & Co., R. B. Downer $14, Miss Sallie Daniels 25 cents.

E—Charles F. Evans.

F—E. N. Freshman two letters.

G—R. G. Griffon two letters, Grenman & Duval $106.25, Joseph Gorton, N. C. Graygard, George H. Griffen.

H—E. J. Hale & Sons, J. D. Hays, S. A. Hayden, C. W. Hurley $1, J. F. Hines $2, Mrs. M. M. Hays $9.8, W. C. Hamilton & Co. $52.80.

J—W. W. Jiltz two letters, T. L. James.

K—C. Keener, A. Kendall.

L—Owen Lewis, J. B. Lippincott & Co., Lee, Shepard & Dillingham, W. E. M. Linfield $225, H. A. Lewin $3 70.

M—N. A. Moore, J. W. Medlock $5, Charles Miller two letters $30, John F. Miller, Samuel Morris $100, T. P. Mortott & Co., Alexander Mills, J. G. Miller, M. C. Manley, A. H. Moss, T. H. McClendon, A. G. Moore 50 cents.

N—James Norwood $1.

O—James Ormond three letters.

P—S. M. Pettengill & Co. two letters, L. Patterson, Powers Paper Company, Pierce & Lyte, A. M. Purdy, P. S. Petty, Thos Price, Mrs. S. G. Pope $2.

R—J. K. Randall two letters, John Rogers, W. B. Richards, A. H. Redford, Robinson & Withers, C. E. Richards.

S—F. A. W. Shiner, J. K. Street, Charles W. Shattuck $5.25, J. W. Schermerhorn & Co., Mrs. Theressa Schroeder, T. A. Steagall & Co., Sharp & Lord.

T—E. M. Turner, Mrs. E. D. Turner $90, N. A. Trueldood, E. K. Thurber.

V—Mrs. A. Van Hook.

W—John Wilkinson $12.50, J. E. Ward, O. C. Watson.

WE CALL the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. H. Haller, the sole agent in Louisiana for Buck's Brilliant stoves. Mr. Haller is also the sole agent in the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi for the celebrated Ringen Washer.

MR. SHELDON, photographer, No. 572 Magazine street, has an elegantly fitted-up gallery, and is prepared to execute orders in his line, in consequence of dull times, at very low rates.

F. SELLES, No. 161 Poydras street, in order to close business by the first of December, advertises his stock of boots and shoes at greatly reduced prices.

M. COGAN, 19 and 29 Canal street, is selling bargains in clothing. The goods were damaged by a recent fire, and are offered at reduced prices.

MR. F. HEUER, at Nos. 948 and 950 New Levee street, keeps a large supply of all kinds of lumber, hay, corn, oats, bran, etc.

MRS. D. J. LOEWENSTEIN, No. 549 Magazine street—the lady Cheap John—has an advertisement in another column of this issue.

MRS. S. ZEPHIRIN, No. 621 Magazine street, dry goods and variety store.

SEE ADVERTISEMENT of the two Cheap John, No. 33 Canal street.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.—It is a source of gratification to know that the New Orleans, Jackson and Great Northern and Mississippi Central railroads have been put in a state of thorough repair. The energy and perseverance of the officers are worthy of much praise. The roads have been steadily improving since the war, until now they compare favorably with the best roads over which we have traveled in the North and West. The wisdom of the company in placing such able and competent an officer as Colonel Frost as general superintendent over the entire line to Jackson, Tennessee, is manifest. As a faithful, judicious and indomitable administrator of railroad interests he has few superiors in any country. We do not hesitate to recommend this route to any who may find it in the direction of their destination.

ARCHITECT.—We direct special attention to the advertisement of Mr. T. Whitney Carter, No. 58 Carondelet street. Mr. Carter is a practical mechanic, and represented by those whom we regard as competent judges as thorough in his profession. Specimens of his architecture may be seen in the engine-house of Fire Company No. 2 on Magazine street, and St. Joseph's church. He is professor of architecture in the Institute.

SOUPS of all kinds are much improved by the addition of a dessertspoonful of the famous Halford Leicestershire Table Sauce. If you will try this recipe you will no more go without the Halford than without the soup. nol3 4t

COLGATE & CO.'S new perfume for the handkerchief, "CASHMERE BOUQUET," will be appreciated by all who have enjoyed the delicate and peculiar fragrance of their toilet soap of the same name, which is so universally popular. je21 1y

BUSINESS NOTICES.

MESSRS. CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 RACE ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Gentlemen: Please send me another assorted $2 box of Cuinaids Indica. It has done me a great deal of good. My cough is much better; appetite greatly improved. I was very costive, but the pills have regulated me, and the ointment relieved that severe pain in my back almost as soon as it was rubbed on. Indeed my whole system has undergone a greatly improved change. Respectfully,
JOSEPH STEVENSON.
VARNA MARSHALL, ILL., Oct. 20, 1873. nol3 1l

MRS. M. G. BROWN'S UNEQUALED SCALP RENOVATOR AND HAIR RESTORER.—It is safe, reliable, free from Sugar of Lead and Lac Sulphur. Penetrates, through the cuticle of the head, the entire system. Is the best, most gentle cathartic. Removes dandruff. Gives a new scalp. Prevents the hair from falling. Gives strong, thick, glossy hair. Restores hair to its natural color. Dresses the hair. Cools the head. Cures headache. Brightens the intellect. Renews the memory. Price, 25 cents, 75 cents and $1. Sold by Frederickson & Harte, 120 Canal street, and E. J. Hart & Co., 73 to 79 Tchoupitoulas street, New Orleans, and by druggists generally; or will be sent to any address, on receipt of the price, from the Metaphysical University, 51 Bond street, New York. Inclose stamp for pamphlet. oc23 1y4w

NO PAY if Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment does not cure, when first taken, cholera, diarrhœa, dysentery, croup, colic and sea-sickness. Taken internally, warranted perfectly harmless (see bottle). Accompanying each bottle, for chronic rheumatism, sore throats, bruises, old sores, pains in the limbs, back and chest. Externally this Liniment has been warranted for over twenty-six years, and not one bottle returned. Many families have used it for years, and state that if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. oc23 lt

HAMILTON'S preparation of Buchu and Dandelion cures that most distressing malady, Piles, by increasing the digestive function of the stomach, and by securing a proper secretion and excretion of bile for the lubrication of the bowels. This prevents constipation, and constipation is the immediate cause of Piles. These are common sense facts. Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion. Sold by Frederickson & Harte's or E. J. Hart & Co.'s drug stores and tell them you want Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion. They can tell you all about the remedy, and sell it to you also. oc2 2m

PIERSON & HEWS, fine Clothing, Shirts and Furnishing Goods, 13 and 15 Camp street, opposite City Hotel, New Orleans, Louisiana. We invite visitors from the interior to examine our stock and prices. We claim to sell first-class goods as low as can be afforded and live. We sell the celebrated Shoulder-Seam Shirts, warranted to fit, wear and give satisfaction. Liberal deduction made to Clergymen, and their trade solicited. fe27 1y

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, New York.

| | |
|---|---|
| Assets | $21,000,000 |
| Income | 11,000,000 |

Branch office—33 CAMP STREET.
A. P. CLEVELAND,
fe13 1y General Agent.

I HAVE used Dr. Simmons' Liver Regulator in my family for Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, and regard it as an invaluable remedy in these attacks. It has not failed to give relief in any instance. REV. W. F. EASTERLING, no13 1l Florida Conference.

$57.60.—Agents' profits per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHESTER, 267 Broadway, New York. oc2 2m

THE largest and finest stock of carriages and harness will be found at D. M. Hollingsworth's, 51 and 56 Baronne street. se18 6mesw

TEN DOLLARS A DAY.—Employment for all. Patent Novelties. GEORGE L. FELTON, 819 Nassau street, New York. oc9 8t

REMOVAL.—New Orleans Stencil Work, to 82 Gravier street. oc16 6t

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A GOOD CHANCE TO EDUCATE YOUR DAUGHTERS.

The undersigned offers his small FARM AND RESIDENCE for rent or sale on reasonable terms. It is situated one mile east of the Depot, and just outside the corporation of the town of Brookhaven, Mississippi. Its improvements consist of a good Dwelling, with four rooms in the main building; Kitchen, Dining Room and Store-Room attached; a good Well of water and an over-ground Cistern; also a good Garden, newly fenced. There are also about twenty acres of Land in a state of cultivation. Fire-wood in abundance on the place. The town is on one side and a good range on the other, so that the place combines all the advantages of the country and town. Brookhaven is one of the healthiest places in the State, and has the best girls' school in the South. Whitworth College is known far and near. Now is the time to secure a good location where you can give your daughters a collegiate education without paying board. For particulars apply to J. W. Martin or
F. W. SHARBROUGH, no13 4t Brookhaven, Miss.

THIS IS BONA FIDE.
THIS IS NO LIQUIDATION SALE,
NEVER TO END.

Fire and Water have not injured my goods in the least, but I am firmly resolved to close my business on the store, No. 951 Poydras street, on the first of December. To accomplish this object I now offer to the public one of the finest stocks of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Philadelphia and Home-made Gaiters, Button Boots, Slippers, and in fact every style of Shoe known to the trade, not excepting Gentlemen's BOOTS AND SHOES, at prices way BELOW COST. To test the sincerity of this proposition I simply request the public to examine the goods. F. SELLES, no8 1m No. 161 Poydras street.

LUMBER YARD.....FEED STORE.
F. HEUER,
Dealer in All Kinds of Lumber,
Oak, Ash, Poplar, Cedar, Walnut, Cypress, etc., and all kinds of Flatboat Lumber; also Hay, Corn, Oats, Bran, etc. 948 and 950 NEW LEVEE street, between Sixth and Seventh streets (Fourth District), New Orleans. no13 2m

T. WHITNEY CARTER,
ARCHITECT,
58.....CARONDELET STREET.....58
no13 2m New Orleans.

MRS. S. ZEPHIRIN,
DRY GOODS AND VARIETY STORE,
621.....MAGAZINE STREET.....621
NEW ORLEANS.
A large assortment of SUN-BONNETS always on hand. no13 2m

THE NEW CHEAP JOHN
(JOHN HANSEN)
continues to Manufacture, in spite of the FIRE, First-class
Custom-Made Boots and Shoes,
better and cheaper than ever, at No. 33 CANAL street, corner of Peters, next door to Cogan's Clothing House. no13 2m

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

JAMES ORMOND, PROPRIETOR.

ATLANTA PAPER MILLS,

For Specimen of "News" we refer to this issue of this Paper. no6 1y

THE UNRIVALED

BUCK'S BRILLIANT STOVE.
Every Brilliant is Fully Guaranteed.
H. HALLER,
NO. 49 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS,
Sole Agent for Louisiana.
Sole Agent for the
CELEBRATED RINGEN WASHER
in the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi. no13 1y

THE SEVENTH WONDER OF THE WORLD IS THE LADY
CHEAP JOHN,
MRS. D. J. LOEWENSTEIN,
549.....MAGAZINE STREET.....549
Who has nearly sold out her damaged stock of BOOTS AND SHOES, and what is remaining will almost be given away, in order to make room for her extensive stock of NEW GOODS, now arriving direct from the best manufacturers of the North, East and West. Having been carefully selected for this market, and bought for cash, they will be sold at astonishingly low prices—not to be beaten in this city. Then come and see the wonder, which will cost nothing, but you will carry away more Shoes and Boots, for less money, than you will imagine. Do not fail to come and look for the Red Flag. no13 4m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.
A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this receipt free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of Consumption that it does not dispel—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., giving name of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, New Orleans. no13 4m

WARRANTED CURE.
WARRANTED CURE.

Sufferers from CHILLS AND FEVERS, and those whose health has been seriously impaired by protracted attacks of Chills, are invited to write to the undersigned for the means of cure. The worst cases easily and thoroughly cured. Correspondence solicited. Address
DR. J. A. MAYES,
no13 3m Mayesville, Sumter County, S. C.

THE SABBATH
THE LATEST, THE GREATEST AND THE BEST TUNE BOOK for Church Choirs of all Denomination
Price, $1.50.
Per dozen Copies, $12 50.
One Sample Copy, by Mail, $1.25
LEE & WALKER, 923 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia
no13 3m

SACRED MUSIC-BOOKS.

THE STANDARD!

Still "waves," and, true to its name, keeps well to the front of all books for Choirs, Conventions and Singing Schools. By L. O. EMERSON and H. R. PALMER. Price, $1.50.

AMERICAN TUNE-BOOK!

Contains 1,000 of the very best psalm tunes of the century. Has no superior as a collection of the most approved sacred music for Choirs and Congregations. Five hundred Editors. Four hundred pages. Price, $1.50.

THE RIVER OF LIFE!

Is attracting the notice of all Leaders of Singing in Sabbath Schools because of its very superior arrangement of Bible subjects, its department of Songs for Little Children, its adaptation to the International Lessons, and its general richness and freshness of music and words. Highly commended by all. Price, 35 cents in boards.

This beautiful SABBATH SCHOOL SONG-BOOK is sold at $30 per hundred in boards; $25 per hundred in paper.

The above books sent, post-paid, on receipt of retail price.

CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.,
711 Broadway, New York.
OLIVER DITSON & CO.
Jy24 1y Boston.

KESSLER WAGON WORKS,
EAST GIRARD AVE., PHILADELPHIA,
MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF
Plantation, Road, Express and Sugar-Cane Wagons,
Ox, Horse and Cane Carts, Timber Wheels, etc.
HENRY KESSLER,
se25 2m GEORGE KESSLER.

FIRST-CLASS FURNITURE
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Also Church Furniture and Cushions.
Patronage earnestly solicited.
M. A. HAVIS & SON,
No. 221 South Second street,
se18 3m Philadelphia, Pa.

DR. C. J. HICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
Corner Magazine and Second Sts.,
New Orleans.
Office Hours—Eight to nine A. M., two to four P. M.

MEDICAL.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.
—IT IS—
PURELY VEGETABLE,
containing those Southern Roots and Herbs which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver diseases most prevail. It will cure all diseases caused by derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR
OR MEDICINE
is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.

After over forty years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the

MOST EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
for Constipation, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Bad Taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, despondency, gloom and forebodings of evil, all of which are the offspring of a diseased Liver.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion it Has No Equal.

☞ It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world. Manufactured only by
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia.
Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. se25 1y

TESTIMONIAL.

TESTIMONIAL.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,
No. 11 Dauphine street,
New Orleans, September 20, 1873.

CAPT. TRYON J. WOODWARD,
Agent Maguire's Medicines,
No. 58 Magazine street:

Esteemed Sir—From a feeling of heartfelt gratitude and a general sense of duty I am prompted to address you, and respectfully beg to give you a voluntary and brief statement of my past and present state of health, and my personal experience in the use of MAGUIRES' CUNDURANGO LIVER AND BLOOD BITTERS, and SARSAPARILLA TONIC.

My health for years has been bad, but from the commencement of this year I rapidly declined, forcing me to abandon all character of business; and upon becoming completely paralyzed in my right arm, and with my whole right side threatened, I became helpless and hopeless indeed, though attended upon by the most skillful physicians of this and other States and cities, with no benefit; and, in fact, my own medical knowledge forced me to realize the fact that unless some change and improvement took place soon with me I would shortly die, and made my every earthly arrangement accordingly, which by a most providential circumstance I was directed to and met you, about a month ago, and from your generous sympathy was induced to gratify you, but with no confidence or hope of benefit to myself) to only try the Cundurango; and to my utmost astonishment and gratification am now almost entirely restored to perfect health, and that by the use of but one bottle of the Cundurango Liver and Blood Bitters, and one bottle of the Sarsaparilla Tonic. I feel, indeed, a renewed and resurrected man, and will ever, my dear sir, be grateful in my remembrance of you for the kind interest and generous sympathy shown me in my wretched helplessness, and am convinced that to the use of Cundurango, under Divine Providence through you, I am indebted for a new lease upon life.

From a sense of duty, let me ask that a publication of my case be made—and by my happy experience none need despair—and that through you, in the use of Cundurango, they may also find relief and restoration to health, when even hope itself has fled. With respect and gratitude, I remain

Yours truly, etc.,
THOMAS M. LOGAN, M. D.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21, 1873.

We, the undersigned, being personally acquainted with Dr. Logan, cheerfully certify that the above statement is true and correct in every particular.

J. C. McALLISTER.
REV. P. M. GOODWYN.
oc23 1m DANIEL HICKOK.

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

THE STARTLING DRAWBACK ON nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for an agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY and STRENGTHEN
At One and the Same Time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which fully realizes the fondest desires of the medical world, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. This important desideratum is which purifies the blood and removes all corrupt humor and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but, on the contrary, tones the stomach and invigorates the body during the progress of its operation. It unites the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a strengthening purgative and a purifying tonic.

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,

DR. TUTT'S PILLS are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation. They produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.

Price, 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists.
Principal Office, Nos. 18 and 20 Platt street, New York. oc2 1y5p

MANUALS OF MATHEMATICAL INSTRUMENTS,
MICROSCOPES, MAGIC LANTERNS,
METEOROLOGICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Physical Apparatus,
Profusely illustrated and priced, mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents each.
JAS. W. QUEEN & CO., Opticians,
601 Broadway, New York, and se11 8m5p 924 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

JACOB C. BAKER,
300 WEST COMMERCIAL STREET,
Portland, Maine,
KEEPS CONSTANTLY ON HAND
PRESSED HAY, STRAW, LUMBER AND FLOUR.
Southern patronage solicited. au28 3m

TO CLERGYMEN AND OTHERS
desiring to add to their income by acting as Agents or Canvassers for really useful works, advantageous offers will be made by addressing T. ELLWOOD ZELL,
2m5p Publisher, Philadelphia, Pa.

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS
AWARDED IN 1873 TO
J. G. BERMEL,
121.....CANAL STREET.....121
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
The Cheapest Human Hair Manufactory in the South.
Gloves, Fans, Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Fancy and Jet Jewelry, Pocket-Books, Opera Glasses, Walking Canes, Crutches, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc. A fine assortment of rich Bronze and Gilt Ornaments, well adapted for the approaching Holidays, will be sold at cost. oc30 2m5p

LADIES' HAIR STORE.
GEORGE T. SHILLING,
381.....Dryades Street.....381
Between Erato and Thalia streets,
Near Dryades Market, opposite Jefferson School,
Manufacturer of and Dealer in all kinds of
HUMAN HAIR GOODS,
calls the attention of his customers and strangers visiting the city, before purchasing elsewhere, to call and examine his stock of
HEAD HAIR CHIGNONS,
PUFFS, CHATELAINE, BRAIDS,
SWITCHES, CURLS, ETC.,
of all shades, constantly on hand, made to order and neatly repaired, at reasonable prices.
Also a large stock of French and American PERFUMERY, SILK HAIR NETS AND FANCY GOODS. All orders from the country promptly attended to, and at prices to suit the times. no6 1m

NEW ORLEANS BUTCHERS'
HIDE AND TALLOW CO.,
NO. 69 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.
Capital.....$100,000.
JEAN BERTHIN, President.
A. B. DITCHIRON, Secretary.
DIRECTORS.
J. Berthin, P. Lacoze,
R. Babat, A. D. Duchiron,
P. Cestac, A. Mathes,
L. Imrlos, M. Lannes,
J. Dubarry, J. Soulhde,
J. Bernhehan. oc30 2m

SOPHIE,
NO. 13 BARONNE STREET,
(Late 152 Rue Du Canal,)
no6 1m NEW ORLEANS.

REOPENING OF THE ST. LOUIS,
A FIRST-CLASS HOTEL,
On the Fifteenth of November,
Under the Management of no6 1m E. F. MOTON, President.

F. ESTEVA,
CIGAR DEPOT,
Corner of Camp and Girod Streets,
New Orleans, La.
Havana and Domestic Cigars always on hand. Country orders promptly attended to. oc30 3m

WILLIAM VELDEN,
DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,
Corner of Prytania and Philip Streets.
Oak, Ash, Bakers' Pine, Lightwood and Charcoal always on hand. Wood sawed to stove-length and split. no6 2m

T. J. BROWN,
PRACTICAL PAPER-HANGER,
And dealer in Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Buff, Green and White Hollands, Picture Cord, Tassels, etc.,
No. 263 Camp Street, New Orleans.
All orders from the country promptly attended to. no6 3m

NOTICE TO
PLANTERS AND MILLERS.
A Licensed Engineer of twenty years' experience desires employment. Practical, alert, sober and honest. Address ENGINEER, oc30 3t No. 141 Carondelet street.

JOSEPH HECKHAUS,
CARRIAGE BUILDER,
No. 1201 Frankford Road,
Above Girard Avenue,
se18 3m PHILADELPHIA.

S. COLLINS & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS OF
PRINTING INK.
Office and Depot—26 Frankfort St.,
oc9 3m NEW YORK.

ST. JULIAN HOTEL,
PORTLAND, MAINE,
George E. Ward, Proprietor.
au21 3m

ATLANTA PAPER MILLS,
JAMES ORMOND, PROPRIETOR.
☞ For "News" we refer to this issue of this paper. au21 6m

PATENTS For INVENTIONS, TRADE MARKS, Copyrights, etc., etc., procured by
JOHN A. WIEDERSHEIM & CO.,
181 South Fourth street, below Chestnut,
Philadelphia, Pa.
Full information without charge.
Call or send for Book of Instructions. se18 1y

F. J. KUHNHOLZ,
Book-Binder,
113.....GRAVIER ST.....112
Orders for Ruling and Binding executed with neatness and dispatch. Merchants and others requiring Blank-Books will find it to their interest to order direct from the binder. oc30 2m

The Child's Corner.

THE LITTLE SUNBEAM.

One little golden sunbeam
That through the window-pane
Oh, what a world of cheer it
Its welcome light reveals!
On many a cloud reflecting
Its clear, effulgent ray
How cheerful in its passage
It glides from day to day!

Go, like that little sunbeam
The work of love fulfil
A message of gladness
To do the Master's will.
Go where the voice of kindness
But seldom greets the ear,
Where bloom no smiles to cheer.
Life's thorny path to cheer.

Bend o'er the restless pillow,
And whisper soft and low
Of him, the great Physician,
That all who will may know
Tell how His human nature
Hath borne our grief's and fear
And how, in tender mercy,
He treasures up our tears.

Then sing the dear old story
That hath been wed to song;
'Twill surely find an echo
Ere thou hast breathed it long.
Some heart with joy will open
Thy message to receive,
And this will be the answer:
"I will, I do believe."

Coals of Fire, and How They Burned.

If I were to tell you whereabouts the city of L—— was situated, you might still fail to find it on the map; so we will say nothing about it, except that it was a good-sized place, not quite so straggling and old-fashioned as many villages, and with a few neat little shops, as well as a street or two of cottages.

In one of these cottages there lived a laborer and his wife, and their only child, a boy of nine or ten years of age.

Tommy Ruffhed was, we are sorry to say, a most troublesome fellow. His saucy face, with its apple cheeks and twinkling eyes, was known—not alone in his own village, but for several miles round—as the face of the most tiresome, naughty boy in the county.

Even the dumb animals knew Tommy, and this not at all in a flattering way. Widow Brown's cow, that grazed so quietly on the green, and never looked up when other folks went by, became quite angry and active when Tommy appeared; and she frightened him on one occasion terribly, by galloping after him half way down the street.

The cocks and hens ran away as quickly as they could as soon as they saw Tom. The ducks took to the water, the cats climbed trees, the dogs ran to their kennels and growled till he was out of sight; and even the geese stretched out their long necks and hissed as he went by. So from all this we may see that Tom was not a favorite in the village, but that, in fact, he was reckoned the greatest tease and torment in the whole place.

Now not far from Mr. Ruffhed's cottage stood a small shop kept by a barber, a good old man who commonly went by the name of "Father Snip." He was both old and good, but neither his goodness nor his age could protect him from our Tom's pranks.

The barber had a neat little garden at the back of his house, and a fine apple-tree that grew there had long been a great attraction to Tom. Autumn drew on apace, and the fruit with which the tree was laden began to turn rosy and to glisten in the red sunset whenever Tom came out of school, and glanced up with longing eyes. The temptation grew stronger every day, as all temptations do when they are not resisted, and soon the boy felt that he could not rest until he had secured some of the apples.

One day, when he was quite sure that the barber was busy with a customer, he stole round to the back, climbed over the low fence into the garden, and in a moment more was under the apple-tree and filling his pockets with the fruit. His pockets held a good many, and he was so busy stuffing them and a little bag he had brought with him that he did not notice that he had dropped his handkerchief, a smart printed one, which his mother had lately bought, and marked with his full name across one corner. When Tom had picked as many as he could carry, he saw that he had nearly stripped the lower branches. "The barber will never find out who took them," said the boy to himself, as he got over the little fence and set off toward home; but Tom forgot how many secret things are brought to light through the over-ruling power of God, and how many faults are suffered to lead to their own detection.

"Tom, my boy," said Mrs. Ruffhed one morning, a week or two after Tom's visit to the apple-tree, "your hair is growing very long and untidy, and you had better step in at the barber's, on your way home from school, and have it cut." Tom, of course, made some objections, but his mother insisted, and so there was nothing for him but to put a bold face on the matter and do as he was told.

He had not courage, however, to go alone, but after school asked a small boy, a friend of his, to go with him. "I needn't be so afraid," said Tom to himself, as the two boys entered the shop together; "no one saw me take the apples."

Father Snip's manner was just as usual, he was quite as pleasant and chatty as ever, and Tom breathed more freely as the old man clipped the untidy ends of his hair, and talked so kindly to him.

"Just wait one moment," said the barber as Tom, with his neatly-cropped head, was making for the door after paying.

"Wait one moment," repeated the old man; "I have something for you;" and opening a cupboard he took out a little basket and hastily left the room. After a few minutes, however, he returned, and put the basket into Tom's hands.

"I have lately come to know," said he gently, "that you are fond of apples; please take these home and enjoy them."

Tom stared a moment, but he managed to say, "Thank you," and then ran out of the shop and home as fast as possible.

He carried the basket up to his room, emptied the apples upon the bed, and with them out fell his handkerchief, of which he had never once thought since the day that he had taken it out. It was quite clean, and neatly folded with the marked side up, and now Tommy saw how his theft had been found out, and how gently had been the old man's dealing with him.

A good thrashing would have hurt Tom's feelings far less than this kind action; as it was, he was quite overcome, and, sitting down on the side of his bed, he fairly cried with shame and self-reproach.

"There's only one thing I can do," cried he at length, starting up and drying his eyes. "I must go and tell him what a kind man he is, and how sorry I am."

Tom did not wait for second thoughts, but, seizing his cap, he ran down stairs and out at the door, and in a few moments he stood on the threshold of the shop. The old man was alone, and, looking up as he entered, he saw the flushed, wet cheeks and eager eyes, took in the whole story of repentance and softened feeling which Tom could not express, and held out both hands to him.

During the quarter of an hour which followed the barber talked to Tom as the boy had never been spoken to before.

We cannot repeat what passed, but it may be well to state that Tom never forgot the lesson of the apples, but that a change began in his character and conduct, which after awhile made every one love instead of dislike him.—Child's Companion.

Take Your Religion.

"Good-by," said Uncle John to Will, as he entered the cars for a few weeks' vacation in the country. "Good-by, Will. Got everything along?"

"Yes, uncle, think I have. There's my trunk and satchel and gun and umbrella and—"

"There, boy, I didn't mean those traps. They're not everything."

"What then?"

"Oh! something more important."

"I guess I've got money enough to take me there."

"Not that, my child."

"Well, I believe you think I've forgotten my Bible, but I haven't."

"I hope you have not forgotten that; though, to be sure, it is an easy matter to take it along, just for the respectability of the thing. Mind you use it. But how about your religion? Is that going into the country with you? Many professed Christians take a vacation from their religion, just as they do from business. Don't do that, my boy. Take your religion with you. You need it. Others need it too."

"Thank you, uncle."

"Take your religion along!" sounded in the young lad's ears as he took a seat in the cars. It made him feel more courteous to fellow-travelers. It helped him speak a word to them. It led him to give the Christian Weekly to one who had just laid down a dime novel.

"Take your religion along!" echoed a still, small voice as he met old friends in the country village, and helped him say a word for Christ. It sounded from the church bell, and prompted him to speak for his Master in the little village prayer meeting, where a new voice was a great encouragement. It urged him to take the place of an absent teacher, and tell a class of lads how pleasant he found it serving Jesus.

Months have passed since then, but many still thankfully remember the young man who took his religion along.—Sunday School Times.

THE MOUSE AND THE CAT.—A mouse once peeped from his hole and saw a cat. The cat was looking the other way, and happened not to see the mouse.

Nobody killed.

Moral.—This little fable doesn't teach anything.—Sarsfield Young, in Lippincott's Magazine.

Farm, Garden and Household.

GRAFTING-WAX.—This is an article that every farmer should keep on hand, ready for use whenever needed, for it is valuable for various other purposes besides that of grafting. Wounds made in pruning large trees will heal over much sooner if coated with this wax, and if a piece of bark is accidentally stripped from a tree the place should be covered over with it, and the wood will remain sound and healthy underneath. There are several receipts for preparing this wax, but I have found the following better than any other one tried: Melt in a basin one pound of tallow, two pounds of beeswax and four pounds of rosin; stir well together, and keep in a cool place in the dish in which it was melted. If beeswax is a very costly item, one-third less quantity can be used. This wax is most excellent for sealing the corks of bottles whose contents are desired to be air-tight over preserve-jars. It can be melted over when required for use, and it will spread with a knife upon bandages, etc. It is the best sealing-wax that can be used for many purposes.

HARDEN THE NECKS OF YOUR TEAMS.—Some horses have tender skins, and the harness will sometimes gall them cruelly in defiance of all means to prevent it. But many times the true cause is attributable to a bad collar, bad harness or a good harness improperly fitted to the animal. A yoke of bows that do not fit the oxen will often gall them, and unfit them for labor, when if these things were as they ought to be they would work with far more ease, and their skin would not be galled. When a harness or yoke of bows do fit properly, and the skin is liable to be galled, bathe those parts before they are galled with cold water until the outside skin appears quite soft, and then bathe those parts with a strong decoction of white oak bark. Let this be done every day and the skin will become much harder and tougher than it usually is. A little care in preventing an ill is far better than much labor and skill in curing it, or in endeavoring to obviate its injurious effect.—Working Farmer.

PLASTER OF PARIS AS A MANURE FOR VINES.—I have a large quantity of grape-vines planted in the open ground. In planting these I had the holes dug about twenty-five inches deep. I then threw into each hole five or six lumps of old plaster about the size of my fist. I threw a little earth over these lumps, and then planted the vines in the usual way. The result has been wonderful; the vines, which were not half an inch thick when planted three years ago, are now two inches and more in diameter, and bear finely. The grapes are also free from disease. Other vines, not so treated, are much smaller and produce less, the fruit being also more liable to disease. To try the effect of this plaster, in planting two American black walnuts we put the plaster to the one and not to the other. Last year we dug about the roots of the one to which no plaster was put, and we threw in seven or eight lumps of plaster among the roots; the trees are now both of the same size, and, though only four years old, are sixteen or seventeen feet high.—P. P., Italy, in the Garden.

FERTILIZERS FOR POTATOES.—In the Country Gentleman of January 16 W. J. Pettee inquires for a special fertilizer for potatoes. I have used the following articles in different proportions, and find them super-excellent:

1. One part salt, two parts plaster and four parts of unleached ashes.

2. One part salt, two parts plaster, three parts lime and four parts of ashes; mix thoroughly and apply a tablespoonful on, or with the seed at the time of planting.

Plaster (gypsum) alone is excellent as a top-dressing. Ashes alone are always good for any crop, and potatoes want nothing better—the trouble is to get enough of them. But let W. J. Pettee try No. 2 and report. I have no experience with any other special fertilizers for potatoes.—Country Gentleman.

CREAM PIE.—The yolk of three eggs; one quart of milk; steam the latter, and when it comes to a boil add the eggs previously beaten with three tablespoons of flour, and one cup of sugar; flavor; bake the crust, and then pour in the custard, but do not bake the latter; take the whites of the eggs, beaten to a stiff froth, with one cup of sugar; flavor—lemon is preferable; spread it over the top and brown it in the oven.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL FURNITURE.

Patent School Desks.

W. P. UHLINGER,

221 Chestnut St., Phila.

FACTORY,

Columbia Avenue, below Second.

ESTABLISHED 1850.

se18 3m

LANDRETH'S WARRANTED GARDEN SEEDS

LANDRETH'S SEEDS

Have spoken their own praise for upward of three-quarters of a century.

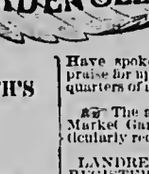
☞ The attention of Market Gardeners is particularly requested.

LANDRETH'S RURAL REGISTER AND ALMANAC will be mailed without charge to all who apply.

DAVID LANDRETH & SON,
21 and 23 South Sixth street,
Philadelphia, Pa.

se18 4m

SADDLERY AND HARNESS



AT ST. LOUIS PRICES.

McClellan Saddles, $4.75; Texas Rig do., $5; Ladies' do., $5.50; Buggy Harness, $13; Cart do., $10.50; Two-Horse Plantation do., $17; Stage do., $25. All other goods in our line equally as low.

GEORGE PLUMB & CO.,
131 Poydras street,
Between Camp and St. Charles.

se18 2m

ALEXANDER MILLS,

ORGAN BUILDER,

NO. 539 BROOME STREET,

oc2 3m NEW YORK.

"DOMESTIC" PAPER FASHIONS.

AGENTS WANTED.

☞ Send for Catalogue. ☜

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE CO.,

se4 13t New York.

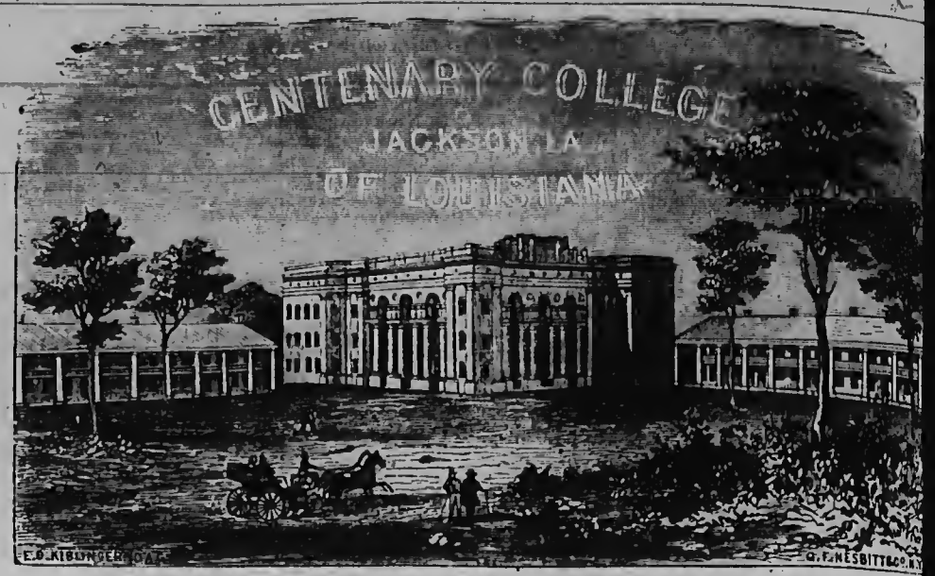
THE FIRE ON CANAL STREET

SETTLED

WITH THE INSURANCE.

$9,000 worth of Fine CLOTHING,
$3,000 worth of BOYS' CLOTHING,
$1,000 worth of Winter OVERCOATS,
$1,500 worth of Stylish HATS,

All more or less damaged by water only, which will be sold at



Fifty Per Cent. Below Cost,

At M. COGAN'S,
19 and 20 Canal street,
Ref. the Custom-house and the River.

oc30 1m

WORKING CLASS—MALE OR FEMALE. $30 a week. Employment at home, day or evening; no capital. Instructions and valuable package of goods sent free by mail. Address, with six-cent return stamp, M. YOUNG & CO., 173 Greenwich street, New York. oc6 13t

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

THE NEXT TERM OF THIS VENERABLE INSTITUTION OPENS ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER.

Faculty.—REV. C. G. ANDREWS, A. M., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Political Economy and International Law; A. R. HOLCOMBE, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Adjunct Professor of Natural Science; G. H. WILEY, A. M., Professor of Ancient Languages; T. S. JONES, M. D., Professor of Natural Science; REV. R. D. NORSWORTHY, A. M., Principal of the Preparatory Department.

Charges.—Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in College, $60; Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in Preparatory Department, $40; Contingencies, $5. A matriculation fee of $5 must be paid on entering any regular college class. One-half the charges must be paid when the student enters, and the other half on the beginning of the second term, March 6.

Board.—Board, including lodging, washing, lights and fuel, can be had in the best families for $20 per month. Day-boarding with the same, $15 per month. Rooms provided in the dormitories free of rent. Board to be paid in advance at least one month.

Location.—This institution is located in the lovely village of Jackson, about twelve miles from Bayou Sara, in a grove of pine, magnolia and beech. The location is remarkable for its beautiful woodlands, its bland and delightful atmosphere, its pure water, its unrivaled healthfulness, its cultivated and refined society.

When Founded.—The college was established by the State of Louisiana in 1825, and ceded to the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1845.

Alumni.—Its Alumni numbers two hundred and three, and they are to be found in the most honorable and useful stations in the land.

Apparatus and Cabinet.—The college possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus, and also a Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet. The apparatus includes a Theodolite, Sextant, Compass, Chronometer, Atwood's Machine, Whirling Table, Air Pump, various combinations of the Mechanical Powers, Batteries, Chemical Tests, etc., sufficient for a thorough and extensive course of illustrations and experiments. Steps have been taken by the Board of Trustees to put these in thorough repair.

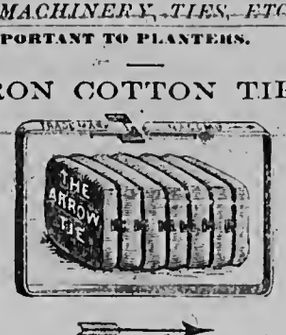
Literary Societies.—There are two regular Literary Societies connected with the Institution. These are of great utility to young men in liberal education—improving them in the art of public speaking, making them in some degree familiar with the proceedings of deliberative bodies, cultivating systematic business habits. Each Society has a convenient hall and a well-selected Library—about one thousand six hundred volumes, which, added to the College Library of two thousand volumes, makes over five thousand volumes in the college.

Buildings.—The Trustees are determined to continue the repairs on the buildings till completed. The grand Center Building is a noble specimen of architectural beauty and adaptation to the purposes of its erection. The wings, built of solid brick present each a front of two hundred feet, with double and lower galleries the entire length, supported by Tuscan columns, and with the center making in the perspective a continuous front of seven hundred feet.

Preparatory Department.—In the Preparatory Department students are fitted for regular college classes, or may obtain a thorough commercial education.

The Faculty.—Its Faculty are men of experience and success in teaching.

Board of Trustees.—Rev. Bishop J. C. KEENER, D. D., President, New Orleans.



Hon. Edward McGehee, Woodville, Mississippi.
Hon. John McVea, Clinton.
Hon. and Rev. James H. Muse, St. Helena parish.
Prof. W. H. N. Magruder, Baton Rouge.
Rev. H. H. Montgomery, Sharon, Mississippi.
C. G. McIlhenny, Esq., Wilkinson county, Miss.
Rev. John C. Miller, Jackson.
Josiah B. Nettles, Esq., East Baton Rouge, La.
Rev. J. A. Godfrey, Clinton.
Hon. E. T. Merrick, New Orleans.
Hon. Edward J. Gay, parish of Iberville.
Hon. J. G. Foppa, Baton Rouge.
H. G. Hardee, Esq., Clinton.
Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans.
Samuel J. Norwood, Esq., Shamsport, Louisiana.
William L. Nugent, Esq., Jackson, Mississippi.
Rev. J. L. Fiske, Jackson.
Rev. John A. Ellis, Meridian, Mississippi.
Hon. A. K. Farrar, Adams county.
Rev. W. H. Watkins, D. D., Natchez.
Rev. L. Parker, D. D., New Orleans.
Robert M. Walmsley, Esq., Natchez.
Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Port Gibson, Miss.
Wilmot H. Goodale, Esq., Baton Rouge.
Rev. C. G. Andrews, Jackson, Louisiana.
Rev. A. E. Goodwyn, Baton Rouge.

jy24 6m Address C. G. ANDREWS, President, Jackson, La.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

IMPORTANT TO PLANTERS.

IRON COTTON TIES.

THE ARROW TIE AND ALL OPEN SLOT TIES.

All approved Popular Patents:

ARROW,
ANCHOR, WALLIS
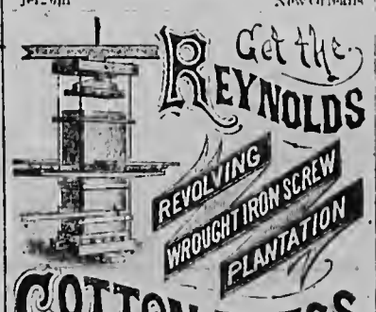
ALLIGATOR
AND DUNN.



For sale by all dealers in New Orleans, Mobile and Memphis, and by country merchants generally throughout the Cotton States.

BARTLETT & RAYNE,

GENERAL AGENTS,

48 CARONDELET STREET, COR. UNION,

je12 6m New Orleans

IF YOU WANT THE BEST

WM. REYNOLDS,

Cor. SOUTH MARKET & FULTON STS.

P.O. Box 1690. NEW ORLEANS. SEND FOR CIRCULAR

Je19 6m

LEWIS JOHNSON,

ENGINE AND MACHINE BUILDER,

Corner Julia, Delta and Water Streets

NEW ORLEANS.

Castings of all kinds. Repairing executed with dispatch. Steam and Vacuum Gauges repaired. Glass Box 763, Postoffice. ap17 1y

CHEAPEST AND BEST!

CHICAGO FARM PUMPS!

Send for Price List.

H.S. Twitchell.

New Orleans.

oc31 6m

NEW ORLEANS PURCHASING BUREAU.

To the Ladies of the South.

A Purchasing Agency has been established in New Orleans, Louisiana, for the benefit of those residing at a distance from the city, and who have not the facilities for obtaining just what they require.

MRS. H. MOGRIDGE

respectfully offers her services in selecting, purchasing and forwarding any article of apparel or personal adornment for ladies' and children's use including MILLINERY, DRY GOODS, JEWELRY, BRIDAL TROUSSEAUX, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Trimmings, Underwear, Sewing Machines etc., etc.

Scrupulous care with reference to the price and quality, and fidelity to the interest and fulfillment of the wishes of correspondents, will be sedulously carried out.

MRS. H. MOGRIDGE,

At Mrs. Doherty's Elegant Millinery and Dressmaking Establishment, 95 Canal St., Over Zimmerman's Jewelry Store, New Orleans

☞ Send for circular fe6 1y

ROGERS' EFFERVESCING CITRATE OF MAGNESIA,

in six-ounce bottles, in powder. This Magnesia is a mild purgative and aperient, very acceptable to the stomach for Sick Headache, Sour or Sick Stomach, and all Febrile cases. Good for all seasons of the year. For sale by druggists. Prepared by ARTHUR ROGERS, 158 Spring St., N. Y. oc9 3m

WHITWORTH FEMALE COLLEGE

BROOKHAVEN, MISSISSIPPI.

ON THE NEW ORLEANS, JACKSON AND GREAT NORTHERN R. R., one hundred and twenty-eight miles from New Orleans, will reopen on the TWENTY-SECOND OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.

The health is good, discipline firm but parental, instruction thorough, and economy forced. The expenses are as low as the advantages given will allow.

The Director of the Music Department, Prof. ECKHARDT, is unexcelled. Madame J. B. ——, accomplished Parisian lady, has charge of French and the ornamental branches.

During the past term there were Thirteen in the Faculty, and Two Hundred and —— in attendance, over one hundred of whom boarded in the college.

All the branches of a thorough education are taught, including the Languages, and also the higher mathematics.

Particular attention is paid to Spelling, Writing, Reading and Composition; also to good manners and morals of the pupils.

For a catalogue address

jy17 tf REV. H. F. JOHNSON, President, Brookhaven, Miss.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

DANIEL & JAMES D. EDWARDS,

NOS. 22, 24, 26 AND 28 FRONT ST.

AND

NOS. 21, 23, 25 AND 27 DELTA ST.

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

MANUFACTURERS OF

Copper, Brass, Iron and Sheet Iron

WORK OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

ALSO OF

Best and Most Improved Steam Trains for Making Sugar.

DEALERS IN

Wrought Iron Pipe and Fittings, all sizes,
Brass Work for Steam, Water and Gas,
Boiler Tubes, Bolts, Nuts and Washers,
Well and Cistern Pumps, Drove Well Pumps, and Well Points, Steam Syphon Pumps,
Rubber Hose, Steam Packing, Steam and Water Gauges, Flue Brushes, Sheet Copper,
Brass and Iron, Copper and Brass Wire,
Machinists' Tools and Machinery Supplies, etc.

AGENTS FOR

Cameron's Patent Steam Pumps,
Webster's Patent Combination Wrenches
And National Fire Extinguisher.

☞ Send for new Illustrated Price List. fe26 1y

B. J. WEST,

DEALER IN

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS,

Plantation Hardware and Machinery,

115 AND 117 MAGAZINE STREET,

AGENT FOR

Poole & Hunt (Baltimore) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
H. & F. Blandy (Zanesville, Ohio) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
B. W. Payne & Sons' (Corning, New York) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
George L. Squier & Bro. (Buffalo, New York) Sugar Mills, Horse Powers, etc.
E. Ball & Co. (Canton, Ohio) "World" and "Ohio" Mowers, and Mowers and Reapers combined
D. M. Osborne & Co., "Kirby" Mowers, etc.
B. C. Taylor, Hay Rakes,
Nishwitz" and "Moorue" Pulverizing Harrows,
"Excelsior" Lawn Mower.
R. Ball & Co. (Worcester, Massachusetts) Wood-Working Machinery.
H. B. Smith (Smithville, New Jersey) Wood-Working Machinery.
American Saw Company, New York.
Hubbard, Lippincott, Bakewell & Co., Saws.
"Ompowder" Copper Works, Baltimore.
Moline Plow Company, Plows and Cultivators.
Winship & Bro. (Atlanta, Georgia) Cotton Gins.
"Stafford" Cultivator and "Sattley" and "Pfiel Gang Plows.
"Buckeye" Foundery, Bolts.
B. J. West's Cotton Seed Huller.
B. J. West's "Improved Felton Patent" Grist Mill and Corn-cob and Shuck Crusher combined.
T. C. Nisbet (Macon Georgia) Cotton Press Screws, etc

oct27 6m

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

ANDREW J. AIKEN. JOHN W. WATT.

AIKEN & WATT,

COTTON FACTORS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

60 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

Special attention given to orders for the purchase of all descriptions of Produce, Agricultural Implements and Plantation Supplies. no8 1y

G. M. BAYLY & POND,

WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

Nos. 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Canal, and 59 and 61 Common Street,

Jn23 1y New Orleans, La.

J. L. DUNNICA, NEW ORLEANS.
T. A. HAMILTON, MEMPHIS.
H. P. HARRISON, NEW ORLEANS.

J. L. DUNNICA & CO.,

FLOUR, PRODUCE AND PROVISION COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

50 ..... Tchoupitoulas Street ..... 50

oc22 1y New Orleans, Louisiana.

HOMER COLLEGE.

HOMER, CLAIBORNE PARISH, LA.

COURSE OF EDUCATION

THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL.

Total Expense Per Annum from $200 to $267.

SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 1.

☞ Send for a catalogue to

REV. J. LANE, President.

Tuition free to children of Preachers at work.

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE,

WASHINGTON COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

On the Eleventh of September

our scholastic year begins, and continues forty consecutive weeks. It is divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. The Spring session begins January 29, 1874. Students can enter at any time they should, if possible, by the beginning of a session. The entire expenses for the scholastic year, including board, tuition, fuel, room rent and contingent fees, need not exceed $200. In point of rates, or permanently low considering the advantages here offered, must point to tuition to the favor of those seeking a first-class training. Before selecting a school, consult any of those knowing the character of our Alumni and old students, or the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, or the President of the University of Virginia. Those who desire reference, or send direct to the undersigned for a catalogue or for any information desired.

E. E. WILEY, Emory P. O.

Jy3 8m

J. W. BLACKMAN'S

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,

131 ..... CARONDELET ST. ..... 131

This is the only Commercial College in the city where students from the country can find a home in the family of the Principal. There is ample accommodation for thirty to forty students in the college building. This department is under the supervision of Mrs. Blackman, and in case of sickness will be properly cared for, and not sent to the hospital, or the cold care of strangers.

All Commercial branches taught. Time required, Thirty per cent. less than other colleges in the city. The Principal has been established in New Orleans since 1851. For circulars address oc30 3m 131 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

J. W. BLACKMAN,

MEMPHIS CONFERENCE FEMALE INSTITUTE,

JACKSON, TENNESSEE.

Rev. A. W. Jones, D. D., President.

Fall session begins SEPTEMBER 1st. The buildings are of brick, commodious and well situated in a retired, intelligent and moral community. It furnishes the best advantages for a first-class female college.

Send for a catalogue and give us a trial, and be sure satisfaction.

CHURCH AND SCHOOL FURNITURE.

The undersigned calls the attention of those interested in fitting up Churches and Schools to the various styles of School Desks, especially the PLUS ULTRA DESK, which has been adopted in all the new Public Schools erected in the city of New York; as also new styles of Pews, Settees for Sunday Schools; Pews, etc.; also the celebrated Easel and Map or Lesson Holder.

Altars, Tabernacles, Baptismal Boxes, Etc.

NATH. JOHNSON,

No. 400 Hudson street,

Catalogues forwarded on application.

AMERICAN HOUSE,

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

The Largest first-class Hotel in New England.

Centrally located. Contains apartments, bathing, conveniences adjoining. Also Elevator, Billiard Hall, Telegraph Office and Ticket Office.

au31 1y LEWIS RICE.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

...T FORTUNES, AND ...T THEY WERE MADE.

...ent Book, by J. D. McCabe. FORTY ...res, and each life a lesson. Thrilling in ...and true. Beautifully illustrated; orig... ...ings.

...Wanted.—Exploit sales and very best ...investment required. Do you mean ...business? Send and get our Extra Terms. ...Stop send and get our Extra Terms. ...F. HANNAFORD & CO., Publishers, ...37 West Fourth St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

...D BOOK.

...Y CANVASSING AGENTS ONLY.

...DEFMS' "JESUS."

...al History to Prove the Divin... ity of Christ.

...ts will find this the best-selling Book of ...Clergymen, Students and book Agents

...TED STATES PUBLISHING CO., ...11 and 13 University Place, New York.

...S WANTED EVERYWHERE FOR ...T CARSON'S ...TE AND ADVENTURES.

...ated by himself. Embraces events in the life... ...GREATEST HUNTER, TRAPPER, SCOUT AND ...also full accounts of the every-day life, inner ...peculiar customs of all INDIAN TRIBES OF THE ...extensive description of the country, its condi... ...resources, its mountains, rivers, valleys and ... Also, a full and complete history of the

...dians and the Modoc War.

...spirited and sells at sight. Agents reporting ...subscribers each per week. Illustrated circu... ...sent free to any address by

...Y PUBLISHING CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.

...OOK FOR AGENTS.—We want ...everywhere for a new, beautifully ...k of the author's own adventures.

LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.

...of nearly THIRTY YEARS of hunt... ...ing, captivity among the Comanches, ...an wars, encounters with Apaches, ...etc. Thrillingly interesting. Send ...at the most LIBERAL terms; or, if ...gain work, send $1 for complete outfit

F. A. HUTCHINSON & CO., New Orleans, La.

...WANTED.—ACT AT ONCE.— ...ople everywhere are eager to buy the ...and complete history of

...INGSTONE.

...erful discoveries and thrilling adven... ...Twenty-eight Years in the wilds of ...surrection by the daring STANLEY, ...beautifully Illustrated; only $2.50. ...ollect. Write for extra terms; or, if ...an at once, send $1 for outfit.

VALLEY PUBLISHING CO., New Orleans, La.

Wanted

...in Madison, Young Men and Women from ...20 to $75 a week to act as Agents for the

...Clemmer Ames' New Book, ...TERS IN WASHINGTON,

...Office, "Over the Potomac," "Over Hill and Dale," "As Women See Them," ...Life Experiences, Humor, Pathos, ...Thrilling Incidents, Wit, Wisdom, ...Fine Steel Portraits, Fine Wood Engravings, etc. ...Over 50 Elegant Illustrations. ...Big Terms. ...Outfit Free. ...Don't waste time on worthless books, but send for our ...Extra Terms, and see what we offer. We pay freight on ...our books. Address

...ARRINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

...AGENTS WANTED

TO SELL OUR

...Unified States and State Maps,

...Pictorial and Religious Charts.

...to Agents. Small capital needed.

E. C. HUTCHMAN, No. 5 Barclay street, New York.

...EMPLE HARP.—THE SCIENCE ...no longer a mystery. This music... ...have been published a hundred years ...as beautiful music, and the element... ...alone is worth more than ten ...times asked for the book. Published ...NS, No. 765 Jayne street, Philadel... ...and for sale by booksellers ...retail price, $1.25. To the trade, same ...as books. se4 3m

...BEST Commission on rapidly-selling books for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Red Men, Mechanics, Temperance, etc. Sales unprecedented. One Agent clears $1,200 in three months, another over $200 in five days, another $90 in eight hours, scores $40 in ...Write for circular and prove this. Give ...your Lodge, and name this paper.

J. HALE POWERS & CO., Fraternity Publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio.

...PRACTICAL POCKET COMMENTARY ...AND BIBLE DICTIONARY.

...es. One Dollar each. Acknowledged ...and cheapest Commentary on the ...evant. By the Rev. Drs. JAMIE... ...SET & BROWN. Sold only by sub... ...Agents wanting territory address

BLACKALLER & TURNER, ...Room 9, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

...S WANTED TO ENGAGE IN A ... ...ant, lucrative and respectable busi... ...that energetic and responsible persons ...can make from $100 to $250 per month. ...Address A. CLYLE, ...19 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo.

...YOU wish to read a book that will delight and instruct you? that will hold you a... ...entertaining to the last page? Then send for ...WHITE CHIEF. BELDEN ...Office, "Over the Potomac," "Over Hill and Dale," "As Women See Them," ...Life Experiences, Humor, Pathos, ...Thrilling Incidents, Wit, Wisdom, ...Fine Steel Portraits, Fine Wood Engravings, etc. ...Over 50 Elegant Illustrations. ...Big Terms. ...Outfit Free. ...Don't waste time on worthless books, but send for our ...Extra Terms, and see what we offer. We pay freight on ...our books. Address

...ARRINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

...AGENTS WANTED ...Office, "Over the Potomac," "Over Hill and Dale," "As Women See Them," ...Life Experiences, Humor, Pathos, ...Thrilling Incidents, Wit, Wisdom, ...Fine Steel Portraits, Fine Wood Engravings, etc. ...Over 50 Elegant Illustrations. ...Big Terms. ...Outfit Free. ...Don't waste time on worthless books, but send for our ...Extra Terms, and see what we offer. We pay freight on ...our books. Address

...ARRINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

...SENDS WANTED. ...Office, "Over the Potomac," "Over Hill and Dale," "As Women See Them," ...Life Experiences, Humor, Pathos, ...Thrilling Incidents, Wit, Wisdom, ...Fine Steel Portraits, Fine Wood Engravings, etc. ...Over 50 Elegant Illustrations. ...Big Terms. ...Outfit Free. ...Don't waste time on worthless books, but send for our ...Extra Terms, and see what we offer. We pay freight on ...our books. Address

...ARRINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

...ROAD TO FORTUNE.

...WANTED to sell our cheap, fast-sell... ...illustrated Books. Retail at Sheets. ...counts at very low wholesale prices. ...Now is the time to act in the business. New books. ...These publications sell on sight. Ad... ...RARTLAY & CO., ...N. Seventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

...SAVED! ...to the urgent demand of the times ...Florence Sewing Machine Co. ...HAVE DETERMINED TO

REDUCE PRICES,

...hereafter sell their $70 Machine for $50. ...Styles in proportion.

THE FLORENCE

...Sewing Machine that feeds the work ...forward, or to right and left, as the ...may prefer. It has been greatly IM... ...AND SIMPLIFIED, and is far better ...machine in the market.

...IS NOW THE CHEAPEST.

AGENTS WANTED. ...t, Mass., Nov. 1, 1873. no6 ft

...NG OUT.....SELLING OUT,

REGARDLESS OF COST,

A GREAT SACRIFICE,

...ose the business, the entire stock of

...FANCY GOODS, BASKETS,

...Bohemian and China Vases, etc., con... ...tinued in

THE VARIETY STORE,

...MAGAZINE STREET.....517 (BASTIAN'S ROW,) ...tween Felicity and St. Mary streets. ...Cases, Shelving and Counters for sale ...no6 1m

...ON'S PATENT

...FASTENING AND ADJUSTABLE

BED SPRINGS

...the Best Spring Beds in Use.

...are complete in themselves, and can be ap... ...few minutes to any slat bedstead. ...from three to five dozen make a Set.

JOHN FLINN, ...58 South Second St., Philadelphia, Pa. ...Water and Champlain Sts., Cleveland, ...Discount to the trade. se18 1y

...THE PUBLIC.

...the contemplate giving up housekeeping ...and desire to have their FURNI... ...carefully packed for shipping or storing, ...will do well to call on

J. ROIS, No. 291 Camp street. ...Furniture repaired and bought. Carpets ...cleaned. oc23 2m

BUSINESS CARDS.

THOMAS BASAM,

LUMBER.

CABINS MADE TO ORDER.

Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Sash, Blinds, etc.

Mills and Yard Corner CEDAR AND JULIA streets, New Basin, New Orleans. no6 1m

MME. MONTARDIER,

NO. 89 BOURBON STREET,

Bet. Canal and Custom House Streets, New Orleans.

Stamping, Pinking and Embroidery in all styles. Kid Gloves cleaned. no6 1m

JOHN C. POOLEY,

Dealer in every Description of

Building Material, Lumber, Shingles, SASH, LATHS, ETC.,

315.....JULIA STREET.....315

Near corner of Liberty (New Basin,)

P. O. Box No. 687. (oc30 1m) New Orleans.

COAL.....COAL.

H. & C. TYLER,

9.....CARONDELET ST.....9

will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates.

oc30 3m H. & C. TYLER.

J. M. ELKIN. F. STRINGER.

ELKIN & CO.,

168.....CANAL STREET.....168

Near Baronne, New Orleans,

IMPORTERS OF ALL VARIETIES OF

English Carpetings, Rugs, Etc., Etc.

Also Oil Cloths, Mattings, Curtain Damasks, Lace Curtains, Window Shades, etc. no23 1y

JOHN I. ADAMS. JAY L. ADAMS. WM. H. RENAUD.

JOHN I. ADAMS & CO.,

WHOLESALE GROCERS, AND DEALERS IN PROVISIONS, LARD, OIL, ETC.,

Nos. 13, 15 and 17 Peters Street,

(Formerly New Levee,)

m27 1y New Orleans.

JAMES N. QUIN,

PRACTICAL

GAS AND STEAM-PIPE FITTER.

All kinds of Brass Work, General Southern Agent for the celebrated Nichols Patent Challenge Wind Mill; also for Challenge Feed Mills, Hay Cutters Corn Shellers and Drove Wells. For price list and circulars address J. N. QUIN, ja30 1y 116 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans.

R. F. BRITTON. H. R. EPPLER.

BRITTON & EPPLER,

STEAMBOAT AGENTS

AND FORWARDING MERCHANTS,

No. 135 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.

Forwarding done free of commission. ja5 6m

J. P. PAYNE. GEORGE MOORMAN.

D. M. PAYNE. J. G. PARHAM.

J. P. PAYNE & D. M. PAYNE & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS,

61 and 63 Baronne Street.....61 and 66

Between Union and Gravier streets,

je19 1y New Orleans, La.

F. WAGENER, AGENT,

FRAMING STORE,

13 Baronne St., near Canal, New Orleans.

Frames of all descriptions made to order at the shortest notice and at New York prices.

Pictures and Window Shades put up. Cords, Tassels and Shade Fixtures for sale. my15 1y

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING,

CUTTING AND FITTING,

At Reasonable Prices, by

MRS. M. TOURNAHEN,

No. 236 Prytania street,

m27 1y Corner of St. Mary, New Orleans.

A. S. CUTLER,

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,

136½.....Camp Street.....136½

Bet. Girod and Lafayette, New Orleans.

Graining, Gilding, Glazing, Kalsomining and Wall-coloring. my15 1y

Box 75, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange.

J. A. LUM. FRANK H. HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

162 Gravier and 13 Fulton Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES. my23 3m

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

H. D. WOOD & BRO.,

106 Common St., opposite City Hotel,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied. my1 1y

T. W. ROTHICK, UNDERTAKER,

No. 271 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Metallic, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Rosewood COFFINS always on hand. Black, Satin, Brown and White Merino Ladies' and Children's Shrouding. Embalming and Disinterring Bodies carefully attended. Hearses, Carriages and Cabs for hire. Funerals attended to in person by the proprietor, who hopes, by strict attention, to obtain a share of public patronage. no28 1y

WILLIAM EBERT,

ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS,

AND GENERAL HOUSESMITH.

Iron Railings, Front Railings, Fences and Verandas of all kinds made to order; also Iron Shutters, Doors, Window and Door Gratings.

161 and 163 Magazine St., New Orleans.

Box 214, Mechanics' Exchange. ap20 1y

LEWIS LOCKWOOD,

MANUFACTURER OF

DR. D. BLY'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEGS AND ARMS.

125 Gravier St., New Orleans.

Prices from $75 to $100. Satisfaction guaranteed. No advance payment required. The patient can put on the leg and practically test it as long as desired. Pamphlets sent free. my15 1y

CRESCENT MACHINE SHOP.

JOSEPH WALKER,

Machinist, Engineer, Blacksmithing,

&c., &c.,

CORNER ST. JOSEPH AND CONSTANCE STS., New Orleans.

Plantation Machinery manufactured and repaired. Jobbing promptly attended to. ja21 1y

C. SAMPSON. F. O. SAMPSON.

SAMPSON BROTHERS,

(LATE C. C. SAMPSON,)

FURNITURE,

33 and 35.....Bayou Street.....33 and 35

NEW ORLEANS.

Established in 1831. ja21 1y

GEORGE PERVEAR'

Sash, Blind and Door Steam Factory,

AND LUMBER YARD,

Corner St. Charles and Tho Sts., New Orleans.

Lumber Depot—Corner Claiborne and Delord.

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS, MOLDINGS, ARCHITRAVES, Base, Newel, Balusters, Balusters, Pickets, Floors, Blinds and Inside Shutters. Rough and Dressed Lumber, Flooring, Ceiling, Weatherboarding, Laths and Shingles always on hand at lowest market prices. Door and Window Frames of all forms and sizes made to order. oc23 1y

JOHNSON & BILLSTEN,

PRACTICAL PAINTERS,

111.....Magazine Street.....111

House and Sign Painting, Graining, Staining and Paper Hanging, Gilding, Marbling, Coloring and Kalsomining. All work except white lead, and charges moderate. No. 111 Magazine, between Julia and Girod streets. 6m15

TO THE PUBLIC.—I AM NOW PREpared to remove and repair IRON SAFES; also Lightning Rods repaired and put up to order. I have also on hand New and Second-hand SAFES for sale, both Burglar and Fire-Proof. Particular attention paid to repairing Bank Locks and Printing Presses, on most reasonable terms.

HEINRICH COATS,

de28 1y No. 168 Magazine street, near Julia.

Second-hand Sewing Machines always on hand and for sale. Also Second-hand Copying Presses.

ST. CHARLES NURSERY,

BY JAMES M. WALDO & CO.

Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Evergreens, Flowering Shrubs, Roses, Greenhouse and Bedding Plants, well-grown Orange Trees, Plants for Hanging Baskets and Flower Vases. Every exertion made to give C. O. satisfaction in filling all orders from city or country. Packing done in a manner to insure safety in shipment any reasonable distance. Rosary and Floral Design Ground, Corner Gardens laid out and taken charge of. Lawn Mowing attended to. Orders promptly attended to. Plants delivered free of charge. Catalogues sent on application. Nursery and Office, Corner St. Charles and Jackson Avenue. Entrance on Jackson Avenue. Horse cars pass the door. Nursery open every day. Sundays excepted. Nursery, Jackson Avenue, between St. Charles and Carondelet streets. Office, 122 Camp street, New Orleans. no28 1y

BUSINESS CARDS.

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Boots, Shoes and Brogans,

Corner Ursulines and Dauphine Sts.,

(SIGN OF THE RED BOOT)

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of articles in the Boot and Shoe line, for Ladies', Gentlemen's and Children's wear, constantly on hand, and offered at the LOWEST PRICES. no30 2m

SANTIAGO M. LAPEYRE,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

Also Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Etc., Etc.,

No. 53 St. Louis Street,

no30 2m Cor. St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

THE PREMIUM BUTCHER STALLS.

MARTIN LANNES, BUTCHER,

STALLS 37, 38 and 7,

MAGAZINE MARKET,

New Orleans, Louisiana.

Respectfully informs his friends and the public in general that he is prepared to furnish Families, Hotels, Boarding-Houses, Steamboats, Ships and Steamships with the best BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, SAUSAGES, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Game, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords, at the very Lowest Rates. Thanking my customers for past favors, I solicit a continuance of the same. Presided over the Stalls, Nos. 37, 38 and 7, Magazine Market, where all orders sent will be thankfully received and promptly filled. ☞ All Meats delivered free of charge. oc23 3m

WILLIAM J. BEIRNE & CO.,

PROPRIETORS OF

Washington Cooperage Establishment,

FOR MARENGO AND LEVEE STS.,

have the most improved steam machinery in operation, and are thus able to make the finest quality of Sugar Hogsheads and Molasses Barrels. Their work guaranteed to prove satisfactory. Office—28 and 29 Levee street. oc21 1m

HENRY BRISBI,

STYLISH HATTER,

No. 3 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

All orders from the country promptly attended to. oc23 1y

NEW ORLEANS STENCIL WORKS

AND

MAGIC BATTERY MANUFACTORY.

AGENCY OF THE GOLDEN WONDER

GEORGE B. THETHE & CO.,

ENGRAVERS STENCIL CUTTERS, STAMP AND SEAL-MAKERS,

82.....Gravier Street.....82

New Orleans, Louisiana.

Manufacturers of all kinds of Cotton Brands, Steel Plates, Ribbon Stamps, Seal Presses, Burning Brands, Door Plates, House Numbers, etc. ja30 1y

THE MITCHELL & RAMMELSBERG FURNITURE CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN ALL KINDS OF

FURNITURE,

MATTRESSES,

LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.

Nos. 103 and 105 Camp Street,

Corner Poydras, Moresque Building, New Orleans,

Have the largest and best assortment of FURNITURE OF ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.

Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. my28 1y

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND

—AND—

DOOR FACTORY.

ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,

301, 303, 305 and 307 Gravier Street,

je5 1y New Orleans.

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARETTES,

and a full assortment of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, constantly on hand and for sale cheap by

ED. L. ZELL,

Corner Canal and Carondelet streets,

de19 1y New Orleans, La.

S. E. HAGGART,

ARCHITECT,

No. 5 Commercial Place, New Orleans.

Plans, detail drawings and specifications of Churches, School-houses and buildings of every description. de22 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

R. H. MACLAN,

No. 31 Carondelet Street.

Pittsburg, Anthracite and American Cannel Coal, prepared for family use. All orders from the country will receive our prompt attention.

Yard, cor. Tchoupitoulas & Fourth sts. ja31 1y

E. HEATH. M. LARA.

HEATH & LARA,

Importers and Dealers in

UPHOLSTERERS' GOODS, WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,

Mirrors, Frames, Moulding and Wire Screens,

No. 90 Camp Street.

no21 1y New Orleans.

JOSEPH PATZELT,

FURNITURE AND CABINETMAKER,

No. 172 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Repairing, Varnishing and Upholstering executed at the shortest notice. Furniture made to order. oc21 1y

P. A. LEBLANC. T. A. BECK.

LEBLANC & BECK,

COOPERS,

Nos. 23 and 21 Front street, between Custom house and Bienville streets, Sugar Landing, New Orleans, have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Hogsheads, etc., and promptly attend to Packing and Coopering. de28 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

D. H. HOLMES,

DIRECT IMPORTATION OF

DRY GOODS,

NO. 155 CANAL STREET AND NO. 15 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

IMPORTER OF

Silks, Embroidery, Laces, Ladies' and Children's Suits, Hosiery,

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, MATTINGS, ETC.

ap24 1y

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 210 CARONDELET STREET,

Between Julia and St. Joseph.

ja2 1y New Orleans, La.

DR. JOHN G. ANGELL,

DENTAL SURGEON,

152.....Julia Street.....152

All operations in Operative, Mechanical and Surgical Dentistry carefully performed.

Nitrous Oxide and other Anæsthetics administered. no28 1y

G. W. RACE. W. H. FOSTER.

E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice, Louisiana.

RACE, FOSTER & E. T. MERRICK,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place, se25 NEW ORLEANS.

IRON WORKS—BELLS.

BOSTON ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS.

EMPIRE LAWN MOWERS.

The Best in the Market.

Fountains, Vases, Statues, Deer, Dogs, Lions and other Lawn and Garden Ornaments.

Iron and Wire Railings for public and private buildings, banks, cemeteries, window-guards, etc.

Iron Crestings for Mansard roofs.

Iron Stable Fixtures of the most approved designs.

Copper Weather Vanes. Over two hundred new and original designs.

Emblematic Signs, suitable for every trade and profession.

Reynolds' Iron Roofing. Warranted.

All kinds of Wrought and Cast Iron made for building purposes. Estimates given. Send for catalogue.

BUBIER & CO., Proprietors.

Office—24 Exchange street.

ap21 1m Factory—91 Merrimac St., Boston.

RAILINGS.....RAILINGS.

WROUGHT IRON AND WIRE RAILINGS

FOR

Public Grounds, Cemeteries, Cottages,

ETC., ETC.

Iron Bedsteads, with Wire Sackings, for Hospitals, etc. Verandas and every variety of Wrought Iron and Wire work. Every information by addressing the manufacturers.

M. WALKER & SONS,

se8 1y 805 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WIRE RAILING

AND

ORNAMENTAL WIRE WORKS.

DUFUR & CO.,

No. 311 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.,

Manufacture Wire Railing for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Sieves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also trap Bedsteads, Chairs, etc. no21 1y

PATENT COMBINED IRON FENCES.

The New Plan of Iron Nailed to Iron.

The best and neatest in the world for public and private grounds. Send for designs

J. H. WICKERSHAM & SONS,

Sole Manufacturers

se25 3m 1003 Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted

Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free

VANDUZEN & TIFT,

102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati

R. J. WEST, Agent.

ap24 1y 115 and 117 Magazine st., New Orleans

MENEELY & KIMBERLY,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.

Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.

☞ Illustrated catalogue sent free. jy31 1y

MULTUM IN PARVO.

HINES' COMBINATION STEAM COOKER.

The most perfect Steam Cooking Apparatus ever invented. Will cook SIX different articles at ONE TIME—MEATS, POULTRY, FISH, VEGETABLES, PUDDINGS, etc.—without any article tainting another without the possibility of ever cooking or burning, and at the same time afford HOT WATER for Tea or Coffee, without interfering with the process of cooking.

No. 1, small family size.....$10 00
No. 2, medium family size..... 13 00
No. 3, large family size..... 16 00

Cookers sent to any part of the country on receipt of price, or C. O. D., with full instructions for using.

For sale at No. 52 GRAVIER STREET, New Orleans.

Agents wanted in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Send for circulars. Address

GROHWYN & CO.,

jy31 3m Lock Box 161, New Orleans, La.

BULBS! SEEDS! FOR Autumn

CATALOGUE OF

Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocus, Lilies, Etc.,

IS NOW READY.

and will be mailed FREE to all applicants. We invite every lover of Flowers to write us for a copy. Our assortment of Vegetable and Flower Seeds is complete, and growing our own Seeds, and importing from reliable sources, we know that our Seeds are pure and true. Correspondence solicited. Address

KERN, STERER & CO.,

Seed Growers and Merchants,

oc21 3m No. 211 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED

N. F. Barnhart's New Turbine WATER WHEEL

To be the best ever Invented.

Pamphlet free. Address—York, Pa.

jy21 3m

YELLOW FEVER

Can be successfully treated by any one. See ltr. S. S. FITCH'S

NEW FAMILY PHYSICIAN.

...of charge to any person sending their ...and address to 711 BROADWAY, New ...

...6 3t

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARBLE

—AND—

GRANITE WORKS.

GEORGE STROUD,

Late of and successor to John Stroud & Co.,

(Established in 1839,)

158, 160, 162 AND 164 ST. CHARLES ST.

Corner of Girod Street, New Orleans.

Every description of Monumental, Cemetery and Building Work done in the best manner.

Particular attention given to all COUNTRY ORDERS.

A long experience in and an aptness at the business enables the proprietor to meet the views and ideas of his country friends by letter, as well as by a visit to the city.

Designs and Sketches will be furnished on application. no28 1y

BABCOCK SELF-ACTING FIRE ENGINE,

FOR CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE USE.

The Babcock Fire Extinguisher, Hook and Ladder Trucks, with Portable Fire Extinguishers attached. The Fire Departments in the principal cities of the Union use them daily. They are safe and simple, and a powerful protection. Forty-six railroads use them. Insurance companies reduce rates where it is introduced.

A. M. GRANGER, General Agent,

Exposition Building

CABINS.....LUMBER.....CABINS,

PLANTATION CABINS, manufactured in the city and shipped to the country, all framed, fitted, and each piece marked and numbered, so that a common hand can put them up without the aid of a carpenter.

The above represents a double Cabin of two rooms, each 16x16, built with tenants placed upright and the joints stripped. Price, delivered to boat, including all hardware, nails, shingles, etc., $135. We make them of all sizes. Cost in proportion.

We also keep a large stock of LUMBER, SASH, etc., on hand, and make a specialty of sawing bills to order.

W. W. CARRE & CO.,

jy23 1y 330 Behrd street, New Orleans.

THE IMPROVED LASH WASHING MACHINE.

PRICE ONLY $15.

Warranted Entirely Satisfactory If Used as Directed.

Is unequaled as a "Family Washer," and equally adapted to schools, Colleges, Hotels, etc. Will "thoroughly wash" the worst-soiled clothing without hand-rubbing in one-third the time usually required, and will not injure the most delicate fabric.

Call on or address Union Box and Machine Manufacturing Co., Room 4, Rear 3?3½ WALNUT ST., Philadelphia, or No. 5 North SEVENTEENTH Street. se27 6m

HIWASSEE COLLEGE,

UNDER CARE OF

The Holston Conference, M. E. Church South.

Founded in 1849. Greatly improved. Boarding-house, with farm of five hundred acres. Five generations. Faculty full. Instruction thorough. Located in the quiet country, seven miles from Sweetwater, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Rail road. Expenses of tuition, board, fuel, lodging and washing less than $150 a year. Conveyance any day. For further information address se25 6m Swan Pond P. O., Tenn.

REV. J. H. BRUNNER,

READVILLA SEMINARY

—WILL—

Reopen on Monday, October 2, 1873,

with a limited number of pupils, and with a full corps of experienced and successful teachers.

Students returning to the seminary, and those desiring to enter it, are requested to be present the first day of the session.

For further information in reference to the school inquire of its patrons and patrons throughout the South, or for catalogues apply to the Principal,

MISS M. W. READ,

se4 3m Baton Rouge, La.

BINGHAM HOUSE, PHILADELPHIA,

Corner of Eleventh and Market Sts.

CARLIS DAVIS, PROPRIETOR.

This popular Hotel being centrally located and accessible by street cars from all depots, makes it a desirable stopping-place for travelers. It will be conducted in the same liberal manner as heretofore, it being the intention of the proprietor to maintain the reputation it has always enjoyed of being in all respects a first-class hotel.

Terms, $3 a day. je11 1y

JOHN GIBSON,

ENGRAVER

AND

Steam Power Lithographic Printer,

82 BEEKMAN ST., NEW YORK.

Checks, Notes, Drafts, Receipts, Bonds, Certificates of Stock and Deposit, Bill, Letter and Note Headings, Business Cards, Envelops, Druggists' Fancy and Perfumery Labels, etc. Druggists wishing Labels, send for catalogue. jy3 1y

BRINLY PLOWS

Best and Cheapest in Use,

Have taken over 300 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for illustrated Catalogue with Price-list, and Certificates of Planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:

BRINLY, MILES & HARDY, Louisville, Ky.

se27 6m

PENNSYLVANIA

STAINED GLASS WORKS.

Aickin & Innes, Proprietors.

Office and Works 3737, 3739 and 3741 FILBERT street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Designs and estimates furnished on application for Memorial, Sunburst and other Church Windows; also for Bay and Side-rence Windows and Skylights for private residences and public halls. s15 3m

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ

131 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans,

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Cabriolet built anywhere oc22 3m

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!—A COMplete Agent's Outfit for only 50 cents. One-half dozen fine Aurora Gold Pens; one Combination Penholder, Eraser etc.; one Gold Fountain Pen; one fine Lead-Pencil (Rubber); one fine Gents' Vest-Chain; one lot Chinese Flosselle; one fine Imitation Carnelian Set Sleeve Buttons, Collar-Buttons and Studs, all in a neat box. All of the above articles will be sent, as samples, on receipt of 50 cents, post paid. Address, at once,

I. C. HAMILTON, Springfield, Mass.

au28 3m P. O. Box 1218.

AGENTS! AGENTS!—AGENTS WANTED!

The Housekeepers' Combination.

Sells like hot cakes. Send 50 cents for it. Three most useful articles and Chromo only 50 cents. Most useful articles and Chromo only 50 cents.

I. C. HAMILTON, Springfield, Mass.

s13 3m Lock Drawer 1218, P. O.

MEDICAL.

MATERN WEBER,

APOTHECARY,

No. 181, Cor. Royal and Spain Sts.,

has practiced as an Apothecary since 1851 before the School of Medicine was established in New Orleans. He defies any competition; moreover, there is no Chemist in the world who is able to analyze the following articles:

Weber's Spermaceti Pills ($2 per box.)
Cough Strup (50 per bottle)
Sarsaparilla ($2 per bottle)
Piles Ointment (50 per box.)
Dyspepsia Mixture, and Lotion for Sores.

He guarantees all the above compounds free from Mercury or any other injurious ingredients. He charges only for his medicine. no6 2m

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

THE STANDARD REMEDY FOR SCROFULA,

And all diseases arising from

IMPURITY OF BLOOD,

such as Eruptions, Pimples, Boils, Ulcers or Sores, Abscesses, White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, etc., and all affections of the Eyes, Ears, Throat or Lungs, occurring in Scrofulous constitutions. For pamphlets, illustrating cases, send to

SWAIM'S LABORATORY,

1008 Seventh street, below Chestnut,

oc23 1m Philadelphia, Pa.

A BOX OF LIVER PILLS (FREE)

GOES

WITH EVERY BOTTLE

OF OUR

AGUE MEDICINE,

which we authorize every druggist to sell on

THE WARRANT

that, if taken according to directions and it fails to cure,

The Money Shall be Refunded.

We guarantee that it contains neither Arsenic, Strychnine nor any other poisonous ingredient.

Hear what those who have used it say of it:

READ THIS.

Thos. Broughton, with John D. Park, of Cincinnati, says: "H. C. Hamilton & Co.—I had had the Ague for two long years, and had tried several remedies of acknowledged or pretended merit without any good result. I finally tried your preparation—KRESS FEVER TONIC. One bottle completely broke up the malady, and I am now perfectly well. I cheerfully testify that your medicine does all you claim for it; and it is only due to you that this acknowledgment should be made, especially as so many worthless chill medicines are now offered."

☞ Ask for KRESS FEVER TONIC, and remember the guarantee of the proprietors.

W. C. HAMILTON & CO., Wholesale Druggists,

jy17 3m Cincinnati, Ohio.

BETHESDA MINERAL WATER.—THE acknowledged best cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Liver and Bilious Affections, Kidney and Urinary diseases. Sold, wholesale or retail, at 38 Magazine street. J. C. McALLISTER, Sole Southern Agent.

Address Glass Box 825. mh6 1y

FROM A RECENT ANALYSIS BY Prof. W. O. Atwater, of Yale College, the following table will show the chemical composition of YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Albuminoids | 12.45 | Sugar | 13.66 |
| Gum | 5.21 | Starch | 5.52 |
| Fat | 8.59 | Cellulose | 2.65 |
|

New Orleans Markets.

From the New Orleans Price Current.

The financial situation continues to improve. The banks are reported to have materially increased their supply of currency, partly from New York and partly from the unlocking of private hoards, some customers depositing their current receipts on general deposit.

The river is 14 feet below high-water mark.

CAUTION.—The following are the arrivals since the seventh instant:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Louisiana and Mississippi | bales | 13,611 |
| Lake | | 27 |
| Arkansas | | 2,640 |
| Mobile | | 2,315 |
| Tennessee | | 2,192 |
| Texas | | 250 |
| Total | | 20,547 |

On Saturday the market opened with a good inquiry, and the business comprised 4,000 bales. On Monday, although the movement was somewhat interrupted by factors claiming currency, or a premium it paid in certified checks, yet as this currency measure was not generally adhered to, and there was no difficulty in agreeing on the premiums when payments were agreed to be made in checks, the sales embraced 4,000 bales, operations being restricted more by light supplies than by any other cause, while prices advanced ⅛c. during the morning, factors realizing the same figures in currency they had obtained on Saturday for checks, but subsequently receding fully ⅛c. The sales included low middling, good style, early, at 13¾c. for currency and 14¼c. for certified checks, and strict low mid ding at 14¼c. for the latter. The market closed on the currency basis of 13⅝@13¾c for low middling, 13⅞@14c. for strict, and 14⅛@14¼c. for middling, currency ruling in the open market at 2 per cent. over checks. On Tuesday the movement was to a still greater extent in certified checks, and prices exhibited more irregularity, depeding with moderate offerings and at firm prices, but subsequently ruling more in favor of buyers, showing a partial falling off of ¼c. The business was to a fair extent, summing up 5,150 bales.

The above makes an aggregate for the past three days of 13,350 bales, against 10,650 for the corresponding time last week and 16,000 the week before.

The receipts proper at this port since the first of September, exclusive of the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, are 155,360 bales, against 222,529 bales to the same date last year, and the decrease in the receipts at all the ports up to the latest dates, as compared with last year, is 175,921 bales. In the exports from the United States to foreign countries, as compared with the same date last year, there is a decrease of 13,077 to Great Britain, of 31,540 to France and of 25,873 to other foreign ports. We quote:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Strict ordinary | currency | 12¼ @ 12¾ |
| Good ordinary | | 12¾ @ 13 |
| Strict good ordinary | | 12¾ @ 13 |
| Low middling | | 13½ @ 13⅝ |
| Strict low middling | | 13⅝ @ 13¾ |
| Middling | | 14¼ @ 14¼ |
| Strict middling | | 14¼ @ 14¼ |
| Good middling | | 15¼ @ 15⅜ |

COTTON STATEMENT.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Stock on hand Sept. 1, 1873 | bales | 7,177 |
| Arrived past three days | 20,547 | |
| Arrived previously | 157,800 | 178,146 |
| | | 185,623 |
| Exported past three days | 12,824 | |
| Exported previously | 87,935 | 100,659 |
| Stock on hand and on shipboard | | 84,973 |

SUGAR.—The receipts from plantation are increasing, but the demand is slack, and the market is dull and dragging, as the trade has not yet fairly opened for the season. On Tuesday 420 hhds. were received. The receipts were mostly sold at 4⅞@5c. for inferior, 5⅜@5¾c. for low common, 6¼c. for good fair, 6⅝c. for fairly fair, 6⅞@7c. for seconds, 8@8¼c. for yellow clarified, and 9c. for low white clarified.

MOLASSES.—The supplies from plantation are increasing, and prices have ruled lower, though the demand was fair. On Tuesday 1,062 bbls. were received. The market was dull and weak, at irregular prices. Most of the receipts were sold at 47c. for fair to prime, 53@56c. for strictly prime, and 58@59c. for choice.

COFFEE.—On Tuesday the receipts were liberal, but the demand was only moderate; 1,000 sacks sold at 22c. for yellow mixed, 23c. for mixed, 24c. for yellow, 26c. for white mixed, and 28c. for choice white.

OATS.—Are in fair supply, but the demand is limited, and prices are easier for buyers. There were sales on Saturday and Monday of 2,500 sacks at 50@55c. ₱ bushel for prime, and 42@45c. for choice. On Tuesday 950 sacks sold at 52@54c. ₱ bushel.

BRAN.—Is in good supply, and holders are willing sellers. There were sales on Saturday and Monday of 1,500 sacks at 0¼@0¾c. ₱ lb.

PORK.—The market has continued very dull and more depressed, with a small stock on hand. Moss is offering in round lots at $18; 13@25, and on Monday 100 bbls. sold on the land ng at $18.25 ₱ bbl. It is retailing at $19@19.50 ₱ bbl.

BREAKFAST BACON.—Is in better supply, and easier to buy. Western is quoted at 12¼@13c. New York is retailing at 14@c. ₱ lb.

MONETARY.

Gold opened on Tuesday at 107¾@107¾ for currency and 108¼@108¾ for checks (against 107¾ at New York,) and closed at 107¾@108 for currency and 108¾@109 for checks (against 107¾ at New York.)

Nothing has been reported in silver. It is extremely scarce. Quotations are entirely nominal.

New Orleans Wholesale Prices.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

Made up from Actual Sales as they Transpire.

| ARTICLES. | FROM | TO |
|---|---|---|
| AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS: | | |
| Cotton scrapers | $5 00 | $6 00 |
| Cotton sweeps | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Cultivators, Diam. and shovel tooth | 9 00 | 18 00 |
| Cultivators, riding and walking | 25 00 | 45 00 |
| Shovels and spades | 7 50 | 16 50 |
| Axes | 12 00 | 17 50 |
| Shovel plows | 6 00 | 9 00 |
| Half doz., with cutters | 8 00 | 14 00 |
| Manly's double-shovel plow | 6 00 | 9 75 |
| Corn mills, Coleman's | 120 00 | 425 00 |
| Bradford's grist mills | 150 00 | 235 00 |
| BRICKS, ₱ M: | | |
| Lake | 13 00 | 16 00 |
| Country | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| English fire | 45 00 | 50 00 |
| American fire | 35 00 | 43 00 |
| CANDLES, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sperm, New Bedford | 33 | 36 |
| Tallow | 17 | — — |
| CHOCOLATE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Cocoa | 38 | 40 |
| No. 1 | 30 | 32 |
| Sweet | 25 | — — |
| COAL, ₱ ton: | | |
| Anthracite | 12 50 | 13 00 |
| Western, ₱ bbl | — — | — — |
| COFFEE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Mexican | 27 | 28 |
| Java | 30 | — — |
| COTTON SEED: | | |
| Rough, ₱ ton | — — | 11 00 |
| In sacks | — — | — — |
| EGGS, ₱ dozen: | | |
| Western | 22 | 24 |
| FERTILIZERS, ₱ ton: | | |
| Stern's raw-bone superphosph'e | — — | 65 00 |
| Stern's fine-ground bone | — — | 45 00 |
| FLOUR, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Double extra | 6 00 | 6 50 |
| Superfine | — — | — — |
| Fine | — — | 5 00 |
| GLASS, ₱ box of 50 feet: | | |
| French, 8 by 10 | — — | 4 00 |
| French, 10 by 12 | 4 00 | 4 25 |
| French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 30 | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 30 | 4 50 | 5 00 |
| HAY, ₱ ton: | | |
| Prime | — — | 24 00 |
| Choice | — — | 26 00 |
| IRON, ₱ ton: | | |
| English, ₱ lb | 4½ | 5½ |
| Swedes, assorted | 7½ | 8 |
| Hoop | 7½ | 8 |
| Sheet | 7½ | 8½ |
| Nail rods | — — | 9½ |
| Castings, American | 5½ | 6 |
| LEATHER, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sole, hemlock | 30 | 33 |
| Sole, oak | 43 | 44 |
| Harness | 38 | 45 |
| Calfskins, ₱ dozen | 35 00 | 100 00 |
| Texas, rough, ₱ lb | 34 | 36 |
| LIME, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Western | 1 75 | — — |
| Cement | 2 75 | 3 00 |
| Plaster Paris | 3 50 | 3 75 |
| LUMBER, ₱ M feet: | | |
| Boards, yellow pine | 13 00 | 15 00 |
| Boards, cypress | 20 00 | 25 00 |
| Flooring, dressed | 18 00 | 21 00 |
| Flooring, rough | 14 00 | 17 00 |
| Ceiling, dressed | — — | 17 00 |
| Weatherboards, dressed | 15 00 | 18 00 |
| Weatherboards, rough | — — | 17 00 |
| Scantling | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| Shingles, ₱ M | 3 50 | 4 00 |
| Laths | 2 50 | 2 75 |
| OILS: | | |
| Lard, ₱ gallon | — — | — — |
| Coal oil, in barrels | 22 | 25 |
| Linseed, raw | 1 10 | — — |
| SUGAR, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Havana, white | — — | — — |
| Havana, yellow | 10½ | 11 |
| Havana, brown | 10 | 10½ |
| Crushed | 12 | — — |
| Pulverized | 12 | — — |
| TEAS, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Imperial | 50 | 1 30 |
| Gunpowder | — — | 1 60 |
| Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Young Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Pouchong | 30 | — — |
| Oolong | 40 | 1 10 |
| WAGONS, CARTS, ETC.: | | |
| Wagon, two-horse | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 110 00 | 125 00 |
| Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein | 85 00 | 90 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 100 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane wagon | 180 00 | 210 00 |
| Ox wagon | 90 00 | 125 00 |
| Ox cart, complete | 110 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane cart | 85 00 | 120 00 |
| Tongue cart, complete | 120 00 | 125 00 |
| Plantation cart | 55 00 | 70 00 |

CATTLE MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, NOV. 11, 1873.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Texas beeves, choice, ₱ head | — | $50 00 |
| Texas beeves, first quality, ₱ head | 35 00 | 45 00 |
| Texas cattle, second quality, ₱ head | 20 00 | 28 00 |
| Texas cattle, third quality, ₱ head | 12 00 | 15 00 |
| Western beeves, ₱ lb. net | 10 | 12½ |
| Sheep, first quality, ₱ head | 4 00 | 5 00 |
| Sheep, second quality, ₱ head | 3 00 | 4 00 |
| Milch cows, choice, ₱ head | 80 00 | 100 00 |
| Milch cows, ₱ head | 35 00 | 50 00 |
| Calves, ₱ head | 7 00 | 10 00 |
| Yearlings, ₱ head | 8 00 | 12 00 |

Business Directory

OF THE

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Agencies.
American Family Bible Publishing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio.
Barclay & Co., Philadelphia.
E. C. Bridgman, New York.
W. H. Chidester, New York.
A. Coyle, St. Louis, Mo.
George L. Felton, New York.
J. C. Hamilton, Springfield, Massachusetts.
E. Hannaford & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Mrs. H. Mcgridge, purchasing agent, 96 Canal street.
M. Young & Co., New York.
T. Ellwood Zell, Philadelphia.

Architects.
S. H. Daggart, 5 Commercial place.

Artificial Legs and Arms.
Lewis Lockwood, 59 Camp street.

Banks.
New Orleans Savings Institution, 136 Canal st.

Bed Springs.
John Flint, Philadelphia.

Bells.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Buckeye Bell Foundery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Book-Binder.
F. Kuhnholz, 112 Gravier street.

Books and Stationery.
Robert J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.
American Sunday School Union, Philadelphia.
Continental Publishing Co., St. Louis, Missouri.
F. A. Hutchinson & Co., New Orleans.
Nettleton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. Hale Powers & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Queen City Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
James W. Queen & Co., New York.
H. H. Thompson & Co., 9 Lakeside building, Chicago, Illinois.
United States Publishing Company, New York.
Valley Publishing Company, New Orleans.
C. F. Vent, Cincinnati, Ohio.
A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn

Boots and Shoes.
George John Wagner, corner Ursulines and Dauphine streets.

Butchers.
Martin Lannes, stalls 37, 38 and 7 Magazine market

Canned Goods.
J. Wilson Jones, Portland, Maine.
Burnham & Morrill, Portland, Maine.

Carpets.
A. Brousseau & Co., 17 Chartres street.
Elkin & Co., 168 Canal street.

Carriages, Wagons, Etc.
Joseph Beckhaus, Philadelphia.
W. F. Clark, 134 Thompert street.
D. M. Hollingsworth, 54 and 56 Baronne street
J. A. Lunn & Co., 1624 Gravier and 13 Union street.

Clothing and Furnishing Goods.
M. Cogan, 19 and 29 Canal street.
Pierson & Hews, 13 and 15 Camp street.
H. T. Walshe, 110 Canal street.

Coal and Wood.
John D. Maclin, 31 Carondelet street.
H. & C. Tyler, 9 Carondelet street.
H. D. Wood & Bros., 126 Common street.
Wm. Nelden, cor. Prytania and Phillip streets.

Cooperage.
Wm. J. Beirne & Co., cor. Marengo and Levee.
LeBlanc & Beck, 23 and 24 Front street

Cotton Ties.
Bartlett & Rayne, 48 Carondelet street.

Croquet.
Bradley's Patent Croquet, Robt. J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.

Crockery, China, Etc.
W. C. Shepard & Co., 55 Camp street.

Dentists.
Dr. John G. Aurell, 132 Julia street.

Dry Goods.
D. H. Holmes, 135 Canal and 13 Bourbon street

Educational.
Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana.
J. W. Blackman's Commercial College, 181 Carondelet street.
Emory and Henry College, Washington county Virginia.
Rhwassee College, Sweetwater, Tennessee.
Hoopp College, Homer, Louisiana.
Memphis Conference Female Institute, Jackson, Tennessee.
Reading's Seminary, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
Southern University, Greensboro, Alabama.
Western Female Institute, Staunton, Va.
Whitworth Female College, Brookhaven, Miss

Engravers and Lithographers.
John Orr, New York.
George E. Testel & Co., 82 Gravier street.

Factors and Commission Merchants.
Aiken & Walt, 61 Carondelet street.
C. M. Bayne & Pond, 34 to 42 Camp and 39 and 61 Common street.
J. L. Dunnica & Co., 6 Tchoupitoulas street.
J. U. & H. M. Payne & Co., 34 and 36 Baronne st.

Fancy Goods.
Variety store, 547 Magazine street.

Fire Engine.
Babcock's self-Acting Fire Engine, A. M. Graver, general agent, Exposition building.

Frames.
F. Wagener, 13 Baronne street.

Furniture.
J. Bass, 251 Camp street.
M. A. Davis & Sons, Philadelphia.
Nath. Johnson, New York.
The Mitchell & Rammelsberg Furniture Co., 103 and 105 Camp street.
National School Furniture Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Joseph Patout, 172 Camp street.
Sampson & Brou, 45 and 49 Royal street.
W. P. Uhlinger, Philadelphia.

Gas and Steam-Pipe Fitters.
Barbarin Gas Machines, F. Roberts, superintendent, 2 Triantre building, and 253 Peters st.
Jas. N. Quin, 118 and 120 Tchoupitoulas street.

Glass Works.
Aicken & Isaac, Philadelphia.

Grocers.
John L. Adams & Co., 43, 45 and 47 Peters street.

Hats.
Henry Brisbi, 3 Carondelet street.

Hay.
Jacob C. Baker, Portland, Maine.

Hides and Tallow.
New Orleans Butchers' Hide and Tallow Co.

Hotels.
American House, Boston, Massachusetts.
Bingham House, Philadelphia.
McAllister's House, cor. Carondelet and Julia.
St. Julian Hotel, Portland, Maine.
St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

Human Hair Goods.
J. C. Bermel, 121 Canal street.
George F. Saulnier, 261 Bryades street.

Ink.
Printers' Ink, S. Collins & Co., New York.

Insurance.
Ætna Life Insurance Co., 2 Carondelet street.
American Life Insurance Co., 10 Carondelet st.
Crescent Mutual Insurance Company.
Equitable Life Assurance Co., 21 Camp street.
Franklin Fire Insurance Co., 114 Common st.

Iron Manufactories.
Baldwin & Spencer Company, Hartford, Conn
Boston Ornamental Iron Works, Boston, Mass.
M. Walker & Sons, Philadelphia.
J. B. Wickersham & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

Jewelry.
A. R. Griswold & Co., cor. Canal and Royal sts.

Lumber.
W. W. Carre & Co., 350 Delord street.
Thomas Hassam, cor. Cedar and Julia streets.
Ocean Saw Mill, foot of Bordeaux street, Sixth District.
John C. Peeley, 415 Julia street.
George Purves, cor. St. Charles and Clio streets.
Roberts & Co., 311 to 317 Gravier street.

Machinery.
N. F. Burnham's Water-wheel, York, Pa.
Daniel & James D. Edwards, 22 to 28 Front and 21 to 27 Delta street.
Edward Harrison, New Haven, Connecticut.
Lewis Johnson, corner Julia, Delta and Water streets.
Meneely & Kimberly, Troy, New York.
W. H. Reynolds, corner Fulton and South Market streets.
Jos. Walker, corner St. Joseph and Constance streets.
B. J. West, 115 and 117 Magazine street.

Magic Lanterns.
W. Mitchell McAllister, Philadelphia, Pa.

Manufacturers.
William Ebert, 164 and 166 Magazine street.

Marble.
George Stroud, 156 to 164 St. Charles street.

Medical.
Mrs. M. G. Brown's Metaphysical Discovery, 51 Bond street, New York.
Citrate of Magnesia, etc., Hofmann & Co., N. Y.
Cundurango Bitters, 44 Dauphine street.
Fever and Ague cure, Billings, Clapp & Co., New York.
Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Syrup, E. J. Hart & Co., New Orleans.
Fits and Epilepsy cure, T. H. Sarre, New York.
Hamilton's Bloom and Dandelion, W. C. Hamilton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
New Family Physician, New York.
Dr. Roesch's Hair Regenerator, 151 Thalia st.
Rogers' Citrate of Magnesia, Arthur Rogers, New York.
Simmons' Liver Regulator, J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Swaim's celebrated Panacea, 170 William st., New York.
The Greatest Medical Discovery, Dr. Kennedy, Roxbury, Massachusetts.
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills, 14 and 2 Platt street, New York.
Malern Water, apothecary, corner Royal and Spain streets.

Mineral and Soda Water.
Bethesda Mineral Water, J. C. McAllister, Agent, Jas. L. 1820, New Orleans.

Millinery.
Miss M. Gardner, 18 Bourbon street.
Mrs. M. L. Graham, 28 Prytania street.

Modiste.
Sidney, 19 Baronne street.

Musical Instruments, Publications, Etc.
Robert J. Harp, 110 and 112 Camp street.
Balmer & Weber, New York and Chicago.
S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, Ohio.
S. C. Cole, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
Charles H. Ditson & Co., New York.
Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, Massachusetts.
Lyon, Graham and Jones, 23 and 25 Baronne street.
Organized Mills, organ builder, New York.
Horace Waters & Son, New York.

Painters.
A. S. Cutler, 138½ Camp street.
Johnson & Hollaman, 144 Magazine street.

Paper Fastions.
Domestic Sewing Machine Co., New York.

Paper-Hangers.
T. J. Brown, 241 Camp street.

Paper Mills.
Atlanta Paper Mills, Atlanta, Georgia.

Patents.
John A. Wiederhorn & Co., Philadelphia.

Pens.
R. Esterbrook & Co., New York.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

Perfumery.
Colgate & Co.'s Cashmere Bouquet.

Plows.
Brinly Plows, Brinly, Miles & Hardy, Louisville, Kentucky.

Preserved Corn.
Portland Packing Company, Portland, Maine.

Printing.
Pelican Job Office, 112 and 114 Poydras street.

Professional.
Dr. C. J. Bickham, office, corner Magazine and Second streets.
Dr. J. J. Lyons, office, 219 Carondelet street.
Rice, Foster & E. T. Merrick, law office, corner Camp and Commercial place.

Pumps.
Chicago Farm Pumps, B. S. Twichell, agent.

Railroads.
Great Jackson Route, E. D. Frost, general manager; A. D. Sheldon, agent.

Saddlery.
George Plumb & Co., 131 Poydras street.

Seeds and Flowers.
Korn, Stober & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
H. Landreth & Son, Philadelphia.
James E. Waldo & Co., 122 Camp street.

Sewing Machines.
Florence Sewing Machine Co., Florence, Mass.
Wheel Sewing Machine, 207 Canal street.

Soap.
J. H. Keller, 119 Gravier street.

Stables.
Southern Sale Stables, cor. Delord and Dryades.

Steamboat Agents.
Britton & Eppler, 135 Gravier street.

Steamships and Shipping.
Cromwell Line New York Steamers, Alfred Moulton, agent, 41 Carondelet street.
Merchants' Line New York Steamers, John H. Ludwigsen, agent, 100 Common street.

Stoves.
H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Tobacco and Cigars.
F. Esteva, corner Camp and Girod streets.
Santiago M. Lajeyre, 53 St. Louis street.
Ed. L. Zell, corner Canal and Carondelet streets.

Undertakers.
T. W. Rothick, 271 Camp street, New Orleans.

Upholstery.
Heath & Lara, 99 Camp street

Wants.
Goodwyn & Co., lock box 161, New Orleans.

Washing Machines.
Lash Washing Machine, No. 5 North Seventeenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Rhigen Washer, H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Watches.
New York Watch Company, Springfield, Mass.

Wire Railing, Etc.
Difur & Co., Baltimore, Maryland.

Special Notices.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—When you reach Selma report at the Methodist church. The railroads will pass you on the following terms:

S. and N. O.—Pay full fare coming, and obtain a return ticket from the conductor.

Alabama Central and S. M. and M.—Pay full fare coming, and return free on certificate of the secretary of Conference.

S. R and D., and S. and G.—Buy full ticket to come, and get from the agent a certificate, which, when indorsed by the secretary of Conference, will return you free.

Mobile and Girard.—Pay full fare coming. Return on certificate of presiding officer.

Western Road.—Procure from agents round-trip tickets.

Mobile and Montgomery.—Get excursion tickets, with coupons attached to return.

Mobile and Ohio.—Excursion tickets at one and one fifth fare for the round trip.

Montgomery and Eufaula.—Haven't heard from.

Comply strictly with the above directions if you wish the benefit of half fare. Get your excursion or round trip tickets for at least fifteen days. If you can. Last year some were charged on their return from Conference who had ten-day tickets. The time had elapsed. Presiding elders will send me promptly full lists of lay members of the Conference, and of preachers coming up for admission and for ordination. Brethren who expect to bring their wives will please notify me.

M. S. ANDREWS.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

NOTICE.—The Publishing Committee of the ADVOCATE give it as their opinion that the insertion of the notices of Quarterly Conferences once or twice was sufficient, and, as the space of the paper is valuable, they passed a resolution accordingly, all that they do not inserted more than once or twice. Our friends who are interested in the appointments will take due notice thereof, as we propose to be governed by the resolution in haste.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Mansfield, at Mansfield | Nov. 1, 2 |
| Natchitoches, at Natchitoches | 8, 9 |
| Pleasant Hill, at Pleasant Hill | 15, 16 |
| Many, at Many | 22, 23 |
| Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup | 29, 30 |
| Grand Ecore, at Grand Ecore | Dec. 6, 7 |
| Shreveport, at Shreveport | 13, 14 |
| Bethel, at Bethel | 20, 21 |
| Quarterly Conference | 27, 28 |

JOHN PIPES, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Cane River, at Cane River | Oct. 18, 19 |
| Natchitoches, at Natchitoches | 25, 26 |
| Alexandria, at Alexandria | Nov. 1, 2 |
| Pineville, at Pineville | 8, 9 |
| Hineston, at Hineston | 15, 16 |
| Jackson, at Jackson | 22, 23 |
| Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg | 29, 30 |
| Catahoula, at Catahoula | Dec. 6, 7 |
| Trinity and Rapides, at Trinity | 13, 14 |
| Quarterly Conference | 20, 21 |
| Quarterly Conference | 27, 28 |

FRED. WHITE, P. E.

INSURANCE.

AMERICAN
LIFE INSURANCE CO.

SOUTHERN BRANCH,

10 ...CARONDELET ST... 10

New Orleans, La.

Insures on LOW ALL-CASH RATES. All restrictions as to travel and residence removed.

Premiums paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually, at option of parties insuring.

The company is one of THE OLDEST in the United States, and I beg a share of the patronage of the public

☞ Any particulars gladly furnished at the above place.

oc21 2m CAPT. JOHN H. S OTT, Agent

STRICTLY FIRE.
THE FRANKLIN
FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF NEW ORLEANS, LA.

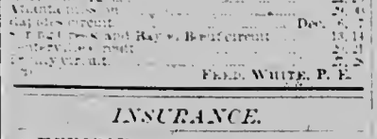
D. LEURRIE, President.
FRED. A JOHNSON, Secretary.

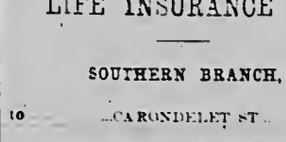
Capital..... $250,000.

OFFICE—No. 114 Common St., Cor. Camp.



TRUSTEES.

| | |
|---|---|
| Hon. J. Soniat, | David Lenorle, |
| Hon. Chas. Montaldo, | Fred. A Johnson, |
| Dr. E. S. Drew, | R. Stewart Dennee, |
| Hon. W. H Decker, | John W. Fairlax. |
| A. M. Miller, | |



OTTO MUECK, General Agent. oc21 1m

ETNA LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
HARTFORD, CONN.

WILLIAM E. FITZGERALD,
Manager for Louisiana and Mississippi,
NO. 2, CARONDELET ST., (Room No. 1,)
oct7 3m New Orleans, La.

FINE-TONED, LOW-PRICED, WARRANTED. Circulars sent free.
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO.,
Successors to Blymyer, Norton & Co., Cincinnati, O.
ap13 1y Office and Works, 264 W. Fifth St.

Mills and Bolts
For Flour, Fine Meal, Stock Feed and other uses.
Send stamp for catalogue
EDWARD HARRISON,
New Haven, Conn.

MOTHERS—MOTHERS—MOTHERS!
Don't fail to procure Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for all diseases incident to the period of Teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, cures Wind-Colic, regulates the bowels, and, by giving relief and health to the child, gives rest to the Mother.
Be sure and call for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. For sale by all druggists. jy2 1y eow

CHRISTMAS BELLS SENT FREE ON receipt of stamp. An Illustrated Journal of Amusements, Novelties and Gifts, curious, rare and useful. Address ADAMS & CO.,
oct6 2eow Publishers, Boston, Mass.

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS.

MAKE YOUR HOME ATTRACTIVE
BY REPLENISHING YOUR TABLE-WARE
—AT—
W. C. SHEPARD & CO.'S,

55 ..... Camp Street ..... 55

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

See What a Little Money Will Buy.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| An elegant White Granite DINNER SET, comprising 136 pieces, for | | $15 00 |
| to wit: | | |
| 12 Dinner Plates, | 1 Soup Tureen, | |
| 12 Breakfast Plates, | 1 Sauce Boat, | |
| 12 Tea Plates, | 1 Salad Dish, | |
| 12 Soup Plates, | 2 Covered Dishes, | |
| 12 Preserve Plates, | 2 Vegetable Dishes, | |
| 12 Butter Plates, | 4 Meat Dishes, | |
| 12 Tea Cups and Saucers, | 2 Pickle Shells, | |
| 12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers. | | |
| A Porcelain DeTerre DINNER SET (equal to French China in appearance, and much more durable,) same assortment as above | | $18 00 |
| A French China (best quality) DINNER SET, same assortment, 136 pieces | | 30 00 |
| Decorated Porcelain DeTerre and French China DINNER SETS, from | | $30 up. |
| White Granite CHAMBER SETS, 11 pieces | | $4 00 |
| White Granite TEA SETS, 44 pieces | | 4 00 |
| French China TEA SETS, 44 pieces | | 6 50 |
| French China Decorated TEA SETS, 44 pieces | | 7 50 |
| Good Table GOBLETS, from 50 cents per set up. | | |
| Granite Dinner Plates, per dozen | | 1 10 |
| Granite Breakfast Plates, per dozen | | 1 25 |
| Granite Tea Plates, per dozen | | 1 15 |
| French China Dinner Plates, per dozen | | 3 00 |
| French China Breakfast Plates, per doren | | 2 75 |
| French China Tea Plates, per dozen | | 2 25 |

NOTE.—The prices above contemplate "First-choice" goods, every piece being warranted regular and perfect. "Seconds" or imperfect goods, warped in making and otherwise irregular, we will furnish for those that desire at twenty per cent. discount from these prices. We shall meet all competition promptly, and as we import our own ware our customers can depend upon getting the BEST GOODS at the lowest possible prices.

AGENTS FOR THE CELEBRATED
BLANCHARD CHURNS,
AND THE LARGEST DEALERS IN
HOUSEKEEPING NOVELTIES
IN THE SOUTHWEST,
W. C. SHEPARD & CO.,
my29 6m No. 55 Camp street, New Orleans.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

WATERS' CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS are the most beautiful in style and superior in tone and model. The CONCERTO STOP is the best ever placed in any organ. It is produced by the contact of reeds peculiarly voiced, the effect of which is most charming and soul-stirring, while its imitation of the human voice is superb. Terms to cash.

A Great Offer.—HORACE WATERS & SON'S, 481 Broadway, New York, will dispose of FIVE HUNDRED PIANOS AND ORGANS, of first class makers, including Waters', at extremely low prices for cash, or part cash and balance in small monthly payments. New Seven-Octave first-class Pianos, all modern improvements, for $275 cash. Organs, Five-Octave, $70. Double-Reed Organs, Four Stops, $110; Eight Stops, $125. Illustrated catalogues mailed. A large discount to Ministers, Churches, Sunday Schools, Temperance Societies, etc., etc. Agents wanted. jy31 1y

L. GRUNEWALD'S
MAMMOTH
PIANO AND ORGAN WAREROOMS,
18, 20 AND 22 BARONNE STREET.

The Largest and Finest Store,
The Largest and Best Assortment,
The Best and Finest Pianos,
The Cheapest Prices, and
The Most Accommodating Terms.

Every Piano warranted to be as represented, and to give satisfaction.

Twenty second hand PIANOS at $100, $125, $150 and upward; in perfect order. Sold below their value, on time or for cash, to make room for new Stock now arriving. oc20 1m

STEAMSHIPS—STEAMBOATS.

FOR NEW YORK.

The Cromwell New York and New Orleans Steamship Line.
Leaving New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

| | |
|---|---|
| Cabin Passage | $50 00 |
| Steerage Passage | 25 00 |

Through bills of lading to foreign and coastwise ports issued.

ALFRED MOULTON,
m13 1y No. 41 Carondelet street.

FOR NEW YORK.

Merchants' Steamship Line.—Sailing from New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

| | |
|---|---|
| Cabin Passage | $50 00 |
| Steerage Passage | 25 00 |

Through tickets to Liverpool and the Continent
New Orleans wharf—Foot of Jefferson street.
New York wharf—Pier No. 4, North River.
JOHN H. LUDWIGSEN, Agent,
fe13 1y No. 100 Common street.

RAILROADS.

GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.
Trains depart and arrive as follows (from Depot foot of Calliope street.)

DEPART.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 7.30 A. M. |
| Mail | 5.55 P. M. |
| Accommodation | 4.00 P. M. |

ARRIVE.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 11.00 P. M. |
| Mail | 8.40 A. M. |
| Accommodation | 8.30 A. M. |

This line is many miles the shortest and many hours the quickest to all points North and East, and the only line running Pullman's Palace Sleeping-Cars to Humboldt and Louisville without change. Only one change to principal cities North and East. Tickets for sale and all information given at corner of Camp and Common streets, under City Hotel, New Orleans.

A. B. SHELTON, Agent.
E. D. FROST, General Manager. jy2 1m

GEORGE BURNHAM, JR. J. E. BURNHAM.
C. S. MORRILL.
BURNHAM & MORRILL,
PACKERS AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN
HERMETICALLY-SEALED GOODS,
MEATS, FISH AND VEGETABLES.
No. 61, Commercial Street,
And corner Commercial St. and Burnham's Wharf,
PORTLAND, MAINE.
au28 6m

MAGIC LANTERNS.
McALLISTER'S PATENT ARTOPTICON.
The most powerful Magic Lantern ever made with a brilliant oil Lamp; for Home Sunday School and Lectures. Stereopticons, etc., sold at reduced prices. A profitable business for a man with small capital. Send stamp for catalogue.
W. MITCHELL McALLISTER, oct9 2m 1124 Chestnut st., Philadelphia.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

THE AMERICAN
SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION
OFFERS
Special Terms to Sunday Schools
IN THE SELECTION OF NEW AND
REPLENISHING OF OLD LIBRARIES
Catalogues furnished on application to any of the
SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPOSITORIES,
No. 1122 Chestnut street, Philadelphia—ALEX. KIRKPATRICK.
No. 10 Bible House, New York—G. S. SCOFIELD.
No. 40 Winter street, Boston—E. SHUTE.
No. 264 West Madison st., Chicago—W. R. PONT.
No. 257 N. Sixth St., St. Louis—S. PAXSON, 817 Elm

R. ESTERBROOK & CO.'S
STEEL PENS.
FOR SALE BY
ALL BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Esterbrook Steel Pen Manufactur'g Co.,
49 MAIDEN LANE, NEW YORK.
Works—Camden, New Jersey. oc2 1y

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S
STEEL PENS.
SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.
MANUFACTURERS WAREHOUSE,
No. 91 John Street, New York.
JOSEPH GILLOTT & SON.
HENRY HOE, Sole Agent. je26 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE WEED SEWING MACHINE.
THE WEED
SEWING MACHINE
HAS JUST RECEIVED
THE HIGHEST AWARD
AT VIENNA.
THUS
REPEATING ITS EXPERIENCE
AT PARIS IN 1867.

No Machine possesses so many good qualities for general Family use.

The universal satisfaction given by this Machine justifies its claim to the well-known name of

FAMILY FAVORITE.

COMPANY'S OFFICE IN

| | |
|---|---|
| New Orleans | 207 Canal St. |
| Houston | 113 Main Street. |
| Atlanta | 27 Marietta St. |
| Savannah | 27 Hall Street. |

se13 3m

BILLINGS' PATENT
Sewing Machine
SHUTTLES.
Twenty Varieties Now Made.
Forged solid from bar steel and cold pressed.
TRADE B MARK.
Also Wrought Iron and Steel
DROP FORGINGS
of all descriptions, for Guns, Pistols, Sewing Machines, Agricultural Implements, etc.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 19. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1873. NO. 47.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The fifty-eighth annual meeting of the General Missionary Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church was held this morning. There was a full attendance from the mission districts. The treasurer's report for the past year shows the receipts during that year as $767,233; expenditures, $725,169. The question of the appropriation of funds for a mission station in central Africa was taken up for discussion.

MOBILE, Nov. 12.—The Register announces the death, at Pensacola, on Sunday, of S. S. Mallory, ex-Secretary of the Confederate States navy.

SAVANNAH, Nov. 13.—The yellow fever has broken out again at Bainbridge. Six new cases reported today; also the death of Mr. Lewis, the mayor of the city.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 15.—Bishop Cummins, of Kentucky, in his letter to Bishop Smith, withdrawing from the Protestant Episcopal Church, gives as reasons that he has to exercise his office in churches where the services are subversive of the truth as it is in Jesus, and as it was maintained and defended by the reformers of the sixteenth century, hopeless that error prevailing so extensively in English and American Episcopal churches can or will be eradicated by the authorities of the church, either legislative or executive. He proposes to return to the prayer-book sanctioned by William White.

He cannot hold the present position, after having participated at the communion table with certain delegates at the Evangelical Alliance, without sadly disturbing the peace and harmony of this church, and without impairing his influence for good over a large portion of the same; he cannot surrender his right thus to meet his fellow-Christians around the table of the Lord; he must take his place where he can do so.

MOBILE, Nov. 17.—Reports from north Alabama and west Georgia represent the storm of last night very heavy at West Point. Trees were uprooted, houses unroofed and telegraph wires torn down. We have similar reports from Columbus, Georgia. Not so heavy at Montgomery and Selma. At the latter point it was accompanied with very heavy rain. A note by mail from Decatur, Alabama, says that the storm was unprecedentedly violent at that place, with much damage to property and telegraph lines. No reports from points north of West Point or east of Columbus, Georgia. No loss of life reported.

HOUSTON, Nov. 18.—Advices from Calvert report twenty new cases of yellow fever and forty relapses.

FOREIGN.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Abdel Kader, the famous Arab chief, is dead.

HAVANA, Nov. 12.—On the seventh instant the captain and thirty-six of the crew of the steamer Virginius were executed at Santiago de Cuba, and on the next day, the eighth, twelve more of the Cuban volunteers on the vessel were shot; among the latter was Francheí Alfaro.

A dispatch from Santiago de Cuba, announcing the execution of Captain Fry, the crew of the Virginius and twelve more of the Cuban patriots, says that Alfaro, who was among the latter number, offered the Spanish authorities $1,000,000 to spare his life.

Alfaro is said to have come to assume the presidency of the so-called Cuban republic.

Several passengers, men and women, who arrived per steamship City of New York, from New York, November 6, were arrested on landing yesterday, charged with complicity with the insurgents.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The shooting of the crew and passengers of the steamer Virginius is commented on at length by the London morning journals, all of which express the hope that the executions will be avenged by the government of the United States.

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—The trial of all the prisoners taken on board the Virginius has been concluded. Only eighteen will be saved from death. Of these several are engineers or firemen, who were ignorant of the destination of the expedition, and four or five will be set at liberty. The others will probably be condemned to the chain-gang.

HAVANA, Nov. 14, Evening.—The Diario, of Cienfuegos, says that fifty-seven of the Virginius captives were shot at Santiago on the tenth instant. No particulars of these additional executions have yet been made public here.

ROME, Nov. 15.—Victor Emanuel, in opening the Italian Parliament, said he hoped for a continuance of the work of the international organization, that thus Italy might increase her prosperity amid order and safety, the two indispensable conditions of industry and progress.

It had been shown that Rome might become the capital without encroaching upon the independence of the Pope, or of the exercise of the spiritual functions and relations of the Catholic world. "We will respect his religious sentiments and his liberty, but will not permit attacks upon the nation or its institutions."

HAVANA, via Key West, Nov. 15.—The following account of the events at Santiago de Cuba has been received here:

On Friday morning, the seventh, thirty-seven of the crew of the Virginius were brought on shore and taken to prison, to remain there until their execution, which was ordered for that afternoon. Captain Fry, a noble-looking man, appeared taller than the rest of the crew. When he met his men on the wharf, previous to his march to prison, he saluted them; all the salutes were returned with affection.

At 4.45 P. M. Captain Fry and thirty-six men and officers were publicly shot, despite the protest of all competent foreign authorities. The marines were seven minutes killing the wretched prisoners. It seemed as if they would never finish. At last the sailors marched off, and the troops filed past the long row of corpses. Then the dead-carts were hurried up, and loaded indiscriminately with the many mangled remains.

The American acting vice consul has done all that could have been done. Indeed, it was threatened that his exequatur would be withdrawn for his exertions in behalf of the prisoners. In an interview with General Burriel, that officer yelled at him and otherwise treated him disrespectfully.

The British consul also made an ineffectual protest against the executions. It is reported that sixteen of the victims were British subjects.

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—The German government has addressed a remonstrance to France on account of the pastoral issued by the Bishop of Nancy ordering prayers for the recovery of Metz and Strassburg.

HAVANA, Nov. 18.—Of the Virginius' crew not executed four were condemned to the chain-gang for life, three to eight years' imprisonment, eight to four years' imprisonment, and three set at liberty.

The steamer Virginius arrived here this evening, flying the Spanish colors at her mast. The procession consisted of the Isabella la Catolica and another man-of-war in advance, the Virginius following, and the Tornado in the rear.

MADRID, Nov. 18.—The Spanish cabinet are unanimously in favor of a satisfactory and honorable settlement of the Virginius difficulty, but regard the maintenance of the integrity of Spanish territory as essential.

From the Work.

WAYNE CIRCUIT, MERIDIAN DISTRICT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: We have had a gracious revival of religion on the Wayne circuit this year. The last quarter we have had seventy-three accessions to the church and about thirty conversions, and the church (both preachers and people) was blessed of the Lord. To God we give all the glory.

JAMES SHANKS, P. C.

NOVEMBER 12, 1873.

PINE LEVEL CIRCUIT, ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: We still rejoice in God for his continued blessings on this circuit. We have had in all, this year, one hundred and thirty additions to the church and as many conversions. Seventy infants have had the sign of the seal of God's covenant set upon them in holy baptism, and are numbered among the lambs of God's fold. Family altars have been increased more than three hundred per cent., and dram-drinking has decreased by a still larger per cent. All the financial interests of the church would have been much improved but for our exceedingly short crop and the great monetary disasters.

B. F. BLOW, P. C.

OZARK, ALA., November 11, 1873.

MANSFIELD DISTRICT, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: We have just closed our District Conference. Owing to an unprecedented yellow fever panic, which prevailed throughout the district, our attendance was very small. Only five works were represented out of ten. Because of the epidemic in Shreveport we had changed the conference from there to Mansfield; but before the time of holding it nearly all the families had fled from the place. We transacted the usual business of a District Conference, and had the ordinary amount of preaching, and on Sabbath we had the best love-feast that I ever attended. The preachers present all got happy, and were glad they were there.

This has been the most trying year throughout this country that we have ever witnessed. It has been a continual series of alarm, sickness and death since the first of September. Business of every kind has well-nigh been suspended. The preachers' wants have not been met, nor have the usual collections been taken; but, thank God, all the lives of the preachers of the district have been spared, though many of them stood firm in the very jaws of death, and manfully did their work. If our financial report should be meager at the Annual Conference, we shall at least be able to report faithful work.

J. P.

MANSFIELD, LA., Nov. 3, 1873.

RANKIN CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: While many from other parts of our Zion are praising God for the outpouring of his blessed Spirit in the conversion of sinners, and the upbuilding of the church in the faith of our divine Master, we feel it due to our beloved Methodism to say that our heavenly Father has not forgotten us, nor left us comfortless. During the year the church has been powerfully revived, and the power of God has been signally manifested in the salvation of sinners. On the third of the present month we closed our seventh and last protracted meeting for Rankin circuit. Ninety-three accessions to the church and about fifty conversions are the fruits of these meetings. Previous to our protracted meetings, twelve had united with us, making a total of one hundred and five during the present Conference year. During the year forty-five adults have been baptized and thirty children. Our finances are anything but hopeful. The money crash came down upon us like an avalanche, without warning, and all the interests of the church are behind in consequence of it. We hope a brighter day will soon dawn upon our finances, and that all the interests of the church will be met by the time our Conference meets at Brandon. Our thanks are due to Bros. Daniel, Loflin, T. C. Clark, J. Z. Harper and J. W. Walker for valuable services rendered, and to God all the glory.

W. W. HURST.

NOVEMBER 5, 1873.

PEARL CIRCUIT, ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: At our first quarterly meeting some of my stewards and a number of other good brethren guaranteed to our hostess board for myself and family by giving her their note. After this the churches adopted the assessment plan. Of course I went to work in good earnest. Beside meeting my regular appointments, I have done much pastoral work, and held several protracted meetings. This has been one of the most laborious years of my ministerial life, and I rejoice that I have not labored in vain. In looking over my memorandum-book I find that sixty-two persons have been received into the church, in the circuit, on profession of faith in Christ. While this is gratifying, I regret that the number is not three or four times as many. Yet we have done what we could, and we have much consolation in the fact that many good seeds have been sown, which shall "to ample harvests grow" in years to come.

I am about to enter upon my last round of appointments. How I shall succeed in raising the collections ordered by the Annual Conference remains to be seen, for so far I have been able only to take subscriptions, because, owing to short crops for last year, there has been little or no money here this year. The effects of the panic are heavy upon us, but our people seem willing to pay what they owe the Lord, and will do so, if possible. Yours fraternally,

W. S. TURNER.

NOVEMBER 1, 1873.

WILKIE SPRINGS CAMP MEETING, EUFAULA DISTRICT, ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: Luke wrote to Theophilus the part of the gospel that bears his name because many others had written concerning the matter; but I write you in regard to our good camp meeting because no one else has done so. Yes, sir, it was a good meeting; and, more than that, it was a glorious one—the best I ever saw. It began on Friday night before the fourth Sabbath in September, with our excellent presiding elder, Rev. W. H. Ellison, D. D., in charge. He did not have a large corps of ministers in attendance, but he had a sufficient number, viz.: Revs. F. L. B. Shaver, W. H. Wild, W. K. Norton, J. M. Brown, Dr. Johnson, a local preacher of Villula circuit, Dr. Thornton, a local preacher of Lumpkin, Georgia, J. A. Peterson, of Union Springs, and W. S. Turner. Numerous wooden tents had been built—making about twenty in all—besides a goodly number of cloth tents which dotted the ground here and there.

The congregation was large from the first. On Sunday night the meeting began to be good, and by Monday night the influence of the Holy Spirit was truly overwhelming. There were about one hundred and fifty penitents in and around the altar that night, and from that time till the close (Wednesday morning) the meeting was grand and glorious. There must have been more than one hundred conversions. Fifty joined our church at the meeting, and the brethren of the church were greatly refreshed. The tent-holders resolved that the meeting shall begin next year on Saturday night before the fourth Sabbath in September.

Yours truly, W. S. T.

CHOCTAW CORNER CIRCUIT, ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: As preacher in charge of the Choctaw Corner circuit, I commenced and have just closed a series of protracted meetings, at all of which God hath been with us in great power.

The first was held at Carleton's chapel, commencing on Saturday before the third Sabbath in July, and lasted nine days. This meeting closed with the happiest result. Twenty-nine accessions to the church and about as many conversions. A Sabbath school of forty-eight members was organized. This church is situated about the center of the work, and is convenient for all parts of the circuit to attend. The holy fire came down in such power as to send out its influence all over the entire work, and kindled a revival influence in every community, which has continued until now.

My next was held at Choctaw Corner. This being the place of holding my third quarterly meeting, our worthy presiding elder, Bro. A. J. Briggs, was with us in time, and remained a week, preaching with that zeal, unction and power of Spirit that usually accompanies his sermons. This meeting lasted nine days, with twenty-seven accessions and about thirty-five conversions.

My third was held at Sweetwater chapel, commencing on Saturday before the fifth Sabbath in August. In this, as in all the rest, the presence of the Lord was with us in mighty, awakening power. The meeting lasted nine days. Twenty accessions and conversions.

My fourth was held at old Bethel, one of the eldest churches in this section of country. Here the Spirit of the Lord seemed to come down in still greater power, and to get hold on the aged and the middle-aged. For the want of ministerial aid this meeting lasted only five days. The result was sixteen conversions and accessions, all of whom were heads of families, with the exception of three young men.

My fifth was held at Tallahatta church, commencing on Saturday before the second Sabbath in October. This meeting lasted seven days, with fourteen accessions and about twenty conversions.

Many thanks to the brethren who assisted us in this great work of the Lord; and especially would I mention Bro. S. M. Gillmore, local preacher, who did us great service in these meetings. Bro. Gillmore has been preaching forty-five years in this community, and to-day the same holy zeal that burned in his heart forty-five years ago still burns. May he live long to do good in the world. At these and other meetings one hundred and fourteen have been added to the church, on this circuit, this year.

W. SCOTT WADE, P. C.

CHOCTAW CORNER, ALA., Oct. 30, 1873.

Conference Revival.

Dear Brethren of the Mississippi Conference:

Will you allow one of the young members of your body to say a few words, or, adopting the language of Dr. McAnally, in a recent number of the St. Louis Advocate, quoted by him from Job, will you "suffer me to speak?"

I desire to anticipate our arrival at Brandon about a month from this time. We all remember the unsurpassed, open-handed and generous hospitality of the people of that place. We cannot pay them for their past kindness (I mean in dollars and cents); much less can we repay them (for silver and gold have we none, in anticipation of a repetition of similar treatment next month.

Peter and John could dispense no alms to the lame man, but did they not do something for him far better than would have been the giving of silver and gold? And cannot we, I ask, do for the hospitable people of Brandon something which would be worth more to them than thousands of gold and silver? I answer, we can. Should we not most earnestly importune our heavenly Father to save them?

What say you, brethren, to a revival in Brandon during the sitting of our approaching Conference? Do any of you object, and say it is impracticable, inasmuch as we have so much else to do? I reply that in years past and gone revivals were common at Annual Conferences. In fact to have them was the rule, and not to have them the exception. I admit that some of the preachers are very busy at Conference, especially the presiding elders and some of the committeemen. These can give us their prayers, and those of us who are not on committees can labor as we do in our own protracted meetings.

One reason—and the principal one, I think—why we don't have revivals at all of our annual meetings is because we have no such expectation, and therefore make no preparation. We look forward to our reunion as a kind of social pastime. We frequently censure church-members for turning our protracted and camp meetings into social meetings. Ought we not to set them a better example? Instead of telling funny stories and anecdotes, would it not be better for us to spend this time in urging upon the irreligious of those households with whom we are thrown the importance of their seeking salvation? I mean urging. Sometimes we say, in an unfeeling and formal way, to the unconverted: You ought to be members of the church. But this is not the thing. We should show to such persons that we feel the greatest concern for their spiritual well-being.

Again, would it not be a good plan for the committee on public worship to appoint men to preach who are not afraid of the criticisms of people and preachers, but who take the shortest cut to the sinner's heart?

How many of you will, dear brethren, from this time until we meet, and also after our convocation, pray especially that the converted church-members in and near Brandon may be revived, the backslidden ones reclaimed, the unconverted church-members converted, and the irreligious awakened and regenerated?

Fraternally yours,

A. B. STEWART.

RAYMOND, MISS., November 8, 1873.

ONCE upon a time a Dutchman and a Frenchman were traveling in Pennsylvania, when their horse lost a shoe. They drove up to a blacksmith shop, and, no one being in, they proceeded to the house to inquire. The Frenchman rapped, and called out: "Is the smithy within?" "Shtand back," said Hans; "let me shpeak. Ish der blacksmith's shop in der house?"

THE Holy Spirit is the immediate author of all truth, of all holiness, of all consolation, of all authority and of all efficiency in the children of God individually and in the church collectively.

LEANNESS of soul is very common. Men who fatten on things of this world alone will surely find that condition, sooner or later.

FOR GOD weigheth more with how much love a man worketh than how much he doeth. He doeth much that loveth much.

The Pope and the Emperor.

The following two letters recently passed between the Emperor of Germany and the Pope:

VATICAN, August 7, 1873.

YOUR MAJESTY: Measures which have been adopted by your majesty's government, for some time past, all alienate more and more at the destruction of Catholicism. When I seriously ponder over the causes which may have led to these very hard measures, I confess that I am unable to discover any reasons for such a course. On the other hand, I am informed that your majesty does not countenance the proceedings of your government, and does not approve the harshness of the measures adopted against the Catholic religion. If, then, it be true that your majesty does not approve thereof—and the letters which your august majesty has addressed to me formerly might sufficiently demonstrate that you cannot approve that which is now occurring—if, I say, your majesty does not approve of your government continuing in the path it has chosen of further extending its rigorous measures against the religion of Jesus Christ, whereby the latter is most injuriously affected, will your majesty then not become convinced that these measures have no other effect than that of undermining your majesty's own throne? I speak with frankness, for my manner is truth. I speak in order to fulfill one of my duties, which consists in telling the truth to all, even to those who are not Catholics; for every one who has been baptized belongs in some way or other which to define more precisely would be here out of place, belongs, I say, to the Pope.

I cherish the conviction that your majesty will receive my observations with your usual goodness, and will adopt measures necessary in the present case. While offering to your most gracious majesty the expression of my devotion and esteem, I pray to God that he may enfold your majesty and myself in one and the same bond of mercy.

PIO.

The Emperor replied as follows:

BERLIN, September 3, 1873.

I am glad your holiness has, as in former times, done the honor to write to me. I rejoice more at this, since an opportunity is thereby afforded me of correcting errors which, as appears from the contents of the letter of your holiness of the seventh of August, must have occurred in the communication you have received relating to German affairs. If the reports which are made to your holiness respecting German questions only stated the truth, it would not be possible for your holiness to entertain the supposition that my government enters upon a path which I do not approve. According to the Constitution of my States, such a case cannot happen, since the laws and government measures in Prussia require my consent as sovereign. To my deep sorrow a portion of my Catholic subjects have organized for the past two years a political party, which endeavors to disturb, by intrigues hostile to the State, the religious peace which has existed in Prussia for centuries. Leading Catholic priests have unfortunately not only approved this movement, but joined in it to the extent of open revolt against existing laws. It will not have escaped the observation of your holiness that similar indications manifest themselves at the present time in several European and in some transatlantic States. It is not my mission to investigate the causes by which the clergy and faithful of one of the Christian denominations can be induced actively to assist enemies of all law, but it certainly is my mission to protect the internal peace, and preserve the authority of the laws, in the States whose government has been intrused to me by God. I am conscious that I owe hereafter an account of the accomplishment of this, my kingly duty. I shall maintain order and law in my States against all attacks, as long as God gives me the power. I am in duty bound to do it as a Christian monarch, even when, to my sorrow, I have to fulfill this royal duty against the servants of a church which I suppose acknowledges, no less than the evangelical church, that commandment that obedience to secular authority is an emanation of the revealed will of God.

Many of the priests in Prussia subject to your holiness disown, to my regret, the Christian doctrine in this respect, and place my government under the necessity, supported by the great majority of my loyal Catholic and evangelical subjects, of extorting obedience to the law by worldly means. I willingly entertain the hope that your holiness, upon being informed of the true position of affairs, will use your authority to put an end to the agitation carried on amid the deplorable distortion of truth and abuse of priestly authority. The religion of Jesus Christ has, as I attest to your holiness before God, nothing to do with these intrigues, any more than has truth, to whose banner, invoked by your holiness, I unreservedly subscribe.

There is one more expression in the letter of your holiness which I cannot pass over without contradiction, although it is not based upon previous information, but upon a belief of your holiness, namely, the expression that every one that has received baptism belongs to the Pope. The evangelical creed which, as must be known to your holiness, I, like my ancestors and the majority of my subjects, profess, does not permit us to accept in our relations to God any other mediator than our Lord Jesus Christ. A difference of belief does not prevent me from living in peace with those who do not share mine, and offering your holiness the expression of my personal devotion and esteem.

WILLIAM.

Mexican Mission.

MR. EDITOR: My trip to Vienna, Homer and Minden was in the main pleasant and profitable. Sickness and meeting subsequent appointments have delayed even this meager report. Reaching Monroe, per mail-hack from Bastrop, early in the evening, gave me a pleasant resting spell at the parsonage. Bro. Evans being at Trenton, engaged in a meeting, I was deprived of the happiness of seeing him. The loss was, however, made up by meeting the new Delhi presiding elder. Bro. Cobb seems to have renewed his youth. He has buckled on the presiding elder harness, and gone to work in earnest. Good things may be safely predicted of the Delhi district. The night ride per stage from Monroe to Vienna is anything but pleasant, especially when that ride is taken alone, as it was by your correspondent. A dozen passengers, more or less, are necessary to put the springs in proper trim, and one or two genial companions equally necessary to render the trip at all bearable. Reaching Vienna about sunrise, and meeting our good Brother Slaton shortly thereafter, I found comfortable quarters at his pleasant little home. The rain in the evening, however, robbed us of a congregation. The new day came in rough and stormy. Hoping for a better close and a congregational night, I lay over on Thursday. But, doomed to disappointment, I took the mail-hack for Homer on Friday morning. A heavy, wearisome day's ride, in an open wagon-hack, bed and seat on springs, brought me to the pleasant town of Homer, and the still more pleasant and cheerful greetings of our good Bro. Cravens. A small congregation assembled at night in the church. The appointment on Saturday night following was almost a failure. The streets were wet and muddy, and the weather anything but pleasant. Sunday morning was ushered in with wind, rain and storm. No appointment. The promise of a large and liberal subscription to the Mexican mission was flattering. The few gentlemen I met were cordial and warm in expressions of sympathy. Bro. Travens seemed almost as much disappointed as the missionary himself. I had the pleasure of meeting with President J. Lane Borden, of Homer College; also with Profs. Beck and Hound. The college is doing well under the efficient management of President Borden. The financial interests are in the hands of Rev. T. J. Upton, the laborious and efficient financial secretary. The college promises to be a great success. Bro. Upton, indorsed by the President, proposed to educate, free of charge for board or tuition, the sons of the Mexican missionary. Could anything be more liberal? There was but one objection to the matter. Mrs. Daves would have to be established somewhere near by. I prefer her presence in Mexico. I found a delightful home with the financial secretary while in Homer. Having an appointment for Sabbath night at Minden, I left Homer early on Sabbath evening, Bro. Upton furnishing transportation, and himself as driver. But such a rain as we had that evening! Finding it impossible to reach Minden in time, we sought and found delightful quarters with Bro. Martin and his amiable sisters. Monday morning came in bright and beautiful. A protracted meeting being in progress at Minden, we reached there in time for morning prayer meeting. At night we had a crowded house—the writer preaching, inviting penitents, and in part conducting altar exercises; had the privilege of presenting the Mexican mission at the close of prayer meeting. Dr. Hamilton was elected chairman of the Minden Mexican Missionary Society. An efficient secretary and treasurer completed the organization. Presenting the interests of the mission in a speech of about one hour, the following noble subscription was raised in a few moments:

Rev. T. J. Upton, Homer, $25; Rev. H. O. White, $25; Rev. W. P. Kimball, $25; Rev. J. W. Medlock, $25, $10 paid to Rev. R. J. Harp; Rev. S. S. Scott, $25; Dr. D. B. Hamilton, $25; Mrs. Martha Lewis, $10; W. Reaves, $10; W. A. Suggs, $10; T. H. Carter, $10; Benjamin Carr, $5; G. H. Morrow, $5; South Bossier circuit, $5; Horace D. Kimball, specie, 30 cents; Miss Ida Webb, $5; Miss Maggie Reynolds, $5; a friend, $5; M. C. Mosely, $5; Mrs. L. Willson, $2 50; Mrs. E. Eley, paid, $2.50; Joe Holmes, cash, $1; cash, $15.10.

I ought perhaps to say, in justice to Minden, that this was a Monday night congregation, and that greatly depleted by the lateness of the hour and length of the services.

I had the pleasure of meeting several brethren here. Among them were Revs. S. S. Scott, Miller, Robert Randle, J. W. Medlock, White, Kimball, etc. The brethren and friends gave me a very cordial, warm welcome.

Nearly sick—part of the time quite se—your correspondent found himself, in good time, resting at the Monroe parsonage again. Reaching home, likewise, in good time, and finding all well, he now sends these greetings with a heart full of gratitude to God, the giver of all blessings.

Affectionately,

JOHN T. DAVES.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1873.

COME UNTO ME.

With tearful eyes I look around—
Life seems a dark and stormy sea;
Yet 'midst the gloom I hear a sound,
A heavenly whisper: "Come to me."

It tells me of a place of rest;
It tells me where my soul may flee;
Oh! to the weary, faint, oppressed,
How sweet the bidding: "Come to me."

When the poor heart with anguish learns
That earthly props resigned must be,
And from each broken cistern turns,
It hears the accents: "Come to me."

When against sin I strive in vain,
And cannot from its yoke get free,
Sinking beneath the heavy chain,
The words arrest me: "Come to me."

When nature shudders, loath to part
From all I love, enjoy and see,
When a faint chill steals o'er my heart,
A sweet voice utters: "Come to me."

Come, for all else must fade and die;
Earth is no resting-place for thee;
Heavenward direct thy weeping eye:
I am thy portion: "Come to me."

Oh, voice of mercy! voice of love!
In death's last fearful agony
Support me, cheer me from above,
And gently whisper: "Come to me."

Sacred Poetry.

Methodism in Wilkinson County, Mississippi.—No. II.

We return to Bethel. The log house was in time succeeded by a framed structure, and when that decayed a neat edifice of brick replaced it. We would love to linger here—to walk in that once consecrated grove, now laid desolate by the rude waste of war; to listen to the voice of song, as it rose from a great multitude in the solemn night service. The light of a full moon poured down in silvery radiance on the scene, while the grand old tunes filled the air with waves of melody and ascended heavenward. We pause and listen, and catch the tones of familiar and loved voices. Never shall we hear them again on earth! Those singers are now before the throne. There they join in the anthem: "To him that hath loved us and washed us in his own blood, and made us kings and priests unto God—to him be blessing and honor and glory and power, forever and ever."

Let us yield to the impulse, and for a little while be guided by the magic hand of memory. The tents are all in order, the hospitable tent-fires send up their columns of blue smoke among the tall tree-stems. The hospitality is unquestioning, without stint and without compensation; every stranger is made welcome, fed and lodged; and many have tested, by their own experience, the truth of those words of our Lord Jesus, that "it is more blessed to give than to receive," and have entertained angels unawares. The murmur of a great crowd, chastened to softness by a regard for the sacredness of the occasion, fills the air. The roll of wheels, the restless trampling of horses, the tread of many feet are mingled with the voice of prayer and the louder tones of praise, but they do not disturb the worship. Again we hear the rich and mellow voice of the beloved Drake, in the evening service of song, as he awakened hope in the bosom of the penitent with the pathos of those words of Charles Wesley:

"See me, Savior, from above,
Nor suffer me to die!
Life and happiness and love
Drop from thy gracious eye;
Speak the reconciling word,
And let thy mercy melt me down;
Turn and look upon me, Lord,
And break my heart of stone."

Or, in the triumphant anthem of Perronet, brought joy to the heart of the believer:

"All hail the power of Jesus' name
Let angels prostrate fall;
Bring forth the royal diadem,
And crown him Lord of all."

This man, so gifted, not with genius, but with a rare balance of faculties—the gentleness of Melancthon, with the loving fervor of St. John, and with the purity of both—was devoted to the work of the ministry from his nineteenth year. And in all those years it could be said of him truthfully that he loved his Savior with all his heart, and served him with unswerving fidelity.

Could we speak of Bethel and recall its feast of tabernacles without seeing, in the rude pulpit, the large form and the flashing eye of William Winans? Will the day ever come when memory shall fail to reproduce the powerful words of that strong, brave speaker? And the awful sense of the presence of God, which attended his presentation of the nature of sin, and of the inflexible justice of the law, which affixed the penalty of death upon the transgressor? The death of the body, which comes to every son of Adam, found him ready, and his latest utterances were as forcible as the language of his most vigorous years. After prayer had been made at his bedside, upon one occasion, he said to his wife and children, "I have had such a glimpse of the heavenly glory as makes me long to depart," and he fell asleep.

The golden haze of autumn is in the air, and the autumnal brown and orange and crimson have tinged the foliage. A vast crowd have assembled again at Bethel. They have gathered from far and near—this time not to hear the orator and the preacher, but to do honor to his memory. The columns and pulpit of the vast shelter, draped in black, and the hushed and upturned faces of the thousands present, form an impressive scene, which can never be forgotten by those who witnessed it; while his younger brethren, his sons in the ministry—Benjamin M. Drake and William H. Watkins—spoke of the dead soldier of Christ, whose warfare was ended, and followed him in his ascent with the appealing cry of the young prophet: "My father, my father, the chariot of Israel and the horsemen thereof!"

The discipline and culture which the Methodist Church bestows upon her ministry permits the largest development of individual character, and thus she enjoys the greatest variety of ministerial talent. From Winans, whose terrible denunciations of sin cause a shudder of horror to thrill the frame of his hearer, we turn to his friend and brother, John C. Burruss. No contrast can be greater—the Boanerges and the Barnabas of the Southern pulpit. To a charm of manner which was universally attractive, nature added other gifts—a warm heart, a lively imagination and a large sympathy. The gospel message was indeed "glad tidings" to the fascinated listener as it fell from his lips; while with a voice of wonderful compass and flexibility, and of most perfect modulation, he cried aloud: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy and eat;" or, with eloquence the most persuasive, showed how God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus."

There are those yet living who have felt the power of his eloquence, and who have themselves witnessed its effect at one of these camp meetings, when the immense crowd was swayed by the speaker as the leaves are swayed by the rushing breeze.

These were men who, in the prime of their early manhood, when pride and ambition and love of pleasure are strongest, had turned away from all these solicitations, and had taken up the cross of Christ, and chosen poverty and hardship with the life of the Methodist itinerant preacher, and with earnest purpose and unwearied labor had followed the Master. They have their reward. It has been said unto them: "Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Any notice of Bethel would be incomplete which did not mention the name of William James, for more than forty years a local preacher and class-leader. A man of great simplicity, of incorruptible integrity and of profound piety—one who loved God with all his heart and his neighbor as himself; who visited the sick and sought out the afflicted; who had tears for the sorrowful, smiles for the joyful and prayers for all; a man who was not learned in books or science, but who was well versed in his Bible and was mighty in prayer; a man who enjoyed religion in the very highest sense; who was "joyful in God," who could and did "rejoice always," and who "in everything gave thanks." Not rich in silver or gold, he was yet generous not only up to his means, but beyond his means. He loved the service of his Master. When the large shelter was being built at Bethel, in 1842, which was to protect several thousand persons from the sun and rain, while other planters of large property sent two or three or ten or twenty men, for a day or for two or three days, to assist in the building, William James came with all his effective servants, and began to work with the first timber that was set up, and he never left the work until the very evening on which the services were to be held, when he dropped down to his feet, from the low eaves, with his customary ejaculation: "Bless God." The last shingle was nailed on, and he was then one of the first at the pulpit to join in prayer; and on that soft October evening the broad structure was dedicated to God. Those who were attendants at camp meetings and other religious services held at Bethel, for over forty years past, can not forget his beaming smile, his brimming eyes, his face radiant with the "peace which passeth understanding," but which filled his heart and overflowed his lips. All who ever heard him pray will remember the clear, sonorous voice which rung out in the open-air services, at daydawn or at midnight—untiring, strong, prevailing. Peace to the memory of a good man.

Recognition in Heaven.

MR. EDITOR: It is quite common to hear preachers indulging in rhetorical flourishes about the reunion of earthly ties in heaven. The mother is made to weep while the sacred orator tells in glowing strains how, upon the other shore, she will clasp in the arms of her maternal affection the son or daughter long since laid in the silent tomb. The temptation to this kind of pulpit declamation lies mostly in the fact, perhaps, that it affords the easiest access to the feelings. This may be a doubtful expedient, however, since we are not certain of the warrant we have for it; and, further, since the plain truth itself will prevail, whether we preach its rigorous exactions or pathetic pleadings.

Let us take a sober view of this subject. But, observe, I do not assume that there will be no recognitions in heaven. I think there will be, and delightful will they be; but they will not be those of the ties of flesh and blood. For instance, the mother will not regard her child there in any sense different from that in which she regards others. Otherwise heaven would be too much like earth, with its sensuality and sorrows, and the history of earth would repeat itself in "Rachel weeping for her children, because they are not." This is precisely the error into which spiritism is led. It assumes that there are defects in heaven as in earth, only not so great. The idea of recognitions leads it to assume that there are disappointments, and, consequently, sorrows. This system ignores Scripture as its basis, and can lay no claim to the spirit of the gospel for its theory. Hence the absurdity and unreliableness of its teachings.

The only correct views that we can get of the conditions of the future life are from Scripture and the spirit of the gospel. Nothing in Scripture indicates that the ties of earth will be reunited in heaven. On the other hand, the intimations to the contrary are conclusive. In answer to those who had sensual views of heaven, Christ said that there they neither married nor were given in marriage.

But what is the uniform spirit of the teaching of the gospel? Does it not point continually to a change in man's nature? Does it not tell us that, even in the world, supernature is to supplant nature to a great extent? In the world natural affections cannot be done away entirely, because the conditions of this life will not permit their absence. Yet supernatural grace may reign to such an extent that the "former lusts" will scarcely be known. The effort of the gospel is to extend the circle of man's affinities until it shall compass the entire race. Hence, when God refers to his love of foes as well as friends, he tells us to be "perfect, even as he is perfect." Christ tells us that true discipleship consists in learning to follow him in his love for mankind in general, even at the expense of leaving father and mother.

Christ is our brother, and as such we must partake of his very nature and feelings. And what does he say? "Who is my mother? and who are my brethren? * * * Whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother and sister and mother." The most essential difference between the Christian and publicans and sinners, who love only their kith and kin, is that he possesses a supernatural love for all men. The tendency of Christianity is to elevate man in his feelings and manifestations above sensual ties, and in these his present life is an earnest of his future. "But this I say, Brethren, the time is short. It remaineth that both they that have wives be as though they had none; and they that weep as though they wept not; and they that rejoice as though they rejoiced not; and they that buy as though they possessed not; and they that use this world as not abusing it; for the fashion of this world passeth away."

The glorious truth of the gospel, that ought to be preached above every other, is that charity which ignores all selfishness. The meaning of gospel is "good will." Its design is to bring all men into the unity of the Spirit. It is to deliver the spirits of men from the bondage of the flesh—that bondage, among others, which forces divisions among men. "Now are we the sons of God," even while we are in bondage to some extent; but "when that which is perfect is come" men shall see their filial relationship to God and their fraternal relationship to one another in a light they had never imagined.

Is it said that this theory is too gloomy—that the thought of rejoining kindred gone before is too comfortable to be given up? I grant that this would be so if these ties were not exchanged for others that are better. We prize this thought only because it is the most sacred to us on earth. But in heaven the state will be different, and the conditions of life there will be changed. Do we not have an earnest of this fact in the supernatural joy we feel when our spirituality elevates us into a plane of holy and ardent affection for all men? The greatest joys on earth attend us when our sympathies are most liberal. And in heaven what tongue can tell the rapturous delight of every heart as it abounds in unabating love for every redeemed soul? There will be no prejudices and partialities, and no party lines drawn, but one united family there shall be, each member vying with the other in blessing and adoration. Lazarus, not Isaac, will be seen in Abraham's bosom. M.

Work of Sunday Schools.

YAZOO CT., MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

MR. EDITOR: Please permit me to trouble you once more with a short letter setting forth the work of the Sunday schools on this circuit; also as remembering my promise to honor them with a report to your excellent paper, and to encourage them to continue the good work as a means of grace to them and a blessing to society.

Early in the year I began to take up the Conference collection, and from the four churches obtained but a small sum—$13. Being but a beginner, and having so often heard preachers accused of preaching only for money, I had almost despaired of getting my Conference fund. At our District Conference I was far behind in my collections. So necessity forced me to another plan by which I hoped I might secure at least a part of the dues from this circuit. I am happy to say I have succeeded well with that plan, and that much lasting good is resulting from it, as already seen in the Sabbath schools. It not only secures the money needed to administer to the wants of Christ, as exhibited in Matthew xxv, 35, etc., by doing the like to the widow and fatherless (James i, 27,) which is "pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father," and to the poor heathen, for whom flowed Christ's most precious blood, but develops and brings into practical use the talents of children, thus educating and training them for future usefulness in society and in the church. It is exactly adapted to their natures. Indeed Christianity, in its development, runs parallel with nature. The lesson here taught is and should be among the first lessons inculcated around the family fireside. Although the little child cannot go to the farm and roll the logs, and do the other heavy work, yet it is not to be excused from picking up the brush and small chunks and burning them, thus helping their parents to prepare the ground for plowing, etc. Oftimes the smaller ones receives the tender kiss and fears the encouraging words: "Oh! what a nice and good and smart little man or lady mamma has. I'll not want for chips and wood any more."

So it could be with children in the church. Although they would feel much embarrassed in trying to preach, exhort and pray publicly while so very young, yet they can occupy a seat with good behavior, and recite their lessons, and gather up all the idle dimes and dollars that older people would be ashamed to ask for, because they are little things. Men naturally look higher; hence they often pass by a child, or even an older person, who need but give a little at a time; and we hear them say, "I am ashamed to ask a man for a dime or two bits," even when he knows that it would be given as soon as asked for. These are little things, it is true; so little drops of water make the mighty ocean. Now a child thinks as much of a dime as you do of a dollar; and if he gets but a dime, or twenty or thirty cents, from a person, he thinks he is doing wonders. He naturally looks for things in his sphere.

The plan alluded to is this: A small blank-book is obtained; on its back is written: "Laying up treasure in heaven in little deeds, like the little drops of water that make the mighty ocean." Directions are written on the first pages how to keep the book. A cash and subscription page is prepared, and money received is placed to the cash list; that subscribed, to be paid say by the middle of November, to the subscribed list, in each case taking the person's name, day of the month and month, putting it opposite his amount paid. Ask him how he wishes it applied or divided. If half for the Conference fund, if it be cash, so record it under the cash Conference fund page, and the same way for the missionary fund—cash under the cash page, subscription under subscription page. Each Sunday school scholar agrees to pay so much, say fifty cents or $1, as he wishes, and gives it in monthly. An agent is selected from the school to receive the money and keep the book. His agency holds only one month; then he reports, straightens up the book, turns it over, with the money, to the preacher or superintendent, and his name affixed to his work as agent. And then another one is selected or elected, and commissioned to go and work for Christ. The agent is to ask everybody—not to pass by any one; all are invited to lay up treasure in heaven, so as to avoid the fate of those on the left hand.—Matthew xxv, 46. This is continued all the year, sending the little book into every community. The Sunday school may and should transfer the several agents' work to a ledger, to be preserved as a treasure, and to aid the Historical Association in getting interesting matter. Success of the plan: Where proper attention is given—as it is at Locust Grove, a model Sunday school—by the superintendent, it yields from $5 to $6 per month. Sometimes the agents get as high as $14 or $15 cash, and $20 or $30 subscribed. It will yield, almost anywhere, $5 per month. I would like to give you the names of the agents, but I fear I have taken up too much space already. I will say, however, that they have done astonishingly well. They work like bees on a bright summer morning. May they ever prove faithful, even to the end of their journey.

Eight accessions to the church since my last report, making in all, up to this date, ninety-eight. Thirty-two children baptized.

JOHN W. ELLISON, P. C.

FREE REN, October 21, 1873.

The Sin Against the Holy Ghost.

MR. EDITOR: In your issue of the sixteenth of October, A. D. 1873, I see an article written by the Rev. R. H. Rivers, D. D., on the Sin Against the Holy Ghost, which to my understanding of the Scriptures is not agreeable to its teachings on that subject. His idea, as stated, is that it is the last sin committed before the day of grace is passed by the impenitent sinner, and may sometimes be one sin and sometimes another, thus making all who sin away their day of grace commit the sin against the Holy Ghost. Now it is clear to my mind that it is a specific sin, and that there is but one class of persons who can commit it.

1. It is a specific sin from the following passages of Scripture. In the twelfth chapter of Matthew the Savior, in reply to the Pharisees, who said that he cast out devils by Beelzebub, the prince of devils, says: "All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men; but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven, neither in this world nor in that which is to come." In the twelfth chapter and tenth verse of Luke is this language: "But unto him that blasphemeth against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven." In the tenth chapter and twenty-ninth verse of Hebrews Paul uses this language: "Of how much punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant wherewith he was sanctified an unholy thing." From the foregoing passages, and some others that might be quoted, it appears that attributing the miracles which he performed to the power of evil spirits, or rejecting him as the promised Messiah and setting aside his atonement, was the specific sin, which sin could not be forgiven from the fact they denied the only atonement by virtue of which sin of any grade could be forgiven, thereby crucifying him afresh and putting him to an open shame.

2. That there is but one class of persons who can commit this sin, namely: "those who were once enlightened, and had tasted the good word of God and the powers of the world to come"—those who not only had demonstrative evidence of his divinity and power, so far as their senses were concerned, by miracles which he performed, but in addition to this their minds being enlightened by the Holy Ghost, and by his agency experiencing the divinity and virtue of his atonement, they knew him and the power of his resurrection, and by the Holy Ghost they could call him Lord.

Having received this knowledge of Christ by the Holy Ghost, and then rejecting him as the promised Christ of God to man, is the sin in question against the Holy Ghost. With due deference to the opinions of the learned, the above is my understanding of the Scriptures on this subject.

J. H. WINBORNE.

MAGNOLIA, MISS., November 8, 1873.

ECLIPSE AT THE TIME OF THE CRUCIFIXION.—It is a curious coincidence that the moon was eclipsed on the generally received date of our Savior's crucifixion, A. D. 33, April 3. The phenomenon, however, could have no influence on the miraculous darkness which overshadowed Jerusalem, "from the sixth to the ninth hour," when "the sun was darkened." Mr. Hind has found that the moon "had emerged from the earth's dark shadow a quarter of an hour before she rose at Jerusalem (6.36 P. M.,) but the penumbra continued upon her disk for an hour afterward." The penumbra visible during a lunar eclipse is exceedingly faint, being only the shadow of the earth's dark shadow, and it can scarcely be recognized by the naked eye. It certainly could have added nothing to the awful solemnity of the scene which had just taken place.

Obituaries.

DIED, at Pearlington, Mississippi, November 3, at half-past two o'clock A. M., after a few days of severe suffering from congestion of the brain, THOMAS O. BROWN, infant son of George W. and Cordelia A. Brown, aged seven years, nine months and sixteen days.

Asleep in Jesus! oh, how sweet
To lie for such a slumber meet!
Sleep, dear Tommie, that blessed sleep,
From which none ever wake to weep.

GEORGE W. BROWN.

GREER, son of James H. and S. M. Fullilove, of Caddo parish, Louisiana, died on the thirty-first of August, aged one year, lacking one day. Only five months before little Greer's death another sweet child of scarce three summers was consigned to the grave, and now the two little brothers—Dowdell and Greer—are united in the paradise of God, evermore to live in the perpetual light and health and youth of that pure clime. L. F.

DIED, at Walnut Grove, Leake county, Mississippi, September 28, 1873, GUY LINSEY, infant son of M. L. and Virginia Casteel, aged one year, ten months and eighteen days.

Farewell, little cherub. Thy pure spirit has fled from the cares of this world, untainted by its influences, to rest in the bosom of that dear Savior who said: "Suffer little children to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of God."

J. B. K. SMITH.

DEPARTED THIS LIFE, October 1, 1873, MRS. ANN I. FRISBY, aged forty-six years, a native of Claiborne county, Mississippi, and for many years a resident of Tensas parish, Louisiana.

She joined the church, August 10, 1872, and has ever since led an exemplary Christian life, and striven to raise her children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. She has always been rich in good works, ready to distribute, visiting the sick and relieving the wants of the distressed. During her last illness, before her mind was clouded by the progress of disease, she expressed an abiding trust in her Savior.

"Thou art gone to the grave! we no longer behold thee,
Nor tread the rough paths of the world by thy side;
But the wide arms of mercy are spread to enfold thee,
And sinners may hope, since the Savior has died."

J. GORTON MILLER, Pastor.

MRS. KATE C. FORE, wife of Thomas Fore, Esq., and daughter of William and Sarah A. Diamond, of Tensas parish, Louisiana, was born May 15, 1854, and was baptized and received into the church in October, 1872. After a short illness she fell asleep in Jesus, at seven o'clock A. M., August 18, 1873.

Her brief life was a beautiful illustration of the graces of Christian character. During her last illness she was meek and resigned to the will of her heavenly Father. Shortly before her departure she called her friends and loved ones around her bedside, and, expressing her willingness to die, bestowed upon each tenderly appropriate words of affectionate remembrance, exhorting all to meet her in heaven. In her last moments she gathered up her remaining energies, and in accents broken at first, yet strengthened, as if by divine inspiration, she exclaimed, "My sins, my sins, my sins are all forgiven! I see heaven!" and gently passed away.

"Where the weary are at rest,
She is gathered unto God."

J. GORTON MILLER, Pastor.

MISS SARAH S. MCKINLEY was born September 21, 1804, in Abbeville district, South Carolina, and died at the residence of Dr. Harmon Rush, in Rayville, Richland parish, Louisiana, October 16, 1873. She moved from the place of her birth to Lowndes county, Mississippi, in 1833, and made her home with her brother in-law, Mr. John U. Riley, until January last, when the family moved to Louisiana, where she made her home with her nieces and nephews, with whom she always had a hearty welcome.

Sister McKinley professed religion and joined the church in her girlhood, and those who knew her best state that she always lived a consistent Christian life. She died a most triumphant death, rejoicing in conscious communion with her blessed Savior. When asked if she knew she was dying, she replied: "Yes, thank God, I am glad I was born to die. I am happy in the love of Jesus, and he is present now, and guardian angels are waiting to convey me home." Thus with shouts and praises she bid adieu to earth and its sorrows. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."

JAMES L. WRIGHT.

JAMES MALACHI FUTRELL was born in Murfreesboro, Bertie county, North Carolina, in 1822. In his early manhood, fired by the laudable desire to attain to independence, he determined to seek a newer, wider and freer field for his efforts. He removed to Mississippi, stopped a few years in Madison county, came from there to Yazoo county, and cast his lot with those with whom he continued to associate until his death.

In his early manhood's days he was a member of the church in his native State; but after leaving the associations of home and early friends he was thrown with wild associates, and did not for many years unite with God's people. Although again a wanderer from the fold, he never lost his respect for sacred things, and often referred with deep feeling to his early association with Christians, and, as he called them, his better days. He married a worthy daughter of one of the truest, purest Christian gentlemen that ever blessed a neighborhood with good examples—John Hugh Foster, a Methodist of the old school. It is not strange that with such influences around him Bro. Futrell should again seek admittance to the church. In 1868 he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at Mount Olivet, by profession, and continued a consistent member until July 20, [illegible]. While at the Hot Springs in Arkansas, seeking restoration to health through the healing influences of their waters, he received the summons to pass from time to eternity, leaving a wife and three children to mourn the husband and father, who had left them but a few weeks before, to seek relief from that painful disease—rheumatism—whom they would see never again on earth, but sustained by the hope of again being united in that better world, where friends will no more part, and pain and sorrow are felt and felt no more. J. R.

DIED, at his home in Algiers, Louisiana, September 24, 1873, FRANCIS SYDNEY MACKIE, son of T. and C. L. Mackie, aged five years and nine months.

How careful are we of our children flowers! How we shelter them from the unkindly blast! Yet after awhile they droop, and soon their loveliness petals lie dead upon the ground. But there is One who takes better care of his flowers than we can of ours. He allows them to flourish awhile here and then transplants them to the "evergreen shore," where the chilling blasts of temptation and sorrow never blow. Thither has little Frank gone, and there with myriads of angels he will praise the all-wise Benefactor forevermore. He was a pious child, a lover of the Sabbath school and church services. He was certainly a jewel fit only for the king's crown above. In the night his mother found him on his knees in bed praying—praying while others were wrapped in slumber. One night he awoke her, asking if she had called him. "No, Frankie." "Mamma, I heard a call. If it was not you, it was God who called me." He disliked to hear anything bought on the Sabbath, remarking that God did not like it. A few days before his death he asked his mother strange questions about the last judgment, and quoted with wonderful earnestness the words with which our Lord will welcome the good and dismiss the bad. Though a child, yet did he not let his light shine? Yes. His goodness, his love for God, his pious talk certainly testify to the existence and power of the God and Savior of the Bible. May the Lord comfort the bereaved family. He has afflicted them deeply, but it is in order to draw them nearer to himself. Away from God we are in danger, whether we feel it or not. It is only under the influence of the Holy Spirit, under the shadow of the almighty wing, that we are safe and truly happy. They have lost a gem, but Jesus has gained a jewel. May they, every one, be led to the Savior, then their loss is but temporary, and when God sees fit they will meet their angel Frankie in the home of the blest. A FRIEND.

MISS NANNIE, daughter of Thomas and Emily Law, was born in Coosa county, Alabama, September 8, 1[illegible], and died in Selma, Alabama, October 26, 1873.

When quite an infant she lost both of her parents, and was placed under the care and protection of her aunt, Mrs. N. B. Boyd, who was ever careful of her intellectual and moral culture. Nature was beneficent, and the bestowment of its gifts upon her was lavish. To a fine personal appearance were added a bright intellect, a retentive memory and a vivid imagination. These, together with an amiable and affectionate disposition, gained for her the esteem of her teachers, the love of her associates and the admiration of all with whom she mingled. Though endowed with a high order of intellect, and admired and caressed by her friends, she was retiring, unassuming and unostentatious in her manners. Meekness, gentleness and cheerfulness were prominent traits of her character. She loved the Bible, the church and the Sabbath school, and the truth which she imbibed from these sources permeated her mind, became incorporated in her moral organism and ever led her in the pathway of righteousness. She was converted at a meeting held by Rev. E. [illegible] Bounds, in this city, in 1871, but did not connect herself with the church until April, 1873. Her conversion was so clear and bright that she never doubted her acceptance with God. After an intimate acquaintance of ten months, I do not hesitate to say she was one of the purest human beings I ever saw. Possessing a comprehensive mind, and moral character as pure as the untrodden snow-flake, her friends anticipated a bright and useful career for her; but alas! how vain are our hopes, how transitory are our joys in this vale of tears. Death came, and all of these fond hopes were blasted. During her illness she was asked of her future prospects. She replied: "Not a doubt, not a fear, not a cloud intervenes between me and heaven. I will soon be with my angel mother and my blessed Savior." She survived two weeks, and then the eye was closed upon the natural world, but was opened upon the beauties of heaven; the ear was hushed to the sighs of weeping friends, but caught the mingled melody of angels' harps, and her own voice joined the choir of saints and swelled the sweet anthems of redeeming love.

"Thou wilt come no more, gentle Nannie;
Like a flower thy spirit did depart;
Thou art gone, alas! like the many
That have bloomed in the garden of my heart."

J. W. GLENN.

THERE is evidently some "out come" in the boy in a Louisville school who wrote the composition upon "The Pin," a subject chosen by his teacher. Knowing the boy's aversion to literary efforts, the teacher exacted but two sentences. After considerable effort the little heir produced the following: "Pins are very useful. They have saved the lives of a great many men, women and children—in fact, whole families." In reply to his astonished teacher's question as to the manner in which the lives of so many people had been saved through the instrumentality of pins, the boy innocently remarked: "Why, by not swallowing them."

How to prevent bad dreams—Don't go to sleep.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1873.

LAY ME LOW.

Lay me low, my work is done;
I am weary. Lay me low,
Where the wild flowers woo the sun,
Where the balmy breezes blow,
Where the butterfly takes wing,
Where the aspens drooping grow,
Where the young birds chirp and sing,
I am weary, let me go.

I have striven hard and long
In the world's unequal fight,
Always to resist the wrong,
Always to maintain the right,
Always with a stubborn heart
Talking, giving blow for blow,
Brother, I have played my part,
And am weary, let me go.

Stern the world and bitter cold,
Irksome, painful to endure;
Everywhere a love of gold,
Nowhere pity for the poor,
Everywhere mistrust, disguise,
Pride, hypocrisy and show.
Draw the curtain, close the eyes,
I am weary, let me go.

Others' chance, when I am gone,
May restore the battle call,
Bravely lead the good cause on,
Fighting in the which I fall.
God may quicken some true soul
Here to take my place below
In the heroes' muster-roll,
I am weary, let me go.

Shield and buckler, hang them up,
Drape the standard on the wall,
I have drained the mortal cup
To the thirsh, dregs and all.
When our work is done 'tis best,
Brother, best that we should go.
I'm aweary, let me rest;
I'm aweary, lay me low.

All the Year Round.

Arraignment and Trial of the Prayer Meeting.

e pastor at Laodicea, where the ch was "lukewarm," resolved, day when the conditions were vorable—that is to say, no rain, dust, no mud, not cold, nor yet not windy, but a bright, breezy, utiful day, when the last weather logy for non-attendance was pt away by the brightness of the bath—resolved, we say, to put prayer meeting on its trial in ver to any charges which might referred.

he pastor said no written charges specifications had been pre-ted against the prayer meeting; he was quite sure charges were rtly entertained, for he had nod, when the neighbors generally ed to call on a certain family, they had their reasons for it; reasons might be good, or they have been unreasonably preju-d, but the result was the same; family was socially forsaken, d for cause. He argued from these mises that it was a legitimate erence that an analogous state of ngs existed here in Laodicea, for ny of the old friends and former iers of prayer meeting had cut acquaintance, and had not called it once for long months, not to years.

ow, said the pastor, there must a reason or reasons for this, and he stood there that day as the ad of the prayer meeting, to hear d answer, if he conscientiously ld, the objections that any might e to offer. He said the charges ght be graver than he supposed;
he might not be able to make isfactory replies; but, though he w he was sadly in the minority his sympathy with the prayer eting, yet it was in his nature defend the weak and stand by e deserted. Now, then, said he, if y of you have aught against the yer meeting, say on. There was si-ce for a brief space, one looking at other, and each waiting for some er to lead off in making objecns. "Well," said a highly respect- brother, "I hear that there are y a few, and they rather obscure, o attend or visit the prayer meet-
. Rather a poor thing, I under-nd."

he pastor said that this was only mor—only hearsay evidence—could not be received as testiny against the prayer meeting.
sides, to desert an old friend for other reason than that certain ers had grown cold toward him, d deserted him, was hardly genous; he thought real friends should g all the closer in the days of glect and desertion; that such nduct was too much like the con-ct of the faint-hearted disciples en Christ was surrounded by his emies—"they forsook him."

Said another, who had not been to ayer meeting for years, and who s not regarded eminent for his ty: "He had heard that people in m he had little confidence prayed these meetings, and he did not re to be mixed up with such."

The pastor said he had to say in ly: "Let him that is without sin the first stone" at the sinners o prayed in prayer meeting. And, ther, he had always understood it was the most unworthy and ful who had most need to pray;
the man who said, "God be rciful to me a sinner," was the who was justified, and not the who "thanked God that he was as other men." He said he ought if the brother would come to yer meeting, and hear these peohumbly confessing sin and ask-mercy, he would be more chari-e.

Another said "he thought that yer meetings were rather anti-ted institutions, and were fast oming obsolete; that in this sci-ntific age, this age of wide and ised culture, the church had outwn the needs of the prayer meet-
; we had become too aesthetic and ned for anything of the kind."

The pastor said he read in the ble—a book for which he hoped entertained the highest respect—
"men ought always to pray, d never to faint; that we ought to y all prayer, or all manner of yer, and pray without ceasing;"
in apostolic times, in the city of rusalem, we read they had prayer etings, and that they were in good odor that "many were ered together praying;" that Paul was an eminent scholar, fareled, and a visitor of the most ed cities of the Augustan age culture, yet we read of his holding attending prayer meetings.

The pastor said here in Laodicea were making commendable progs in mental culture and social nement, but he had failed to ilize such an advanced aesthetic elopment as to supersede the need of social prayer; that, as he understood it, we were "saved by grace through faith," and not by aesthetics at all. He should regret to see an attempt to supersede Christian fellowship, consecration and zeal with aesthetic culture, however refined or beautiful.

Another brother said he thought these prayer meetings should be conducted more sociably, and made more conversational than they were. The pastor said he would venture to say in the name of the prayer meeting that no objection would be made to such a change, though, as he understood it, prayer meetings were not exactly talking meetings, and thought it a little singular that Methodists, who had almost abandoned class meetings—a meeting specially intended for Christian conversation—should be urging the introduction of conversation into the services of the prayer meeting. However, he would venture to say as the representative of the prayer meeting that it would cordially welcome all such, and would be glad to have them talk, or do anything that would lend interest to the occasion.

An excellent lady, who chimed to be nervous, and at times indisposed, said that her health did not permit her to attend prayer meeting. The pastor said he was glad that this sister made no complaint against the prayer meeting, but would remark in a general way, without intending any allusions save where they might be strictly applicable, that his mind had long been considerably exercised with the sanitary difficulties of church attendance. He was not deeply read in the laws of hygiene, but his mind was puzzled to understand how a large, well-ventilated and comfortable church, not greatly crowded either, could be so unhealthy as some seemed to suppose; that he had known people who would attend a wedding or a party, even on an inclement evening, who felt they could safely risk themselves at an opera, a circus, or a crowded theater even, yet would not venture on the rashness of exposing their health to the night air of an evening meeting. The pastor said the whole question was an enigma too deep for his solution. As for those really sick, no one felt a more tender sympathy than he.

Another said "he had no particular objection to the prayer meeting. It might be well enough for some people, but that he did not need it, and did not wish to be troubled about it; he asked to be let alone. He worked hard, and wished to rest at home when night came." The pastor said, if the case was as the brother stated, that he did not need prayer meeting, he was certainly to be congratulated, for he apprehended that there were but few who could say so. But he really thought such an advanced believer ought to feel and manifest more sympathy than he did for those who were weak in faith, listless in zeal and cold in love—some such there were—needed all the sympathizing aid the strong could give them. The highest authority has told us it is more blessed to give than receive, and he who said this came himself "to seek and save those that were lost." The pastor said he had been taught by the book of books that those who follow Christ must "deny themselves," not only sins, gross and overt, but self-indulgence as well; and that the Christian must "endure hardness as a good soldier," and "give all diligence to add to his faith" all Christian graces. The apostle says: "We, then, that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let every one of us please his neighbor for his good to edification; for even Christ pleased not himself."

After a pause, and no one seemed to wish to speak, the pastor said it appeared to him that the objections urged against their old friend, the prayer meeting, were not well taken nor well sustained, and were not, in his humble opinion, justifiable grounds for the cold treatment the prayer meeting had received here in Laodicea; and that, for his part, he felt more like standing up to his old neglected and injured friend than he ever did.

There being no more to say, the investigation closed, and it was resolved "that it is not expedient at present to abolish the prayer meeting."—Galveston Christian Advocate.

Concerning Texts.

Prof. Park gives in the July number of the Bibliotheca Sacra a very suggestive article on "The Structure of a Sermon," in which he considers "The Text." We give an outline. Etymologically, the text (texere, textus, textum) is a composition, a tissue, a texture, a web. The whole Bible is such a composition. A single passage of it is taken out, and, as one part of the web, woven by supernatural skill, it is examined with appropriate care; its texture is explained, perhaps unraveled; this is the preacher's text. Among the advantages of preaching from biblical texts, these are given: The practice tends to secure for the pulpit the reverence naturally paid to an ancient usage; the minister's practice of discoursing from biblical texts is itself appropriate. He is a herald who is to proclaim the word of God. The practice of preaching from inspired texts fosters a spirit of reverence for the inspired volume; the practice of discoursing on passages of the Bible leads the preacher to explain them; the practice of discoursing on biblical texts serves to harvest the preacher's word with authority; the habit of discoursing on passages of the Bible serves to attract the attention of men to the truth and awaken their interest in it. Certain objections which have been made to the use of texts are answered; as, for instance, that a short text cannot afford matter for a long discourse; that if a man found his discourse on a verse of the Bible, he will be apt to sacrifice unity of thought, or, in order to preserve a semblance of unity, he will resort to forced and unnatural connections; that a minister is tempted, by the phraseology of his text, to overlook the principle of it; that, by founding his addresses upon ancient, especially oriental sayings, a minister introduces a mannerism into the pulpit; that Christ and his apostles often discoursed without them. These objections are met mainly by a denial that they hold against the use of texts.

Under "different methods of selecting texts," reference is made to ministers who confine themselves to the order of texts prescribed by the authorities of their church. Some choose their own texts, without regard to any prescribed formulary. Some preachers habitually select their text before they determine their precise theme. Some habitually choose their theme before their text. Some alternate between the two. The former habit tends to make a minister's discourses more biblical; the latter more logical.

Under the fitnesses of passages of the Bible for texts of sermons, the following points are presented: Those passages which involve a moral principle are, in that one particular, fitted for texts; those passages are best fitted for texts which, when so employed, most aptly represent the spirit of the Bible; make the impression most faithful to the intent of the inspired word as a whole. Under this head some interesting facts are given concerning the use of texts by eminent preachers. Out of nineteen hundred and twenty-five sermons preached by John Calvin, thirteen hundred and thirty-seven were on texts from the Old Testament, five hundred and eighty-eight from the New, but not one from the gospels. Dr. Samuel Clark has forty sermons on texts from the Old Testament, and one hundred and twenty-four on texts from the New; of these forty-seven are from the gospels. Other points presented are that the fact that a biblical passage has a divine authority gives it a fitness to be used as the text of a sermon. The words of uninspired persons are never to be used as if they had in themselves a divine authority. Nor should a minister use a text which he believes to be improperly inserted in the sacred canon. A text is to be used not for what it apparently, but for what it really means. One thing which tends to fit a passage to be a text for sermons is the fact of its referring, as it stands in the Bible, to the same object which it refers to in the sermons. When used with distinctness the text is specially adapted to make the sermon solid and authoritative. If texts are ever used by way of accommodation, it should be done in a rational and manly way. They should involve the principle which characterizes the passage as originally spoken. If you accommodate a biblical text, let it be apparent that you intend to do so. Again, completeness is a quality which gives to a biblical passage one kind of fitness to be the basis of a sermon. The text is not allowable if, by means of its failing to form a complete sentence, or to express the complete idea of the inspired penman, it becomes undignified.—Christian Intelligencer.

Shall Women Speak?

Among some Christian sects it is considered disorderly to speak or pray in a public assembly. Of course they quote First Corinthians xiv, 34, 35 as deciding the case. Paul there says: "Let your women keep silence in the churches, for it is not permitted unto them to speak."

If this passage is to be taken as a general law, it is forbidden to a woman to speak, pray or sing in public, for silence is commanded. It is as much a violation of this Scripture to exhort in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs as to exhort in prose and to pray. But no one thinks it wrong for women to sing in public; why should they forbid the other forms of speech and allow this?

The fact is, Paul is here correcting abuses, disorders which caused confusion in the church at Corinth, and he commanded those possessed of the gift of tongues to be silent, unless an interpreter was present, and that only one should speak at a time.

All of this concerned those who possessed, or pretended to possess, supernatural gifts, and were exercising them so as to cause confusion. Women were not to wrangle and to yield to pretended impulses, and become excited and immodest in such assemblies.

But nothing is proved by this in regard to what is proper in orderly, sober assemblies. Because it is very improper for women to take part in such meetings as they had at Corinth it does not follow that they may not take part in orderly religious meetings.

In First Timothy ii, 11, 12 women are commanded to learn in silence, and forbidden to teach, or usurp authority over men. This cannot mean absolute silence, but the opposite of loquacity, impertinence, arrogance. In some of the churches they had fallen into the habit of disputing, and becoming much excited, and the result was great disorder. When women indulged in this the matter was made worse, on account of their being generally more excitable than men, and immodesty on their part caused offense and scandal. It was very necessary that this should be forbidden.

Women who usurp authority over men, and become dictatorial in public assemblies, are very much out of place; but that does not prove it improper to speak in a proper manner.

That these passages do not forbid a modest, orderly utterance of their views, hopes and joys, in religious meetings, is evident from the fact that the Scriptures indorse and commend such acts. In First Corinthians xi, 5 directions are given that women who pray and prophesy in public should follow the custom of society, and have their heads covered. If it was wrong for them to speak or pray in public, why give these directions? The only difference made between men and women is that men are to uncover their heads, and women are to cover theirs, when they speak or pray.

Joel prophesied that under the gospel dispensation the "sons and daughters" should both prophesy, or exhort, as the word means; and Peter (Acts ii, 17) so applies it. It is not likely that Paul's words conflict with this.

Philip, the evangelist (Acts xxi, 9,) had four daughters that were exhorters, and so noted and useful were their services that the inspired writer was moved to mention them; that all other sisters having the same gifts might be encouraged to exercise them in the same way. When women are forbidden to speak for Christ the spirit of the gospel is violated.—Morning Star.

METHODISTS do not esteem the convenience and efficiency of their system as they might. A Boston correspondent writes thus:

"The harmony and efficiency of the itinerant economy is seen in New England, as probably in no other part of the church. Preachers pass from pulpit to pulpit, never leaving a Methodist church without a pastor, while Congregationalism sends its preacher away, dependent upon a contingency that may never allow him to be a pastor again. There are more than three hundred Congregational churches in New England without a pastor, and more than four hundred preachers without a parish. Calling at the Publishing House in Boston, a few weeks ago, we found nearly seventy names had been submitted for supply on the coming Sabbath. Their compensation for the service of the Sabbath, if fortunate enough to secure an opportunity to preach, ranged in pence and pounds from $8 to $30. Service for life is practically at an end. There are scarcely a dozen churches within a bird's fly from the Boston State-house that have had their pastor twenty years, hardly half that time. And there is one church in the city that has had four pastors within three years. And there is a church in Rhode Island that received eighty candidates before a pastor was voted, and the vote then hung upon a very close majority. Within a year forty churches, in and about Boston, have at the same time been without pastors.

IT IS SUGGESTED that the distinctive advantage over the average American preacher possessed by the ministers from Great Britain and Ireland, who are being invited to important pastorates in this country, is their greater familiarity with the Bible. They are trained to its study not only in the family and Sunday school, but in the theological seminary, and they have a power in its exposition which could not otherwise be attained. The Sunday school is raising up a generation of Bible lovers, who will not be satisfied with brilliant sermons that lack the treasures of biblical knowledge. The minister who gives only the latest and best thought of his brain or of other men's brains in the pulpit is comparatively soon exhausted or shorn of the power of novelty before his people. But he who uses his brains and the brains of all he can bring to his help in exhibiting the wonders of God's word need never run out. God's thoughts are higher than man's thoughts, and "they are more than can be numbered." Like his mercies, "they are new every morning." They cannot grow old. Yet many a pastor thinks his people prefer his thoughts to God's, and strives to supply them accordingly.—Independent.

HOPING AGAINST HOPE.—There are several residents of Detroit whose friends took passage on the missing City of Boston, which went down to her ocean grave in such a mysterious manner that her fate has never been ascertained. Although so long a time has elapsed since the steamer was given up, there are those here who have the strongest faith that at least some of the passengers were cast away on some shore or island, and will some day make their escape and tell the sad story. One of these is a woman of sixty, whose manly and promising son was one of the passengers. She has subscribed for a Boston paper for no other reason than that she thinks the press of that city will be the first to receive the news of the ship. As regularly as the paper is received she opens it in the hope that her son's fate may be explained, and disappointment engenders only new hope. His plate is kept at the table, and to almost every friend who calls the mother says: "I have not heard from William yet, but I hope to this week." The neighbors feel that the hope is the only sunlight of her life, and encourage her in it.—Detroit Free Press.

PROF. TYNDALL argues against the commonly taught notion that man requires absolutely pure air and water. Chemically pure air—air that is without a trace of ammonia, carbonic acid or water—is, he says, not to be found, and the one thing certain about it is that if it were no one could live in it. Neither is pure water ever found in nature; and observation of the whole animal creation, including man himself, tends to show that pure water is not necessary, not even demonstrably desirable. Every sunbeam which enters a darkened room shows how thick with solid impurities is the air which man breathes, yet no one on that account fears to breathe it; the same thing holds true in regard to water, but this need not necessarily make any one afraid to drink it. Not all foreign matters, nor even all foreign organic matters, are of necessity unwholesome; and the votaries of strict science too often represent man as a being who must submit the world to a series of severe chemical operations before it is fit for him to live in.

THE LOVE of God and the world are two different things. If the love of this world dwell in thee, the love of God forsakes thee; renounce that and receive this; it is fit that the nobler love should have the best place and acceptance.

OUR PRINCIPLES are the spring of our actions; our actions the springs of our happiness or misery. Too much care, therefore, cannot be taken in forming our principles.

Religious Intelligence.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.—Miss Bliss, of South Hadley, Massachusetts, and Miss Mary B. Ferguson, of New Haven, Connecticut, sailed on the twentieth ultimo, to establish at Wellington, South Africa, the foundations of a seminary similar to the one at Mount Holyoke, Massachusetts. It is an independent enterprise, not under the auspices of the American Board, or of any missionary board, though the American Board have agreed to take these teachers into the missionary family, provided the seminary should not be a success.

ANOTHER SCANDAL in the Church of England. Liverpool is horrified over it. The advowson of that city's rectory, or, in other words, the right to conduct services there, has been sold for £15,000 by the present incumbent to the most advanced party of the Ritualists, without any consultation with the parishioners, the vast majority of whom are said to utterly hate the practices of the new owners. This rectorship is one of the most influential in England, and the chartering transaction startles even the most indifferent churchman of the orthodox type.

THE following is posted in the church of Notre Dame de Lumieres, Marseilles:

MIRACLES OBTAINED BY THE INTERCESSION OF OUR LADY OF LUMIERES, AS FOLLOWS:

| | |
|---|---|
| Dead raised | 19 |
| Blind made to see | 187 |
| Deaf and dumb relieved | 625 |
| Lame restored | 136 |
| Paralytics revitalized | 153 |
| Fevers cured | 135 |
| Sprains healed | 187 |
| Miscellaneous miracles (deafness in a very small way) | 210 |
| Total | 1,152 |

As to which the irreverent Rappel remarks that it is very odd indeed that after doing such a heap of good work the Good Lady of Lumieres cannot restore to life one monarchy.

IT APPEARS that the numerous conversions to Judaism in Austria, especially in 1870, were really revelations of the practice spoken of by Mr. Disraeli, that a very considerable number of Jews all over the world, unable to endure persecution, conceal their faith not only for years, but for generations. All disabilities being removed, the Jews returned to the faith of their ancestors. The Jewish Chronicle relates that when the Shah was requested in Berlin to protect the Jews, a stern Persian in his suite, who had cross-examined the petitioners, informed them that the memorial should certainly reach the Shah, for he, the questioner, was a concealed Jew, though obliged to deny his faith.

THE committee of the Calcutta Bible Society having, through the Rev. J. E. Carlyle, offered to supply copies of the Bible to the libraries of all the colleges and schools in Bengal, a letter has been received from Lieutenant Governor Sir George Campbell, accepting with thanks the offer so far as regards the government schools and colleges, but not including the village 'patshallas or primary schools, in regard to which the government fears that a general distribution might arouse native jealousies. The population of the presidency amounts to 65,000,000, and Mr. Carlyle says the acceptance of the offer "will introduce thousands of copies of the Scriptures into positions of great importance and influence."

A VERY unfortunate allusion was made by Dr. Voelk in his powerful speech before the Old Catholic Congress at Constance, noticed in another paragraph. As he was carried away by his German enthusiasm and his contempt for the Jesuit power, he seemed to say that France and Jesuitism were very well suited to each other, and, to the non-German mind, to be delivering a bitterly scornful invective against France. So, at least, says a correspondent of the London Standard, it struck Pere Hyacinthe and M. De Pressense, who occupied seats near the tribune, and who, to the consternation of the meeting, suddenly arose with every indication of angry disapproval, and walked straight out of the room. Dr. Voelk subsequently expressed himself in handsome terms of sympathy with France, but it was too late.

STATUS OF THE LOCAL PREACHERS.—After the dedication of the Embury monument at Cambridge, a few weeks ago, the Local Preachers' Association adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, The local preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church have no defined relation in the church, and consequently no representation in the General Conference; therefore,

Resolved, That we memorialize the General Conference of 1876 to define their true position and relation to the church.

Last year there were 11,582 local preachers; this year there are 11,934; increase, 352. The one hundred and seventh anniversary of the introduction of Methodism into America was celebrated on Sunday, in the "old John Street" Methodist Episcopal church, the cradle of the denomination in New York city.

THE American Episcopal Church at Geneva, Switzerland, was formally organized on August 25, preparatory to applying for canonical recognition as a church under the jurisdiction of the General Convention. It will be known as Emmanuel church. It is the fifth church in Europe thus organized. The Rev. Mr. Langdon will serve it as provisional pastor. The other American church in Geneva, which might be called the American Catholic church, since it recognizes all Protestants, holds its services every Sunday in the Salle de la Reformation. Our correspondent, the Rev. Gideon Draper, has been engaged as its pastor for one year, and is assisted by American clergymen of various denominations as they happen in his way. The only Sunday school on the American plan, and in the English language, is maintained by this church. Ralph Wells is its superintendent.

THE Bishop of Bath and Wells, in answer to numerous questions touching the practices of many of the clergy leaning to Romanism, says: "The English priests and deacons are to be dressed as like as possible to Romish priests and deacons; the church choristers are to be as like a possible to the acolytes and choristers of a Romish Church; the Lord's altar is to be made and dressed as like as possible to the altar of the Romish Church; the chants and music are to be as like as possible to those in the Church of Rome; the processions, banners, crosses and crucifixes of Romish ceremonials are to be exactly imitated; the Romish use of incense and wafer-bread is to be adopted;" which he declares to be a deliberate conspiracy to bring the Church of England to communion with and obedience to Rome, and these ceremonies, now in use, are adopted for the express purpose of familiarizing the Anglican worshiper with Roman ways.

THE Old Catholic Congress, at Constance, began September 12 and closed on the fourteenth. Bishop Reinkens was enthusiastically received by the people and delegates. The occasion was noticeable, as it was the four hundredth anniversary of the Council of Constance, held in remembrance for the martyrdom of Huss and Jerome. All the Old Catholic leaders were present except Dr. Dollinger, who was detained on account of ill health, and Maasen, of Vienna. The proceedings were brief, the matter being well prepared beforehand, but a summary would be of no special interest to our readers. Committees were appointed, one to have its seat at Munich, the other at Bonn, to carry on negotiations with communities and societies for union with the Old Catholic organization.

AT A CONFERENCE of Christian workers held in London recently, Rev. Narayan Sheshadri made a short address on missionary enterprise in India. He did not believe that mission work in his native country had been a failure, as some asserted. On the contrary, it had been successful beyond all expectation. What they wanted was more missionaries. He believed native missionaries would be the best, but they must first get English missionaries to teach the natives. They had only 400 missionaries at present, and that was not at all adequate for the evangelization of the 200,000,000 of India. There was a great field open for Europeans in India, and if they would only send men with their hearts in the right place, the complete evangelization of India would not be far distant.

THE Cologne Gazette prints some curious information about the Prussian church laws. If that paper is right, these laws are not an innovation introduced for the first time by the Prussian government. Prince Bismarck, on the contrary, has only applied to Prussia laws which already existed in South Germany, more especially in Wurtemberg. In that kingdom the authority of the State has been recognized as sovereign in ecclesiastical matters ever since the Reformation. When, in 1814, districts with exclusively Catholic populations were added to Wurtemberg, the same principle was applied without exciting the slightest complaint. In 1862 a law was passed by the Chambers for the better regulation of the relations of the civil power with the Catholic clergy. That law, the Cologne Gazette shows, might have served as a model for the church laws lately passed by the Prussian Diet. The State is invested with full control over the education, appointment and general behavior of the Catholic clergy. Even the clerical seminaries, which in Prussia remain under the control of the bishops, are in Wurtemberg State institutions, not only supervised, but administered by the State. The State appoints and removes ecclesiastics of every rank. The latter are amenable to the ordinary tribunals for any faults committed in the exercise of their functions, and religious corporations are forbidden unless in specially excepted cases. Yet Wurtemberg has for sixty years experienced profound religious peace, and the clergy of all churches live side by side in charity and Christian brotherhood. Even the decrees of the Vatican, though tardily recognized, have made no change. There are in the kingdom neither fanatical Ultramontanes nor Old Catholics.

RELIGIOUS toleration does not appear to mean in Turkey all that it is supposed to mean elsewhere. When the "Hatti Humaioun" of 1856 was issued by the Sultan, granting liberty of conscience and worship throughout his empire, great satisfaction at the edict was expressed throughout Christendom, and confident hopes of the evangelization of Turkey were entertained. In one sense the latter are being gradually realized, but so far as Mohammedanism itself is concerned toleration there is a myth. Rev. Dr. I. G. Bliss, of Constantinople, gives us some light on this matter in the Christian Intelligencer which throws more of a shadow than would be looked for. To the question, "Is religious liberty a bona fide fact, an actual experience of all classes in Turkey?" he answers, No. As for those out of the pale of the Koran, the government is wholly indifferent to their beliefs. The Jew may become a Christian without molestation, and the Greek become an infidel, but for a number of Moslems boldly and publicly to renounce Islamism and profess Christianity, even in the capital, would still be a hazardous move. Their heads might and probably would remain upon their shoulders, but, like all other Moslems who have within the past seventeen years embraced the Christian faith, they would be donationalized. Social and civil ostracism would be their daily experience. For Christian Turks, as such, there is no civil status, no registration. In the eye of the law they are vagabonds; there is no bureau even from which as converted Turks they can obtain passports. Very naturally such a practical negation of the Humaioun is regarded with indignity by the Christian community at Constantinople, and Dr. Bliss suggests that the subject be considered by the present conference of the Evangelical Alliance, and trusts that such action may be taken as shall direct the attention of the protecting powers to the non-fulfillment of the religious pledges of the Ottoman government.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1873.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. A. J. BRIGGS.
REV. J. W. RUSH.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. WILLIAM V. TUDOR, D. D.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

REDUCTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers hereafter at the following rates:

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year | $2 00 |
| Six Months | 1 25 |
| Three Months | 75 |

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

to all Ministers of the Gospel, traveling or local, and widows of deceased traveling preachers.

FREE ONE YEAR

to any person forwarding to us four new yearly subscribers, with EIGHT DOLLARS.

Religion and Hard Times.

The gospel seems to have been largely written for impoverished people, and the entire range of Scripture is studded with promises adapted to their peculiar circumstances. The Savior directs his discourse often to those who were under a load of anxiety concerning their temporal wants. He points his disciples to the fowls of the air and to the lilies of the field, and impresses the doctrine of a divine providence. From the prominence given to this duty of trust, and from the pains which the Savior takes to guard us against undue care about food and raiment, we might readily conjecture that his hearers were living in a time of financial panics and monetary convulsions. Such a state of things would give forcible emphasis to the prayer which he enjoins, and present his command against laying up treasures upon earth in a new light. Those who read the Sermon on the Mount during these pinching and trying days will understand many of its passages as they have never understood them before.

Christ builds up a wonderful arch of consolation, but the keystone, without which the sublime structure falls to the ground, must be supplied by ourselves. Seek first the kingdom, "and all these things shall be added unto you." There is the condition which secures the providential care, and all needed temporal good. Here is a shelter and refuge from the stormy blast, and a hiding-place from the calamities which are sweeping over the land, and we shall be able to appropriate the promise just in proportion as we put the kingdom of God and his righteousness first. The most of the prevailing troubles are due to the reversal of this divine order. Had religion been first as a governing principle, and as the object of desire and pursuit, these sufferings would not have come; and now that they have come, the way of relief is in returning to God. To the distressed and perplexed soul there is certain support, and a gracious blessing in the path of faithfulness and devotion to the service of Christ. Whatever the general cause of the prevailing distress, God will be faithful to his promises, and shield and preserve his children. Whatever else may be doubtful, this is assured; "for we know that all things work together for good to them that love God."

In times of prosperity the thought about food and raiment takes the form of desire for luxury and style and worldly display; but in such times as these thousands for the first time feel the approach and pressure of absolute want. The Savior's admonition might apply to both conditions, but he was probably talking more especially to the poor. It is to them—persecuted, stripped, impoverished, the children of misfortune—that he says: "Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or what shall we drink? or wherewithal shall we be clothed?" It is precisely where thought is most justifiable and inevitable that it is forbidden. Now many are for the first time learning this lesson of trust, and, while pride and self-indulgence are being crucified, they find that the uses of adversity are sweet. Like the disciples in the mount, they have feared to enter this cloud, but, being in it, they have found it luminous with the Father's presence, and vocal with the voice of promise. Hard times try the faith, and, we may hope, refine the character. In some instances hardness and a murmuring spirit may arise, but in the Christian heart the lesson will be generally salutary. Many will recognize it as a needed chastisement, and will see how God has broken their idols to pieces, and rebuked their worldliness and their unfaithfulness to the trust confided. They will apprehend the trial sent upon them as a rebuke, and as the means which infinite wisdom and love use to exalt and purify their faith. There is danger in wealth, and few can safely encounter the perils of unbroken prosperity. God is in this fearful convulsion, and in this unparalleled shrinkage in values, by which the loftiest fortunes and the most lowly homes are shaken. God rises up to smite and overthrow mammon, and to expose the folly of those who trust in uncertain riches, and to scourge the dishonesty and avarice of mankind. His kingdom must be first, and until men come to terms, and submit to Christ's authority, their ways will be turned upside down.

One of the most common perversions of hard times is to make it the occasion of refusing the claims of justice and the appeals of benevolence. Those who have the means are ready with the plea which the times suggests. No doubt a vast deal of dishonesty and penuriousness are masked under the general stringency. Some are only too glad to have a pretext for withholding from God, and of thus restraining the stinted performance of pious giving. The honest man will be honest in such times, and the devoted Christian will make this the occasion of devising his most liberal things. Religion in hard times is religion indeed, shining brighter in the gloom, and displaying a generous and self-denying liberality. It rises to a heroism of faith and integrity, and kindles into a glowing ardor amidst the darkness which pervades society. It is an element of light and cheerfulness, rebuking all unmanly despondency, and awakening faith and hope in the affairs and pursuits of business. There is nothing like faith in God, even for the interests of the present world. It imparts to industry and enterprise, and gives a freshness and spring to effort in adversity. Religion, more than anything else, is needed to-day to breathe life and hope into a prostrate and crippled country, and to enable men to throw off the nightmare of despondency and gloom which has settled upon them. Religion, spiritual, vivifying, purifying, could it but find a place in all our hearts and homes, would "strengthen the weak hands and confirm the feeble knees," and do far more than financial or political expedients to restore prosperity to our troubled land.

A Stir Among Churchmen.

There were some grave and most perilous irregularities committed at the meeting of the Evangelical Alliance in New York. Some Baptists were so forgetful of their sacred duty and obligations as to unite with other Christians at the Lord's table. The most astounding and unpardonable thing of all, however, was the course of the Dean of Canterbury in assisting at the holy communion, in a Presbyterian "meeting-house." Bishop Cummins, and some other Low Churchmen, committed the same unpardonable sin, but for the Dean of Canterbury, the very pink and perfection of Anglican dignity and eminence, to come poaching upon the premises of the Bishop of New York, and setting such a fearfully demoralizing example to American prelacy, is positively shocking and unendurable. A Bishop Tozer, all the way from Zanzibar, protested against it at the time, and Bishop Potter, of New York, somewhat later, adds his testimony against this heinous breach of courtesy and church order. The Methodist notices the affair in the following terms:

Bishop Potter has written a letter to the Evening Post, of this city, in which he shows that he is bound up in the same narrow formula as his co-bishop of Zanzibar. He sees in the beautiful and fraternal act of the Dean of Canterbury only a piece of discourtesy. The spectacle of Christian fellowship stirs no pleasurable emotion in him; he dwells only on the canonical irregularity of communion with Presbyterians and Baptists.

To our minds there is something very small in all this. It continually reminds us of the old Pharisees. Their great trouble was that Jesus was irregular. He healed men on the Sabbath; he consorted with publicans and sinners; he did not belong to their set; he was not a scribe, nor was he a Pharisee. They saw nothing of good in his sweet charity, his self-sacrifice, his patience and his works. Their eyes were closed to everything but the fact that he did not follow their customs.

Bishop Potter is a courteous gentleman and a laborious preacher, but it seems to us that he and all who think with him revive again the Pharisaic spirit. To them piety, love and the fruits of godly living are nothing; if Christians in whom all such fruits appear are without the pale of apostolic succession, they are schismatics, who destroy the unity of the body of Christ.

The age, as Bishop Potter will find, has outgrown this narrowness. Nor will the Christian world consent to be hemmed in by it much longer. The longing for more perfect fellowship will not be stifled; and if canons are in the way of its gratification, then so much the worse for the canons. The London Times has recently said that modern common sense cannot appreciate these factitious distinctions set up by Anglicanism. It will judge men by their lives, and will infer that a church is a true church if it builds its members up in piety, and blesses the world.

Bishop Potter answers the justification of the Dean of Canterbury from the example of Dean Alford in a curious way:

"Besides, the case of Dean Alford can hardly be a precedent for the case of the present Dean of Canterbury, for in one important respect they are not parallel. Dean Alford did indeed exercise his ministry at Berlin in a way not easy to be reconciled with his ordinary vows, and so far the cases are parallel. But Dean Alford did not carry his irregularities into the diocese of a sister church, in disregard of the well-known order of that church—irregularities which, in form if not in intention, would have been a discourtesy toward the Bishop of that diocese. At Berlin there was no sister church in communion with the Anglican Church, and consequently no injury to any such church. The case of the Dean of Canterbury in the city of New York was a very different one. I do not wish to dwell upon it; but I am not in the least surprised that Bishop Tozer felt constrained to disavow all sympathy with it; and I think he need feel no concern at the way in which he has been assailed (not in your paper, but in other quarters) for his manly letter—a letter which it is well known first found its way into print not by design, but by accident."

Here is the territorial idea once more. Dr. Adams' church is in Bishop Potter's diocese, and the Dean of Canterbury cannot, with propriety, follow out his fraternal impulses in the city of New York. On the other hand, it may be said that the dean is not under Bishop Potter's jurisdiction, and is not answerable to him for his conduct. He has his rights as a Christian, which are quite as valid as Bishop Potter's claims as a bishop. The act which has called out these animadversions will, we hope, be a precedent for many others of a like kind.

Death and Burial of Bishop Early.

Rev. William E. Judkins, pastor of the Southern Methodist Church at Lynchburg, Virginia, writes to the Richmond Christian Advocate of the last hours of Bishop Early. We quote as follows:

As I informed you by telegraph, our venerable and beloved Bishop Early died on Wednesday morning, November 5, 1873, at a quarter to nine o'clock. Had he lived until the first of next January he would have been eighty-eight years old. He retained his consciousness to the last, and only lost the power of speech a short time before his death. About five minutes before he died he took my hand in his, and whispered a sentence in my ear, but so faintly I could not understand it.

For the past month he had been declining; but frequently during that time would so rally that we thought he might remain with us for several months more. A sudden change, however, took place early in the week, and it became evident that he must soon leave us. As was anticipated, his end was peaceful. He came slowly down to the Jordan of death, but the step of every week showed the consciousness of a Savior's loving presence, making him calm, cheerful and strong in faith.

At times (as he told me a week or two before his death) he had precious and glorious anticipations of his heavenly home, and the reunions there to be realized.

It has been my privilege, as the pastor of his family this year, to be with him very often—to see him at all hours, and under the varied alternations of comparative bodily health and comfort, and great suffering. In all and through all he exhibited an unshaken faith in God, and a spirit of complete resignation. He regarded his whole Christian life as a work of preparation for death, and so spoke of it but a few nights before he died in terms that showed his prospects unclouded.

His death produced a profound impression upon this community. He had owned a home here, and had virtually been a citizen of this city for fifty years. His character, so singularly unique and so strikingly original, had deeply impressed itself upon his fellow-citizens.

Respect had blended with esteem, and ripened into veneration for him. To strength of opinion and fearlessness in its expression he had so uniformly added evidence of integrity and high-mindedness as a Christian that all classes, however different in their opinions, had learned to cherish him as a man, as a patriot, as a Christian, and as a faithful minister of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

The result was that when he left us the public sentiment testified a great and good man had fallen, and we were bereaved.

The accompanying editorial from one of our daily journals and kindred ones from others, together with varied other expressions given, will serve to reveal the sense of this community upon the occasion of his death. The general closing of business houses upon the occasion of his funeral in response to the suggestions of the editors of our three daily papers and the recommendation of the mayor of the city, the closing of the postoffice, and the adjournment of our Circuit Court by Judge Wingfield—all in honor of his memory—but serve to reveal the estimate in which he was held by all, and the tender respect felt for him.

His funeral obsequies furnished another attestation of this deep and widespread esteem for our venerable Bishop. They took place yesterday (Friday morning) in Court Street church. The day was exceedingly inclement, a heavy rain falling, and yet a large congregation, composed of old and young, and all classes of our people, were present to pay their last tribute of respect to him. The church was heavily draped in mourning, and all the resident pastors of our sister churches (save one detained by sickness), together with our own visiting ministers, and the boards of stewards of Court Street and Centenary churches, acted as pall-bearers. Revs. H. B. Cowles, William H. Christian, Dr. James A. Duncan, Robert N. Sledd, A. G. Brown and the undersigned conducted the funeral services. Other brethren were present, and we regretted that more, yourself among the number, could not have been with us. The occasion was an impressive one, and we trust its lessons will be of lasting good to all present.

Jesuitical Artfulness.

Under this head the Christian Intelligencer utters a note of warning to those Protestant parents who may be so criminally foolish or stupid as to send their children to Roman Catholic schools. There may be some in these parts who have allowed themselves to be led into the artful trap which has been set to seduce their children from the Protestant faith. Good Protestant schools are generally within reach of our people, and we know of no circumstances which, to our mind, would justify sending to Catholic institutions. Unless you wish your children to be imbued with the errors of Romanism, give their schools a wide berth, and patronize only those in which the religious teaching is safe, and in accordance with a pure and spiritual Christianity. The Intelligencer says:

Parents cannot be too often reminded of the perils which certainly attend the education of their children when it is intrusted to Roman Catholics. These astute religionists would compass heaven and earth to make one proselyte, and their aim at this hour in the United States is especially directed to the perversion to their faith of the daughters of Protestants. These are to be the future mothers of America; and, knowing the power of mothers to control the belief of their children, the Romanists are putting forth all their arts to get them within the sphere of their influence. With characteristic craft they do not publish their designs, for then Protestant parents would be on their guard. But they push on their plans quietly, unobtrusively, almost imperceptibly. Their favorite method just at this time is to entice Protestant parents to send their children to Romish academies, which have been sedulously established all over the land, and are surrounded by attractive allurements and inducements. Fine buildings, delightful locations, reduced terms, brilliant surroundings, the promise of superior accomplishment in elegant branches, select pupils—these are among the blandishments which are relied upon to entrap unwary parents. And in their efforts the wily priests are aided by Roman Catholic ladies, who are earnest devotees and hold a distinguished position in society. Nothing is said of the religious bias that will be instilled. That is cautiously kept in the background until the young girl is within the circle of their influence, when all their arts of Jesuitical cunning are exercised to meld her to their superstitious faith. We have lying before us a circular of an academy of this kind, signed by a number of Roman Catholic ladies and gentlemen, some of the latter holding a distinguished position in the army, the navy and in civil life, which, we fear, will entrap some unwary Protestant parents, who think more of social advantages than of the faith once delivered to the saints. So far as is in our power, we would neutralize this evil by warning our friends to beware of the hidden and great dangers of these Romish seminaries. Let them remember that Rome never sleeps, and that she is now bending all her craft and energy to control the education of the future women of our land. For this she will spare no cost nor effort, and will avail of every art and subterfuge. We earnestly urge Protestant parents to see to it that their daughters are not placed under these dangerous influences. Tastes, modes of thought, beliefs and superstitions will be implanted in their minds by Romish preceptors and matrons which will ineradicably color their whole lives. Rome knows that there is no devotee like a woman, and that a woman secured in her toils is the first link in an endless chain, which stretches over generations that are yet unborn.

Settled Points.

The New York Observer, speaking of the Alliance, says:

Three questions long disputed in this country were settled by the acts of distinguished members of the Evangelical Alliance. We emphasize them, because we regard them of great value in guiding public sentiment in this country. 1. The regular Baptists, and the most learned and able of their members, represented by Dr. Angus, commune in the Lord's Supper with other denominations. 2. Episcopacy, represented by the Dean of Canterbury, Bishop Cummins and others, recognizes the ministerial rights and character of the clergy of other denominations. 3. Presbyterian ministers, like Drs. Paxton, Hall and Adams, receive Episcopal clergymen into their pulpits, and to assist in the administration of sacraments in their congregations.

Perhaps it is too much to assume that these points are settled except as regards some of the most eminent representatives of the churches mentioned, but a good beginning has been made for the spiritual unity which all good men should desire. This is the mission of the Evangelical Alliance, and we believe that a mighty impetus has been given to this truly great Christian consummation. No greater calamity could befall the world than for all Christians to be brought under one vast ecclesiastical organization. The very life and purity of Christianity depends largely upon the maintenance of separate denominational forms and corporations. The true idea of unity is spiritual, and consists in rejecting, as essential, any distinctive outward polity.

Go or Send.

We have received our Sunday school periodicals for December. The Visitor is the brightest and most interesting of the year—a most delightful and welcome visiter indeed. The Little People is also sprightly and fresh and sweet as sunbeams and flowers. The Magazine is full of strong meat, and most helpful to our Sunday school teachers. Dr. Haygood amplifies and magnifies the subject of missions. We quote a few paragraphs to the point under the significant head, Go or Send:

The duty is personal—I must go or send. The Lord's words are not addressed to the church as a great body simply—speaking only to its General Conferences, to its mission boards or other such bodies. It is individual. Whoever has been partaker of the blessings of salvation must do "as much as in him is" to bring others to a knowledge of the truth. If his own salvation were the only question, God would make it sure by taking him out of the world as soon as converted. But he is to do good; therefore he continues to live.

If there were no General Conference or Missionary Board, each Christian would be bound by the great commission. But organization multiplies power without diluting individual responsibility. Some are "called" to "go"—preaching Christ to the heathen. Let them obey. It is fearful to resist a call of God. The great majority are not called to go, but they are "called" to "send."

Yes, called to send! Not by the preacher who takes up the collection, but by Christ Jesus, who is "head over all things to the church," and who has "all power in heaven and in earth," who called and sent the preacher.

To refuse to give, to send the gospel to the heathen, is to disobey Christ.

Some do this ignorantly; they are to be pitied and enlightened. Some do it who know their duty; they commit sin, and should be exhorted to repentance.

Many who repent may get to heaven who have never done anything to evangelize the heathen world, but no Christian does his duty to Christ who fails either to go or send.

Conference Items.

WEST ST. LOUIS CONFERENCE.

The West St. Louis Conference held its session at Springfield, Missouri, October 1-7. Bishop Wightman presided. W. M. Prottsman, as usual, was secretary. We have already published an account of this interesting session. From the Bishop's minutes we learn that there were 2 admitted on trial, 7 into full connection, 6 readmitted, 4 received by transfer, 2 discontinued, 5 traveling preachers elected and ordained deacons, 3 local preachers elected and 4 ordained deacons, 4 traveling preachers elected and ordained elders, 5 local elected and 7 ordained, 4 located, 6 superannuated. White members, 13,937—increase, 505; colored, 20—decrease, 6; local preachers, 127—increase, 2. Baptized: infants, 344—last year, 417; adults, 1,066—last year, 811. Sunday schools, 106—last year, 105; teachers, 661—last year, 705; scholars, 5,045—last year, 5,449. Why this decrease? Necessary for claimants, $2,200—last year, $2,200; collected, $1,171.19—last year, $1,599.90. For missions, no report—the secretary will please furnish the figures. Next session at Lexington, Missouri.

INDIAN MISSION CONFERENCE.

Tahlequah entertained the Conference handsomely. Preaching was kept up every afternoon and evening at the Female Seminary, Orphan Asylum and the church, or hall, in the town. The congregations were large and attentive. The chief and the superintendents of the schools gave us cordial invitations, and made our services pleasant and agreeable. The Orphan Asylum is one of the grand enterprises of the Cherokee Nation. About ninety children, male and female, are here fed, clothed and educated at the expense of the Nation. The Rev. Walter A. Duncan, a native—a man of ability—is at the head of this institution. He is a member of the Conference, and has the confidence and esteem of all who know him. In the chapel we held services on Sunday, and, notwithstanding the morning was cloudy and the rain was coming down, there were large congregations in the forenoon and afternoon. The Bishop gave us a real gospel sermon in the morning, which was followed by a collection for missions, which amounted in cash and pledges to more than $250. Well done for the Indian Mission Conference! The secretary preached in the afternoon; at the close of the sermon the Bishop ordained three Choctaws and one white man deacons in the church of God. The Bishop and myself found a delightful home at the house of Mr. J. W. Stapler, a merchant of Tahlequah. Mrs. Stapler, who is a daughter of Elijah Hicks, a celebrated Cherokee chief who has gone to the spirit-land, is a cultivated lady, and deeply devoted to the cause of Christ. She is at the head of a Sunday school in Tahlequah, and is exerting a happy influence on the rising generation. There is much harmony and good feeling among the different denominations, while each preserves its individuality. My visit to the Nation has been very pleasant, and I hope the session of the Conference will result in much good.

Conference adjourned this day at ten o'clock A. M.

J. B. McFERRIN.

TAHLEQUAH, Cherokee Nation, Oct. 21, 1873.

Transferred.—James Y. Bryce, to Trinity Conference; George R. Bryce, to Northwest Texas Conference.

Delegates to the General Conference.—Clerical: John Harrell, J. H. Walker. Reserve: W. A. Duncan. Laymen: G. B. Hester, J. F. Thompson. Reserve: E. H. Culbertson.

WESTERN CONFERENCE.

The statistics of the Western Conference, just forwarded to us by Bro. Warren, the secretary, show that there are 2,993 white members, being an increase of 246; and 30 local preachers, being an increase of 8 in that Conference. The total number of members and local preachers reported the other day was erroneously stated to be 2,823. We request our brethren, who have the statistics in charge, to be as careful as possible to keep from mistakes.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

Alabama Conference.

MR. EDITOR: Since sending my special notice to the members of the Alabama Conference I have learned that the Montgomery and Eufaula road will sell to members of the Conference round-trip tickets for one fare. These must be procured or full fare will be charged. No certificate of the president or secretary of the Conference will be recognized. From present indications the attendance at Conference will be large. If any brethren do not intend to come I will be obliged to them to inform me promptly. Truly yours,

M. S. ANDREWS.

SELMA, ALA., November 15, 1873.

Send the Money.

Last winter the preachers (or many of them) of the Louisiana Conference, in view of the fact that the missionary drafts largely exceeded the funds on hand, promised to take their collections early, and remit to Bro. Harp, of the Depository. Bro. Harp has paid some of the drafts and advanced on others, but no money has been forwarded by the preachers. It is only six weeks to Conference, but that is a long time under present circumstances. If your missionary collections have been taken, please remit to Bro. R. J. Harp, 112 Camp street, without delay.

The Cuban Difficulty.

The capture of the Virginius, and the execution of her passengers and crew by the Spanish authorities of Cuba, has created a strong feeling of indignation throughout the country. The cruel and bloodthirsty character of the Spaniards seems to be inveterate, and is perhaps the joint product of the old Moorish wars, the bull-fight and the Inquisition. It would seem to be an opportune time to intervene in Cuban affairs, and the United States government may take decided steps in this direction on the meeting of Congress. We believe, however, that war with Spain is not considered imminent.

OUR BROTHER, Rev. J. B. A. Ahrens, has been greatly afflicted in the loss of one of his children, and also in the death of his father, who recently died in Germany. Bro. Rabe furnishes us with the following notice. May God sustain our brother and sister in their bereavement.

Died, on the twenty-fourth of October, 1873, after a painful and lingering illness, at the age of two years, seven months and twenty-four days, Charles August Ahrens, youngest son of Rev. J. B. A. Ahrens.

In addition to this sad bereavement, Bro. Ahrens received intelligence that his father, Henry Ahrens, too, had died in Germany, on the sixteenth of October, 1873, thus preceding his little grandson only by a few days to the home of the blessed.

REV. F. L. B. SHAVER, of Clayton, Alabama, writing November 12, says:

Our camp meeting at Wilkie's camp ground, embracing the fourth Sabbath in September, was greatly blessed of the Lord. From seventy-five to one hundred conversions, it was supposed, and fifty joined our church. Thank the Lord for his great goodness.

My health has been very feeble ever since that time—my vision imperfect, my physician forbidding me to read or write. I can only pray and think and suffer, and look upward to that blessed clime where the inhabitants shall no more say: I am sick.

BISHOP KEENER left home on Monday, the seventeenth instant, for Virginia. He is to preside at the Virginia Conference, which meets at Norfolk, November 26, and at the North Carolina Conference, which meets at Goldsboro, December 10. The Bishop expects to be at home again by Christmas.

DANGEROUSLY ILL.—Mr. Editor: It is with deep sadness that we are compelled to chronicle the fact that the venerable S. F. Pilley is at this time dangerously ill; in fact the least hope of his recovery is without any foundation whatever. May God prepare his family and the church for this stroke. J. L. SKIPPER.

GEORGIANA, ALA., November 12, 1873.

In Memoriam.

Henry F. Given was born in Salem, Kentucky, July 7, 1811, and died October 13, 1873, in this city (New Orleans,) where he had resided since early manhood. He had been a member of the Methodist Church for about thirty-five years. He considered that his greatest dignity was the office of class-leader. His love for the class meeting was a passion. As a steward of Carondelet Street church for very many years he displayed exemplary faithfulness. He loved God; he loved the church. His extraordinary energy in business was an equal zeal in the service of God, and of all the interests of the church. His Sunday afternoons especially were usually spent in visiting the sick, the suffering and the poor. He carried with him in these visits a generous sympathy, a spirit of prayer and a large beneficence, that brought relief, consolation and joy into many a dwelling. He had a deep experience of divine things, which betokened a man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost. He was ever ready with his testimony for Jesus before the congregation, and the fervor of his public prayer was contagious. His life illustrated the man of Christian faith, hope and charity, so that in act and prayer, as well as in word, he bore witness to the truth. He had set his heart on heaven, and in due time God took him.

His death was sudden. He had scarcely more than time for the last farewell and the last blessing upon his family and friends, and with a few words of "Jesus, lover of my soul," upon his lips, he passed to Jesus' bosom; the fond husband, the fond father, the beloved friend, the man of God was no more on earth. An elect lady, one of Bro. Given's dearest and dearest friends, writes me as follows:

"His memory will ever be cherished in my heart, and the influence of his teachings has been to lead me nearer to God. Last Sabbath morning he was very much blessed in the class meeting while speaking of the goodness of God; so much so as to cause him to clap his hands and shout aloud, until his soul became so full of his joy was too big for utterance, and the thought crossed my mind that Bro. Given was fast ripening for glory. Speaking of the burdens of life, God could have removed the burden; but he did better—he gathered him with his own strong arm, and took him from under the burden, bore him across the flood and planted him among the ransomed saints."

W. V. TUDOR.

NEW ORLEANS, October 31, 1873.

Publisher's Department.

Acknowledgments of Letters and Funds

RECEIVED BY MAIL,

For the Week Ending Nov. 15, 1873.

[illegible]-American News Company two letters, N. W. [illegible] son, D. Appleton & Co. two letters, Mrs. [illegible] Armitage, Alexander Agar, A. F. Andre.

[illegible]-Boram & Pease, Briggs & Barker, E. M. Reed [illegible]ters $3.00, L. Baruhart, E. C. Bridgeman two [illegible]16, J. W. Boswell two letters $1.75, Bigelow [illegible]wn two letters, A. Britton, J. W. Burke & Co., [illegible] Bishop $17, H. P. Bowen, Barclay & Co., J. [illegible]man, J. H. Butler & Co., J. B. Hart & Co.

[illegible]-Cark & Seyman, Baxter Clegg, S. Collins & [illegible]daston, Remsen & Haffelfinger two letters, [illegible]rter & Bros., Nelson Chism.

[illegible]-Dodd & Mead, D. Dick & Co., M. A. Davis & [illegible]& L. F. Dowdell, H. P. Hart, J. T. Davies two [illegible]$1.75, A. H. Drake, G. O. Daniel, A. Y. Dahl, R. Downs & Co., A. M. L. Douglass.

[illegible]-J. A. Evans, A. T. Edwards.

[illegible]-John Flinn $15, D. W. Foster, Patrick Farrell, E. N. Freshman.

[illegible]-Graves & Swift $89.55, Gardner Manufacturing, Gould & Lincoln, Green & Cater, Charles Galloway, Garny & Rogers two letters, W. G. [illegible]

[illegible]-Robert Hoe & Co., John J. Harper $11.50, W. [illegible]Hunnicutt, E. Hicks, B. D. Harrison $2, H. [illegible]es.

[illegible]-rson, Blakeman, Taylor & Co.

[illegible]-H. F. Johnson three letters $50, George Jackson, J. Joyce $18.20.

[illegible]-J. L. King, H. & G. Kessler $12.

[illegible]-J. B. Lippincott & Co., E. L. Loveless, R. P. [illegible]$23, Leavitt, Allen & Bro., Lee, Shepard & [illegible]Dane two letters, William H. Leith $2, H. A. [illegible]188, C. C. Langdon $11.81, W. E. M. Lindsay, M. Livermun, H. B. Lewis, L. M. Loewenthal, J. P. Lynch $5.

[illegible]-J. C. Meadows, A. H. Moss, H. H. Montgomery, J. A. Mayes $11.25, A. D. Martin $1.25, Charles [illegible]$10, Alexander Mills, J. Moore $28.55, [illegible]-W. P. Nimmo, Norris & Co., W. R. Norton, [illegible]as Nelson & Sons.

[illegible]-James Drumond three letters, W. D. Owen 10 [illegible]William Otis $1.

[illegible]-I. V. Pohlter, Porter & Bainbridge, J. R. Pal[illegible]& Co. $10.33, J. S. Parker, Powers Paper Company two letters, S. M. Pettengill & Co., Patt, [illegible]& Co.

[illegible]-I. W. Queen & Co.

[illegible]-Redding & Co. $7, Robinson & Withers, W. J. [illegible]. A. H. Redford three letters, A. Riser, [illegible]e & Sons, J. K. Randall three letters $50.

[illegible]-E. R. Strickland, W. W. Sharp & Co., W. J. [illegible]ry, Scribner, Welford & Co. two letters, J. E. [illegible], George M. Smith & Co., R. A. Smith, Jas. [illegible], J. L. Skipper $6.50, F. L. B. Shaver.

[illegible]-Thompson.

[illegible]-J. P. Underwood $3.75.

[illegible]-W. L. Williman, T. J. Worthy, John Wilkinson, G. R. Wilson, J. Woodbridge two letters, [illegible]Whitten, Western Methodist Book Concern, [illegible]Worthington & Co., A. C. Wilkinson.

CIVIL ENGINEER.—In another column will be found the card of Prof. C. O. Forshey, civil engineer, who has an extensive reputation in Louisiana and the Mississippi valley, and has the advantage of many years' close application to the practical as well as theoretical duties of his profession. Those interested may find him at the Academy of Science rooms, 24 Baronne street.

WILLIAM E. COOPER & Co., No. [illegible] street, agents of the Singer sewing machine, are in receipt of the November Metropolitan, containing all the winter fashions. Our lady readers will always find at Cooper's a full assortment of the celebrated Butterick & Co.'s paper patterns. Each pattern warranted to fit.

SELLES, 161 POYDRAS STREET.—Selles, the tailor man is now offering a fine assortment of cloths and shoes at prices to suit the dull times. His intention to close business on the first of January, and for that reason he is offering bargains such cannot be had again.

WESTERN PRODUCE AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.—To purchasers of corn, oats, bran, hay, etc., we commend the advertisement of Messrs. M. J. & D. D. O'Brien, No. 32 Peters street. Deserve a call.

PATENTS.—To those who are interested in patents, copyrights, trade-marks, etc., we call the advertisement of Messrs. John Wedderheim & Co., of Philadelphia, to be found in our columns.

A TEACHER advertises in this issue. A paper for a situation in some institution of learning. He is worthy and competent, and would be a valuable accession to some institution.

CURTIS.—A very useful thing to farmers and householders generally is the Chicago Fruit Pump. See advertisement of Mr. R. S. Curtis in this issue.

PULMONIC SIRUP.—We have once more tried the remedy advertised elsewhere as Pulmonic Sirup, and believe it to be a good and innocent.

GENERAL GRANGE AGENCY.—In another column will be found the advertisement of Messrs. Harrington & Co., who have been elected by the Mississippi State Grange as their purchasing agents and cotton factors for this port. They solicit the business of other granges, as well as producers in general, throughout the South and West. They have been solicited by the executive committees of some of the Western State granges to act for their granges, and we trust they will be able to concentrate a large Western trade. They may be relied on for honesty, fairness and faithfulness to any interests intrusted to their care. Their office is at 79 Carondelet street.

EXTENSIVE UPHOLSTERERS.—We are glad to see the establishment of our worthy neighbors, Messrs. Heath & Lara, enlarged to double its former size. We have seen for several years past that their business was thriving, and felt that they deserved to succeed. The present enlargement is a legitimate development of their trade through close attention to business, fairness in dealing with their customers and the reasonableness of their prices. Their large storerooms are filled with an elegant assortment of goods in their line, and is an honor to the street. Call at No. 99 Camp street and see for yourselves.

METAIRIE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.—It will be seen, by reference to our advertising columns, that a new cemetery is to be opened, and that lots are now being sold at No. 21 Carondelet street. The name of W. S. Pike, appearing as president of the association, is a guarantee of good management and success, and to all who have known Mr. Pike as long as we have the fact that the affairs of the association are conducted under the auspices of his presidency will have much weight.

THE mammoth piano and organ warerooms of L. Grunewald, at Nos. 18, 20 and 22 Baronne street, is one of the attractions of the city. Mr. Grunewald deserves credit for building up one of the largest and most successful establishments in his line to be found in the South. Those interested are referred to his advertisement.

THE most effective cough sirup in the world is the New Louisiana Remedy for Throat and Lung Complaints. This is the verdict of the people. Examine the immense mass of evidence, steadily increasing, at the depot, 108 Camp street, New Orleans, for yourself. The Life Tonic, for the appetite, dyspepsia, chills, etc., is peerless. Sold by druggists everywhere. au29 4t

SOUPS of all kinds are much improved by the addition of a dessertspoonful of the famous Unilbri Leicestershire Table Sauce. If you will try this recipe you will no more go without the Halford than without the soup. no13 4t

COLGATE & Co.'s new perfume for the handkerchief, "CASHMERE BOUQUET," will be appreciated by all who have enjoyed the delicate and peculiar fragrance of their toilet soap of the same name, which is so universally popular. jet2 ty

BUSINESS NOTICES.

MRS. M. G. BROWN'S METAPHYSICAL DISCOVERY kills the root of all disease—Deafness, Baldness, Blindness, Catarrh, etc. Three preparations form the Metaphysical Discovery, which enters the system through the Eyes, Ears and Scalp. No drugs through the mouth. Price, $1, $3.50 and $6. Sold by Frederickson & Harte, 139 Canal street, and E. J. Hart & Co., 73 to 79 Tchoupitoulas street, New Orleans, and by druggists generally; or will be sent to any address, on receipt of price, from the Metaphysical University, 1 Bond street, New York, where please inclose stamp for pamphlet. 1y29 fryosw

NO PAY If Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment does not cure, when first taken, cholera, diarrhœa, dysentery, croup, colic and sea-sickness. Taken internally, warranted perfectly harmless. (See oath accompanying each bottle.) For chronic rheumatism, sore throats, mumps, bruises, old sores, pains in the limbs, back and chest. Externally, this Liniment has been warranted for over twenty-six years, and not one bottle returned. Many families have used it for years, and state that if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. oc23 1t

HAMILTON'S preparation of Buchu and Dandelion cures that most distressing malady, Piles, by increasing the digestive function of the stomach, and by securing a proper secretion and excretion of bile for the lubrication of the bowels. This prevents constipation, and constipation is the immediate cause of Piles. There is common sense in this treatment. Go to Frederickson & Harte's or E. J. Hart & Co.'s drug stores and tell them you want Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion. They can tell you all about the remedy, and sell it to you also. oc2 2m

PIERSON & HEWS, fine Clothing, Shirts and Furnishing Goods, 113 and 115 Camp street, opposite City Hotel, New Orleans, Louisiana. We invite visitors from the interior to examine our stock and prices. We claim to sell first-class goods as low as can be afforded and live. We sell the celebrated Shontder-Seam Shirts, warranted to fit, wear and give satisfaction. Liberal deduction made to Clergymen, and their trade solicited. fe27 ty

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, New York.

Assets ..... $21,000,000
Income ..... 11,000,000

Branch office—33 CAMP STREET.

A. P. CLEVELAND,
fe13 1y General Agent.

BEST AND OLDEST FAMILY MEDICINE.—SANFORD'S LIVER INVIGORATOR, a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic, for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debility, Sick Headache, Bilious Attacks and all derangements of liver, stomach and bowels. Ask your druggist for it. Beware of imitations. no27 tyeow

$57.60.—Agents' profits per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHIDESTER, 267 Broadway, New York. oc22 1m

IF YOU TRAVEL East, West, North or South, take a package of Simmons' Liver Regulator. Prepared only by J. H. Zeilin & Co., Macon, Georgia. no2 1t

WE ADVISE those wanting to buy carriages, buggies or harness not to do so until they examine H. M. Rollingsworth's stock, at 54 and 56 Baronne street. oc2 6mesw

TEN DOLLARS A DAY.—Employment for all. Patent Novelties. GEORGE L. FOX, 119 Nassau street, New York. oc9 ot

REMOVAL.—New Orleans Stencil Works, to 62 Gravier street. oct5 6t

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

E. HEATH. E. LARA.

HEATH & LARA,

Importers and Dealers in

UPHOLSTERERS' GOODS, WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,

Mirrors, Frames, Molding and Wire Screens,

No. 99 Camp Street,

no29 1y New Orleans.

M. J. & D. D. O'BRIEN,

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

AND

DEALERS IN CORN, OATS, BRAN AND HAY

32 Peters St. (late New Levee.)

no20 2m New Orleans.

JULIUS LOEFFLER,

GAS FITTER AND DEALER IN GAS FIXTURES, ETC.,

No. 43 Royal Street,

Between Customhouse and Bienville streets,

no20 3m New Orleans.

C. G. FORSHEY,

CONSULTING ENGINEER,

Academy of Science Rooms,

24 BARONNE STREET,

no20 2m New Orleans.

MRS. LYNCH,

DRESS AND CHARMAKER,

180 ..... Canal Street ..... 180

Between Baronne and Dryades streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ Patterns for sale. no20 2m

MARCY'S SCIOPTICON

With Improved and Cheapened

MAGIC LANTERN SLIDES.

For Homes, S. Schools and Lectures must it is unrivalled. Brilliant and easy to show. Circulars Free. Catalogues 10 cts. SCIOPTICON MANUAL, Revised Ed. 50 cts.

L. J. MARCY, 1310 Chestnut St., Philadelphia no20 4t

WANTED.

A graduate of the Virginia Military Institute desires a situation in a College or other institution of learning. For information address

REV. R. J. HARP,
New Orleans Christian Advocate Office,
no29 1m No. 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

W. HARRINGTON & CO.,

GENERAL GRANGE AGENCY,

—AND—

COTTON FACTORS,

NO. 79 CARONDELET STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The undersigned, having been elected by the Mississippi State Grange as their Purchasing Agents and Cotton Factors for this port, would respectfully inform the Granges of the State of Arkansas who deal in this market that we will take pleasure in serving their interests to the best of our ability. Our terms of business are the same as those of your Agency in the city of Memphis.

Parties desiring to purchase in this market can do so, when cotton is in hand, with from thirty to sixty days' indulgence.

We are endeavoring, in Sugars, Molasses, Rice and Coffee, to control the patronage of the Western States, which will give us unusual advantages in this market.

ALL ORDERS FILLED

—AT—

WHOLESALE PRICES.

Orders must be under the seal of the Grange. We respectfully solicit your attention, and all business intrusted to our care will receive our best attention.

no29 6m W. HARRINGTON & CO.

FREE! ..... FREE! ..... FREE!

50,000

BUTTERICK & CO.'S

CATALOGUES of WINTER FASHIONS

Just received and ready for distribution,

FREE!

THE METROPOLITAN,

published monthly, and containing all the Latest Novelties in Dress, at $2 a year, or 25 cents for single copy.

A full and complete assortment of BUTTERICK & CO.'s celebrated PAPER PATTERNS always on hand. Send for catalogue. Address

WM. P. COOPER, Agent,
89 Canal Street.

METAIRIE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.

METAIRIE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION,
No. 21 Carondelet St., New Orleans, Nov. 6, 1873.

We will be prepared, on and after the 15th of November, to offer for sale LOTS in this Cemetery. We respectfully invite the public to visit the grounds, which are now partly finished and in rapid course of completion.

We also invite parties wishing to secure Lots to call either on the undersigned or at the office of the company, and examine the plans of the grounds, which will afford to owners of Lots and their families a beautifully-shelled carriage-drive of over five miles in extent within its inclosure.

It is the purpose of the Association to so improve and ornament this Cemetery as to make it equal, in point of beauty, to any in this country.

The prices of Lots will be about the same per superficial foot as if sold by other cemeteries in this city.

W. S. PIKE.
no29 tus Prest. Metairie Cemetery Association.

GOOD NEWS ..... GOOD NEWS

FROM OUR

UPPER CITY BLUE SHOE STORE,

No. 578 Magazine Street, New Orleans.

MR. PHILLIPS, formerly with the house of Messrs. Glynn & Whitz, having recently taken charge of my department for the manufacture of

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES,

will be happy to meet his old friends and customers, satisfied of his ability to convince them that in quality of material, excellence and taste of workmanship, and reasonableness of price, his stock is unsurpassed in the city. Also Men's and Boys' HATS and TRUNKS.

no29 1m LOUIS GIMBEL, Agent.

SHERMAN HOUSE,

FOR. CLARK AND RANDOLPH STS.,

Chicago, Illinois.

C. S. MUNSON, MANAGER.

This splendid Hotel, rebuilt on its former site was thrown open for the reception of guests April 10. Its exterior is grand and imposing, its appointments unique and magnificent throughout, and its management unsurpassed. jy10 1y

SCHOOL-DAY MAGAZINE.

Eighteenth year. The CHEAPEST and BEST Young Folks' Magazine published. A fine $2 ENGRAVING FREE to every subscriber. Good PAY to Agents. Send a three-cent stamp for specimen and "tools" to work with. Address the publishers,

J. W. DAUGHADAY & CO.,
136 Walnut street,
no29 4t Philadelphia, Pa.

CONSTANT'S PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY, No. 21 HOSPITAL ST., bet. Old Levee and Chartres. Being the successors of the above establishment, which we have had in charge for the last five years, we are prepared to do all work in the line of PHOTOGRAPHY—Photographs, Porcelains, Crayons, India Ink, Water or Oil Paintings, either from life or copy. Enlargement from small to life size. All work intrusted to us will be neatly executed at very moderate prices.

no29 2m EMHAFER & SIMON.

THE NEW

SUNDAY SCHOOL SONG BOOK,

ROYAL DIADEM,

CONTAINS

HYMNS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED

TO

THE INTERNATIONAL LESSONS

FOR 1873 AND 1874.

Together with an INDEX prepared for the convenience of Superintendents and Choristers.

☞ Provision is made for Every Lesson.

ROYAL DIADEM

is sold by the leading booksellers all over the world.

Retail price, 35 cents; $30 per 100 copies.

☞ Ask your bookseller for it.

BIGLOW & MAIN, Publishers,
Successors to Wm. B. Bradbury, no6 4teow New York and Chicago.

BULBS! SEEDS! FOR Autumn CATALOGUE OF

Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocus, Lilies, Etc.,

—IS NOW READY,

and will be mailed FREE to all applicants. We desire every lover of Flowers to write us for a copy. Our assortment of Vegetable and Flower SEEDS is complete, and growing our own Seeds, and importing from reliable sources, we know that our Seeds are pure and true. Correspondence solicited. Address

KERN, STEREN & CO.,
Seed Growers and Merchants,
oc23 3m No. 21 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

NOTICE TO

PLANTERS AND MILLERS.

A Licensed Engineer of twenty years' experience desires employment. Practical, alert, sober and honest. Address

ENGINEER,
no29 1t No. 181 Carondelet street.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A GOOD CHANCE TO

EDUCATE YOUR DAUGHTERS.

The undersigned offers his small FARM AND RESIDENCE for rent or sale on reasonable terms. It is situated one mile east of the Depot, and just outside the corporation of the town of Brookhaven, Mississippi. Its improvements consist of a good Dwelling, with four rooms in the main building; Kitchen, Dining Room and Store-Room attached; a good Well of water and an over-ground Cistern; also a good Garden, newly fenced. There are also about twenty acres of Land in a state of cultivation. Fire-wood in abundance on the place. The town is on one side and a good range on the other, so that the place combines all the advantages of the country and town. Brookhaven is one of the healthiest places in the State, and has the best girls' school in the South, Whitworth College is known far and near. Now is the time to secure a good location, where you can give your daughters a collegiate education without paying board. For particulars apply to J. W. Martin or

F. W. SHARBROUGH,
no13 4t Brookhaven, Miss.

THIS IS BONA FIDE.

THIS IS

NO LIQUIDATION SALE,

NEVER TO END.

Fire and Water have not injured my goods in the least, but I am firmly resolved to close my business in the store, No. 161 Poydras street, on the first of December. To accomplish this object I now offer to the public one of the finest stocks of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Philadelphia and Home-made Gaiters, Button Boots, Slippers, and in fact every style of Shoe known to the trade, not excepting Gentlemen's BOOTS AND SHOES, at prices way BELOW COST. To test the sincerity of this proposition I simply request the public to examine the goods. F. SELLES, no13 1m No. 161 Poydras street.

SACRED MUSIC-BOOKS.

THE STANDARD!

Still "waves," and, true to its name, keeps well to the front of all books for Choirs, Conventions and Singing Schools. By L. O. EMERSON and H. R. PALMER. Price, $1.50.

AMERICAN TUNE-BOOK!

Contains 1,000 of the very best psalm tunes of the century. Has no superior as a collection of the most approved sacred music for Choirs and Congregations. Five hundred Editors. Four hundred pages. Price, $1.50.

THE RIVER OF LIFE!

Is attracting the notice of all Leaders of Singing in Sabbath Schools because of its very superior arrangement of Bible subjects, its department of Songs for Little Children, its adaptation to the International Lessons, and its general richness and freshness of music and words. Highly commended by all. Price, 35 cents in boards.

This beautiful SABBATH SCHOOL SONG-BOOK is sold at $30 per hundred in boards; $25 per hundred in paper.

The above books sent, post-paid, on receipt of retail price.

CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.,
711 Broadway, New York.
OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
jy21 ty Boston.

FROM A RECENT ANALYSIS BY

Prof. W. O. Atwater, of Yale College, the following table will show the chemical composition of YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Albuminoids.. | 12.35 | Sugar | 13.06 |
| Gluten | 5.21 | Starch | 55.62 |
| Fat | 5.59 | Cellulose | 2.96 |
| Ash | 5.12 | | |

It will be seen that the Albuminoids (albumen, gluten, casein, etc.) constitute nearly thirteen per cent. "These," says Youmans, "are the flesh-forming principles—the true elements of nutrition."

"It is particularly valuable to all requiring a highly nutritious and at the same time easily assimilated diet, and hence is used as an article of daily consumption in climates which occasion rapid waste of the system. "Almost all Asiatics, Africans and (aboriginal) Americans use it as their chief nourishment."—Louis Figuier, in his work on the Vegetable World.

To Hermetically-sealed YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN all the nutritive qualities of the grain are preserved. The grain is cut from the ear and placed in tin canisters with the rich juices (or milk) which exude from it, and is then sealed air-tight and the canister subjected to steam heat, which coagulates the albumen. In this condition it will keep for years. It will be seen by this that all the nutritive properties of the grain are preserved, and the most nourishing article of food in the domain of nature placed within the reach of all.

RECEIVED THE AWARD OF THE
Paris Exposition, American Institute, and Great Exposition of Cordova.

Sealed under the original patent. Ask your grocer for it. PORTLAND PACKING CO.,
au21 6m Portland, Maine.

MULTUM IN PARVO.

HINES' COMBINATION STEAM COOKER.

The most perfect Steam Cooking Apparatus ever invented. Will cook SIX different articles at ONE TIME.—MEATS, POULTRY, FISH, VEGETABLES, PUDDINGS, etc.—without one article tainting another, without the possibility of over cooking or burning, and at the same time afford HOT WATER for Tea or Coffee, without interfering with the process of cooking.

No. 1, small family size..... $10 00
No. 2, medium family size..... 13 00
No. 3, large family size..... 16 00

Cookers sent to any part of the country on receipt of price, or C. O. D., with full instructions for using.

For sale at No. 62 GRAVIER STREET, New Orleans.

Agents wanted in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Send for circulars. Address

GOODWYN & CO.,
jy31 6m Lock Box 161, New Orleans, La.

T. WHINREY CARTER,

ARCHITECT,

78 ..... CARONDELET STREET ..... 78

no13 2m New Orleans.

MES. S. ZEPHIRIN,

DRY GOODS AND VARIETY STORE,

621 ..... MAGAZINE STREET ..... 621

NEW ORLEANS.

A large assortment of SUN-BONNETS always on hand. no12 2m

THE NEW CHEAP JOHN

(JOHN HANSEN)

continues in Manufacture, in spite of the FIRE, First-class

Custom-Made Boots and Shoes,

better and cheaper than ever, at No. 33 CANAL street, corner of Peters, next door to Cogan's Clothing House. no13 2m

FIRST-CLASS FURNITURE

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Also Church Furniture and Cushions.

Patronage earnestly solicited.

M. A. DAVIS & SONS,
No. 224 South Second street,
au18 3m Philadelphia, Pa.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

Corner Magazine and Second Streets,

New Orleans.

Office Hours—Eight to nine A. M. and three to four P. M. je29 tf

THE SABBATH THE LATEST, THE GREATEST and THE BEST TUNE BOOK for Church Choirs of all Denomination.

Price, $1.50.

Per dozen Copies, $13 50.

One Sample Copy, by Mail, $1.35

LEE & WALKER, 921 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

4t and ot

LUMBER YARD ..... FEED STORE.

F. HEUER,

Dealer in All Kinds of Lumber,

Oak, Ash, Poplar, Cedar, Walnut, Cypress, etc., and all kinds of Flatboat Lumber; also in Hay, Corn, Oats, Bran, etc., 948 and 950 NEW LEVEE street, between Sixth and Seventh streets (Fourth District,) New Orleans. no13 2m

THE HOUSEHOLD PANACEA AND Family Liniment is the best remedy in the world for the following complaints, viz: Cramp in the limbs and stomach, pain in the stomach, bowels or side, Rheumatism in all its forms, bilious colic, neuralgia, cholera, dysentery, colds, fresh wounds, burns, sore throat, spinal complaints, sprains and bruises, chills and fever. Purely Vegetable and all-healing. For internal and external use. Prepared by CURTIS & BROWN, No. 276 Fulton St., New York, and for sale by all druggists. jy3 1yfw

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE SEVENTH WONDER OF THE WORLD IS THE LADY

CHEAP JOHN,

MRS. D. J. LOEWENSTEIN,

549 ..... MAGAZINE STREET ..... 549

Who has nearly sold out her damaged stock of BOOTS AND SHOES, and what is remaining will almost be given away, in order to make room for her extensive stock of NEW GOODS, now arriving direct from the best manufacturers of the North, East and West. Having been carefully selected for this market, and bought for cash, they will be sold at astonishingly low prices—not to be beaten in this city. Then come and see the wonder, which will cost nothing, but you will carry away more Shoes and Boots, for less money than you will imagine. Do not fail to come and look for the Red Flag. no13 tu

THE WEED SEWING MACHINE.

THE WEED

SEWING MACHINE

HAS JUST RECEIVED

THE HIGHEST AWARD

AT VIENNA,

THUS

REPEATING ITS EXPERIENCE

AT PARIS IN 1867.

No Machine possesses so many good qualities for general Family use.

The universal satisfaction given by this Machine justifies its claim to the well-known name:

FAMILY FAVORITE.

COMPANY'S OFFICE IN

| | |
|---|---|
| New Orleans | 307 Canal St. |
| Houston | 113 Main Street. |
| Atlanta | 27 Marietta St. |
| Savannah | 27 Ball Street. |

se11 3m

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

AWARDED IN 1873 TO

J. G. BERMEL,

121 ..... CANAL STREET ..... 121

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Cheapest Human Hair Manufactory in the South.

Gloves, Furs, Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Fancy and Jet Jewelry, Pocket-Books, Opera Glasses, Walking-Canes, Crutches, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc. A fine assortment of rich Bronze and Gilt ORNAMENTS, well adapted for the approaching Holidays, will be sold at cost. oc30 2m&p

LADIES' HAIR STORE.

GEORGE T. SHILLING,

381 ..... Dryades Street ..... 381

Between Erato and Thalia streets,

Near Dryades Market, opposite Jefferson School,

Manufacturer of and Dealer in all kinds of

HUMAN HAIR GOODS,

calls the attention of his customers and strangers visiting the city, before purchasing elsewhere, to call and examine his stock of

REAL HAIR CHIGNONS,
PUFFS, CHATELAINE, BRAIDS,
SWITCHES, CURLS, ETC.,

of all shades, constantly on hand, made to order and neatly repaired, at reasonable prices.

Also a large stock of French and American PERFUMERY, SILK HAIR NETS AND FANCY GOODS. All orders from the country promptly attended to, and at prices to suit the times. no6 1m

NEW ORLEANS BUTCHERS'

HIDE AND TALLOW CO.,

NO. 69 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.

Capital ..... $100,000.

JEAN BERTHIN, President.
A. D. BUCHIRON, Secretary.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| J. Berthin, | P. Lacoste, |
| B. Dubat, | A. D. Buchiron, |
| P. Costac, | A. Matthes, |
| L. Duclos, | M. Lannes, |
| J. Doherty, | J. Soulisle, |
| J. Recuicleon. | |

oc30 2m

NEW ORLEANS

SAVINGS INSTITUTION,

136 ..... CANAL STREET ..... 136

Incorporated March 15, 1855.

OFFICERS.

L. F. GENERES, President.
THOS. A. ADAMS, First Vice President.
THOS. ALLEN CLARKE, Second Vice President.
CHARLES J. LEEDS, Third Vice President.
SAM JONES, Jr., Treasurer.

DIRECTORS:

| | |
|---|---|
| Dr. W. Newton Mercer, | David Urquhart, |
| L. F. Generes, | John G. Haines, |
| George Jones, | Carl Kohn, |
| Thos. A. Adams, | Christian Schneider, |
| Thos. Allen Clarke, | Samuel Jamison. |
| Charles J. Leeds. | |

☞ SIX PER CENT. INTEREST on deposits. oc23 6m

GEORGE BURNHAM, JR. J. E. BURNHAM.
C. S. MORRILL.

BURNHAM & MORRILL,

PACKERS AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

HERMETICALLY-SEALED GOODS,

MEATS, FISH AND VEGETABLES,

No. 61½ Commercial Street,

And corner Commercial St. and Burnham's Wharf,

PORTLAND, MAINE.

au28 6m

KESSLER WAGON WORKS,

EAST GIRARD AVE., PHILADELPHIA,

MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF

Plantation, Road, Express and Sugar-Cane Wagons,

Ox, Horse and Cane Carts, Timber Wheels, etc.

HENRY KESSLER,
se23 2m GEORGE KESSLER.

SOPHIE,

NO. 13 BARONNE STREET,

(Late 152 Rue Du Canal,)

no6 1m NEW ORLEANS.

REOPENING OF THE ST. LOUIS,

A FIRST-CLASS HOTEL,

On the Fifteenth of November,

Under the Management of

no6 1m E. F. MOTON, President.

JOSEPH BECKHAUS,

CARRIAGE BUILDER

No. 1201 Frankford Road,

Above Girard Avenue,

se18 3m PHILADELPHIA.

S. COLLISS & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PRINTING INK.

Office and Depot—26 Frankfort St.,

oc9 3m NEW YORK.

PATENTS For INVENTIONS, TRADE MARKS, Copyrights, etc., etc., procured by

JOHN A. WIEDERSHEIM & CO.,
110 South Fourth street, below Chestnut,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Full information without charge.

Call or send for Book of Instructions. se15 1y

MEDICAL.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

—IT IS—

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver diseases most prevail. It will cure all diseases caused by derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.

After over forty years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians recommend it as the

MOST EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC

for Constipation, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, despondency, gloom and forebodings of evil, all of which are the offspring of a diseased Liver.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion it Has No Equal.

☞ It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world. Manufactured only by

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia.

Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. au25 1y

TESTIMONIAL.

TESTIMONIAL.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,
No. 11 Dauphine street,
New Orleans, September 20, 1873.

CAPT. TRYON J. WOODWARD,
Agent Maguire's Medicines,
No. 38 Magazine street.

External Use—From a feeling of heartfelt gratitude and a general sense of duty I am prompted to address you, and respectfully beg to give you a voluntary and brief statement of my past and present state of health, and my personal experience in the use of MAGUIRE'S CUNDURANGO LIVER AND BLOOD BITTERS, and SARSAPARILLA TONIC.

My health for years has been bad, but from the commencement of this year I rapidly declined, forcing me to abandon all character of business; and upon becoming completely paralyzed in my right arm, and with my whole right side threatened, I became helpless and hopeless indeed, though attended upon by the most skillful physicians of this and other States and cities, with no benefit; and, in fact, my own medical knowledge forced me to realize the fact that unless some change and improvement took place soon with me I would shortly die, and made my every earthly arrangement unwillingly, when by a most providential circumstance I was directed to and met you, about a month ago, and from your generous sympathy was induced (to gratify you, but with no confidence or hope of benefit to myself) to only try the Cundurango; and to my utmost astonishment and gratification am now almost entirely restored to perfect health, and that by the use of but one bottle of the Cundurango Liver and Blood Bitters, and one bottle of the Sarsaparilla Tonic. I feel, indeed, a renewed and resurrected man, and will ever, my dear sir, be grateful in my remembrance of you for the kind interest and generous sympathy shown me in my wretched helplessness, and am convinced that to the use of Cundurango, under Divine Providence through you, I am indebted for a new lease upon life.

From a sense of duty, let me ask that a publication of my case be made—and by my happy experience none need despair—and that through you, in the use of Cundurango, they may also find relief and restoration to health, when even hope itself is baffled. With respect and gratitude, I remain

Yours truly, etc.,
THOMAS M. LOGAN, M. D.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24, 1873.

We, the undersigned, being personally acquainted with Dr. Logan, cheerfully certify that the above statement is true and correct in every particular.

J. C. McALLISTER,
REV. P. M. GOODWYN.
oc23 1m DANIEL HICKOK.

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

THE STARTLING DRAWBACK ON nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for an agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY and STRENGTHEN

At One and the Same Time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which fully realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. This important desideratum is

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,

which purifies the blood and removes all corrupt humor and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or

The Child's Corner.

THE LITTLE GRAVES.

BY MRS. E. J. BURBEE.

Two little graves, with grass grown over,
Dotted with star-flowers and sweet green clover,
Under the shadow of young oaks lying,
Kissed by the summer wind in its sighing.
Ah, me! Ah, me!

Parlor and hall and porch are lonely,
Missing the voices of childish glee;
We hear in dream and fancy only,
And the faces we never more shall see.
Ah, me! Ah, me!

Thus sighs my heart in its sometime dreaming,
As I think of the graves so far away,
Hiding the treasures of lovely seeming,
That might have gladdened my home to-day.

Then I catch a sound of angel-singing
Over the hills of sunset light;
I know that the days to them are bringing Never a shadow of dark or night.

In their unfettered soul-life growing
So wise and holy, and sweet and fair,
So far beyond me in their knowing,
So all unneeding a mother's care.

There comes sometimes a sweet revealing,
A thrilling sense of the unseen things;
The air that o'er my brow is stealing
Seems often stirred by the rush of wings.

Then softly whisper, ye winds of summer,
Over the green mounds so far away;
And watch, oh, stars! I will not murmur,
Though I am alone, alone to-day!

Little Charley's Temptation.

It was a pleasant afternoon in the spring when Charley asked leave to play in the garden; he had his little wagon, and as the gardener was clearing the borders he filled it with dead stalks and leaves, and wheeled it off.

Soon his little friend Hamilton came in to help him. They worked together with great glee, loading the wagon and drawing it away. You could hear their merry laugh as they sometimes in their hurry upset the load, and then had it all to pick up again. Charley's mother passed through the garden on her way to see a sick neighbor; she was glad to see the boys so happy, and then told them she liked to see them industrious.

After a little while Hamilton grew tired and said: "Come, Charley, let us go down to the lakeshore, and see the men fishing."

"Oh, no, Hamilton; my mother does not like to have me go there."

"We need not go quite down to the shore, and she won't care if you just look at them, and see them pull in the fish; it's real fun; and we shall be back before your mother comes."

Charley felt that it was not quite right, but he thought he would not go very near the shore, and that he would soon come back; so they scampered off.

They soon came in sight of the pier that is built off into the lake. There were several men and boys fishing; and for a little while the two boys stood at a distance and watched them; but as they heard their shouts when a fish was caught they gradually drew nearer. One of the men was very good-natured, and let Charley and Hamilton draw in some of the fish; they flapped and floundered, and spattered the water all around, and the stones were very wet where the boys stood. Charley's feet were wet and cold, and he began to feel very chilly, for the sun was going down, and the air from the lake was damp, and he was not dressed as his mother would have had him if she had known he was going near the lake, or to be out so late. Hamilton, finding it was time ran off, saying his supper would be ready, and he must go. Poor Charley walked slowly home; he knew he had disobeyed his mother, and he felt badly.

His mother was at the door looking for him; she felt anxious, as he had never gone away before without asking leave. She spoke kindly to him, and asked him where he had been. He hesitated, but told her the truth; and when she found he had been down to the lake, and that his clothes and feet were wet, she was afraid he had taken cold; so she took him to the fire and warmed him, putting on dry stockings and shoes. She told him that when it was proper for him to go and see the men fish his father would take him, and could see that he did not go where there were bad boys who said wicked words; and she asked him if he did not remember that, even if he had come home before she did, God saw him and knew that he was disobedient.

After he had eaten his supper she went up to bed with him; and when she knelt by his little bed and prayed that her dear boy might have strength to resist temptation, and that he might love God, and try, even when he was so young, to serve and obey him, Charley felt very sorry for what he had done, and soon sobbed himself to sleep.

In the night he moaned and was so restless that his mother got up and went to him. She found him very feverish, and before daylight he was in a high fever; and for several weeks he was very ill, and his kind mother watched by him constantly night and day. Often in his disturbed sleep he murmured of fishes, and thought Hamilton was throwing them upon him.

One day he saw how very pale his mother was, and he said: "Oh, mother, I am afraid it has made you sick to take care of me." His mother, who was in the room, said: "Yes, Charley, many nights your mother has not slept, and many days she could scarcely eat, because she was so anxious about you; and the pleasant sunshiny days she has been shut up in the house because she would not leave you! So I hope, my dear boy, as God has graciously spared your life, that you will remember when you disobey your parents you break his law and cause them very great unhappiness."

Charley thought he should always remember this sickness, and often afterward, when he was tempted to do wrong, his mother's pale face would come before him, and he would pray: "Lead me not into temptation."

The Best Book in the Best Place.

There are many great libraries in the world. Some contain nearly a million books. Some of these books have been great blessings to the world; but there is one book which claims to be before all others, and above them all. It is the Holy Bible.

This is truly the best book. As its name means, it is "the book"—the book of books—God's book. It came from God, and leads to God. It is his gift to all people of every age. It has done more good in the world than all other books that have ever been written.

In the Bible are declared the character, ways and purposes of the God of providence and grace, and in what relations man stands to his Creator and to his fellow-man. It answers the questions: Whence came I? What am I? Whither am I going? It is a book of the purest doctrines and the wisest precepts. It is full of light and truth and love. It relates facts, and teaches by examples. It makes known the best way of living, the most comfortable way of dying, and tells of eternal rest in heaven.

But the principal glory of the Bible is that it reveals the person and work of Christ, and the only way of salvation by faith in him. It is the "word of Christ." The great truth it makes known is that God so loved the world as to send his Son to be the Savior of men.

"This is the record that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son." Whosoever believes in him shall be saved. In its invitations and promises Christ is "commended" to sinners as their only hope and refuge. It points to his life as their best example, and to his cross as the only way to their reconciliation with God and to heaven, and promises to us the help of the Holy Spirit.

Should not the best book be put into the best place? The psalmist tells where that is: "Thy word have I hid in mine heart."—Psalms cxix, 11. It is well to have the Bible in our houses, and to see it on our tables. It is better still to have it stored in our memories. But best of all to have its truths in our hearts. "I have lived a lonely life," said the shepherd of Salisbury Plain, "and have often had little to eat; but my Bible has been meat, drink and company to me; and when trouble has come upon me I do not know what I should have done if I had not had the promises of the Bible for my stay and comfort."

In a time of persecution a Bible was taken from a boy, and burnt before his eyes. "I have got the seven chapters of St. Matthew's gospel in my heart," said he; "you cannot burn them out." That was a safe place for the truths of the Bible, was it not?

The best book should be in the best place for the best purpose. "That I might not sin against thee." It is the Holy Bible. It shows us that sin is an evil and bitter thing; that it is defiling, deceitful and disgraceful; that God sees and remembers it; that we should confess it, repent of it and forsake it; and that we should look to our Lord Jesus Christ, whose blood cleanseth from it, and by whose grace alone we can conquer it and live a life of holiness. Young reader! read your Bible, cherish its truths in your hearts—obey it.—Little Messenger.

Farm, Garden and Household.

The Poetry of the Table.

In the first place, a starched and smoothly-ironed tablecloth, which, if neatly folded after every meal, will look well for several days. Then flowers and ferns in flat dishes, baskets or small vases, or else a tiny nosegay laid upon every napkin.

The salt must be pure and smooth. The butter should be moulded into criss-crossed diamonds, shells or globes, with the paddles made for this purpose.

A few pretty dishes will make the plainest table glow. A small, bright-colored platter for pickles, horse-radish or jelly; and butter-plates representing green leaves are also attractive.

A few pennies' worth of parsley or cress, mingled with small scraps of white paper daintily clipped, will cause a plain dish to assume the air of a French entree. A platter of hash may be ornamented with an edging of toasted or fried bread cut into points; and a dish of mutton chops is much more impressive with the bones stacked as soldiers stack guns, forming a pyramid in the center—each bone adorned with a frill of cut paper.

A few slices of lemon, mingled with sprigs of parsley and slices of hard-boiled eggs form a pretty garnish to many dishes; and nothing could be more appetizing than beef, veal, mutton or lamb made into mince-meat, and pressed into form in a wine-glass, then fried in pork-fat, with a sprig of green placed in the top of each little cone. The basket of fruit—peaches, pears, grapes or apples, oranges and grapes—should be tastefully arranged and trimmed with leaves and flowers. The bowl of salad should be ornamented with the scarlet and orange flowers of the tropæolum, their piquant flavor adding zest to the lettuce, with which they may be eaten.—Scribner's Monthly.

SHEEP AND PIGS IN ORCHARDS.—The best fruit—the cleanest, best grown and least deformed fruit—I have seen is that grown in orchards in which pigs or sheep have been permitted to range for a series of years up to the time the fruit really begins to mature and drop. It is astonishing what a difference it makes in the aggregate amount of perfect specimens of apples, pears and plums that hang on the trees. They destroy innumerable insects. Those who admit the pigs to the orchards ring or rim their noses. They do not allow them to break the sod by rooting. Thus they make them watchful of every larva and insect which appears on the surface, and compel them to eat the stung fruit which drops from the trees in the early part of the season.

Sheep are more dangerous in an orchard than swine. They are more liable to gnaw the bark from the trees, especially if young and the pasturage is short. But, as a rule, there is little damage done. Here is one man who has kept thirty handsome Southdowns in his orchard this season, and not a tree is injured; nor can you find an apple on the ground after ten o'clock in the morning, unless you happen to be under the tree about the time it drops.—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

SALT as a manure for tomatoes is good, as it is for almost any and all crops. We notice that agricultural journals are now giving advice to use it, without noting the fact that, while a little is good, too much is destruction. We always sow salt broadcast early in spring over our garden ground, and one year our German workman—when we told him that salt was good for onions and other annual crops—one day in our absence gave our crops such a dose that they gave up life. When we asked why he did it the reply was: "Me think little good, more so much better." In applying salt specifically to any growing plant, our advice is to use it in a liquid form—i. e., half a pint of salt to two gallons of water, applied on the ground around the plant, but not touching the foliage.

A WRITER in the London Field gives the following as his method of ridding his fowls of vermin. He says: "During the past season I have found common paraffine to be a most effectual cure both for house and birds. For the former, simply sprinkle it about the building every other day or so, until they have disappeared; then a good plan is to keep a can of the same in the house with the cork out. For birds (with a common small paint-brush) apply it from neck to tail on the back, and again under the wings; this will kill them all in an hour or so, and not hurt the birds."

"CARAWAY SEEDS, finely pounded, with a small proportion of ginger and salt, spread upon bread and butter, and eaten every day, early in the morning and before going to bed, are successfully used in Germany as a remedy against hysterics." (None of our readers need, but some one, whose husband is too stingy to pay $2, and borrows, may need, and we desire to do good.—EDITOR.)

TO LEARN the value of money—Try to borrow it.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

THE NEXT TERM OF THIS VENERABLE INSTITUTION OPENS ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER, 1873.

Faculty.—REV. C. O. ANDREWS, A. M., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Political Economy and International Law; REV. A. RUDOLOMME, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Adjunct Professor of Natural Science; G. H. WILEY, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages; T. S. JONES, M. D., Professor of Natural Science; REV. R. D. NORSWORTHY, A. M., Principal of the Preparatory Department.

Charges.—Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in College, $60; Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in Preparatory Department, $30; Contingent expenses, $5. A matriculation fee of $5 must be paid on entering any regular college class. One-half the charges must be paid when the student enters; the other half on the beginning of the second term, March 1.

Board.—Board, including lodging, washing, lights and fuel, can be had in the best families for $25 per month. Day-boarding with the same families, $12 per month. Rooms provided in the dormitories free of rent. Board to be paid in advance at least one month.

Location.—This institution is located in the lovely village of Jackson, about twelve miles from Bayou Sara, in a grove of pine, magnolia, oak and beech. The location is remarkable for its beautiful woodlands, its bland and delightful atmosphere, its pure water, its unrivaled healthfulness, and its cultivated and refined society.

When Founded.—The college was established by the State of Louisiana in 1825, and ceded to the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1845.

Alumni.—Its Alumni numbers two hundred and three, and they are to be found in the most honorable and useful stations in the land.

Apparatus and Cabinet.—The college possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus, and also a well-selected Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet. The apparatus includes a Theodolite, Sextant, Compass, Chronometer, Atwood's Machine, Whirling Tables, Electrical Machine, Air Pump, various combinations of the Mechanical Powers, Batteries, Chemical Tests, etc., sufficient for a thorough and extended course of observations and experiments. Steps have been taken by the Board of Trustees to put these in thorough repair.

Literary Societies.—There are two regular Literary Societies connected with the Institution. These are of great utility to young men acquiring a liberal education—improving them in the art of public speaking, making them in some degree familiar with the proceedings of deliberative bodies, and in cultivating systematic business habits. Each Society has a convenient hall and a well-selected Library—about one thousand six hundred volumes each, which, added to the College Library of two thousand volumes, makes over five thousand volumes in the college.

Buildings.—The Trustees are determined to continue the repairs on the buildings till completed. The grand Center Building is a noble specimen of architectural beauty and adaptation to the purposes of its erection. The wings, built of solid brick, present each a front of two hundred feet, with upper and lower galleries the entire length, supported by Tuscan columns, and while the center making in the perspective a continuous front of seven hundred feet.

Preparatory Department.—In the Preparatory Department students are fitted for regular college classes, or may obtain a thorough English or commercial education.

The Faculty.—Its Faculty are men of experience and success in teaching.

Board of Trustees.—Rev. Bishop J. C. KEENER, D. D., President, New Orleans.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Hon. Edward McGehee, Woodville, Mississippi. | Hon. E. T. Merrick, New Orleans. | Hon. A. K. Farrar, Adams county, Mississippi. |
| Hon. John McVea, Clinton. | Hon. Edward J. Gay, parish of Iberville. | Rev. W. H. Watkins, D. D., Natchez, Mississippi. |
| Hon. and Rev. James B. Muse, St. Helena parish. | Hon. J. O. Fuqua, Baton Rouge. | Rev. L. Parker, D. D., New Orleans. |
| Prof. W. H. N. Magruder, Baton Rouge. | B. C. Hardee, Esq., Clinton. | Robert M. Walmsley, Esq., New Orleans. |
| Rev. H. D. Montgomery, Sharon, Mississippi. | Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans. | Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Port Gibson, Mississippi. |
| C. G. McGehee, Esq., Wilkinson county, Miss. | Samuel J. Norwood, Esq., Shreveport, Louisiana. | Wilmer H. Goodale, Esq., Baton Rouge. |
| Rev. John C. Miller, Jackson. | William L. Nugent, Esq., Jackson, Mississippi. | Rev. C. G. Andrews, Jackson, Louisiana. |
| Josiah D. Nettles, Esq., East Baton Rouge, La. | Rev. J. L. Forsythe, Jackson. | Rev. A. E. Goodwyn, Baton Rouge, Louisiana. |
| Rev. J. A. Godfrey, Clinton. | Rev. John A. Ellis, Meridian, Mississippi. | |

jy24 6m Address C. G. ANDREWS, President, Jackson, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL FURNITURE.

Patent School Desks.

W. P. UHLINGER,

921 Chestnut St., Phila.

FACTORY,

Columbia Avenue, below Second.

ESTABLISHED 1850.

se18 3m

LANDRETH'S SEEDS

Have spoken their own praise for upward of three-quarters of a century.

☞ The attention of Market Gardeners is particularly requested.

LANDRETH'S RURAL REGISTER AND ALMANAC will be mailed without charge to all who apply.

DAVID LANDRETH & SON,
21 and 23 South Sixth Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.

se18 4m

ALEXANDER MILLS,

ORGAN BUILDER,

NO. 539 BROOME STREET,

oc2 3m NEW YORK.

CHEAPEST AND BEST!

CHICAGO FARM PUMPS!

Send for Price List.

R.S. Twitchell,
New Orleans.
oc30 6m

THE FIRE ON CANAL STREET

SETTLED

WITH THE INSURANCE.

$9,000 worth of Fine CLOTHING,
$7,000 worth of BOYS' CLOTHING,
$4,000 worth of Winter OVERCOATS,
$1,500 worth of Stylish HATS,

All more or less damaged by water only, which will be sold at

Fifty Per Cent. Below Cost,

At M. COHAN'S,
19 and 20 Canal street,
oc30 1m Bet. the Custom-house and the River.

NEW ORLEANS PURCHASING BUREAU.

To the Ladies of the South.

A Purchasing Agency has been established in New Orleans, Louisiana, for the benefit of those residing at a distance from the city, and who have not the facilities for obtaining just what they require.

MRS. H. MOGRIDGE

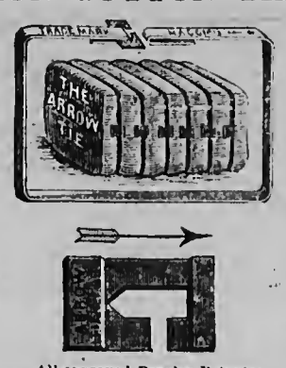
respectfully offers her services in selecting, purchasing and forwarding any article of apparel or personal adornment for ladies' and children's use, including MILLINERY, DRY GOODS, JEWELRY, BRIDAL TROUSSEAUX, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Trimmings, Underwear, Sewing Machines, etc., etc.

Scrupulous care with reference to the price and quality, and fidelity to the interest and fulfillment of the wishes of correspondents, will be sedulously carried out.

MRS. H. MOGRIDGE,
At Mrs. Doherty's Elegant Millinery and Dressmaking Establishment, 86 Canal St., Over Zinnerman's Jewelry Store, New Orleans.
☞ Send for circular fe6 1y

ROGERS' EFFERVESCING

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA,



In six-ounce bottles, in powder. This Magnesia is a mild purgative and aperient, very acceptable to the stomach for Sick Headache, Sour or Sick Stomach, and all Febrile cases. Good for all seasons of the year. For sale by druggists. Prepared by ARTHUR ROGERS, 193 Spring St., N. Y. oc9 3m

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

IMPORTANT TO PLANTERS.

IRON COTTON TIES.

THE ARROW TIE AND ALL OPEN-SLOT TIES.

All approved Popular Patents:

ARROW,
ANCHOR, WALLIS
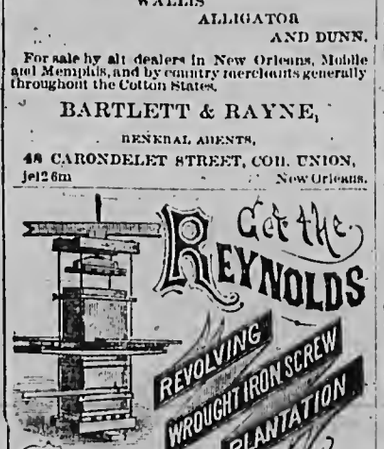
ALLIGATOR
AND DUNN.



For sale by all dealers in New Orleans, Mobile and Memphis, and by country merchants generally throughout the Cotton States.

BARTLETT & RAYNE,

GENERAL AGENTS,

48 CARONDELET STREET, COR. UNION,

je12 6m New Orleans.

COTTON PRESS

IF YOU WANT THE BEST

WM. REYNOLDS.

COR. SOUTH MARKET & FULTON STS.

P.O. Box 1690. NEW ORLEANS.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR

je19 6m

THE UNRIVALED

BUCK'S BRILLIANT STOVE.

Every Brilliant Is Fully Guaranteed.

H. HALLER,

NO. 49 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS,

Sole Agent for Louisiana.

Sole Agent for the

CELEBRATED RINGEN WASHER

In the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi. no14 1y

LEWIS JOHNSON,

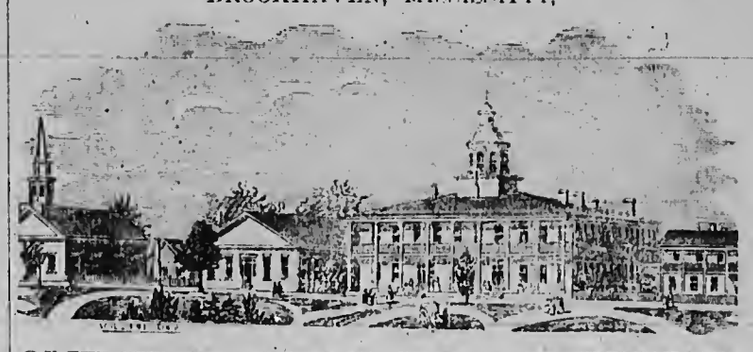
ENGINE AND MACHINE BUILDER,

Corner Julia, Delta and Water Streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

Castings of all kinds. Repairing executed with dispatch. Steam and Vacuum Gauges repaired. Glass Box 788, Postoffice. no17 1y

WARRANTED CURE.



WARRANTED CURE.

Sufferers from CHILLS AND FEVERS, and those whose health has been seriously impaired by protracted attacks of Chills, are invited to write to the undersigned for the means of cure. The worst cases easily and thoroughly cured. Correspondence solicited. Address

DR. J. A. MAYES,
Mayesville, Sumter County, S. C.
no13 3m

WHITWORTH FEMALE COLLEGE,

BROOKHAVEN, MISSISSIPPI.

ON THE NEW ORLEANS, JACKSON AND GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD, one hundred and twenty-eight miles from New Orleans, will reopen on the TWENTY-FOURTH OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.

The health is good, discipline firm but parental, instruction thorough, and economy in dress enforced. The expenses are as low as the advantages given will allow.

The Director of the Music Department, Prof. ECKHARDT, is unexcelled. Madame JULIUS, an accomplished Parisian lady, has charge of French and the ornamental branches.

During the past term there were Thirteen in the Faculty, and Two Hundred and One pupils in attendance, over one hundred of whom boarded in the college.

All the branches of a thorough education are taught, including the Languages, ancient and modern; also the higher mathematics.

Particular attention is paid to Spelling, Writing, Reading and Composition; also to the neatness, good manners and morals of the pupils.

For a catalogue address

jy17 tf REV. H. F. JOHNSON, President, Brookhaven, Mississippi.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

DANIEL & JAMES D. EDWARDS,

NOS. 22, 24, 26 AND 28 FRONT ST.

AND

NOS. 21, 23, 25 AND 27 DELTA ST.

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

MANUFACTURERS OF

Copper, Brass, Iron and Sheet Iron WORK OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

ALSO OF

Best and Most Improved Steam Trains for Making Sugar.

DEALERS IN

Wrought Iron Pipe and Fittings, all sizes,
Brass Work for Steam, Water and Gas,
Roller Tubes, Bolts, Nuts and Washers,
Well and Cistern Pumps, Drove Well Pumps, and Well Points, Steam Syphon Pumps,
Rubber Hose, Steam Packing, Steam and Water Gauges, Fine Brushes, Sheet Copper,
Brass and Iron, Copper and Brass Wire,
Machinists' Tools and Machinery Supplies, etc.

AGENTS FOR

Cameron's Patent Steam Pumps,
Webster's Patent Combination Wrenches
And National Fire Extinguisher.

☞ Send for new Illustrated Price List. fe20 1y

B. J. WEST.

DEALER IN

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS,

Plantation Hardware and Machinery,

115 AND 117 MAGAZINE STREET,

AGENT FOR

Poole & Hunt (Baltimore) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
H. & F. Brandy (Zanesville, Ohio) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
B. W. Payne & Sons' (Corning, New York) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
George L. Squier & Bro. (Buffalo, New York) Sugar Mills, Horse Powers, etc.
E. Ball & Co. (Canton, Ohio) "World" and "Ohio" Mowers, and Mowers and Reapers combined
D. M. Osborne & Co., "Kirby" Mowers, etc.
T. C. Taylor, Hay Rakes.
Nishwitz" and "Monroe" Pulverizing Harrows.
"Excelsior" Lawn Mower.
R. Ball & Co. (Worcester, Massachusetts) Wood-Working Machinery.
H. B. Smith (Smithville, New Jersey) Wood-Working Machinery.
American Saw Company, New York.
Hubbard, Lippincott, Bakewell & Co., Saws.
"Gunpowder" Copper Works, Baltimore.
Moline Plow Company, Plows and Cultivators.
Winship & Bro. (Atlanta, Georgia) Cotton Gins.
"Sulky" Cultivator and "Sattley" and "Pilot" Gang Plows.
"Buckeye" Foundery, Bells.
B. J. West's Cotton Seed Huller.
B. J. West's "Improved Felton Patent" Grist Mill and Corn-Cob and Shuck Crusher combined.
T. C. Nisbet (Macon Georgia) Cotton Press Screws, etc. mh27 8m

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

ANDREW J. AIKEN. JOHN W. WATT.

AIKEN & WATT,

COTTON FACTORS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

66 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

Special attention given to orders for the purchase of all descriptions of Produce, Agricultural Implements and Plantation Supplies. no6 1y

G. M. RALLY & POND,

WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

Nos. 24, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Canal, and 59 and 61 Common Street,

ja23 1y New Orleans, La.

J. L. DONNICA, NEW ORLEANS.
T. A. HAMILTON, MEMPHIS.
B. P. HARRISON, NEW ORLEANS.

J. L. DUNNICA & CO.,

FLOUR, PRODUCE AND PROVISION COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

56 ..... Tchoupitoulas Street ..... 56

fe22 1y New Orleans, Louisiana.

HOMER COLLEGE,

HOMER, CLAIBORNE PARISH, LA.

COURSE OF EDUCATION

THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL.

Total Expense Per Annum from $187 to $207.

SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 15, 1873.

☞ Send for a catalogue to

REV. J. LANE BORDEN, President.

Tuition free to children of Preachers in regular work. jy3 6m

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE,

WASHINGTON COUNTY, VA.

On the Eleventh of September

our scholastic year begins, and continues Forty consecutive weeks. It is divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. The Spring session begins January 27, 1874. Students can enter at any time, though they should, if possible, begin with the session. The entire expenses for the forty weeks, including board, tuition, fuel, room-rent, washing and contingent fees, need not exceed $220. These rates, so remarkably low considering the superior advantages here offered, must commend this institution to the favor of those seeking thorough collegiate training. Before selecting your school consult any of those knowing the college, especially our Alumni and old students, prominent men in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and professors of the University of Virginia, who have authorized this reference, or send directly to the undersigned for a catalogue or for any information desired.

Jy3 8m E. E. WILEY, President, Emory P. O., Virginia.

J. W. BLACKMAN'S

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,

131 ..... CARONDELET ST. ..... 131

This is the only Commercial College in this city where students from the country can board in the family of the Principal. There is ample accommodation for thirty to forty students to board in the college building. This department is in charge of Mrs. Blackman, and in case of sickness students will be properly cared for, and not sent to a hospital, or the cold care of strangers.

All Commercial branches taught. Terms over Thirty per cent. less than other colleges in this city. The Principal has been established in New Orleans since 1851. For circulars address oc23 3m J. W. BLACKMAN, 131 Carondelet St., New Orleans, La.

"DOMESTIC" PAPER FASHIONS.

AGENTS WANTED.

☞ Send for Catalogue. 730

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE CO.,

oc1 13t New York.

CHURCH AND SCHOOL FURNITURE.

The undersigned calls the attention of all interested in fitting up Churches and Schools to his numerous styles of School Desks, especially his NE PLUS ULTRA DESK, which has been adopted in all the new Public Schools erected this last year in New York; as also new styles of Pulpits, Settees for Sunday Schools, Pews, etc.; also his last Patent of combined Easel and Map or Lesson-Card Elevator.

Altars, Tabernacles, Banners, Alms-Boxes, Etc.

NATH. JOHNSON,
No. 490 Hudson street, New York.
Catalogues forwarded on application. oc2 3m

AMERICAN HOUSE,

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

The Largest First-class Hotel in the City.

Centrally located. Contains apartments with bathing conveniences adjoining. Also Passenger Elevator, Billiard Hall, Telegraph Office and Cafe.

au14 1y LEWIS RICE & SON.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

GREAT FORTUNES, AND HOW THEY WERE MADE.

An elegant Book, by J. D. McCabe. FORTY eminent lives, and each life a lesson. Thrilling in interest, and all true. Beautifully Illustrated; original engravings.

Agents Wanted.—Rapid sales and very best discounts. No Investment required. Do you mean business?—If so send and get our Extra Terms.

E. HANNAFORD & CO., Publishers,
oc4 tf 177 West Fourth St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

A GOOD BOOK.

SOLD BY CANVASSING AGENTS ONLY.

DR. DEEMS' "JESUS."

A Rational History to Prove the Divinity of Christ.

☞ Agents will find this the best-selling book of the season. Clergymen, students and book agents address

UNITED STATES PUBLISHING CO.,
oc9 3m 11 and 13 University Place, New York.

AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE FOR

KIT CARSON'S LIFE AND ADVENTURES.

From facts narrated by himself. Embraces events in the lifetime of America's GREATEST HUNTER, TRAPPER, SCOUT AND GUIDE; includes vivid accounts of the every-day life, inner character and peculiar customs of all INDIAN TRIBES OF THE FAR WEST; an accurate description of the country, its condition, prospects, resources, its mountains, rivers, valleys and natural wonders. Also, a full and complete history of the

Modoc Indians and the Modoc War.

Splendidly Illustrated and sells at sight. Agents reporting from 75 to 100 subscribers each per week. Illustrated circulars and terms sent free to any address by

QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
oc2 1y

NEW BOOK FOR AGENTS.—We want Agents everywhere for a new, beautifully illustrated work of the author's own adventures.

WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.

Incidents of nearly THIRTY YEARS of hunting and trapping, captivity among the Comanches, in the Mexican wars, encounters with Apaches, Grizzly Bears, etc. Thrilling information. Send for circular and the most LIBERAL terms; or, if in haste to begin work, send $1 for complete outfit to F. A. HUTCHINSON & CO.,
oc9 1y New Orleans, La.

AGENTS WANTED.—ACT AT ONCE.—The people everywhere are eager to buy the only authentic and complete history of

LIVINGSTONE.

His wonderful discoveries and thrilling adventures during Twenty-eight Years in the wilds of Africa, and resurrection by the daring STANLEY. Over 800 pages, beautifully illustrated; only $2.50. Selling like wildfire! Write for extra terms; or, if you wish to begin at once, send $1 for outfit.

VALLEY PUBLISHING CO.,
oc9 1y New Orleans, La.

Wanted

More Farmers, Ladies, Ministers, Young Men and Women from every town in the U. S. to act as Agents for

Mary Clemmer Ames' New Book, TEN YEARS IN WASHINGTON.

It tells of the "Inner Life," wonders, mysteries, social secrets, doings, &c., of all Cabinets. "A Nap Woman Sees Them." It is actually overflowing with rare new gossip, humor, pathos and good cheer all the way through. Its brilliant sketches of every noted person, from a woman, or child to the President, are unique, vivacious, startling and wide awake. 50 Engravings. Steel portrait of author. Agents don't miss the chance. Money for You in this work. Terms Rich. Particularly to readers of The Advocate, everywhere. (8 others Agents N. B.) Outfit Free to canvass. We pay freight on books. Reader! write at once for particulars (free) to

A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.
se11 1y

THE TEMPLE HARP.—THE SCIENCE of music no longer a mystery. This music-book should have been published a hundred years ago. It contains beautiful music, and the elementary department alone is worth more than ten times the amount asked for the book. Published by S. C. COLLINS, No. 705 Jayne street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and for sale by booksellers generally. Retail price, $1.25. To the trade, same as our other music-books.
se4 3m

BIG GEST Commission on rapidly-selling works for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Red Men, Mechanics, Temperance, etc. Sales unprecedented. One Agent clears $1,200 in three months, another over $200 in five days, another $96 in eight hours, scores $50 in one day. Write for circular and prove this. Give number of your Lodge, and name this paper.

J. HALE POWERS & CO.,
Ja30 1y Fraternity Publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE PRACTICAL POCKET COMMENTARY AND BIBLE DICTIONARY.

Ten volumes. One Dollar each. Acknowledged to be the best and cheapest Commentary on the whole Bible extant. By the Rev. Drs. JAMIESON, FAUSSET & BROWN. Sold only by subscription. Agents wanting territory address

BLACKALLER & TURNER,
jy17 1y Room 9, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

PLUCKY AGENTS WANTED to sell our Modern United States and State Maps, and Pictorial and Religious Charts.

Large profits to Agents. Small capital needed.

E. C. BRIDGMAN,
oct 3m No. 5 Barclay street, New York.

AGENTS WANTED TO ENGAGE IN A permanent, lucrative and respectable business. None but energetic and responsible persons need apply. CLOUD.
oc23 8m 419 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo.

EASY ROAD TO FORTUNE.

AGENTS WANTED to sell our cheap, fast-selling and highly Illustrated Books. Retail at 50 cents, and sold to agents at very low wholesale prices. Any man can succeed at the business. New books now ready. These publications sell on sight. Address BARCLAY & CO., se18 3m 21 N. Seventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

$20 SAVED!

To meet the urgent demand of the times

The Florence Sewing Machine Co.

HAVE DETERMINED TO

REDUCE PRICES,

and will hereafter sell their $70 Machine for $50, and other styles in proportion.

THE FLORENCE

is the ONLY Sewing Machine that feeds the work backward and forward, or to right and left, as the purchaser may prefer. It has been greatly IMPROVED AND SIMPLIFIED, and is far better than any other machine in the market.

IT IS NOW THE CHEAPEST.

AGENTS WANTED.

FLORENCE, Mass., Nov. 1, 1873. no6 4t

SELLING OUT.....SELLING OUT.

REGARDLESS OF COST,

AT A GREAT SACRIFICE,

To close the business, the entire stock of

TOYS, FANCY GOODS, BASKETS,

Trimmings, Bohemian and China Vases, etc., contained in

THE VARIETY STORE,

517.....MAGAZINE STREET.....517

(HASTING'S ROW,)

Between Felicity and St. Mary streets.

The Show Cases, Shelving and Counters for sale cheap. no6 1m

FLINN'S PATENT

SELF-FASTENING AND ADJUSTABLE

BED SPRINGS.

Make the Best Spring Beds in Use.

They are complete in themselves, and can be applied in a few minutes to any slat bedstead.

☞ From three to five dozen make a Set.

JOHN FLINN,
248 South Second St., Philadelphia, Pa
Cor. S. Water and Champlain Sts., Cleveland.
Agents wanted everywhere. se18 1y

WILLIAM J. BEIRNE & CO.,
PROPRIETORS OF
Washington Cooperage Establishment,
COR. MARENGO AND LEVEE STS.,

have the most improved steam machinery in operation, and are thus able to make the finest quality of Sugar Hogsheads and Molasses Barrels. Their work guaranteed to prove satisfactory. Office—28 and 29 Front street. oc23 4m

SOUTHERN SALE STABLES,
COR. DELORD AND DRYADES STS.

Having purchased the above Stables from George W. Fisher, I will constantly keep on hand the largest variety of Kentucky MULES; also Harness and Saddle HORSES. Take the Jackson Railroad and Dryades street cars, foot of St. Charles street; they take you to the Stables in five minutes. Merchants, planters and dealers will find it to their interest to give me a call before purchasing elsewhere.
oc28 3m O. P. ALFORD.

BUSINESS CARDS.

THOMAS HASAM,
LUMBER.

CABINS MADE TO ORDER.

Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Sash, Blinds, etc.

Mills and Yard—Corner CEDAR AND JULIA streets (New Basin,) New Orleans. no6 1m

M. E. MONTARDIER,

NO. 19 BOURBON STREET,

Bet. Canal and Customhouse streets, New Orleans.

Stamping, Pinking and Embroidery in all styles. Kid Gloves cleaned. no6 1m

JOHN C. POOLEY,

Dealer in every Description of

Building Material, Lumber, Shingles, SASH, LATHS, ETC.

315.....JULIA STREET.....315

Near corner of Liberty (New Basin,)

P. O. Box No. 387. (oc30 1m) New Orleans.

COAL.....COAL.

H. & C. TYLER,

9.....CAHONDELET ST.....9

will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates.
oc30 3m H. & C. TYLER.

J. M. ELKIN. F. STEINUER.

ELKIN & CO.,

168.....CANAL STREET.....168

Near Baronne, New Orleans,

IMPORTERS OF ALL VARIETIES OF

English Carpetings, Rugs, Etc., Etc.

Also Oil Cloths, Mattings, Curtain Damasks, Lace Curtains, Window Shades, etc. oc23 1y

JOHN I. ADAMS. JAY L. ADAMS. WM. H. BENAUD.

JOHN I. ADAMS & CO.,

WHOLESALE GROCERS,
AND DEALERS IN
PROVISIONS, LARD, OIL, ETC.,
Nos. 43, 45 and 47 Peters Street,
(Formerly New Levee.)
mh27 1y New Orleans.

JAMES N. QUIN,
PRACTICAL
GAS AND STEAM-PIPE FITTER.

All kinds of Brass Work, General Southern Agent for the celebrated Nichols Patent Challenge Wind Mill; also for Challenge Feed Mills, Hay Cutters, Corn Shellers and Drove Wells. For price list and circulars address J. N. QUIN, ja30 1y 116 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans.

R. F. BRITTON. H. R. EPPLER.

BRITTON & EPPLER,

STEAMBOAT AGENTS

AND FORWARDING MERCHANTS,

No. 135 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.

Forwarding done free of commission. je5 3m

J. C. PAYNE. GEORGE MOORMAN.
B. M. PAYNE. J. G. PARHAM.

J. C. PAYNE & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS,

61 and 66.....Baronne Street.....61 and 66,

Between Union and Gravier streets,

je13 1y NEW ORLEANS, LA.

F. WAGENER, AGENT,

FRAMING STORE,

13 Baronne St., near Canal, New Orleans.

Frames of all descriptions made to order at the shortest notice and at New York prices.

Pictures and Window Shades put up. Cords, Tassels and Shade Fixtures for sale. my15 1y

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING,

CUTTING AND FITTING,

At Reasonable Prices, by

MRS. M. TOURNABEN,
No. 206 Prytania street,
mh27 1y Corner of St. Mary, New Orleans.

A. S. CUTLER,

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,

136½.....Camp Street.....136½

Bet. Girod and Lafayette, New Orleans.

Graining, Gilding, Glazing, Kalsomining and Whitewashing. my8 1y

Box 55, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange.

J. A. LUM. FRANK R. HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

112 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES. my29 9m

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

B. D. WOOD & BROS.,

106 Common St., opposite City Hotel,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied. my1 1y

T. W. BOTHICK, UNDERTAKER,

No. 271 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Metallic, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Rosewood COFFINS always on hand. Black, Satin, Brown and White Merino Ladies' and Children's Shrouding. Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Hearses, Carriages and Cabs for hire. Funerals attended to in person by the proprietor, who hopes, by strict attention, to obtain a share of public patronage. no2 1y

WILLIAM EBERT,

ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS,

AND GENERAL HOUSESMITH.

Iron Railings, Tomb Railings, Fences and Verandas of all kinds made to order; also Iron Shutters, Doors, Window and Door Gratings.

111 and 113 Magazine St., New Orleans.

Box 273, Mechanics' Exchange. ap10 1y

LEWIS LOCKWOOD,

MANUFACTURER OF

DR. D. HAY'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEGS AND ARMS,

125 Gravier St., New Orleans.

Prices from $75 to $180. Satisfaction guaranteed. No advance payment required. The patient can put on the leg and practically test it as long as desired. Pamphlets sent free. my3 1y

CRESCENT MACHINE SHOP.

JOSEPH WALKER,

Machinist, Engineer, Blacksmithing, ETC., ETC.,

CORNER ST. JOSEPH AND CONSTANCE STS., New Orleans.

☞ Plantation Machinery manufactured and repaired. Jobbing promptly attended to. ja30 1y

C. SAMPSON. F. G. SAMPSON.

SAMPSON BROTHERS,
(LATE C. C. SAMPSON,)

FURNITURE,

33 and 35.....Royal Street.....33 and 35

NEW ORLEANS.

Established in 1833. ja23 1y

GEORGE PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door Steam Factory.

AND LUMBER YARD,

Corner St. Charles and Clio Sts., New Orleans.

Lumber Depot—Corner Claiborne and Delord.

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS, MOLDINGS ARCHITRAVES, Base, Newels, Pilasters, Balusters, Cisterns, Doors, Blinds and GLAZED SASH, Rough and Dressed Lumber, Flooring, Ceiling, Weatherboarding, Laths and Shingles always on hand at lowest market prices. Door and Window Frames of all forms and sizes made to order. no28 1y

JOHNSON & HELLSMAN,

PRACTICAL PAINTERS,

141.....Magazine Street.....141

House and Sign Painting, Steamboat, Store and Office Painting, Graining, Marbling, Gilding and Kalsomining. All work promptly attended to, and charges moderate. No. 141 Magazine, between Julia and Girod streets. fe21 1y

TO THE PUBLIC.—I AM NOW PREpared to remove and repair IRON SAFES; also Lightning Rods repaired and put up to order. I have also on hand New and Second-hand SAFES for sale, both Burglar and Fire-Proof. Particular attention paid to repairing Bank Locks and Printing Presses, on most reasonable terms.

GEORGE COATS,
de28 1y No. 163 Magazine street, near Julia.

Second-hand Sewing Machines always on hand and for sale. Also second-hand Copying Presses.

ST. CHARLES NURSERY,

BY JAMES E. WALDO & CO.

Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Evergreens, Flowering Shrubs, Roses, Greenhouse and Bedding Plants, well-grown Orange Trees, Plants for Hanging Baskets and Flower Vases. Every exertion made to give full satisfaction in filling all orders from city or country. Packing done in a manner to insure safety in shipment any reasonable distance. Bouquets and Floral Designs made to order. Gardens laid out and taken care of. City Depot, 122 Camp street, New Orleans. no28 1y

BUSINESS CARDS.

WILLIAM VELDEN,

DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,

Corner Prytania and Philip Streets.

Oak, Ash, Bakers' Pine, Lightwood and Charcoal always on hand. Wood sawed to stove-length and split. no6 2m

T. J. BROWN,

PRACTICAL PAPER-HANGER,

And dealer in Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Buff, Green and White Hollands, Picture Cord, Tassels, etc.,

No. 263 Camp Street, New Orleans.

All orders from the country promptly attended to. no6 3m

F. ESTEVA,

CIGAR DEPOT,

Corner of Camp and Girod Streets,

New Orleans, La.

Havana and Domestic Cigars always on hand. Country orders promptly attended to. oc30 3m

F. J. KUHNHOLZ,

Book-Binder.

112.....GRAVIER ST.....112

Orders for Ruling and Binding executed with neatness and dispatch. Merchants and others requiring Blank-Books will find it to their interest to order direct from the binder. oc30 2m

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Boots, Shoes and Brogans,

Corner Ursulines and Dauphine Sts.,

(SIGN OF THE RED BOOT,)

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of articles in the Boot and Shoe line, for Ladies', Gentlemen's and Children's wear, constantly on hand, and offered at the LOWEST PRICES. oc30 2m

SANTIAGO M. LAPEYRE,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

Also Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Etc., Etc.,

No. 53 St. Louis Street,

oc30 2m Cor. St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

THE PREMIUM BUTCHER STALLS.

MARTIN LANNES, BUTCHER,

STALLS 37, 38 and 7,

MAGAZINE MARKET,

New Orleans, Louisiana.

respectfully informs his friends and the public in general that he is prepared to furnish Families, Hotels, Boarding-Houses, Steamboats, Ships and Steamships with the best BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, SAUSAGES, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Game, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords, at the very Lowest Rates. Thanking my customers for past favors, I solicit a continuance of the same. Recollect the Stalls, Nos. 37, 38 and 7, Magazine Market, where all orders sent will be thankfully received and promptly filled. ☞ All Meats delivered free of charge. oc21 6m

HENRY RRISBI,

STYLISH HATTER,

No. 3 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

All orders from the country promptly attended to. oc23 1f

NEW ORLEANS STENCIL WORKS

AND

MAGIC BATTERY MANUFACTORY.

AGENCY OF THE GOLDEN WONDER

GEORGE E. TEETZEL & CO.,

ENGRAVERS STENCIL CUTTERS, STAMP AND SEAL-MAKERS,

82.....Gravier Street.....82

New Orleans, Louisiana.

Manufacturers of all kinds of Cotton Brands Stencil Plates, Ribbon Stamps, Seal Presses, Burning Brands, Door Plates, House Numbers, etc. etc. ja30 1y

THE MITCHELL & RAMMELSBERG FURNITURE CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN ALL KINDS OF

FURNITURE,
MATTRESSES,
LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.

Nos. 103 and 105 Camp Street,

Corner Poydras, Moresque Building, New Orleans,

Have the largest and best assortment of FURNITURE OF ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.

Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. my29 1y

S. B. HAGGART,

ARCHITECT,

No. 5 Commercial Place, New Orleans.

Plans, detail drawings and specifications of Churches, School-houses and buildings of every description. de12 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

R. D. MACLIN.

No. 31 Carondelet Street.

Pittsburg, Anthracite and American Cannel Coal, screened for family use. All orders from the country will receive immediate attention.

Yard, cor. Third and Tchoupitoulas Sts. oct3 1y

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.
COR. CANAL & ROYAL STS.
NEW ORLEANS
SOUTHERN AGENTS FOR THE
GORHAM MFG COMPANY
LARGEST MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD OF
STERLING SILVER WARE

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND

—AND—

DOOR FACTORY,

ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,

301, 303, 305 and 307 Gravier Street,

je5 1y New Orleans.

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARETTES,

and a full assortment of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, constantly on hand and for sale cheap by

ED. L. ZELL,
Corner Canal and Carondelet streets,
de19 1y New Orleans, La.

B. T. WALSHE
IMPORTER AND DEALER IN
MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS
BOYS' & CHILDREN'S CLOTHING,
No. 110 CANAL ST.
NEW ORLEANS
no6 3m

J. H. KELLER
SOAP MANUFACTORY,
Cor. St. Andrew & Howard.
OFFICE AND SALESROOM:
110 Gravier, Cor. Bank Place.
fe27 1y

P. A. LEBLANC. T. A. BECK.

LeBLANC & BECK,

COOPERS,

Nos. 23 and 24 Front street, between Customhouse and Bienville streets, Sugar Landing, New Orleans, have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Hoop Poles, etc. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to trimming. no28 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED.....NOVEMBER, 1866.

THE PELICAN JOB OFFICE,

WHERE EXPEDITIOUS AND FIRST-CLASS

COMMERCIAL, BOOK AND JOB PRINTING IS EXECUTED,

NOS. 112 AND 114 POYDRAS STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

ERNEST TURPIN, PROPRIETOR.

A BRONZE MEDAL was awarded this office in 1868; also a BRONZE MEDAL AND TWO DIPLOMAS at the Louisiana State Fair, 1872.

Ledgers, Journals, Cash-Books, Check-Books, Time-Books, Music-Books, Ruling, etc. mh6 1y sw

D. H. HOLMES,

DIRECT IMPORTATION OF

DRY GOODS,

NO. 155 CANAL STREET AND NO. 15 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

IMPORTER OF

Silks, Embroidery, Laces, Ladies' and Children's Suits, Hosiery,

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, MATTINGS, ETC.

ap24 1y

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,

Between Julia and St. Joseph,

ja2 1y New Orleans, La.

DR. JOHN G. ANGELL,

DENTAL SURGEON,

152.....Julia Street.....152

All operations in Operative, Mechanical and Surgical Dentistry carefully performed.

Nitrous Oxide and other Anæsthetics administered. no28 1y

G. W. RACE. W. H. FOSTER.
E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice, Louisiana.

RACE, FOSTER & E. T. MERRICK,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,
se25 NEW ORLEANS.

IRON WORKS—BELLS.

BOSTON ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS.

EMPIRE LAWN MOWERS.

The Best in the Market.

Fountains, Vases, Statues, Deer, Dogs, Lions and other Lawn and Garden Ornaments.

Iron and Wire Railings for public and private buildings, banks, cemeteries, window-guards, etc. Iron Cresting for Mansard roofs.

Iron Stable Fixtures of the most approved design.

Copper Weather Vanes. Over two hundred new and original designs.

Emblematic Signs, suitable for every trade and profession.

Reynolds' Iron Roofing. Warranted.

All kinds of Wrought and Cast Iron made for building purposes. Estimates given. Send for catalogue.

HUBBER & CO., Proprietors,
Office—23 Exchange street.
aa21 6m Factory—68 Merrimac St., Boston.

RAILINGS.....RAILINGS.

WROUGHT IRON AND WIRE RAILINGS

FOR

Public Grounds, Cemeteries, Cottages, ETC., ETC.

Iron Bedsteads, with Wire Sackings, for Hospitals, etc. Verandas and every variety of Wrought Iron and Wire work. Every information by addressing the manufacturers,

M. WALKER & SONS,
se18 1y 805 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WIRE RAILING

AND

ORNAMENTAL WIRE WORKS.

DUFUR & CO.,

No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.,

Manufacture Wire Railing for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Sleeves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc. oc2 1y

PATENT COMBINED IRON FENCES.

(The New Plan of Iron Nailed to Iron.)

The best and neatest in the world for public and private grounds. Send for designs.

J. B. WICKERSHAM & SONS,
Sole Manufacturers.
se25 3m 1004 Ridge avenue, Philadelphia.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted

Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati
R. J. WEST, Agent,
mh6 1y 115 and 117 Magazine st., New Orleans.

MENEELY & KIMBERLY,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.

Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.

☞ Illustrated catalogue sent free. jy31 1y

WATER WHEEL

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED

N. F. Burnham's New Turbine

WATER WHEEL

To be the Best ever Invented.

Pamphlet free. Address—York, Pa.
jy24 6m

YELLOW FEVER

Can be successfully treated by any one. See Dr. S. S. FITCH'S

NEW FAMILY PHYSICIAN.

Sent free of charge to any person sending their name and address to 714 BROADWAY New York 30 4t

MEDICAL.

MATERN WEBER,

APOTHECARY,

No. 181, Cor. Bayou and Spain Sts.,

has practiced as an Apothecary since 1851—before the School of Medicine was established in New Orleans. He defies any competitor; moreover, there is no Chemist in the world who is able to analyze the following articles:

Weber's Spermatorrhic Pills ($2 per box.)
Cough Syrup (25 per bottle.)
Sarsaparilla ($2 per bottle.)
Piles Ointment ($1 per box.)
Dyspepsia Mixture, and Lotion for Sores.

He guarantees all the above compounds free from Mercury or any other injurious ingredients. He charges only for his medicine. no6 2m

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

THE STANDARD REMEDY FOR

SCROFULA,

And all diseases arising from

IMPURITY OF BLOOD,

such as Eruptions, Pimples, Boils, Ulcers or Sores, Abscesses, White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, etc., and all affections of the Eyes, Ears, Throat or Lungs, occurring in Scrofulous constitutions. For pamphlets, illustrating cases, send to

SWAIM'S LABORATORY,
113 S. Seventh street, below Chestnut,
oc23 1m Philadelphia, Pa.

A BOX OF LIVER PILLS (FREE)

GOES

WITH EVERY BOTTLE

OF OUR

AGUE MEDICINE,

which we authorize every druggist to sell on

THE WARRANT

that, if taken according to directions and it fails to cure,

The Money Shall be Refunded.

We guarantee that it contains neither Arsenic, Strychnine nor any other poisonous ingredient.

Hear what those who have used it say of it:

READ THIS.

Thos. Broughton, with John D. Park, of Cincinnati, says: "H. C. Hamilton & Co.—I had had the Ague for two long years, and had tried several remedies of acknowledged or pretended merit without any good result. I finally tried your preparation—KRESS FEVER TONIC. One bottle completely broke up the malady, and I am now perfectly well. I can testify that your medicine does all you claim for it; and it is only due to you that this acknowledgment should be made, especially as so many worthless old medicines are now offered."

☞ Ask for KRESS FEVER TONIC, and remember the guarantee of the proprietors,

W. C. HAMILTON & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
jy17 3m Cincinnati, Ohio.

BETHESDA MINERAL WATER.—THE acknowledged cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Liver and Illious Affections, Kidney and Urinary diseases. Sold, wholesale or retail, at 38 Magazine street.

J. C. McALLISTER,
Sole Southern Agent.
Address Glass Box 825. mh6 1y

WORKING CLASS—MALE OR FEMALE. $30 a week. Employment at home, day or evening; no capital. Instructions and valuable package of goods sent free by mail. Address, with six-cent return stamp, M. YOUNG & CO., 173 Greenwich street, New York. no6 13t

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARBLE

—AND—

GRANITE WORKS.

GEORGE STROUD,

Late of and successor to John Stroud & Co.,

(Established in 1830,)

158, 160, 162 AND 164 ST. CHARLES ST.,

Corner of Girod Street, New Orleans.

Every description of Monumental, Cemetery and Building Work done in the best manner.

Particular attention given to all COUNTRY ORDERS.

A long experience in and an aptness at the business enables the proprietor to meet the views and ideas of his country friends by letter, as well as by a visit to the city.

Designs and Sketches will be furnished on application. no28 1y

BABCOCK SELF-ACTING FIRE ENGINE,

FOR CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE USE.

The Babcock Fire Extinguisher, Hook and Ladder Trucks, with Portable Fire Extinguishers attached. The Fire Departments in the principal cities of the Union use them daily. They are safe and simple, and a powerful protection. Forty-six railroads use them. Insurance companies reduce rates where it is introduced.

A. M. GRANGER, General Agent,
mh6 1y Exposition Building

CABINS.....LUMBER.....CABINS,

PLANTATION CABINS, manufactured in the city and shipped to the country, all framed, fitted, and each piece marked and numbered, so that a common hand can put them up without the aid of a carpenter.

The above represents a double Cabin of two rooms, each 14x15, built with boards placed upright and the joints striped. Price, delivered to boat, including all hardware, nails, shingles, etc., $135. We make them of all sizes. Cost in proportion.

We also keep a large stock of LUMBER, SASH, etc., on hand, and make a specialty of sawing bills to order. W. W. CARRE & CO.,
ja23 1y 150 Delord street, New Orleans.

THE IMPROVED LASH WASHING MACHINE.

PRICE ONLY $15.

Warranted Entirely Satisfactory If Used as Directed.

Is unequaled as a "Family Washer," and equally adapted to Schools, Colleges, Hotels, etc. Will "thoroughly wash" the worst-soiled clothing without hand-rubbing in one-third the time usually required, and will not injure the most delicate fabric.

Call on or address Union Box and Machine Manufacturing Co., Room 3, Rear 313½ WALNUT St., Philadelphia, or No. 5 North SEVENTEENTH street. se25 3m

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.

UNDER CARE OF

The Holston Conference, M. E. Church South.

Founded in 1849. Greatly improved. Boarding-house, with farm of five hundred acres. Fare generous. Faculty full. Instruction thorough. Located in the quiet country, seven miles from Sweetwater, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Rail road. Expenses of tuition, board, fuel, lodging and washing less than $150 a year. Conveyance any day. For further information address

REV. J. H. BRUNNER,
se25 6m Sweetwater, Tenn.

READVILLA SEMINARY

—WILL—

Reopen on Monday, October 2, 1873,

with a limited number of pupils, and with a full corps of experienced and successful teachers.

Students returning to the Seminary, and those desiring to enter it, are requested to be present the first day of the session.

For further information in reference to the school inquire of its pupils and patrons throughout the South, or for catalogues apply to the Principal,

MRS. M. W. READ,
se13 3m Baton Rouge, La.

BINGHAM HOUSE, PHILADELPHIA,

Corner of Eleventh and Market Sts.

CARLIS DAVIS, PROPRIETOR.

This popular Hotel being centrally located and accessible by street cars from all depots, makes it a desirable stopping-place for travelers. It will be conducted in the same liberal manner as heretofore, it being the intention of the proprietor to maintain the reputation it has always enjoyed of being in all respects a first-class hotel.

Terms, $2a day. se11 1y

JOHN GIBSON,

ENGRAVER

AND

Steam Power Lithographic Printer,

82 BEEKMAN ST., NEW YORK.

Checks, Notes, Drafts, Receipts, Bonds, Certificates of Stock and Deposit, Bill, Letter and Note Headings, Business Cards, Envelops, Druggists' Fancy and Perfumery Labels, etc. Druggists wishing Labels, send for catalogue. jy3 1y

BRINLY PLOWS

Best and Cheapest in Use,

Have taken over 300 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue with Price-list, and Certificates of Planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
LOUISVILLE, KY.
se25 6m

PENNSYLVANIA

STAINED GLASS WORKS.

Aiken & Isaac, Proprietors.

Office and Works—3737, 3739 and 3741 FILBERT street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Designs and estimates furnished on application for Memorial, Subject and other Church Windows; also for Hall and Staircase Windows and Skylights for private residences and public halls. se18 3m

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ

131 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Caleche built anywhere oc23 3m

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!—A COMplete Agent's Outfit for only 50 cents. One-half dozen fine Aurora Gold Pens; one Combination Penholder, Eraser, etc.; one Gride Gold Fountain Pen; one fine Lead-Pencil (Faber's); one fine Gents' Vest-Chain; one lot Chinese Glosselle; one fine Imitation Cornelian set Sleeve-Buttons, Collar-Buttons and Studs, all in a neat box. All of the above articles will be sent, as samples, on receipt of 50 cents, post-paid. Address, at once,

I. C. HAMILTON, Springfield, Mass.
au28 3m P. O. Box 1218.

AGENTS! AGENTS!—AGENTS WANTED!

The Housekeepers' Combination.

Sells like hot cakes. Send 50 cents for it. Three most useful articles and Circular, only 50 cents.

I. C. HAMILTON, Springfield, Mass.
au28 3m Lock Drawer 1218, P. O.

New Orleans Markets.

From the New Orleans Price Current.

The river is 12 feet 3 inches below high-water mark.

COTTON.—The following are the arrivals since the Republican:

| | |
|---|---|
| Louisiana and Mississippi | bales... 17,362 |
| Lake | 12 |
| Arkansas | 107 |
| Mobile | 1,942 |
| Tennessee | 2,931 |
| Texas | 274 |
| Total | 21,847 |

On Saturday the market opened with a very active demand, and fully 4,000 bales changed hands during the morning, at prices showing some irregularity, factors occasionally realizing an advance, without indicating any quotable variation, but after meridian buyers evinced less eagerness, and upon the whole the advantage toward the close was on the side of the buyer. The business summed up 6,000 bales. For currency strict ordinary to good ordinary at 13¼c., strict good ordinary at 14c., with 2 per cent. added for checks, &c., benders, at 14¼c., low middling at 14½c., and strict low middling at 15c. In addition to the above two sales of 50 bales each strict good ordinary to low middling, to arrive on Tuesday and Thursday, were reported at 13⅜c. On Monday the movement was checked by the wires being down, and no dispatches received from any point until toward the close, when a telegram came through from New York, via Galveston, reporting a decline in spots of ⅛c and an improvement in futures of ¼@⅜c. The sales were consequently confined to 2,000 bales at irregular and easier prices. On Tuesday the market opened with a moderate inquiry, and buyers obtaining concessions which factors were unwilling to admit. The sales were 6,200 bales, the bulk of the business showing a decline of ⅛@⅛c.

The above makes an aggregate for the past three days of 14,200 bales, against 13,430 for the corresponding time last week and 10,650 the week before.

The receipts proper at this port since the first of September, exclusive of the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, are 191,138 bales, against 253,801 bales to the same date last year, and the decrease in the receipts at all the ports up to the latest dates, as compared with last year, is 153,361 bales. In the exports from the United States to foreign countries, as compared with the same date last year, there is a decrease of 24,131, to Great Britain, of 43,741 to France and of 40,595 to other foreign ports. We quote:

| | |
|---|---|
| Strict ordinary...currency... | 12¼ @ 12⅝ |
| Good ordinary | 13 @ 13¼ |
| Strict good ordinary | 13⅜ @ 13⅝ |
| Low middling | 14⅛ @ 14¼ |
| Strict low middling | 14⅜ @ 14⅝ |
| Middling | 15 @ 15⅛ |
| Strict middling | 15¼ @ 15⅜ |
| Good middling | 16¼ @ — |

COTTON STATEMENT.

| | |
|---|---|
| Stock on hand Sept. 1, 1873...bales | 7,177 |
| Arrived past three days | 21,847 |
| Arrived previously | 195,779— 217,626 |
| | 224,803 |
| Exported past three days | 14,129 |
| Exported previously | 109,410— 123,539 |
| Stock on hand and on shipboard | 101,264 |

SUGAR.—Better supplies, offering good scope for purchasers to operate, have brought out buyers, and we now note a good demand and firmer market. On Tuesday 336 hhds. were received. The demand was active, and prices were stronger, with open-kettle at ⅛c. firmer, and clarified at ⅛@¼c. The supplies were light, and all sold at 5¼@5¾c. for common, 6@6¼c. for fair, 6¼@6⅞c. for good fair, 8¼c. for strictly prime, 6@7¼c. for seconds, &c. for low clarified, 8¼@8½c. for yellow clarified, and 9@9⅜c. for standard white.

MOLASSES.—The market was dull, and under the influence of liberal receipts prices declined. On Tuesday 1,488 bbls. and ½ half bbls. were received. The demand was good at firmer prices, and the supplies were sold at 22@33c. for centrifugal, 34@36c. for common, 36@37c. for fair, 40@42c. for prime, 45@46c. for strictly prime, and 47@48c. for strictly prime to choice.

CORN.—The supply is about equal to the demand, which is only fair. On Tuesday 1,350 sacks sold at 60c. for mixed, 70c. for choice yellow, and 72c. for white.

OATS.—Owing to light supplies prices have advanced. The demand is fair. On Saturday 2,500 sacks sold at 52@53c. ₰ bushel, and on Monday 400 sacks sold at 53c. ₰ bushel. On Tuesday 950 sacks sold at 54c. for ordinary, and 57@58c. for choice.

BRAN—In good supply and dull. Sales on Saturday comprised 850 sacks at 90@95c. Offers of 90c. on Monday were refused, when there were no sales of note. On Tuesday 550 sacks sold at 90, 92½@95c. ₰ 100 lbs.

PORK.—The market has continued very dull and depressed, with a small stock on hand. Mess is offering in round lots at $15 ₰ bbl. It is retailing at $15.50@16 ₰ bbl.

LARD.—On Saturday a lot of 25 tierces refined sold at 8¼c., and on Monday 40 kegs packers' sold at 9¼c. ₰ lb. On Tuesday 45 kegs packers' sold at 9½c. ₰ lb.

MONETARY.

Gold opened on Tuesday at 109⅛@109⅜ for currency and 111⅛@111⅜ for checks (against 109¼ at New York,) and closed at 109⅛@109⅜ for currency and 111@111⅛ for checks (against 109¼ at New York.)

Nothing has been reported in silver. It is extremely scarce. Quotations are entirely nominal.

New Orleans Wholesale Prices.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

Made up from Actual Sales as they Transpire.

| ARTICLES. | FROM | TO |
|---|---|---|
| AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS: | | |
| Cotton scrapers | $5 00 | $6 00 |
| Cotton sweeps | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Cultivators, Ditzn. and shovel-tooth | 9 00 | 18 00 |
| Cultivators, riding and walking | 25 00 | 45 00 |
| Shovels and spades | 7 50 | 16 50 |
| Axes | 12 00 | 17 50 |
| Shovel plows | 6 00 | 9 00 |
| Half do., with cutters | 8 00 | 10 00 |
| Manly's double-shovel plow | 6 00 | 9 75 |
| Corn mills, Coleman's | 120 00 | 427 00 |
| Bradford's grist mills | 150 00 | 235 00 |
| BAGGING, ₰ M: | | |
| Lake | 13 00 | 16 00 |
| Country | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| English fire | 45 00 | 50 00 |
| American fire | 35 00 | 43 00 |
| CANDLES, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Sperm, New Bedford | 33 | 36 |
| Tallow | 17 | — — |
| CHOCOLATE, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Cocoa | 38 | 60 |
| No. 1 | 50 | 52 |
| Sweet | 25 | — — |
| COAL, ₰ ton: | | |
| Anthracite | — — | 13 00 |
| Western, ₰ bbl | — — | — — |
| COFFEE, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Mexican | 27 | 28 |
| Java | 30 | — — |
| COTTON SEED: | | |
| Rough, ₰ ton | — — | 10 00 |
| In sacks | — — | — — |
| EGGS, ₰ dozen: | | |
| Western | 25 | 30 |
| FERTILIZERS, ₰ ton: | | |
| Stern's raw-bone superphosph'e | — — | 65 00 |
| Stern's fine-ground bone | — — | 45 00 |
| FLOUR, ₰ bbl.: | | |
| Double extra | 5 75 | 6 00 |
| Superfine | — — | 4 75 |
| Fine | — — | — — |
| GLASS, ₰ box of 50 feet: | | |
| French, 8 by 10 | — — | 4 00 |
| French, 10 by 12 | 4 00 | 4 25 |
| French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 24 | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 24 | 4 50 | 5 00 |
| HAY, ₰ ton: | | |
| Prime | — — | 24 00 |
| Choice | — — | 27 00 |
| IRON, ₰ ton: | | |
| English, ₰ lb | 4½ | 5¾ |
| Swedes, assorted | 7½ | 8 |
| Hoop | 7 | 9 |
| Sheet | 7 | 10 |
| Nail rods | — — | 9¾ |
| Castings, American | 5¾ | 6 |
| LEATHER, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Sole, hemlock | 30 | 33 |
| Sole, oak | 40 | 44 |
| Harness | 38 | 45 |
| Calf-skins, ₰ dozen | 35 00 | 100 00 |
| Texas, rough, ₰ lb | 24 | 28 |
| LIME, ₰ bbl.: | | |
| Western | 1 75 | — — |
| Cement | 2 75 | 3 00 |
| Plaster Paris | 3 50 | 3 75 |
| LUMBER, ₰ M feet: | | |
| Boards, yellow pine | 13 00 | 15 00 |
| Boards, cypress | 20 00 | 25 00 |
| Flooring, dressed | 18 00 | 21 00 |
| Flooring, rough | 11 00 | 17 00 |
| Ceiling, dressed | — — | 12 00 |
| Weatherboards, dressed | 15 00 | 18 00 |
| Weatherboards, rough | — — | 12 00 |
| Scantling | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| Shingles, ₰ M | 3 50 | 4 00 |
| Laths | 2 50 | 2 75 |
| OILS: | | |
| Lard, ₰ gallon | — — | — — |
| Coal oil, in barrels | 22 | 25 |
| Linseed, raw | 1 10 | — — |
| SUGAR, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Havana, white | — — | — — |
| Havana, yellow | 9 | 10 |
| Havana, brown | 9 | 9½ |
| Crushed | 11¾ | 12 |
| Pulverized | 11¾ | 12 |
| TEAS, ₰ lb.: | | |
| Imperial | 50 | 1 20 |
| Gunpowder | — — | 1 40 |
| Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Young Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Souchong | 30 | — — |
| Oolong | 40 | 1 10 |
| WAGONS, CARTS, ETC.: | | |
| Wagon, two-horse | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 110 00 | 135 00 |
| Wagon, two-horse, thin skein | 55 00 | 90 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse, do | 100 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane wagon | 180 00 | 210 00 |
| Ox wagon | 90 00 | 125 00 |
| Ox cart, complete | 110 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane cart | 85 00 | 120 00 |
| Tongue cart, complete | 120 00 | 125 00 |
| Plantation cart | 55 00 | 70 00 |

CATTLE MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18, 1873.

| | |
|---|---|
| Texas beeves, choice, ₰ head | $— — @45 00 |
| Texas beeves, first quality, ₰ head | 35 00 @ 40 00 |
| Texas cattle, second quality, ₰ head | 20 00 @ 25 00 |
| Texas cattle, third quality, ₰ head | 12 00 @ 15 00 |
| Western beeves, ₰ lb. net | 10 @ 12½ |
| Sheep, first quality, ₰ head | 4 00 @ 5 00 |
| Sheep, second quality, ₰ head | 3 00 @ 4 00 |
| Milch cows, choice, ₰ head | 80 00 @100 00 |
| Milch cows, ₰ head | 35 00 @ 50 00 |
| Calves, ₰ head | 7 00 @ 10 00 |
| Yearlings, ₰ head | 8 00 @ 12 00 |

Business Directory

OF THE

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Agencies.
American Family Bible Publishing Company, Cincinnati Ohio
Barclay & Co., Philadelphia.
E. C. Bridgman, New York.
W. H. Chidester, New York.
A. Coyle, St. Louis, Mo.
George L. Felton, New York.
L. C. Hamilton, Springfield, Massachusetts.
E. Hannaford & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Mrs. H. Mogridge, purchasing agent, 96 Canal street.
M. Young & Co., New York.

Architects.
T. Whitney Carter, 58 Carondelet street.
S. B. Haggart, 5 Commercial place.

Artificial Legs and Arms.
Lewis Lockwood, 59 Camp street.

Banks.
New Orleans Savings Institution, 156 Canal st.

Bed Springs.
John Flinn, Philadelphia.

Bells.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Buckeye Bell Foundery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Book-Binder.
F. Kuhnholz, 112 Gravier street.

Books and Stationery.
Robert J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.
American Sunday School Union, Philadelphia.
Continental Publishing Co., St. Louis, Missouri.
E. A. Hutchinson & Co., New Orleans.
Nettleton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. Hale Powers & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Queen City Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
James W. Queen & Co., New York.
H. R. Thompson & Co., 9 Lakeside building, Chicago, Illinois.
United States Publishing Company, New York.
Valley Publishing Company, New Orleans.
A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn

Boots and Shoes.
John Hansen, 33 Canal street.
Mrs. D. J. Loewenstein, 589 Magazine street.
F. Selles, 181 Poydras street.
George John Wagner, corner Ursulines and Dauphine streets.

Butchers.
Martin Lannes, stalls 37, 38 and 7 Magazine market.

Canned Goods.
J. Winslow Jones, Portland, Maine.
Burnham & Morrill, Portland, Maine.

Carpets.
A. Brousseau & Co., 17 Chartres street.
Elkin & Co., 168 Canal street.

Carriages, Wagons, Etc.
Joseph Beckhaus, Philadelphia.
W. F. Clark, 134 Rampart street.
D. M. Hollingsworth, 54 and 56 Baronne street.
J. A. Lum & Co., 162 Gravier and 13 Union street.

Clothing and Furnishing Goods.
M. Cogan, 19 and 29 Canal street.
Pierson & Hews, 13 and 15 Camp street.
B. T. Walshe, 110 Canal street.

Coal and Wood.
John D. Maclin, 34 Carondelet street.
H. & C. Tyler, 0 Carondelet street.
B. D. Wood & Bros., 106 Common street.
Wm. Velden, cor. Prytania and Phillip streets.

Cooperage.
Wm. J. Beirne & Co., cor. Marengo and Levee.
LeBlanc & Beck, 23 and 24 Front street

Cotton Ties.
Barthett & Rayne, 48 Carondelet street.

Croquet.
Bradley's Patent Croquet, Robt. J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.

Crockery, China, Etc.
W. P. Shepard & Co., 55 Camp street.

Dentists.
Dr. John G. Angell, 152 Julia street.

Dry Goods.
D. H. Holmes, 155 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

Educational.
Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana.
J. W. Blackman's Commercial College, 121 Carondelet street.
Emory and Henry College, Washington county, Virginia.
Hiwassee College, Sweetwater, Tennessee.
Homer College, Homer, Louisiana.
Readyilla Seminary, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
F. W. Sharbrough, Bronkhaven, Miss.
Southern University, Greensboro, Alabama.
Wesleyan Female Institute, Staunton, Va.
Whitworth Female College, Brookhaven, Miss

Engravers and Lithographers.
John Gibson, New York.
George E. Teetzel & Co., 82 Gravier street.

Factors and Commission Merchants.
Alken & Watt, 60 Carondelet street.
G. M. Bayly & Pond, 31 to 42 Canal and 59 and 61 Common street.
J. L. Dundes & Co., 66 Tchoupitoulas street.
J. U. & H. M. Payne & Co., 64 and 66 Baronne st.

Fancy Goods.
Variety store, 547 Magazine street.
Mrs. S. Zeghirin, 621 Magazine street.

Fire Engine.
Babcock Self-Acting Fire Engine, A. M. Granger, general agent, Exposition building

Frames.
F. Wagener, 13 Baronne street.

Furniture.
J. Bois, 291 Camp street.
M. A. Davis & Sons, Philadelphia.
Nath. Johnson, New York.
The Mitchell & Rammelsberg Furniture Co. 103 and 105 Camp street.
National School Furniture Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Sampson & Bros., 33 and 35 Royal street.
W. P. Uhlinger, Philadelphia.

Gas and Steam-Pipe Fitters.
Barbarin Gas Machines, F. Roberts, superintendent, 2 Triangle building and 255 Peters st.
Jas. N. Quin, 115 and 120 Tchoupitoulas street.

Glass Works.
Aickin & Isaac, Philadelphia.

Grocers.
John F. Adams & Co., 43, 45 and 47 Peters street.

Hats.
Henry Brisbi, 3 Carondelet street.

Hay.
Jacob C. Baker, Portland, Maine.

Hides and Tallow.
New Orleans Butchers' Hide and Tallow Co.

Hotels.
American House, Boston, Massachusetts.
Bingham House, Philadelphia.
McAllister's House, cor. Carondelet and Julia.
St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

Human Hair Goods.
J. G. Bermel, 121 Canal street.
George T. Stulting, 251 Dryades street.

Ink.
Printers' Ink, S. Collins & Co., New York.

Insurance.
Ætna Life Insurance Co., 2 Carondelet street.
American Life Insurance Co., 10 Carondelet st.
Crescent Mutual Insurance Company.
Equitable Life Assurance Co., 33 Camp street.
Franklin Fire Insurance Co., 114 Common st.

Iron Manufactories.
Billings & Spencer Company, Hartford, Conn
Boston Ornamental Iron Works, Boston, Mass.
M. Walker & sons, Philadelphia.
J. H. Wiekersham & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

Jewelry.
A. B. Griswold & Co., cor. Canal and Royal sts.

Lumber.
A. W. Carre & Co., 350 Delord street.
Thomas Hessan, cor. Cedar and Julia streets.
F. Heuer, 945 and 950 New Levee street
Ocean Saw Mill, foot of Bordeaux street, Sixth District.
John C. Pooley, 315 Julia street.
George Purves, cor. St. Charles and Clio streets.
Roberts & Co., 301 to 307 Gravier street.

Machinery.
N. P. Burnham's Water-wheel, York, Pa.
Daniel & James D. Edwards, 22 to 28 Front and 21 to 27 Delta street.
Lewis Johnson, corner Julia, Delta and Water streets
Meneely & Kimberly, Troy, New York.
W. H. Reynolds, corner Fulton and South Market streets.
Jos. Walker, corner St. Joseph and Constance streets.
B. J. West, 115 and 117 Magazine street.

Magic Lanterns.
W. Mitchell McAllister, Philadelphia, Pa.

Manufacturers.
William Ebert, 164 and 166 Magazine street.

Marble.
George Stroud, 158 to 161 St. Charles street.

Medical.
Mrs. M. G. Brown's Metaphysical Discovery, 51 Bond street, New York.
Chills and Fevers, Dr. J. A. Mayes, Mayesville, South Carolina.
Citrate of Magnesia, etc., Hofmann & Co., N. Y.
Craddock & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Cundurango Bitters, 44 Hampshire street.
Fever and Ague cure, Billings, Clapp & Co., New York.
Dr. Fuller's Vegetable Rheumatic Syrup, E. J. Hart & Co., New Orleans.
Fits and Epilepsy cure, T. H. Soyre, New York.
Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion, W. C. Hamilton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
New Family Physician, New York.
Dr. Rosch's Hair Regenerator, 134 Thalia st.
Rogers' Citrate of Magnesia, Arthur Rogers, New York.
Simmons' Liver Regulator, J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Swaim's celebrated Panacea, 170 William st., New York.
The Greatest Medical Discovery, Dr. Kennedy, Roxbury, Massachusetts.
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills, 18 and 20 Platt street, New York.
Mistern Weber, apothecary, corner Royal and Spain streets.

Mineral and Soda Water.
Bethesda Mineral Water, J. C. McAllister, agent, glass box 825, New Orleans

Millinery.
Mme. Mouhardier, 19 Bourbon street.
Mrs. M. Tourmaben, 209 Prytania street.

Modiste.
Sophie, 14 Baronne street.

Musical Instruments, Publications, Etc.
Robert J. Harp, 110 and 112 Camp street.
Bigelow & Main, New York and Chicago.
S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, Ohio.
S. C. Collins, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
Charles H. Ditson & Co., New York.
Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, Massachusetts.
Louis Grunewald, 18, 20 and 22 Baronne street.
Lee & Walker, Philadelphia, Pa.
Alexander Mills, organ builder, New York.
Horace Waters & Son, New York.

Painters.
A. S. Cutler, 136½ Camp street.
Johnson & Hillsman, 141 Magazine street.

Paper Fashions.
Domestic sewing Machine Co., New York.

Paper-Hanger.
T. J. Brown, 253 Camp street.

Paper Mills.
Atlanta Paper Mills, Atlanta, Georgia.

Patents.
John A. Wiedersheim & Co., Philadelphia.

Pens.
R. Esterbrook & Co., New York.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

Perfumery.
Colgate & Co.'s Cashmere Bouquet.

Plows.
Brinly Plows, Brinly, Miles & Hardy, Louisville, Kentucky.

Preserved Corn.
Portland Packing Company, Portland, Maine.

Printing.
Pelican Job Office, 112 and 114 Poydras street.

Professional.
Dr. C. J. Bickham, office, corner Magazine and Second streets.
Mr. J. J. Lyons, office, 219 Carondelet street.
Messrs. Eustis & Parkerson, law office, corner Camp and Commercial place.

Pumps.
Chicago Farm Pumps, H. S. Twichell, agent.

Railroads.
Grant Jackson Route, E. D. Frost, general manager; A. D. Sheldon, agent.

Saddlery.
George Plumb & Co., 831 Poydras street.

Seeds and Plowers.
Kern, Stelber & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
D. Landreth & Son, Philadelphia.
James E. Wehlo & Co., 122 Camp street.

Sewing Machines.
Florence Sewing Machine Co., Florence, Mass.
Weed Sewing Machine, 207 Canal street.

Soap.
J. H. Keller, 110 Gravier street.

Stables.
Southern Sale Stables, cor. Delord and Dryades.

Steamboat Agents.
Britton & Eppler, 135 Gravier street.

Steamships and Shipping.
Cromwell Line New York Steamers, Alfred Moulton, agent, 41 Carondelet street.
Merchants' Line New York Steamers, John H. Ludwigsen, agent, 190 Comaion street.

Stoves.
H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Tobacco and Cigars.
F. Esteva, corner Camp and Girod streets.
Santiago M. Lapeyre, 51 St. Louis street.
Ed. L. Zell, corner Canal and Carondelet streets.

Undertakers.
T. W. Bothick, 271 Camp street, New Orleans.

Upholstery.
Heath & Lara, 90 Camp street

Wants.
Goodwyn & Co., lock box 161, New Orleans.

Washing Machines.
Lash Washing Machine, No. 5 North Seventeenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Bingen Washer, H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Watches.
New York Watch Company, Springfield, Mass.

Wire Railing, Etc.
Dufur & Co., Baltimore, Maryland.

Special Notices.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—When you reach Selma report of the Methodist church. The railroads will pass you on the following terms:

S. and N. O.—Pay full fare coming, and obtain a return ticket from the conductor.

Alabama Central and S. M. and M.—Pay full fare coming, and return free on certificate of the secretary of Conference.

S. R. and D., and S. and G.—Buy full ticket to come, and get from the agent a certificate, which, when indorsed by the secretary of Conference, will return you free.

Mobile and Girard.—Pay full fare coming. Return on certificate of presiding officer.

Western Road.—Procure from agents round-trip tickets.

Mobile and Montgomery.—Get excursion tickets, with coupons attached to return.

Mobile and Ohio.—Excursion tickets at one and one-fifth fare for the round trip.

Montgomery and Eufaula.—Haven't heard from.

Comply strictly with the above directions if you wish the benefit of half fare. Get your excursion or round-trip tickets after attending church, if you can. Last year some were charged on their return from Conference who had ten-day tickets. The time had elapsed. Presiding elders will send me promptly full lists of my members of the Conference, and of preachers coming up for admission and for ordination. Brethren who expect to bring their wives will please notify me.

M. S. ANDREWS.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

NOTICE.—The Publishing Committee of the ADVOCATE gave it as their opinion that the insertion of the notices of Quarterly Conferences once or twice was sufficient, and, as the space of the paper is valuable, they passed a resolution recommending that they "be not inserted more than once or twice." Our friends who are interested in these appointments will take due notice thereof, as we propose to be governed by the resolution in future.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Mansfield circuit, at Mansfield | Nov. 1, 2 |
| Keachie circuit, at Keachie | 8, 9 |
| Caddo circuit, at Mount Zion | 15, 16 |
| Many circuit, at Fort Jessup | 22, 23 |
| Amacoco circuit, at Holly Grove | 28, 30 |
| Springville circuit, at Forest Grove | Dec. 6, 7 |
| Pleasant Hill circuit, at Beulah | 13, 14 |
| North Bossier circuit | 20, 21 |
| Shreveport station | 27, 28 |

13 JOHN PIPES, P. E.

INSURANCE.

AMERICAN

LIFE INSURANCE CO.

SOUTHERN BRANCH.

10 CARONDELET ST. 10

New Orleans, La.

Insures on LOW ALL-CASH RATES. All restrictions as to travel and residence removed.

Premiums paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually, at option of parties insuring.

The company is one of THE OLDEST in the United States, and beg a share of the patronage of the public

☞ Any particulars gladly furnished at the above place.

oct23 2m CAPT. JOHN D. SCOTT, Agent

STRICTLY FIRE.

THE FRANKLIN

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF NEW ORLEANS, LA.

D. LEFEBRE, President.
FRED. A. JOHNSON, Secretary.

Capital.....$250,000.

OFFICE—No. 114 Common St., Cor. Camp.

TRUSTEES.

Hon. J. Soniet, Hon. Chas. Montaldo, Dr. E. S. Drew, Hon. W. H. Decker, A. M. Miller, David Leubrie, Fred. A. Johnson, R. Stewart Bennee, John W. Fairfax.

OTTO MUECK, General Agent. oc24 1m

ETNA LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.

WILLIAM E. FITZGERALD,

Manager for Louisiana and Mississippi,

NO. 2 CARONDELET ST. (Room No. 10,)

oc23 3m New Orleans, La.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cumabia Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of Consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., giving name of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, New Orleans. no14 6m

CHURCH AND

SCHOOL FURNITURE.

We are the Sole Manufacturers of

Peard's Folding-Lid Desk and Seat,

which obtained the highest awards at Vienna and the American Institute Fairs.

Our stock of Maps, Globes, Charts, etc., embraces all the leading publishers in the country.

HALL AND CHURCH SEATING a specialty.

Full illustrated catalogues and price lists sent free on application.

NATIONAL SCHOOL FURNITURE CO.,

oc23 1m sp 618 Chestnut street, St. Louis, Mo.

MAGIC LANTERNS.

McALLISTER'S PATENT ARTOPTICON.

The most powerful Magic Lantern ever made; with a brilliant Oil Lamp; for Home, Sunday School and Lectures. Stereopticons, etc. Slides at reduced prices. A profitable business for a man with small capital. Send stamp for catalogue.

W. MITCHELL McALLISTER, oc30 2m 1314 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

PAPER MILLS.

ATLANTA PAPER MILLS,

JAMES ORMOND, PROPRIETOR.

OFFICE—No. 13 BROAD STREET, ATLANTA, GA.

For Specimen of "News" we refer to this issue of this Paper. Cash orders Solicited.

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS.

MAKE YOUR HOME ATTRACTIVE

BY REPLENISHING YOUR

TABLE-WARE

—AT—

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.'S,

55.....Camp Street.....55

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

See What a Little Money Will Buy.

An elegant White Granite DINNER SET, comprising 136 pieces, for.....$15 00

To wit:

| | |
|---|---|
| 12 Dinner Plates, | 1 Soup Tureen, |
| 12 Breakfast Plates, | 1 Sauce Boat, |
| 12 Tea Plates, | 1 Salad Dish, |
| 12 Soup Plates, | 2 Covered Dishes, |
| 12 Preserve Plates, | 2 Vegetable Dishes, |
| 12 Butter Plates, | 4 Meat Dishes; |
| 12 Tea Cups and Saucers | 2 Pickle Shells, |

12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers.

A Porcelain DeTerre DINNER SET (equal to French China in appearance, and much more durable,) same assortment as above.....$18 00

A French China (best quality) DINNER SET, same as ornament, 134 pieces.....30 00

Decorated Porcelain DeTerre and French China DINNER SETS, from.....$30 up.

White Granite CHAMBER SETS, 11 pieces.....$3 00

White Granite TEA SETS, 41 pieces.....4 00

French China TEA SETS, 44 pieces.....6 50

French China Decorated TEA SETS, 44 pieces.....7 50

Good Table GOBLETS, from 50 cents per set up.

Granite Dinner Plates, per dozen.....1 40

Granite Breakfast Plates, per dozen.....1 25

Granite Tea Plates, per dozen.....1 15

French China Dinner Plates, per dozen.....3 00

French China Breakfast Plates, per dozen.....2 75

French China Tea Plates, per dozen.....2 25

NOTE.—The prices above contemplate "First-choice" goods, every piece being warranted regular and perfect. "Seconds" or imperfect goods, warped in making and otherwise irregular, we will furnish for those that desire at twenty per cent. discount from these prices. We shall meet all competition promptly, and as we import our own ware our customers can depend upon getting the BEST GOODS at the lowest possible prices.

AGENTS FOR THE CELEBRATED

BLANCHARD CHURNS,

AND THE LARGEST DEALERS IN

HOUSEKEEPING NOVELTIES

IN THE SOUTHWEST.

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.,
my29 6m No. 55 Camp street, New Orleans.

STEAMSHIPS—STEAMBOATS.

FOR NEW YORK.

The Cromwell New York and New Orleans Steamship Line.

Leaving New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage.....$50 00

Steerage Passage.....25 00

Through bills of lading to foreign and coastwise ports issued.

ALFRED MOULTON,
mh20 1y No. 41 Carondelet street.

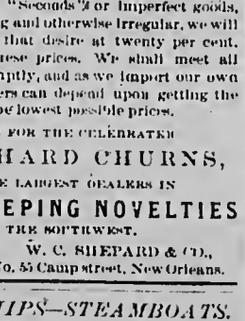
FOR NEW YORK.

Merchants' Steamship Line.—Sailing from New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage.....$50 00

Steerage Passage.....25 00

Through tickets to Liverpool and the Continent.



New Orleans wharf—Foot of Jefferson street.

New York wharf—Pier No. 4, North River.

JOHN H. LUDWIGSEN, Agent,
fe13 1y No. 190 Common street.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

WATERS' CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS are the most beautiful in style and perfect in tone ever made. The CONCERTO STOP is the best ever placed in any Organ. It is produced by an extra set of Reeds peculiarly voiced, the effect of which is most charming and soul-stirring, while its imitation of the human voice is superb. Terms liberal.

A Great Offer.—HORACE WATERS & SON 481 BROADWAY, New York, will dispose of FIVE HUNDRED PIANOS AND ORGANS, of first class makers, including Waters', at extremely low prices for cash or part cash and balance in small monthly payments. New Seven-Octave first-class Pianos, all modern improvements, for $275 cash. Organs, Five Octave, $70. Double-Reed Organs, Four Stops, $11. Eight Stops, $125. Illustrated catalogues mailed. A large discount to Ministers, Churches, Sunday Schools, Temperance Societies, etc., etc. Agents wanted. jy31 1y

L. GRUNEWALD'S

MAMMOTH

PIANO AND ORGAN WAREROOMS,

18, 20 AND 22 BARONNE STREET.

The Largest and Finest Store,
The Largest and Best Assortment,
The Best and Finest Pianos,
The Cheapest Prices, and
The Most Accommodating Terms.

Every Piano warranted to be as represented, and to give satisfaction.

Twenty second hand PIANOS at $100, $125, $150 and upward; in perfect order, sold below their value, on time or for cash, to make room for new stock now arriving. oc23 1m

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

THE AMERICAN

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION

OFFERS

Special Terms to Sunday Schools

IN THE SELECTION OF NEW AND

REPLENISHING OF OLD LIBRARIES

Catalogues furnished on application to any of the

SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPOSITORIES,

No. 1122 Chestnut street, Philadelphia—ALEX. KIRKPATRICK.
No. 10 Public House, New York—G. S. SCOFIELD.
No. 40 Winter street, Boston—E. SMITH.
No. 264 West Madison st., Chicago—W. R. POST.
No. 507 N. Sixth St., St. Louis—S. PAYSON, sell Bibles.

R. ESTERBROOK & CO.'S

STEEL PENS.

FOR SALE BY

ALL BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Esterbrook Steel Pen Manufactur'g Co.,

49 MAIDEN LANE, NEW YORK.

Works—Camden, New Jersey. oct2 1y

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS WAREHOUSE,

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SON.

HENRY HOE, Sole Agent. je26 1y

RAILROADS.

GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.

Trains depart and arrive as follows (from Depot foot of Calliope street:)

| DEPART. | |
|---|---|
| Express | 7.50 A. M. |
| Mail | 5.50 P. M. |
| Accommodation | 4.00 P. M. |
| ARRIVE. | |
| Express | 11.00 P. M. |
| Mail | 9.40 A. M. |
| Accommodation | 8.30 A. M. |

This line is many miles the shortest and many hours the quickest to all points North and East, and the only line running Pullman's Palace Sleeping Cars to Humboldt and Louisville without change. Only one change to principal cities North and East. Tickets for sale and all information given at corner of Camp and Common streets, under City Hotel, New Orleans.

A. B. SHELDON, Agent.
E. H. FROST, General Manager. my22 3m

MISCELLANEOUS.

BILLINGS' PATENT

Sewing Machine

SHUTTLES.

Twenty Varieties Now Made.

Forged solid from bar steel and cold pressed.

TRADE B MARK.

Also Wrought Iron and Steel

DROP FORGINGS

of all descriptions, for Guns, Pistols, Sewing Machines, Agricultural Implements, etc.

MANUFACTURED BY

Billings & Spencer Co.,

LAWRENCE STREET,

Hartford, Conn.

oc25 6m

OCEAN SAW MILL.

Having our large NEW SAW MILL now in successful operation, which gives us increased facilities for sawing Lumber to order at short notice, and at reduced prices, we would be glad to have our customers and the public generally, in want of Lumber, to call and examine our stock, consisting of almost every variety of wood grown in the South, viz.:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cypress, | Cedar, | Hhd. Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, Yellow, | Maple, | Barrel staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, White, | Gum, | Headings | (cypress.) |
| Ash, White, | Sycamore, | Cape Boards | (cypress.) |
| Ash, | Beech, | Shingles | (cypress.) |
| Walnut, | Cotton, | Lathe | (cypress.) |
| Poplar, | Cherry, | Firewood, assorted, etc. | |

Also Mast-Sticks and Spars.

It will be greatly to the advantage of parties shipping by cargo to call upon us, as we can saw and furnish Lumber as rapidly as a vessel can receive it.

Orders directed to Messrs. M. PUIG & CO., No. 7 Custom-house street, or Box 2226, New Orleans Postoffice, and Box 297, Merchants' and Dealers' Exchange, will receive prompt attention.

L. CARBO, Director and Agent,
Office, foot of Bordeaux street,
no6 1m Sixth District.

J. WINSLOW JONES'

WORLD RENOWNED GREEN CORN,

AND

UNRIVALED LOBSTER AND SALMON.

The only reliable brand. For sale by all first-

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 19. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1873. NO. 48.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

DOVER, Nov. 19.—Hon. John P. Hale died about nine o'clock this evening.

ATCHISON, Nov. 19.—On Sunday last a destructive prairie fire swept over a large area of country, about sixty miles from this city, and continued until Monday. About six miles of ties on the Central Branch railroad were burned, and several small bridges consumed. The destruction of fences, houses, etc., is immense. Several houses near Corning were burnt, also a large quantity of corn in stalks. Several disastrous fires have also occurred along the line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. No trains have passed over the Central Branch road since Saturday until to-day, when the regular trains got through.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—A dispatch, recounting the disaster to the Gloucester fishing fleet during the past year, says that 152 lives have been lost; and 24 vessels, of an aggregate tonnage of 1,287 and $110,000 in value, have been swallowed up in the waves.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—At the annual meeting of the Iron and Steel Association the secretary's statement shows that the financial crisis has deranged the whole business. Prices of iron have declined, reaching in some lines far below the price of production. At the beginning of November fully one-third of the furnaces and mills were idle, and by the end of the month one-half of the furnaces will be blown out. The rail mills are barren of orders, and stocks of pig iron are accumulating, with no sale at any price. Thousands of iron-workers are out of work, and those employed have accepted a reduction of fifteen per cent. on their wages. The report urges an increase of tariff to $9 on pig iron.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—The slight shock of an earthquake has just been felt.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 21.—The Typographical Union resolved to strike should any union office be taken out of their control.

The Leader discharged some old hands, whereupon the compositors of the Dispatch, Commercial, Evening Telegraph and Chronicle struck. These offices are now being run by non-union men, so that at present all the newspaper offices in the city are independent of the union.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—W. M. Tweed was brought into the Court of Oyer and Terminer, this morning, for sentence. An immense crowd is filling the corridors and room. Tweed's counsel is arguing the motion for a stay of judgment.

Later.—Tweed is sentenced to twelve years in the county prison and $12,000 fine.

Judge Blatchford has postponed the order citing Jay Cooke & Co. to show cause why they should not be declared involuntary bankrupts. The postponement is for two weeks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—All efforts to obtain a stay of proceedings for William M. Tweed proved ineffectual. Judges Pratt and Ingraham both refused to grant it, and at ten minutes past one o'clock Tweed was removed from the sheriff's office to the Tombs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A Herald special of the twenty-first, from the City of Mexico, says the President has presented to Congress a contract with a Mexican company for the Interoceanic railroad.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—A severe earthquake shock is reported at Yreka. It lasted fifteen seconds. The shock was felt at other points.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—The Pacific mail steamer Ariel, from Yokohama for Hokadadi, is wrecked. Her crew and passengers are saved.

The earthquake was quite severe throughout Oregon, and was felt here. No damage reported.

WASHINGTON, November 25.—The Spanish question was debated at the cabinet meeting, but no additional facts were presented by the Secretary of State, nor was any new action taken relative to the subject.

There are indications that dispatches were received to-night by both Secretary Fish and Admiral Polo, the Spanish minister, from Madrid, of a character which gives, more than heretofore, promise of a peaceful solution of the present complications, and it is known that these gentlemen were in private conference for several hours to-night at the residence of Mr. Fish, comparing dispatches and discussing generally the situation of affairs.

It appears to be the impression that instead of our government having to wait for reports from Minister Sickles concerning the Spanish cabinet's views, their cabinet has conferred extraordinary powers on Admiral Polo to communicate directly with our government through the Secretary of State. At all events, the Spanish minister is now brought into more intimate communication with Secretary Fish than at any time since the present trouble began. It was remarked to-night by a gentleman prominently connected with this government that things look far more hopeful now than ever.

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 25.—The mass meeting of the farmers and patrons to-day was largely attended. The session was harmonious and enthusiastic. The meeting resolved to plant only one-third of their crop next year in cotton, favored cash payments, and declared their right to control the price of cotton.

FOREIGN.

VERSAILLES, Nov. 19.—In the Assembly the motion was agreed upon by the Right prolonging MacMahon's powers unconditionally.

HAVANA, Nov. 19.—The commanding general of this department has received a communication from the Roman Catholic archbishop: "A great jubilee fills our hearts when we announce to your excellency that among the criminals of the Virginius crew twenty freely and spontaneously asked to become Catholics; Divine Providence having seen fit to crown the efforts of our worthy priests, through their means contributing this brilliant triumph to our holy religion. The prisoners were turned over to their spiritual advisers at eight in the morning, and shot at four P. M., thus giving our priests only eight hours' time to convert the twenty."

A grand bull-fight is to be given to-morrow in honor of the officers and crew of the Tornado. The Spanish crews made a display in several of the streets of Havana, on account of the arrival of the now so-called national steamer Virginius at this port.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Madrid specials say the recent interview between Castelar and Sickles was stormy, and that Sickles barely escaped being mobbed.

HAVANA, Nov. 22.—The Diario says: "We do not consider it within the bounds of justice or reason that war should result from the capture of the Virginius and its legal consequences; but, if a conflict comes, let us imitate the example of our ancestors, and make the Spanish race in Cuba the admiration of the American hemisphere."

The Voz de Cuba believes in a diplomatic settlement, but praises the activity in repairing forts.

MADRID, Nov. 22, Evening.—The reports that violence had been offered by the Madrid populace to General Sickles, the American minister, are pronounced false.

President Castelar had a long conference to-day with Mr. Loyard, the British minister. The result of the interview is favorable to the continuation of good relations between the two countries. The idea of submitting the case of the Virginius to arbitration is much talked of. Should this course be agreed to the German Emperor is indicated as the probable arbitrator.

MATAMORAS, MEXICO, Nov. 22.—The concession to construct a railway from the Rio Grande frontier to the City of Mexico, and thence to the Pacific, has been granted to a company of Mexicans. This defeats both the Plum and Roseerans projects, and leaves the matter in the hands of Mexicans, who will doubtless interest other parties in the enterprise or dispose of their concession to the greatest advantage to themselves.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The agent of the Associated Press here is authorized by Minister Sickles to say that there is no foundation for the report published in New York, on the twenty-first, that he (Sickles) had broken off social relations with the foreign minister, and that he expressed the opinion that war was inevitable. The agent is further authorized to state that the official and personal relations between Sickles and the Spanish officials are unchanged, and that Sickles has not expressed any opinion as to the result of the pending question.

ROME, Nov. 24.—After the speech of Signor Mancini, in the Chamber of Deputies to-day, a resolution recommending the introduction of an arbitration clause in all future treaties with foreign powers was unanimously adopted.

Brandon and the Mississippi Conference.

MR. EDITOR: Allow me to say, through your excellent paper, to the preachers and members of the Mississippi Annual Conference, that on their arrival at Brandon they will be met at the depot and conducted to their respective homes; also the presiding elders of the several districts will oblige us by forwarding to us the names of the lay delegates, and the local ministers who expect to attend the Conference for ordination.

Allow me to add that this Conference closes our second year in this station, and in many respects it has been a most pleasant and prosperous year. Our new church edifice was completed last spring, and dedicated on the twenty-seventh of July last, by Dr. C. K. Marshall, in his usual eloquent and elegant style. The doctor made an appeal in behalf of the church debt and raised over $700, which, being added to what had already been collected, reduced the debt from $6,300 to $462. At the close of the sermon General Robert Lowery, president of the board of trustees, presented the church building, which was dedicated according to the usual formula. We protracted our meeting, and Dr. Marshall remained with us several days, and his preaching was spiritual and earnest; but, to the great regret of the community, he was taken sick and was compelled to leave us on Wednesday, though we continued our meeting, which resulted in eleven accessions. Our Sabbath school is fine; congregations are large and well attended. May the Lord bless this charge in their united, self-sacrificing Christian labors.

H. F. THOMPSON, Pastor.

BRANDON, MISS., November 16, 1873.

FAULTS of the head are punished in this world, those of the heart in another; but as most of our vices are compound, so also will be their punishment.

From the Work.

CLARKE CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: I wish to say to the friends of Zion, through the ADVOCATE, that the Lord has been gracious to us this year. One hundred and thirty-one have been received into the church. One hundred and ten have professed faith in Christ. G. M. GILMORE, P. C.

NOVEMBER 14, 1873.

SOUTH WARREN CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: We have had some good times on this circuit this year. We held a protracted meeting at old Asbury, which resulted in good to the church. Bros. F. M. Featherstun and Ira B. Robertson were with us and did good work. We also held a meeting at Bethel, which lasted five days, and was a time of refreshing to the church. Some were added to the church. Our last quarterly meeting was held at Bovina, and was protracted eight days. It resulted in great good to the church and community. Several were converted, and twelve were added to the church. Bro. Robertson was again with us. Bro. J. A. B. Jones, our presiding elder, preached, as usual, with great acceptability and effect. Our people regret that his term of service on our district has expired.

We hope and believe that many of our people will take the ADVOCATE next year.

May God abundantly bless and prosper the good people of South Warren in the future.

D. A. J. PARKER.

HOMER DISTRICT, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: This has been a very dark and discouraging year financially, yet a brilliant one spiritually. The only satisfactory solution that can be made of the whole matter is that the membership has done the best they could under the pressure of circumstances, and that they are determined that, as the financial cloud gives way, they will pay over to the church its dues. The membership and the people who belong to religious congregations should be careful, in making its settlements and in meeting the demands of the world, that they pay not over all the proceeds of the present crop to their eager claims, but reserve for God all that is due him. We should remember that the success of the next crop depends upon God; and how we dispose of the present may depend the success of the next.

There have been six camp meetings held in the bounds of the district. They are of great utility to the church. Their social benefits are worth all the trouble of preparing and camping. There hundreds of social beings are thrown together from every point of the circuit, and learn each other by name, and become identified with each other in the common interests of the circuit. But the greatest result is the dissemination of a spiritual influence through the circuit; and this, followed up with protracted meetings, results in general revivals. A revival influence has permeated this whole country, more or less. There have been about five hundred conversions and about the same number of accessions to the church in the bounds of the district.

Our District Conference resolved to educate a young man for the ministry at Homer College, and elected Bro. Sidney Ford, a young man of much promise to the church.

S. S. SCOTT, P. E.

SEPULGA CIRCUIT, ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: Many are the ties, social and religious, which bind me to the people of this charge, than in some of whom I have never found more Christian sympathy and unremitting friendship, some of the streams of which, despite of affliction and adversity, have never ceased to flow. There are within the bounds of this charge some of the purest-hearted and most unflinching friends of God and his church with whom it has ever been my good fortune to be associated; and the severing of those ties of social and religious life, which bind me so closely to men who have, during the whole four years, been quick to tell me that I should not want while their meal and oil remained unexhausted, constitutes a trial which does not find its equal in the every-day conflicts of life. God bless the church and Sunday schools of this charge.

This circuit lies on the headwaters of Sepulga river, embracing some very fine farming lands, and is capable of being made one of the most desirable circuits in the Alabama Conference. There are eight appointments. During the last four years, including about sixty by certificate, we have had an addition of something over four hundred and fifty members. To be sure there have been a great many removals by death and certificate, and not a few by expulsion, but we are still left with a membership of over seven hundred.

I have had much family affliction during my pastoral term here. Three years ago the angel of death robbed me of my little Marvin Pledger.

But out of all the Lord
Hath brought me by his power.

On account of the financial troubles my collections are bound to make a very meager report.

J. L. SKIPPER.

P. S.—The Rev. S. F. Pilley, of the Alabama Conference, is still alive, but no hopes are entertained of his recovery. J. L. S.

GEORGIANA, ALA., Nov. 21, 1873.

TO PERSEVERE in one's duty and be silent is the best answer to calumny.

First Presbyterian Church, New Orleans.

The First Presbyterian church, Lafayette square, R. M. Palmer, D. D., LL. D., pastor, was filled last evening to overflowing, the members of the several Presbyterian churches in this city assembling for the purpose of commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of Presbyterianism in New Orleans.

FLORAL DECORATIONS.

The floral decorations inside the church were as unique and typical as they were chaste and beautiful. To the right of the pulpit was the single name—"Lorned"—and to the left—"Palmer"—in evergreen letters; with a wreath (also of evergreen) underneath each. On a line with and between the two were the figures 1823 and 1873, with a hyphen between the dates; thus simply, as it were, joining together as one the names and years which this memorial day celebrated. The letters were about twelve inches in length, and the figures eighteen. The latter were made of pure chrysanthemums, and looked charming in their rich whiteness.

Upon the communion table, in front of the pulpit, was a mound of flowers, three feet high by three wide, surrounded by evergreens, typical of the names and dates, the past and the present, the living and the dead—erected out of respect to the memory of the great founder of the church—erected in honor of the great, present, living exhorter, erected no less to commemorate the lapse of half a century of time between the two.

The chancel, rails, pillars of the candelabras and front of the pulpit platform were festooned with wreaths of evergreens, intermingled with flowers, while cedars and exotic plants were interspersed within and around the altar—altogether creating a grand, though simple, yet solemn effect.

THE SERVICES.

The services were opened at seven o'clock with singing by the choir.

The Rev. Mr. Wayne then read the forty-eighth Psalm: "Great is the Lord," etc.

Prayer by the Rev. Mr. Beattie.

Dr. Palmer then read an historical paper on the origin and growth of Presbyterianism in this city, which was confined principally to the First church. The reverend gentleman commenced by stating that it was somewhat remarkable that the first successful effort to plant Presbyterianism in the city of New Orleans originated with the Congregationalists of New England. In the beginning of the year 1817 the Rev. Elias Cornelius was appointed by the Connecticut Missionary Society to make a missionary tour through the Southern States. Through his instrumentality the Rev. Sylvester Larned was introduced to this field of labor in 1817. He proved to be a young man of rare attainments, and overtures were made to him looking to a permanent settlement in this city as a Presbyterian minister, which were successful. The Rev. Mr. Hall, then rector of Christ Episcopal church, on Canal street, kindly allowed Mr. Larned the use of his church for Presbyterian services on Sundays, from one to four P. M., until a suitable edifice could be built. On the eighth of January, 1819, the cornerstone was laid upon the site on the right of St. Charles street, between Gravier and Union streets.

The labors of the Rev. Sylvester Larned were of short duration, as the following copy, from the tablet erected to his memory in front of the church, too painfully proves:

In Memory of Rev.
SYLVESTER LARNED,
First Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in this City;
who died of yellow fever
Aug. 30th, 1820,
aged 2 years.
His last sermon was preached on the 27th
Aug., from Phill. 1st. 21st:
"For me to live is Christ;
to die is gain."

In 1822 the Rev. Theodore Clapp was chosen and administered the communion to twenty-four members of the church, nine males and fifteen females. Mr. Clapp, doubting the doctrine of eternal punishment in the future, his faith became so shaken that it became necessary for him to leave the church. The continuation of the paper from this point shows the steady advance of Presbyterianism and the organization of the several Presbyterian churches, with their pastors, in this city, but owing to the lateness of the hour at which the services closed last evening (10.30 o'clock) it will be impossible to enter into a detail of these for publication in this edition of the Times.

REMINISCENCES.

J. A. Maybin, Esq., the oldest member of the Presbyterian Church in this city, then related from memory his experience of the progress of the church from his arrival in this city, January 22, 1818, to the present time.

SERVICES CONCLUDED.

Hymn by Dr. Palmer—"I love thy kindness, Lord," etc.

The Rev. Dr. Smith then read an historical paper on the history and progress of Presbyterianism in the Southwest, after which addresses were made by Dr. Markham and the Rev. Mr. Mallard, when Dr. Palmer observed that there was just time to sing the one hundred and nineteenth hymn—the Marseillaise of the church: "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name;" after which the Rev. Mr. Flynn pronounced the benediction, and the congregation dispersed.

New Orleans Times, November 24.

Conference Items.

TRINITY CONFERENCE.

This body met at Dallas, Texas, October 29, Bishop Kavanaugh presiding. The Galveston Advocate states that this Conference has more preachers than it needs. Dr. McFerrin was there, and the collection for missions at the Conference anniversary was $1,300.

Delegates to the General Conference.—Clerical: John H. McLean, Jacob M. Binkley and Matthew H. Neely. Reserves: L. P. Ellis and J. L. Angell. Lay: W. J. Clark, William Howeth and A. F. M. Rogers. Reserves: J. R. Cole and George A. Kelly.

APPOINTMENTS.—Jefferson Dist.—J. H. McLean, P. E. Jefferson station, W. C. Halsip; Atlanta, J. Osgood and E. B. Featherston; Kelleyville and Dangerfield, Thomas B. Norwood and James McDougald; Linden, J. J. Davis; Mount Pleasant, C. E. Lamb; Pittsburg, R. P. Thompson, J. M. Stevenson, sup.; Winnsboro, D. F. Fuller; Gilwee, J. Parker, W. W. Horner, I. L. Terry, sup.; Coffeeville, L. F. Palmer.

Paris District.—Thomas M. Smith, P. E. Paris station, B. J. Baldwin; Sylvin, W. H. Moss; Roxton, J. W. Piner; Honey Grove, R. N. Brown, L. P. Smith; Ladonia, W. P. Read; Cooper mission, F. M. Harrell; Robbinsville, A. C. McDougall; Clarksville, D. P. Hagerard, J. P. Smith; Boston, Thomas J. Milam.

Sherman District.—L. R. Ellis, P. E. Sherman station, J. M. Binkley; Denidson mission, James Y. Bryce; Bonham, J. Graham; Savoy, J. C. Blain; Pilot Grove, J. F. Dinton; Pilot Point, M. C. Blackburn; Decatur, S. S. Cobb; Montague and Clay county mission, J. C. Weaver, W. H. Shearer; Gainesville, W. M. Robbins; Maryville, W. P. Petty; Whitesboro, I. N. Craven.

Dallas District.—J. W. Clark, P. E. Dallas station, W. F. Easterling; Dallas city mission, S. C. Armstrong; Dallas circuit, R. W. Thompson; Tyene mission, G. S. Gatewood, J. P. Rogers, sup.; McKinney, B. F. Stone; Bethel, H. W. Louth, W. E. Bates, sup.; Denton, D. J. Martin; Grapevine, L. M. White; Rockwall, T. E. Sherwood, J. Beverly; Greenville, J. K. Angell, W. K. Dutt.

Sulphur Spring District.—M. H. Neeley, P. E. Sulphur Spring station, J. C. Smith; Sulphur Spring circuit, C. J. Cocke; Sulphur Bluff, E. S. Bates, J. H. Lane, sup.; Lone Oak, J. F. Sherwood; Emory mission, J. C. Randle; Pleasant Grove, H. C. Rogers; Kaufman, J. W. Field, J. M. Langston, J. H. Brewer, sup.; Wills' Point, L. P. Lively; Canton, M. E. Simpson; Garden Valley, D. T. Lake, E. S. Boyd; Sulphur Spring city mission, W. E. Shook; S. J. Hawkins, agent for commissioners' fund.

Superannuates.—J. M. Baker, R. Lane, J. W. P. McKenzee, D. M. Proctor, E. Touchstone, J. P. Stanfield, A. R. Dixon, A. Hinkle, J. B. Bable, A. Comming.

Transferred.—W. C. Young and H. S. P. Ashby, to the Northwest Texas Conference; M. T. Leach and John Blanton, to the East Texas Conference.

Next Conference to be held at Denton.

ARKANSAS CONFERENCE.

We have obtained the following items from the Western Methodist:

The thirty-seventh session of the Arkansas Conference began in the Methodist church, Dardanelle, Arkansas, on Wednesday morning, November 5, 1873. Bishop Pierce opened the Conference with reading the Scriptures, singing and prayer.

There were admitted on trial, 8 preachers; continued on trial, 3; discontinued, none; admitted into full connection, 4; readmitted, 1; received by transfer, 5; deacons of one year, 4; traveling preachers elected deacons, 4—ordained, 4; local preachers elected deacons, 11—ordained, 11; traveling preachers elected elders, 2—ordained, 2; local preachers elected elders, 2—ordained, none; preachers located, 9; supernumerary, 2; superannuated, 1; died, 1; character of the preachers all passed but one, I. T. Rice, who was expelled; number of preachers and members in the Conference: Preachers, 150—last year, 131; members, white, 11,119—last year, 10,795; colored, 22—last year, 22. Infants baptized, 315—adults, 706; Sunday schools, 90; teachers, 501; scholars, 3,586; Conference collection, $220—applied to widows of preachers; collection for missions, $504. Next Conference to be held at Fort Smith.

Delegates to the General Conference.—Clerical: F. M. Paine and I. L. Burrow. Reserve: H. M. Granade. Lay: J. H. Mann, local preacher, and W. J. Parks. Reserves: W. J. Stafford, local preacher, and H. Greason.

APPOINTMENTS.—Fayetteville District.—J. M. Clayton, P. E. Fayetteville station, J. J. Roberts; Fayetteville circuit, R. H. Porter; Bentonville, J. C. Lowe; Boonsboro, A. K. Miller; Piney Grove, R. McK. Tydings; Cincinnati, J. L. Hays; Bloomfield, to be supplied; Center Point, T. J. Smith; Hindsville, J. P. Calloway; White River, J. E. Martin; Cliffa mission, to be supplied.

Fort Smith District.—H. M. Granade, P. E. Fort Smith station, S. H. Babcock; Fort Smith circuit, T. M. C. Birmingham; Greenwood, D. Sturdy; Sugar Loaf, M. Southard (supply,) J. W. Powell; Charleston, R. S. Cole; Shoal Creek, B. Williams; Boonville, S. S. Key; Waldron, J. W. Shook; Bluffton, J. Griffin, J. T. Leard; Danville, R. F. Beasley.

Clarksville District.—C. H. Gregory, P. E. Clarksville station, I. L. Burrow, H. R. Withers, sup.; Clarksville circuit, J. W. Kaigler; Spadra, G. W. Evans; Ozark station, H. Puckett; Ozark circuit, J. B. Hickman; Alma, E. M. Collum; Van Buren station, W. T. Boilling; Van Buren circuit, B. H. Greathouse, one to be supplied; Piney, A. H. Williams.

Yellville District.—J. F. Hall, P. E. Yellville station, J. Hnralson; Yellville circuit, to be supplied; Harrison, N. E. Fair; Mountain Home, J. H. Wade; Flat Woods, to be supplied by W. H. H. Oyler; Marshall, I. L. Hicks, E. C. Jones, sup.; Belfont, W. H. Corley; Double Springs, J. A. Walden; Carrollton, R. C. Atchley; Huntsville, G. F. Fair.

Dardanelle District.—F. M. Paine, P. E. Dardanelle station, O. P. Thomas; Dardanelle circuit, J. Loving; Little Rock, W. J. Dodson; Dover, A. C. Ray; Clinton, J. R. N. Bell; Point Remove mission, to be supplied; Cadron, to be supplied by W. J. Stone; East Fork, T. A. Graham; Lewisburg station, T. F. Brewer; Lewisburg circuit, C. O. Steele; Springfield, W. R. Knowlton; Quitman College, P. A. Moses.

Transferred.—C. H. Ford, to White River Conference; and J. Grant, to Trinity Conference.

WHITE RIVER CONFERENCE.

We give the following items and the appointments from the Western Methodist:

The fourth session of the White River Conference began in Forrest City, Arkansas, November 12, 1873. Bishop Pierce was present and conducted religious exercises.

During the session eight preachers were admitted on trial, six continued, two discontinued, three admitted into full connection, one received by transfer, and one from the Congregational Methodist Church; deacons of one year, three; deacons ordained—traveling, one—local, eight; elders ordained—traveling, two—local, two; located, none; supernumerary, two; superannuated, one; died, one; the characters of the clerical members all examined and passed; number of members in the Conference, 10,208—local preachers, 95; infants baptized, 690—adults, 252; Sunday schools, 79—teachers, 392—scholars, 2,858; amount necessary for superannuates, widows and orphans of preachers, $890—collected, $720; contributed for missions, $1,332. Next session is to be held at Searcy.

APPOINTMENTS.—Jacksonport District.—J. W. Boswell, P. E. Searcy, J. Mackay, M. B. Pearson, sup., Searcy circuit, R. H. Britlain; El Paso, J. M. Talkington; West Point, J. B. McKamy; Prospect Bluff, to be supplied by C. S. Floyd; Grand Glaize, T. Vincent; Jacksonport, B. Harris; Jacksonport circuit, M. C. Morris; Black River, to be supplied; Pleasant Valley, D. J. Hare; Richwoods mission, J. D. Brewster; Augusta, to be supplied, E. T. Jones, sup.; DeView, H. T. Gregory; Cotton Plant, T. H. Howard.

Batesville District.—J. H. Dye, P. E. Batesville, E. A. Garrison; Batesville circuit, B. Lee; Smithville, J. F. Armstrong; Pocahontas and Powhattan, W. M. Watson; Pocahontas circuit, J. J. Alexander; Corning, to be supplied; Walnut Hill mission, to be supplied by W. Hall; Evening Shade, J. H. Hall; Salem, M. C. Clark; Bennett's River mission, P. C. Oliver; Lacrosse, B. F. Hall; Bethesda, T. J. Brickell; Big Creek, to be supplied by F. Williams; Washington High School, A. R. Rennick.

Helena District.—G. A. Dannelly, P. E. Helena, E. Orgain; Helena circuit, R. W. Massey; Trenton mission, to be supplied; Marvel, D. D. Mc'utchen; Charleston, T. A. Craig; Wheatly, S. D. Evans; Marianna, J. L. Denton; Palestine, A. Davis; Laconia; J. C. Carter; Forrest City, W. T. Noe; Forrest City circuit, W. C. Malone.

Harrisburg District.—C. H. Ellis, P. E. Harrisburg, W. B. Foster; Wittsburg, E. M. Baker; Taylor's Creek, J. J. Prather; Bayou DeView, T. P. Hare; Jonesboro, A. H. Woodard; Moanelle, to be supplied by A. C. Griffin; Greensboro, C. H. Ford; Gainesville, to be supplied by J. A. Walkup; Oak Bluff, to be supplied by J. R. Steel; Sunday school agent, J. M. Steel.

Mississippi District.—W. R. Foster, P. E. Osceola, F. M. Petty; Big Lake mission, to be supplied; Frenchman's Bayou, A. Conley; Tyrongee mission, W. R. Young; Marion, J. W. Ross; Walnut Bend, T. J. Settle; Hopefield mission, M. B. Umstead.

Transferred.—J. W. Walkup, to Northwest Texas Conference; L. D. Webb, to Little Rock Conference.

JOSEPH ARCH, the Wesleyan local preacher, who has been inspecting Canada in the interest of the agricultural laborers of England, has been spending a few days in this city before returning home. He has been the recipient of marked attentions from the Commissioners of Emigration. Mr. Arch will return to us in the spring and make a thorough examination of the Western States. He has the confidence of the farmer laborers of England, and they will depend much on his reports in determining the question of migration.—Methodist.

REV. ROBERT COLLYER, of Chicago, has had the pulpit in his new church moved forward into the body of the house twenty-eight feet. He wishes, he says, to be "right in among the people. It is a difficult matter either to hurt a sinner or to help a saint at a hundred and twenty feet."—Zion's Herald.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1873.

A STRANGE SAIL.

BY FRED. LAYTON.

There came to town last Tuesday eve
The strangest little craft—
So small you'd scarce your eyes believe.
So queer you would have laughed;
She came across the unknown seas,
Across the raging water;
She came consigned to Love and me—
My daughter, oh, my daughter!

'Twas rash for such a tiny sail
To leave the shores of heaven;
To brave the sea and brave the gale,
Her timbers almost riven;
But, thanks to him who rides the wave,
The prospering breezes caught her,
And saved her from a watery grave—
My daughter, oh, my daughter!

This little craft (baby is;
If I've already told it,
You must excuse; but so it is—
My bosom cannot hold it;
For, don't you see—I'm sure you do,
At least you surely "oughter"—
She came to me and not to you—
My daughter, oh, my daughter!

Thou little, rosy, crowing thing!
Thou embryotic fairy!
Thou beauteous sylph without a wing!
Thou image of my Mary!
There's not a shape of loveliness
I've not already thought her;
Incarnate beauty, love and grace—
My daughter, oh, my daughter!

Where shall I stop? where cease the theme?
My thoughts within are luring;
Am I awake, or do I dream?
Whence comes this tender yearning?
I rise, and from her snowy bed
My tingling hands have caught her;
I kiss her hands, her feet, her head—
My daughter, oh, my daughter!

Christian Union.

A Temperance Allegory.

BY J. B. HUGHES.

It was on a beautiful morning in the rosy month of May, when the mellowed light of early dawn came shimmering down through the umbrageous foliage of the mountain oaks, that a bright-eyed maiden, arrayed in floating robes of gauzy white, and wearing upon her parian brow a modest coronet of mountain laisies, stepped forth from the shadowy recesses of a secluded glen. In her fair right hand she held aloft a snow-white banner, stamped in the center, with golden letters, the simple words: Total abstinence. With dainty tread she took her course along the border of a rippling brook, whose laughing wavelets held their way adown the open valley. Suddenly she paused at a point where the waters, dashing over obstructing rocks, formed a miniature cascade. In its misty spray she baptized her snowy flag, saying, as she did so: "My beautiful banner, in this emblem of purity and truth, fresh from the hand of God, I consecrate thee to the cause of humanity;" then, flinging it aloft to the balmy breeze, she unclasped from her girdle an exquisitely-wrought bugle, and, pressing its silver mouth to her ruby lips, she rang out, in clarion tones, her rallying call to the sons and daughters of temperance. Scarce had the echoing reverberations died along the vale ere a glittering band of white-robed maidens, guarded by a score of noble youths, were seen rapidly approaching the raised standard of their acknowledged queen. With a smile of approbation she bade them welcome. Then approaching Aquaria, the fairest of her virgin band, she said: "To you, Aquaria, in this day's struggle, I commit our consecrated flag. Look to it, that not a blot rests upon its spotless folds." Then to her maiden band spake she: "To-day, my sisters, the contest is ours. Our brothers have solicited our aid; and nid them we will. Our weapons, be it understood, are winning smiles, gentle words and pleading tones. These, our noble brothers, are but our surety against extreme rudeness. A large concourse of the erring sons and daughters of men commence their annual revelries to-day on the banks of Bacchanal river. We go to meet them. On our march hither we will pass through the valley of Sighs, which is inhabited by those of our sex whose hearts are borne down with anguish on account of the desertion of their sons, husbands, fathers and brothers to the standard of Bacchus. These stricken ones will join us, and where our efforts are unsuccessful, perchance their tears and sighs may prevail. Our object, my sisters, is to induce as many as possible of these our misguided friends to accompany us back to taste the healing waters of this pure stream, whose first contact with their lips will banish forever the fiend of intemperance, and will put in their mouths a new song of praise to the friends of temperance. With this explanation of our plans and purposes we will take up our line of march; and though we are but few, with a firm reliance on God and the justice of our cause we will hope for the best. Aquaria, advance our standard. Attention; forward, march."

Obedient to the word of command, the glorious little band left the verdant banks of Aquavita brook, and marched forward in unbroken line over hill and vale, through sunshine and shade, adding to their ranks, as they passed along, the grief-smitten inhabitants of the valley of Sighs. After a long and weary march Aquaria succeeded in planting her standard in full view of the enemy's camp. With a firm but modest step Queen Temperance advanced to the front and rang out her bugle-note of warning. Instantly the enemy's lines were in motion. But upon beholding the fair queen and her lovely standard-bearer a smile of joy lit up the features of King Bacchus, and he and his immediate court advanced with courteous smiles to welcome the queen and her youthful followers to their sylvan retreat on Bacchanal river. With all the dignity of high mental resolve the queen returned the king's greeting, but excused herself and followers from entering his tents of revelry and song. Said she: "We are come, my erring brother, to reason with you; and if we may not persuade you to accompany us back to our home on Aquavita brook, then we crave your permission to exercise our persuasive powers upon your followers. We pledge our honor that no unfair means shall be resorted to to win your votaries from you." Said King Bacchus: "When I tell you, fair lady, that your sweet smiles cannot lure me from these my fair possessions, you will readily see that words are vain. But I grant you, fair lady, free ingress and egress for you and yours to the tents of my followers. Win them, if you can. But, before making my evening adieus, I would ask you, in all sincerity, what more could mortals demand than me and mine are in possession of? Morning, noon and night unlimited pleasure holds her smiling courts in my gilded tents." Replied Queen Temperance: "Sirce, my dear brother, you have referred to the smiling faces of your votaries, let me request that you will closely scan the features of my little band. Mark well their unclouded brows, their genial smiles, and beaming eyes, that are but the uncurtained windows of their truthful souls. Note, if you please, the harmonious blending of the rose and the lily on their bright young faces. I would have you, my brother, observe these things with fair discrimination, and then return to your tent and issue an edict that all of your followers, both male and female, shall appear at sunrise, to-morrow morning, midway between our tents, without having touched a drop of any stimulating beverage. Do this, and I and my little band will meet you, and then we will commence on what presents itself."

To this proposal King Bacchus gave a reluctant consent. The next morning, however, the test was fairly met. "Now, then, my brother," said the queen, "look upon us, the friends of temperance. Scan our features fairly, and then run your eye impartially along your line of votaries; and last of all," said she, placing a mirror suddenly before him, "view your own youthful features." With a mingled groan of anguish and defiance King Bacchus turned to his subjects, and ordered them to their tents to set forth their usual morning's repast. After several days' untiring efforts the queen found she had only made some half dozen converts. Turning to her subjects, she said: "We must now, my friends, make our final and grand effort. You, Aquarin, with five of your companions, and as many of these our brothers, must go to the tents of the ladies and invite them to a moonlight feast this evening, which the rest of us will prepare in your absence." The project of Queen Temperance was soon put into successful operation. The visitors were received by the queen and her ladies with open arms, and warm, sisterly embraces. The noble young brothers exerted all their powers of fascination to please and entertain them agreeably. The entertainment was a perfect success, and the visitors gave evident tokens of perfect satisfaction. While affairs were in this propitious humor Aquarin suddenly admitted at a side entrance the inhabitants of the valley of Sighs. Simultaneously these grief-stricken ones fell upon their knees and sent up from the great deep of their agonized hearts a united petition to their now sorrowing visitors to aid them in restoring to their hearts and affections their self-alienated sons, brothers, fathers and husbands. This appeal was too touching for woman's resistance. With overflowing eyes and trembling lips the hitherto daughters of Bacchanal proclaimed their readiness to enlist under the banner of total abstinence. Moved by an irresistible impulse, Queen Temperance and her little band rent the midnight air with one long, thrilling shout of glorious triumph. When quiet had been restored the queen commanded her score of young men to repair immediately to King Bacchus and inform him and his court of the fact that their mothers, sisters, daughters, wives and sweethearts would start with her, at early dawn, to make their future homes on the peaceful borders of Aquavita brook; telling them, at the same time, that there was ample room and a hearty welcome for all who desired to take the oath of allegiance and become citizens of her government. When this intelligence had been spread throughout the Bacchanalian borders the king and his court took immediate counsel what they should do, which resulted in a proposed compromise, to which the queen unhesitatingly responded, in language of simple earnestness, that the good of humanity demanded prompt and energetic action. "Know, then, O King Bacchus! that the matter resolves itself into the fact that you and your votaries must go with us or be left behind—a world of men, without a single woman to light up the gloom of your future by her winning smile, speaking glance, gentle tones and sympathizing touch." On the reception of this response to the king's proposition action was not long delayed; the consequences of procrastination were too terrible to palter with. Unconditional surrender was at once entered upon, and old earth shook from center to circumference with the united shout of a peopled world redeemed from degradation.

Queen Temperance, with majestic step and lofty mien, advanced to the banks of Bacchanal river, and, waving her consecrated flag over its lurid waters, bade its fiery tide no longer offend the sight of man. Instantly there was a hush of its turbid flow; and lo! River Bacchanal was numbered with the things that were.

Agriculture in Louisiana.

WHAT OUGHT IT TO BE?

MR. EDITOR: Our previous article left the land thoroughly prepared for planting, and the next question in order, as well as in importance, is: What shall we plant? Upon this point our blindness has not been surpassed by that of our old friend Four Furrows. We ought to have known that in nothing was the revolution which swept over the South more revolutionary than in its effects upon the character of our agriculture. But in spite of this revolution we have attempted to ingraft upon its changes the system of ante-bellum times. Failure has attended our every effort; but even failure has not convinced us of our error, and we still persist in raising cotton or sugar upon the old plan, in the midst of bankruptcy and ruin.

At the end of the war our condition would not have been more novel or untried if we had just landed as emigrants, without experience or a past to guide us. We had the labor of the emancipated slave and the various crops which our genial soil and climate would produce, from which we were to determine what our husbandry ought to be. In determining this question the difficulties of determining what this emancipated labor would be were much greater than to select a crop adapted to our genial soil and climate. None of the reasons which before the war forced us to raise cotton or sugar existed at its close. Before the war we were forced to raise one or the other from the character of our labor, and not from the character of our soil and climate. This labor was upon our hands and had to be supported, whether employed or not. It was unintelligent, and therefore could not be employed in a variety of agricultural pursuits (husbandry) without incessant care and attention, and an enormous loss of time. It was a labor which required a crop that would give employment the entire year, and whose culture and gathering could be made a sort of treadmill routine. So imperious was this demand that it forced the cultivation of cotton in climates entirely unsuited to its growth, and in climates where a crop could not be raised, giving employment the entire year. Slavery became valueless except to furnish the sugar and cotton regions with labor. But at the end of the war this was all reversed. Instead of having on our hands a labor for which we had to find employment, we found ourselves, as it were, with an employment for which we had to find labor. Nothing aggravated this demand so much as our still persisting in raising cotton or sugar crops, as under the old regime—crops less adapted to the application of machinery than any others, and therefore requiring a larger amount of manual labor. Another circumstance which also added to this excessive demand for manual labor was that the laboring population had been greatly lessened by the war.

But the evil of attempting to ingraft the old upon the new order of things did not stop here. We have ingrafted only its vices and defects, without any of its virtues, which were few enough. Our planting then was bad; it is now necessarily worse. Our cultivation then did not look beyond expert ways and means of killing grass; we are now unable to do even that much. The old regime was impervious to new ideas, and a barrier to all improvement, and this much of its genius it seems to have stamped indelibly upon our laborers and planters, with this disadvantage to the present: The old regime, although it did not have the faculty of improvement, had, like everything fossil, the faculty of standing still; but to the present it has imparted only the power of retrogression and decay. And this is necessarily so. While all the world is recognizing the great fact that deep plowing is the great essential to successful farming, and that concentration of power is the great essential to deep plowing, the cotton planter finds himself compelled, instead of concentrating his teams, to divide them up among the various squads which compose his labor. Hence deep plowing is out of the question. The old regime has brought with it its lessons and associations, which taught the planter and freedman that to get four furrows thrown together in time to plant is all that could be reasonably required, and hence about the first of February he began the routine of four furrows.

We point out these errors not in a spirit of criticism, but because our errors, if they do not tell us what we ought to do, tell us what we ought to avoid. To know them is the first great lesson and forerunner to all improvement. To point out how easily they may be remedied will be the more pleasing task in our continuation.

AGRICOLA.

Education by the State.

MR. EDITOR: We believe that all righteous law is based upon a principle of justice, and bears with equal force on all its subjects, so as to grant them equal rights and privileges under its administration. This it does by protecting all alike—their lives, their property, their freedom and their characters—as subjects of its government. But who are the subjects of its government? We answer: All rational adults, both male and female, and none else. Children are not subjects of its government until they arrive at adult age. Prior to that time they are under the family government—the government of their fathers and mothers, or some guardian, whose duty it is to feed them, clothe them and educate them. Hence, as children are not subjects of civil government, the government is not bound by any principle of justice to feed them, to clothe them or educate them, for the plain reason that it has no control over them. They are under the control of their parents, and not of the government. If it be said that the State has the right to educate the children of the State "on the score of benevolence," we answer that the State has no just right to impose a tax on the people of the State, on the score of benevolence, that compels one part of the citizens of the State to educate the children of the other part of the citizens of the State without their consent. This is not benevolence, but gross, usurped injustice, and therefore unconstitutional, because all just constitutional law allows its subjects the right, as freemen, to dispose of their own property according to their own will, in all acts of benevolence. Moreover, all legislative bodies that have passed such a law of benevolence as this have overleaped their bounds as legislators, and usurped a power that does not belong to them. No legislative body has a just right to tax the property of A., an honest, industrious, sober man, with a wife and ten children, worth $50,000, to pay the tuition of B.'s ten children, who is a lazy, drunken rogue, stealing A.'s property at night when he is asleep, and is not worth one cent, and has no character, friends nor credit, and is raising his children in idleness and wickedness, just like himself. Now we ask: Is the law just and good that compels A. to do this? Is not such a law as this enough to discourage A, and his family in their honest, industrious habits, and encourage B. and his lazy, thievish family to live as they are by protecting them? Certainly it does this, and therefore it is an unjust and unholy law, and ought to be repealed as soon as possible. It is a palpable absurdity to suppose a law just and good that takes by force, out of the hands of A., the money that he has made honestly, and gives it to B., a thief, a drunkard, a bankrupt and a vagabond on earth, to educate his children.

Again, if it be just and benevolent to tax A. and make him pay the tuition of B.'s children, it is mere just and benevolent to raise the tax on A., so as to compel him to feed and clothe B.'s children also. And if it be just and benevolent for the State legislators to pass a law to make A. feed, clothe and educate B.'s children, it would be more just and benevolent still for them to pass a law to take from A. and from his wife and children their whole estate of $50,000 and give it all to B. and his family. Why not do this great work of justice and benevolence at once? The sooner you do a good thing the better it will be for you. Now we ask, in the name of common sense, if this would be a good, wise and just policy for our legislators to adopt? If not, as wise and true men they ought to repeal the State education law, for it logically leads to confiscation and other frightful consequences. But this law is not only unjust and impolitic, but it is also unconstitutional, because its tendency is to confiscate A.'s property, instead of protecting it. And now is it reasonable to suppose that such a law as this can work for the general good of any people? We think it impossible for it to do it. Like produces its like. "A corrupt tree cannot bring forth good fruit," neither can a corrupt, unconstitutional law produce prosperity, peace and happiness among its subjects. This we know to be true at this time by sad experience. The law that forces one part of the citizens of the State of Mississippi, by taxation, to pay the tuition of the children of the other part, is unequal and unjust, and consequently bad policy. It never has, as a general law, worked well. It never can, because it is absolutely unjust. It is the very baldest effrontery of violence for a State Legislature to arrogate the right to make a law, as the State of Mississippi has done, to compel honest A. to educate thievish B.'s children. "His own to every man is the invariable motto of law." The ascertainment of rights and the defense of those rights are essential to the true notion of a just or rationally constituted law. This is true; but does this law grant A. the right to do as he pleases with his own property? No; it wrenches it out of his own hands, contrary to his will, and gives it to B., a scoundrel, to educate his thievish children. Therefore, according to the above rule, it is unjust, unconstitutional and impolitic, and ought to be repealed.

JAMES SHANKS.

Bishop Pierce, or Methodism in Earnest.

MR. EDITOR: A reader of your paper desires, by your clemency, to indorse the views given in the Bishop's letter, which appeared in your number of October 16. I make no pretensions to influence, but act on the presumption that every individual has some power to use for or against religion, or what they may think best promotes its influence.

It was said by an inexperienced Christian, when trying to comfort one of mature Christian life, who was under severe trial: "When the strongest are brought into single combat, a feeble hand may bring a cup of cold water to revive the hero in the pauses of the fight." Though I may not hope for that, the confession of adherence to former usage will at least be satisfactory to my own conscience. I have seen Methodism working on its original plan, compared it with the commission of the Savior and the acts of his apostles, and rejoiced in its mighty power, through God, to the pulling down the strongholds of satan, and the salvation of perishing sinners. I have mourned to see one concession after another made worldward, and no warning voice lifted to arrest the evil. Little things compose or lead to large ones. Take a small stone from the foundation of an edifice, and the next comes much more easily. Not much appears to a superficial observer, but the ruin has commenced.

There are many still left who have not gone with the current, but most of them are silent. Their breathings heavenward are: Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? They try in vain to feel devotional in the modern style of worship. If they refuse to join in it, and advocate their sentiments, they meet the logic of epithets, and are thought to have unchristian tempers. I do not say that all are as patient as they should be, but their opposers should remember that it requires much less grace to be amiable and pleasant when in full tide of success than when our religious scruples and preferences are disregarded, or treated as the weaknesses of age, ignorance or prejudice. St. Paul thought that if meat made his brother to offend, he would eat none while the world stood.

I am thankful that Bishop Pierce has declared his sentiments, and pray that God may endue him with grace, wisdom, patience and physical power to perform whatever work he may call him to, and that he may guide us all to those measures most efficient in the salvation of ourselves and others.

TO PUNISH ourselves for other's faults is superlative folly. The arrow shot from another's bow is particularly harmless until our thought barbs it. It is our pride that makes another's criticism rankle; our self-will that makes another's deeds offensive; our egotism that is hurt by another's self-assertion.

Obituaries.

ANNA AUGUSTA COLLUM, wife of Simeon J. Collum, was born in Madison county, Mississippi, February 9, 1854, and died of typhoid pneumonia, in Lexington, Holmes county, Mississippi, January 20, 1873.

The deceased joined the Methodist Church when she was about eleven years old. Shortly after this time the writer of this obituary notice became her teacher. As a pupil she was kind, respectful and obedient. She admitted, however, a short time before she died, that she had not lived as she should have done; but she prayed most earnestly, and from expressions she employed after she had prayed it is hoped that she has attained everlasting life. It seemed to her that she saw the Savior. Her countenance betokened inward peace and joy.

A. B. STEWART.

DIED, in Cleberne county, Alabama, August 15, 1873, at the age of fifty years and six months, B. F. STRIPLING, son of the Rev. B. O. Stripling, deceased.

He professed religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South when he was quite a youth. He was a faithful member of the church, and served in the office of steward for many years, and filled that position when death claimed him as its victim. But few men who are not ministers understood the doctrines and discipline better than he did, because he read the literature of our church. He was a good and true citizen, and had considerable influence in the whole country where he was known. Had he not lost his hearing so early in life he would or could have become eminent in any profession he might have selected. His mind was well cultivated, and stored with useful knowledge; hence "it was good" to associate with him. His death was sudden, and caused many hearts to be sad. He leaves an extensive family and scores of friends to mourn his absence. His soul is in the paradise of God; his body sleeps in the tomb.

R. G. RAGAN.

IN MEMORIAM.

MR. JOSEPH W. RYAN, formerly of Alabama (near Marion,) came to Sebastian county, Arkansas, five years ago, a promising young man. Being an orphan, he lived with his uncle, J. R. Leard, near Fort Smith. As an affectionate, genteel and noble young man, sometimes teaching school, he soon won the esteem of all our people. He was a member of the Methodist Church, and we had fixed our hearts upon him as one that would be very useful. But just as the great work of life was upon him he must suffer and die. For some months he was afflicted with hemorrhage of the lungs, and had ample time to view the grave and be ready. He prayed to God to spare him a little while longer, that he might repent of his follies; and his prayer was answered. He was made happy; took great comfort in the fourteenth chapter of John; told his cousin, James T. Leard, who is just setting out in the ministry, to go earnestly on and do his duty, and that he would spend his own life in the glorious work of preaching the gospel if he could live. But he is gone. Suddenly, at midnight, on Tuesday, October 28, 1873, he expired, aged twenty-three years. Many weeping friends joined us in his solemn funeral service. We believe he is at rest; and by the grace of God we will meet him again by and by.

H. M. GRANADE.

MRS. ELIZABETH JANE WILLIAMS, wife of T. H. Williams, was born near Raleigh, North Carolina, in 1804, was married and moved to Alabama in 1822, and died at her home in Monroe county, Alabama, on the ninth of September, 1873. Sister Williams joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1830, and was converted in 1831, at a camp meeting at Black's Bend, Wilcox county, Alabama. She never for one moment doubted her conversion—was always "full of faith and the Holy Ghost." She was a sweet spirited and joyous Christian. In 1857-8 the writer traveled on the circuit in the bounds of which she lived, and he does not hesitate to say that he never met with a more holy and devoted Christian. To come in contact with her religious influence was always profitable and encouraging to the Christian. For about twenty years Sister Williams was a great sufferer, and perhaps during all that period she was never heard, even by her husband, who nursed her with great tenderness, to murmur or complain. With her religion was to suffer, as well as to do the will of God. Sister Williams' religious character will appear the more remarkable when we state that her attention could always be arrested by the mention of the name of Jesus, and that by singing any of the songs of Zion she could be aroused to shouting praise to God, even after the ravages of disease had robbed her of her reason in regard to other things. May her influence never be lost to her children, and may the grace of God keep her husband steadfast to the end.

NEIL GILLIS.

ABRAM PIPES.

Having been appointed a committee of one at the third Quarterly Conference of Vernon circuit, Homer district, Louisiana Conference, which convened at Douglass on the twenty-sixth of July, 1873, to draft resolutions in memory of the death of our venerable father in Israel, ABRAM PIPES, I beg leave to report the following:

Whereas, It has pleased kind Providence to vacate the seat in our Quarterly Conference of our much-esteemed and beloved brother, Abram Pipes, by death; And whereas, Our Quarterly Conference has lost one of her most worthy members, who was almost the father of Methodism in our midst; And whereas, He was one of the old pioneers of our profession in our community, having been a laborer in our Master's vineyard for the last fifty years, having been instrumental in the hands of the Master in doing much good, having gone from house to house preaching when this was a wilderness, for years before there were any houses erected for the worship of God; and the Father blessed him with long life, so as to see the rise of Methodism in his midst. He delighted in attending our Quarterly Conferences; his seat was never vacant there, unless providentially so, and his voice was always heard in our love-feasts, relating his experience and telling of his assurance of the better land; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Quarterly Conference of Vernon circuit, while we are satisfied that our venerable brother is enjoying the benefit of his labor at the right hand of the Father, we express our heart-sorrow that we are deprived of so worthy a member of our Quarterly Conference.

Resolved, That we, the members of the Quarterly Conference, will endeavor to follow the example set by our worthy and esteemed brother.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

MOSES SPIVEY, Committee.

DIED, at the residence of her son-in-law, John M. Pickens, on the eleventh of October, 1873, after a long and painful illness, Mrs. ANN ALLEN, in the sixty-first year of her age. She was born in Richmond county, North Carolina, on the twenty-ninth of November, 1812. She was married to William Allen in the year 1827, and moved with her husband to Marengo county, Alabama, in the year 1839, and from thence to Wilcox county, where she raised a family of four sons and a daughter. She lost her husband in the year 1853, and during the struggle for "the lost cause" three of her sons fell in defense of the home of their childhood. During the war she came to Clarke county, to spend the remainder of her life on earth with her son and daughter, and stayed first with one and then with the other until she was called to her home above. She professed faith in Jesus about thirty years ago, and connected herself with the Baptist Church; but four or five years afterward she joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and remained a consistent member of that church until called to the church triumphant. She was a devoted member, and loved God's ministers, especially the itinerants. For many months before her death she was deprived of the privilege of worshiping God in his holy sanctuary, but it always gave her great pleasure for her pastor to visit her and talk to her of the joys of heaven.

She had been for several years a constant reader of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and was disappointed should it fail to come every week. She had been confined to her room for five or six months with disease of the heart, but for the days before she died she seemed better, and could sit up part of the time. She was making preparations to go and stay awhile with her son, and from over-exertion she died very suddenly. She left no dying evidence of her future home, but often talked of it, before and after she became afflicted, to her children. For a month or two before she died she seemed to have a presentiment that her days were about numbered upon earth. Dear mother, thou hast left us, but we know if we prove faithful to the end we will meet thee again in that bright morn of the resurrection, to live with thee forever in that jeweled city. Yes, dear mother, we will miss thee as our little group kneels around the family altar for evening devotion; we will miss thee when we see thy seat vacant at the church; but we feel confident that thou art rejoicing with those that have washed their robes in white in the right hand of him who doeth all things well.

B. M. A.

TALLAHATTA, ALA., November 11, 1873.

THE SPIRIT OF HIS MASTER. Rev. Mr. Johnson, a Baptist missionary in China, relates a fact of a native convert who, when trying to persuade his countrymen to give up their idols and believe in Christ, was ridiculed and scorned, and at last pelted with mud and stones till his face was red with the blood that flowed from the cuts in his temple. Mr. Johnson, meeting him, said: "You have had bad treatment to-day." He smilingly replied: "They may kill me if they will love Jesus."

A MORE or less worthy Scotch wife was remonstrated with by her minister for her habit of beating her husband. She explained that her husband's conduct was not at all what it ought to be. The minister, recommending kindness and forgiveness, enjoined her no more to use her fists and nails, but to "heap coals of fire upon his head." "Weel, minister," replied the now enlightened wife, "since you say sae, I'll try the coals, but I may tell yo that twa or three kettles o' boiling water hae wrocht nae improvement."

JOHN RUSKIN, having been appealed to to subscribe to the fund for the restoration of Warwick Castle, the castle-lover as he is, replied: "I am at this hour endeavoring to find work and food for a boy of seventeen, one of eight people—two married couples, a woman and her daughter, and the boy and his sister—who all sleep together in one room, some eighteen feet square, in the heart of London, and you call upon me for a subscription to help to rebuild Warwick Castle!"

IF YOU wished to look at a portrait of Raphael's, what would you think to see only the forehead uncovered, and then only the eyes, and so on until all the features had been separately seen? Could you gain a true idea of the picture as a whole? Yet this is the way men look at the picture of Christ in the gospels, reading a few verses and mottoes here and there, and never considering the life in its wholeness and harmony.

NATURE is a frugal mother, and never gives without measure. When she has work to do she qualifies men for that and sends them equipped.

Emerson.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1873.

AUTUMN.

'Tis the golden gleam of an autumn day,
With the soft rain raining as if in play,
And a tender touch upon everything,
Like a sense of autumn remembered the days of spring.

In the listening woods there is not a breath
To shake their gold to the sward beneath;
But a glow as of sunshine upon them lies,
Though the sun is hid in the shadowed skies.

The rook's clear crow from the farm-yard comes,
The muffled bell from the belfry booms,
And faint and dim, and from far away,
Come the voices of children in happy play.

Over the mountains the white rain draws its vail,
And the black rooks, cawing, across them sail,
While nearer the swooping swallows skim
Over the steel-gray river's fretted brim.

No sorrow upon the landscape weighs,
No grief for the vanished summer days,
But a sense of peaceful and calm repose,
Like that which age in its autumn knows.

The spring-time longings are past and gone,
The passions of summer no longer are known;
The harvest is gathered, and autumn stands
Serenely thoughtful with folded hands.

Over all is thrown a memorial line,
A glory dead the real never knew;
For memory sifts from the past its pain,
And suffers its beauty alone to remain.

Triumph of Religious Liberty in Mexico.

LAW OF CONVENTS.

The last few days have been days of great excitement in Mexico. On the twenty-fifth of September, 1873, the following provisions were decreed by the Mexican Congress, to take the rank of constitutional amendments:

"The Congress of the United States of Mexico, in the exercise of the faculty conceded to it by Article 127 of the political Constitution, promulgated on the twelfth of February, 1857, the approbation of a majority of the legislators of the republic having been first obtained, declares the following additions and reforms in the said Constitution:

"Article 1. The State and the Church are independent of each other. The Congress cannot make laws establishing or prohibiting any religion.

"Article 2. Marriage is a civil contract. This and other acts relating to the civil state of persons belong exclusively to the functionaries and authorities of the civil order, under the terms provided by the laws, and will have the force and validity which they attribute to them.

"Article 3. No religious institution can acquire real estate or capitals based thereon except as provided in Article 27 of the Constitution.

"Article 4. The simple promise to speak the truth, and to comply with the obligations resulting therefrom, shall be substituted for the religious oath, with its effects and penalties.

"Article 5. No one shall be obliged to give personal labor without just recompense, and without his full consent. The State cannot permit that any contract, compact or agreement shall be carried into effect which has for its object the deterioration, the loss or irrevocable sacrifice of the liberty of man, whether by cause of labor, education or religious vow. The law consequently does not recognize monastic orders, neither can it permit their establishment under whatever name, or with whatever object it may be proposed to establish them. Neither can any agreement be permitted in which a man binds upon himself his own proscription, exile or departure from the country."

The Mexican Congress, not satisfied with the simple incorporation of these amendments in the Constitution, decreed, on the twenty-seventh of the same month, that they should be solemnly promulgated, and, so as effectually to secure their execution, ordered further that all the officials and employes of the nation, of whatever rank and order they might be, should solemnly protest (this being now made the legal oath,) without reserve, to keep and cause them to be kept. Their publication was directed to be made in Mexico city, on the fifth day of October, 1873, with suitable formality.

The president of the republic, Mr. Lerdo de Tejada, on the succeeding day, was to make the affirmation or protest, and administer it afterward to the secretaries of government. The heads of departments and directors of public establishments were then to make the affirmation before the secretaries of State; the lower employes before the heads of departments and directors aforesaid. The governors of the different States of the nation, in conjunction with their legislatures, should dictate the mode in which the affirmation should be taken. The governor of Lower California and the chief of police should likewise see that all officials and employes make a like protest.

The above provisions having been passed, it was asserted that the Roman Catholic Church in Mexico city had publicly excommunicated on the following Sunday all who should participate in their promulgation, or take upon themselves the required affirmation or oath. Two of the Romanist papers immediately denied that such excommunication had taken place. The official journal of the government, El Diario Oficial, then published the following:

"On writing our paragraph which has given such disgust to the priestly newspapers, we were sure of the facts which took place in the church of Loreto, because we had them from persons who actually were present. Our character and that of the journal which we direct make us too cautious in our statements to allow us to give publicity to any account of the authenticity of which we are not fully convinced. So far are we, then, from amending or contradicting our paragraph, that we reiterate the fact."

A communication was immediately afterward published, on behalf of the Archbishop of Mexico city, in which he denied that such excommunication had taken place, and so the matter stands. But the constitutional amendments were solemnly promulgated on the day named, and on the following day we were present, in the great Congress Hall, when the president of the nation, the heads of departments and judges of the Supreme Court took upon themselves the obligation to support the amendments or reform laws, as they are called. The hall of Congress is in the form of an immense theater, with galleries rising one above the other, up to the ceiling; and the people, regardless of the anathemas or censures of the church, crowded it to the top, and with eager and exultant countenances beheld their rulers bind themselves to maintain the enactments referred to.

One of our Mexican daily papers, in giving an account of the occurrence, contains the following extract: "At three o'clock precisely the president, accompanied by his cabinet, etc., came to the Congress for the purpose of assuming the obligation to support the amended Constitution before the people. A body of military formed an avenue in the Calle del Factor, the halls of Congress were adorned for the occasion, and President Lerdo took a seat under the dosel, by the side of the president of the Congress, and pronounced in a clear and firm voice a discourse congratulating the people and the august body before him for what they had accomplished. Many ladies were present during the solemn act. Almost all the second and third tiers of boxes were adorned by their presence, as if they wished to pay a tribute to the great event of the day. All honor to them, because, without fear of excommunication, they gave their influence to the advance of civilization and liberty in their country. Reform is consummated. The Constitution of the United States of Mexico is sealed by the liberal principles which sustained so many heroes in the glorious crusade of the Reformation. The republic is based now, in its fundamental law, upon the great ideas which move the modern world."

After the conclusion of the ceremony in Congress, the members of Congress and lower officials proceeded to the palace of the president of the nation, and made a like affirmation, and throughout the whole republic these provisions are not only the law of the land, but every one in authority will be bound to support them, by a solemn protest to that effect. It is a joyous day for Mexico.

The second day after the public affirmation was made the names of twenty-six persons, principally teachers in schools and physicians in the hospitals, appeared in the papers, who had refused to unite in the assumption of the obligation. They have been already removed from their positions under the city government, and their places already, with one or two exceptions, supplied by other incumbents. The Sisters of Charity in the government employ, possibly on account of their sex, have not yet been required to make the affirmation, but their case has been brought before the municipality of the City of Mexico, and they will in all probability be subjected to the same rule as the other government employes.—Correspondent of New York Methodist.

Scandalous Scene at Rome.

The Roman correspondent of the Manchester (England) Examiner gives the following account of the proceedings in the Eternal City consequent on the assembling, on the square of the capitol, of ten thousand children, the boys and girls taught in the city public schools.

The immense majority of these children never received any schooling whatever, either religious or secular, before the occupation of Rome by the Italians. Those who did receive an education in the "Scuole Pie" and in the city workhouse school bore a small proportion to the poor children who were left without any training. What the training was in the workhouse school the events of the last week have shown. When the municipal authorities intimated to the monks and nuns who had the charge of the workhouse children that they must bring them to the square of the capitol, there to receive the prizes with the other children, the monks and nuns flatly refused. The municipal assessor specially charged with the education department went to the city workhouse, and, accompanied by some of the first ladies in Rome, conducted the boys and girls to the capitol square. But when the children returned to the workhouse with their medals, with the figure of Victor Emanuel on the same, the monks and nuns tore the medals off, trod on them, spat on them, and then gave to the children other medals bearing the figure of the Pope.

On these facts being reported to the municipal council, at its Monday evening's sitting, the council unanimously resolved that all the monks and nuns employed as teachers in the workhouse schools should be paid whatever amount of salary was due, and then immediately removed, and their places given to lay schoolmasters and mistresses. The order was carried out next day. Count Carpagna, with a staff of lay teachers, repaired to the schools.

No opposition was offered by the monks, and no disturbance was made by the boys, but the nuns and the workhouse girls appeared utterly ungovernable. The nuns heaped every species of abuse on Count Carpagna and the new teachers, and the workhouse girls exhibited such a proficiency in slang that Count Carpagna asked the head schoolmistress where her pupils had learned a style of language not much in accordance with moral and religious training. But the worst was yet to come. When the elder workhouse girls had fully realized the appalling fact that they were to be separated from their father confessor, their fury knew no bounds. They dashed at Count Carpagna with the rage of wildcats, raising at the same time frantic shrieks of "Leave us our confessors!" "We will not be separated from our confessors!" "We cannot live without our confessors!" There was, however, no help for it; all the monks and nuns, excepting one nun, who was in bad health, and could not be moved, were put into so many omnibuses and cabs, and conveyed to the destination which they had themselves selected. From the first inquiries made by the new masters, but still more by the new mistresses, the change did not take place a day too soon. The state of filth—one can call it by no other name—both physical and moral, of the workhouse girls was beyond description.

Photographs Taken in Church.

THE "DULL" CHRISTIAN.—He is not the most admired specimen, and is rather to be pitied. He would be lively, but secret prayer is dull to him, and he prays merely as a duty; it has to be done sometimes. Family worship is too dull. Singing in church enlivens him a little for the moment, though he is rather quiet. The prayer is long and dull, but he defends himself by not praying, and he stands it. The reading of the Scriptures is rather dull, but the sermon is intolerably dull, though he endures it like a Christian martyr. The collection designed as an oblation to the Lord—a grateful thank-offering to his Savior—is dull, and he forgets to bring his offering. His heart is more dull, but the benediction breaks up the monotony, and he rather likes it. The prayer meeting—taking part with the Lord's people in supplication and praise—is dull, and he will seldom lead in prayer, and in a dull way, and is seldom present. It is rather remarkable, however, that on Monday and secular days, and in all secular work, he is lively and full of energy. "Talk business" to him, and he is a live man. There is a reason for the difference in the man. What is it? It is noticed that he never gives the reason.

THE "LIVE" CHRISTIANS.—It is interesting to observe how popular they are. The cause, however, is rather doubtful. They save us idlers so much work and expense. A half dozen, it seems, is considered a sufficient number for an ordinary congregation, and some are satisfied with only three live Christians. A few more would be an advantage, thinks our good elder.

THE "LAZY" CHRISTIAN.—He is often afflicted with the Sunday fever, which is so seldom cured, and cannot get to church or the prayer-meeting; and if any work for Christ is to be done, he cannot do it. He always has his excuse-making machine in his bosom and in good order. But we notice that his health and spirits are good on Monday and Tuesday, and even on Saturday. The store and office, party and public gathering for the world, find him active and ready for any work that pleases him. He never troubles himself about pleasing the Lord. Some think heaven won't suit him at all, and it is thought that he had better not go there; it won't suit "lazy" Christians.

A "MEAN" CHRISTIAN.—The idea is somewhat unpleasant and not heavenly. However true, the mean brother might not relish the expression, as it is not poetic, nor quite polite. It does not sound well from the pulpit, and we will substitute the word "peculiar." He can give a pleasing meaning to it.

THE "CLOSE" CHRISTIAN.—What right has any one to complain of him? As soon as he has done his duty perfectly to himself he will think of others. Only don't call him stingy; wait till his heart opens.

THE "SOUR" CHRISTIAN.—What shall we do for him? What shall we do with him? There is nothing very attractive in him, and his testimony with regard to our holy religion is very doubtful. Hear him sing "How sweet the name of Jesus sounds!" and it has a strange sound from his lips. Happily he seldom sings. He is somewhat like sour bread—an affliction and an infliction upon the family; neither wholesome nor toothsome, and the less of it the better. You cannot even send it to a poor neighbor. What will the church above think of him?—Christian Observer.

THE LORD'S PRAYER IN DEATH. A Sunday school scholar was dying. Her friends had gathered around to listen to her dying words. After she had been raised in bed, and had spoken a few words to each one, she said:

"Now, mother, I would like to have you lay my head down on the pillow."

Her request was granted.

"Now," said she, "I want to say the Lord's Prayer just as I said it when I was a little child."

Slowly and fervently that beautiful prayer was repeated. For a few moments a smile played around the lips of the dying girl, and then her happy spirit winged its way to that better land where prayer is lost in praise.—Sabbath School Visitor.

ONE of the incidents of the labor strikes now in progress in England is the revelation of the amounts taken out of the pockets of the workingmen to support the trades unions. For example, the Coal Miners' Association has upward of seventy thousand members, and its fund has been increased by recent contributions to the sum of $22,620. This fund has been collected by the imposition of the unusually low tax of threepence (six cents) per month for each member; but the levy is very much larger than this in almost every other union in England. The amount taken by the unions from the workingmen in all the trades counts by thousands of pounds annually in England—and how much in this country?

IMMORTALITY OF A THOUGHT.—Beautiful it is to understand and know that a thought did never yet die; that as thou, the originator thereof, hast gathered it, and created it from the whole past, so thou wilt transmit it to the whole future. It is thus that the heroic heart, the seeing eye of the first times, still feels and sees in us of the latest, that the wise man stands ever encompassed and spiritually embraced by a cloud of witnesses and brothers; and there is a living, literal communion of saints, wide as the world itself, and as the history of the world.—Carlyle.

BOTH SIDES.

"Pray, why should I give up my wine
When I sit down to lunch or dine?
I know that water's cheaper;
I have some still in my spring;
But I say, brother, where's the sense?"

"The bells are tolling fast and slow;"
A neighbor in his prime laid low.
Affords another warning.
'Twas wine that struck the fatal blow,
When his lips were wet with scorning.

Scientific.

THE currents of air induced by the Boston fire were so strong that flakes of granite were carried across the water to South Boston, and fell in quantities on the sidewalks and roofs, and papers were borne in some cases to a distance of more than twenty miles.

M. JAMIN states that when the current of electricity used to magnetize a horse-shoe bar attains a certain strength, the bar appears to return to its normal state, while either weaker or stronger currents produced magnetism. This state he terms that of concealed magnetism, and supposes it is produced by a peculiar distribution of the magnetic force.

A BOX-CAR containing tanks of living fishes was recently dispatched by the United States Commissioner of Fisheries, Prof. Baird, across the Union Pacific railroad, for the purpose of supplying some of the Californian waters with shad, catfish, perch, etc., and lobsters. When crossing the Elk Horn river the bridge gave way and precipitated the car into the stream. The fishes escaped, and are now, no doubt, exploring the waters of the Platte and its tributaries; and such of them as survive will doubtless be the progenitors of a colony, which will be a valuable addition to the resources of these streams.

NITRO-GLYCERINE COMPOUNDS.—Several favorite modern blasting-explosives, such as dynamite, dualin and lithofracteur, are saturations of different substances with nitro-glycerine. They are much safer to use. Indeed it may be said of dynamite, for instance, that it is less dangerous to handle than common powder, and far less so than the fulminate-cartridges of the fuses employed to explode it. A danger which must always be guarded against, however, is the segregation from the compound, by heat or gravity, of the liquid nitro-glycerine. A single drop of this may explode by accidental concussion, and set off the whole mass. This is true of dynamite and lithofracteur. We have seen no statement of it with respect to dualin.

THE caves of France and Sardinia have recently yielded the remains of a number of prehistoric men, of much interest, especially those of Cro Magnon and Bmousse Rousse. The form of the crania is excellent—not prognathous, but the orbits are peculiarly shaped. They are remarkably transverse, the vertical diameter being unusually small; and the outlines are, moreover, somewhat parallelogramic or angulate. Associated with the former were some moderately well-executed drawings of animals on bone. The fauna with which this people was associated includes the cave bear, cave lion, cave hyena, hairy rhinoceros and other extinct species. One skeleton found at Braousse Rousse was apparently that of a female and was very well preserved. The skull was incrusted, and wore two chaplets—one of perforated deer's teeth and another of marine shells of recent species. The other skeleton from the same locality also had a chaplet. Near to both were found some dust of oxide of iron, in such quantity as to lead to the supposition that this race used iron ore or iron in some way.

A CALIFORNIA paper describes the discovery of three villages of Zuni Indians, supposed to be the survivors of the ancient Aztecs. They dwell on the great trail from Fort Mohave, on the Colorado, to Albuquerque, on the Rio Grande, and are about a day's journey from the diamond-field. They number about six thousand, and are very different from other tribes, being in looks, bearing and pride of dress a manifestly superior race. The women are comely and modest in their dress, their houses are clean, and their cooking good. These people have fields of corn, wheat and vegetables, flocks of sheep and goats, and they keep all the domestic animals.

IT IS EASY, no doubt, to journey alone in the broad sunshine and on the beaten highway of our lot; but over the midnight plain and beneath the still immensity of darkness the traveler seeks some fellowship for his wanderings. And what is religion but the midnight hemisphere of life, whose vault is filled with the silence of God, and whose everlasting stars, if giving no clear light, yet fill the soul with dreams of immeasurable glory?

LORD HOUGHTON says it was not Sydney Smith who replied to Landseer's proposal to paint his portrait: "Is thy servant a dog, that he should do this thing?"

The answer, he says, was Lockhart's.

A RECENT calculation respecting the principal European languages shows that the English is spoken by ninety millions of persons, German by fifty-five millions, Spanish by fifty-five millions, and French by forty-two millions.

THE Congregationalist sagely observes: "It is only in the pulpit that striplings are preferred. The professions of medicine and law demand maturity. The congregations seem to have an appetite for 'veal.'"

LET YOUR religion be seen. Lamps do not talk, but they do shine. A lighthouse beats no drum or gong, and yet far over the waters its friendly light is seen by the mariner.

A MAN whose mind is full of error may give us the genial sense of truth, as a tropical sun, while it rears crocodiles, yet ripens the wine of the palm-tree.

Religious Intelligence.

THE United Presbyterian Church of Scotland numbers only 183,000 members. Last year they raised $1,250,000, besides $350,000 for missionary and benevolent purposes. They are supporting sixty-three missionaries and teachers in the foreign field, and have just raised nearly $50,000 for a mission in Japan.

IT HAS often been remarked that missionary effort is most successful among small and oppressed peoples. The Armenians and Nestorians of Persia, among whom the American Board has maintained missionaries with such blessed results, are instances in point. It is said that about 25,000 of either race are now nominally Christian.

DURING the past year there has been decided progress in the China missions. Nowhere in that great empire has the work gone backward. New schools have been opened, new out-stations occupied, and more native helpers engaged; the mission press has been kept busy; and every agency of good actively and effectively brought to bear.

THE American Colonization Society is making arrangements to send a number of emigrants to Liberia during the present month (November.) Among those who propose going are members of churches and persons of intelligence, and agricultural and mechanical skill and experience, who will prove to be an acquisition to the flourishing republic of Liberia.

REV. J. H. WILSON, missionary to the Yokima Indians, Oregon, stated at the late session of the Oregon Conference: "There are about 400 converted Indians under my care. I have watched them closely from day to day. In every case when an Indian is converted he abandons at once the use of tobacco. He does it voluntarily, without admonition from any one."

THE largest membership of any Protestant church in New York city—not Brooklyn—is stated to be that of the Colored Baptist church, of which Rev. Mr. Spellman is pastor. The membership is nearly one thousand one hundred. Mr. Spellman was a barber, but exhibited such remarkable gifts in exhortation and prayer that the church insisted upon his being ordained to the ministry.

SAD, IF TRUE.—Rev. Mr. Bush, retiring chaplain of the Binghamton Asylum for Inebriates, asserts that practically the institution is a failure. Cases of reform, he says, are few. Only three of the eighty-two patients under the first administration have continued in a state of total abstinence, and all these belonged to the higher classes of society, and are intelligent, well-educated men.

OLD JOHN STREET, NEW YORK.—The one hundred and seventh anniversary of this church, says the Methodist, was celebrated last Sunday, October 26. Drs. Chapman and Haven preached morning and evening. Rev. Mr. J. B. Merwin, Dr. L. S. Weed and others took part in the services. The congregations were large; the spirit of the meetings excellent; preaching powerful; collections liberal.

"THE CHURCH of God," so called, founded by John Winebrenner, is a denomination of Baptists, numbering about 30,000. They are evangelical in their doctrines and open communionists in practice, and they have adopted the system of itinerancy. The Baptist Union hopes that these and other liberal Baptists may be led to consolidate their forces. Surely there is room for all the sects within the church of God.

ENGLISH METHODISM has lost one of its oldest and staunchest supporters in the person of William Suttcliffe, Esq., who died October 4, at the age of seventy-six. He had been circuit steward of the Bacup circuit for more than forty years, and had attended every quarterly meeting in that period except the two which occurred during his last illness. His life was in all respects that of a thorough, earnest Christian.

MEXICO.—Rev. Thomas Carter, D. D., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, writes September 19: "We are all in good health, and keeping at our work. We had an excellent meeting last night. One of our native brethren, exhorter, returned yesterday, after two weeks' absence to different appointments, giving us a good report of his services. This week I have been sending a young man out with Bibles and tracts in the vicinity of the city."

INTERESTING DISCOVERY.—It is announced in Nature that Mr. George Smith has just discovered the fragments of an ancient Assyrian Canon, from the Babylonian copy of which the much-contested Canon of Berosus was unquestionably derived. The importance of this relic to chronologists can scarcely be over-estimated, and it will form the substance of a paper shortly to be read before the Society of Biblical Archæology by its fortunate discoverer.

THE Episcopalians of northwestern Ohio, at their recent convention, passed resolutions condemning the slightest deviation from the prayer-book, and saying that "the interpolation in the services of the church of any other prayers than those found in the prayer-book, or the inviting or permitting of persons who have not received episcopal ordination, to officiate as ministers in any office, in any of our churches or accustomed places of worship, must not be countenanced or tolerated."

A RAPID REVIEW of the history of Christianity in Persia is given in the Church Missionary Record, beginning with that day of Pentecost when Parthians, Medes and Elamites, coming with other multitudes, heard from St. Peter the declaration: "For the promise is unto you and your children." The Nestorian Church, a few centuries later, formed a powerful body in Persia; but suffered, as did the Armenian Christians, at the hands of triumphant Mohammedanism. Now the members of both the Nestorian and Armenian communions in Persia are said not to exceed 50,000 persons. The earliest attempt to reach Persia through missionary efforts was made by the Moravians, in the middle of the last century, who sent two men to labor among the Guebres, or fire-worshipers, the descendants, according to tradition, of the Magi. After great sufferings one of the brethren died; and the other, William Hokker, having returned to Europe, in 1750, entered soon after upon missionary work among the Egyptian Copts. The Edinburg Medical Missionary Society, about fifty years later, sent missionaries to the borders of Persia, but upon Russian territory; from which, after about twenty years' service, they were forced to withdraw by the Russian government. About this time the Basle Missionary Society had a station at Shusha, in Shirwan, on the borders of Persia, in a district which had formerly been a Persian province; so that to a certain extent the work of the Edinburg mission was carried on until, some years later, the Basle missionaries were forced to abandon their work by a decree of the Czar, which banished from Russia all missionaries but those of the Greek Church. The American Church now took up the work, and in 1834 Dr. Perkins established his headquarters in Ooroomiah, on Persian soil, founding the mission now in charge of the American Presbyterian Church, known as the Nestorian mission, which in the last annual report of the Presbyterian Board is accredited with eight American ministers, twelve American teachers, male and female, ninety-five native teachers, 724 communicants, fifty-five schools, and 1,076 scholars. From another source we gather that, while but twenty-two additions to the church have been made during the year, fifty-six stand propounded for admission. The average attendance upon the preaching services of the mission has been about 4,000, with nearly 2,000 pupils in Sunday schools. The Rev. B. Labaree, Jr., writes: "During the last ten years the number of communicants has doubled the gain of almost thirty years previous. Within the last six years nearly a score of churches have been organized. Six years ago the people paid nothing to the support of their preachers. Now two churches pay the whole salary of their pastors, and several others from a half to two-thirds of theirs. New and remote stations among their own people and among the Armenians have been occupied, and the influence of the Evangelical Nestorians is extending year by year. Progress in labors for the Mussulman population has been made. During the past twelve months the advance is striking. The important city of Teheran has been occupied as a missionary station. Several thousands of the gospels of Luke and John (in Persian) have been forwarded, and their circulation has been commenced. The Gospel of Matthew in the Turkish dialect of Azerbijan (the northwest province of the kingdom) has been printed, and its distribution is being pushed with gratifying success. A small school for Mussulman girls has been gathered at Ooroomiah—a step taken with much trepidation, and involving important consequences. The gospel has been preached to a greater number of Mohammedans than in any previous twelve months; and, of yet higher significance, two hopeful converts from Mohammedanism have sat down with a missionary and Nestorian brethren at the table of our Lord." The Persian Mussulmans are said to have more active, thinking minds than the Turks, and to be more impressible on religious subjects. Their system of religious belief, the Sheah itself heretical, has developed numberless minor heresies and mystic sects, and divisions abound. The mission in Teheran, though nominally opened for Armenians, has been carried on among Mussulmans by the missionaries making use of the common language which all Armenians, Jews and Mussulmans can understand, so that all attend preaching services and send children to the schools. Labors directed ostensibly for the conversion of Mohammedans would be unwise, because of the stringency of the laws, which bear hard upon the non-Mohammedan population, by which a Mohammedan embracing Christianity subjects himself to the penalty of death. The Shah has been repeatedly memorialized on the subject of religious toleration, by English Christians, during his late visit to Europe; and by the Parsees of India, in behalf of the few Parsees in Persia, who still survive the oppressions which in 100 years have reduced their numbers from 30,000 families to scarcely 6,000 souls. The power of the Mohammedan priesthood is still so great that concessions in this direction will have to be made with great caution. The activity of the Ooroomiah missionaries has provoked unusual zeal among the Armenians, who say: "We will not be beholden to the Protestants for schools, books or preachers." So such works as "Baxter's Call" have recently been translated and published by them. Thus Christ is preached, though it be of envy. The English Church mission in Persia began in 1869, with a visit made by the Rev. R. Bruce, who stopped at Ispahan when on his way to India, for the purpose of studying the Persian language, and has there remained. During the famine he was enabled to do much for the sufferers, and doubtless it is due in great part to his influence that the numerous Mohammedan sects in Ispahan manifest a great desire for religious freedom. Mr. Bruce has purchased the mission-house at Julfa, near Ispahan; and, while preparing a revised translation of the New Testament into Persian, he is also at work upon a Bible history, finding assistance from a learned Sufi and Moollah. He also has the oversight of a school and orphanage, where the children of Armenian Christians are taught. The prospects of Persia are brightening materially, as well as spiritually; and, owing to an abundant wheat harvest, but one-tenth as much is now paid for good bread as was last year given for the same quantity of a mixture compounded of straw, earth and bran.—Independent.

FLORIDA is reported to be already filling up with invalids for the winter season.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1873.

REV. LINUS PARKER D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.
Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.
AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. A. J. BRIGGS.
REV. J. W. RUSH.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. WILLIAM V. TUDOR, D. D.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

REDUCTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers hereafter at the following rates:

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year | $2 00 |
| Six Months | 1 25 |
| Three Months | 75 |

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

to all Ministers of the Gospel, traveling or local, and widows of deceased traveling preachers.

FREE ONE YEAR

to any person forwarding to us four new yearly subscribers, with EIGHT DOLLARS.

The Path of the Just.

The wise man declares that "the path of the just is as the shining light that shineth more and more unto the perfect day." The experience of divine things, from the first dawn to the ripest attainment, is thus progressive. The light within increases like the advancing day, there is growth in grace and in the knowledge of Christ, and all the elements of a pure and holy character are developed more and more. As time passes the faithful Christian attains to a clearer view of truth, and he becomes stronger to resist temptation and to meet the enticements of sin.

Nothing is more beautiful than the early morning, with the sweetness and freshness of the dew and the flowers. Hence, in "the song of songs," the church is supposed to be meant by the question: "Who is she that looketh forth as the morning, fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners?" The prophet also represents the Lord's gracious manifestations when he says that "his going forth is prepared as the morning." But still the morning is relatively the type of imperfection, just as infancy and childhood are. It is at meridian that the sun is at the height of his regal state, and banishes clouds and mists and darkness from the world. As the sun does not leap at once and at a single bound from the horizon to the zenith, so the converted soul moves gradually up to the place where no shadow rests upon the vision, and where the maturest knowledge and understanding of spiritual things obtain.

Beyond the completest attainment in religious character and knowledge we might refer this law of progress in the religious life to the comfort and enjoyment of a present salvation from sin. There is something exceedingly dazzling and overwhelming in the sunrise, when the "wings of the morning" first expand and take their flight, dispersing the gloom and darkness of the night. But these effects are largely owing to the novelty and suddenness of the transition, and the superior splendor of noon awakens no peculiar sensations of rapture and wonder, because we have become accustomed to its really indescribable brightness. The hour of conversion, when the experience has been consciously sudden, is to the soul very much like the sunrise—at the moment overwhelming, and, as recollected long afterward, something more overpowering than the later emotions of religious joy. And the reason is the same. The peace and happiness of subsequent years are greater, but the novelty and the powerful contrasts of the morning are no longer present. The enjoyment of the mature believer is deeper and less easily disturbed, more uniform and sometimes less demonstrative. An increase, steady and persistent, in the knowledge of Christ and in holiness are perhaps more to the purpose, but there is also a corresponding advancement in peace and assurance.

And yet, in reference to both of these elements of progress, we may mistake and yield to groundless discouragements. Doubtless it often appears, in times of trial and affliction especially, that the path of the just is far from being like the shining light. The spirits are engloomed, and there is heaviness rather than buoyancy. It seems, under the pressure of sorrow and temptation, as if the fiber of our patience and submission were giving way, and as if our faith were about to yield to the terrible strain. The sickening fear comes that we are growing worse rather than better, and that God has withdrawn the light of his countenance. These are exceptional conditions, perhaps, but such as are common to God's children, and it is in them often that the greatest progress is being made. These afflictions are refining the faith and working out a weight of glory, and the temporary obscuration only precedes a clearing up, and a grand outburst of light and gladness. Like Jacob, when he awoke from his dream, the Christian comes out of his chastisements exclaiming: "Surely the Lord is in this place, and I knew it not." The winds that vex and rend the boughs are said to give new life, strength and expansion to the roots. It is better to be driven to port by the rudest storm that ever raged than to be becalmed under the serenest skies. Like the shining light, after all, as it may be through clouds and temporary eclipse that the perfect day is gained. We see good men broken and crushed in their temporal circumstances, wounded and lacerated in all their tenderest sensibilities, and their misfortunes thicken with increasing years. Theirs is the path of the just nevertheless, and, in a spiritual sense, that path is shining more and more. There is a brilliance and a glory within, a life hid with Christ in God, and a blessedness akin to that which angels know.

Although there is now no space to amplify, we must not lose sight of another and most important application. In respect of usefulness, the path of the just is as the shining light. As "the light of the world," Christians are to shine more and more. Their example becomes more potent, their influence greater as their experience deepens. And never, as light-bearers, are they more luminous or more irresistible in winning souls than when they shine through a medium of patient and submissive suffering.

A Day of Rest.

At the age of eighty-six John Wesley writes in his journal: "Saturday, March 21—I had a day of rest, only preaching morning and evening." This appears not to have been written in irony, but in all seriousness and sobriety of spirit. Wesley probably considered about five sermons a day and forty miles on horseback, or in his chaise, as work. For our comfort we have been disposed to wonder how many different sermons on different texts our founder preached. His biographers tell us how many times he preached, and he tells us this himself; but we could better estimate his real toil if we knew how many of these sermons were repeated. From his journal and other sources we find that he often preached from the same text, and in this he doubtless saved time and strength, and preached more effectively. No man—hardly even an inspired man—could prepare three new sermons a day, and preach them, for an entire year. Wesley saved himself by preaching his sermons over and over. Whitfield probably exceeded in repeating his sermons, as he is said to have improved them up to their eightieth delivery.

Something there was in the bracing climate of England, and more in the active outdoor life of the great itinerant, and very much in an exceptionally good physical constitution.—Among other reasons for his health and long life he somewhere mentions his rising at four o'clock, and preaching at five in the morning habitually. We must remember, however, that he was accustomed to take a short nap in the day. His well-balanced mind and a profound religious experience are also to be considered. He trusted in God certainly not less than Muller, and slept all the time he was in bed. He had painful experiences in his domestic relations, but family affairs never took up his time, or diverted much of his thought or attention from his business as a preacher.

Another circumstance, and, to our mind, a most important one in accounting for this wonderful man's almost miraculous capacity for work, is the fact that he did not enter on his active life until he was ready. He began his great work at thirty-five—an age at which many find themselves nearly worn out, and at which some of the most brilliant and promising are already in their graves. He was a finished man, a mature scholar, a man of varied and accurate information, before he went forth. Those eight years spent in the university were not lost, and when he took the field he had the culture, character and knowledge which fitted him for the grand achievements that marked his career. In many cases such a protracted period devoted to a university course might be waste of time, but with him it was opportune and providential. He was already a proficient in languages, mathematics, philosophy and theology, and he had time for other labors when he began to preach and travel and organize. That thorough preparation saved his health, life and time, besides making possible a career which has scarcely a parallel in history.

But with all these contributions toward a solution, still this man's capacity for work is somewhat of a mystery. At eighty-six he only preaches twice, and counts that a day of rest. Many men nowadays, stalwart in frame and of middle age, would regard this as herculean toil; under it they would groan and be wearied almost to fainting, and their friends would protest against it as suicidal. It is marvelous how work agreed with Wesley, being a refreshment rather than a weariness, and attended by none of those wasting effects upon the nerves and muscle which we are accustomed to ascribe to constant mental exertion. He carried the art of business and labor to the highest perfection, and we have something to learn from his example. There is a way of working, and there are conditions of labor which give tone to the health and contribute to long life. Work, with Wesleyan method, and with Wesleyan spirit, and with Wesleyan consecration, is a study in itself, and worthy of a distinct treatment and application. Our founder cultivated orderly habits, calmness and cheerfulness of mind, and such providence in the use of time as to make hurry out of the question. Perhaps the chief reason of his resting on two sermons a day was that he dared not fret. There was no worry, and all his faculties, even in times of the greatest excitement, worked as smoothly as the most perfect engine in a storm at sea.

A Fitting Tribute.

At the impressive memorial service in Nashville Bishop McTyeire delivered a discourse on the life and character of Bishop Early. We quote the concluding part of this very able address, as published in the Nashville Christian Advocate:

Take him all in all, the conclusion is that the sentiment of the preachers' meeting was right, at whose request this memorial service is held: We have cause to be devoutly thankful to God for having given Bishop Early to the church, and that his life was spared so long to bless and edify it. Every man possesses an individuality more or less marked, and makes his contribution to the fabric, the form, the tone of society. If he lives a true life, and works out himself, under the grace of God, he supplies an element sometimes new, always needful. That which is really most valuable in him he may be unconscious of, and it may not be perceived by others at the time of its contribution to the common fund. Because it is new and needful it may not then be appreciated. For a right estimate we must take our stand at a distance, and make a comparative and general survey.

What did this man add to the living forces and forming influences of his age? What—to shape the course of events, to elevate the masses, to correct wrong tendencies? What—to check vice, and to strengthen that which was weak and wanting in public virtue? What—to make honor honorable, and truth estimable, and holiness beautiful? He only knows who wisely correlates the moral as well as the physical forces of the universe. But this may be safely affirmed: John Early came in a good time, and did a good work, and earned a good fame. The world is better because he lived, and poorer when he died, and may well exclaim: "Help, Lord, for the godly man ceaseth."

The times through which his ministry stretched were such as a man might covet to live in, and John Early was a felt factor in their development. He made an original and distinct contribution to what was best in them. Whether we consider him as the earnest layman exercising his gifts, as class-leader, as exhorter, as local preacher always finding work to do, as the circuit preacher, the Conference missionary, the presiding elder, the agent laying the foundations of Christian education, the president of the college board nursing and guiding the first successful experiment, the publisher of religious literature, the legislator in General Conference, or a superintendent at large having care of all the churches, the net result is such as to make us glorify the grace of God in him. We honor his memory and hand him down to his grave with tears.

When he began his ministry in the Methodist Church there were only seven Annual Conferences in the United States and Canada, and one hundred and forty-five thousand members; when the sixty-six years of that ministry closed there were over two million of members, and a hundred and fifty Annual Conferences. In accomplishing this result he was one of God's honored instruments.

He looked abroad and saw the church of his love and labor prospering, and was glad. He thought of his spiritual children and his sons in the ministry, and prayed: "Therefore, my brethren, dearly beloved and longed-for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved." When he could no more go out and in before the churches and the Conferences, his spirit mellowed with age, and he was still giving a care to personal salvation, as though he heard the words of that other John: "Look to yourselves, that ye lose not those things which ye have wrought, but that we obtain a full reward."

Bishop Early was extensively acquainted. His retentive memory was a repository of church history—of precedents and adjudicated cases—and he seldom forgot a face or a name. No man in Virginia or out of it was more generally recognized and heartily greeted as he went about. On the cars, at the public gatherings in the East, on the steamboats of the Western rivers, and the stage-coaches of the frontier, wherever he traveled, old friends or their children welcomed him and received him into their homes. Men and women went far to shake his hand, to hear his voice, and their eyes often filled with grateful tears on sight of one who was associated with some tender passage of other days, some spiritual benefit. Their meetings were cordial. They knew him and he knew them.

How is it now? Can he be alone? Can you conceive of him as dwelling apart and among strangers in that glorious land of souls? No, no. By every token we shall know each other there. His old companions in distress have greeted him on the eternal shore. A multitude were ready to welcome him when on last Wednesday he left us. Friends have received him into everlasting habitations. Kindred spirits bear him company, endeared by a thousand memories that had their beginning here below, and the happy company join him in the ascription: "Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, and hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen."

Sticking to the Text.

Rev. George H. Hepworth, writing in the Independent about "the best kind of preaching," contrasts the style of the foreign preachers in attendance on the Evangelical Alliance with the prevalent American method. What he says is true and worth the attention of our preachers. We quote the most of his article:

What I have noticed particularly in the preaching of the foreign delegates is the refreshing and delightful way in which they stick to the text. They never swing so far away from it that they cannot get back at any moment. They make it a kind of refrain, which comes with precision and regularity after every few sentences. We Americans frequently use our text simply as a point of departure. It is the depot from which we start, and to which some of us never return. The European, on the contrary, uses his text as a constant covert. He may timidly advance a few rods in any given direction which promises good grazing; but at the slightest embarrassment or alarm he seeks shelter and security in the text.

If, on the one hand, the American preacher makes excursions into climes so distant from his text that the inhabitants thereof have never heard of it, and would be surprised to find that there was any possible connection between it and them, the foreign preachers, on the other hand, use and abuse a text, until you are half inclined to cry out pitifully: "Pray let that verse of Scripture alone for a little while. You have trotted it on your knee until it is nearly jolted to death; you have fondled it until it is well-nigh suffocated; and you have tossed it in the air and chirruped to it until both it and you require immediate relief and rest."

In spite of this, however, we have been taught an exceedingly valuable lesson, viz., that the best preaching is that which keeps one hand on the Bible all the time. The pulpit is not the place for a pet theory of philosophy or science; neither, as a general rule, for the unraveling of snarled skeins of theology or the settlement of mooted questions in social and political economy. All these matters are exceedingly valuable when they are simply incidental, when used as accessories or illustrations; but when they become the gravamen of the discourse the pulpit bow is bent in vain, and the arrow shoots wide of the mark. The most effective sermons are those which grow up out of a text and which never go more than a table's length from it. Souls are drawn to Christ not so much by any philosophical discussion about his nature as by a simple, straightforward explanation of his words and deeds. You may talk about him until he becomes historically a myth; but you cannot talk to him without recognizing him as your Friend.

I would that we might get back to the simpler style of preaching, and especially to preaching on texts, and not on subjects. The church is founded on the Bible, and on nothing else. It is not the special province of the minister to take up the gauge which science sometimes throws down, and prove that the Bible and the science of to-day do not contradict each other. For myself, I feel that they do contradict each other very seriously; and I am annoyed again and again at the sneers and assertions of men who have made natural law a study, but the study of which seems not to have made them humble. Still I keep on preaching the gospel, with the feeling that when science grows to man's estate and puts away childish things—as sneers and jibes—it will find, after all, that the Bible and itself were born of one mother. The scientific man laughs to scorn everything he cannot explain or understand. He would be a more worthy disciple if he held his opinion in solution, knowing that what the scientific research of to-day regards as a nebulous mass may twenty years from now be resolved into separate stars. We ministers have no time to waste, then, over any contradictions that may arise, for we have demonstrated the power of the gospel in our own experience and know whereof we affirm. Whatever clouds may hang in the general sky, the sun shines clear and bright on that spot.

What the Bible can do for us it can do for all. We cannot, therefore, stick to our texts too closely or become too persistent in preaching Christ and him crucified.

HE THAT doubts the existence of mind, by doubting, proves it.

Indian Mission Conference.

LETTER FROM BISHOP PIERCE.

As I am snugly laid by at Bro. Ewing's house and home, on this very cold day, I obey your editorial behest, and send you a brief letter.

The Indian Mission Conference met on the twenty-third instant, at Tahlequah, the capital of the Cherokee nation. The town is small, having no importance except as the headquarters of the government. The house in which are the Senate chamber, council-room and executive department, with other offices, is a substantial, well-arranged brick structure. Near by is the Cherokee Orphan Asylum, a noble charity, supported by the nation. Ninety boys and girls are now receiving instruction there. It is proposed to make it industrial as well as academic. This enterprise is a monument to missions and Christianity. Five miles distant is the female seminary. We had our Sunday Conference services at the asylum. The day was rainy, cold and gloomy, but the congregation was large, and seemed deeply interested. The missionary secretary was there—a patriarch in the midst of three generations. I never knew till now how antique and venerable my old friend was. I was present when gray-haired Indian men and women would tell how they heard him when they were boys and girls, and describe scenes and incidents that would make his face glow and his eye moisten. Services rendered forty-five years ago, the fruit of which still appears, entitle him to esteem and veneration, which he would not claim on the score of age. Verily he had a rich time out here with his old friends and their descendants—rich in memories, hopes and prospects.

The Conference was pleasant in all respects. The hospitality of the people was open-handed and hearty, the religious services well attended, and the general impression favorable to our interest. We closed early on Monday morning. I came out and preached at the seminary at night. Drs. McFerrin and Sargent and Bro. Blair left me, and went their way to Texas—all well and happy in what they had seen and heard and done. Dr. Sargent preached twice, and left a very pleasant savor personally and ministerially. But he has been taking "notes," and I expect will "print 'em." I was sorry to part with him.

But to make this letter worth reading, I will give some facts in detail. In the Indian Mission Conference there are white preachers, 15; Cherokees, 3; Creeks, 1; Choctaws, 2; Chickasaws, 0. Among the four tribes there are local preachers as follows: Cherokees, 17; Creeks, 24; Choctaws, 7; Chickasaws, 25; total, 73. White members, 221—increase, 49; Indian members, 4,613—increase, 23; colored members, 477—increase, 23; total membership, 5,311—increase, 95; add local preachers, 73, and we have a grand total of 5,384. I need six white men to fill the work according to my judgment. I must try to find them. In the plan of appointments I have employed, as supplies, 6 Cherokees, 6 Choctaws, 1 Creek, 1 Delaware and 4 colored men. In the regular work 33 preachers are employed. More men and more money are needed to occupy the whole field. We want robust, fearless, self-denying men. The dainty, the timid, have no business here. The rides are long, the work hard, the fare plain—exposure in wind and weather very great, often severe—pay scanty; and nothing earthly to invite but nature in the majesty of her mountains, the verdure of her plains and rolling prairies—her bright, beautiful waters, and the blue heavens overhead. Who will volunteer? Let him speak or write to me. On the spiritual side there is religion to be enjoyed, souls to be saved, and the great Master's smile of approval now, all along, and then forever and ever.

I love to come here—to get away from the artificial, and look upon the natural—to see the gospel moving about on its mission of love and mercy, a benediction to the aged and the young. I heard the Cherokees sing a song last Sunday in their own language. I did not understand a word, but the tune, with its associations and memories, melted my heart—my wings grew, and heaven felt very near.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

OCTOBER 29, 1873.

Fare to Mississippi Conference.

MR. EDITOR: I have written to the officers of the New Orleans and Jackson, and Vicksburg and Meridian railroads in regard to reducing the fare of the members of the next Annual Conference.

The ticket agent on the former road has replied that he would instruct agents at depots to sell tickets from the eighth to the eleventh of December inclusive, to Jackson, Mississippi, at one rate, indorsing on the back: "Good to return until December 16." I have written to him asking for an extension of the time. Members buying tickets on this road will get the agents to indorse on the backs: "Good to return."

The agent of the Vicksburg and Meridian road has not replied as yet. I presume that road, as usual, will require the secretary's certificate of attendance. C. G. ANDREWS.

SIR HENRY RAWLINSON gave the opening address on the commencement of the winter session of the Midland Institute, at Birmingham, England. One of his topics was the bearing of the recent Assyrian discoveries on biblical interpretation. He had, he said, always maintained that a revision of our translation is at present premature. To explain and verify the meaning of a host of passages a comparison with corresponding phrases in Assyrian is indispensable.

Thanksgiving.

This is the day set apart by President Grant to be observed as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. The Governors of most of the States have designated the same day. We do not know whether he who acts as Governor of Louisiana by the grace of President Grant and Federal bayonets has issued any proclamation. The thing would indeed look very much like it were done in irony for such a graceless set as now tread upon Louisiana to call the people to observe a day of thanksgiving. Neither President nor Governor, however, are the objects of our grateful worship; and there can be no harm in devoting the day to a pious recognition of God's mercies.

There are always grounds of gratitude and reasons for thankfulness. Under Providence our present troubles may be overruled for ultimate good, and in the end wrong and robbery may come to be exposed, and the perpetrators may receive a just compensation. God has been good and gracious, the Father of lights, the all-merciful and bounteous provider. The villainy and corruption of men have marred our peace and destroyed our prosperity, but we may still hope in God, and praise him for his manifold gifts and blessings.

The traditional thanksgiving turkey, so celebrated in New England annals, will be a rare bird in these parts, except it may be at the tables of the godless cormorants who fatten upon the spoils wrested from a suffering and nearly ruined people. But there should be hearty thanksgiving over a dinner of herbs, and the recognition of divine and spiritual benefits amidst the troubles and destitution of the hour. While widows, orphans and others are having their homes confiscated for such taxes as even the oppressed Cubans are strangers to, and while a once noble and prosperous State is given over to negro legislation, and to be plundered by adventurers, it may be apparently inopportune to be called to give thanks. But it is in troublous times that God is the refuge of his people, and in suffering and affliction that they realize the comfort of him who dwells between the cherubim.

Ingratitude is one of the greatest and one of the most prevalent sins of man. "Neither were thankful" is the apostolic climax in a description of the depravity of the nations. Of the ten lepers healed by Christ, only one returned to give glory to God. This too well represents the general indifference to God, and the practical forgetfulness and unbelief. Receiving continually, and favored ever with the light and salvation of the gospel, men seldom render praise and thanksgiving to the God of their life.

THOSE BOOKS.—The hundred dollars' worth of our own publications, to be ordered at once and sold by every traveling preacher, can, of course, be ordered from the Depository in New Orleans, and the proceeds will go directly to the relief of the Publishing House at Nashville. The brethren understand, however, that the books ordered must be of the publications of our own Publishing House.

THE SUPERINTENDENT of our Mexican mission, Rev. Joel T. Daves, reached the city with his family on Monday, the twenty-fourth. Brother Daves expects to leave New Orleans for Mexico on Saturday, the sixth of December. Anybody having funds in hand for Mexico is requested to forward it at once to R. J. Harp, 112 Camp street.

THE Methodist of November 15 comes out in quarto size and form, and in new type and improved paper. It is the best of our Northern exchanges, and not surpassed by any religious weekly anywhere. The price, we notice, has been raised to $3 per annum. This is a sensible move, and no first-class weekly can be published for less.

MR. J. W. BURD, business manager of the Southwestern Book and Publishing Company, St. Louis, informs us that Dr. Biedsoe's notice in reference to the Southern Review, which recently appeared in our columns, taken from the Nashville Christian Advocate, was not published with the approbation of the publishers of the Review.

BISHOP DOGGETT, says the St. Louis Christian Advocate of Wednesday, November 19, gave us a most agreeable surprise on Monday last by a sudden appearance in the office. He left San Francisco on Wednesday, the twelfth instant, came through without accident, is in excellent health and fine spirits. He left this city on the eighteenth of August, and returned in exactly three months. Says he has traveled further and done more work in the last eight months than during any one year of his previous life as a minister. On the evening of Monday he left for his Virginia home. The blessings of the good will follow him ever.

THINKING is the least exerted privilege of cultivated humanity.

Afflicted and Bereaved.

MR. EDITOR: I write, with a sad heart, to announce the death of the wife of Rev. Dr. Spangler, which occurred at this place to-day, at two A. M.

Bro. Spangler was sent to this station from the Conference at Eufaula, and entered at once upon his work, full of hope and energy. The work prospered, the congregation increased, and the people loved and esteemed him very highly for his work's sake. But in the month of April he was stricken down with paralysis, while in the pulpit, and has been prostrated ever since. Eight weeks ago his wife, worn down with watching and care, took her bed to rise no more. There are now five little children in the house, the oldest thirteen years of age—four of them girls. Conference is drawing on and they must give place at the parsonage for other occupants. Where will they go? A paralytic father and five motherless children, without money, home or shelter, must go forth to meet the blasts of winter. There is no fund upon which they can draw, for, being in the active service, there is no provision made for Dr. Spangler in the distribution of the Conference collection.

I appeal to my brethren of the Alabama Conference and to all who read this article to do something for them. Let the preachers receive any gifts and bring them to Bro. Briggs, the presiding elder of this district, when they come to Conference.

The people of Uniontown have done all that could have been expected from a place so noted for Christian liberality. They have continued his salary and supplied every want. Their only regret is that they could not do more. Brethren, let us all do something for this case, for we know not how soon it may be ours.

R. B. CRAWFORD.

UNIONTOWN, ALA., November 20, 1873.

Books and Periodicals.

A COMMENTARY UPON THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWS. By George Junkin, D. D., LL. D. Philadelphia: Smith, English & Co.; New York: Robert Carter & Bros., 1873.

The volume contains 516 closely-printed 12mo pages. The author, Dr. Junkin, was a thinker and a scholar, and this work was finished just before his death, and is the result of his maturest scholarship and a life-long devotion to theological and critical studies. It is Calvinistic in doctrine, and a very thorough and able exposition in accordance with that system. As a critical exposition it will be of value to all classes of readers, and, excepting as we do to the peculiar creed which it advocates, we are still disposed to regard the work as a decided contribution to the theological literature of the day. For sale by Gresham, New Orleans. Price, $2.

AN EXPOSITOR'S NOTE-BOOK, OR BRIEF ESSAYS ON OBSCURE OR MISREAD SCRIPTURES. By Samuel Cox. Philadelphia: Smith, English & Co., 1873.

Mr. Cox is an accomplished expositor, and, in the thirty-one essays which make up the volume, he gives us the result of many years of learned research and close thought. Many of the subjects expounded are curious, and are selected apparently on this account, but there is nothing merely sensational, and every topic is exhibited in a manner to edify. The book is a large 12mo of 452 pages, cream-tinted paper. For sale by Gresham, New Orleans. Price, $2.

EDUCATION ABROAD, AND OTHER PAPERS. By Birdsey Grant Northrup, LL. D. New York and Chicago: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1873.

An octavo of 176 pages. The author is the secretary of the Connecticut Board of Education, and his work is highly commended by some of the leading journals and educators. He takes strong ground against the education of American youth abroad, and discusses with ability and research the most important topics connected with education. It is a valuable work for educators. Price, $1.50 sent by mail, post-paid.

CHOICE TRIOS. For female voices. Selected and arranged by W. S. Tilden. Boston: Oliver Ditson & Co.; New York: C. H. Ditson & Co.; Chicago: Lyon & Healy.

This is a collection of three-part songs for soprano and alto voices, and is designed for seminaries, high schools and normal schools. The work is highly commended by some who are competent judges.

THE Southern Cultivator, Morton's Home and School, Wilson's Herald of Health, Church's Musical Visitor, the Vox Humana and the Southern Methodist Home Altar for November have been received.

MARRIED.

HAYDEN—ELTON.—By Rev. J. L. Wright, at the residence of the bride's mother, on Thursday, October 30, 1873, Mr. Columbus D. Hayden and Miss Ella E. Elton, all of Morehouse parish, Louisiana.

ELLIOT—LEAKE.—October 23, 1873, by Rev. T. B. Norwood, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Thomas Elliot, of Tumbridge, Wells, Kent, England, to Miss Bettie B. Leake, of Daingerfield, Titus county, Texas.

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES. See advertisement headed "Good News." Mr. Louis Gimbel, agent, advertises his upper city blue shoe store, at 578 Magazine street, and invites his old friends and former customers to examine his stock of shoes, hats, trunks, etc., and satisfy themselves of the superiority of his manufactures. Mr Phillips has charge of the manufacturing department.

GAS FITTING.—To those having gas fitting to be done, or needing gas fixtures, we commend the advertisement of Mr. Julius Loeffler, who may be relied upon as prompt and faithful, and has at his store, No. 43 Royal street, a large and elegant assortment of fixtures.

AT THE millinery and trimming store of H. Febsenfield, No. 194 Canal street, can be found a complete line of millinery and trimming goods. Mr. Febsenfield solicits country business.

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER, corner of Ursulines and Dauphins streets (sign of the red boot,) advertises all kinds of boots and shoes at low prices.

CHARLES HAMILTON, practical picture framer, etc., 661 Magazine street. Old window shades repaired.

Publisher's Department.

Acknowledgments of Letters and Funds

RECEIVED BY MAIL,

For the Week Ending Nov. 22, 1873.

A—American Tract Society, American Sunday School Union, J. H. Anderson, N. F. Andre, American News Company, W. F. Alexander, W. M. Allen, G. W. Alexander $2.50.

B—T. S. Bidgood, A. H. Brewer, Bigelow & Main, J. E. Bradley, R. P. Bowen, M. C. Blackburn, Burnham & Morrill $40.

C—T. Camp $5, William Calloway, Thomas R. Curtis $1, Colton, Zahn & Roberts, E. H. Cushing, C. W. Carter.

D—J. F. Dunble, Joel T. Davis, Rupert A. Davis.

E—George F. Ellis 50 cents, J. F. Evans.

F—E. N. Freshman, David W. Foster, William Frazier.

G—S. L. Guice, E. C. Gober, A. E. Goodwyn, Green & Cater.

H—M. Haase, L. D. Hargis, J. W. Hearn, B. Haynes, R. Hue & Co., John E. Hanna, W. C. Halslip, W. W. Harding.

J—E. Jackson, T. L. James.

L—Mrs. Mittie Lewis.

M—Charles Miller three letters $40, John Manning, Alexander Mills $26, Mahle, Todd & Bard.

N—J. Nicholson.

O—J. F. Owen.

P—D. A. J. Parker, A. M. Purdy, W. T. Patillo, Peaslee & Co., Perry & Co., W. C. Pipes 25 cents, S. M. Pettengill & Co. $19.50.

R—Arthur Rogers $16, John Ritchie, J. K. Randall, A. H. Redford, agent, two letters, C. W. Robertson, George P. Rowell & Co. $9.25, Ira B. Robertson.

S—Smith, English & Co. $30, R. A. Sibley, Smith, Dixon & Co., J. F. Scurlock, J. B. K. Smith, T. A. Steagall & Co., A. G. Stacey, Miss Clara Sharbrough, Thomas M. Smith, R. A. Smith, H. L. Smith, J. L. Sidley, John W. Shaw, E. D. R. Stewart, Sheffield & Stone.

T—Tower, Gildersleeve & Co., George Thompson.

U—John M. Ussery.

V—John A. Vance, Mrs. M. A. Van Hook two letters $3.50.

W—J. Woodbridge $10, H. Waters & Son, Wilson, Hinkle & Co., Charles B. Wheeler, C. R. Williamson $2.

HARDWARE.—Messrs. A. Baldwin & Co., successors of Slocomb, Baldwin & Co., have every variety of foreign and domestic hardware. It is not possible to form an idea of the vast extent of their stock without going through their large store-rooms, reaching from Canal to Common street. The firm is now composed of Messrs. A. Baldwin, C. A. and A. D. Slocomb and E. Eustis. These gentlemen are thoroughly acquainted with the business and with the wants of every class of consumers. Mr. Eustis will be remembered by former customers in connection with the old firm of Slocomb, Baldwin & Co., having been for eight years in charge of the office. We can unhesitatingly recommend the firm as clever and reliable, and commend to the attention of those dealing in their line the advertisement to be found in another column.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.—We are happy to know that this line of communication with the West and North, so vital to the interests of this community, is constantly increasing its accommodations for the comfort and convenience of passengers, as well as for the transportation of freight. Pullman's palace sleeping-cars, with all the improvements for comfort, are run through to Louisville and St. Louis without changing, making travel more a luxury than a labor to be dreaded. Those having business with the general ticket agent, Major S. E. Carey, will find him to be an urbane, straightforward, prompt and attentive officer, ready to give all necessary information. See the time-table of the road in our advertising columns.

TOO MUCH caution cannot be observed by those who have "just a little cold," as the most serious results often follow. We are assured that Laplace's Indian Turnip (Arum Triphyllum) Pectoral Balm is carefully prepared by one of the most experienced chemists of our city, and is highly recommended for coughs, colds, asthma and all affections of the throat and lungs, and is agreeable to the taste and prompt in effect. It can be obtained of the proprietor, Dr. B. Laplace, Nos. 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street, or at any well-supplied drug store.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.—Our friends visiting the city this winter should not forget the large and varied assortment of useful implements and machinery at the establishment of B. J. West, 115 and 117 Magazine street. His advertisement enumerates a number of those manufactures by him, as well as those for which he is agent. Farmers will do well to read it over carefully.

GROCERIES.—The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of C. W. Roth, dealer in staple and fancy groceries, corner of Carondelet and Poydras streets. Teas and coffees a specialty. Country custom solicited. Call and compare the quality of his goods and his prices with those of other houses.

THE November number of the Metropolitan, containing all the winter fashions, has been received by Mr. W. E. Cooper, No. 89 Canal street, who is agent for the celebrated Butterick & Co.'s paper patterns. Each pattern is warranted to fit.

PHOTOGRAPHS.—Mr. Anderson, whose advertisement appears in our columns, is not surpassed by any artist known to us for the life-like accuracy of his photographs. We have never known him to slight his work.

UMHAUER & SIMON, the proprietors of Constant's photographic gallery, No. 21 Hospital street, are prepared to perform all work intrusted to their hands at moderate prices.

ATTENTION is called to the advertisement of Mrs. Garbanatti, proprietress of the millinery and dressmaking establishment at No. 625 Magazine street.

CUNDURANGO.—Testimonials will be found in our advertising columns, from well-known citizens, in reference to the virtues of this medical specialty.

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKER.—The establishment of Mrs. Lynch, dress and cloakmaker, is at No. 180 Canal street. See advertisement elsewhere.

SOUPS of all kinds are much improved by the addition of a dessertspoonful of the famous Halford Leicestershire Table Sauce. If you will try this recipe you will no more go without the Halford than without the soup. no13 4t

COLGATE & CO.'s new perfume for the handkerchief, "CASHMERE BOUQUET," will be appreciated by all who have enjoyed the delicate and peculiar fragrance of their toilet soap of the same name, which is so universally popular. je12 1y

BUSINESS NOTICES.

HAMILTON'S preparation of Buchu and Dandelion cures that most distressing malady, Piles, by increasing the digestive function of the stomach, and by securing a proper secretion and excretion of bile for the lubrication of the bowels. This prevents constipation, and constipation is the immediate cause of Piles. There is common sense in this treatment. Go to Fredericksen & Harte's or E. J. Hart & Co.'s drug stores and tell them you want Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion. They can tell you all about the remedy, and sell it to you also. oc2 2m

PIERSON & HEWS, fine Clothing, Shirts and Furnishing Goods, 13 and 15 Camp street, opposite City Hotel, New Orleans, Louisiana. We invite visitors from the interior to examine our stock and prices. We claim to sell first-class goods as low as can be afforded and live. We sell the celebrated Shoulder-Seam Shirts, warranted to fit, wear and give satisfaction. Liberal deduction made to Clergymen, and their trade solicited. fe27 1y

CALOMEL AT A DISCOUNT.—Defiance to Southern fevers. Good digestion is to be secured by using Simmons' Liver Regulator. no27 1t

BUSINESS NOTICES.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.

Obstruction of nasal passages, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, acrid, of thick and tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid, offensive, etc. In others a dryness, weak or inflamed eyes, ringing in ears, deafness, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired smell and taste, etc. Few only of above symptoms likely to be present in any case at one time.

To cure, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery earnestly, to correct the blood and system, which are always at fault; also to act specifically, as it does, upon the diseased glands and lining membrane of the nose and its communicating chambers. The more I see of this odious disease the more positive is my belief that, if we would make treatment perfectly successful in curing it, we must use constitutional treatment to act through the blood, as well as a soothing and healing local application. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, when used warm and applied with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, effects cures upon common-sense, rational and scientific principles, by its mild, soothing and healing properties, to which the disease gradually yields when the system has been put in perfect order by the use of the Golden Medical Discovery. This is the only perfectly safe, scientific and successful mode of acting upon and healing it.

So successful has the above course of treatment proven that the proprietor offers $500 reward for a case he cannot cure. All the means sold by druggists. R. V. Pierce, M. D., proprietor, Buffalo, New York. no27 1t

THE celebrated Poor Richard's Eye-Water removes inflammation, films, cataract, lifts sunken Eyes, strengthens weak Eyes, clears dim Eyes, restores the Sight; prevents Catarrh, makes the Voice strong, lubricates the head, throat and chest. Price, 25 cents, 50 and $1. Sold by Fredericksen & Harte, 139 Canal street, and E. J. Hart & Co., 73 to 79 Tchompitoulas street, New Orleans, and by druggists generally; or will be sent to any address, on receipt of the price, from the Metaphysical University, 51 Bond street, New York. Inclose stamp for pamphlet. oc16 1y etw

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, New York.

Assets ..... $21,000,000
Income ..... 11,000,000

Branch office—33 CAMP STREET.

A. P. CLEVELAND, General Agent.

fe13 1y

$57.60.—Agents' profits per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHIDESTER, 267 Broadway, New York. oc2 2m

THE largest and finest stock of carriages and harness will be found at D. M. Hollingsworth's, 51 and 50 Baronne street. se18 6mesw

TEN DOLLARS A DAY.—Employment for all. Patent Novelties. GEORGE L. FELTON, 119 Nassau street, New York. oc9 6t

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

W. BALDWIN, E. EUSTIS. — C. A. SLOCOMB, A. D. SLOCOMB. In commendam.

HARDWARE.....HARDWARE.

A. BALDWIN & CO.,

SUCCESSORS TO

SLOCOMB, BALDWIN & CO.,

74 Canal, and 91, 93 and 95 Common St.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Hardware,

GUNS, LOCKS, CUTLERY, NAILS, STEEL,

IRON CASTINGS, Etc.

Agents for J. E. Carver's Gin, Coats' Boiler Iron, Valentine & Butler's Safes, E. & G. Brooke's Cut Nails and Spikes, etc. no27 3m

GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.

Trains depart and arrive as follows (from Depot foot of Calliope street:)

DEPART.

Express..... 7.00 A. M.
Mail..... 5.55 P. M.

ARRIVE.

Express..... 11.45 P. M.
Mail..... 12.00 A. M.

Accommodation discontinued.

This line is many miles the shortest and many hours the quickest to all points North and East, and the only line running Pullman's Palace Sleeping-Cars to Louisville and St. Louis (Missouri) without change. Only one change to principal cities North and East. Tickets for sale and all information given at 22 Camp street, corner of Common, New Orleans.

A. D. SHELDON, Agent.

E. D. FROST, General Manager. no27 6m

Obligation to Christ and the Children demands that Schools GET THE BEST, whether published by their denomination or not.

INTERNATIONAL LESSONS—Sunday Schools invited to send for samples of

AM. SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKER

LESSON PAPERS.

Been published 4 years;—larger circulation than ever;—by many regarded as the best;—being undenominational, and following the International Texts, they can be used with any magazine or paper used by the Teachers.

Published at 75 cents per 100, monthly.

AM. SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKER

An Evangelical, Undenominational Monthly for Teachers. Contains Expository Notes on the International Lessons, Infant Class Exercises, Intelligence, Original Articles, Selections, &c. Price, $1.50 a year.

Clubs of 5 or more receive 6 Lesson Papers free with each magazine.

WORKER without Lesson Papers—5 copies, and less than 10, $1.25 each; 10 copies, and less than 20, $1.15 each; 20 copies, and less than 40, $1 each; 40 copies and over, at 90 cts. each.

Samples of Lesson Papers, Magazine and list of Lessons, sent free on application.

AGENTS WANTED, Ministers and others, Ladies or Gentlemen. Full particulars on application or by addressing J. W. McINTYRE, Publisher and Bookseller No. 4 South Fifth Street, St. Louis, Mo.

☞Lesson Papers and Magazines of previous years we still furnish to many schools who wish to study Lessons on Matt., John, Acts and Gen. no27 1t

COUGHS.....COLDS.....ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS

Laplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm

IS THE SOLE REMEDY,

Combining efficacy of action with a most palatable flavor.

GIVE IT A TRIAL.

Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores and by the proprietor, B. LAPLACE, Chemist, Nos. 23 and 25 Elysian Fields St. no27 3m

ANDERSON'S PHOTOGRAPHIC STUDIO,

No. 183 Canal Street, New Orleans,

where will be found all the latest improvements in the Photographic Art. With close personal attention and the best assistants and Artists, we promise the finest work that has ever been done in this city, at uniform and moderate prices. Children taken from ten A. M. to two P. M. The Sun Pearl and Crayon Photo a specialty. All work guaranteed. no27 2t

DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY.

THE LATEST AND NEATEST STYLES.

Mrs. Garbanatti,

625.....MAGAZINE STREET.....625

(Aurich Row,) New Orleans.

Best of work. Prices moderate. Country orders solicited. no27 3m

PRICES TO SATISFY ALL.

CHARLES HAMILTON,

Practical Picture Framer, Etc.,

661.....MAGAZINE STREET.....661

Old Shades renewed (as good as new) at 75 cents a piece. no 2m

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TESTIMONIAL.

TESTIMONIAL.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE, No. 44 Dauphine street, New Orleans, September 20, 1873.

CAPT. TRYON J. WOODWARD, Agent Maguire's Medicines, No. 38 Magazine street:

Esteemed Sir—From a feeling of heartfelt gratitude and a general sense of duty I am prompted to address you, and respectfully beg to give you a voluntary and brief statement of my past and present state of health, and my personal experience in the use of MAGUIRE'S CUNDURANGO LIVER AND BLOOD BITTERS, and SARSAPARILLA TONIC.

My health for years has been bad, but from the commencement of this year I rapidly declined, forcing me to abandon all character of business; and upon becoming completely paralyzed in my right arm, and with my whole right side threatened, I became helpless and hopeless indeed, though attended upon by the most skillful physicians of this and other States and cities, with no benefit; and, in fact, my own medical knowledge forced me to realize the fact that unless some change and improvement took place soon with me I would shortly die, and made me every earthly arrangement accordingly, when by a most providential circumstance I was directed to and met you, about a month ago, and, from your generous sympathy was induced (to gratify you, but with no confidence or hope of benefit to myself) to only try the Cundurango; and to my utmost astonishment and gratification am now almost entirely restored to perfect health, and that by the use of but one bottle of the Cundurango Liver and Blood Bitters, and one bottle of the Sarsaparilla Tonic. I feel, indeed, a renewed and resurrected man, and will ever, my dear sir, be grateful in my remembrance of you for the kind interest and generous sympathy shown me in my wretched helplessness, and am convinced that to the use of Cundurango, under Divine Providence through you, I am indebted for a new lease upon life.

From a sense of duty, let me ask that a publication of my case be made—and by my happy experience none need despair—and that through you, in the use of Cundurango, they may also find relief and restoration to health, when even hope itself has fled. With respect and gratitude, I remain

Yours truly, etc.,

THOMAS M. LOGAN, M. D.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24, 1873.

We, the undersigned, being personally acquainted with Dr. Logan, cheerfully certify that the above statement is true and correct in every particular.

J. C. McALLISTER.
REV. P. M. GOODWYN.
DANIEL HICKOK.

no27 tm

C. W. ROTH,

DEALER IN

Staple and Fancy Groceries,

175.....POYDRAS STREET.....175

Corner Carondelet, New Orleans.

TEAS AND COFFEES a specialty. no27 1m

H. FEHSENFIELD,

(Formerly with Daniel Gorrin,)

Millinery and Trimming Store,

194.....CANAL STREET.....194

Bet. Dryades and Rampart, New Orleans.

Country orders promptly attended to. no27 2m

W. HARRINGTON & CO.,

GENERAL GRANGE AGENCY

—AND—

COTTON FACTORS,

NO. 79 CARONDELET STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The undersigned, having been elected by the Mississippi State Grange as their Purchasing Agents and Cotton Factors for this port, would respectfully inform the Granges of the States who deal in this market that we will take pleasure in serving their interests to the best of our ability. Our terms of business are the same as those of your Agency in the city of Memphis.

Parties desiring to purchase in this market can do so, when cotton is bought, with from thirty to sixty days' indulgence.

We are endeavoring, in Sugars, Molasses, Rice and Coffee, to control the patronage of the Western States, which will give us unusual advantages in this market.

ALL ORDERS FILLED

—AT—

WHOLESALE PRICES.

Orders must be under the seal of the Grange. We respectfully solicit your attention, and all business intrusted to our care will receive our best attention. no20 6m W. HARRINGTON & CO.

METAIRIE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.

OFFICE METAIRIE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION, No. 27 Carondelet St., New Orleans, Nov. 9, 1873.

We will be prepared, on and after the fifteenth of November, to offer for sale LOTS in this Cemetery. We respectfully invite the public to visit the grounds, which are now partly finished and in rapid course of completion.

We also invite parties wishing to secure Lots to call either on the undersigned or at the office of the company, and examine the plans of the grounds, which will afford to owners of Lots and their families a beautifully-shelled carriage-drive of over five miles in extent within its inclosure.

It is the purpose of the Association to so improve and ornament this Cemetery as to make it equal, in point of beauty, to any in this country.

The prices of Lots will be about the same per superficial foot as fixed by other cemeteries in this city. W. S. PIKE, no20 1m Prest. Metairie Cemetery Association.

THE NEW CHEAP JOHN

(JOHN HANSEN)

continues to Manufacture, in spite of the FIRE, First-class

Custom-Made Boots and Shoes,

better and cheaper than ever, at No. 33 CANAL street, corner of Peters, next door to Cogan's Clothing House. no13 2m

FIRST-CLASS FURNITURE

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Also Church Furniture and Cushions.

Patronage earnestly solicited.

M. A. DAVIS & SONS, No. 224 South Second street, se18 3m Philadelphia, Pa.

DR. C. J. RICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

Corner Magazine and Second Streets,

New Orleans,

Office Hours—Eight to nine A. M. and three to four P. M. je29 1f

WANTED.

A graduate of the Virginia Military Institute desires a situation in a College or other institution of learning. For information address

REV. R. J. HARP,

New Orleans Christian Advocate Office, no20 1m No. 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

PATENTS For INVENTIONS, TRADE MARKS, Copyrights, etc., etc., procured by

JOHN A. WIEDERSHEIM & CO., 110 South Fourth street, below Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.

Full information without charge.

Call or send for Book of Instructions. se15 1y

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FREE!.....FREE!.....FREE

50,000

BUTTERICK & CO.'S

CATALOGUES of WINTER FASHIONS

Just received and ready for distribution,

FREE!

THE METROPOLITAN,

published monthly, and containing all the Latest Novelties in Dress, at $2 a year, or 25 cents for single copy.

A full and complete assortment of BUTTERICK & CO.'S celebrated PAPER PATTERNS always on hand. Send for club rates. Address

WM. E. COOPER, Agent, no20 1m 89 Canal street.

THE SEVENTH WONDER OF THE WORLD IS THE LADY

CHEAP JOHN,

MRS. D. J. LOEWENSTEIN,

519.....MAGAZINE STREET.....519

Who has nearly sold out her damaged stock of BOOTS AND SHOES, and what is remaining will almost be given away, in order to make room for her extensive stock of NEW GOODS, now arriving direct from the best manufacturers of the North, East and West. Having been carefully selected for this market, and bought for cash, they will be sold at astonishingly low prices—not to be beaten in this city. Then come and see the wonder, which will cost nothing, but you will carry away more Shoes and Boots, for less money, than you will imagine. Do not fail to come and look for the Red Flag. no21 1m

THE WEED SEWING MACHINE.

THE WEED

SEWING MACHINE

HAS JUST RECEIVED

THE HIGHEST AWARD

AT VIENNA,

THUS

REPEATING ITS EXPERIENCE

AT PARIS IN 1867.

No Machine possesses so many good qualities for general Family use.

The universal satisfaction given by this Machine justifies its claim to the well-known name:

FAMILY FAVORITE.

COMPANY'S OFFICE IN

New Orleans.....207 Canal St.
Houston.....113 Main Street.
Atlanta.....27 Marietta St.
Savannah.....27 Bull Street.

se11 3m

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

AWARDED IN 1873 TO

J. G. BERMEL,

121.....CANAL STREET.....121

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Cheapest Human Hair Manufactory in the South.

Gloves, Fans, Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Fancy and Jet Jewelry, Pocket-Books, Opera Glasses, Walking-Canes, Cratches, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc.

A fine assortment of rich Bronze and Gilt ORNAMENTS, well adapted for the approaching Holidays, will be sold at cost. oc30 2m5p

MULTUM IN PARVO.

HINES' COMBINATION STEAM COOKER.

The most perfect Steam Cooking Apparatus ever invented. Will cook SIX different articles at ONE TIME—MEATS, POULTRY, FISH, VEGETABLES, PUDDINGS, etc.—without one article tainting another, without the possibility of over-cooking or burning, and at the same time afford HOT WATER for Tea or Coffee, without interfering with the process of cooking.

No. 1, small family size.....$10 00
No. 2, medium family size..... 13 00
No. 3, large family size..... 16 00

Cookers sent to any part of the country on receipt of price, or C. O. D., with full instructions for using.

For sale at No. 52 GRAVIER STREET, New Orleans.

Agents wanted in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Send for circulars. Address GOODWYN & CO., Jy31 6m Lock Box 161, New Orleans, La.

SHERMAN HOUSE,

COR. CLARK AND RANDOLPH STS.,

Chicago, Illinois.

C. S. MUNSON, MANAGER.

This splendid Hotel, rebuilt on its former site was thrown open for the reception of guests April 10. Its exterior is grand and imposing, its appointments antique and magnificent throughout, and its management unsurpassed. jy10 1y

SELLING OUT.....SELLING OUT.

REGARDLESS OF COST,

AT A GREAT SACRIFICE,

To close the business, the entire stock of

TOYS, FANCY GOODS, BASKETS,

Trimmings, Bohemian and China Vases, etc., contained in

THE VARIETY STORE,

547.....MAGAZINE STREET.....547

(HASTING'S ROW,)

Between Felicity and St. Mary streets.

The Show Cases, Shelving and Counters for sale cheap. no6 1m5p

JACOB C. BAKER,

300 WEST COMMERCIAL STREET,

Portland, Maine,

KEEPS CONSTANTLY ON HAND

PRESSED HAY, STRAW, LUMBER AND FLOUR.

Southern patronage solicited au28 3m

REOPENING OF THE ST. LOUIS,

A FIRST-CLASS HOTEL,

On the Fifteenth of November,

Under the Management of no6 1m E. F. MIOTON, President.

JOSEPH BECKHAUS,

CARRIAGE BUILDER

No. 1204 Frankford Road,

Above Girard Avenue,

se18 3m PHILADELPHIA.

S. COLLINS & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PRINTING INK.

Office and Depot—26 Frankfort St.,

oc9 3m NEW YORK.

CHILDREN OFTEN LOOK PALE AND sick from no other cause than having Worms in the stomach.

Brown's Vermifuge Comfits

will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors, No. 215 Fulton street, New York.

Sold by druggists and chemists and dealers in medicines at Twenty-five cents a box. Jy to Jy6w

MEDICAL.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

—IT IS—

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver diseases most prevail. It will cure all diseases caused by derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

OR MEDICINE

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.

After over forty years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the

MOST EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC

for Constipation, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, despondency, gloom and forebodings of evil, all of which are the offspring of a diseased Liver.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion it Has No Equal.

☞ It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world. Manufactured only by J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. oc25 1y

THE STARTLING DRAWBACK ON nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for an agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY and STRENGTHEN

At One and the Same Time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which fully realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. This important desideratum is

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,

which purifies the blood and removes all corrupt humor and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but, on the contrary, tones the stomach and invigorates the body during the progress of its operation. It unites the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a strengthening purgative and a purifying tonic.

DR. TUTT'S PILLS are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation. They produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.

Price, 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists.

Principal Office, Nos. 18 and 20 Platt street, New York. oc2 1y6p

MISCELLANEOUS.

LADIES' HAIR STORE.

GEORGE T. SHILLING,

381.....Dryades Street.....381

Between Erata and Thalia streets,

Near Dryades Market, opposite Jefferson School,

Manufacturer of and Dealer in all kinds of

HUMAN HAIR GOODS,

calls the attention of his customers and strangers visiting the city, before purchasing elsewhere, to call and examine his stock of

REAL HAIR CHIGNONS, PUFFS, CHATELAINE, BRAIDS, SWITCHES, CURLS, ETC.,

of all shades, constantly on hand, made to order and neatly repaired, at reasonable prices.

Also a large stock of French and American PERFUMERY, SILK HAIR-NETS AND FANCY GOODS. All orders from the country promptly attended to, and at prices to suit the times. no6 1m

THIS IS BONA FIDE.

THIS IS

NO LIQUIDATION SALE,

NEVER TO END.

Fire and Water have not injured my goods in the least, but I am firmly resolved to close my business in the store, No. 161 Poydras street, on the first of December. To accomplish this object I now offer to the public one of the finest stocks of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Philadelphia and Home-made Gaiters, Balton Boots, Slippers, and in fact every style of Shoe known to the trade, not excepting Gentlemen's BOOTS AND SHOES, at prices way BELOW COST. To test the sincerity of this proposition I simply request the public to examine the goods. F. SELLES, no13 1m No. 161 Poydras street.

MANUALS OF MATHEMATICAL INSTRUMENTS,

MICROSCOPES, MAGIC LANTERNS,

METEOROLOGICAL INSTRUMENTS,

Physical Apparatus,

Profusely Illustrated and priced, mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents each.

JAS. W. QUEEN & CO., Opticians, 601 Broadway, New York, and se11 6m5p 924 Chestnut St., Philadelphia

GOOD NEWS.....GOOD NEWS

FROM OUR

UPPER CITY BLUE SHOE STORE,

No. 578 Magazine Street, New Orleans.

MR. PHILLIPS, formerly with the house of Messrs. Tilyou & Wintz, having recently taken charge of my department for the manufacture of

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES,

will be happy to meet his old friends and customers, satisfied of his ability to convince them that in quality of material, excellence and taste of workmanship, and reasonableness of price, his stock is unsurpassed in the city. Also Men's and Boys' HATS, and TRUNKS.

no20 1m LOUIS GIMBEL, Agent.

SCHOOL-DAY MAGAZINE.

Eighteenth year. The CHEAPEST and BEST YOUNG FOLKS' MAGAZINE published. A fine $2 ENGRAVING FREE to every subscriber. GOOD PAY to Agents. Send a three-cent stamp for specimen and "tools" to work with. Address the publishers.

J. W. DAUGHADAY & CO., 436 Walnut street, no20 4t Philadelphia, Pa.

CONSTANT'S PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY, No. 21 HOSPITAL ST., bet. Old Levee and Chartres. Being the successors of the above establishment, which we have had in charge for the last five years, we are prepared to do all work in the line of PHOTOGRAPHY—Photographs, Porcelains, Crayons, India Ink, Water or Oil Paintings, either from life or copy. Enlargements from small to life-size. All work intrusted to us will be neatly executed at very moderate prices. no20 2m UMHAUER & SIMON.

PENNSYLVANIA

STAINED GLASS WORKS.

Aiken & Isaac, Proprietors.

Office and Works—3737, 3739 and 3741 FILBERT street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Designs and estimates furnished on application for Memorial, Subject and other Church Windows; also for Hall and Staircase Windows and Skylights for private residences and public halls. se18 3m

The Child's Corner.

THE CLOCK-TINKER.

BY LUCY LARCOM.

Tinker, may I learn the trick—
How you cure a clock that's sick,
Creeping in her face behind
(Are those wheels her brains?) to find
Why her pulses do not go
Regular and sure and slow?

Tinker, have you learned Time's creed—
How it is he makes clocks tick?
Is there such a thing as knowing
What it was first set them going?
Do you, sir, suppose they had 'em
In their garden—Eve and Adam?

Is there, up among the suns—
Father of these other ones—
Some great timepiece that can show
All the small clocks how to go?
Are the stars set right by some Mighty swinging pendulum?

Tinker, where's the loosened screw
That the jiggler Time creeps through
When he slips into his place,
Up behind the old clock's face?
Have you ever seen that feat?
Or does Time even graybeards cheat?

"Boy, I've tried through Time to see;
But he played strange tricks with me
While I gave the wizard chase,
He was dancing on my face.
Look you! like a crow he flies;
Here's his track around my eyes."

Our Young Folks.

Parables.

When Jesus our Savior began to teach men about God, there were many things in his teaching that men could not understand. He spoke to the men about God, about his goodness and truth, and about the spirits of men; how God wishes all men to be made like himself. But men did not understand.

Why could they not understand Jesus? Partly, I think, because they would not think about what Jesus told them; but partly, also, because they could not see with their eyes the things of which Jesus used to speak. No man has seen God at any time, nor can any man ever see God's truth or goodness; nor can we even see our own souls or spirits. So, when Jesus spoke about these things, men listened, but they did not think or understand, for they did not know God in their hearts, and with their eyes they could not know him.

When Jesus perceived this he began to teach people in a different way. He noticed that people understood him when he spoke about things that we see; such as bread, for instance, and wine, corn, and the sun and flowers; and he began to tell the people stories about these common things, in order that, if they would think a little, these common things might guide them up to the knowledge of greater things.

I will explain what I mean. Suppose you and your father were walking in the middle of a park, and you asked your father what was the shape of the park. He could not show it to you, for the park-wall would be so far off that, if you saw one part of it, you could not see the whole; and perhaps, from the place where you were, you could not see any of it. But your father might take his stick and draw on the gravel-walk a line running round in the same way in which the park-wall runs round; and, from seeing that small figure, you would be able to understand pretty well the shape or figure of the park.

Now in the same way God's truth and goodness and love are infinite; they surround us on every side; but they stretch out so far away that we cannot understand them. So, just as your father might draw the shape of a large park in a small figure on the gravel-walk, in the same way Jesus showed men small shapes and figures that would help them to understand the great goodness of God.

For instance, we cannot understand God's great love for us; but Jesus said to us: "You all know how a father loves his children; well, in the same way God loves you, and you must say to him, 'Our Father.'" Again, God sends his truth into our souls. We cannot see that truth with our eyes, but Jesus points to the sun, or even to a common candle, and says: "As that candle gives light to your eyes, and prevents you from losing your way, so God's truth gives light to your souls, and prevents you from going wrong; and so God's truth is the light of the world." Again, God sends strength and health to our souls. We cannot see or taste what he gives us to make our souls strong and healthy; but Jesus says to us: "Just as bread and other food give strength and health to your bodies, so the knowledge of God gives strength and health to your souls." You cannot quite understand this; but you will understand a little of it now, and, as you grow older, you will understand more.

Here is one more of the "small figures" by which Jesus explained the great shapes of the things in heaven, and this, I think, you can quite understand. God scatters his truth into our hearts. How he scatters it we do not know, and what it does in our hearts we do not know. But Jesus points to a farmer or gardener sowing seeds, and he says to us: "As a gardener sows seed in his garden, so God sows truth in your hearts; and as the seed grows up into a flower, so truth sown in the heart grows up into actions."

And thus, you see, the parents who live with us every day, the bread that we taste at every meal, and even such common things as garden-seeds, are so many "small figures;" and just as the "small figure" in the gravel-walk helped the child to understand the shape of the park-wall, so these "small figures" help us to understand the vast circle of God's dealings with us.—Parables for Children.

He Is Not Dead.

I have told you how Jesus lived and died long ago for men, and how he rose from the dead and is now in heaven. Now I wish to tell you of all that he does for you and me every day; how he speaks to us and helps us, and will help us every hour of our lives.

Perhaps you say: "Does he speak to me? And does he help me? How can that be, for I cannot see or hear him?" My dear child, every good thought you have and every good deed you do comes from Jesus, who breathes his goodness into us, and speaks to us continually in our hearts, saying: "Do this; do not do that." He speaks to us in many ways. Sometimes, when we read the story of his life, how wise he was, how powerful, how kind and how infinitely good, we feel that we should like to be good as he was. Above all, when we think of him patiently hanging on the cross, dying for each one of us, for you, my dear child, as much as for any one else, then we feel a desire to be good and kind as he was. At such times Jesus is speaking to us, and saying: "Come to me, dear child, and let me help you to be like me."

Do not think, then, that Jesus, now that he is in heaven, forgets little children or cannot speak to them. He is in your heart, always helping you. You see in a picture Jesus suffering for you on the cross; and that picture reminds you how much he did for us eighteen hundred years ago. But you must not think that when he had once done this, eighteen hundred years ago, then he was tired, and wanted to rest from helping us. It is not so. Jesus died, but he lives and works and teaches and helps us as much as ever.

In the books of the gospel there are written many stories that Jesus told his disciples. He was very fond of speaking about common things—sometimes about a farmer sowing seeds; sometimes about a fisherman catching fish; sometimes about a woman making bread, or about a number of persons going out to dine with a friend. Some of these stories I am going to tell you in easy words.

But do not think that Jesus told these stories once to other people that lived long ago, and now tells them no more to you! Whenever you see these common things about which Jesus spoke once, he speaks to you still, repeating the old stories, and he also tells you new stories. Year by year, as men grow wiser and better, and as we find out more and more of God's goodness and power and wisdom, Jesus speaks to us, telling new stories about God and heaven.—Parables for Children.

SHE TRUSTED ME.—Sir William Napier was one day taking a long country walk when he met a little girl, about five years old, sobbing over a broken bowl. She had dropped and broken it in bringing it back from the field to which she had taken her father's dinner, and she said she would be beaten on her return home for having broken it. As she said this a sudden gleam of hope seemed to cheer her. She innocently looked up into Sir William's face and said: "But you can mend it, can't you?" He explained that he could not mend the bowl, but the trouble he could overcome by the gift of a sixpence to buy another. However, on opening his purse, it was empty of silver, and he promised to meet his little friend on the same spot at the same hour next day, and to bring sixpence with him; bidding her, meanwhile, to tell her mother she had seen a gentleman who would bring her the money for a bowl next day. The child, entirely trusting him, went on her way comforted. On his return home he found an invitation awaiting him to dine in Bath the following evening, to meet some one whom he especially wished to see. He hesitated for some little time, trying to calculate the possibility of giving the meeting to his little friend of the broken bowl, and still being in time for the dinner-party in Bath; but, finding this could not be, he wrote to decline accepting the invitation, on the plea of a previous engagement, saying: "I cannot disappoint her; she trusted me."

Farm, Garden and Household.

Turkey-Raising.

Having raised a good many turkeys, and with good success for several years, I will give my experience. Hens in their second year are best; they lay larger eggs than younger ones; and the young birds are stronger. Get a gobbler of a different flock to breed from. I have found them not much harder to raise than chickens in the following way: Take the eggs from the nest every day, leaving in two or three artificial ones; keep them in an even temperature until the turkey wants to sit. Set also at the same time a common hen—nine eggs are enough, and for a turkey thirteen to seventeen, according to size, and set them on the ground, if possible; or, if in a box off the ground, fill it one-third full of earth, so the air will not draw through the nest. All eggs hatch best on the ground. The turkey hen is the best mother; so give her all the young ones, and put her in a pen made by four boards, twenty inches or nearly wide, standing on their sides, changing the pen every week to a fresh place; an old, tough sod is best, where they can get the morning sun; feed for the first few days hard-boiled eggs, chopped fine, with a small quantity of dry curd; after the first week curd drained dry, some Indian corn ground a little coarse and mixed with curd; and onion-tops, cut in small bits, also given with the above once or twice a week. They will thrive on the above food. When the young turkeys are a month old let them out on fine days, when they can find most of their food in insects, etc. They now grow rapidly; feed morning and evening to induce them to return to their home, and you will be rewarded in the fall with a fine flock. No one can succeed with them without some trouble and an interest taken in them. I have had young hens to weigh fifteen to eighteen pounds by Christmas, and young gobblers twenty-three to twenty-six pounds, with good feeding.—B., in Country Gentleman.

FEEDING ROOTS WITH COARSE FODDER.—A correspondent asks how roots may be fed with hay or other coarse fodder so that each will benefit the other; also if there is any way to cheaply reduce turnips or other roots to a pulp.

A turnip-pulper is very cheaply made by boring a hole endwise through the center of a hickory or maple log one foot in diameter, fifteen inches long, and putting an iron shaft through this, then turning it in a lathe and putting in rows of short steel teeth, allowing them to project about one-half inch; hang this in a box with a solid plank in front, just clearing the teeth. This is run with a pulley from a horse-power. The turnips are pressed against the front plank, and the teeth, moving with rapidity, cut the turnips into a fine pulp as fast as they can be shoveled into the hopper. Run the hay, straw or cornstalks through a straw-cutter, then mix two or three quarts of pulped turnips with a bushel of cut fodder. Let this mixture lay in a mass for two days or perhaps three, when it will be warm and in the first stage of fermentation. In this state it is highly relished by cattle, and is more easily digested than before commencing fermentation, and both hay and roots are more valuable than when fed separately.—Live Stock, Farm and Fireside Journal.

REMEDY FOR PAINFUL WOUNDS.—Take a pan or shovel with burning coals and sprinkle upon them common brown sugar, and hold the wounded part in the smoke. In my own case, a rusty nail had made a bad wound in the bottom of my foot. The pain and nervous irritation was severe. This was all removed by holding it in smoke for fifteen minutes, and I was able to resume my reading in comfort. We have often recommended it to others with like results. Last week one of my men had a finger-nail torn out by a pair of ice-tongs. It became very painful, as was to have been expected. Held in sugar-smoke for twenty minutes, the pain ceased, and it promises speedy recovery.

BE THOU what thou singly art, and personate only thyself. Swim smoothly in the stream of thy nature and live but one man.—Sir Thomas Browne.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

M. J. & D. D. O'BRIEN,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
AND
DEALERS IN CORN, OATS, BRAN AND HAY,
32 Peters St. (late New Levee.)
no20 2m New Orleans.

ANDREW J. AIKEN. JOHN W. WATT.
AIKEN & WATT,
COTTON FACTORS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
80 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.
Special attention given to orders for the purchase of all descriptions of Produce, Agricultural Implements and Plantation Supplies. no6 1y

G. M. BAYLY & POND,
WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Nos. 31, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Canal, and 59 and 61 Common Street,
ja23 1y New Orleans, La.

J. L. DUNNICA, NEW ORLEANS.
T. A. HAMILTON, MEMPHIS.
G. P. HARRISON, NEW ORLEANS.
J. L. DUNNICA & CO.,
FLOUR, PRODUCE AND PROVISION COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
50.....Tchoupitoulas Street.....50
0c22 1y New Orleans, Louisiana.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL FURNITURE.
Patent School Desks.
W. P. UHLINGER,
921 Chestnut St., Phila.
FACTORY,
Columbia Avenue, below Second.
ESTABLISHED 1850.
se18 3m

LANDRETH'S SEEDS
Have spoken their own praise for upward of three quarters of a century.
☞ The attention of Market Gardeners is particularly requested.
LANDRETH'S RURAL REGISTER AND ALMANAC will be mailed without charge to all who apply.
DAVID LANDRETH & SON,
21 and 23 South Sixth street,
Philadelphia, Pa.
se18 4m

ALEXANDER MILLS,

ORGAN BUILDER,
NO. 539 BROOME STREET,
oc2 3m NEW YORK.

CHEAPEST AND BEST!

CHICAGO FARM PUMPS!
Send for Price List.
H. S. Twichell,
New Orleans.
oc30 6m

NEW ORLEANS PURCHASING BUREAU.
To the Ladies of the South.
A Purchasing Agency has been established in New Orleans, Louisiana, for the benefit of those residing at a distance from the city, and who have not the facilities for obtaining just what they require.
MRS. H. MOORIDGE
respectfully offers her services in selecting, purchasing and forwarding any article of apparel or personal adornment for ladies' and children's use, including MILLINERY, DRY GOODS, JEWELRY, BRIDAL TROUSSEAUX, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Trimmings, Underwear, Sewing Machines, etc., etc.
Scrupulous care with reference to the price and quality, and fidelity to the interest and fulfillment of the wishes of correspondents, will be sedulously carried out.
MRS. H. MOORIDGE,
At Mrs. Doherty's Elegant Millinery and Dressmaking Establishment, 96 Canal St., Over Zimmermann's Jewelry Store, New Orleans.
☞ Send for circular fe6 1y

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

THE NEXT TERM OF THIS VENERABLE INSTITUTION OPENS ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER, 1873.

Faculty.—REV. C. G. ANDREWS, A. M., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Political Economy and International Law; REV. A. R. HOLCOMBE, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Adjunct Professor of Natural Science; G. H. WILEY, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages; T. S. JONES, M. D., Professor of Natural Science; REV. R. D. NOBLE WORTHY, A. M., Principal of the Preparatory Department.

Charges.—Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in College, $60; Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in Preparatory Department, $40; Contingent expenses, $5. A matriculation fee of $5 must be paid on entering any regular college class. One-half the charges must be paid when the pupil enters; the other half on the beginning of the second term, March 1.

Board.—Board, including lodging, washing, lights and fuel, can be had in the best families for $20 per month. Day-boarders, with the same families, $16 per month. Rooms provided in the dormitories free of rent. Board to be paid in advance at least one month.

Location.—This institution is located in the lovely village of Jackson, about twelve miles from Bayou Sara, in a grove of pine, magnolia, oak and beech. The location is remarkable for its beautiful woodlands, its bland and delightful atmosphere, its pure water, its unrivaled healthfulness, and its cultivated and refined society.

When Founded.—The college was established by the State of Louisiana in 1825, and ceded to the Methodist Episcopal Church south, in 1845.

Alumni.—Its Alumni numbers two hundred and three, and they are to be found in the most honorable and useful stations in the land.

Apparatus and Cabinet.—The college possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus, and also a well-selected Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet. The apparatus includes a Theodolite, Sextant, Compasses, Chronometer, Atwood's Machine, Whirling Tables, Electrical Machine, Air Pump, various combinations of the Mechanical Powers, Batteries, Chemical Tests, etc., sufficient for a thorough and extended course of observations and experiments. Steps have been taken by the Board of Trustees to put these in thorough repair.

Literary Societies.—There are two regular Literary Societies connected with the institution. These are of great utility to young men acquiring a liberal education—improving them in the art of public speaking, making them in some degree familiar with the proceedings of deliberative bodies, and in cultivating systematic business habits. Each Society has a convenient hall and a well-selected Library—about one thousand six hundred volumes each, which, added to the College Library of two thousand volumes, makes over five thousand volumes in the college.

Buildings.—The Trustees are determined to continue the repairs on the buildings till completed. The grand Center Building is a noble specimen of architectural beauty and adaptation to the purposes of its erection. The wings, built of solid brick present each a front of two hundred feet, with upper and lower galleries the entire length, supported by Tuscan columns, and with the center making in the perspective a continuous front of seven hundred feet.

Preparatory Department.—In the Preparatory Department students are fitted for regular college classes, or may obtain a thorough English or commercial education.

The Faculty.—Its Faculty are men of experience and success in teaching.

Board of Trustees.—Rev. Bishop J. C. KEENER, D. D., President, New Orleans.

Hon. Edward McGehee, Woodville, Mississippi.
Hon. John McVea, Clinton.
Hon. and Rev. James B. Muse, St. Helena parish.
Prof. W. H. N. Magruder, Baton Rouge.
Rev. H. H. Montgomery, Sharon, Mississippi.
C. G. McGehee, Esq., Wilkinson county, Miss.
Rev. John C. Miller, Jackson.
Josiah D. Nettles, Esq., East Baton Rouge, La.
Rev. J. A. Godfrey, Clinton.
Hon. E. T. Merrick, New Orleans.
Hon. Edward J. Gay, parish of Iberville.
Hon. J. G. Fuqua, Baton Rouge.
D. C. Hardee, Esq., Clinton.
Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans.
Samuel J. Norwood, Esq., Simmsport, Louisiana.
William L. Nugent, Esq., Jackson, Mississippi.
Rev. J. L. Pursvithe, Jackson.
Rev. John A. Ellis, Meridian, Mississippi.
Hon. A. K. Farrar, Adams county, Mississippi.
Rev. W. H. Watkins, D. D., Natchez, Mississippi.
Rev. L. Parker, D. D., New Orleans.
Robert M. Walmsley, Esq., New Orleans.
Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Port Gibson, Mississippi.
Wilmer H. Goodale, Esq., Baton Rouge.
Rev. T. G. Andrews, Jackson, Louisiana.
Rev. A. L. Goodwyn, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

jy24 6m Address C. G. ANDREWS, President, Jackson, La.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

IMPORTANT TO PLANTERS.
IRON COTTON TIES.

THE ARROW TIE AND ALL OPEN-SLOT TIES.
All approved Popular Patents:
ARROW,
ANCHOR, WALLIS
ALLIGATOR
AND DUNN.
For sale by all dealers in New Orleans, Mobile and Memphis, and by country merchants generally throughout the Cotton States.
BARTLETT & RAYNE,
GENERAL AGENTS,
48 CARONDELET STREET, COR. UNION,
Je12 6m New Orleans

Je19 6m

THE UNRIVALED

BUCK'S BRILLIANT STOVE.
Every Brilliant is Fully Guaranteed.
H. HALLER,
NO. 49 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS,
Sole Agent for Louisiana.
Sole Agent for the
CELEBRATED RINGEN WASHER
In the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi. no13 1y

LEWIS JOHNSON,
ENGINE AND MACHINE BUILDER,
Corner Julia, Delta and Water Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
Castings of all kinds. Repairing executed with dispatch. Steam and Vacuum Gauges repaired.
Glass Box 703, Postoffice. np17 1y

WARRANTED CURE.
WARRANTED CURE.
Sufferers from CHILLS AND FEVERS, and those whose health has been seriously impaired by protracted attacks of Chills, are invited to write to the undersigned for the means of cure. The worst cases easily and thoroughly cured. Correspondence solicited. Address
DR. J. A. MAYES,
no13 3m Mayesville, Sumter County, S. C.

WHITWORTH FEMALE COLLEGE,
BROOKHAVEN, MISSISSIPPI,

ON THE NEW ORLEANS, JACKSON AND GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD, one hundred and twenty-eight miles from New Orleans, will reopen on the TWENTY-FOURTH OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.
The health is good, discipline firm but parental, instruction thorough, and economy in dress enforced. The expenses are as low as the advantages given will allow.
The Director of the Music Department, Prof. ECKHARDT, is unexcelled. Madame JULIUS, an accomplished Parisian lady, has charge of French and the ornamental branches.
During the past term there were Thirteen in the Faculty, and Two Hundred and One pupils in attendance, over one hundred of whom boarded in the college.
All the branches of a thorough education are taught, including the Languages, ancient and modern; also the higher mathematics.
Particular attention is paid to Spelling, Writing, Reading and Composition; also to the neatness, good manners and morals of the pupils.
For a catalogue address
Jy17 tf REV. H. F. JOHNSON, President, Brookhaven, Mississippi.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

DANIEL & JAMES D. EDWARDS,
NOS. 22, 24, 26 AND 28 FRONT ST.
AND
NOS. 21, 23, 25 AND 27 DELTA ST.
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA
MANUFACTURERS OF
Copper, Brass, Iron and Sheet Iron
WORK OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
ALSO OF
Best and Most Improved Steam Trains for Making Sugar.
DEALERS IN
Wrought Iron Pipe and Fittings, all sizes,
Brass Work for Steam, Water and Gas,
Boiler Tubes, Bolts, Nuts and Washers,
Well and Cistern Pumps, Drove Well Pumps, and Well Points, Steam Syphon Pumps,
Rubber Hose, Steam Packing, Steam and Water Gauges, Fine Brushes, Sheet Copper,
Brass and Iron, Copper and Brass Wire,
Machinists' Tools and Machinery Supplies, etc.
AGENTS FOR
Cameron's Patent Steam Pumps,
Webster's Patent Combination Wrenches
And National Fire Extinguisher.
☞ Send for new Illustrated Price List. fe20 1y

B. J. WEST,
DEALER IN
AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS,
Plantation Hardware and Machinery.
115 AND 117 MAGAZINE STREET,
AGENT FOR
Poole & Hunt (Baltimore) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
H. & F. Blandy (Zanesville, Ohio) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
B. W. Payne & Sons' (Corning, New York) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
George L. Squier & Bro. (Buffalo, New York) Sugar Mills, Horse Powers, etc.
E. Ball & Co. (Canton, Ohio) "World" and "Ohio" Mowers and Mowers and Reapers combined
D. M. Osborne & Co., "Kirby" Mowers, etc.
T. C. Taylor, Hay Rakes.
Nishwitz" and "Monroe" Pulverizing Harrows.
"Excelsior" Lawn Mower.
R. Ball & Co. (Worcester, Massachusetts) Wood-Working Machinery.
H. B. Smith (Smithville, New Jersey) Wood-Working Machinery.
American Saw Company, New York.
Hubbard, Lippincott, Bakewell & Co., Saws.
"Compowder" Copper Works, Baltimore.
Moline Plow Company, Plows and Cultivators.
Winship & Bro. (Atlanta, Georgia) Cotton Gins.
"Stafford" Cultivator and "Sattley" and "Pilot" Gang Plows.
"Buckeye" Foundery, Belle.
B. J. West's Cotton Seed Huller.
B. J. West's "Improved Fellow Patent" Grist Mill and Corn-Cob and Shuck Crusher combined.
T. C. Nisbet (Macon Georgia) Cotton Press Screws, etc. mh27 3m

THE FIRE ON CANAL STREET
SETTLED
WITH THE INSURANCE.
$3,000 worth of Fine CLOTHING,
$3,000 worth of BOYS' CLOTHING,
$1,000 worth of Winter OVERCOATS,
$1,500 worth of Stylish HATS,
All more or less damaged by water only, which will be sold at
Fifty Per Cent. Below Cost,
At M. COGAN'S,
19 and 21 Canal street,
oc30 1m Rel. the Customhouse and the River.

ROGERS' EFFERVESCING
CITRATE OF MAGNESIA,
in six-ounce bottles, in powder. This Magnesia is a mild purgative and aperient, very acceptable to the stomach for Sick Headache, Sour or Sick stomach, and all Febrile cases. Good for all seasons of the year. For sale by druggists. Prepared by ARTHUR ROGERS, 152 Spring St., N. Y. oc2 3m

HOMER COLLEGE.
HOMER, CLAIBORNE PARISH, LA.
COURSE OF EDUCATION
THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL.
Total Expense Per Annum from $187 to $207.
SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 15, 1873.
☞ Send for a catalogue to
REV. J. LANE HORDEN, President.
Tuition free to children of Preachers in regular work. jy3 6m

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE,
WASHINGTON COUNTY, VA.
On the Eleventh of September
our scholastic year begins, and continues Forty consecutive weeks. It is divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. The spring session begins January 29, 1874. Students can enter at any time, though they should, if possible, begin with the session. The entire expenses for the forty weeks, including board, tuition, fuel, room-rent, washing and contingent fees, need not exceed $250. These rates, so remarkably low considering the superior advantages here offered, must commend this institution to the favor of those seeking thorough collegiate training. Before selecting your school consult any of those knowing the college, especially our Alumni and old students, prominent men in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and professors of the University of Virginia, who have authorized this reference, or send directly to the undersigned for a catalogue or for any information desired.
E. E. WILEY, President,
Jy3 8m Emory P. O., Virginia.

READVILLA SEMINARY
—WILL—
Reopen on Monday, October 2, 1873,
with a limited number of pupils, and with a full corps of experienced and successful teachers.
Students returning to the Seminary, and those desiring to enter it, are requested to be present the first day of the session.
For further information in reference to the school inquire of its pupils and patrons throughout the South, or for catalogues apply to the Principal,
MRS. M. W. READ,
se1 3m Baton Rouge, La.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE,
UNDER CARE OF
The Holston Conference, M. E. Church South.
Founded in 1849. Greatly improved. Boarding-house, with farm of five hundred acres. Very generous. Faculty full. Instruction thorough. Located in the quiet country, seven miles from Sweetwater, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad. Expenses of tuition, board, fuel, lodging and washing less than $150 a year. Convenience any day. For further information address
REV. J. H. BRUNNER,
se25 6m Sweetwater, Tenn.

J. W. BLACKMAN'S
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,
131.....CARONDELET ST.....131
This is the only Commercial College in this city where students from the country can board in the family of the Principal. There is ample accommodation for thirty or forty students to board in the college building. This department is in charge of Mrs. Blackman, and in case of sickness students will be properly cared for, and not sent to a hospital, or the cold care of strangers.
All Commercial branches taught. Terms over Thirty per cent. less than other colleges in this city. The Principal has been established in New Orleans since 1851. For circulars address
J. W. BLACKMAN,
oc30 3m 131 Carondelet St., New Orleans, La.

TO THE PUBLIC.
Those who contemplate giving up housekeeping this winter, and desire to have their FURNITURE carefully packed for shipping or storing will do well to call on
J. BOIS,
No. 291 Camp street.
N. B.—Furniture repaired and bought. Carpets taken up and cleaned. oc23 2m

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

SACRED MUSIC-BOOKS.

THE STANDARD!

Still "waves," and, true to its name, keeps well to the front of all books for Choirs, Conventions and Singing Schools. By L. O. EMERSON and H. R. PALMER.—Price, $1.50.

AMERICAN TUNE-BOOK!

Contains 1,000 of the very best psalm tunes of the century. Has no superior as a collection of the most approved sacred music for Choirs and Congregations. Five hundred Editors. Four hundred pages. Price, $1.50.

THE RIVER OF LIFE!

Is attracting the notice of all Leaders of Singing in Sabbath Schools because of its very superior arrangement of Bible subjects, its department of Songs for Little Children, its adaptation to the International Lessons, and its general richness and freshness of music and words. Highly commended by all. Price, 35 cents in boards.

This beautiful SABBATH SCHOOL SONG-BOOK is sold at 3.6) per hundred in boards; $25 per hundred in paper.

The above books sent, post-paid, on receipt of retail price.

CHAS. H. HITSON & CO.,
711 Broadway, New York.
OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
Boston.

jy24 1y

A GOOD BOOK.

SOLD BY CANVASSING AGENTS ONLY.

DR. DEEMS' "JESUS."

A Rational History to Prove the Divinity of Christ.

☞ Agents will find this the best-selling book of the season. Clergymen, students and book agents address

UNITED STATES PUBLISHING CO.,
11 and 13 University Place, New York.

oc9 3m

AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE FOR

KIT CARSON'S

LIFE AND ADVENTURES.

From facts narrated by himself. Embraces events in the lifetime of America's Greatest Hunter, Trapper, Scout and Guide; includes vivid accounts of the every-day life, inner character and peculiar customs of all Indian Tribes of the Far West; an accurate description of the country, its condition, prospects, resources, its mountains, rivers, valleys and natural wonders. Also, a full and complete history of the Modoc Indians and the Modoc War.

Splendidly illustrated and sells at sight. Agents reporting from 75 to 100 subscribers each per week. Illustrated circulars and terms sent free to any address by

QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.

oc2 1y

NEW BOOK FOR AGENTS.—We want Agents everywhere for a new, beautifully illustrated work of the author's own adventures,

WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.

Incidents of nearly THIRTY YEARS of hunting and trapping, captivity among the Comanches, in the Mexican wars, encounters with Apaches, Grizzly Bears, etc. Thrillingly Interesting. Send for circular and the most LIBERAL terms; or, if in haste to begin work, send $1 for complete outfit to F. A. HUTCHINSON & CO.,
oc9 1y New Orleans, La.

AGENTS WANTED.—ACT AT ONCE.—The people everywhere are eager to buy the only authentic and complete history of

LIVINGSTONE.

His wonderful discoveries and thrilling adventures during Twenty-eight Years in the wilds of Africa, and resurrection by the daring STANLEY. Over 600 pages, beautifully illustrated; only $2.50. Selling like wildfire! Write for extra terms; or, if you wish to begin at once, send $1 for outfit.

VALLEY PUBLISHING CO.,
oc9 1y New Orleans, La.

Wanted

More Farmers, Ladies, Ministers, Young Men and Women from every township, $20 to $75 a week, to act as Agents for

Mary Clemmer Ames' New Book,

TEN YEARS IN WASHINGTON.

It tells of the "Inner Life," wonders, mysteries, mysteries, secret doings, &c., of the Capital. "A Live Woman Sees Them." It is actually overflowing with spicy revelations, humor, pathos and good things for all. It is indispensable to every wide-awake person, —man, woman, or child—is popular everywhere, with everybody, and is selling faster and wider than ever before. $70 Extra Steel portrait of author. Agents don't miss this chance. Money for You in this work. Terms Most particularly to readers of the Advocate, everywhere. (Southern Agents N. B.) Outfit Free to anyone. We pay freight on books. Reader! write at once for particulars (free) to

QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO.,
se11 1y Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE TEMPLE HARP.—THE SCIENCE of music no longer a mystery. This music-book should have been published a hundred years ago. It contains beautiful music, and the elementary department alone is worth more than ten times the amount asked for the book. Published by S. C. COLLINS, No. 705 Jayne street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and for sale by booksellers generally. Retail price, $1.25. To the trade, same as our other music-books.

oc14 3m

BIG GEST Commission on rapidly-selling works for Means, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Red Men, Mechanics, Temperance, etc. Sales unprecedented. One Agent clears $1,500 in three months, another over $200 in five days, another $80 in eight hours, scores $50 in one day. Write for circular and prove this. Give number of your Lodge, and name this paper.

J. HALE POWERS & CO.,
ja30 1y Fraternity Publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE PRACTICAL POCKET COMMENTARY

AND BIBLE DICTIONARY.

Ten volumes. One Dollar each. Acknowledged to be the best and cheapest Commentary on the whole Bible extant. By the Rev. Drs. JAMIESON, FAUSSET & BROWN. Sold only by subscription. Agents wanting territory address

BLACKALLER & TUNE-R.,
jy17 1y Room 9, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

PLUCKY AGENTS WANTED to sell our Modern-United States and State Maps, and Pictorial and Religious Charts.

Large profits to Agents. Small capital needed.

E. C. HIGHMAN,
oc9 3m No. 5 Barclay street, New York.

AGENTS WANTED TO ENGAGE IN A permanent, lucrative and respectable business. None but energetic and responsible persons need apply. A. COYLE, oc23 6m 419 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo.

EASY ROAD TO FORTUNE.

AGENTS WANTED to sell our cheap, fast-selling and highly illustrated Books. Retail at 50 cents, and sold to agents at very low wholesale prices. Any man can succeed at the business. New books now ready. These publications sell on sight. Address HARCLAY & CO., se18 3m 21 N. Seventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

$20 SAVED!

To meet the urgent demand of the times

The Florence Sewing Machine Co.

HAVE DETERMINED TO

REDUCE PRICES,

and will hereafter sell their $70 Machine for $50, and other styles in proportion.

THE FLORENCE

is the ONLY Sewing Machine that feeds the work backward and forward, or to right and left, as the purchaser may prefer. It has been greatly IMPROVED AND SIMPLIFIED, and is far better than any other machine in the market.

IT IS NOW THE CHEAPEST.

AGENTS WANTED.

FLORENCE, Mass., Nov. 1, 1873. no1 ft

FLINN'S PATENT

SELF-FASTENING AND ADJUSTABLE

BED SPRINGS

Make the Best Spring Beds in Use.

They are complete in themselves, and can be applied in a few minutes to any slat bedstead.

☞ From three to five dozen make a Set.

JOHN FLINN,
248 South Second St., Philadelphia, Pa
Cor. S. Water and Champlain Sts., Cleveland,
Agents wanted everywhere. se18 1y

SOUTHERN SALE STABLES,

COR. DELORD AND DRYADES STS.

Having purchased the above Stables from George W. Fisher, I will constantly keep on hand the largest variety of Kentucky MULES; also Harness and Saddle HORSES. Take the Jackson Railroad and Dryades street cars, foot of St. Charles street; they take you to the Stables in five minutes. Merchants, planters and dealers will find it to their interest to give me a call before purchasing elsewhere.

oc23 3m O. P. ALFORD.

BUSINESS CARDS.

THOMAS HANAM,

LUMBER.

CABINS MADE TO ORDER.

Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Sash, Blinds, etc.

Mills and Yard—Corner CEDAR AND JULIA streets (New Basin,) New Orleans. no6 1m

MME. MONTARDIER,

NO. 19 BOURBON STREET,

Bet. Canal and Customhouse streets, New Orleans.

Stamping, Pinking and Embroidery in all styles. Kid Gloves cleaned. no6 1m

JOHN C. POOLEY,

Dealer in every description of

Building Material, Lumber, Shingles,

SASH, LATHS, ETC,

315.....JULIA STREET.....315

Near corner of Liberty (New Basin,)

P. O. Box No. 687. (oc30 1m) New Orleans.

COAL.....COAL.

H. & C. TYLER,

9.....CARONDELET ST.....9

will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates.

oc30 3m H. & C. TYLER.

J. M. ELKIN. P. STRINGER.

ELKIN & CO.,

168.....CANAL STREET.....168

Near Baronne, New Orleans,

IMPORTERS OF ALL VARIETIES OF

English Carpetings, Rugs, Etc., Etc.

Also Oil Cloths, Mattings, Curtain Damasks, Lace Curtains, Window Shades, etc. oc23 1y

JOHN I. ADAMS. JAY L. ADAMS. WM. H. RENAUD.

JOHN I. ADAMS & CO.,

WHOLESALE GROCERS,

AND DEALERS IN

PROVISIONS, LARD, OIL, ETC.,

Nos. 13, 15 and 17 Peters Street,

(Formerly New Levee,)

mh27 1y New Orleans.

JAMES N. QUIN,

PRACTICAL

GAS AND STEAM-PIPE FITTER.

All kinds of Brass Work, General Southern Agent for the celebrated Nichols Patent Challenge Wind Mill; also for Challenge Feed Mills, Hay Cutters, Corn Shellers and Drove Wells. For price list and circulars address J. N. QUIN, ja30 1y 116 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans.

H. F. BRITTON. H. H. EPPLER.

BRITTON & EPPLER,

STEAMBOAT AGENTS

AND FORWARDING MERCHANTS,

No. 135 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.

Forwarding done free of commission. ja6 6m

J. P. PAYNE. GEORGE MOORMAN.
H. M. PAYNE. J. G. FARHAM.

J. U. & H. M. PAYNE & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS,

61 and 66.....Baronne Street.....61 and 66

Between Union and Gravier streets,

ja13 1y NEW ORLEANS, LA.

F. WAGNER, AGENT,

FRAMING STORE,

13 Baronne St., near Canal, New Orleans.

Frames of all descriptions made to order at the shortest notice and at New York prices.

Pictures and Window Shades put up. Cords, Tassels and Shade Fixtures for sale. my15 1y

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING,

CUTTING AND FITTING,

At Reasonable Prices, by

MRS. M. TOURNABEN,
No. 206 Prytania street,
mh27 1y Corner of St. Mary, New Orleans.

A. S. CUTLER,

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,

136½.....Camp Street.....136½

Bet. Girod and Lafayette, New Orleans.

Graining, Gilding, Glazing, Kalsomining and Wall-coloring; my15 1y

Box 35, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange.

J. A. LUM. FRANK H. HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

162 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

☞ SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES. my29 9m

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

R. D. WOOD & BROS.,

106 Common St., opposite City Hotel,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all Kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied. my1 1y

T. W. BOTHICK, UNDERTAKER,

No. 271 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Mendlic, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Rosewood COFFINS always on hand. Black, Satin, Brocade and White Merino Ladies' and Children's Shrouding. Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Hearses, Carriages and Palls for hire. Funerals attended to in person by the proprietor, who hopes, by strict attention, to obtain a share of public patronage. no28 1y

WILLIAM EBERT,

ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKER,

AND GENERAL BLACKSMITH,

Iron Railings, Tomb Railings, Fences and Verandas of all kinds made to order; also Iron Shutters, Doors, Window and Door Gratings.

161 and 166 Magazine St., New Orleans.

Box 218, Mechanics' Exchange. ap16 1y

LEWIS LOCKWOOD,

MANUFACTURER OF

Dr. D. HAYS'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEGS AND ARMS.

125 Gravier St., New Orleans.

Prices from $75 to $150. Satisfaction guaranteed. No advance payment required. The patient can put on the Leg and practically test it as long as desired. Pamphlets sent free. my15 1y

CRESCENT MACHINE SHOP.

JOSEPH WALKER,

Machinist, Engineer, Blacksmithing,

ETC., ETC.,

CORNER ST. JOSEPH AND CONSTANCE STS.,

New Orleans.

☞ Plantation Machinery manufactured and repaired. Jobbing promptly attended to. jan29 1y

C. SAMPSON. F. G. SAMPSON.

SAMPSON BROTHERS,

(LATE C. C. SAMPSON,)

FURNITURE,

33 and 35.....Royal Street.....33 and 35

NEW ORLEANS.

Established in 1837. ja23 1y

GEORGE FRYES'

Sash, Blind and Door Steam Factory.

AND LUMBER YARD,

Corner St. Charles and Clio Sts., New Orleans.

Lumber Depot—Corner Claiborne and Delord.

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS, MOULDINGS ARCHITRAVES, Base, Newels, Pilasters, Balusters, Cisterns, Doors, Blinds and GLAZED SASH, Rough and Dressed Lumber, Flooring, Ceiling, Weatherboarding, Lathing and Shingles always on hand at lowest market prices. Door and Window Frames of all forms and sizes made to order. no28 1y

JOHNSON & HILLSMAN,

PRACTICAL PAINTERS,

111.....Magazine Street.....111

House and Sign Painting, Steamboat, Store and Office Painting, Graining, Marbling, Gilding and Kalsomining. All work promptly attended to, and charges moderate. No. 111 Magazine, between Julia and Girod streets. le6 1y

TO THE PUBLIC.—I AM NOW PREpared to remove and repair IRON SAFES; also Lightning Rods repaired and put up to order. I have also on hand New and Second-hand SAFES for sale, both Burglar and Fire-Proof. Particular attention paid to repairing Bank Locks and Printing Presses, on most reasonable terms.

HENRY COATS,

de26 1y No. 159 Magazine street, near Julia.

Second-hand Sewing Machines always on hand and for sale. Also second-hand Copying Presses.

ST. CHARLES NURSERY,

BY JAMES E. WALLO & CO.

Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Evergreens, Flowering Shrubs, Roses, Greenhouse and Bedding Plants, well-grown Orange Trees, Plants for Hanging Baskets and Flower Vases. Every exertion made to give full satisfaction in filling all orders from city or country. Packing done in a manner to insure safety in shipment any reasonable distance. Bouquets and Floral Designs made to order. Gardens laid out and taken care of. City Depot, 122 Camp street, New Orleans. no28 1y

BUSINESS CARDS.

SOPHIE,

NO. 18 BARONNE STREET,

(Late 152 Rue Du Canal,) no6 1a NEW ORLEANS.

WILLIAM VELDEN,

DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,

Corner Prytania and Philip Streets.

Oak, Ash, Bakers' Pine, Lightwood and Charcoal always on hand. Wood sawed to stove-length and split. no6 2m

T. J. BROWN,

PRACTICAL PAPER-HANGER,

And dealer in Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Buff, Green and White Hollands, Picture Cord, Tassels, etc.,

No. 263 Camp Street, New Orleans.

All orders from the country promptly attended to. no6 3m

F. ESTEVA,

CIGAR DEPOT,

Corner of Camp and Girod Streets,

New Orleans, La.

Havana and Domestic Cigars always on hand. Country orders promptly attended to. oc30 3m

F. J. KUHNHOLZ,

Book-Binder,

112.....GRAVIER ST.....112

Orders for Ruling and Binding executed with neatness and dispatch. Merchants and others requiring Blank-Books will find it to their interest to order direct from the binder. oc30 2m

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Boots, Shoes and Brogans,

Corner Ursulines and Dauphine Sts.,

(SIGN OF THE RED BOOT,)

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of articles in the Boot and Shoe line, for Ladies', Gentlemen's and Children's wear, constantly on hand, and offered at the LOWEST PRICES. oc30 2m

SANTIAGO M. LAPEYRE,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

Also Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Etc., Etc.,

No. 53 St. Louis Street,

oc30 2m Cor. St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

THE PREMIUM BUTCHER STALLS.

MARTIN LANNES, BUTCHER,

STALLS 37, 38 and 7,

MAGAZINE MARKET,

New Orleans, Louisiana,

respectfully informs his friends and the public in general that he is prepared to furnish Families, Hotels, Boarding-Houses, Steamboats, Ships and Steamships with the best BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, SAUSAGES, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Game, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords, at the very lowest Rates. Thanking my customers for past favors, I solicit a continuance of the same. Recollect the Stalls, Nos. 37, 38 and 7, Magazine Market, where all orders sent will be thankfully received and promptly filled. ☞ All Meats delivered free of charge. oc21 6m

HENRY BRISH,

STYLISH HATTER,

No. 3 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

All orders from the country promptly attended to. oc21 1m

NEW ORLEANS STENCIL WORKS

AND

MARK BATTERY MANUFACTORY.

AGENCY OF THE GOLDEN WONDER

GEORGE E. TEETZEL & CO.,

ENGRAVERS, STENCIL CUTTERS, STAMP AND SEAL-MAKERS,

82.....Gravier Street.....82

New Orleans, Louisiana.

Manufacturers of all kinds of Cotton Brands Stencil Plates, Ribbon Stamps, Seal Presses, Burning Brands, Door Plates, House Numbers, etc. etc. ja30 1y

THE MITCHELL & RAMMELSBERG

FURNITURE CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN ALL KINDS OF

FURNITURE,

MATTRESSES,

LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.

Nos. 103 and 105 Camp Street,

Corner Poydras, Morisque Building, New Orleans,

Have the largest and best assortment of

FURNITURE OF ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.

Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. my29 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

R. D. MACLIN,

No. 31 Carondelet Street,

Pittsburg, Anthracite and American Cannel Coal, screened for family use. All orders from the country will receive immediate attention.

Yard, cor. Third and Tchoupitoulas Sts. mh13 1y

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND

—AND—

DOOR FACTORY,

ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,

301, 303, 305 and 307 Gravier Street, ja5 1y New Orleans.

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARETTES.

And a full assortment of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, constantly on hand and for sale cheap by

ED. L. ZELL,
Corner Canal and Carondelet streets,
de19 1y New Orleans, La.

P. A. LEBLANC. T. A. BECK.

LEBLANC & BECK,

COOPERS,

Nos. 23 and 24 Front street, between Customhouse and Bienville streets, Sugar Landing, New Orleans, have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Hoop Poles, etc. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to trimming. no28 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

D. H. HOLMES,

DIRECT IMPORTATION OF

DRY GOODS,

NO. 155 CANAL STREET AND NO. 15 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

IMPORTER OF

Silks, Embroidery, Laces, Ladies' and Children's Suits, Hosiery,

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, MATTINGS, ETC.

ap24 1y

BUSINESS CARDS.

E. HEATH. M. LARA.

HEATH & LARA,

Importers and Dealers in

UPHOLSTERERS' GOODS, WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,

Mirrors, Frames, Molding and Wire Screens,

No. 99 Camp Street,

no20 1y New Orleans.

JULIUS LOEFFLER,

GAS FITTER AND DEALER IN GAS FIXTURES, ETC.,

No. 13 Royal Street,

Between Customhouse and Bienville streets,

no20 3m New Orleans.

MRS. LYNCH,

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKER,

180.....Canal Street.....180

Between Baronne and Dryades streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ Patterns for sale. no20 2m

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ

131 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Cheleche built anywhere. oc21 3m

WILLIAM J. BEHRNE & CO.,

PROPRIETORS OF

Washington Cooperage Establishment,

COR. MARENGO AND LEVEE STS.,

have the most improved steam machinery in operation, and are thus able to make the finest quality of Sugar Hogsheads and Molasses Barrels. Their work guaranteed to prove satisfactory. Office—28 and 29 Front street. oc21 4m

MRS. S. ZEPHIRIN,

DRY GOODS AND VARIETY STORE,

621.....MAGAZINE STREET.....621

NEW ORLEANS.

A large assortment of SUN BONNETS always on hand. no13 2m

LUMBER YARD.....FEED STORE.

F. HEUER,

Dealer in All Kinds of Lumber.

Oak, Ash, Poplar, Cedar, Walnut, Cypress, etc., and all kinds of Flatboat Lumber; also in Hay, Corn, Oats, Bran, etc., 918 and 950 NEW LEVEE street, between Sixth and Seventh streets (Fourth District,) New Orleans. no13 2m

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 210 CARONDELET STREET,

Between Julia and St. Joseph,

ja2 1y New Orleans, La.

DR. JOHN G. ANGELL,

DENTAL SURGEON,

152.....Julia Street.....152

All operations in Operative, Mechanical and Surgical Dentistry carefully performed.

Nitrous Oxide and other Anæsthetics administered. no28 1y

G. W. HACK. W. R. FOSTER
E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice, Louisiana.

RACE, FOSTER & E. T. MERRICK,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS

AND

SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,

se25 NEW ORLEANS.

C. G. FORSHEY,

CONSULTING ENGINEER,

Academy of Science Rooms,

21 BARONNE STREET,

no20 2m New Orleans.

T. WHINERY CARTER,

ARCHITECT,

58.....CARONDELET STREET.....58

no13 2m New Orleans.

S. B. HAGGART,

ARCHITECT,

No. 5 Commercial Place, New Orleans.

Plans, detail drawings and specifications of Churches, School-houses and buildings of every description. de12 1y

BINGHAM HOUSE, PHILADELPHIA.

Corner of Eleventh and Market Sts.

CARLIS DAVIS, PROPRIETOR.

This popular Hotel being centrally located and accessible by street cars from all depots, makes it a desirable stopping-place for travelers. It will be conducted in the same liberal manner as heretofore, it being the intention of the proprietor to maintain the reputation it has always enjoyed of being in all respects a first-class hotel.

Terms, $1 a day. se11 1y

JOHN GIBSON,

ENGRAVER

AND

Steam Power Lithographic Printer,

82 BEEKMAN ST., NEW YORK.

Checks, Notes, Drafts, Receipts, Bonds, Certificates of Stock and Deposit, Bill, Letter and Note Headings, Business Cards, Envelops, Druggists' Fancy and Perfumery Labels, etc. Druggists wishing Labels, send for catalogue. jy3 1y

WATER WHEEL

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED

N. F. Burnham's New Turbine

WATER WHEEL

To be the Best ever Invented.

Pamphlet free. Address—York, Pa.

jy24 6m

THE IMPROVED

LASH WASHING MACHINE,

PRICE ONLY $15.

Warranted Entirely Satisfactory if Used as Directed.

Is as equated as a "Family Washer," and equally adapted to Schools, Colleges, Hotels, etc. Will "thoroughly wash" the worst-soiled clothing without hand-rubbing in one-third the time usually required, and will not injure the most delicate fabric.

Call on or address Union Box and Machine Manufacturing Co., Room 3, Bear 313½ WALNUT St., Philadelphia, or No. 5 North SEVENTEENTH street, New York. se25 3m

MEDICAL.

MATERN WEBER,

APOTHECARY,

No. 481, Cor. Royal and Spain Sts.,

has practiced as an Apothecary since 1851 before the School of Medicine was established in New Orleans. He defies any competition; moreover, there is no Chemist in the world who is able to analyze the following articles:

Weber's Sperantorrhic Pills ($2 per box.)
Cough Syrup ($1 per bottle.)
Sarsaparilla ($2 per bottle.)
Piles Ointment ($1.50 per box.)
Dyspepsia Mixture, and Lotion for Sores.

He guarantees all the above compounds free from Mercury or any other injurious ingredients. He charges only for his medicine. no6 2m

A BOX OF

LIVER PILLS (FREE)

GOES

WITH EVERY BOTTLE

OF OUR

AGUE MEDICINE,

which we authorize every druggist to sell on

THE WARRANT

that, if taken according to directions and it fails to cure,

The Money Shall be Refunded.

We guarantee that it contains neither Arsenic, Strychnine nor any other poisonous ingredient.

Hear what those who have used it say of it:

READ THIS.

Thos. Broughton, with John D. Park, of Cincinnati, says: "W. C. Hamilton & Co.,—I had had the Ague for two long years, and had tried several remedies of acknowledged or pretended merit without any good result. I finally tried your preparation—KRESS FEVER TONIC. One bottle completely broke up the malady, and I am now perfectly well. I can testify that your medicine does all you claim for it; and it is only due to you that this acknowledgment should be made, especially as so many worthless chill medicines are now offered."

☞ Ask for KRESS FEVER TONIC, and remember the guarantee of the proprietors,

W. C. HAMILTON & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
jy17 3m Cincinnati, Ohio.

BETHESDA MINERAL WATER.—THE acknowledged cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Liver and Bilious Affections, Kidney and Urinary diseases. Sold, wholesale or retail, at 38 Magazine street. J. C. McALLISTER,
Sole Southern Agent.
Address Glass Box 825. mh6 1y*

FROM A RECENT ANALYSIS BY Prof. W. O. Atwater, of Yale College, the following table will show the chemical composition of YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Albuminoids | 12.45 | Sugar | 13.00 |
| Gum | 5.21 | Starch | 35.62 |
| Fat | 8.59 | Cellulose | 2.95 |
| Ash | 2.12 | | |

It will be seen that the Albuminoids (albumen, gluten, casein, etc.) constitute nearly thirteen per cent. "These," says Youmans, "are the flesh-forming principles—the true elements of nutrition."

It is particularly valuable to all requiring a highly nutritious and at the same time easily assimilated diet, and hence is used as an article of daily consumption in climates which occasion rapid waste of the system. "Almost all Asiatics, Africans and (aboriginal) Americans use it as their chief nourishment."—Louis. Expositor, in his work on the Vegetable World.

In Hermetically-sealed YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN all the nutritive qualities of the grain are preserved. The grain is cut from the ear and placed in tin canisters with the rich juices (or milk) which exude from it, and is then sealed air-tight and the canister subjected to steam heat, which coagulates the albumen. In this condition it will keep for years. It will be seen by this that all the nutritive properties of the grain are preserved, and the most nourishing article of food in the domain of nature placed within the reach of all.

RECEIVED THE AWARD OF THE Paris Exposition, American Institute, and Great Exposition of Cocoons.

Sealed under the original patent. Ask your grocer for it. PORTLAND PACKING CO.,
au21 6m Portland, Maine.

THE SABBATH

THE LATEST, THE GREATEST AND THE BEST TUNE BOOK for Church Choirs of all Denominations

Price, $1.50.

Per dozen Copies, $15.00.

One Sample Copy, by Mail, $1.25

LEE & WALKER, 922 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

"DOMESTIC" PAPER FASHIONS.

AGENTS WANTED.

☞ Send for Catalogue. 66

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE CO.,
e4 13t New York.

MARCY'S SCIOPTICON

With Improved and Cheapened

MAGIC LANTERN SLIDES.

For Homes, Schools and Lecturers. It is unrivalled. Brilliant and easy to show. Circulars Free. Catalogues 10 cts.

SCIOPTICON MANUAL, Revised Ed. 50 cts.

J. Marcy, 1310 Chestnut St., Philadelphia

no11 ft

WORKING CLASS—MALE OR FEMALE. $30 a week. Employment at home, day or evening; no capital. Instructions and valuable package of goods sent free by mail. Address, with six-cent return stamp, M. YOUNG & CO., 173 Greenwich street, New York. no6 13t

IRON WORKS—BELLS.

BOSTON ORNAMENTAL

IRON WORKS.

EMPIRE LAWN MOWERS.

The Best in the Market.

Fountains, Vases, Statues, Deer, Dogs, Lions and other Lawn and Garden Ornaments.

Iron and Wire Railings for public and private buildings, banks, cemeteries, window-guards, etc.

Iron Crestings for Mansard roofs.

Iron Stable Fixtures of the most approved designs.

Copper Weather Vanes. Over two hundred new and original designs.

Emblematic Signs, suitable for every trade and profession.

Reynolds' Iron Roofing. Warranted.

All kinds of Wrought and Cast Iron made for building purposes. Estimates given. Send for catalogue.

BUBIER & CO., Proprietors.
Office—21 Exchange Street.
au21 6m Factory—61 Merrimac St., Boston.

RAILINGS.....RAILINGS.

WROUGHT IRON AND WIRE RAILINGS

FOR

Public Grounds, Cemeteries, Cottages,

ETC., ETC.

Iron Bedsteads, with Wire Stuckings, for Hospitals, etc. Verandas and every variety of Wrought Iron and Wire work. Every information by addressing the manufacturers.

M. WALKER & SONS,
se13 1y 935 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WIRE RAILING

AND

ORNAMENTAL WIRE WORKS.

DUFUR & CO.,

No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.,

Manufacture Wire Railing for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Sieves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc. oc2 1y

PATENT COMBINED

IRON FENCES.

(The New Plan of Iron Nailed to Iron.)

The best and neatest in the world for public and private grounds. Send for designs.

J. B. WICKERSHAM & SONS,
Sole Manufacturers,
se25 3m 1003 Ridge avenue, Philadelphia.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati
R. J. WEST, Agent,
mh6 1y 115 and 117 Magazine st., New Orleans.

MENEELY & KIMBERLY,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.

Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.

☞ Illustrated Catalogue sent free. jy31 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARBLE

—AND—

GRANITE WORKS.

GEORGE STROUD,

Late of and successor to John Strond & Co.,

(Established in 1830,)

158, 160, 162 AND 164 ST. CHARLES ST.,

Corner of Girod Street, New Orleans.

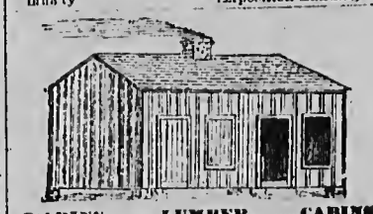
Every description of Monumental, Cemetery and Building Work done in the best manner.

Particular attention given to all COUNTRY ORDERS.

A long experience in and an aptness at the business enables the proprietor to meet the views and ideas of his country friends by letter, as well as by a visit to the city.

Designs and Sketches will be furnished on application. no28 1y

BABCOCK SELF-ACTING



FIRE ENGINE,

FOR CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE USE.

The Babcock Fire Extinguisher, Hook and Ladder Trucks, with Portable Fire Extinguishers attached. The Fire Departments in the principal cities of the Union use them daily. They are safe and simple, and a powerful protection. Forty-six railroads use them. Insurance companies reduce rates where it is introduced.

A. M. GRANGER, General Agent,
mh6 1y Exposition Building

CABINS.....LUMBER.....CABINS.

PLANTATION CABINS, manufactured in the city and shipped to the country, all framed, fitted, and each piece marked and numbered, so that a common hand can put them up without the aid of a carpenter.

The above represents a double Cabin of two rooms, each 12x15, built with boards placed upright and the joints battened. Price, delivered to boat, including all hardware, nails, shingles, etc., $130. We make them of all sizes. Cost in proportion.

We also keep a large stock of LUMBER, SASH, etc., on hand, and make a specialty of sawing bills to order. W. W. CARRE & CO.,
ja23 1y 350 Delord street, New Orleans.

BRINLY PLOWS

Best and Cheapest to Use.

Have taken over 300 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for illustrated Catalogue with Price-list, and Certificates of Planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
Louisville, Ky.

au25 3m

AMERICAN HOUSE,

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

The Largest first-class Hotel in the City.

Centrally located. Contains apartments with bathing conveniences adjoining. Also Passenger Elevator, Billiard Hall, Telegraph Office and Cafe.

mh14 1y LEWIS RICE & SON.

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!—A COMplete Agent's Outfit for only 50 cents. One-half dozen fine Aurora Gold Pens; one Combination Penholder, Eraser, etc.; one Oride Gold Fountain Pen; one fine Lead-Pencil (Faber's); one fine Gents' Vest-Chain; one lot Chinese Glossette; one fine Imitation Cornelian Set Sleeve Buttons, Collar-Buttons and Studs, all in a neat box. All of the above articles will be sent, as samples, on receipt of 50 cents, post-paid. Address, at once,

I. C. HAMILTON, Springfield, Mass.
P. O. Box 1215.
au28 3m

AGENTS: AGENTS!—AGENTS WANTED!

The Housekeepers' Combination.

Sells like hot cakes. Send 50 cents for it. Three most useful articles and Chromo, only 50 cents.

I. C. HAMILTON, Springfield, Mass.
Lock Drawer 1215, P. O.
au28 3m

New Orleans Markets.

From the New Orleans Price Current.

The river is 13 feet 7 inches below high-water mark.

COTTON.—The following are the arrivals since the twenty-first instant:

| | |
|---|---|
| Louisiana and Mississippi | bales... 14,205 |
| Mobile | 2,287 |
| Florida | 50 |
| Texas | 517 |
| Total | 17,259 |

On Saturday the market opened with a very active demand, and, notwithstanding light offerings, a fair business was done during the morning at full prices, showing an advance of ⅛@⅛c., after which the movement was checked by insufficient and unsatisfactory offerings, and the day's sales did not exceed 3,700 bales, but, if anything, the advantage toward the close was still more on the side of factors. The sales for currency included strict good ordinary at 15⅝@15¾c., checks for the latter to be received at 1¼c. currency premium, low middling at 15¾@15¾c., and good middling at 17⅛c., and for certified checks, strict ordinary at 13⅞@13¾c., the latter benders, strict good ordinary at 15, 15⅛@15⅛c., low middling at 15⅜@15⅝c., strict low middling at 15⅝@15¾c., and strict middling at 16⅛@16⅜c. On Monday, under a marked decline in foreign and domestic exchange, prices were unsettled and irregular, with a general tendency in favor of buyers, at least for all grades from strict low middling inclusive down, while the higher grades maintained their position better. The business embraced 5,100 bales. On Tuesday the demand was active throughout the day, and the sales summed up 4,800 bales at irregular prices, a part of the sales early having been at previous rates and the rest at an advance of ⅛, ⅛@⅜c., showing a complete recovery of the falling off in the inodium and lower grades on Monday, and an advance of ⅛c. in middling and strict middling, while under the scarcity of good middling the figures for that grade were put up ⅛c.

The above makes an aggregate for the past three days of 14,600 bales, against 14,200 for the corresponding time last week and 12,350 the week before.

The receipts proper at this port since the first of September, exclusive of the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, are 220,928 bales, against 263,237 bales to the same date last year, and the decrease in the receipts at all the ports up to the latest dates, as compared with last year, is 152,672 bales. In the exports from the United States to foreign countries, as compared with the same date last year, there is a decrease of 14,046 to Great Britain, of 38,707 to France and of 64,686 to other foreign ports. We quote:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Strict ordinary | currency... 13 | @ 13¼ |
| Good ordinary | 14 | @ 14¼ |
| Strict good ordinary | 14⅝ | @ 15 |
| Low middling | 15⅛ | @ 15⅛ |
| Strict low middling | 15½ | @ 15⅝ |
| Middling | 16 | @ 16⅛ |
| Strict middling | 16⅛ | @ 16⅜ |
| Good middling | 17⅛ | @ 18 |

COTTON STATEMENT.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Stock on hand Sept. 1, 1873...bales | | 7,177 |
| Arrived past three days | 17,259 | |
| Arrived previously | 235,120— | 252,379 |
| | | 259,556 |
| Exported past three days | 8,619 | |
| Exported previously | 123,667— | 137,286 |
| Stock on hand and on shipboard | | 122,270 |

SUGAR.—On Tuesday only 570 hhds. were received and partially landed. The demand was fair, but prices had weakened somewhat. The supplies were sold as landed at 4½@5c. for inferior, 5½c. for common, 7@7½c. for good fair, 7⅞@7¾c. for fully fair, 8⅛@8½c. for prime, 8¾@9c. for choice, 6¾@7c. for low seconds, 7⅛@8⅛c. for fair to good seconds, 8¾@9⅛c. for yellow clarified. The market was active in the better grades of open-kettle, which brought exceptionally good prices, but clarified and seconds were dragging. All low grades were dull.

MOLASSES.—On Tuesday 2,536 bbls. were received. The supplies were sold as landed at 46c. for common and centrifugal, 47@48c. for fair, 49@50c. for prime, 51@52c. for strictly prime, and 53@54c. for choice to fancy.

CORN.—On Tuesday the receipts were light, and the demand was fair at firm prices. The sales embraced 1,900 sacks at 70c. for mixed and yellow mixed, and 72@73c. for white.

OATS.—The sales on Saturday and Monday were confined to 900 sacks at 57@58c. ₱ bushel. On Tuesday 1,400 sacks sold at 57c. ₱ bushel.

BRAN.—On Tuesday the supply was light and the demand moderate; 300 sacks sold at 92½@95c. ₱ 100 lbs.

PORK.—On Saturday 25 bbls. and on Tuesday 25 bbls. more sold at $15 ₱ bbl. It is retailing at $15.50 @$16 ₱ bbl.

BACON.—On Tuesday shoulders were held at 6¾c., clear rib sides at 7¾c., clear sides at 8@8½c. ₱ lb. cash, but only 6 casks clear sides sold at 8c. ₱ lb.

DRY SALT MEAT.—There is none in first hands, and the dealers are mostly out. Lots to arrive would command 6½c. ₱ lb. On Saturday 10 casks sold, to arrive, at 6½c. ₱ lb.

MONETARY.

Gold opened on Tuesday at 109¾@109¾ for currency and 110¼@110¾ for checks (against 109¾ at New York,) and closed at the opening rates for the former and 110@110⅜ for the latter (against 109⅞ at New York.)

Nothing has been reported in silver. It is extremely scarce. Quotations are entirely nominal.

New Orleans Wholesale Prices.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

Made up from Actual Sales as they Transpire.

| ARTICLES. | FROM | TO |
|---|---|---|
| AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS: | | |
| Cotton scrapers | $5 00 | $6 00 |
| Cotton sweeps | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth | 9 00 | 18 00 |
| Cultivators, riding and walking | 25 00 | 45 00 |
| Shovels and spades | 7 50 | 16 50 |
| Axes | 12 00 | 17 50 |
| Shovel plows | 6 00 | 9 00 |
| Half do., with cutters | 8 00 | 10 00 |
| Manly's double-shovel plow | 6 00 | 9 75 |
| Corn mills, Coleman's | 120 00 | 225 00 |
| Bradford's grist mills | 150 00 | 235 00 |
| BACON, ₱ M: | | |
| Bake | 13 00 | 16 00 |
| Country | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| English fire | 45 00 | 50 00 |
| American fire | 35 00 | 43 00 |
| CANDLES, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sperm, New Bedford | 33 | 36 |
| Tallow | 17 | — — |
| CHOCOLATE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Cocoa | 38 | 60 |
| No. 1 | 50 | 52 |
| Sweet | 25 | — — |
| COAL, ₱ ton: | | |
| Anthracite | — — | 13 00 |
| Western, ₱ bbl | — — | — — |
| COFFEE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Mexican | 27 | 28 |
| Java | 30 | — — |
| COTTON SEED: | | |
| Rough, ₱ ton | — — | 10 00 |
| In sacks | — — | — — |
| BRUSHES, ₱ dozen: | | |
| Western | 27 | 30 |
| FERTILIZERS, ₱ ton: | | |
| Stern's raw-bone superphosph'e | — — | 65 00 |
| Stern's fine-ground bone | — — | 45 00 |
| FLOUR, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Double extra | — — | 5 75 |
| Superfine | — — | 4 75 |
| Fine | — — | 4 25 |
| GLASS, ₱ box of 50 feet: | | |
| French, 8 by 10 | — — | 4 00 |
| French, 10 by 12 | 4 00 | 4 25 |
| French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20 | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20 | 4 50 | 5 00 |
| HAY, ₱ ton: | | |
| Prime | — — | 24 50 |
| Choice | 26 50 | 27 00 |
| IRON, ₱ ton: | | |
| English, ₱ lb | 4¼ | 5¼ |
| Swedes, assorted | 7¾ | 8 |
| Hoop | 7 | 9 |
| Sheet | 7 | 10 |
| Nail rods | — — | 9¼ |
| Castings, American | 5¼ | 6 |
| LEATHER, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sole, hemlock | 30 | 33 |
| Sole, oak | 40 | 44 |
| Harness | 38 | 45 |
| Calf-skins, ₱ dozen | 35 00 | 100 00 |
| Texas, rough, ₱ lb | 24 | 26 |
| LIME, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Western | 1 75 | — — |
| Cement | 2 75 | 3 00 |
| Plaster Paris | 3 50 | 3 75 |
| LUMBER, ₱ M feet: | | |
| Boards, yellow pine | 13 00 | 15 00 |
| Boards, cypress | 20 00 | 25 00 |
| Flooring, dressed | 18 00 | 21 00 |
| Flooring, rough | 14 00 | 17 00 |
| Ceiling, dressed | — — | 12 00 |
| Weatherboards, dressed | 15 00 | 18 00 |
| Weatherboards, rough | — — | 12 00 |
| Scantling | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| Shingles, ₱ M | 3 50 | 4 00 |
| Laths | 2 50 | 2 75 |
| OILS: | | |
| Lard, ₱ gallon | — — | — — |
| Coal oil, in barrels | 22 | 25 |
| Linseed, raw | 1 10 | — — |
| SUGAR, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Havana, white | — — | — — |
| Havana, yellow | 9 | 10 |
| Havana, brown | 9 | 9¼ |
| Crushed | 11¾ | 12 |
| Pulverized | 11¾ | 12 |
| TEAS, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Imperial | 50 | 1 30 |
| Gunpowder | — — | 1 60 |
| Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Young Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Souchong | 30 | — — |
| Oolong | 40 | 1 10 |
| WAGONS, CARTS, ETC.: | | |
| Wagon, two-horse | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 110 00 | 125 00 |
| Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein | 85 00 | 90 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 100 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane wagon | 180 00 | 200 00 |
| Ox wagon | 90 00 | 125 00 |
| Ox cart, complete | 110 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane cart | 85 00 | 120 00 |
| Tongue cart, complete | 120 00 | 125 00 |
| Plantation cart | 65 00 | 70 00 |

CATTLE MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 25, 1873.

| | |
|---|---|
| Texas beeves, choice, ₱ head | — — @45 00 |
| Texas beeves, first quality, ₱ head | 35 00 @ 40 00 |
| Texas cattle, second quality, ₱ head | 20 00 @ 28 00 |
| Texas cattle, third quality, ₱ head | 12 00 @ 16 00 |
| Western beeves, ₱ lb. net | 10 @ 12½ |
| Sheep, first quality, ₱ head | 4 00 @ 5 00 |
| Sheep, second quality, ₱ head | 3 00 @ 4 00 |
| Milch cows, choice, ₱ head | 80 00 @ 100 00 |
| Milch cows, ₱ head | 35 00 @ 50 00 |
| Calves, ₱ head | 7 00 @ 10 00 |
| Yearlings, ₱ head | 8 00 @ 12 00 |

Business Directory

OF THE

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Agencies.
Barclay & Co. Philadelphia.
E. C. Bridgman, New York.
W. H. Chidester, New York.
A. Coyle, St. Louis, Mo.
George L. Felton, New York.
I. C. Hamilton, Springfield, Massachusetts.
MRS. H. Mogridge, purchasing agent, 26 Canal street.
M. Yoong & Co., New York.

Architects.
T. Whitney Carter, 58 Carondelet street.
S. B. Haggart, 5 Commercial place.

Artificial Legs and Arms.
Lewis Lockwood, 59 Camp street.

Banks.
New Orleans Savings Institution, 156 Canal st.

Bed Springs.
John Flinn, Philadelphia.

Bells.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Buckeye Bell Foundery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Book-Bindrr.
F. Kuhnholz, 112 Gravier street.

Books and Stationery.
Robert J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.
American Sunday School Union, Philadelphia.
Continental Publishing Co., St. Louis, Missouri.
J. W. Daughaday & Co., Philadelphia.
F. A. Hutchinson & Co., New Orleans.
Nettleton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. Hale Powers & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Queen City Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
James W. Queen & Co., New York.
H. H. Thompson & Co., 9 Lakeside building, Chicago, Illinois.
United States Publishing Company, New York.
Valley Publishing Company, New Orleans.
A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn

Boots and Shoes.
Louis Bimbel, 578 Magazine street.
John Hansen, 33 Canal street.
Mrs. D. J. Loewenstein, 549 Magazine street.
F. Selles, 161 Poydras street.
George John Wagner, corner Ursulines and Dauphine streets.

Butchers.
Martin Launes, stalls 37, 38 and 7 Magazine market.

Canned Goods.
J. Winslow Jones, Portland, Maine.
Bornham & Morrill, Portland, Maine.

Carpets.
Elkin & Co., 153 Canal street.

Carriages, Wagons, Etc.
Joseph Beckhaus, Philadelphia.
W. F. Clark, 134 Rampart street.
D. M. Hollingsworth, 54 and 56 Baronne street.
J. A. Lum & Co., 162 Gravier and 13 Union street.

Cemeteries.
Metairie Cemetery Association.

Clothing and Furnishing Goods.
M. Cogan, 19 and 29 Canal street.
Pierson & Hews, 14 and 15 Camp street.
B. T. Walshe, 110 Canal street.

Coal and Wood.
John D. Maclin, 34 Carondelet street.
H. & C. Tyler, 9 Carondelet street.
B. D. Wood & Bros., 105 Common street.
Wm. Velden, cor. Prytania and Philip streets.

Cooperage.
Wm. J. Beirne & Co., cor. Marengo and Levee.
LeBlanc & Beck, 23 and 24 Front street

Cotton Ties.
Bartlett & Rayne, 48 Carondelet street.

Croquet.
Bradley's Patent Croquet, Robt. J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.

Crockery, China, Etc.
W. C. Shepard & Co., 55 Camp street.

Dentists.
Dr. John O. Angell, 152 Julia street.

Dry Goods.
D. H. Holmes, 155 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

Educational.
Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana.
J. W. Blackman's Commercial College, 131 Carondelet street.
Emory and Henry College, Washington county, Virginia.
Hiwassee College, Sweetwater, Tennessee.
Homer College, Homer, Louisiana.
Readyilla Seminary, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
Southern University, Greensboro, Alabama.
Wesleyan Female Institute, Staunton, Va.
Whitworth Female College, Brookhaven, Miss

Engravers and Lithographrs.
John Gibson, New York.
George E. Teetzel & Co., 82 Gravier street.

Factors and Commission Merchants.
Aiken & Watt, 60 Carondelet street.
G. M. Bayly & Pond, 34 to 42 Canal and 59 and 61 Common street.
J. L. Dunnica & Co., 66 Tchoupitoulas street.
W. Harrington & Co., 79 Carondelet street.
M. J. & D. D. O'Brien, 32 Peters street.
J. U. & H. M. Payne & Co., 64 and 66 Baronne st.

Fancy Goods.
Variety store, 547 Magazine street.
Mrs. S. Zephirin, 621 Magazine street.

Fire Engine.
Babcock Self-Acting Fire Engine, A. M. Granger, general agent, Exposition building

Frames.
F. Wagener, 12 Baronne street.

Furniture.
J. Bois, 291 Camp street.
M. A. Davis & Sons, Philadelphia.
Nash, Johnson, New York.
The Mitchell & Rammelsberg Furniture Co. 103 and 105 Camp street.
Sampson & Bros., 33 and 35 Royal street.
W. P. Uhlinger, Philadelphia.

Gas and Steam-Pipe Fitters.
Barbarin Gas Machines, F. Roberts, superintendent, 2 Triangle building and 255 Peters st.
Julius Loeffler, 43 Royal street.
Jas. N. Quin, 118 and 120 Tchoupitoulas street.

Glass Works.
Aicklin & Isaac, Philadelphia.

Grocers.
John I. Adams & Co., 43, 45 and 47 Peters street.

Hats.
Henry Brishi, 3 Carondelet street.

Hay.
Jacob C. Baker, Portland, Maine.

Hides and Tallow.
New Orleans Butchers' Hide and Tallow Co.

Hotels.
American House, Boston, Massachusetts.
Bingham House, Philadelphia.
McAllister's House, cor. Carondelet and Julia.
Sherman House, Chicago, Illinois.
St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

Human Hair Goods.
J. G. Bermel, 121 Canal street.
George T. Shilling, 381 Dryades street.

Ink.
Printers' Ink, S. Collins & Co., New York.

Insurance.
Etna Life Insurance Co., 2 Carondelet street.
American Life Insurance Co., 10 Carondelet st.
Crescent Mutual Insurance Company.
Equitable Life Assurance Co., 33 Camp street.

Iron Manufactorirs.
Billings & Spencer Company, Hartford, Conn
Boston Ornamental Iron Works, Boston, Mass.
M. Walker & Sons, Philadelphia.
J. B. Wickersham & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

Jewelry.
A. B. Griswold & Co., cor. Canal and Royal sts.

Lumber.
W. W. Carre & Co., 350 Delord street.
Thomas Hasam, cor. Cedar and Julia streets.
F. Heuer, 948 and 950 New Levee street.
Ocean Saw Mill, foot of Bordeaux street, Sixth District.
John C. Pooley, 315 Julia street.
George Purves, cor. St. Charles and Clio streets.
Roberts & Co., 301 to 307 Gravier street.

Machinery.
N. F. Burnham's Water-wheel, York, Pa.
Daniel & James D. Edwards, 22 to 28 Front and 21 to 27 Delta street.
Lewis Johnson, corner Julia, Delta and Water streets.
Mencely & Kimberly, Troy, New York.
W. H. Reynolds, corner Fulton and South Market streets.
Jos. Walker, corner St. Joseph and Constance streets.
B. J. West, 115 and 117 Magazine street.

Magic Lanterns.
W. Mitchell McAllister, Philadelphia, Pa.

Manufacturers.
William Ebert, 161 and 166 Magazine street.

Marble.
George Stroul, 158 to 164 St. Charles street.

Medical.
Mrs. M. O. Brown's Metaphysical Discovery, 51 Bond street, New York.
Chills and Fevers, Dr. J. A. Mayes, Mayesville, South Carolina.
Citrate of Magnesia, etc., Hofmann & Co., N. Y.
Craddock & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Cundurango Bitters, 44 Dauphine street.
Fever and Ague cure, Billings, Clapp & Co., New York.
Dr. Flitier's Vegetable Rheumatic Strop, E. J. Hart & Co., New Orleans.
Fits and Epilepsy cure, T. H. Sayre, New York.
Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion, W. C. Hamilton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Dr. Roesch's Hair Regenerator, 131 Thalia st.
Rogers' Citrate of Magnesia, Arthur Rogers, New York.
Simmons' Liver Regulator, J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Swaim's celebrated Panacea, 170 William st., New York.
The Greatest Medical Discovery, Dr. Kennedy, Roxbury, Massachusetts.
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills, 18 and 20 Platt street, New York.
Misrn Weber, apothecary, corner Royal and Spain streets.

Mineral and Soda Water.
Bethesda Mineral Water, J. C. McAllister, agent, glass box 825, New Orleans

Millinery.
Mrs. Lynch, 180 Canal street.
Mme. Montardier, 19 Bourbon street.
Mrs. M. Tourmaben, 205 Prytania street.

Modistr.
Sophie 13 Baronne street.

Musical Instruments, Publications, Etc.
Robert J. Harp, 110 and 112 Camp street.
Biglow & Main, New York and Chicago.
S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, Ohio.
S. C. Collins, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
Charles H. Ditson & Co., New York.
Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, Massachusetts.
Louis Gronewald, 18, 20 and 22 Baronne street.
Lee & Walker, Philadelphia, Pa.
Alexander Mills, organ builder, New York.
Horace Waters & Son, New York.

Palaitrs.
A. S. Cutler, 135 Camp street.
Johnson & Hillsman, 144 Magazine street.

Paper Fashions.
Domestic Sewing Machine Co., New York.

Paper-Hanger.
T. J. Brown, 253 Camp street.

Paper Mills.
Atlanta Paper Mills, Atlanta, Georgia.

Patents.
John A. Wiedersheim & Co., Philadelphia.

Pens.
R. Esterbrook & Co., New York.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

Perfumery.
Colgate & Co.'s Cashmere Bouquet.

Photographers.
Umhafer & Simon, 21 Hospital street.

Plows.
Brinly Plows, Brinly, Miles & Hardy, Louisville, Kentucky.

Preserved Corn.
Portland Packing Company, Portland, Maine.

Printing.
Pelican Job Office, 112 and 114 Poydras street.

Professional.
Dr. C. J. Bickham, office, corner Magazine and Second streets.
C. G. Forshey, Civil Engineer, 24 Baronne street.
Dr. J. J. Lyons, office, 219 Carondelet street.
Race, Foster & E. T. Merrick, law office, corner Camp and Commercial place.

Pumps.
Chicago Farm Pumps, B. S. Twichell, agent.

Saddlery.
George Plumb & Co., 131 Poydras street.

Sciopticon.
L. J. Marcy, Philadelphia.

Seeds and Flowers.
Kern, Steber & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
D. Landreth & Son, Philadelphia.
James E. Waldo & Co., 122 Camp street.

Sewing Machines.
Florence Sewing Machine Co., Florence, Mass.
Weed Sewing Machine, 257 Canal street.

Soap.
J. H. Keller, 110 Gravier street.

Stables.
Southern Sale Stables, cor. Delord and Dryades.

Steamboat Agents.
Britton & Eppler, 135 Gravier street.

Steamships and Shipping.
Cromwell Line New York Steamers, Alfred Moulton, agent, 41 Carondelet street.
Merchants' Line New York Steamers, John H. Ludwigsen, agent, 190 Common street.

Stoves.
H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Tobacco and Cigars.
F. Esteva, corner Camp and Girod streets.
Santiago M. Lapeyre, 53 St. Louis street.
Ed. L. Zell, corner Canal and Carondelet streets.

Undrrtakrs.
T. W. Bothick, 271 Camp street, New Orleans.

Upholstery.
Heath & Lara, 99 Camp street

Wants.
Goodwyn & Co., lock box 161, New Orleans.
Address Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans.

Washing Machines.
Lash Washing Machine, No. 5 North Seventeenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Ringen Washer, H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Watches.
New York Watch Company, Springfield, Mass.

Wire Railing, Etc.
Dufur & Co., Baltimore, Maryland.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

NOTICE.—The Publishing Committee of the ADVOCATE gave it as their opinion that the insertion of the notices of Quarterly Conferences once or twice was sufficient, and, as the space of the paper is valuable, they passed a resolution recommending that they "be not inserted more than once or twice." Our friends who are interested in these appointments will take due notice thereof, as we propose to be governed by the resolution in future.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Mansfield circuit, at Mansfield | Nov. 1, 2 |
| Keachie circuit, at Keachie | 8, 9 |
| Cadelo circuit, at Mount Zion | 15, 16 |
| Many circuit, at Fort Jessup | 22, 23 |
| Anacoco circuit, at Holly Grove | 29, 30 |
| Springville circuit, at Forest Grove | Dec. 6, 7 |
| Pleasant Hill circuit, at Beulah | 13, 14 |
| North Bossier circuit | 20, 21 |
| Shreveport station | 27, 28 |

13 JOHN PIPES, P. E.

INSURANCE.

AMERICAN

LIFE INSURANCE CO.

SOUTHERN BRANCH,

10 CARONDELET ST. 10

New Orleans, La.

Insures on LOW ALL-CASH RATES. All restrictions as to travel and residence removed.

Premiums paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually, at option of parties insuring.

The company is one of THE OLDEST in the United States, and beg a share of the patronage of the public

☞ Any particulars gladly furnished at the above place.

oc23 2m CAPT. JOHN D. SCOTT, Agent

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.

WILLIAM E. FITZGERALD,

Manager for Louisiana and Mississippi,

NO. 2 CARONDELET ST. (Room No. 10,)

oc23 3m New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW ORLEANS

SAVINGS INSTITUTION,

156 CANAL STREET. 156

Incorporated March 15, 1855.

OFFICERS,

L. F. GENERES, President.
THOS. A. ADAMS, First Vice President.
THOS. ALLEN CLARKE, Second V. President.
CHARLES J. LEEDS, Third Vice President.
SAM JONES, Jr., Treasurer,

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| Dr. W. Newton Mercer, | David Urquhart, |
| L. F. Generes, | John G. Gaines, |
| George Jonas, | Carl Kohn, |
| Thos. A. Adams, | Christian Schneider, |
| Thos. Allen Clarke, | Samuel Jamison, |
| Charles J. Leeds, | |

☞ SIX PER CENT. INTEREST on deposits.

oc23 3m

NEW ORLEANS BUTCHERS'

HIDE AND TALLOW CO.,

NO. 69 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.

Capital $100,000.

JEAN BERTHIN, President.
A. D. DUCHIRON, Secretary.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| J. Berthin, | P. Lavore, |
| B. Dabat, | A. D. Duchiron, |
| P. Cestac, | A. Mathes, |
| L. Ducles, | M. Lannes, |
| J. Dubarry, | J. Soulhde, |
| J. Bernichan. | |

oc30 2m

OCEAN SAW MILL.

Having our large NEW SAW MILL now in successful operation, which gives us increased facilities for sawing Lumber to order at short notice, and at reduced prices, we would be glad to have our customers and the public generally, in want of Lumber, to call and examine our stock, consisting of almost every variety of wood grown in the South, viz.:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cypress, | Cedar, | Hhd. Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, Yellow, | Maple, | Barrel Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, White, | Gum, | Headings | (cypress.) |
| Oak, White, | Sycamore, | Clap-Boards | (cypress.) |
| Ash, | Beech, | Shingles | (cypress.) |
| Walnut, | Cotton, | Laths | (cypress.) |
| Poplar, | Cherry, | Firewood, assorted, etc. | |

Also Mast-Sticks and Spars.

It will be greatly to the advantage of parties shipping by cargo to call upon us, as we can saw and furnish Lumber as rapidly as a vessel can receive it.

Orders directed to Messrs. M. PUIG & CO., No. 57 Customhouse street, or Box 2226, New Orleans Postoffice, and Box 297, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange, will receive prompt attention.

L. CARBO, Director and Agent,
Office, foot of Bordeaux street,
Sixth District.

no6 1m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of Consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., giving name of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, New Orleans. no13 6m

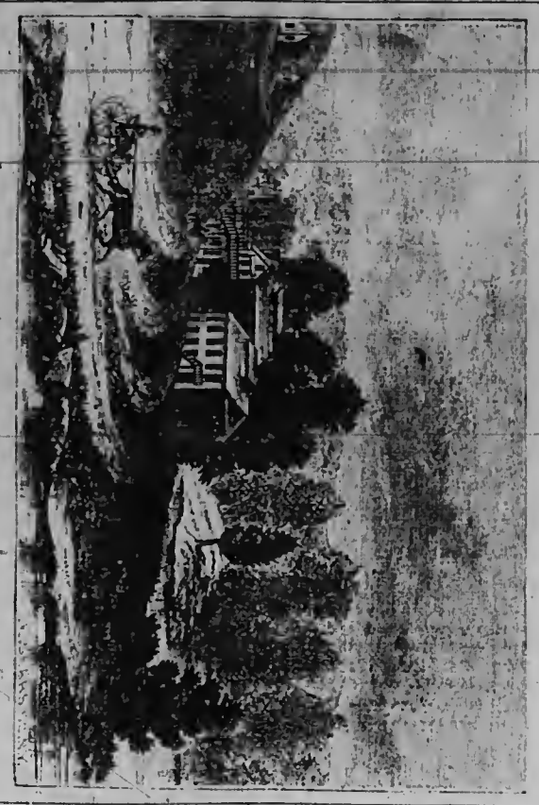
MAGIC LANTERNS.

McALLISTER'S PATENT ARTOPTICON.

The most powerful Magic Lantern ever made; with a brilliant Oil Lamp; for Home, Sunday School and Lectures. Stereopticons, etc. Slides at reduced prices. A profitable business for a man with small capital. Send stamp for catalogue.

W. MITCHELL McALLISTER,
1314 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

oc30 2m



NOTICE TO

PLANTERS AND MILLERS.

A Licensed Engineer of twenty years' experience desires employment. Practical, alert, sober and honest. Address ENGINEER, no20 tf No. 144 Carondelet street.

PAPER MILLS.

ATLANTA PAPER MILLS,

JAMES ORMOND, PROPRIETOR.

OFFICE—NO. 42 BROAD STREET, ATLANTA, GA.

☞ For Specimen of "News" we refer to this issue of this Paper.—Cash Orders Solicited.

mar 15y

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS.

MAKE YOUR HOME ATTRACTIVE

BY REPLENISHING YOUR

TABLE-WARE

—AT—

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.'S,

55 Camp Street 55

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

See What a Little Money Will Buy.

An elegant White Granite DINNER SET, comprising 130 pieces, for $15 00

to wit:

| | |
|---|---|
| 12 Dinner Plates, | 1 Soup Tureen, |
| 12 Breakfast Plates, | 1 Sauce Boat, |
| 12 Tea Plates, | 1 Salad Dish, |
| 12 Soup Plates, | 2 Covered Dishes, |
| 12 Preserve Plates, | 2 Vegetable Dishes, |
| 12 Butter Plates, | 4 Meat Dishes, |
| 12 Tea Cups and Saucers, | 2 Pickle Shells, |
| 12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers. | |

A Porcelain DeTerre DINNER SET (equal to French China in appearance, and much more durable,) same assortment as above $15 00

A French China (best quality) DINNER SET, same assortment, 136 pieces 30 00

Decorated Porcelain DeTerre and French China DINNER SETS, from $30 up.

| | |
|---|---|
| White Granite CHAMBER SETS, 11 pieces | $4 00 |
| White Granite TEA SETS, 41 pieces | 4 00 |
| French China TEA SETS, 44 pieces | 6 50 |
| French China Decorated TEA SETS, 44 pieces | 7 50 |
| Good Table GOBLETS, from 50 cents per set up. | |
| Granite Dinner Plates, per dozen | 1 40 |
| Granite Breakfast Plates, per dozen | 1 25 |
| Granite Tea Plates, per dozen | 1 15 |
| French China Dinner Plates, per dozen | 3 00 |
| French China Breakfast Plates, per dozen | 2 75 |
| French China Tea Plates, per dozen | 2 25 |

NOTE.—The prices above contemplate "First-choice" goods, every piece being warranted regular and perfect. "Seconds" or imperfect goods, warped in making and otherwise irregular, we will furnish for those that desire at twenty per cent. discount from these prices. We shall meet all competition promptly, and as we import our own ware our customers can depend upon getting the BEST GOODS at the lowest possible prices.

AGENTS FOR THE CELEBRATED

BLANCHARD CHURNS,

AND THE LARGEST DEALERS IN

HOUSEKEEPING NOVELTIES

IN THE SOUTHWEST.

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.,
my29 6m No. 55 Camp street, New Orleans.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

WATERS' CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS are the most beautiful in style and perfect in tone ever made. The CONCERTO STOP is the best ever placed in any Organ. It is produced by an extra set of reeds, peculiarly voiced, the EFFECT of which is MOST CHARMING AND SOUL STIRRING, while ITS IMITATION of the Human Voice IS SUPERB. Terms liberal.

A GREAT OFFER. HORACE WATERS & SON, 481 Broadway, N.Y., will dispose of 500 PIANOS and ORGANS of first-class makers, including WATERS', at extremely low prices for cash, or part cash, and balance in small monthly payments. New 7-Octave first-class PIANOS, all modern improvements, for $275 cash, or part, 5-Octave, $70. DOUBLE-REED ORGANS, 4 Stops, $110; 8 Stops, $125. Illustrated Catalogues mailed. A large discount to Ministers, Churches, Sunday-Schools, Temperance Societies, etc. AGENTS WANTED.

jy31 1y

L. GRUNEWALD'S

MAMMOTH

PIANO AND ORGAN WAREROOMS,

18, 20 AND 22 BARONNE STREET.

The Largest and Finest Store,
The Largest and Best Assortment,
The Best and Finest Pianos,
The Cheapest Prices, and
The Most Accommodating Terms.

Every Piano warranted to be as represented, and to give satisfaction.

Twenty second-hand PIANOS at $100, $125, $150 and upward; in perfect order. Sold below their value, on time or for cash, to make room for new stock now arriving. oc30 1m

BULBS! SEEDS! OUR Autumn CATALOGUE OF

Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocus, Lilies, Etc.,

IS NOW READY,

and will be mailed FREE to all applicants. We desire every lover of Flowers to write us for a copy. Our assortment of Vegetable and Flower SEEDS is complete, and growing our own Seeds, and importing from reliable sources, we know that our Seeds are pure and true. Correspondence solicited. Address

KERN, STEBER & CO.,
Seed Growers and Merchants,
oc23 3m No. 211 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

FINE-TONED, LOW-PRICED, WARranted. Circulars sent free.

BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO.,
(Successors to Blymyer, Norton & Co.) Cincinnati, O.
ap3 1y Office and Works, 665 to 671 W. Eighth St.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

THE AMERICAN

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION

OFFERS

Special Terms to Sunday Schools

IN THE SELECTION OF NEW AND

REPLENISHING OF OLD LIBRARIES

Catalogues furnished on application to any of the

SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPOSITORIES.

No. 1122 Chestnut street, Philadelphia—ALEX. KIRKPATRICK.
No. 18 Bible House, New York—G. S. SCOFIELD.
No. 40 Winter street, Boston—E. SHUTE.
No. 263 West Madison St., Chicago—W. R. PORT.
No. 207 N. Sixth St., St. Louis—S. PAXSON, sel1 6m

R. ESTERBROOK & CO.'S

STEEL PENS.

FOR SALE BY

ALL BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Esterbrook Steel Pen Manufactur'g Co.,

49 MAIDEN LANE, NEW YORK.

Works—Camden, New Jersey. oc2 1y

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS' WAREHOUSE,

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SON.

HENRY HOE, Sole Agent. je26 1y

STEAMSHIPS—STEAMBOATS.

FOR NEW YORK.

The Cromwell New York and New Orleans Steamship Line.

Leaving New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage $50 00

Steerage Passage 25 00

Through bills of lading to foreign and coastwise ports issued.

ALFRED MOULTON,
mh20 1y No. 41 Carondelet street.

FOR NEW YORK.

Merchants' Steamship Line.—Sailing from New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage $50 00

Steerage Passage 25 00

Through tickets to Liverpool and the Continent

New Orleans wharf—Foot of Jefferson street.

New York wharf—Pier No. 4, North River.

JOHN H. LUDWIGSEN, Agent,
fe13 1y No. 190 Common street.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BILLINGS' PATENT

Sewing Machine

SHUTTLES.

Twenty Varieties Now Made.

Forged solid from bar-steel and cold pressed.

TRADE B MARK.

Also Wrought Iron and Steel

DROP FORGINGS

of all descriptions, for Guns, Pistols, Sewing Machines, Agricultural Implements, etc.

MANUFACTURED BY

Billings & Spencer Co.,

LAWRENCE STREET,

ap25 6m Hartford, Conn.

GEORGE BURNHAM, JR. J. E. BURNHAM.
C. S. MORRILL.

BURNHAM & MORRILL,

PACKERS AND WHOL

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 19. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4. 1873. NO. 49.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 26.—The convention of grangers to-day adopted resolutions to establish the direct shipment of cotton to Europe. They urge the refunding of the cotton tax to legitimate claimants, and the removal of all imposts except on conceded luxuries. They indorse and urge the construction of the Atlantic and Great Western canal.

The convention adjourned sine die amid enthusiasm.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The Star gives the following as the points of an arrangement between Secretary Fish and Admiral Polo, viz.: The surrender of the Virginius, the usual salute to the flag, the restoration of the surviving members of the crew, and a proper indemnity to the families of those executed.

The November statistical report of the Department of Agriculture, now in press, makes a showing for the corn product quite as unfavorable as that which forecasted the short crop of 1869. The preliminary report of the aggregate quantity in that year indicated a total of 874,000,000 bushels. This was less than the estimate for the large crop of 1870, and the present returns point to a product of about 858,000,000 bushels. The estimate of last year's crop of Illinois was 217,000,000. The estimate for the present crop is 132,000,000. Only six States show crops equal to last year's, viz.: Virginia, Georgia, Florida, West Virginia, Oregon and Rhode Island. The per centage of the deficiency in the principal corn-growing sections in comparison with the total product of last year is as follows: Kentucky 4 per cent., Ohio 11 per cent., Indiana 22 per cent., Illinois 39 per cent., Iowa 28 per cent., Missouri 32 per cent., Kansas 31 per cent. The deficiency for New York is 8 per cent., and for Pennsylvania 16 per cent.

In most of the Southern States the crops are smaller than those of last year. A direct comparison is made between the total products of grain in each county in 1872 and 1873, having for its elements both the comparative yield and extent of area.

The cotton reports of November, unlike those of the comparative condition earlier in the season, make exact estimates of the expected crops in each county, stated in the form of a per centage of last year's crop. The aggregate of these estimates varies little from 3,700,000 bales.

The season for picking has been unusually fine thus far, yet the result may be modified by an exceptionably unfavorable season in the latter part of November and in December, or by storms affecting injuriously the saving of the top-crop.

The State per centages in comparison with last year are as follows: North Carolina 92, Georgia 97, Florida 97, Alabama 91, Mississippi 85, Louisiana 80, Texas 112, Arkansas 102, Tennessee 102. These figures would be much lower but for the increase of area planted. The estimated total area is, in round numbers, 9,500,000. A tabulated statement of the results of these returns, including the area and yield per acre, will be found in the report now in press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Special services were held at noon to-day by the Cubans of this city in memory of the students slain in Cuba in 1871, and also of the late butchery in the Church of Santiago. The services were of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in Spanish, conducted by Rev. J. De Polma, rector of the church, who also preached a sermon, in which he alluded briefly to both events.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—A mass meeting of workingmen and women was held to-day in Independence square. There was speaking from three stands, the speakers being identified with the Internationalists. Their resolutions demanded that the city council find work for the unemployed and establish supply depots for the necessities of life at cost. The fifth resolution reads: "That we hail with delight the organization of the Patrons of Husbandry."

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 28.—The Patrons of Husbandry have organized a State grange. The convention is very large, and every part of the State is represented.

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—The Fall River manufacturers have decided to commence on the three-fourths plan—eight hours per day on five days and seven on Saturdays, making in all forty-seven hours per week. Should the times continue to improve as they have done for the past three weeks, it is believed that by the month of January all the mills will be running on full time.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The negotiations between the United States and Spain with regard to the questions growing out of the Virginius were brought to a conclusion to-day, Secretary Fish and Admiral Polo having agreed upon and signed a protocol, which the latter soon after telegraphed to his government.

As conflicting statements have appeared in the newspapers regarding the intelligence received last night and also to-day, it can now be positively stated that the terms are substantially as follows:

1. The immediate delivery to the United States of the ship Virginius and all the surviving passengers and crew.

2. A salute to our flag on the twenty-fifth of December next, unless in the meantime Spain shall satisfy the United States that the American flag was improperly borne on that vessel, and further that she had no right to the American flag or American papers. In this event the salute is to be spontaneously withdrawn, and Spain is to formally disclaim any intentional indignity to the flag in the acts committed by Spain against the Virginius.

3. If it shall thus be shown the Virginius had no right to the American flag and papers, the United States will institute proceedings against the vessel and the surviving parties who have violated the laws of the United States, and Spain guarantees to institute proceedings against any of her authorities who may have violated either law or treaty stipulations.

4. The matter of reclamations for damages to be reserved for future consideration.

In addition to the above it can also be positively stated that within the next two days Secretary Fish and the minister will determine the port at which the Virginius and the surviving passengers and crew shall be delivered to the United States. The words "immediate release," as applicable to the delivery of the Virginius and the surviving passengers and crew, implies, of course, a reasonable time for its execution, as some days must elapse before Havana and Santiago de Cuba can be reached.

This agreement is regarded in official quarters as covering all the points of our original demands, though in a modified form, while it is considered respectful and honorable to both countries. The fixing of the twenty-fifth of December as the time for saluting our flag is to allow the necessary opportunity to Spain to show that the Virginius improperly carried the American flag and American papers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—This afternoon a meeting of certain Protestant Episcopal bishops of dioceses in this immediate vicinity was held in the vestry-room of Grace church, to take into consideration the matter of the withdrawal of Bishop Cummins from the Episcopal fold. The bishops participating were summoned by telegraph, as the emergency was deemed serious. The deliberations of the meeting were conducted in profound secrecy. It is understood the prelates summoned to the conference by Bishop Smith, of Kentucky, the presiding bishop, were Bishop Potter, of New York, Littlejohn, of Long Island, Oldenheimer, of New Jersey, Stevens, of Pennsylvania, and one other.

The main question to be brought up was that of the formal deposition of Bishop Cummins, who, until such action is taken, is de jure a bishop still, and qualified to consecrate other bishops. It is said in clerical quarters that certain bishops favor deposing Dr. Cummins without according him the six months' notice which the canon requires, trusting that the House of Bishops, at the next General Convention, will justify this action.

W. M. Tweed was taken to Blackwell's Island to-day, accompanied by his son and son-in-law. A large crowd witnessed the departure.

JACKSON, Dec. 1.—The completion of the Mississippi Central railroad extension from Jackson, Tennessee, to the Ohio river, is this day announced. This gives to New Orleans, by the New Orleans, Jackson and Great Northern and the Mississippi Central railroads—known as the great Jackson route—connecting immediately with the Illinois Central railroad at Cairo, the shortest and most direct route to St. Louis, Chicago and the entire Northwest.

It is the first North and South trunk-line in the Union, making a continuous line of rail from the gulf to the great lakes and beyond, two thousand miles in length, over which freight and passengers can be carried without changing cars or breaking bulk.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Senate.—General Gordon, of Georgia, introduced a bill aiding the Atlantic and Great Western canal (a Southern enterprise,) providing that the United States shall guarantee the payment of the interest upon the bonds of the canal company to the extent of $80,000 per mile.

House.—Messrs. Sheldon and Sypher, from Louisiana, were seated. The House adjourned without voting upon Pinchback's case.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Certain parties, under the lead of Bishop Cummins, of Kentucky, have organized a new church, under the title of "The Reformed Episcopal Church." Cummins is chief dignitary.

FOREIGN.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Nov. 28.—The United States steamer Juniata arrived on the twenty-sixth, and her commander visited the one hundred and one Virginius prisoners now remaining here.

He has telegraphed Consul General Hall, assuring him that no other executions, except those of the thirty-seven shot, had occurred, and that if the American government demanded a surrender of the prisoners no difficulty would be experienced in obtaining them.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The ship Trimountain, from New York, arrived at Cardiff at an early hour this morning, bringing intelligence of the dreadful disaster to the steamship Ville de Havre, which left New York November 15, for Havre, under the command of Captain Surmonte.

At two o'clock on the morning of the twenty-third of November the Ville de Havre collided with the British ship Loch Earn, from London for New York, and sunk shortly after. Two hundred and twenty-six of the passengers on the steamship lost their lives. The Trimountain received eighty-seven of the passengers and crew of the Ville de Havre and brought them to Cardiff.

Later dispatches from Cardiff bring the following additional particulars of the steamship Ville de Havre: She was struck amidships by the Loch Earn, and sunk in twelve minutes after the collision occurred.

The Loch Earn immediately lowered three boats, which rendered all the service it was possible for them to do. Fifty-three of the crew were saved, including the captain.

Among the passengers rescued are ten women.

Among the passengers per Ville de Havre were Judge Peckham and wife, of Albany, New York; Mrs. Edward Curtis and maid, R. A. Witthous, Jr., Captain C. Hunter and wife, Miss Caroline Hunter, Mr. Cramer, of Waterford, Saratoga county, New York; Thomas Hammond, wife and three children, Mrs. Mary Bulkley, of Rye, Westchester county, New York, accompanied by her daughter and by Miss Wagstaff, of Long Island.

Mrs. Bulkley is among the saved, but the young ladies are understood to have been lost, as Mrs. Bulkley telegraphs that she alone was saved. There were also among the passengers the following members of the late Evangelical Alliance, returning to their homes: Rev. Antonio Carrasco, of Spain; Prof. E. Provier, of Geneva, Switzerland; Rev. N. Weiss, of Paris; Emile Cook, of Paris, and Mr. Lorriere. Mr. Alfred Barbarson, of the Belgian legation at Washington, was also a passenger.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—The Hour (newspaper) claims reliable information that Cardinal Pecci, Archbishop of Perugia, is the favorite for next Pope.

Northern Methodist Missionary Appropriations for 1874.

The General Missionary Committee recently met in New York and made the following appropriations:

I.—FOREIGN MISSIONS.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1. AFRICA. | | |
| (1.) Liberia | $9,500 00 | |
| Liberia, contingent for transportation | 1,000 00 | $10,500 00 |
| 2. SOUTH AMERICA | $10,770 00 | |
| Exchange | 2,154 00 | 12,924 00 |
| 3. CHINA. | | |
| (1.) For Foochow | $17,316 00 | |
| Exchange | 3,463 20 | 20,779 20 |
| (2.) For Kiukiang | 15,612 00 | |
| Exchange | 3,122 40 | 18,734 40 |
| (3.) For Peking | 13,767 00 | |
| Exchange | 2,754 40 | 16,520 40 |
| (4.) For Canton | 10,000 00 | |
| Exchange | 2,000 00 | 12,000 00 |
| Total for China | | $68,034 00 |
| 4. GERMANY AND SWITZERLAND | $26,000 00 | |
| Exchange | 5,200 00 | 31,200 00 |
| 5. SCANDINAVIA. | | |
| (1.) For Denmark | $7,108 92 | |
| Exchange | 1,421 78 | $8,530 70 |
| (2.) For Norway | 10,000 00 | |
| Exchange | 2,000 00 | 12,000 00 |
| (3.) For Sweden | 23,700 00 | |
| Exchange | 4,740 00 | 28,440 00 |
| Total for Scandinavia | | $48,970 70 |
| 6. INDIA. | | |
| (1.) India Conference | $72,376 00 | |
| Exchange | 14,475 20 | |
| (2.) India Beyond | 1 000 00 | |
| Exchange | 200 00 | 83,051 20 |
| 7. BULGARIA | 6,000 00 | |
| Exchange | 1,200 00 | 7,200 00 |
| 8. ITALY | 13,000 00 | |
| Exchange | 2,600 00 | 15,600 00 |
| 9. MEXICO | 13,500 00 | |
| For church property already purchased | 14,000 00 | |
| Exchange | 5,500 00 | 33,000 00 |
| 10. JAPAN | 18,100 00 | |
| Exchange | 3,620 00 | 21,720 00 |
| Total for foreign missions | | $337,199 90 |

II.—DOMESTIC MISSIONS.

Foreign Populations in the United States.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1. WELSH MISSIONS. | | |
| Northern New York Conference | | $150 00 |
| 2. SCANDINAVIAN MISSIONS. | | |
| Central Illinois Conference (Swedish) | $4,600 00 | |
| Central Illinois Conference, for Lake Superior region | 400 00 | |
| Erie (Swedish) | 200 00 | |
| Erie, for new work | 200 00 | |
| Minnesota (Swedish) | 2,750 00 | |
| Minnesota (Norwegian) | 2,750 00 | |
| New York (Swedish) | 2,400 00 | |
| New York, contingent for new work | 600 00 | |
| New York East (Norwegian) | 1,500 00 | |
| New York East (Swedish) | 1,000 00 | |
| Wisconsin (Norwegian) | 3,000 00 | |
| Newark (Swedish) | 500 00 | |
| Total | | $19,900 00 |
| 3. GERMAN MISSIONS | | |
| California Conference | $2,500 00 | |
| Central German | 7,000 00 | |
| Chicago German | 3,750 00 | |
| East German | 9,000 00 | |
| Louisiana | 3,000 00 | |
| Northwest German | 5,000 00 | |
| Southwest German | 8,500 00 | |
| Southern German | 10,000 00 | |
| Total | | $48,750 00 |
| 4. CHINESE MISSIONS. | | |
| California Conference | | $7,500 00 |
| Total for foreign populations | | $76,300 00 |
| III. Domestic missions—Indian | | $4,150 00 |
| IV. Domestic missions—American | | 351,500 00 |
| V. Missions in Territories | | 11,000 00 |
| VI. Miscellaneous (contingent, $25,000; incidental, $20,000; Advocate, $18,000; office, $20,000,) as above for 1873 | | 83,000 00 |
| Grand total | | $843,149 90 |

THE Sunday School Times gives the following incident as illustrating a strange moral perversity as to physical laws in connection with high professions of formal and foreible piety:

"A lady who had charge of a young ladies' Bible class, speaking of defective home training, said that her best pupil, eighteen years of age, had caused her the most acute anxiety. Rain or shine, she was always at her post. The girl's whole soul seemed to be absorbed in the straightening out of intricate theological problems; 'and yet,' said the teacher, 'the girl was so pale and wan that I was afraid every Sabbath would be her last in class. One day she fainted, and in trying to restore her I loosened her dress, and what do you think I found? Corsets so tightly drawn that a full respiration was impossible. I removed them, and found that the girl's ribs actually lapped! I took her to her mother, a very prominent and useful church-member, and stated the case without reserve. 'Well, you see,' said the parent, 'Fanny never had any figure. I shouldn't be surprised if the lacings were drawn a little too tight. Her waist is naturally so large that it is impossible to make anything fit genteelly on her. How is your class prospering, Miss ——? I hope you are drawing many souls to Christ?'"

Thanksgiving Sermon.

PREACHED IN FELICITY ST. CHURCH, Nov. 27, 1873, BY REV. JOHN MATHEWS.

A SYNOPSIS—BY REQUEST.

Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise; be thankful unto him, and bless his name.—Psalms c, 4.

No other inspired song in this book has the same pre-eminence accorded to it. It bears the specific title: "A psalm of thanksgiving." In the pre-Christian worship special provision was made for sacrifices of thanksgiving; and the old Hebrew writers assert that this psalm was selected to be sung on the occasion of these offerings. The chief singer conducted the music, and the whole choir of Levites caught up the strain, and poured their praises into Jehovah's ear.

Exposition.—The key to this text is found in the context. The key-note is this: A call to retrospection. It is also a divine command: "Thou shalt remember all the way in which the Lord thy God hath led thee." Retrospection discovers a sure foundation in the past on which to build in the present. It unfolds this lesson—certain moral truths are as firmly settled as any physical fact which the eye takes in or the hand can touch.

Three things at least are settled: Jehovah is master of the universe—"know yo that the Lord he is God;" that his power, in a special sense, extends over his children—"we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture;" and the basis of his action is goodness—"for the Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting." These three truths once fixed in the individual heart, these principles once imbedded in the national mind, lead to the solution of a thousand occurrences puzzling those who do not comprehend God's method of action in reference to individuals and nations. Even as far back in the centuries as Joshua's era these facts were known. We are told that he "took a great stone and set it up under an oak at Sheckem, by the sanctuary of the Lord, and said, Behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us, for it hath heard all the words of the Lord which he spoke unto us; it shall be a witness unto you lest you deny your God." * * * The spirit which this act illustrates is intensified in importance when it appears in Christian memorials. A like spirit led the early settlers on this continent to observe a day of thanksgiving to the Lord. They believed in God's power; they confided in that goodness, though often their surroundings were gloomy. They had suffered many privations, even to the verge of starvation. Many fast-days had been strictly observed. The crops of 1623 had been planted in hope of a large harvest, but during the summer a drought of weeks threatened to blast their hopes. As was their custom, they appointed a day of fasting and prayer. In answer, the rain descended and continued fourteen days. A plentiful harvest followed, and to commemorate God's goodness they appointed a day of thanksgiving. This was the origin of our now "national Thanksgiving."

In the text, as well as in the occurrences stated, we are directed to a personality—one of power and goodness. The Jews in their sacrificial thanksgivings recognized the one thought which is fundamental to all gratitude—that of a personal God. Our consciousness teaches us that some other and higher power than that of man is acting on the line of our lives. What is that power? To answer that it is nature does not satisfy us; we cannot thank nature. If you say it is a great law, who ever thanks law? Men look up and see the light pouring vitality and beauty upon the earth, but what heart says: O sun, I thank thee? No one thanks the tree for its fruit. We never thank second causes, because they have no personal will. The heart spontaneously thanks God. He stands back of all secondary causes. A person rescued from a great peril involuntarily exclaims: "Thank God."

We are here to-day to inculcate the lesson of gratitude. God's mercies to us, as individuals and as a nation, are manifold. Does some one sneeringly ask: For what have we to thank God? Our answer is emphatic: For rich and varied blessings. Is it possible that we are so dwarfed in our manhood that we can see nothing but our petty troubles. Many are so dwarfed. A moment's reflection will convince any one of the fact that while the sun is an immense body—so immense that one may grow bewildered over thought of it—yet a dime held close to the eye can shut that sun off from our vision entirely. Many of our people hold their troubles so near that all higher truths and agencies are entirely shut off. This is the cause of the scornful curl of the lip when a day of thanksgiving was proclaimed.

It is heartily assumed that, as a nation and individuals, we have great reasons for thankfulness.

A retrospect of our mission as a nation, and the results already achieved, will call up emotions of gratitude. Our mission is a noble one. Every civilized nation has been largely leavened by the principles which constitute the strata of our republic. A nation has been born in a day. We are told that Rousseau said the fourth of July, 1776, began a new era in human affairs. Better and greater men than Rousseau have reached the same conclusion. On that day a new birth took place—one which opened to the race new thoughts and principles. It is held that our creation as an independent nation is one of the greatest events of all time; that it was one of the mightiest of those proceedings by which Divine Providence carries forward the grand work of uplifting all men. The changes of the last half of the outgoing century indicate our part in God's plan to ennoble man. However, we need training and rooting ere we attain the full measure of our power over others. Our development is incomplete, hence our present troubles. At the beginning of the present century our people were true to the principles on which all real development is based. Labor made this country what it then was. All men recognized the dignity of labor. All men honored it. The Old World heard the story of the reward of labor on this continent, and a stream of emigration set in which secured a prosperity both dazzling and exciting. The nation grew, wealth accumulated, and many reached the point of demoralization. They sought to control the nation. They formed organizations for self-protection, as they asserted, but in process of time these organizations degenerated into rings, seeking the control of the President, Congress and the judiciary. The excess of prosperity had well-nigh ruined us. The leaders of the people were thirsting for wealth.

God saw that to save us, and hold us to our high destiny, it was necessary to break the nation. What did he do? He laid his hand on the man considered the best financier in America—the head of the strongest moneyed organization in the land, and the pet of the government. The civilized world was waked up by the startling intelligence: Jay Cooke & Co. have suspended! Men had scarcely recovered from their bewilderment when the greatest manufacturing company that our republic has known failed. People never dreamed that it was even possible for the Spragues to fail. Even this was not all. One fine morning a telegram from New York sent a thrill of fear through the land while announcing the suspension of one of the greatest jobbing firms in that city—Claflin & Co. The whole country has felt the shock; and the work goes on. Men call the result a panic; but it is something more—it is one of God's storms for the purification of the moral atmosphere. All know that a robust and well-rounded manhood never comes of tender training; nor does a well-rounded and robust national life come where luxury and wealth are universal.

It is evident that God is at work on our people with power. The process may be severe, but it is healthful. The historians of art give us an illustrative story. When Michael Angelo lived at Rome the Pope employed him to carve some figures in marble. With his chisel and mallet he would fairly fly at the block before him, and hew off so much marble in a short time that it took three men several hours every morning to carry off the chips. The Pope watched the unfolding features with delight as that great artist brought out some heroic character. The artist wrought with power. God, the great Artist, is working on us with great force, but his intention is to bring out heroic characters, and make of us a great nation. The ordeal may be trying; but the result—how glorious! All truly Christian hearts can but overflow with joy as the lips raise a psalm of praise to God for his work on us, and the use he has for us. * * * *

Again, there never was truer occasion for thanksgiving than that which the country finds in the grand uprising against official robbers. Honest men have been appalled for a few years past at what is known as public corruption. Some have almost despaired of the republic. Many have said: "O for something like the grand old Roman empire." But the history of that era sickens us, and the mind turns from it with relief to our own country. One fact out of a multitude will give us an idea of official corruption. At one time the Pretorian Guard actually sold the empire at public auction to the highest bidder. Being dissatisfied with the amount offered by the chief aspirant to the purple, they proclaimed an auction. A rich old senator, named Julian, was sitting at his table when the news reached him. His wife and daughter urged him to go and bid for the throne of the world. He refused; but, being over-persuaded, he reluctantly went, bid against his rival, and, having the longer purse, carried off the doubtful prize, his donation being about a thousand dollars to each soldier.

While we have been cursed with robbers in many of the chief places of power and wealth, a large body of the people have remained uncorrupted. When the discovery of official villainy was made known the masses girded themselves for conflict, and moved forward to secure the overthrow of evil-doers. Many have already been hurled from power. The work is going on steadily. "We shall see our desire in our enemies." There is hope for us in the fact that when the former Vice President stood suspected, he was cast down and rejected. There is virtue enough to convict a Tweed, and that virtue will reveal itself in the conviction of others. The wave is moving; it will yet reach our own Louisiana. God may be a God of love and at the same time a consuming fire. Mercy is not a weakness; justice is not revenge. The mind of God holds both sentiments, else he would be convicted of narrowness. God is not dead. He is at work using the people as instruments of justice. God is never in a hurry. We grow impatient; he looks to long results. The voice of the people, when employed by him, becomes omnipotent. Is there no cause for praise in this overthrow of villainy? Our people should unite with glowing hearts and sing: "Enter into his gates with praise, and into his courts with thanksgiving." * * * * *

We have reason to be thankful in that, while there has been alienation between the sections, the sense of human brotherhood has been called out. Think of our own Shreveport, so recently smitten, her citizens dying by the score daily. When the voice of her sorrow was heard a response was instant from far and from near. The stricken city of Memphis—can we forget the answers to her call for aid? From every section responses were given which thrilled the hearts of the sufferers. That city will not forget the noble girl who left her Northern home to watch with the afflicted, and finally give up her own life for the common good. Surely our sensibilities are not so deadened as to close our hearts against these touching evidences of sympathy. There are other facts which prove that the sense of human brotherhood still survives. God be praised that it has manifested itself under conditions so trying. * * * We have cause for thanksgiving in our harvests, in our homes, in our churches, and in the fact that our deliverance is coming. Already is the sunlight on the mountains. Let us, then, join in the general acclaim:

Praise God, from whom all blessings flow;
Praise him, all creatures here below;
Praise him above, ye heavenly host;
Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

From the Work.

ST. HELENA CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: I have been expecting to see a notice in your paper of a recent religious revival which has taken place in St. Helena circuit, Mississippi Conference, under the ministry of Bro. Calvin C. Watkins. I left him, a few weeks ago, in the midst of a fine revival, as many as eight or nine joining at one service, and being converted. The people over whom he has charge are prospering much in a spiritual way. There are quite a number of accessions to the church, and not a few souls converted. He is very zealous in the cause, working night and day. If other pastors would devote themselves as steadily to the Master's flock, what great additions would there be to his fold!

Although the finances of most persons in this section of country are low, they evince no lack of interest in religion, and manifest great sympathy for the preachers. The stewards do all they can to sustain them, and, though their receipts range from sixty to three hundred and fifty dollars, they talk cheerfully and hopefully, seeing the people do as well as the circumstances allow. The good will of his congregation goes far toward relieving the trials of one who seeks, through Christ, to serve it.

Bro. Benjamin Jones is now holding a protracted meeting, which is being blessed.

A. B. NICHOLSON.

BROOKHAVEN, MISS., Nov. 25, 1873.

BUFFALO CIRCUIT, WOODVILLE DISTRICT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE. Mr. Editor: As an item of revival news we send you a few lines in regard to Buffalo circuit, Woodville district. We protracted a meeting five days at Hopewell church, embracing the fourth Sunday in September. The result of the meeting was: twelve received into the church, eleven converted and eleven professed to be reclaimed. The conversions were clear and satisfactory. Truly it was a gracious shower after a long spiritual drought. God's people were happy. The measure of the Spirit was abundant and overflowing. Some wept, others laughed for joy, others shouted aloud. The experience meeting, which lasted over three hours, was rich with the simple story of Christian love. At the close, without an exhortation, penitents were called for, and the result was one very clear conversion.

Incidents.—A hardened skeptic, after witnessing the conversion of three of his children within a few minutes, said to a member of the church: "I have one more I wish you had."

A penitent old man, nearly seventy, with white locks, said to the pastor: "I love my family as I love myself, and would be willing to jump into a lion's mouth to save one of them; and yet, if I could be converted, and know it, I would be willing to die then and there, and never see one of them again." A strong desire, that, for a penitent. May he soon find the pearl of great price.

The young members take the sacrament, and some of them speak in class and pray in public. A deep religious feeling pervades this community, and we expect to gather in others. We have held protracted services at all the other churches on the circuit except one, but with no very marked success. Thanks to Bro. John Cassel, an exhorter, and Bro. D. McNeil, a steward, who also exhorts, for efficient services at our meeting at Hopewell.

P. S. PETTY.

NOVEMBER 13, 1873.

WANTED, by the church in Los Angeles, California, that every reader of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE send to Rev. A. M. Campbell fifty cents, or more if he feels so disposed (and may the Lord implant the disposition,) for the purpose of building a church.

Brethren, the want is urgent. Will not every reader respond?

HE IS HAPPY whose circumstances suit his temper; but he is more excellent who can suit his temper to any circumstances.—Home.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1873.

THE POPE AND THE EMPEROR.

Punch thus versifies and diversifies the late correspondence between the Pope and the Emperor:

PIUS TO WILLIAM.

Your majesty should be aware,
For 'tis a terrible affair,
That Bismarck and his atheist crew
Are making quite a tool of you,
And struggling hard, by force of tricks,
To extirpate your Catholics.
Sire, really you must mind your eye,
Or down your throne comes, by and by.
I speak the truth to great and small,
Heretics, Catholics and all;
For all who've been baptized, you see,
Belong, or more or less, to me.
You'll come to grief, nolente me,
So, bless you much, dear William.

VATICAN, August 7. PIO.

WILLIAM TO PIUS.

Your holiness must have been drugged,
Or, to say the least of it, humbugged.
No minister of mine can go
A step ahead if I say: No.
But, holiness, your blessed priests,
Joining with Communistic beasts,
Have lit fierce fire, and wildly fanned it;
And dash my buttons if I stand it!
How Christian clergymen can dare
Such things, I neither know nor care.
But, since they choose to put me to it,
I'm to keep order—and I'll do it.
The best course you can take's to frown,
And bid your priests to knuckle down.
As for belonging to a Pope,
I'm duly grateful for soft soap,
But only know one Mediator
Between myself and my Creator.
But, notwithstanding credo still I am,
Your peaceful and devoted

BERLIN, September 3. WILLIAM.

Letter from Dr. Munsey.

MR. EDITOR: The Salem (Virginia) Register of October 4 published the following concerning me:

"Rev. William E. Munsey, the great pulpit orator of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, has, we learn from a gentleman just from Greenville, Tennessee, become a perfect wreck. Our informant states that he is constantly seen drunk in the streets, and his associates are of the lowest character. He is intensely profane, poorly clad, and is without friends or money."

This has been published by the newspapers throughout the entire country. I have been residing at Jonesboro, Tennessee, for nearly one year; I came here to regain my health. Greenville, Tenuessee, is twenty-five miles south of Jonesboro. Both towns are within the boundaries of the Holston Conference of the Southern Methodist Church. Marion, Virginia, is also within the bouudaries of the same Confereuce. The Conferenee held its last sessien iu Mariou, on the fifteenth ultimo. I was present. A newspaper is published in Mnrion. To that newspaper the following certificates were voluntarily furnished:

"MARION, VA., October 20, 1873.

"Editor Marion Patriot and Herald—Dear Sir: I have seen in several newspapers a paragraph stating that Rev. Dr. W. E. Munsey has become a common drunkard, intensely profane, etc. I have seen the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South at Jonesboro, Tennessee, where Dr. Munsey has resided since his location at the Baltimore Conference in March last, and take this means of saying that the report is not true.

J. L. M. FRENCH, JR."

"OCTOBER 20, 1873.

"Editor Patriot and Herald: I live in Jonesboro, east Tennessee, am a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and fully indorse the above card of Rev. J. L. M. French; and I will further say that there is not a man, woman or child, white or black, in the town of Jeuesboro who will indorse the statements that Dr. Munsey is 'a common drunkard and intensely profane,' etc.

F. W. EARNEST."

The following extract from the editor of the Marion paper shows his opinion of the matter:

"Dr. Munsey has been in Marion during the past week, and on Sunday night he preached to the largest audience we ever saw in a church in this place, and his sermon was one of the finest efforts of his life. It is a disgrace to our civilization and to humanity that there lives a man who could willfully perpetrate so vile and infamous a slander upon a minister."

Please add another certificate from a lawyer in Jonesboro:

"OCTOBER 25, 1873.

"Living in Jonesboro, and having been intimately acquainted with Dr. Munsey since he has been in our town, having boarded in his family for several months recently, I can unhesitatingly indorse the cards of Rev. Mr. French and Major Earnest.

R. L. BLAIR, JR."

Publish the following communication of the Wytheville (Virginia) Enterprise, with the certificate of Mr. John W. Paulett:

"WYTHEVILLE, VA., October 23, 1873.

"Editor Enterprise: In your issue of the fifteenth instant you publish, under the head of 'A Painful Report,' a slanderous article concerning the Rev. Dr. William E. Munsey, giving the Salem Register credit therefor, copied with an article from the Lexington Gazette, which is indeed manly if the facts, as stated in said report, were true.

"The information furnished the Salem Register is that 'Dr. Munsey is a perfect wreck, constantly seen drunk on the streets, and his associates of the lowest character, intensely profane, poorly clad, and without friends or money.' This is the language used by the gentleman (save the mark) who seems willing to lend himself in the devil's work in slandering a Christian minister and a gentleman, and damaging to Christianity in general, and to the Methodist Episcopal Church South in particular.

"Now, sir, Dr. Munsey was in attendance at the Holston Annual Conference, which assembled at Marion, Virginia, on the fifteenth and closed on the twenty-second instant. He preached last Sunday night in Marion (during Conference) at the Methodist church, and I have heard but one opinion of the sermon, and that was that Munsey more than sustained himself as the greatest pulpit orator of our day. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, the aisles not affording standing-room for the many who stood at the doors and windows for over an hour of inclement weather.

"From this, sir, you would not think him the 'wreck' the Salem Register man would have him to be. If these things were true a few short weeks ago, certainly a great reformation has taken place. But let us see how this is: I conversed with the Rev. J. L. M. French, of Jonesboro, who has been in charge of the station there the past year, and where Dr. Munsey has resided since he left Baltimore. Mr. French would unhesitatingly pronounce the report in question a base slander; so with Mr. Earnest, a prominent lawyer of Jonesboro, I am credibly informed, though I had no conversation with the last-named gentleman on the subject. But it may be said that the foundation of the whole matter is located at Greenville; this is where the Register says its informant hailed from. 'We learn from a gentleman just from Greenville, Tennessee,' etc., is the language used.

"Well, sir, my information as to matters and things about Greenville come from the Rev. Mr. Clendenin, who has been in charge of the work there during the year just passed, and he says he has never known Dr. Munsey to be in Greenville but once since he left Baltimore, on which occasion he delivered a lecture. The report, he says, is untrue so far as Greenville is concerned.

"Now, sir, I prefer the testimony of these gentlemen and my own eyes to that of a nameless somebody in the Salem Register. 'Constantly seen drunk on the streets.' Not a word of truth in it, say my informants. 'And his associates of the lowest character.' Untrue again, say they. 'He is intensely profane.' Further away from the truth than ever, would be the verdict. 'Poorly clad and without friends or money.' Part of this last may be true, as Dr. Munsey's kind heart never would let him have money in his pocket with suffering humanity around him. Not so when it is said he is 'without friends'—no man has more friends in his own southwestern Virginia mountains than Dr. Munsey; besides no man received a more cordial handshaking than Munsey when he made his appearance on the Conference floor, at Marion, among his brethren of the Holston Conference, with whom he was raised, and all of whom knew him well as a true yokefellow in the gospel for years.

"Dr. Munsey submitted a paper to the Bishop, which was read in Conference, giving a brief synopsis of his life. Tears gathered in the eyes of many while the secretary read the paper. Resolutions of sympathy were heartily indorsed by his old associates. This is as Munsey stands today, despite the tongue of the slanderer.

"Mr. Editor, yourself, with other journals throughout the State, and, it may be, beyond the limits of the State, have done Dr. Munsey more injustice than you can readily atone for. Character is too dear to be bandied about and published by the press to the free gratis on rumor. This is not the first of the kind I have seen in my life; would that I could hope it were the last. The Virginia press, I am glad to say, expressed great sympathy (with but one or two exceptions that I saw, they publishing without comment) for Dr. Munsey. The great error was in publishing the rumor and accepting the statements as true without troubling themselves to inquire into the facts in the case. Before closing this article allow me to say that Dr. Munsey is not the first minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church South which the tongue of slander persecuted in east Tennessee, and, as afterward proven, with as little foundation in fact as in the case of Dr. Munsey. It is well known to you and me, sir, who know Dr. Munsey well, that, with all his acknowledged greatness and power of mind, he is as gentle and guileless as a child, and the only mistake made by Dr. Munsey (if so it can be called) was using alcoholic stimulants by the advice of medical friends, in order to recuperate his poor feeble body and mind, which had been stretched to its utmost tension trying to serve a city church.

"If slanders like the above are to be the result, he prefers suffering in the future, and hence concludes, 'paralysis or no paralysis, neuralgia or no neuralgia, he abnudons the use of stimulants uuless in very extreme cases.'

"I hope, sir, yourself and others, who have given publicity to this foul slander, will cheerfully give this a place in your columns.

"Yours truly,

P. GALLAGHER."

"At the request of Mr. Peter Gallagher I take pleasure in saying that his statements in regard to Dr. Munsey, contained in the above article, are correct. The rumors damaging to Dr. Munsey's reputation were freely discussed by the members of the Conference and the citizens of Marion, and there was but one opinion expressed—that he was outrageously slandered by the charge of immorality, preferred in the Salem Register on the authority of a 'gentleman from Greenville, Tennessee.'

JOHN W. PAULETT."

Rev. J. L. M. French is the stationed preacher in Jonesboro. Felix Earnest, Esq., is a lawyer in this town, lives near me, and sees me daily. He was a lay delegate to the Holston Conference, which met at Marion, and was elected to the next General Conference. John W. Paulett was also a lay delegate, and elected to the General Conference; P. Gallagher, Esq., was a lay delegate to the Holston Conference; Rev. Mr. Clendenin was the Southern Methodist preacher who had charge of the church in Greenville. I could furnish you as many certificates as you would be willing to print. Some of my friends, to save me from the charge of immorality in the premises, and not knowing the facts of the case, published that I was insane. I shall put in no plea for sanity. My health is much better, and I hope to be soon in the regular work of the itineraney.

W. E. MUNSEY.

JONESBORO, TENN., November 5, 1873.
St. Louis Christian Advocate.

A GOOD definition of inconstancy was given by a Teutonic orator at a recent town meetiag, when he said: "It is vonderful, shentlemen, how elastic some men are in their brains."

Agriculture in Louisiana.

WHAT SHALL WE PLANT?

MR. EDITOR: In our previous article we pointed out the great importance of adapting our crop to our labor, and that the great difficulty in raising cotton as a single crop was its excessive demand on manual, the most expensive of all kinds of labor. So apparent is this truth that in every other portion of the world that farmer is recognized as the most successful who substitutes, to the greatest extent, animal for manual, or, still better, steam for animal power. This is an all-important truth to the South, and is so obvious that its bare statement is sufficient to convince. But there is another truth which, if not so obvious, is equally important: That for successful farming there must be sufficient stock on the farm to supply it with fertilizers. With these two important facts before us, it is only necessary to look over the products to which our soil and climate are adapted to enable us to determine what kind of farming we ought to pursue. Here in the valley of Red river pastures are green from the middle of March until the middle of October. Here meadows of Bermuda grass may be made, yielding four tons per acre, and hay equal to the best Western. Here Hungarian grass yields from three to four tons per acre, and this enormous crop of the spring may be followed in the fall by an equal crop of pea-vine hay. Here rice may be made, yielding from forty to eighty bushels of grain per acre, and from three to four tons of hay—without doubt the richest and cheapest of all provender for stock. Here sugar-cane may be raised, an acre of which will fatten more stock than three acres of the best corn in Illinois. Sweet potatoes, yielding from four to six hundred bushels per acre; turnips and rutabagas, yielding from one hundred to one hundred and fifty bushels, and require no housing; while orchards of plums and figs and peaches and pears may be kept almost without cost. All these crops are adapted to machinery, drawn either by steam or animal power.

These abundant crops constitute one of the all-important elements to successful stock-raising. The other requisite is climate. Upon this point our advantages are equally great. Here horses and mules and cattle and sheep are freer from disease than in any other section of the Union. Here horses may be raised as fine as those of Arabia, milch cows as fine as those of the West, and beef as good as the best Fulton market. Here Brama oxen can be raised as good as mules, and mules as good as the best of Kentucky. Here sheep—the South-down Cotswold and Leicester—can be reared for combing wool, now the most remunerative, and for mutton for the markets of New Orleans, Shreveport and the cities of the valley of the Mississippi. All these things are well known here, but to the people of Louisiana the thought that these products can be converted into money is regarded as one of the abstract theories of political economy. If they could be made to believe with a faith even as a grain of mustard-seed, who could measure their future wealth and prosperity and power? Their waste places would be made glad, and their desert fields again bloom and blossom as the rose.

We feel confident that the questions, Will it pay? Must we abandon cotton and sugar entirely? are already asked by the impatient reader; but we must reserve their discussion for our next communication. They have, however, a moral aspect, which, though dependent upon, yet rises above a mere question of profit. Until Louisiana learns and pursues that kind of husbandry which feeds and clothes her people she will be incapable of taking a single step toward improvement. What the past seven years have been, the next seven, if she continues her present system of planting, will be, but in a more extreme degree—disorganized labor, poverty, bankruptcy and the prey of political plunderers. The free white emigration she so much desires can never come, for the plainest of all reasons—she has nothing with which to feed and clothe them, and no occupation to offer but the endless drudgery of the cotton and cane-fields. Her fields will continue to remain desolate, and she, the half-starved tributary of Northern factories and Western producers, and the home of carpet-baggers.

AGRICOLA.

An Itinerary.

MR. EDITOR: The writer cannot now recollect of ever writing a revival notice, although efficient, or rather on duty every day for more than thirty-five years in the Mississippi Conference. His first circuit was Louisville, embracing Winston, a part of Neshoba, Attala, Choctaw, Lowndes, Oktibbeha entire, and the southern part of Lowndes, west of the Bigbee river, as above written. John G. Jones was presiding elder, and where Rev. J. Mathews, of Chapel Hill, left off his reminiscence the writer commenced, and knew well the persons and facts, as he wrote. About three hundred members were added to the church—about one hundred in Starksville alone, as I think Bro. J. G. Jones can testify. His next two years were on Paulding circuit. Jasper, Smith and a part of Newton and Jones counties composed the circuit. Some five hundred were added to the one hundred and seventy-seven members, as appeared on the plan and record. In the year 1842–3 I was stationed at Opelousas, but spent the week-days at Plaquemine Brulee, sometimes at Fayette, Vermillionville or Washington, and down the stream below, along the Teche, etc., and back to Opelousas on Sunday. About two hundred and fifty-seven members were received into the church, and several new churches were built in 1844–5, on the Bayou Pierre circuit, and on Crystal Springs circuit in 1845–6, where, he now believes, more than eight hundred souls were added to the church and mostly converted. Churches were also built at Utica, Cayuga, Mount Pleasant, Spring Ridge, Reeves' chapel, Chapel Hill, Edwards' Depot and Brownsville, besides old Mount Zion and Pisgah, on the Bayon Pierre circuit, and several small log churches. The writer was stationed once at old Centenary College and at Brandon Springs. Brandon being a station, the Rankin circuit was given to him—as large or larger than Crystal Springs—taking in Scott county and south of Leake county. This was the year 1845–6, and probably 1847–8 was spent on the Crystal Springs work, 1849 in Raymond and 1850 on Greenville circuit. All this time the Lord prospered me—so unworthy, so poor and ignorant a servant—because I trusted alone in God, and shunned the honor that came from men.

In 1851 the Yazoo Conference sent the writer to Holmes circuit, where several hundred members were converted and several good churches built, such as Sweetwater, Spring Hill, Shady Grove, Wesley chapel and others, and about as many added to the church as were converted. Here the writer wished and was persuaded to go to Europe—to the World's Fair, in London, to Scotland, Ireland and France; visiting more than a dozen of our own United States, traveling about eighteen or twenty thousand miles, and not a soul converted to God in the four months' absence. My key of faith and prayer was rusty. The writer still did and does believe that whosoever abides in Christ may ask what he will, and it shall be done unto him, and all kindred passages; but as ministers and members do we abide in the Vine? Do we seek first the kingdom of heaven? Do we pray like Wesley? Do we resemble the Master, the early Christians or our fathers? The only time that the word eternity is used in the Bible (Isaiah lvii, 15) teaches us to be holy, humble, contrite, if we wish to dwell with him that inhabiteth eternity, who dwelleth in the high and holy place with the contrite.

E. R. STRICKLAND.

SUMMIT, November 22, 1873.

The Sin Against the Holy Ghost.

BY THE REV. R. H. RIVERS, D. D.

Under the above heading, and after many excellent things, we find the following in the ADVOCATE:

"I believe that the sin against the Holy Ghost is, in the main, no specific sin. It is sometimes one sin, and sometimes another. It is the sin unto death. * * * I do not object to the idea that, in the time of our Savior, men committed the unpardonable sin by attributing the works of Christ to the devil."

When Christ was upon the earth, was the sin against the Holy Ghost one thing then, and may it be another thing now?

"It is the sin unto death." Is it temporal or is it spiritual death?

"Christ taught that a word spoken against the Son of man would be forgiven, but that a word spoken against the Holy Ghost would not be forgiven;" by which he may "have meant that in his visible form there was so much that contravened the expectations of the people that they might, under the mistaken guidance of their carnal feelings, speak against one who had claimed kingly position under a servant's form, but that in the course of events he would appeal not to the eye but to the consciousness of men" by the direct application of the Holy Spirit, and the rejection of this would place man in an unpardonable state. The vital principle would seem to be that when man denies spiritual religion, denies the direct influence and application of the Holy Spirit in the conviction and regeneration of the person—the very thing so many are guilty of—he shuts himself up from the Holy Spirit, the only power that can illuminate, quicken, regenerate, purify and prepare him for heaven. By this denial of the Holy Spirit in the work of the salvation of the soul, he cuts himself off from the possibility of salvation and becomes a "son of perdition." In this view of the subject Christ's position in the godhead is unimpaired; "but if a sin against him were less than a sin against the Holy Ghost, he could no longer retain divine equality; but, according to the Christian writings, we know nothing of the Holy Ghost except in connection with Jesus Christ. To speak, therefore, against the Holy Ghost is to speak against Jesus Christ himself, not as he appeared when he took upon him the form of a servant, but as he was originally in the form of God." The apostle says that "henceforth we know not Christ after the flesh." Now he is represented by the Holy Ghost, still head over all, though unseen by men.

We believe that all sin may assist in bringing the sinner to the point where he disbelieves in spiritual religion, or the direct agency of the Holy Spirit in the salvation of the soul, and therefore sets up a barrier that excludes him from the mercy of God by rejecting the only possible means whereby he could be saved.

L. PATTERSON.

FORKLAND, ALA., Nov. 17, 1873.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TALKERS.—There is a dear, old-fashioned notion, inwrought in our very being, that the Sunday school is for the study of God's word and for the enlargement of our acquaintance with Christ the Savior.

Why, then, accommodate the expectations of some stray talker who wants to try his hand in making an impression on the fresh, ardent listeners before him? Self fills the whole orbit of his vision; and the only Savior he sees is the one reflected from himself. Let us give to such the prayer of George Herbert: "O my Master! on whose errand I come, let me hold my peace, and do thou speak thyself; for thou art love, and thou teachest that all are scholars."

Thus holding up the pictures of a revealed Christ, hiding self all behind it, so much as a little finger need not be seen.—Christian at Work.

LET US be satisfied with what we know, and be willing to leave the mysteries to be solved when, as scholars, we sit at his feet and learn from his lips the complete story of redeeming love.

Obituaries.

EMMA LELA WALTERS, daughter of Mary J. F. Walters, died October 17, 1873, aged seven years and eight months. Emma, though young, had learned to pray and love the Savior, and was a source of comfort to the widowed mother; and now the consolation to the stricken mother is that Lela is with him who said: "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not."

PASTOR.

JAMES MONROE, infant son of John W. and Martha D. King, died of heart disease, in Franklin parish, October 11, 1873, aged one year, eleven months and five days. Little Jimmie, as he was called, had been somewhat ill for several weeks, but nothing seemingly to justify an alarm, until about forty-eight hours before his death, when all hopes of his recovery were given up.

JAMES M. MCKEE.

LAURA A. FAUGHENDER was born November 24, 1852. She professed faith in Christ and joined Liberty church, in Cleberne county, Alabama, in October, 1863, at the age of eleven years. She was faithful to the trust imposed. She ran well, not for a few months and then giving up her profession, but the whole race. She was a Bible student through life, and hence she was acquainted with the promises of God. The writer visited her the day before she died, and oh! how happy she was, although so nigh the river of death. She was perfectly resigned to the will of God. She spoke of death as though it was only a "shadow," through which she believed Jesus would bear her company, and conduct her safely through the pearly gates. Her faith was permanent to the last and was crowned with victory.

R. G. RAGAN.

JOSEPHINE BOWIE was born April 29, 1845; was born again, during family prayer, in 1866. A short time previously she was baptized and received into the church at Benton, Yazoo county, Mississippi, by Rev. W. B. Lewis. She was married to Rev. John W. Jones, February 9, 1870, and died on Wolf Lake, Yazoo county, Mississippi, October 30, 1873.

She was not very demonstrative, but seemed to enjoy sweet and constant communion with her heavenly Father. She walked by faith and not by sight. Her rule of duty was for to-day, realizing that the promise of the Father is for to-day. One who knew her intimately says she was the most exemplary Christian he ever knew. She was a good wife, a devoted mother, a kind and affectionate daughter and sister. She leaves two little children, a husband, parents, brothers and sisters to mourn her loss; but their loss is her eternal gain.

Now flesh and sin no more control
The sacred pleasures of her soul.

IRA B. ROBERTSON.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Whereas, It has been the will of an all-wise Providence to take from our midst our beloved brother, THOMAS M. MANN, a faithful minister of the gospel, a devoted member of the Methodist Church, and a member of the Quarterly Conference of the Oak Grove circuit, Delhi district, Louisiana Conference; And whereas, We bow with meek submission to the will and dispensation of an all-wise Providence; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we feel with deep regret the loss of our worthy and beloved brother, both in the church and community.

Resolved, That we, the members of the Quarterly Conference, hereby tender our sincere sympathy to his bereaved family, pointing them above the clouds of sorrow to a kind and loving Friend, who has promised to be a husband to the widow and a father to the fatherless.

Resolved, That these resolutions be engrossed in our minutes, and a copy thereof be sent to his family, and also a copy to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

T. S. RANDLE.
T. B. RENEAU.
J. D. SHYRIAGH.

SAMUEL H. PEARSON, son of Holden and Amelia Pearson, was born in Hancock county, Mississippi, April 7, 1852. The subject of this notice was received into the Methodist Episcopal Church South about two years ago, by the writer, in Greensburg, Louisiana. For awhile he seemed to live in conformity to the sacred vows which he had taken upon himself; but the evil influences which were brought to bear upon him led him partially astray. Early this year his health began to decline; but, anxious to gather the crop which he had made, he continued to go about until the first of September, when he was compelled to take his bed. He began now to ponder over his past life, and to call upon God for forgiveness. Bro. C. C. Watkins and myself visited him and found him resigned to the will of the Lord. On one occasion, at his bedside, while we were singing

"There is a fountain filled with blood," etc., he clapped his hands in praises to God, until he was completely exhausted. He urged upon his father and mother, brothers and sisters, and the friends who stood around his dying bed, to meet him in heaven. So he passed away from earth to glory, on the second of October, 1873, in St. Helena, Louisiana.

DAVID P. BRADFORD, Pastor.

MRS. JULIA ANN HOLYFIELD, wife of Hays Holyfield, was born November 16, 1816, and died, at her home on Clear creek, Rankin county, Mississippi, September 19, 1873.

Sister Holyfield was the daughter of Rev. Henry Brown, and was born in Lawrence county, Mississippi. She joined the Methodist Church at the age of ten years, of which she lived a consistent, faithful member for about forty-seven years. Her seat was never vacant at the house of God, unless sickness prevented her attendance. Though a great sufferer for eighteen or twenty years, yet punctuality upon the ordinances of God's house and Christian patience were prominent elements in her character. In many respects Sister Holyfield was a remarkable woman. She was a Christian of the highest type, and of great benevolence. I knew her for a number of years, and never heard her say an unkind word of any one, and never saw her the least out of humor. A more even, kind, amiable disposition few have ever possessed. These peculiar characteristics were forcibly manifested during her last illness, no murmur having escaped her lips, although her sufferings were intense for weeks from that fatal enemy of mankind, consumption. A few weeks before her death her husband interrogated her in reference to dying. Said he, "Julia, are you willing to die?" Her answer was in the affirmative, but expressed regret at separating from her children; but as she neared the fatal river these regrets yielded to the superior sunlight of heaven, and she urged her husband and children to meet her in the better land where there is no dying among the blessed. Her husband requested her a few days before her death, if she became speechless, to make some sign, that he might know all was well; and just two minutes before she breathed her last she remarked in a calm, distinct tone: "Husband, grieve not for me, for Jesus is with me." This she passed away, not a cloud intervening between her and the home of the blessed.

Sister Holyfield is gone, but her works will live after her. She kept the faith, she has fought the good fight, and she is now reaping the reward of a long life spent in the service of him who said: "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." Atheism may cavil, infidelity may attempt to reason away the faith of the world in Christianity, but they would have stood rebuked if they had stood by her bedside and seen her calmly entering in the cold Jordan of death, seen her unflinching faith as the shadows fell upon her, and seen the exultations of her victorious, liberated soul as it quietly, like an autumn cloud lifting itself from the horizon and melting away in the sea of light that surrounds the sun; bid adieu to its house of clay, and breathed itself away into the noontide of splendor that surrounds the throne of God.

W. W. HOUST.

WILLIAM EDWIN FOSTER died October 25, aged twenty-six years and six months.

God has spoken by the word of his power—has bowed us by the weight of his providence, has smitten the earth by this stroke of his rod. "It is the Lord; let him do what seemeth him good."

The beloved life, whose years were so few—cut off in the beginning of their strength, to be completed in the bosom of the Father—can find its ilt record only in the book of life. And yet, for the sake of those he loved, we recall those brief and blessed years when he was ours, that we may learn a lesson from them, and bear it in our inmost hearts as a holy gift from God, as a tender reminder of the beautiful beyond.

Left an orphan in early youth, his mother's latest prayers seemed answered for her precious Benjamin, for he was numbered among the fold of God at the very threshold of manhood, and, though always "a good boy," the sweet influences of grace were marked in his daily walk and conversation from that time forth. In the summer of 1866 he was converted and joined the Methodist Church, bravely stepping out alone on his Christian warfare, and consistently maintaining his Christian character and performing his baptismal vows to the last. The quiet, unostentatious, but steady and earnest purpose, revealing itself in his daily life, was an example to all, and a blessing to those who knew him best. And that gentle thoughtfulness, which manifested itself in so many "nameless, unremembered acts of love," endeared him more tenderly to his many friends. The children rejoiced at his coming. Like another sainted spirit, his world's eulogy might be: "He loved little children." What more need be spoken to express a heart gentle and renewed? As one of Christ's little ones we believe he entered into the kingdom of heaven.

With utmost patience and unconplaining fortitude he endured his sufferings, which were very severe, and in the struggle with the last great enemy he was calm and ready to go. God's peace was on the dear face when the enemy was overcome. "Tender and true," he has gone from us, with the dew of youth upon him; with the beautiful years, full of hope and promise, just before with love and friends, and the wide fair world around; and with bowed hearts we can but ask: "Wherefore?" O the blessed evangel of a noble life, and the thrice blessed rejoicing and victorious gospel of happy death! Herein we are answered, for we know God took him that our hearts might be drawn where their treasures are. And while with burning pain and leaden despair we still listen and wait to hear the quick-falling, ever-welcome footstep, oh! dear friends, he looks upon us and yearns toward us, that we may see his Savior and ours through our tears, and because of them

"We would see Jesus; other lights are paling
Which through long years we have rejoiced in;
The blessings of our pilgrimage are failing;
We would not mourn them; let us find thee!"

BLAME is safer than praise. So long as all that is said is against me I feel a certain assurance of success. But as soon as honeyed words of praise are spoken for me I feel as one that lies unprotected before his enemies. In general, every evil to which we do not succumb is a benefactor. As the Sandwich Islander believed that the strength and valor of an enemy he kills passes into himself, so we gain the strength of the temptation we resist.

SKEPTICISM has never founded empires, established principalities, changed the world's heart. The great doers in history have always been men of faith.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1873.

DARWINISM IN THE KITCHEN.

I was takin' off my bonnet
One afternoon, and three,
When a hinsect jumped upon it
As proved to be a flea.

Then I takes it to the grate,
Between the bars to stick it;
But I hadn't long to wait
Ere it changed into a cricket,

Says I: "Sorely my senses
Is a-gettin' in a fog!"
So to drownd it I commences,
When it hatters to a frog.

Here my heart begun to thump,
And no wonder I felt funky;
For the frog, with one big jump,
Leaped hisself into a monkey.

Then I opened wide my eyes,
His features for to scan,
And observed, with great surprise,
That that monkey was a man.

But he vanished from my sight,
And I sunk upon the floor,
Just as missus, with a light,
Came inside the kitchen door.

Then, beginning to abuse me,
She says: "Sarah, you've been drinkin'!"
I says: "No, mum, you'll excuse me;
But I've merely been a-thinkin'.

But, as sure as I'm a cinder,
That party what you see
A-gettin' out o' wooder
Have developed from a flea."

Lament for the Departed Dignity of American Statesmanship.

BY ELIHU BURRITT.

The stealthy transformation of our public into a *ring*public may be ascribed, in no small degree, to the displacement of an element in the body politic which was never appreciated at its true value in the better days of our national virtue. It was then decried and almost hated by the New England and nearly the whole Northern mind. The same mind now seems to think that the suppression of that element has been a triumph for the cause of freedom, truth and purity. Indeed, its entire extinction is regarded as a consummation devoutly to be wished. The sentiment has become so prevalent that it may subject one to the charge of disloyalty to regret that an influence which wrought so powerfully in shaping the character of the republic in its first and best years has been displaced by another more popular. "Down with the aristocracy!" is the watchword of the social democracy, both in England and America; and the same cry is passing through other countries. This cry does not mean down with men who have made themselves richer than the hereditary aristocracy by parenting out vast fortunes from the toil and industry of a single generation, but down with historical or old families of the country, who have retained in their possession estates purchased centuries ago at a shilling or two an acre, and to which each century has added an increase of value. Down with men who have come to large fortunes by this slow process of accretion, and have not jumped into great wealth by speculation in stocks, or by trading or manufacturing enterprise, like the great majority of rich people.

Now, the worst sin of a landed or hereditary aristocracy, in popular estimation, is their esprit de corps, or that pride of order which leads them to feel it derogatory to their dignity to engage personally in trade or in those business enterprises which other men of wealth pursue. Then this feeling becomes additionally obnoxious by stimulating what they call a "high sense of honor," a kind of horror or contempt for small and mean acts and ways of life and thought, for a truthlacking spirit and habit of mind, and for the everlasting talk about the irrepressible dollar. It is these pretensions, this carriage and pose of mind and life, more than their absolute wealth, that render an aristocracy of this order so repugnant to the popular mind, especially in America. For there is no country in the world where men compass sea, land and fire with more avidity for the aristocracy of abstract wealth than among us. Our railroad kings and merchant princes, stock jobbers and other potentates in our moneyed world, constitute an aristocracy as rich in dollars as the nobility and gentry of England. And these enjoy a public estimation and exert an influence which fire thousands with the ambition to attain the same position by the same or more questionable means. Thus an aristocracy of sheer wealth, however acquired, short of absolute crime, is the most popular order in American society. And the more this aristocracy retains and exhibits the spirit of what the French call bourgeoisie, the more popular and influential it becomes, because it remains in affinity, and on the same level of thought and purpose with the great multitude of money-seekers.

Now, to a thoughtful, observant mind, nothing can be more evident and more disquieting than the fact that this kind of aristocratic bourgeoisie has come to the front as a ruling power in this country. It is a moneyed aristocracy that thinks, plans and acts in the fullest spirit of bourgeoisie, without any pretension to that high sense of honor or punctilious esprit de corps which governs the deportment of an hereditary or landed gentry. And it is a hard thing to say or believe, but an honest mind must believe it true, that this bourgeoisie-regime only came into power at the suppression of that Southern aristocracy which we so energetically denounced when it existed in the full strength of its influence. Scarcely anything was or could be more distasteful or even hateful to us than the carriage, sentiment and self-arrogated position of that proud and pretentious aristocracy which adopted the spirit and deportment of the English nobility and gentry. But one who looks back over the history of the country from its birth as a nation must now see and own that the influence of the Southern aristocracy was an element of immense value in shaping the character of our public men and political life. The existence of many things is only realized by their temporary absence. For nearly ten years the South, as a political power, has been withdrawn from the Union. It has been ruled, repressed and stilled in its old character and influence by the worst kind of carpet-bagging bourgeoisie. During this demoralizing regime it has been shorn of all the locks of its power on the national government and public men of the country. It has not sent to Washington a single representative of its old historical families—no Calhoun, nor Clay, nor Benton, nor Berrien. None of its old names have answered to the roll-call in either house at the capitol. None of its old chivalry, its high sense of honor, has been represented by the newly-imported men who have pretended to answer for the South. The spirit which she boasted, and which we denounced, has ceased to act on the political morality of the nation. Perhaps the whole Northern mind rejoices at this emancipation. We are now showing the world, and proving to ourselves what we are doing and can do without the influence of a Southern aristocracy, as we called it.

Yes, we have shown to the world and to ourselves what we can do as a nation without the old influence of the Southern mind; without the pretentious "chivalry" and "high sense of honor," and contempt of small and crooked ways which the "first families of Virginia" and other Southern States boasted of. We have shown what the trade-spirit, unchecked by the influence of such chivalry, can do when it pervades the entire nation, dominating national and State legislation, and touching with its golden wand the highest court of justice in the land. We have seen how this great republic has been transmuted into a ringpublic, while the South has been reduced to political nonentity; what a concentric series of rings, what "wheels within a wheel," as in the prophet's vision, have been produced from the center to the circumference of the Union.

Look at the successive of these rings: first, the "primary meeting" ring, or the village caucus of half a dozen politicians making up their "slate" around a grocer's cask of onions or dried apples. Follow the series of political rings from that primary meeting of free and independent citizens up through the State conventions to the congressional caucus and lobby at Washington. Then take the corporation rings and follow them from the center to the circumference of their power. Do the same with land rings, gold rings, wheat rings, traffic and transportation rings, and tariff rings. Look at the great railway rings that touch with their perimeters either ocean, at the Credits Mobilier they organize, the legislation they control, and the legislators they demoralize and snarch with the pitch of dishonest transactions. See what men in the highest places of trust have sold and soiled the characters the public had given them, by hastening to be rich by treachery and fraud. See how the fine gold of political and commercial probity has been dimmed by these transactions, and the suspicions they engender. What the French mean by bourgeoisie, we express by shoddy; and no word in our language has a more uniformly accepted meaning than this of recent coinage. We all know what shoddy means in textile fabrics. But never did it fill such a place or play such a part in a soldier's coat as it does in our paper money, in our paper characters on 'Change, and in the paper moralities which the last few years have witnessed.

It may seem disloyal to our republican institutions to say it, but, when it is said, let the candid reader see if he can disprove it: what this country most needs at the present juncture is the element that has been displaced by the political ostracism of the South. I do not say that we need a Southern aristocracy, but we need one which shall resemble and exercise some of its best characteristics, and such we need imperatively, North and South, East and West. We need a class with as fine an esprit de corps, with as high sense of honor and personal and family dignity as England ever produced or the South claimed to possess. We want such men as the Jeffersons, Madisons, Lowndes, Pinckneys, Calhouns, Clays and Bentons, and other statesmen whom the South has contributed to the structure and glory of the nation, whether they come from one side of Mason and Dixon's line or the other. We want men who shall walk through the lobbies of Congress and "wear the flower of a blameless life," and of a blameless thought, though each hall and every step were beset with the gift-bearing Greeks of corrupting rings seeking to place their gold "where it shall do most good." You may call such a class an aristocracy, or by any opprobrious name, but it is a class we most need in every section of the Union, to stand as a bulwark against the overflow of shoddy, which threatens to throw down the political probity and purity of our national life and character.—Christian Union.

Ancient Syrian Cities.

An article in the July number of the British Quarterly Review, on "Recent Travels and Explorations in Syria," not only reviews the researches of the Palestine Exploration Fund, which have been heretofore noticed quite fully in the journals, but also mentions discoveries which we have not before seen reported in the periodical press.

BALBEC AND PALMYRA.

Captain Burton and Mr. Charles F. T. Drake report, upon a visit which they made to Balbec, the six gigantic columns of whose temple are among the most imposing remains still standing of the architecture of antiquity. "Oriental writers represent Balbec as a place of considerable importance at the period of the first Arab invasion. They describe it as being one of the most splendid cities in Syria, adorned with stately palaces, and abounding in trees, fountains, baths and whatever ministered to luxurious enjoyment." It was sacked in April, 748, by the Calif of Damascus, passed from hand to hand during the crusades, and was pillaged by Tamerlane in 1400. Now not even the cemetery or tumuli in the plain can be found. "Every relic or monument of the pride and wealth of its ancient inhabitants has vanished, save the stately remains of the august temples which still excite our astonishment and admiration."

A better account is given of Palmyra, or Tadmor, which was once one of the grandest cities of Syria—a city in which, according to the Book of Chronicles, Solomon built.

"The difficulties of reaching Tadmor have hitherto proved almost insuperable. An excursion which required either a strong escort of Turkish troops or an arrangement with a Bedouin tribe, costing from four to five hundred pounds, necessarily excluded it from the programme of an ordinary Oriental tour. * * * The most interesting remains of Palmyra are perhaps the sepulchers without the walls of the ancient city, built in the shape of square towers, from three to five stories high, each forming a mortuary chamber, with recesses divided into compartments for the reception of the dead. Remains of mummies and mummy-cloths, resembling those of Egypt, have been found in these chambers, carrying back the history of the city to a very remote period. These tomb-towers seem to promise important discoveries to future explorers. They have been examined only to a very limited extent, and from their great height they are inaccessible with the appliances which Palmyra at present contains. Captain Burton holds out the prospect of an ample harvest of tesserae and other interesting remains calculated to throw great light upon the history of the city, but travelers must come provided with ropes, hooks, ladders from sixty to eighty feet in length, planks to bridge over broken staircases, and crowbars to break through walls. At present the transport of such materials across the desert would be impracticable. A cordon militaire having been established between Damascus and Dayr, on the Euphrates, with Palmyra as a central station, the desert can now be traversed without danger, and at a moderate expense, by any traveler wishing to view the remains of this celebrated city of the wilderness."

A ROYAL HUNTING-LODGE.

The most remarkable discovery mentioned in this article is that of an unfinished building which was intended to be of surpassing magnificence, in the Moabite desert, of which no account is given in any history.

"It is conjectured to belong to the period of the Persian conquest by Chosroes, and consists of a quadrangle of freestone inclosing a palace of brick, the large quadrangle being furnished with semi-circular bastions. The most remarkable feature of this extraordinary building, a marvelous example of Eastern sumptuousness even in its present condition, consists of the elaborate architectural decorations bestowed upon an edifice which must have stood out on the waste in solitary grandeur, for no trace of any town or building whatever could be detected in its neighborhood. The walls of this remarkable building were found perfect from five to twenty feet in height. The state of the external facade proves that it was never finished, as several of the stones have their sculptures incomplete, and others have been raised, but evidently not adjusted, which, with the small quantity of debris discoverable within and around the building, led to the conclusion that the builders had been suddenly interrupted in their work and left it unfinished. This state of incompleteness seems to afford a clew to its history; but with what object could so sumptuous and truly Oriental a palace have been erected in the lonely wilderness? The history of Chosroes, for whose use it is conjectured to have been constructed, supplies a solution of the enigma. In A. D. 611 this great Persian monarch, one of whose chief amusements seems to have been the chase, overran and subdued the whole of Syria, but his retention of the country was but of brief duration. In A. D. 623 the Emperor Heraclius commenced the reconquest of the East, and in the following year gained a decisive victory over the forces of Chosroes, near Nineveh, a calamity resulting in the death of Chosroes, it is said, by the command of his own son. This history, which is detailed in the pages of Gibbon, Dr. Tristram thinks, solves every difficulty relating to the deserted palace. Chosroes held the country in which it was commenced for only fourteen years. The palace, which it is supposed was intended as a hunting-box, was thus suddenly abandoned before it could be completed. This is easily accounted for, if Chosroes was the builder, by the advance of Heraclius, which compelled the Persian monarch hastily to withdraw his troops from Syria, and to precipitately relinquish any works he may have been erecting there either for defense or recreation."

A NEW STORY is going the rounds touching an experience of M. Taine's at Oxford, England, while visiting the colleges there. Max Muller went into the dining-room of a hotel in Oxford, and there saw Taine sitting with a dish of roast beef and vast quantities of buttered toast. The learned German was surprised at the combination and at the huge quantity of the toast. "Is that a French dish?" as asked. "No," said Taine, "but they keep on bringing it to me in spite of all I can say to the contrary." "What do you ask for?" observed his friend. "Why," replied Taine, "I keep telling them to bring pottar tos, and each time they bring me a fresh dish of toast!" Mr. Taine's pronunciation of "potatoes" was so much like "buttered toast" that the astonished waiter could not be blamed.

GOOD MEN are guided by reverence, not by fear, and they avoid not that which is calamitive, but that which is dishonest.

Our Children.

Why are they not converted? The question is asked with anxiety, with sorrow, sometimes with anguish of spirit. And men pray as if God was not willing to do his work, as if the Holy Spirit was not ready, as if Christ had not died for them and entreated them to come to him. We forget one thing—God has done all he can; and if the children of the church are not also the children of God, it is not that God has failed in his promises.

The promises to faithful parents are very sure. If we do not remember them, it would do us good and strengthen our faith to go over them one by one and see what our Lord has said. If there is any failure it has been on our part. We may not have believed.

Many persons are skeptical about early piety and very doubtful whether children can begin right. They have a notion that it may be better to go on the wrong road for a time, and then turn around and go in the right one.

Or one parent may have been faithful and the other not. All a mother's piety may fail to counteract a father's bad influence, or a father may contend in vain against the weak or wicked indulgence of a mother.

Or we may desire merely the salvation of our children, their safety rather than the glory of God. Suppose, by some trustworthy revelation, we could be assured that they should be in the end saved, should we then remit our efforts and rest quietly in that hope, even though by their present course they were casting all their influence on the side of evil? Let us look to it and have great searchings of heart.

The promises of God are very sure and very plain. "Waiting to be gracious," is but one of the many expressions of his readiness to save, if we, by our faith and faithfulness, can make it possible.

The Bible, like life, is full of examples of children ruined by neglect or indulgence. Isaac and Rebekah, Eli, Samuel, David—these are marked instances. And life is full of them in our days, only they are not recorded in any book which we can read here. We shall hear strange things when all is made plain, and then we shall no more wonder over the children of the church.—New York Observer.

A GREAT CEREMONY, called "the burying of the law," lately took place in the Spanish synagogue of Jerusalem. It happens once every eight or ten years, and is accompanied by the following circumstances. There is in the "Talmud Torah" synagogue a subterranean cave, wherein every old leaf torn out from any holy book, every old worn-out Bible, Gemara and phylactery, is deposited by all the Jewish inhabitants of Jerusalem of every Minhag. After eight or ten years, when the cave is full, these old papers and books are brought out and made up into bales. This done, the people begin to assemble at a given time in the afternoon. A cosher, or faultless, Sepher Torah, richly ornamented and jeweled, is brought by the Chacham Bashi, and carried by him, and the other rabbis in turn, at the head of the procession. He is followed by the other rabbis; next come the bales, about seventy or eighty in number, each carried by a Jew, and then the rest of the people. The procession slowly winds its way out of the Zion gate for some distance along the city wall, and then descends into the valley of Jehosaphat, where the burial-ground is situated. Here is a very deep well, wherein the bales are finally thrown, amidst the singing of the joyous crowd.

CAPTAIN HALL'S DEATH.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing on the date of the eleventh, says:

The story of the death of Captain Hall from foul means, this time through Captain Buddington instead of Dr. Bessel, having been again revived, the Evening Star of this city to-day printed editorially a statement not heretofore published, to the effect that Mrs. Hall, widow of the captain, who was recently here, is fully impressed with the belief that her husband was murdered. She has made a strong appeal to the government to send out an expedition to bring the body of her husband home, in order to settle the question whether he was poisoned, whether he was horribly treated by Captain Buddington, or whether he died a natural death. It should be here stated that neither Secretary Robeson nor any other member of the navy investigating commission, who heard all the testimony, believes that Captain Hall died any but a natural death, superinduced by severe exertions, fatigue and lack of care of himself. On their present information they will so report to Congress.

COCOS ISLAND, in latitude five degrees thirty minutes north, in the Pacific ocean, about six hundred miles west of the Columbian coast, has now for some years been occasionally occupied by treasure-seekers on a legend of a treasure buried by buccaneers. At present it is again abandoned, but it is alleged a new expedition is organized. The island is not flat, as stated in many newspapers, but is volcanic, and two thousand feet high. It is covered with timber and scrub, and, being visited by frequent and heavy rains, is always green. The place is riddled with shafts, some one hundred and fifty feet deep. It produces nothing eatable.

TWO MEN disputing about the pronunciation of the word "either"—one saying it was ee-ther, the other i-ther—agreed to refer the matter to the first person they met, who happened to be an Irishman, and who confounded both by declaring: "It's naither, for it's aythor."

WHEN Andover Theological Seminary called Moses Stuart from the pastorate at New Haven the loud cry of the church was: "He cannot be spared." Dr. Porter replied: "A man who can be spared we don't want."

Religious Intelligence.

THE Michigan Constitutional Commission have just adopted an amendment forbidding the Legislature to exempt the property of churches or ecclesiastical bodies from taxation.

THE Basle Missionary Society has in India, China and Africa 98 male and 59 female European laborers, 45 native catechists and evangelists, 101 Christian teachers and helpers, and 3,718 communicants.

THE use of instrumental music is growing in the Scotch Presbyterian churches. The Kirk churches are taking advantage of the vote of the Assembly allowing them to be used. The Free churches, however, as yet abstain from the luxury.

MR. D. L. MOODY and Mr. Sankey, of Chicago, are holding religious meetings in Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England. Mr. Moody does the talking, and Mr. Sankey the singing. Their success is pronounced remarkable by one of our foreign files.

THE Prussian government has openly espoused the Old Catholic movement by endowing the bishopric at large of Dr. Reinkens, and declaring it to be a simple act of justice that the State should assist the Old Catholics with the necessary means of enjoying their ecclesiastical communion.

THE presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church has received from the Archbishop of Canterbury a circular proposing a day of intercession for the mission work of the church, on the third of December, similar to that which the whole Anglican communion adopted last year in behalf of a supply of laborers.

THE number of Young Woman's Christian Associations in the United States is forty-three. The second National Conference was recently held in Philadelphia. The principal subject discussed was as to the best methods of increasing the number of the associations, and furthering their object, which, in the main, is to secure suitable homes for young women in cities.

A WORKING SOCIETY.—The Baptist Home Mission Society has 443 missionaries, preaching in fourteen languages spoken by citizens of the United States. There are seven theological schools for freedmen. There are about 500,000 colored members of the Baptist churches. The church edifice fund aided last year in paying for fifty-three houses of worship. The fund has reached $200,000. There are also missionaries at Monterey and Santa Rosa, in Mexico.

THE Baptists are numerically the leading denomination in Chicago. The membership of the churches is 5,438. The Methodist have 3,643. Their largest church, the Centenary, has 295. The largest Baptist church, the Second, 1,217. There are 3,728 Episcopalians. The Presbyterians and Congregationalists number about the same, so that the Baptists lead the others by about 1,500. There are 212 churches in the city of all kinds, including most everything in existence that can come under this head.

SOMEBODY who knows writes from Yokohama, Japan: "I am most anxious to see some from our own Christian band helping forward this great work, and I am prompted to write because I see the work of educating the females is passing daily into the hands of the Roman Catholics, chiefly because the Protestants are not able to receive them. For instance, young girls and boys are brought to some missionaries, to be given up as boarders. They are not often taken in, because they have not been directed by their societies or boards to give their attention or time to such work."

AT XERES, Spain, the fine Protestant temple which was being erected is now completed, and on each side two school-houses have been built by the United Presbyterian Church of Scotland. The cost of the temple and of the school-houses amounts to about £40,000. At Seville another school has been opened, and a temple, in addition to the one already completed. At San Fernando, near Cadiz, a house has been taken for purposes of religious worship, and for a school, with a view of beginning a mission in that town, which, according to past experiences, is likely to be a success.

THE Catholic World does not compliment in the subjoined paragraph its denomination in their literary methods: "Leaving out school-books and controversial books, one could count on the fingers of one's two hands all the Catholic books within a year after publication which reached a bona fide sale of 1,500 copies. After the first year they circulate at the rate of 250 per year, hardly enough to pay interest on the capital invested. The Catholic laity, as a body, buy no books. Those that would buy are too often without money, and those who have the money are too often without the taste for reading."

AURICULAR confession has gained a footing in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, if report is to be trusted. We learn from the Presbyterian that Bishop Cummins made an address in Philadelphia recently, in which he said that in an Episcopal college of Wisconsin "confession to a priest is made obligatory upon the students. He did not state in what shape the obligation was imposed, or what were the penalties consequent upon a refusal to confess; but he was very emphatic in his statement of the fact, which is simply disgraceful to the men who, under a Protestant name, are doing the work of Romish priests."—Methodist.

ONE WORLD not suppose that the Catholics of Ireland could, under any circumstances, suffer for a supply of priests, but it appears that the attractions in America have had a deleterious effect, both upon their numbers and their morals. An Irish correspondent of the Guardian says: "The clergy of the Irish Church are already reduced from 2,380 to 1,900; that there has been an exodus of clergy, whose places have been filled by promoting curates and deacons; and that these things are lowering the status of the clergy." Let Pius send a few ship loads of Italian monks, of whom he has a large surplus, to supply the demand.

THE Baptist Missionary Union is doing noble missionary work. It has fifteen missions under its care, nine of which are in Asia, five in Europe, and one in Africa. The total membership of its mission churches is about 27,512. Its receipts during the last year, including legacies and the Woman's Societies, were $216,100.70, and its expenditures $238,417.27, leaving a balance against the society of $23,316.57. Adding the debt of the previous year, $18,753.07, it makes its present indebtedness $42,069.64.

AT THE Annual Conference (Methodist Episcopal) held at Olympia, Washington Territory, in September, a large number of converted Indians were present. It was reported that great good had resulted to the Indians of this Territory through the labors of Father Wilbur, the pioneer Methodist on the Pacific coast. Of the Yukima tribe 450 have been converted, many of whom cultivate farms and work at trades, like their white neighbors. Two from this tribe are members of the Conference and five are exhorters. Rev. W. C. Chattin (Methodist Episcopal) is laboring successfully among the Siletzs, of whom the chief and many leading men, in all amounting to forty-two individuals, have been converted in the course of three months.

THE missionary work of the American Board in Austria, begun nearly a year ago in Bohemia, by Messrs. Schauffler, Adams and Clark, at Prague, and about to begin in German Austria under the labors of Mr. Bissell, is regarded with hope not unmingled with solicitude. The work is new, and it is felt to be delicate and difficult. Our men must work side by side with existing Protestant churches, orthodox in doctrine, it may be, but generally destitute of religious life. They cannot ally themselves with these dead churches, but they can co-operate with the living members of them, and they can preach the gospel in its simplicity to the Catholics. This is what they propose to do, and in doing it they receive the cordial welcome of the few Protestant pastors who know the power of a spiritual religion.

THE Fiji Wesleyan Training Institution at Navuloa took possession of its new premises last March, and celebrated the occasion by a grand festival, at which King Cakobau presided, and about 4,000 chiefs and people from all parts of the group were present. Rev. J. Carey, principal of the institution, read the sixteenth annual report, which stated: "When the institution was established there were 54,000 nominal Christians in the island. To-day there are 109,000. There were also at that date 20,000 scholars in the village schools, learning to read their own language, then but recently reduced to writing. To-day there are over 50,000. The institution roll for the year contains the names of fifty-five young men, who have been brought together from all parts of the group." Mr. Carey writes that he has conversed with a large number of natives who have long been on trial for membership, and he has baptized 100 of them.

THE JAPAN MISSION.—The news of the advance of the church of Christ in Japan, says the Christian Intelligencer, is always grateful, and it is a pleasure to present the following extract from a letter written by Rev. Henry Stout, at Nagasaki, on September 12: "I wrote to you some time since about the interest shown by a few of my pupils in the truth. Last Sabbath it was my privilege to baptize three men: Segawa Asashi, Kumabe Masaki and Yamada Yozo (the latter is the Christian name.) After the baptism we celebrated the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. There were at the table eleven foreigners and the three natives. The baptism was in Japanese, the other exercises in English. There were not so many natives present as we usually have on Sunday, as the time was that of unusual festivities in the city. The occasion was one of deep interest, as witnessing the gathering of the first fruits of labor, and the first public baptism in this place. We have been anxious about the result of the observance of the sacraments of the church, but there is as yet no evidence that notice is taken of it. Rev. and Mrs. Davison, of the A. M. Methodist Church, are at present stopping with us, expecting to locate here. They are about to purchase property which will serve for a considerable expansion of operations. Mr. Iwakura and party were in port last Sunday on the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer Golden Age, on their way home. In due time we may expect to see some of the results of their mission abroad."

SHESHADRI IN BROOKLYN.—Rev. Narayan Sheshadri made his final addresses in Brooklyn last Sunday. He addressed immense crowds at Dr. Schenck's (St. Ann's Episcopal church,) and in the evening at Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's. At St. Ann's church the audience was of all denominations, Sunday school children and teachers. Mr. Sheshadri described the idol worship in which, as a Brahmin, he was educated, then the work in which he is now engaged—building up a village, with church, school-houses and Christian homes, upon the land which has been given him for that purpose. "We are 240,000,000 of people with only 500 missionaries; no more than you have in New York, Brooklyn or Philadelphia. We shall try to send out Christian masons, carpenters, bricklayers, smiths, who will go into all parts of the country and carry the religion of the Lord Jesus wherever they go. We hope to build a church, to have an organ for it, and especially a bell and belfry, that with a church bell we may summon the people from far and near to our service. I have been going through this country to get an idea of your manners, ways and customs, that I may carry them to my people when I return." A collection was taken up in both churches for Mr. Sheshadri's work. It is to be hoped our Brahmin brother will not carry away the custom of some of our large assemblies, of disturbing the concluding parts of church service with a rush for the door, and perfect indifference to the closing hymn and benediction.—New York Observer.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1873.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.
Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.
AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. A. J. BRIGGS.
REV. J. W. RUSH.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. WILLIAM V. TUDOR, D. D.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

REDUCTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers hereafter at the following rates:

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year | $2 00 |
| Six Months | 1 25 |
| Three Months | 75 |

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

to all Ministers of the Gospel, traveling or local, and widows of deceased traveling preachers.

FREE ONE YEAR

to any person forwarding to us four new yearly subscribers, with EIGHT DOLLARS.

As the Mouth of God.

The prophet was to stand in this relation to the people by the exercise of one especial function. "And if thou take forth the precious from the vile, thou shalt be as my mouth." No endowments of learning, no graces of eloquence, no eminent gifts of any sort could establish this most exalted claim. A ministry that is not distinguished for its clear exposure of sin, and for faithful dealing with all grades and complexions of unrighteousness, does not possess the most unequivocal mark of the prophetic office. It is a high honor and a perilous responsibility to be as the mouth of God, to be mouthpiece of the divine law-giver, and the commissioned agent of the Lord Jesus Christ. But this is the character of the preacher's office. It is in God's stead, and in Christ's stead, that he expounds and applies the doctrine, and beseeches men to be reconciled to Jehovah. He reaches the height of his calling and meets the tremendous demand when these two exhaustive classes are made to stand out in full contrast, and when the difference between the good and the bad is placed beyond the possibility of mistake.

Depravity and holiness, the carnal and the spiritual mind, the natural man and the man in Christ Jesus, the old man and the new creature, are never left in uncertainty and confusion by the mouth of God. Neither is it a mere abstract definition of terms and arguing about speculative doctrines, but it is rather a dealing, most honestly and plainly, with men—their actual thoughts and the things they are doing. It is the precious and the vile person, the believing and contrite soul, and the ungodly transgressor, who are brought into the penetrating light to be approved or condemned. God is no respecter of persons, and his judgment is never warped by outward conditions. A thief is a thief though as rich as a nabob, and a saint is a saint though he may be as poor and as afflicted as Lazarus. This process of taking forth the precious from the vile belongs to all genuine prophetical teaching. The man whose preaching does not do it is no true preacher of Jesus Christ. He is not as God's mouth, though his words may be ever so golden, and his style calculated to excite the admiration and applause of men. To allow drunkards and defaulters, the selfish and avaricious, and idlers in the gospel field to sit under our ministry, without being awakened from the delusion that they are the elect, and that they are not going to hell, stamps such a ministry at once as spurious.

One of the gravest charges which God brings against the priests of the old dispensation is that "they have put no difference between the holy and profane, neither have they showed difference between the unclean and the clean." Paul emphasizes the faithfulness of his ministry in his interview with the elders of Ephesus: "I kept back nothing that was profitable unto you;" "I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel of God." Sin, as it existed in the world, or as it might sometimes manifest itself in the church, was called by name and its perpetrators were exposed. The precious and the vile were not permitted to herd together, and to mingle in the same companies, and to wear the garb of a common religious profession, with no note of warning from him whose business it was to make the difference both startling and unmistakable. The church relation is a separation from the world, and one of its uses and benefits is to bring forth the penitent and converted from the mass of unbelievers. The process indicated, whereby the prophet becomes as God's mouth, is not to bring the vile in among the precious, nor to mix these diverse elements into a compound or amalgam of moral confusion and adulteration, but it is to separate the precious from the vile. The line between the good and the bad is to be made broad and plain, and there is to be no commingling of the principles of right and wrong.

The prophetic office is perhaps chiefly considered in its teaching functions, but there is an intimate connection between teaching and discipline. The burden of responsibility lies heavily upon the Christian ministry in both respects. The claim to be as God's mouth rests on the fidelity to this trust in both of its aspects so far as the pastoral relation is concerned. Doctrine and discipline are near neighbors, and in dealing with the church they cannot be divorced without evident damage. Wisdom, prudence, considerateness and courage are needed to speak boldly, as we ought to speak, and to administer rebuke and exclusion on occasion. In his duty to the world, and in his relations to the church, the preacher is to make proof of this peculiar and honorable title—to be as the mouth of God. He must be indeed a man of clean lips, a man who seeks above all to please his Lord, and whose love for souls is without a taint or flaw of self-seeking or of moral cowardice. To take forth the precious from the vile is the mark of prophetical and ministerial fidelity, and the unequivocal sign of our Christian apostleship. The gospel preached should be as a refiner's fire, and the word expounded should be "sharper than any two-edged sword."

Religious Proxies.

It is a very comfortable thing to have our religion done to order, or to be able to go into the market and buy just what we want in things needful to make our future happiness assured. A large portion of the Christian world does this by leaving all matters of conscience and reconciliation with God to the priesthood, and by trusting to human mediators for peace and acceptance with their Maker. It is the priest's business to understand these subjects, and he is paid to guide, to marry, to shrive, and to provide for the consecrated burial and the repose of the soul after death. Some mechanical performances may be required of the faithful laic, certain prayers to be said, confessions to be made, and moneys to be paid, but he is to have no soul-struggles and no agony of spirit. For penances done, and for attention to prescribed forms and ordinances, there is to be a full guarantee against any claims of divine justice, and against any miscarriage in the soul's eternal salvation.

In some respects such a course is easier to human depravity and more in accord with the corrupt heart than a personal experience of true repentance, and a direct and earnest effort after personal holiness. But with many who profess better doctrines, and who believe in direct approach to God through the one only Mediator, there is much of this religion of proxies. They are spectators rather than worshipers, and their faith and creed are left, without much thought or independent examination of the Scriptures, to those whom they pay to entertain and instruct them. And in the matters of prayer and praise, these are performed as by contract by others, while they are entirely exempt from any part of the service. The worship in churches would often seem to be organized with special reference to the relief of the congregation, so that there shall be nothing for them to do but to witness and enjoy the high praises of God.

In religious work the tendency to have it done, rather than to do it, is alarmingly prevalent among professed Christians. In foreign missions, and in many enterprises of the church, the most must work through representatives. Their money must be intrusted to others to be disbursed for evangelical and benevolent purposes, and their prayers must go forth for persons and objects with which they can have no personal contact. Instead of going, the majority of Christians are compelled to send when they come to the discharge of their duty to the heathen. But there are openings at their doors for doing good, and opportunities for charitable activity, which are sadly neglected. There is need of more personal effort in the fields about us, and for a clearer realization of our individual responsibilities with reference to a spontaneous and even independent devotion to humble every-day forms of usefulness. Great are the advantages of organizations and societies for the promotion of special objects of charity and religion.—Through these it is well to contribute our money, time and influence. But no Christian should be tied exclusively to these modes of operation. Every man should be a missionary society in himself, an independent charitable institution, a committee of one, self-appointed, or, more truly, appointed and ordained of God, to battle with sin and to relieve the wretchedness that meets him on every hand.

The disposition to deal with all religious objects at arm's length, to wait for subscription papers and societies, and to do nothing of our own motion and with our own hands, is an evil of no small magnitude. No man can pay for the preaching which he is able to do himself, nor can he acquit his soul of guilt who subscribes liberally for the sick and destitute, but never seeks to minister personally to the suffering and afflicted. There is a blessing in this direct work, and a means of grace which cannot be compensated by any other form of devotion. Our relations to God are most direct and personal, our piety is not a mechanical or perfunctory round of formal observances, but a conscious spiritual experience; and our religious work, besides what we may do through others, is largely the immediate, diligent and daily endeavor to do something for God and for humanity, without the confederacy or intervention of social organizations. The religion of proxies, however good in its place, must not be permitted to crush out or supersede the gifts of personal effort and opportunity.

Withdrawn.

Bishop Cummins, assistant Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Kentucky has, as we have previously announced, withdrawn from that communion. The Bishop, we understand, was formerly a good Methodist preacher, and we are glad to see that he has not altogether forgotten his early principles and convictions. His reasons for leaving the Protestant Episcopal Church are given in the following communication:

NEW YORK, Nov. 10, 1873.

To the Right Reverend Benjamin Bosworth Smith, D. D., Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the diocese of Kentucky:

RIGHT REVEREND AND DEAR BISHOP—Under a solemn sense of duty, and in the fear of God, I have to tell you that I am about to retire from the work in which I have been engaged for the last seven years in the diocese of Kentucky, and thus to sever the relations which have existed so happily and harmoniously between us during that time.

It is due to you, and to my many dear friends in the diocese of Kentucky and elsewhere, that I should state clearly the causes which have led to this determination.

First, then, you well know how heavy has been the trial of having to exercise my office in certain churches in the diocese of Kentucky, where the services are conducted so as to symbolize and to teach the people doctrines subversive of the "truth as it is in Jesus," and as it was maintained and defended by the reformers of the sixteenth century.

On each occasion that I have been called upon to officiate in these churches I have been most painfully impressed by the conviction that I was sanctioning and indorsing, by my presence and official acts, the dangerous errors symbolized by the services customary in ritualistic churches.

I can no longer, by my participation in such services, be "a partaker in other men's sins," and must clear my own soul of all complicity in such errors.

Second. I have lost all hope that the system of error now prevailing so extensively in the Church of England, and in the Protestant Episcopal Church in this country, can be or will be eradicated by any action of the church legislature or executive. The only true remedy, in my judgment, is the judicious yet thorough revision of the prayer-book, eliminating from it all that gives countenance, directly or indirectly, to the whole system of sacerdotalism and ritualism; a revision after the model of that recommended by the commission appointed in England, under royal authority, in 1689, and whose work was indorsed by the great names of Burnet, Patrick, Tillotson and Stillingfleet, and others of the Church of England—a blessed work, which failed, alas! to receive the approval of convocation, but was taken up afterward by the fathers of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, and embodied in the prayer-book of 1785, which they set forth and recommended for use in this country.

I propose to return to that prayer-book sanctioned by William White, and to tread in the steps of that saintly man as he acted from 1785 to 1789.

Third. One other reason for my present action remains to be given. On the last day of the conference of the Evangelical Alliance I participated in the celebration of the Lord's Supper, by invitation, in the Rev. Dr. John Hall's church, in the city of New York, and united with Dr. Hall, Dr. William Arnot, of Edinburg, and Prof. Dorner, of Berlin, in that precious feast. It was a practical manifestation of the real unity of "the blessed company of all faithful people," whom God "had knit together in one communion and fellowship, in the mystical body of his son Jesus Christ."

The results of that participation have been such as to prove to my mind that such a step cannot now be taken by one occupying the position I now hold without sadly disturbing the peace and harmony of this church, and without impairing my influence for good over a large portion of the same church, very many of whom are within our own diocese.

As I cannot surrender the right and privilege thus to meet my fellow-Christians of other churches around the table of our dear Lord, I must take my place where I can do so without alienating those of my own household of faith.

I therefore leave the communion in which I have labored in the sacred ministry for over twenty-eight years, and transfer my work and office to another sphere of labor. I have an earnest hope and confidence that a basis for the union of all evangelical Christendom can be found in a communion which shall retain or restore a primitive episcopacy, or a pure scriptural liturgy, with a fidelity to the doctrine of justification of faith only—Articulus stantis vel cadentis Ecclesiæ—a position toward which the Old Catholics in Europe are rapidly tending, and which has already taken a definite form in the "Church of Jesus" in Mexico.

To this blessed work I devote the remaining years of life, content, if I can only see the dawn of that blessed day of the Lord.

I am, dear Bishop, faithfully yours in Christ,

GEORGE DAVID CUMMINS.

My address, for the present, will be No. 2 Bible House, New York.

Sound Law.

The Methodist, referring to the property question and a recent decision in Virginia, says:

The principles which underlie the Methodist Church property question have received a fresh illustration from a decision by a court of Virginia. One of our Baltimore Conference churches at Hamilton was taken from us by the vote of the majority of the congregation, and transferred to the jurisdiction of the Methodist Church South. This was done by authority of an act of the Virginia Legislature. The court, sitting at Leesburg, has decided that the property must be held in accordance with the terms of the original deed of conveyance, which vests the title in our own church. This is sound law and good common sense. It is applicable throughout the entire South, no matter whether the application be for or against us. We shall never cease to regret that the late General Conference did not appoint a commission to meet with a similar commission of the Southern Methodist Church for the adjustment of all questions of property.

Is the Methodist prepared to stand by this principle of law and common sense in its application to the property in New Orleans which was turned over to the Northern Church by a military order? There are three churches in this city held before the war by trustees for the Methodist Episcopal Church South, but now in possession of the Northern Church, with no other title than that which the military power could give. It is true that the churches, with one exception, were built for the use of the colored people, and that the members nearly all joined the Northern Church under the war pressure and other influences. But this makes no difference. Sound law and common sense require that this property should be restored to the Southern Church. So says the Methodist, and so we have always held. We shall expect the Methodist to stand by us and help us to get our property back. What is law and common sense in Virginia ought to be the same in Louisiana, and all honest men should be ready to abide by the consequences.

THE Raleigh Christian Advocate of November 19 comes out in an entirely new dress. The type is clear and beautiful, the paper white and of good quality. An excellent paper it is, well edited and doing a noble work for Christ and the church. We congratulate our confrere on this evidence of deserved prosperity.—Among other pertinent things the editor says:

It may be thought by some that it is unwise to incur the expense of refurnishing just at this time, when the financial skies are so dark and strict economy should be our guide through the gloom. We conclude that it is better to economize in other things, and do everything in our power to furnish an attractive paper—to encompass, by all means, the one object of pleasing, instructing and furnishing to our readers a pure and wholesome religious literature. We trust that our agents, our subscribers and our people will take a similar view and follow a like policy. Do not refuse to subscribe or renew your subscription to your church paper because of the stringency in money matters. Economize in something else. Reduce your personal and your family expenses—stop the little leaks—buy fewer sweetmeats, take $1.50 from the tobacco and cigar allowance of yourself and sons, and ask your wife and daughter to contribute fifty cents of what they would otherwise put in trimmings and ornaments of dress, and you would then have enough, with these little sacrifices, to pay for a paper that will come to you every week for a year, bringing to your fireside the news of the world and moral elevation to your family.

A CORRESPONDENT informs us, says the Nashville Christian Advocate, that there has been a gracious revival in Tuskaloosa, and many young persons have professed faith in Christ and joined the church. The labors of Dr. Hamliton, and those who have assisted him, have been greatly blessed. The doctor, of course, is held in high esteem by the church in that place.

Southern University.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the Southern University is called to meet at Selma, Alabama, on Saturday, the sixth of December, 1873, during the session of the Annual Conference of the Alabama Conference. The presence of all the trustees is earnestly requested.

WILLIAM M. BYRD,
President Board of Trustees.

SELMA, ALA., November 24, 1873.

The above notice reached us after our paper of last week had gone to press. It is very important for the trustees of the university to be present. It is always a hopeful and encouraging sign when there is a full board at the appointed meetings. We are glad to learn, through Bro. Byrd, that the Southern University is doing remarkably well for the times. We hope that many who have kept their boys at home on account of the hard times will still be able to send them forward. Every day at school is of priceless value, and those who have been hindered from entering at the opening of the session should by all means start even at this late period. The greater part of the scholastic year still remains to be improved. The University at Greensboro affords the best and cheapest facilities for a thorough education, and the social and religious advantages are of the most desirable character.

BISHOP KEENER, says the Richmond Christian Advocate of November 27, arrived in this city on Saturday, and filled the pulpit at Broad Street on Sunday morning, and that of Centenary at night. He visited Ashland to-day (Monday) to look in upon the college, and while he saw it under a dense cloud ('twas raining in good earnest,) we think he found all moving on well, and was pleased with the outlook. The Bishop was evidently born with his eyes open, and has kept them so ever since. He is eminently a seeing Bishop, as well as a doing one. He has entered the vineyard to work. He is full of Mexico and our mission work, and feels that the entire Southern Church is laggard in its duty and grand opportunities in this direction. He leaves for Norfolk in the morning to preside over the Virginia Conference that convenes there on the twenty-sixth of this month. We hope to hear from him upon this important subject during Conference, and trust he may be able to stir the heart of the church to more active efforts in this direction.

Bishop Doggett has just returned from California, and he is filled with the grandeur of that great country and its people, and at the prospects of the church on that side of the continent. After resting a few days, we understand he is to be in Norfolk, and will likely preach before the Virginia Conference a sermon in memory of the late Bishop Early. The workmen die, but God carries on his work. The places of our departed Bishops are well filled by those who now stand in their lot in the Southern Methodist Church.

Fare to Mississippi Conference.

MR. EDITOR: Please publish, for the benefit of the members of the Mississippi Conference, to convene at Brandon, December 10, that the New Orleans and Jackson railroad will sell them tickets to go and return at one fare for the round trip. When they buy tickets let them get agents to write on the back: "Good to return."

I have written to the officers of the Vicksburg and Meridian railroad, but have received no answer. I have no doubt, however, that that road will convey members at half price, as usual.

C. G. ANDREWS.

JACKSON, LA., Nov. 27, 1873.

[It will be seen from this notice that the time of the tickets has been extended indefinitely beyond the sixteenth of December.—EDITOR.]

THE following paragraph, from the Pacific Methodist of November 21, informs us that Bro. White and family had reached San Francisco in safety.

Rev. T. B. White, with his family, arrived in this city on Saturday night last, after a delightful trip. They are compelled to be with us a week, waiting for the departure of the Oregon steamer, rather than undergo the hardship of the stage-ride involved in the overland trip. We are glad that it so happens, as Bro. White will have a little time to get a good impression of the great metropolis before he gets to his work in Oregon. He comes imbued with the most hopeful and ardent spirit, and we bespeak for him the warmest welcome by his brethren in Oregon.

REVIVAL AT ST. JAMES CHURCH, GALVESTON.—Rev. R. T. Nabors, pastor, says the Galveston Christian Advocate of November 16, commenced a series of meetings at St. James church one week ago. A good feeling was manifested at the very outset, and increased with every service. Up to this time ten have professed conversion and the members greatly revived. There were fifteen accessions to the church on last Sunday—eleven by ritual and four by letter. The meeting is still progressing. The pastor is assisted in the pulpit by Rev. Mr. Norris and Dr. J. B. Walker.

THANKSGIVING SERMON.—It was our privilege to worship at the Felicity Street church on Thursday morning last. The sermon by Bro. Mathews was appropriate and edifying, and a rich treat to those who heard. We are glad to give it a larger hearing through the columns of the ADVOCATE this week. It will be found on the first page.

Conference Items.

EAST TEXAS CONFERENCE.

APPOINTMENTS.—Marshall Dist.—Daniel Morse, P. E. Marshall station, J. R. Peoples, transferred from Memphis Conference; T. W. Rogers, supernumerary; Harrison circuit, L. C. Crouse; Scottsville and Jonesville station, E. P. Rogers; Elysian Fields circuit, J. R. Middleton; Henderson and Bellview circuit, John S. Mathis; Starrville circuit, David M. Stovall; Knoxville circuit, Allen M. Box, S. K. Stovall, supernumerary.

Palestine District.—John Adams, P. E. Palestine station, S. W. Turner; Kickapoo circuit, W. H. Ardis and W. A. Moore; Larissa circuit, E. F. Boone; Rusk circuit, Samuel Weaver; Rusk and Hawk's chapel station, H. M. Booth; Tyler station, R. S. Finley; Tyler circuit, William N. Bonner; Athens circuit, John W. Johnson, to be transferred from Little Rock Conference.

San Augustine District.—J. R. Bellamy, P. E. San Augustine and New Hope station, Lacy Boone; San Augustine circuit, B. A. Thomasson; Carthage circuit, J. C. A. Bridges; Mount Enterprise circuit, Daniel S. Watkins; New Concord circuit, Jas. M. Mills; Shelby circuit, Marion Donnegan; Linn Flat circuit, A. D. Parks; I. W. Overall, supernumerary; Melrose circuit, William H. Willey; Milam mission, Richard Menefee; Buena Vista mission, James M. Bridges; John W. Mills, Sunday school agent.

Crockett District and Trinity Station.—D. P. Cullin, P. E. Crockett and Pennington, J. C. Woolam; Crockett circuit, George W. Berry; Palestine circuit, Joseph M. Blanton, J. W. Broxen, supernumerary; Neches circuit, Edward T. Brazier; Sumpter mission, supplied by T. T. Thornton; Moscow circuit, E. W. White; Homer circuit, Milton H. Jones.

Beaumont District.—F. M. Stovall, P. E. Beaumont and Orange station, supplied by William McK. Gillum; Village Creek circuit, to be supplied; Woodville and Mount Hope mission, J. M. Bond; Jasper circuit, James R. Wages, E. L. Armstrong, supernumerary; Liberty and Wallisville mission, M. T. Leach; Newton circuit, Ramsey C. Armstrong.

Superannuated.—John B. Tullis and Neil Brown.

Joint Board of Finance.—E. L. Armstrong, chairman; F. Holliman, E. P. Rogers, Thomas Smith, J. C. Woolam, D. H. Connelly, J. W. Mills, L. V. Greer, H. M. Booth, H. L. Steagall.

Fourth Year Course of Study.—J. R. Bellamy (in place of N. W. Burks) and H. M. Booth.

Transferred.—W. H. Moss (appointed to Sylvan circuit,) and Samuel Morris, to Trinity Conference; J. K. Street and W. C. Collins, to Northwest Texas Conference.

Visiting Committee to Soule University.—F. M. Stovall, D. Morse, R. S. Finley.

Delegates to the General Conference.—Clerical: Daniel Morse, John Adams. Reserves: J. R. Bellamy, F. M. Stovall. Lay: John H. Reagan, L. V. Greer. Reserves: William M. Shumate, E. J. Hoskins.

LOS ANGELES CONFERENCE.

This Conference held its late session at San Bernardino, commencing October 23, Bishop Doggett presiding, A. Adams acting as secretary.

The following are the appointments for the next Conference year:

Los Angeles District.—W. Moores, P. E. Los Angeles station, A. M. Campbell; Los Angeles circuit, S. M. Adams; New River circuit, P. O. Clayton; Los Nietos station, A. Adams, agent for Los Nietos Institute; El Monte circuit, D. M. Rice; Santa Ana circuit, J. E. Mille; San Bernardino station, G. E. Butler; San Bernardino circuit, M. W. Glover; San Diego station, to be supplied; Julian circuit, John W. Allen; Wilmington station, W. A. Spurlock, agent for Wilmington Institute.

Santa Barbara District.—John W. Leach, P. E. Santa Barbara station, to be supplied; Carpenteria circuit, R. A. Latimer; San Buenaventura circuit, to be supplied; Santa Clara circuit, Thomas Brown; Santa Maria circuit, to be supplied by W. F. Haisel; San Luis Obispo circuit, I. G. Parks; Tehichipa circuit, C. W. Harris; Havilah circuit, to be supplied; Owens River circuit, Franklin McKean; Jesse D. Franklin, Sunday school agent.

Arizona District.—Alex. Groves, P. E. Salt River circuit, to be supplied by A. B. Gill; Prescott circuit, to be supplied.—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

EVANGELIZATION IN MEXICO.—Rev. William Butler, says the Northern Methodist, gives the following statistics of the Methodist mission now regularly established in Mexico: "Three Sunday schools, with eight officers and teachers, and forty-seven scholars, a small increase, with ten scholars in our day-school; two English congregations in Mexico and Pachuca, with a regular attendance of one hundred and five persons; seven Mexican congregations, with an average attendance as follows: In Mexico—San Fernando, twelve; San Felipa, eighteen; at the Mission House, forty. In Pachuca, seventy. Real del Monte, nineteen; Orizaba, twenty; Miralloras, forty. Total attendants, two hundred and nineteen souls, an increase of nearly forty per cent. in the quarter. Two class meetings have a weekly attendance of thirty-nine Mexicans and English." Dr. Butler adds the following appeal: "Our cause in Mexico is crying out on all sides for more men. We need them now in Jalapa, Puebla, Vera Cruz and Cordova, merely to consolidate the work we have in hand; ere we can move northward to connect our Methodism with that on the Texan border, and thus link it more completely to the heart of the home church."

HOWEVER strong a man's resolution may be, it costs him something to carry it out, now and then. We may determine not to gather any cherries, and keep our hands sturdily in our pockets, but we can't prevent our mouths from watering.—George Eliot.

Books and Periodicals.

THE STRUCTURE OF THE OLD TESTAMENT. A series of popular essays. By the Rev. Stanley Leathes, M. A. Philadelphia: Smith, English & Co., 1873.

The author treats in a very able and instructive manner of the characteristics of the Old Testament, the historic element, the prophetic element, the poetic element, the legal element. There is also appended a chronological table of important events. A beautiful 12mo of 198 pages. Price, $1.25. For sale by Gresham, New Orleans.

GOOD WORDS for November contains: A Condemned Institution; Some Fables for the Young and Old; The Earlier Years of Prince Bismarck; Prayer and Natural Law, and other articles of great excellence.

THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST for November is a capital number, splendidly illustrated, and filled with useful and entertaining articles.

THE GALAXY for December contains an unusual number of entertaining articles, among which we note: Life on the Plains; Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward; What Became of Louis the Seventeenth?

WE HAVE RECEIVED No. 2, Vol. 1 of Commentary on the New Testment, designed for Christian workers, by Rev. Lyman Abbott. This number embraces the Gospel of Matthew, from chapter seven to thirteen.

BISHOP CUMMINS has issued a circular letter to the Episcopal clergymen and laymen, to the effect that on Tuesday, the second of December, a meeting will be held at Association Hall, in the city of New York, for the purpose of organizing an Episcopal Church on the basis of the prayer-book of 1785, and states most particularly that the meeting is to organize and not to discuss the expediency of organizing such a church.

MARRIED.

BARR—ALLEN.—By Rev. H. P. Lewis, October 30, 1873, Mr. R. W. Barr to Miss Catherine O. Allen, both of Pike county, Mississippi.

MAGEE—HALL.—By the same, November 5, 1873, Mr. Nelson Magee to Miss Uscha J. Hall, all of Pike county, Mississippi.

OQUIN—HALL.—By the same, November 5, 1873, Mr. William J. Oquin to Miss Mary E. Hall, all of Pike county, Mississippi.

HATHORN—STATEHAM.—By the same, November 20, 1873, Mr. N. L. Hathorn to Miss N. E. Statehom, all of Pike county, Mississippi.

CATO—AIKMAN.—November 12, 1873, at the residence of Thomas H. Hallonian, by Rev. Ira R. Robertson, Mr. John W. Cato, of Warren county, to Miss E. H. Aikman, of Yazoo county, Mississippi.

BANKSTON—FERRELL.—November 13, 1873, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. Ira B. Robertson, Mr. H. R. Bankston, of Louisiana, to Miss Alice Ferrell, of Warren county, Mississippi.

SPINKS—COLEMAN.—November 27, 1873, at the Methodist church, Whistler, Alabama, by Rev. Silas H. Cox, Mr. Leonidas Spinks to Miss Mary M. Coleman, daughter of A. J. Coleman, preacher in charge of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in Whistler.

HARVEY—LYONS.—In the Methodist church at Canton, Mississippi, by Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, at twelve M., November 20, 1873, Mr. George Harvey and Miss Rebecca Lyons.

SHEPHERD—RIFE.—At the residence of the bride's mother, in Adams county, Mississippi, November 26, 1873, by Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, Mr. William L. Shepherd and Miss Frances A. Rife.

Publisher's Department.

Acknowledgments of Letters and Funds

RECEIVED BY MAIL,

For the Week Ending Nov. 29, 1873.

A—Edwin Alden two letters, American Tract Society, A. F. Andre, American News Company, C. G. Andrews, A. & T. H. Anthony & Co., R. Abbey, J. W. Adkisson.

B—J. Ball & Co., J. H. Butler & Co., A. G. Brown $42, Boorum & Pease two letters, B. J. Baldwin, Brown, Goodman & Robertson, J. E. Bradley, W. M. Byrd, B. R. Baxter $1, J. M. Boland.

C—Robert Carter & Bros., J. J. Clark, Baxter Clegg, W. G. E. Cunnyngham, Continental Bible and Publishing Company, C. A. Clegg $3.38, Cassell & Baughn, S. R. Chisni.

D—C. H. Ditson & Co., Louis Dreka, William Dale, H. B. Downer.

E—D. & J. D. Edwards.

F—J. W. Foster, W. M. Francis, Ford & Spearirs, J. P. Foster, S. C. Forsythe & Co., E. N. Freshman two letters.

G—Gould & Lincoln, J. Gorton, Green & Cater, J. A. Glenn 10 cents, R. H. Griffin, John Gibson.

H—M. M. Hawkins, F. A. Hotchinson & Co., S. L. Hill, M. R. Hollister $6, J. Q. Hicks $1, J. H. Hicks, J. H. Holland, J. J. Harper $2.50.

I—Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co.

J—J. Winslow Jones $11.66, P. A. Johnstone, A. H. James.

K—Donald Kennedy $105.

L—Lee, Shepard & Dillingham, B. & P. Lawrence.

M—I. Miller, C. Miller two letters $30, S. H. McMaster, C. McDonald, A. McPhatton, L. P. Meador, John G. Mitchell $10.35, E. P. Miller $20, J. M. Mason, H. H. Montgomery.

N—C. D. Nicholson.

O—James Ormond, Edgar Orgalu.

P—L. Poole & Co., L. A. Pou $2, S. I. Prime & Co., John Potts & Co.

R—G. W. Ringgold, A. H. Redford, George P. Rowell & Co., A. D. F. Randolph, J. K. Randall two letters.

S—Sheffield & Stone, E. R. Strickland $20, J. W. Sandell, W. W. Sharpe & Co. two letters, Sargent, Studley & Co., J. F. Scurlock, Stowe & Wilmerding $30.

U—University Publishing Company.

W—M. C. Waters, W. Wood & Co. two letters, C. C. Watkins.

ORGAN BUILDER.—Mr. Mills, whose advertisement appears in our columns, is represented to us as a thorough and competent workman. We are informed that he has put up one of the largest organs in the city. Information can be obtained by those interested by consulting the trustees of St. Patrick's, St. Paul's and Dr. Palmer's church, or Mr. H. Erben, of this city.

INSURANCE.—An abstract of the seventh annual statement of the Factors' and Traders' Insurance Company appears in our advertising columns. Its officers and trustees are of our very best citizens, responsible, prudent, reliable.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. John G. Angell, whose card appears in our advertising columns, is not only a thoroughly educated and accomplished dental surgeon, but a refined gentleman, and worthy of respect and patronage.

COUGHS AND COLDS.—Elsewhere will be found the advertisement of Dr. Pope, corner of Prytania and Jackson streets, of his remedy for coughs and colds. This remedy can also be had at Ball & Lyons', Camp street.

RAGS, OLD PAPER, ETC.—In the advertisement of the Louisiana paper mills, elsewhere, it will be seen that they offer the highest prices for rags, old paper, rope, etc.

G. T. SHILLING, at No. 381 Dryades street, keeps a full and elegant assortment of human hair goods and fancy articles.

W. F. CLARK, No. 134 Rampart street, manufacturer of carriages and buggies. This establishment is one of the oldest in the city, and Mr. Clark will be found to be a reliable manufacturer. He obtained the first premium at the last Louisiana State Fair for the best victoria and caleche. He has recently completed a magnificent carriage, gilt-mounted, trimmed with rich crimson satin and gold bullion fringe, as handsome a piece of workmanship as can be seen in the city. It was made for Mr. Pierre Hoyer, at the cost of $1,700

MUTTON, BEEF AND VEAL.—The meat store of J. Stafford, corner of St. Peter and Old Levee streets, is becoming one of the most extensive markets in the city. Hotels, steamboats, ships, and families in the country, who wish to purchase in quantities for consumption or shipment, or to make arrangements to have meat sent regularly by river or rail, and want the best article, are referred to the large meat depot of Mr. Stafford. See advertisement in our columns.

CARPET WAREHOUSE.—The well-known firm of A. Brousseau & Co., No. 17 Chartres street, has on hand a splendid assortment of carpets, and everything in the line of their business. Their house would rank among the first-class houses of any city, and they have a good reputation for being honorable and trustworthy dealers. We call attention to their advertisement elsewhere, and advise those who are fond of seeing elegant goods to call on them.

UNDERTAKER.—One of the oldest and most experienced undertakers in our city is Mr. T. W. Bothick, No. 271 Camp street. We have often observed the fact that Mr. Bothick usually attends in person to funerals, to see that all things are done decently and in order. He has a large variety of coffins and materials for funeral purposes, as well as carriages and buggies for other occasions.

DAMAGED GOODS AT HALF THEIR COST.—Mr. M. Cogan, 19 and 29 Canal street, offers his stock, which was slightly damaged by water at the late fire on Canal street, at fifty per cent. below cost. Persons interested in procuring the articles enumerated in the list given in his advertisement will do well to call.

PIANO AND ORGAN DEPOT.—Our enterprising neighbor, L. Grunewald, Esq., at Nos. 18, 20 and 22 Baronne street, advertises, in our issue of this instant, his large and varied assortment of musical instruments. The establishment of Mr. Grunewald is highly creditable to the trade, and he deserves patronage.

COOPERAGE.—Our country friends who want sugar hogsheads, molasses barrels, kegs, half barrels, hoop poles, etc., are referred to the advertisement of Mr. T. A. Beck, 23 and 24 Front street.

WESTERN PRODUCE.—A fine stock of corn, hay, oats, flour, corn meal, etc., to be found at the store of Mr. J. Segassie, No. 97 Old Levee street. Give him a call.

SOUPS of all kinds are much improved by the addition of a dessertspoonful of the luncuts Halford Leicestershire Table Sauce. If you will try this recipe you will no more go without the Halford than without the soup. no13 4t

COLGATE & Co.'s new perfume for the handkerchief, "CASHMERE BOUQUET," will be appreciated by all who have enjoyed the delicate and peculiar fragrance of their toilet soap of the same name, which is so universally popular. je12 1y

BUSINESS NOTICES.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A sallow or yellow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face and other parts of body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in mouth, dryness of throat and internal heat; palpitation; in many cases a dry, teasing cough, with sore throat; unsteady appetite, raising of food, choking sensation in throat; distress, heaviness, bloated or full feeling about stomach and sides; pain in sides, back or breast, and about shoulders; colic, pain and soreness through bowels, with heat; constipation, alternating with diarrhœa; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of extremities; rush of blood to head, with symptoms of apoplexy, numbness of limbs, especially at night; cold chills, alternating with hot flashes; kidney and urinary difficulties; dullness, low spirits, unsociability and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of above symptoms likely to be present at one time. All who use Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery for Liver Complaint and its complications are loud in its praise.

A CURE OF LIVER DISEASE.

RUSK, TEXAS, May 10, 1873.

DR. R. V. PIERCE—Dear Sir: My wife last year at this time was confined to her bed with Chronic Liver Disease. I had one of the best doctors to see her, and he gave her up to die, when I came upon some of your medicine. I bought one bottle and commenced giving it. She then weighed eighty-two pounds; now she weighs one hundred and forty pounds, and is robust and hearty. She has taken eight bottles in all; so you see I am an advocate for your medicines.

de1 lt WILLIAM MEAZEL.

A BOX of Liver Pills, free of charge, inclosed in the wrapper with every bottle of Kress Fever Tonic, and sold by Frederickson & Harte and E. J. Hart & Co., on the warrant of the proprietors that this Tonic will cure Fever and Ague, Chill and Fever, Dumb Ague, and all forms of this malady. Go get a bottle and try it. There is no arsenic, no strychnine nor any other poisonous property in the medicine. It has been tried for the last ten years in Indiana and Illinois, and is a success. de1 2m

MESSRS. J. H. ZEILIN & Co.—Gentlemen: I am directed by my uncle, Hon. Alexander H. Stevens, to say to you that he is inclined to believe that he has derived some benefit from the use of Simmons' Liver Regulator, and that he wishes to give it a further trial. You will therefore please send to his address two more bottles by express C. O. D.

CRAWFORDVILLE, GA., March 31, 1870. de1 lt

MRS. M. G. BROWN'S UNEQUALED SCALP RENOVATOR AND HAIR RESTORER.—It is safe, reliable, free from Sugar of Lead and Lac Sulphur. Penetrates, through the canals of the head, the entire system. Is the best, most gentle cathartic. Removes dandruff. Gives a new scalp. Prevents the hair from falling. Gives strong, thick, glossy hair. Restores hair to its natural color. Dresses the hair. Cools the head. Cures headache. Brightens the intellect. Renews the memory.—Price, 25 cents, 75 cents and $1. Sold by Frederickson & Harte, 130 Canal street, and E. J. Hart & Co., 73 to 79 Tchoupitoulas street, New Orleans, and by druggists generally; or will be sent to any address, on receipt of the price, from the Metaphysical University, 51 Bond street, New York. Inclose stamp for pamphlet. oc23 1yeow

PIERSON & HEWS, fine Clothing, Shirts and Furnishing Goods, 13 and 15 Camp street, opposite City Hotel, New Orleans, Louisiana. We invite visitors from the interior to examine our stock and prices. We claim to sell first-class goods as low as can be afforded and live. We sell the celebrated Shoulder-Seam Shirts, warranted to fit, wear and give satisfaction. Liberal deduction made to Clergymen, and their trade solicited. fe27 1y

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, New York.

| | |
|---|---|
| Assets | $21,000,000 |
| Income | 11,000,000 |

Branch office—33 CAMP STREET.

A. P. CLEVELAND, General Agent.

fe13 1y

BEST AND OLDEST FAMILY MEDICINE.—SANFORD'S LIVER INVIGORATOR, a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic, for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debility, Sick Headache, Bilious Attacks and all derangements of liver, stomach and bowels. Ask your druggist for it. Beware of imitations mh27 1yeow

WE ADVISE those wanting to buy carriages, buggies or harness not to do so until they examine D. M. Hollingsworth's stock, at 54 and 56 Baronne street. oc2 6mesw

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

Corner Magazine and Second Streets,

New Orleans.

Office Hours—Eight to nine A. M. and three to four P. M. je29 tf

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FACTORS' AND TRADERS'

INSURANCE CO.,

37.....Carondelet Street.....37

NEW ORLEANS, NOV. 17, 1873.

Extract from the Seventh Annual Statement.

| | |
|---|---|
| Premiums for fiscal year ending April 30, 1873 | $735,857 95 |
| Losses paid within the year | 359,200 41 |
| Reserved for unterminated risks, April 30, 1873 | 103,230 00 |
| Interest and savings received | 152,806 31 |
| Net premium profits for fiscal year | 160,902 72 |
| Gross net profits after payment of $110,000 Interest | 203,709 03 |

ASSETS,

| | |
|---|---|
| April 30, 1873 | $1,570,278 32 |

Fire, River and Marine Risks Written at the Current Rates of Premium.

HARMON DOANE, President.
MOSES GREENWOOD, Vice President.
ED. A. PALFREY, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

| | |
|---|---|
| Moses Greenwood, | John I. Adams, |
| W. A. Johnson, | Isaac Scherck, |
| John I. Noble, | R. M. Walmsley, |
| John Chaffe, | William Morrison, |
| Richard Milliken, | Joseph W. Carroll, |
| Samuel E. Moore, | A. Brittin, |
| J. J. Warren, | J. T. Pace, |
| H. T. Buckner, | A. H. May, |
| Samuel Friedlander, | S. H. Snowden, |
| H. Frellsen, | T. Lytt. Lyon, |
| W. S. Pike, | W. C. Raymond, |
| A. A. Yates, | James S. Prestidge, |

Samuel H. Boyd. de4 1m

THE CLEARING HOUSE.

THE BALANCE

OF THE

GOODS DAMAGED BY WATER

AT

THE LATE FIRE ON CANAL STREET.

Fine Winter Dress CLOTHING.
Boys' Clothing, Shirts and Hats.
Splendid Beaver and Pilot Cloth Overcoats, Talmas and Pea Jackets.
The latest styles of HATS.
Cloth, Silk, Velvet and Fur CAPS.
Linen Shirts and Underclothing.
Leather and Zinc Trunks and Valises.

All slightly damaged by water during the LATE FIRE ON CANAL STREET, and which will be sold FIFTY PER CENT. below cost, at

M. COGAN'S,
Nos. 19 and 29 Canal street,
de1 1m Bet. the Customhouse and the River.

POPE'S CURE

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS.

In all affections of the Throat and Lungs requiring the use of a mild, soothing and decidedly efficient remedy, this preparation may be used by persons of all ages, from

"The infant, mewling and puking in its nurse's arms,
To where the sixth age shifts—
Into the lean and slippered pantaloon"—

with perfect security. As an expectorant it will be found to act speedily and effectually, and in many cases, where actual Phthisis was supposed to exist, it has been known to render prompt and permanent relief.

Turn, sufferer, turn! why will you die,
Or coughs and colds endure,
When for a trifle you can try
A bottle of POPE'S CURE?

Price, 75 cents. Prepared and sold by
JOHN H. POPE, Druggist,
Corner of Jackson and Prytania streets.
BALL & LYONS, Camp St., Agents. de1 1m

L. GRUNEWALD'S

MAMMOTH

PIANO AND ORGAN WAREROOMS,

18, 20 AND 22 BARONNE STREET.

The Largest and Finest Store,
The Largest and Best Assortment,
The Best and Finest Pianos,
The Cheapest Prices, and
The Most Accommodating Terms.

Every Piano warranted to be as represented, and to give satisfaction.

Twenty second-hand PIANOS at $100, $125, $150 and upward; in perfect order. Sold below their value, on time or for cash, to make room for new stock now arriving. de1 1m

BEEF!.....BEEF!.....BEEF!

FRESH BEEF, VEAL, MUTTON

AND PORK.

Country and city orders filled with dispatch at

J. STAFFORD'S MEAT STORE,

Cor. St. Peter and Old Levee Sts.

The very best quality of Fresh Meats always on hand. Orders from the country filled at the lowest prices and carefully attended to. Plantations supplied with the best Meats with promptitude and at the lowest possible figures. Address

J. STAFFORD, Meat Store,
Corner St. Peter and Old Levee streets,
de1 2m New Orleans.

CARPET WAREHOUSE,

17.....CHARTRES STREET.....17

A. BROUSSEAU & CO., Importers and Dealers, at Wholesale and Retail, in English and American Carpetings; Floor Oil Cloths; Table and Enamelled Oil Cloths; Window Shades; Table and Piano Covers; Cocoanut Cloths, in squares or pieces Curtain and Furniture Materials; Brocatelles, Cotelines, Terries, Reps, Lace and Nottingham Lace Curtains; Hair cloth Ticking; Springs; Barlapa; Step Covers, etc.

de1 6m A. BROUSSEAU & CO.

T. W. BOTHICK, UNDERTAKER,

No. 271 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Metallic, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Rosewood COFFINS always on hand. Black, Satin, Brown and White Merino Ladies' and Children's Shrouding. Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Hearses, Carriages and Cabs for hire. Funerals attended to in person by the proprietor, who hopes, by strict attention, to obtain a share of public patronage. de1 1y

DR. JOHN G. ANGELL,

DENTAL SURGEON,

153.....Julia Street.....153

All operations in Operative, Mechanical and Surgical Dentistry carefully performed.
Nitrous Oxide and other Anæsthetics administered. de1 1y

T. A. BECK, COOPER,

NOS. 23 AND 24 FRONT STREET,

Between Customhouse and Bienville streets (Sugar Landing,) New Orleans, has constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Hoop Poles, etc. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to trimming. de1 1y

WANTED.

The highest Cash Price paid for Rags, Old Paper, Rope, etc., at

THE LOUISIANA PAPER MILLS,
Nos. 211 and 213 Liberty Street,
Between Girod and Julia.
BROWN & PEMBERTON,
de1 2m Proprietors.

J. SEGASSIE,

DEALER IN

Western Produce, Hay, Corn, Oats,

BRAN, FLOUR, CORN MEAL, ETC.,

NO. 97 OLD LEVEE STREET,

de1 2m New Orleans.

FIRST-CLASS FURNITURE

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Also Church Furniture and Cushions.

Patronage earnestly solicited.

M. A. DAVIS & SONS,
No. 224 South Second street,
se18 3m Philadelphia, Pa.

BOOK AGENTS, REJOICE!—HARD Times no More! MARK TWAIN'S New Book, THE GILDED AGE, now ready. Secure territory before it is too late. Canvassing outfit, $1.50. For terms address CONTINENTAL PUBLISHING CO.,
de1 1y New Orleans or St. Louis.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

THE STANDARD REMEDY FOR

SCROFULA,

And all diseases arising from

IMPURITY OF BLOOD,

such as Eruptions, Pimples, Boils, Ulcers or Sores, Abscesses, White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, etc., and all affections of the Eyes, Ears, Throat or Lungs, occurring in Scrofulous constitutions. For pamphlets, illustrating cases, send to

SWAIM'S LABORATORY,
113 S. Seventh street, below Chestnut, del 1m Philadelphia, Pa.

A. BALDWIN. C. A. SLOCOMB,
C. EUSTIS. A. B. SLOCOMB,
In commendam.

HARDWARE.....HARDWARE.

A. BALDWIN & CO.,

SUCCESSORS TO

SLOCOMB, BALDWIN & CO.,

74 Canal, and 91, 93 and 95 Common St.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Hardware,

GUNS, LOCKS, CUTLERY, NAILS, STEEL,

IRON CASTINGS, ETC.

Agents for J. E. Carver's Oil, Coats' Boiler Iron, Valentine & Hutler's Safes, E. & O. Brooke's Cut Nails and Spikes, etc. no27 3m

GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.

Trains depart and arrive as follows (from Depot foot of Calliope street:)

DEPART.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 7.00 A. M. |
| Mail | 5.35 P. M. |

ARRIVE.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 11.45 P. M. |
| Mail | 11.00 A. M. |

Accommodation discontinued.

This line is many miles the shortest and many hours the quickest to all points North and East, and the only line running Pullman's Palace Sleeping-Cars to Louisville and St. Louis (Missouri) without change. Only one change to principal cities North and East. Tickets for sale and all information given at 22 Camp street, corner of Common, New Orleans.

A. D. SHELDON, Agent.
E. D. FROST, General Manager. no27 6m

DITSON & CO.'S

CELEBRATED

HOME MUSICAL LIBRARY.

Unexcelled Collections of Bound Music.

VOCAL.

GEMS OF GERMAN SONG.
GEMS OF SCOTTISH SONG.
GEMS OF SACRED SONG.
WREATH OF GEMS.
OPERATIC PEARLS.
SILVER CHORD.
SHOWER OF PEARLS. Duets.
MUSICAL TREASURE. Vocal and Instrumental.

INSTRUMENTAL.

FOR PIANOFORTE OR REED ORGAN.

GEMS OF STRAUSS.
ORGAN AT HOME.
PIANIST'S ALBUM.
PIANOFORTE GEMS.
HOME CIRCLE. Volumes I and 2.

Price of each book, in cloth, $3; in boards, $2.50; line gilt, $4. The above splendid books are perfect treasure-houses of the best and most popular music, being selected as the "cream" from an immense stock. Two hundred to two hundred and fifty pages, full sheet-music size, in each book. Buy these books for presents. In each book you get $25 worth of music. In the whole library, costing, according to binding, $45, $42 or $56, you will get $250 worth!

Sent, post-paid, on receipt of retail price.

CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.,
711 Broadway, New York.
Jy24 1y OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

COUGHS.....COLDS.....ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS

Laplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm

IS THE SOLE REMEDY,

Combining efficacy of action with a most palatable flavor.

GIVE IT A TRIAL.

Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores and by the proprietor, B. LAPLACE, Chemist, no27 3m Nos. 23 and 25 Elysian Fields St.

MARBLE

—AND—

GRANITE WORKS.

GEORGE STROUD,

Late of and successor to John Stroud & Co.,

(Established in 1830,)

158, 160, 162 AND 164 ST. CHARLES ST.

Corner of Girod Street, New Orleans.

Every description of Monumental, Cemetery and Building Work done in the best manner.

Particular attention given to all COUNTRY ORDERS.

A long experience in and an aptness at the business enables the proprietor to meet the views and ideas of his country friends by letter, as well as by a visit to the city.

Designs and Sketches will be furnished on application. no23 1y

SHERMAN HOUSE,

COR. CLARK AND RANDOLPH STS.,

Chicago, Illinois.

C. S. MUNSON, MANAGER.

This splendid Hotel, rebuilt on its former site was thrown open for the reception of guests April 10. Its exterior is grand and imposing, its appointments unique and magnificent throughout, and its management unsurpassed. jy10 1y

THE NEW CHEAP JOHN

(JOHN HANSEN)

continues to Manufacture, in spite of the FIRE, First-class

Custom-Made Boots and Shoes,

better and cheaper than ever, at No. 33 CANAL street, corner of Peters, next door to Cogan's Clothing House. no13 2m

WANTED.

A graduate of the Virginia Military Institute desires a situation in a College or other institution of learning. For information address

REV. R. J. HARP,
New Orleans Christian Advocate Office,
no20 1m No. 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

PATENTS For INVENTIONS, TRADE MARKS, Copyrights etc., etc., procured by

JOHN A. WIEDERSHEIM & CO.,
110 South Fourth street, below Chestnut,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Full information without charge.
Call or send for Book of Instructions. se18 1y

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

W. BARRINGTON & CO.,

GENERAL GRANGE AGENCY

—AND—

COTTON FACTORS,

NO. 79 CARONDELET STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The undersigned, having been elected by the Mississippi State Grange as their Purchasing Agents and Cotton Factors for this port, would respectfully inform the Granges of the States who deal in this market that we will take pleasure in serving their interests to the best of our ability. Our terms of business are the same as those of your Agency in the city of Memphis.

Parties desiring to purchase in this market can do so, when cotton is in hand, with from thirty to sixty days' indulgence.

We are endeavoring, in Sugars, Molasses, Rice and Coffee, to control the patronage of the Western States, which will give us unusual advantages in this market.

ALL ORDERS FILLED

—AT—

WHOLESALE PRICES.

Orders must be under the seal of the Grange. We respectfully solicit your attention, and all business intrusted to our care will receive our best attention.

no20 6m W. HARRINGTON & CO.

FREE!.....FREE!.....FREE

50,000

BUTTERICK & CO.'S

CATALOGUES of WINTER FASHIONS

Just received and ready for distribution,

FREE!

THE METROPOLITAN,

published monthly, and containing all the Latest Novelties in Dress, at $2 a year, or 25 cents for single copy.

A full and complete assortment of BUTTERICK & CO'S celebrated PAPER PATTERNS always on hand. Send for club rates. Address

WM. E. COOPER, Agent,
no20 1m 89 Canal street.

THE SEVENTH WONDER OF THE WORLD IS THE LADY

CHEAP JOHN,

MRS. D. J. LOEWENSTEIN.

519.....MAGAZINE STREET.....519

Who has nearly sold out her damaged stock of BOOTS AND SHOES, and what is remaining will almost be given away, in order to make room for her extensive stock of NEW GOODS, now arriving direct from the best manufacturers of the North, East and West. Having been carefully selected for this market, and bought for cash, they will be sold at astonishingly low prices—not to be beaten in this city. Then come and see the wonder, which will cost nothing, but you will carry away many Shoes and Boots, for less money, than you will imagine. Do not fail to come and look for the Red Flag. no13 1m

THE WEED SEWING MACHINE.

THE WEED

SEWING MACHINE

HAS JUST RECEIVED

THE HIGHEST AWARD

AT VIENNA,

THUS

REPEATING ITS EXPERIENCE

AT PARIS IN 1867.

No Machine possesses so many good qualities for general Family use.

The universal satisfaction given by this Machine justifies its claim to the well-known name:

FAMILY FAVORITE.

COMPANY'S OFFICE IN

| | |
|---|---|
| New Orleans | 207 Canal St. |
| Houston | 113 Main Street. |
| Atlanta | 27 Marietta St. |
| Savannah | 27 Bull Street. |

se11 3m

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

AWARDED IN 1873 TO

J. G. BERMEL,

121.....CANAL STREET.....121

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Cheapest Human Hair Manufactory in the South.

Gloves, Fans, Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Fancy and Jet Jewelry, Pocket-Books, Opera Glasses, Walking-Canes, Crutches, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc.

A fine assortment of rich Bronze and Gilt ORNAMENTS, well adapted for the approaching Holidays, will be sold at cost. oc30 2m5p

SELLING OUT.....SELLING OUT.

REGARDLESS OF COST,

AT A GREAT SACRIFICE,

To close the business, the entire stock of

TOYS, FANCY GOODS, BASKETS,

Trimmings, Bohemian and China Vases, etc., contained in

THE VARIETY STORE,

547.....MAGAZINE STREET.....547

(HASTING'S ROW,)

Between Felicity and St. Mary streets.

The Show Cases, Shelving and Counters for sale cheap. no6 1m5p

REOPENING OF THE ST. LOUIS,

A FIRST-CLASS HOTEL,

On the Fifteenth of November.

Under the Management of

no6 1m E. F. MOTON, President.

S. COLLINS & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PRINTING INK.

Office and Depot—26 Frankfort St.,

oc9 3m NEW YORK.

SCHOOL-DAY MAGAZINE.

Eighteenth year. The CHEAPEST and BEST YOUNG FOLKS' MAGAZINE published. A fine $2 ENGRAVING FREE to every subscriber. Good PAY to Agents. Send a three-cent stamp for specimen and "tools" to work with. Address the publishers,

ONLY $1.00 A YEAR

J. W. DAUGHADAY & CO.,
436 Walnut street,
no20 4t Philadelphia, Pa.

MAGIC LANTERNS.

McALLISTER'S PATENT ARTOPTICON.

The most powerful Magic Lantern ever made; with a brilliant Oil Lamp; for Home, Sunday School and Lectures. Stereopticons, etc. Slides at reduced prices. A profitable business for a man with small capital. Send stamp for catalogue.

W. MITCHELL McALLISTER, oc30 2m 1314 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

MEDICAL.

TAKE SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

—IT IS—

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver diseases most prevail. It will cure all diseases caused by derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

OR MEDICINE

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.

After over forty years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the

MOST EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC

for Constipation, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, despondency, gloom and forebodings of evil, all of which are the offspring of a diseased Liver.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion it Has No Equal.

☞ It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world. Manufactured only by J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia.
Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. se25 1y

TESTIMONIAL.

TESTIMONIAL.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,
No. 41 Dauphine street,
New Orleans, September 20, 1873.

CAPT. TRYON J. WOODWARD,
Agent Maguire's Medicines,
No. 38 Magazine street:

Esteemed Sir—From a feeling of heartfelt gratitude and a general sense of duty I am prompted to address you, and respectfully beg to give you a voluntary and brief statement of my past and present state of health, and my personal experience in the use of MAGUIRE'S CUNDURANGO LIVER AND BLOOD BITTERS, and SARSAPARILLA TONIC.

My health for years has been bad, but from the commencement of this year I rapidly declined, forcing me to abandon all character of business; and upon becoming completely paralyzed in my right arm, and with my whole right side threatened, I became helpless and hopeless indeed, though attended upon by the most skillful physicians of this and other States and cities, with no benefit; and, in fact, my own medical knowledge forced me to realize the fact that unless some change and improvement took place soon with me I would shortly die, and made my every earthly arrangement accordingly, when by a most providential circumstance I was directed to and met you, about a month ago, and from your generous sympathy was induced (to gratify you, but with no confidence or hope of benefit to myself) to only try the Cundurango; and to my utmost astonishment and gratification am now almost entirely restored to perfect health, and that by the use of but one bottle of the Cundurango Liver and Blood Bitters, and one bottle of the Sarsaparilla Tonic. I feel, indeed, a renewed and resurrected man, and will ever, my dear sir, be grateful in my remembrance of you for the kind interest and generous sympathy shown me in my wretchest helplessness, and am convinced that to the use of Cundurango, under Divine Providence through you, I am indebted for a new lease upon life.

From a sense of duty, let me ask that a publication of my case be made—and by my happy experience none need despair—and that through you, in the use of Cundurango, they may also find relief and restoration to health, when even hope itself has fled. With respect and gratitude, I remain

Yours truly, etc.,
THOMAS M. LOGAN, M. D.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24, 1873.

We, the undersigned, being personally acquainted with Dr. Logan, cheerfully certify that the above statement is true and correct in every particular.

J. C. McALLISTER.
REV. P. M. GOODWYN.
no27 1m DANIEL HICKOK.

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

THE STARTLING DRAWBACK ON nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for an agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY and STRENGTHEN

At One and the Same Time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which fully realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. This important desideratum is

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,

which purifies the blood and removes all corrupt humor and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but, on the contrary, tones the stomach and invigorates the body during the progress of its operation. It unites the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a strengthening purgative and a purifying tonic.

DR. TUTT'S PILLS are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation. They produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.

Price, 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists.
Principal Office, Nos. 18 and 20 Platt street, New York. oc2 1y4p

MANUALS OF MATHEMATICAL INSTRUMENTS,

MICROSCOPES, MAGIC LANTERNS,

METEOROLOGICAL INSTRUMENTS,

Physical Apparatus,

Profusely Illustrated and priced, mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents each.

JAS. W. QUEEN & CO., Opticians,
601 Broadway, New York, and se11 6m5p 924 Chestnut St., Philadelphia

PENNSYLVANIA

STAINED GLASS WORKS.

Airkin & Isaac, Proprietors.

Office and Works—3737, 3739 and 3741 FILBERT street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Designs and estimates furnished on application for Memorial, Subject and other Church Windows; also for Hall and Staircase Windows and Skylights for private residences and public halls. se18 3m

TRUE MERIT APPRECIATED.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES have been before the public many years. Each year finds the Troches in some new, distant localities in various parts of the world. Being an article of true merit, when once used the value of the Troches is appreciated, and they are kept always at hand, to be used as occasion requires. For Coughs, Colds and Throat diseases the Troches have proved their efficacy. For sale everywhere. jy17 1yeow

The Child's Corner.

IF I WERE A SUNBEAM.

BY ANNA LARKIN.

If I were a sunbeam
I know what I'd do—
I would seek white lilies
Fairly overhung by weeds,
I would seek drooping flowers,
Gardens left behind,
Hearts to strengthen
Hearts to gladden
Hearts to comfort and to bless.

If I were a sunbeam
I know where I'd go
Into prisoner's dungeon
Into wretched hovels
Till dark corners no more were left
I would shine and shine
Then I'd climb a tower
There sweet work to find.

But there are a million
Other places I'd find out
Where I'd be of service
Where I'd be of use
Till dark corners no more left
Hearts to gladden
Hearts to comfort
Hearts to strengthen
Hearts to bless.

Make Your Own Sunshine.

"O, dear, it always does rain when I want to go and play!" cried little Jessie Moore. "It's too bad, now I've got to stay indoors all day, and I know I shall have a wretched day."

"Perhaps so," said Uncle Jack; "but you need not have a bad day, unless you choose."

"How can I help it? I wanted to go to the park and hear the band, and take Fido and play on the grass, and have a good time, and pull wild flowers, and eat sandwiches under the trees; and now there isn't going to be any sunshine at all; and I'll have just to stand here and see it rain, and see the water run off the duck's back all day."

"Well, let's make a little sunshine," said Uncle Jack.

"Make sunshine!" said Jessie; "why, how you do talk!" and she smiled through her tears.

"You haven't got a sunshine factory, have you?"

"No, sir."

"Well, I'm going to start one right off, if you'll be my partner," replied Uncle Jack. "Now let me give you three rules for making sunshine: First, don't think of what might have been if the day had been better: second, see how many things there are left to enjoy; and lastly, do all that you can to make other people happy."

"Well, I'll try the last thing first," and she went to work to amuse her little brother Willie, who was crying. By the time she had him riding a chair and laughing she was laughing too.

"Well," said Uncle Jack, "I see you are a good sunshine-maker, for you've got about all you or Willie can hold just now. But let's try what we can do with the second rule."

"But I haven't anything to enjoy, 'cause all my dolls are old, and my picture-books all torn, and"—

"Hold," said Uncle Jack; "here's an old newspaper. Now let's get some fun out of it."

"Fun out of a newspaper! Why how you talk!"

But Uncle Jack showed her how to make a mark by cutting holes in the paper, and how to cut a whole family of paper dolls, and how to make pretty things for Willie out of the paper. Then he got out the tea-tray, and showed her how to roll a marble round it.

And so she found many a pleasant amusement, and when bed-time came she kissed Uncle Jack and said:

"Good-night, dear Uncle Jack."

"Good-night, little sunshine-maker," said Uncle Jack.

And she dreamed that night that Uncle Jack had built a great house, and put a sign over the door which read:

SUNSHINE FACTORY,
Uncle Jack and Little Jessie.

She made Uncle Jack laugh when she told him her dream; but she never forgot what you must remember: "A cheerful heart makes its own sunshine."

The Transplanted Lily.

Donald, the gardener, was transplanting lilies. They had grown so thick in the bed that the delicate spray of pure white blossoms could hardly be seen amid the broad green leaves. So the gardener had made a new bed for them in a cool, half-shaded place, such as the modest lilies of the valley love the best, and now he was carefully taking a part of them to their new home.

Little May was watching him with great interest, and following him from one place to another, chattering, in her sweet, lisping way, of this and that.

"Why do you move the sweet lilies, Donald?" asked she.

"That they may grow better," answered the gardener; and, as he looked down at the little girl to answer her, she saw that tears were in his eyes.

"What makes you cry, Donald?" asked she; "is the sun in your eyes?"

"No, dear," said he. "I was thinking of a sweet lily of mine that was transplanted long ago."

"Was it put in a better place?" asked the child.

"O, yes," answered the gardener, "a far better place. It was carried to a garden where it would have the best of care; where the fiercest sun would never wither it; where the storms would never beat upon its tender form; where nothing that could hurt or destroy it could ever enter within the gates."

"How nice!" said little May; "how glad you must be that your lovely lily is safe!"

"So I am glad!" answered the gardener.

"Then why did the tears come?" asked the child.

"Because, my little one," said he, "I miss my sweet lily so much—my home is sad and desolate without it."

"But shall you not see it again some time?" asked little May.

"If it pleases God," said the gardener, reverently laying his head and looking up, "My lily is blooming for me in heaven."—Little Star.

Stand Fast.

It is a hard thing for a boy or a young man to hold steadily on the right way when all around him are going in the other. It may seem to be useless, except as a trial of his own principles, for him to stand fast in the hour of temptation; but a silent influence goes out from such an example more powerful than that of many sermons.

A young man in the army used often to be urged to drink; but always answered, "No, I may get guilty. The restraint some one provided others to refrain and thus up-rise allied to give a reason for such an incident I conduct."

Because I promised my father and mother that I would never taste a drop of liquor, he answered. After that they provided their attendants everyday to ask them are to endorse him to break his resolution; but in vain. The persecution he endured was most trying, but he had his reward. One by one his roommates began quietly to follow his example. Cards were not so common, cards were thrown aside and at least half of them seemed wholly changed in their outward deportment. Many, no doubt, were well-trained youths at home, who had been led away by evil example; and now this consistent Christian example had awakened and led them back.

Every time you stand firm in the midst of temptation you do good to others, as well as yourself. Every time you yield to what you know is wrong you do a great evil to those who follow you after. Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work is pure and whether it is right. Even a child can exert an influence that may result in the saving of a precious life and soul from ruin.—Youth's Temperance Banner.

LAUGHING CHILDREN.—Give me the boy or girl who smiles as soon as the first rays of the morning sun glance in through the window—gay, happy and kind. Such a boy will be fit to "make up" into a man—at least when contrasted with a sullen, morose, crabbed fellow who snaps and snarls like a surly cur, or growls and grunts like an untamed hyena from the moment he opens his sleepy eyes till he is "confronted" by his breakfast. Such a girl, other things being favorable, will be good material to aid in gladdening some comfortable home, or to refine, civilize, tame and humanize a rude brother, making him gentle, affectionate and lovable. It is a treat to even look at such a joy-inspiring girl, and see the smiles flowing, so to speak, from the parted lips, displaying a set of clean, well-brushed teeth, looking almost the personification of beauty and goodness, singing and as merry as the birds—the wide-awake birds that commenced their morning concert long before the lazy boys dreamed that the sun was approaching, and about to pour a whole flood of light and warmth upon the earth. Such a girl is like a gentle shower to the parching earth, bestowing kind words, sweet smiles and acts of mercy to all around her—the joy and light of the household.

Farm, Garden and Household.

MOLASSES OR HYDROCHLORIC ACID FOR FLOWERS.—A correspondent of the Scientific American writes the following notes: "Several years ago I became passionately fond of flowers, and I purchased a great many. I gave them all the attention I could possibly spare, and watched over them anxiously for a long time; but I found, to my disappointment, that before many weeks had passed they all suddenly assumed a poor and dying appearance.

I changed the earth, enlarged the pots, and did everything imaginable, but they did not seem to improve at all. About this time I removed the earth around the roots of a favorite geranium, and, pouring molasses (the unrefined will serve the purpose well) around the roots, I covered it up with earth and waited patiently for a change. You would have really been surprised to have seen the great improvement in the flowers. I tried several others with the same result. If any one thinks that molasses is too expensive to be used for such a purpose I would assure him that hydrochloric acid answers equally as well. It should be diluted in water (say one ounce of the acid to three or four quarts of water,) and the flowers should be washed with it at the usual time. If these simple facts are of any use to lovers of flowers I trust they will be made public."

LICE.—To induce a vigorous growth in chickens the attacks of their greatest enemy—the louse—must be successfully resisted. If no precaution is taken myriads of vermin, hailing from the body of the hen and lodgments about the nest, will congregate on the chickens and soon sap the very life-blood, so essential to their growth and the nourishment of their feathers while "shooting the reel," or pin-feathering. Every louse on the hen and about the nest can be disposed of effectually by sprinkling white precipitate on the hen about the second week of incubation. This will work beneath the feathers and down through to the bottom of the nest. There is little or no danger of injuring the hen, for at that period she does not plume herself to any extent. To prevent any future attacks sprinkle the hen in the evening, while hovering the chickens, with powdered sulphur once or twice a month.

ACCORDING to analysis the dried onion contains from twenty-five to thirty per cent. of gluten, and ranks in this respect with the nutritious pea and the grains.

It is not merely as a relish that the wayfaring Spaniard eats his onion with his humble crust of bread; but it is because experience has long proved that, like the cheese of the English laborer, it helps to sustain his strength also, and adds, beyond what its bulk would suggest, to the amount of nourishment which his simple meal supplies.—Monthly Report of Department of Agriculture.

THE amount of pork which a bushel of corn will make with good feeding is an important and interesting query. A recent experimenter took thirteen fall pigs from the sow when nine weeks old. At the end of the first week he found the weight of three of them to be sixty and sixty-five pounds. He then gave the thirteen pigs fifty-four pounds of meal per day, and at the end of another week they had gained twelve pounds apiece. Less than thirty pounds of meal made twelve pounds of pork.

HOW HARPER BROTHERS ARE SPOILED.—A farmer's wife writing to the New Yorker, says: "If all the products of the farm home is most liable to be tainted by a nasty odor floating in the atmosphere. Our people had some veal in the spring, from which a little blood flowed out, and was deposited with a commission to smell. The result was that a jar of butter which I was then packing smelled and tasted like spring veal. Another lady friend complains that there is a filthy stagnant water a few hundred feet from her house from which an offensive effluvium would be borne on the breeze directly to the milk-room, when the wind was in a certain direction, the result of which was that cream and butter would taste like the disagreeable odor coming from that pond. As soon as the pond was drained we had no more tainted butter."—Harper's Bazar.

SOME curious statistics were recently presented before the British House of Commons. The tortoise is said to work from 1 to the following until 2 o'clock, a.m., the next day, or eighteen hours. During this time he feeds his young 24 times. Blackcaps work seventeen hours. The male feeds the young 14 times and the female 57 times per day. The industrious titmouse matures a spread of meals a day before its voracious offspring. According to one naturalist, their food consists largely of caterpillars.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

M. J. A. D. B. VERGES,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS
AND
DEALERS IN COTTON OATS BRAN AND HAY
22 Peters St. late New Levee,
New Orleans
AGENTS FOR JOHN V. WATT.

AIKEN & WATT,
COTTON FACTORS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
64 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.
Special attention given to orders for the purchase of all descriptions of Produce, Agricultural Implements and Plantation supplies. jy24 1y

G. W. BAYLY & POND,
WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Nos. 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Canal, and 59 and 61 Common Street,
New Orleans, La.
AGENTS FOR
J. L. DUNNICA, NEW ORLEANS.
T. A. HAMILTON, MEMPHIS.
G. P. HARRISON, NEW ORLEANS.

J. L. DUNNICA & CO.,
FLOUR, PRODUCE AND PROVISION COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
50 Tchoupitoulas Street 50
city New Orleans—Louisiana.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHURCH
AND SUNDAY SCHOOL
FURNITURE.
Patent School Desks.
W. P. ELLINGER,
721 Chestnut St., Phila.
FACTORY,
Columbia Avenue below Second.
ESTABLISHED 1856.
je18 3m

LANDRETH'S WARRANTED GARDEN SEEDS

LANDRETH'S SEEDS

Have spoken their own praise for upward of three-quarters of a century.

☞ The attention of Market Gardeners is particularly requested.

LANDRETH'S RURAL REPOSITORY AND ALMANAC will be mailed without charge to all who apply.

DAVID LANDRETH & SON,
21 and 23 South Sixth street,
Philadelphia, Pa.
se18 4m

ALEXANDER MILLS,

ORGAN BUILDER,
NO. 539 BROOME STREET,
oc2 3m NEW YORK.

CHEAPEST AND BEST!

CHICAGO FARM PUMPS!
Send for Price List.
B. S. Twichell,
New Orleans.
oc26 6m

NEW ORLEANS
PURCHASING BUREAU.

To the Ladies of the South.

A Purchasing Agency has been established in New Orleans, Louisiana, for the benefit of those residing at a distance from the city, and who have not the facilities for obtaining just what they require.

MRS. H. MOORHOUSE

respectfully offers her services in selecting, purchasing and forwarding any articles of apparel or personal adornment for ladies' and children's use including MILLINERY, DRY GOODS, JEWELRY, BRIDAL TROUSSEAUX, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Trimmings, Underwear, Sewing Machines etc., etc.

Scrupulous care with reference to the price and quality, and fidelity to the interest and fulfillment of the wishes of correspondents, will be sedulously carried out.

MRS. H. MOORHOUSE,
At Mrs. Doherty's Elegant Millinery and Dressmaking Establishment, 96 Canal St., Over Zimmerman's Jewelry Store, New Orleans
☞ Send for circular fe8 1y

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

THE SIXTY-THIRD TERM OF THIS VENERABLE INSTITUTION OPENS ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER, 1873.

Faculty.—REV. C. G. ANDREWS, A. M., President and Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Political Economy and International Law. REV. L. L. HOLCOMBE, L. L. D., Professor of Mathematics and Acting Professor of Natural Science. C. H. WILLEY, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages. T. A. JONES, A. M., Professor of Natural Science. REV. L. D. KOBERT, D. D., A. M., Principal of the Preparatory Department.

Charges.—Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in advance, $30. Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in Preparatory Department, $20. Contingencies, $5. A matriculation deposit of $5 must be paid on entrance into regular college class. One-half the charges must be paid when the student enters, the other half at the beginning of the second term, March.

Board.—Board, including washing, fuel and lights, $16 per month, or $80 per session. Day-scholars with the same facilities as boarders, $10 per month. Rooms furnished at the commencement of the term. Board to be paid in advance, or cease the month.

Location.—The institution is located in the pleasant village of Jacksonville, one of the most healthy towns in Louisiana, seven miles from Baton Rouge, with a depot of the Jackson Railroad. The position is remarkable for its beautiful, undulating surface, and for its pure water, the purest and best in the State, and perfect health.

When Founded.—The college was established in the spring of January, 1825, and received its first charter from the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1845.

Alumni.—Its Alumni number over two hundred and fifteen, and they are to be found in the most honorable and useful stations in the land.

Apparatus and Cabinet.—The college possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus, and also a well-selected Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet. The apparatus includes a Theodolite, a Solar Compass, Chronometer, Schmidt's Globes, Electrical Machine, Air Pump, various combinations of the Mechanical Powers, Electro-Magnetic Machine, Tests, etc., sufficient for a thorough and extended course of experiments and examinations, which have been taken by the Board of Trustees to put them in thorough repair.

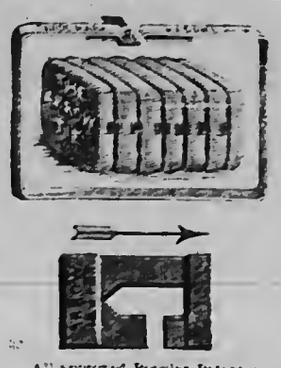
Literary Societies.—There are two regular Literary societies connected with the institution. These are of great utility in giving that acquirement, liberal education—improvement—that, in the art of public speaking, makes the man in after years a ready debater, and a successful business man. Each society has a commodious hall, and a well-selected library—about one thousand six hundred volumes each, which, added to the College Library of two thousand volumes, makes over five thousand volumes in the college.

Buildings.—The Trustees are determined to continue the repairs on the buildings till completed. The grand Centre Building is a noble specimen of architectural beauty and adaptation to the purposes of education. The wings, built of solid brick, present each a front of two hundred feet, with upper and lower galleries the entire length, supported by Tuscan columns, and with the centre building in the perspective a magnificent front of seven hundred feet.

Preparatory Department.—In the Preparatory Department students are fitted for regular college classes, or may obtain a thorough English commercial education.

The Faculty.—The Faculty are men of experience and success in teaching.

Board of Trustees.—Rev. Bishop J. C. Keener, D. D., President, New Orleans.



Hon. Edward Mayes, Vicksburg, Mississippi.
Hon. John McVea, Clinton.
Hon. and Rev. James H. Mayes, Mississippi.
Prof. W. H. N. Marrow, Baton Rouge.
Rev. H. H. Montgomery, Clinton, Mississippi.
C. C. Mayes, Esq., Wilkinson county, Miss.
Rev. John C. Miller, Jackson.
John J. Nelms, Esq., East Baton Rouge La.
Rev. J. A. Godfrey, Clinton.
Hon. J. T. Mayes, New Orleans.
Hon. Edward Cole, late of Florida.
Hon. J. D. Hogan, Baton Rouge.
Rev. J. Parker, D. D., New Orleans.
Rev. M. Wharton, Lake, Clinton.
Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans.
Rev. A. E. Phelps, Port Gibson, Mississippi.
Samuel J. Norwood, Esq., Shreveport, Louisiana.
William L. Nugent, Esq., Jackson, Mississippi.
Rev. C. C. Andrews, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
Rev. A. L. Goodwyn, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

jy24 6m Address— C. G. ANDREWS, President, Jackson, La.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

IMPORTANT TO PLANTERS.

IRON COTTON TIES.

THE ARROW TIES AND ALL OPEN-SIDE TIES.

All approved Popular Patents:
ARROW,
ANCHOR, WALLIS
ALLIGATOR
AND DUNN.

For sale by all dealers in New Orleans, Mobile and Memphis, and by country merchants generally throughout the Cotton States.

BARTLETT & RAYNE,
GENERAL AGENTS,
48 CARONDELET STREET, COR. UNION, jy24 6m New Orleans.

Get the REYNOLDS
REVOLVING WROUGHT IRON SCREW PLANTATION
COTTON PRESS
IF YOU WANT THE BEST
W. H. REYNOLDS,
Cor. SOUTH MARKET & FULTON STS.
P. O. BOX 1690. NEW ORLEANS.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR
je19 6m

THE UNRIVALED

BUCK'S BRILLIANT STOVE.
Every Brilliant is Fully Guaranteed.
H. HALLER,
NO. 49 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS,
Sole Agent for Louisiana.
Sole Agent for the
CELEBRATED RINGEN WASHER
In the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi. no13 1y

LEWIS JOHNSON,
ENGINE AND MACHINE BUILDER,
Corner Julia, Delta and Water Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
Castings of all kinds. Repairing executed with dispatch. Steam and Vacuum Gauges repaired. Glass Box 763, Postoffice. ap17 1y

WARRANTED CURE.
WARRANTED CURE.
Sufferers from CHILLS AND FEVERS, and those whose health has been seriously impaired by protracted attacks of Chills, are invited to write to the undersigned for the means of cure. The worst cases easily and thoroughly cured. Correspondence solicited. Address
DR. J. A. MAYES,
no13 3m Mayesville, Sumter County, S. C.

WHITWORTH FEMALE COLLEGE,
BROOKHAVEN, MISSISSIPPI.

ON THE NEW ORLEANS, JACKSON AND GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD, one hundred and twenty-eight miles from New Orleans, and in session on the TWENTY-FOURTH OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.

The health is good, facilities first-class, instruction thorough, and economy in dress enforced. The expenses are as low as the advantages afford.

The Director of the Music Department, Prof. E. KHARIG, is a first-class artist. Madame JULIUS, an accomplished Parisian lady, has charge of French and the ornamental branches.

During the past term there were Thirteen in the Faculty, and Two Hundred and One pupils in attendance, over one hundred of whom boarded in the College.

All the branches of a thorough education are taught, including the languages, ancient and modern; also the higher mathematics.

Particular attention is paid to spelling, Writing, Reading and Composition; also to the neatness, good manners and morals of the pupils.

For a catalogue address

jy17 tf REV. H. F. JOHNSON, President, Brookhaven, Mississippi.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

DANIEL & JAMES D. EDWARDS,
NOS. 22, 24, 26 AND 28 FRONT ST.
AND
NOS. 21, 23, 25 AND 27 DELTA ST.
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA
MANUFACTURERS OF
Copper, Brass, Iron and Sheet Iron
WORK OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
ALSO OF
Best and Most Improved Steam Trains for Making Sugar.
DEALERS IN
Wrought Iron Pipe and Fittings, all sizes,
Brass Work for Steam, Water and Gas,
Boiler Tubes, Bolts, Nuts and Washers,
Well and Cistern Pumps, Drove Well Pumps, and Well Points, Steam Syphon Pumps, Rubber Hose, Steam Packing, Steam and Water Gauges, Fine Bruches, Sheet Copper,
Brass and Iron, Copper and Brass Wire,
Machinists Tools and Machinery Supplies, etc.
AGENTS FOR
Cameron's Patent Steam Pumps,
Worster's Patent Combination Wrenches
And National Fire Extinguisher.
☞ Send for new Illustrated Price List. fe9 1y

B. J. WEST,
DEALER IN
AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS,
Plantation Hardware and Machinery,
115 AND 117 MAGAZINE STREET,
AGENT FOR
Poole & Hunt (Baltimore) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
H. & F. Blandy (Zanesville, Ohio) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
B. W. Payne & Sons' (Corning, New York) Steam Engines, Saw Mills, etc.
George L. Squier & Bro. (Buffalo, New York) Sugar Mills, Horse Powers, etc.
E. Ball & Co. (Canton, Ohio) "World" and "Ohio" Mowers, and Mowers and Reapers combined
D. M. Osborne & Co., "Kirby" Mowers, etc.
E. C. Taylor, Hay Rakes.
Nishwitz" and "Monroe" Pulverizing Harrows.
"Excelsior" Lawn Mower.
E. Ball & Co. (Worcester, Massachusetts) Wood-Working Machinery.
H. B. Smith (Smithville, New Jersey) Wood-Working Machinery.
American Saw Company, New York.
Hubbard, Lippincott, Bakewell & Co., Saws.
"Gunpowder" Copper Works, Baltimore.
Moline Plow Company, Plows and Cultivators.
Winship & Bro. (Atlanta, Georgia) Cotton Gins.
"Stafford" Cultivator and "Sattley" and "Pfiel Chang Plows.
"Buckeye" Foundery, Bells.
B. J. West's Cotton Seed Huller.
B. J. West's "Improved Felton Patent" Grist Mill and Corn-Cob and Shuck Crusher combined.
T. C. Nisbet (Macon Georgia) Cotton Press Screws, etc. mh27 6m

BULBS! SEEDS! FALL
CATALOGUE OF
Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocus, Lilies, Etc.,
IS NOW READY,
and will be mailed FREE to all applicants. We desire every lover of Flowers to write us for a copy. Our assortment of Vegetable and Flower SEEDS is complete, and growing our own Seeds, and importing from reliable sources, we know that our Seeds are pure and true. Correspondence solicited. Address
KERN, STEBER & CO.,
Seed Growers and Merchants,
oc22 3m No. 211 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

ROGERS' EFFERVESCING
CITRATE OF MAGNESIA,
in six-ounce bottles, in powder. This Magnesia is a mild purgative and aperient, very acceptable to the stomach for Sick Headache, Sour or Sick Stomach, and all Febrile cases. Good for all seasons of the year. For sale by druggists. Prepared by ARTHUR ROGERS, 193 Spring St., N. Y. oc9 2m

HOMER COLLEGE.
HOMER, CLAIBORNE PARISH, LA.
COURSE OF EDUCATION
THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL.
Total Expense Per Annum from $187 to $207.
SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 15, 1873.
☞ Send for a catalogue to
REV. J. LANE BORDEN, President.
Tuition free to children of Preachers in regular work. jy26m

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE,
WASHINGTON COUNTY, VA.
On the Eleventh of September
the scholastic year begins, and continues Forty consecutive weeks. It is divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. The spring session begins January 29, 1874. Students can enter at any time, though they should, if possible, begin with the session. The entire expenses for the forty weeks, including board, tuition, fuel, room-rent, washing and contingencies, need not exceed $150. These rates so remarkably low considering the superior advantages here offered, must commend this Institution to the favor of those seeking thorough collegiate training. Before selecting your school consult any of those knowing the college, especially our Alumni and old students, prominent men in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and professors of the University of Virginia, who have authorized this reference, or send directly to the undersigned for a catalogue or for any information desired.
E. E. WILEY, President,
jy19 3m Emory P. O., Virginia.

READVILLA SEMINARY
—WILL—
Reopen on Monday, October 2, 1873,
with a limited number of pupils, and with a full corps of experienced and successful teachers.
Students returning to the Seminary, and those desiring to enter it, are requested to be present the first day of the session.
For further information in reference to the school inquire of its pupils and patrons throughout the South, or for catalogue apply to the Principal,
MRS. M. W. READ,
se4 3m Baton Rouge, La.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.
UNDER CARE OF
The Holston Conference, M. E. Church South.
Founded in 1849. Greatly improved. Boarding-house, with farm of five hundred acres. Fare generous. Faculty full. Instruction thorough. Located in the quiet country, seven miles from Sweetwater, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Rail road. Expenses of tuition, board, fuel, lodging and washing less than $150 a year. Conveyance any day. For further information address
REV. J. H. BRUNNER,
se25 6m Sweetwater, Tenn.

J. W. BLACKMAN'S
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,
131.....CARONDELET ST.....131
This is the only Commercial College in this city where students from the country can board in the family of the Principal. There is ample accommodation for thirty to forty students to board in the college building. This department is in charge of Mrs. Blackman, and in case of sickness students will be properly cared for, and not sent to a hospital, or the cold care of strangers.
All Commercial branches taught. Terms over Thirty per cent. less than other colleges in this city. The Principal has been established in New Orleans since 1851. For circulars address
J. W. BLACKMAN,
oc30 3m 131 Carondelet St., New Orleans, La.

TO THE PUBLIC.
Those who contemplate giving up housekeeping this winter, and desire to have their FURNITURE carefully packed for shipping or storing will do well to call on
J. BOIS,
No. 201 Camp street.
N. B.—Furniture repaired and bought. Carpets taken up and cleaned. oc22 2m

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE NEW
SUNDAY SCHOOL SONG-BOOK,
ROYAL DIADEM,
CONTAINS HYMNS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED
TO
THE INTERNATIONAL LESSONS
FOR 1873 AND 1874.

Together with an INDEX prepared for the convenience of Superintendents and Choristers.

☞ Provision is made for Every Lesson.

ROYAL DIADEM

is sold by the leading booksellers all over the world.
Retail price, 35 cents; $30 per 100 copies.
☞ Ask your book-seller for it.
BIGLOW & MAIN Publishers.
Successors to Wm. B. Bradbury, no6 4teow New York and Chicago.

A GOOD BOOK.

SOLD BY CANVASSING AGENTS ONLY.

DR. DEEMS' "JESUS."

A Rational History to Prove the Divinity of Christ.

☞ Agents will find this the best-selling Book of the season. Clergymen, students and book agents address
UNITED STATES PUBLISHING CO.,
oc2 3m 11 and 13 University Place, New York.

AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE FOR
KIT CARSON'S
LIFE AND ADVENTURES.

From facts narrated by himself. Embraces events in the lifetime of America's GREATEST HUNTER, TRAPPER, SCOUT AND GUIDE; includes vivid accounts of the every-day life, inner character and peculiar customs of all INDIAN TRIBES OF THE FAR WEST; an accurate description of the country, its condition, prospects, resources, its mountains, rivers, valleys and natural wonders. Also, a full and complete history of the

Modoc Indians and the Modoc War.

Splendidly illustrated and sells at sight. Agents reporting from 75 to 100 subscribers each per week. Illustrated circulars and terms sent free to any address by QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
oc2 1y

NEW BOOK FOR AGENTS.—We want Agents everywhere for a new, beautifully illustrated work of the author's own adventures.

WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.

Incidents of nearly THIRTY YEARS of hunting and trapping, captivity among the Comanches, in the Mexican wars, encounters with Apaches, Grizzly Bears, etc. Thrillingly interesting. Send for circular and the most LIBERAL terms; or, if in haste to begin work, send $1 for complete outfit to F. A. HUTCHINSON & CO.,
oc9 1y New Orleans, La.

AGENTS WANTED.—ACT AT ONCE.—The people everywhere are eager to buy the only authentic and complete history of

LIVINGSTONE.

Its wonderful discoveries and thrilling adventures during Twenty-eight Years in the wilds of Africa, and resurrection by the daring STANLEY. Over 70 pages, beautifully illustrated; only $2.50. Selling like wildfire! Write for extra terms; or, if you wish to begin at once, send $1 for outfit.
VALLEY PUBLISHING CO.,
oc9 1y New Orleans, La.

Wanted

More Farmers, Ladies, Ministers, Young Men and Women from every township, 1870 to $75 a week) to act as Agents for
Mary Clemmer Ames' New Book,
TEN YEARS IN WASHINGTON.

Entitled the "Inner Life," wonders, marvels, mysteries, secret doings, &c., of the Capital, "As a Woman Sees Them." It is actually overflowing with spicy revelations, humor, pathos and good things for all. It is indispensable to every wide-awake person,—man, woman, or child—to popular canvassers, with correspondents, and in selling for and with booksteamers. 3-4 Engravings. Steel portrait of author. Agents! don't miss the chance. Money for You in this work. Terms Big; particularly to readers of the Advocate, everywhere. (Southern Agents N. B.) Outfit Free to anyone. We pay freight on books. Reader! write at once for particulars (free) to sell 1y Cincinnati, Ohio.

QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO

THE TEMPLE HARP.—THE SCIENCE of music no longer a mystery. This music-book should have been published a hundred years ago. It contains beautiful music, and the elementary department alone is worth more than ten times the amount asked for the book. Published by S. C. COLLINS, No. 705 Jayne street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and for sale by booksellers generally. Retail price, $1.25. To the trade, same as our other music-books.
se4 3m

BIG GEST Commission on rapidly-selling works for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Red Men, Mechanics, Temperance, etc. Sales unprecedented. One Agent clears $1,200 in three months, another over $200 in five days, another $90 in eight hours, scores $50 in one day. Write for circular and prove this. Give number of your Lodge, and name this paper.
J. HALE POWERS & CO.,
ja30 1y Fraternity Publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE PRACTICAL POCKET COMMENTARY
AND BIBLE DICTIONARY.

Ten volumes. One Dollar each. Acknowledged to be the best and cheapest Commentary on the whole Bible extant. By the Rev. Drs. JAMIESON, FAUSSET & BROWN. Sold only by subscription. Agents wanting territory address
BLACKALLER & TURNER,
jy17 1y Room 8, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

PLUCKY AGENTS WANTED to sell our Modern United States and State Maps, and Pictorial and Religious Charts.
Large profits to Agents. Small capital needed.
E. C. RIDDMAN,
oc9 3m No. 5 Barclay street, New York.

AGENTS WANTED TO ENGAGE IN A permanent, lucrative and respectable business. None but energetic and responsible persons need apply.
A. COYLE,
oc23 6m 419 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo.

EASY ROAD TO FORTUNE.

AGENTS WANTED to sell our cheap, fast-selling and highly illustrated Books. Retail at 50 cents, and sold to agents at very low wholesale prices. Any man can succeed in the business. New books now ready. These publications sell on sight. Address
HARCLAY & CO.,
se13 3m 21 N. Seventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FROM A RECENT ANALYSIS BY Prof. W. O. Atwater, at Yale College, the following table will show the chemical composition of YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Albuminoids | 12.45 | Sugar | 13.06 |
| Gum | 5.21 | Starch | 55.62 |
| Fat | 8.59 | Cellulose | 2.93 |
| Ash | 2.12 | | |

It will be seen that the Albuminoids (albumen, gluten, casein, etc.) constitute nearly thirteen per cent. "These," says Youmans, "are the flesh-forming principles—the true elements of nutrition."

It is particularly valuable to all requiring a highly nutritious and at the same time easily assimilated diet, and hence is used as an article of daily consumption in climates which occasion rapid waste of the system. "Almost all Asiatics, Africans and (aboriginal) Americans use it as their chief nourishment."—Louis Figuier, in his work on the Vegetable World.

In Hermetically-sealed YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN all the nutritive qualities of the grain are preserved. The grain is cut from the ear and placed in tin canisters with the rich juices (or milk) which oxide from it, and is then sealed air-tight and the canister subjected to steam heat, which coagulates the albumen. In this condition it will keep for years. It will be seen by this that all the nutritive properties of the grain are preserved, and the most nourishing article of food in the domain of nature placed within the reach of all.

RECEIVED THE AWARD OF THE
Paris Exposition, Americana Institute, and Great Exposition of Cordova.

Sealed under the original patent. Ask your grocer for it. PORTLAND PACKING CO.,
se21 6m Portland, Maine.

THE IMPROVED
LASH WASHING MACHINE.
PRICE ONLY $15.

Warranted Entirely Satisfactory if Used as Directed.

Is unequaled as a "Family Washer," and equally adapted to Schools, Colleges, Hotels, etc. Will "thoroughly wash" the worst-soiled clothing without hand-rubbing in one-third the time usually required, and will not injure the most delicate fabric.

Call on or address Union Box and Machine Manufacturing Co., Room 3, Rear 313½ WALNUT St., Philadelphia, or No. 5 North SEVENTEENTH street.
oc25 3m

BUSINESS CARDS.

ANDERSON'S PHOTOGRAPHIC STUDIO,
No. 153 Canal Street, New Orleans,
where will be found all the latest improvements in the Photographic Art. With close personal attention and the best assistants and Artists, we promise the finest work that has ever been done in this city, at uniform and moderate prices. Children taken from ten A. M. to two P. M. The Sun Pearl and Crayon Photo a specialty. All work guaranteed.
no27 2t

C. W. ROTH,
DEALER IN
Staple and Fancy Groceries,
175.....POYDRAS STREET.....175
Corner Carondelet, New Orleans.
TEAS AND COFFEES a specialty. no27 1m

H. FEHSENFIELD,
(Formerly with Daniel Gorren,)
Millinery and Trimming Store,
191.....CANAL STREET.....194
Bet. Dryades and Rampart, New Orleans.
Country orders promptly attended to. no27 2m

DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY.
THE LATEST AND NEATEST STYLES,
Mrs. Gnebanatti,
625.....MAGAZINE STREET.....625
(Antioch Row,) New Orleans.
Best of work. Prices moderate. Country orders solicited. no27 3m

PRICES TO SATISFY ALL.
CHARLES HAMILTON,
Practical Picture Framer, Etc.,
661.....MAGAZINE STREET.....661
Old Shades renewed (as good as new) at 75 cents a piece. no 2m

THOMAS HASAM,
LUMBER.
CABINS MADE TO ORDER.
Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Sash, Blinds, etc.
Mills and Yard—Corner CEDAR AND JULIA streets (New Basin,) New Orleans. no6 1m

MME. MONTARDIER,
NO. 19 BOURBON STREET,
Bet. Canal and Customhouse streets, New Orleans.
Stamping, Pinking and Embroidery in all styles. Kid Gloves cleaned. no6 1m

COAL.....COAL.
H. & C. TYLER,
9.....CARONDELET ST.....9
will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates.
oc30 3m H. & C. TYLER.

J. M. ELKIN. F. STEINGER.
ELKIN & CO.,
168.....CANAL STREET.....168
Near Baronne, New Orleans,
IMPORTERS OF ALL VARIETIES OF
English Carpetings, Rugs, Etc., Etc.
Also Oil Cloths, Mattings, Curtain Damasks, Lace Curtains, Window Shades, etc. oc24 1y

JOHN I. ADAMS. JAY L. ADAMS. WM. H. BENAUD.
JOHN I. ADAMS & CO.,
WHOLESALE GROCERS,
AND DEALERS IN
PROVISIONS, LARD, OIL, ETC.,
Nos. 13, 15 and 17 Peters Street,
(Formerly New Levee.)
mh27 1y New Orleans.

JAMES N. QUIN,
PRACTICAL
GAS AND STEAM-PIPE FITTER.
All kinds of Brass Work. General Southern Agent for the celebrated Nichols Patent Chatlenge Wind Mill; also for Challenge Feed Mills, Hay Cutters, Corn Shellers and Drove Wells. For price list and circulars address J. N. QUIN, ja30 1y 116 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans.

E. F. BRITTON. H. M. EPPLER.
BRITTON & EPPLER.
STEAMBOAT AGENTS
AND FORWARDING MERCHANTS,
No. 135 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.
Forwarding done free of commission. je5 6m

J. U. PAYNE. GEORGE MODRMAN.
H. M. PAYNE. J. R. PARHAM.
J. U. & H. M. PAYNE & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS,
64 and 66.....Baronne Street.....64 and 66
Between Union and Gravier streets,
je19 1y NEW ORLEANS, LA.

F. WAGENER, AGENT,
FRAMING STORE,
13 Baronne St., near Canal, New Orleans.
Frames of all descriptions made to order at the shortest notice and at New York prices.
Pictures and Window Shades put up. Cords, Tassels and Shade Fixtures for sale. my15 1y

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING,
CUTTING AND FITTING,
At Reasonable Prices, by
MRS. M. TOURNAREN,
No. 206 Prytania street,
mh27 1y Corner of St. Mary, New Orleans.

A. S. CUTLER,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
136½.....Camp Street.....136½
Bet. Girod and Lafayette, New Orleans.
Graining, Gilding, Glazing, Kalsomining and Wall-coloring. my8 1y
Box 35, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange.

J. A. LUM. FRANK H. HOOKER.
J. A. LUM & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,
162 Gravier and 13 Union Street.
☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES. my29 3m

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ
134 Rampart Street,
Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans
MANUFACTURER OF
CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.
Also carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Caleche built anywhere oc23 3m

WILLIAM EBERT,
ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS,
AND GENERAL HOUSESMITH.
Iron Railings, Tomb Railings, Fences and Verandas of all kinds made to order; also Iron Shutters, Doors, Window and Door Gratings.
164 and 166 Magazine St., New Orleans.
Box 213, Mechanics' Exchange. up10 1y

LEWIS LOCKWOOD,
MANUFACTURER OF
DR. D. BLY'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEGS AND ARMS,
135 Gravier St., New Orleans.
Prices from $75 to $160. Satisfaction guaranteed. No advance payment required. The patient can put on the Leg and practically test it as long as desired. Pamphlets sent free. my8 1y

CRESCENT MACHINE SHOP.
JOSEPH WALKER,
Machinist, Engineer, Blacksmithing,
ETC., ETC.,
CORNER ST. JOSEPH AND CONSTANCE STS.,
New Orleans.
☞ Plantation Machinery manufactured and repaired. Jobbing promptly attended to. ja30 1y

C. SAMPSON. F. G. SAMPSON.
SAMPSON BROTHERS,
(LATE C. C. SAMPSON,)
FURNITURE,
33 and 35.....Royal Street.....33 and 35
NEW ORLEANS.
Established in 1833. ja23 1y

JOHNSON & HILLSMAN,
PRACTICAL PAINTERS,
144.....Magazine Street.....144
House and Sign Painting, Steamboat, Store and Office Painting, Graining, Marbling, Gilding and Kalsomining. All work promptly attended to, and charges moderate. No. 144 Magazine, between Julia and Girod streets. fe6 1y

TO THE PUBLIC.—I AM NOW PREpared to remove and repair IRON SAFES; also Lightning Rods repaired and put up to order. I have also on hand New and Second-hand SAFES for sale, both Burglar and Fire-Proof. Particular attention paid to repairing Bank Locks and Printing Presses, on most reasonable terms.
GEORGE COATS,
de26 1y No. 168 Magazine street, near Julia.
Second-hand Sewing Machines always on hand and for sale. Also second-hand Copying Presses.

BUSINESS CARDS.

SOPHIE,
NO. 13 BARONNE STREET,
(Late 152 Rue De Canal,)
no6 1m NEW ORLEANS.

WILLIAM VELDEN,
DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,
Corner Prytania and Philip Streets.
Oak, Ash, Bakers' Pine, Lightwood and Charcoal always on hand. Wood sawed to stove-length and split. no6 2m

T. J. BROWN,
PRACTICAL PAPER-HANGER,
And dealer in Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Buff, Green and White Hollands, Picture Cord, Tassels, etc.,
No. 263 Camp Street, New Orleans.
All orders from the country promptly attended to. no6 3m

F. ESTEVA,
CIGAR DEPOT,
Corner of Camp and Girod Streets,
New Orleans, La.
Havana and Domestic Cigars always on hand. Country orders promptly attended to. oc30 3m

F. J. KUHNHOLZ,
Book-Binder,
112.....GRAVIER ST.....112
Orders for Ruling and Binding executed with neatness and dispatch. Merchants and others requiring Blank-Books will find it to their interest to order direct from the binder. oc30 2m

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Boots, Shoes and Brogans,
Corner Praulines and Dauphine Sts.,
(SIGN OF THE RED BOOT,)
NEW ORLEANS.
Every description of articles in the Boot and Shoe line, for Ladies', Gentlemen's and Children's wear, constantly on hand, and offered at the LOWEST PRICES. oc30 2m

SANTIAGO M. LAPEYRE,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,
Also Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Etc., Etc.,
No. 53 St. Louis Street,
oc30 2m Cor. St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

THE PREMIUM BUTCHER STALLS.
MARTIN LANNES, BUTCHER,
STALLS 37, 38 and 7,
MAGAZINE MARKET,
New Orleans, Louisiana,
respectfully informs his friends and the public in general that he is prepared to furnish Families, Hotels, Boarding-Houses, Steamboats, Ships and Steamships with the best BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, SAUSAGES, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Game, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords, at the very Lowest Rates. Thanking my customers for past favors, I solicit a continuance of the same. Recollect the Stalls, Nos. 37, 38 and 7, Magazine Market, where all orders sent will be thankfully received and promptly filled. ☞ All Meats delivered free of charge. oc21 6m

NEW ORLEANS STENCIL WORKS
AND
MAGIC BATTERY MANUFACTORY.
AGENCY OF THE GOLDEN WONDER
GEORGE E. TEETZEL & CO.,
ENGRAVERS, STENCIL CUTTERS, STAMP AND SEAL-MAKERS,
82.....Gravier Street.....82
New Orleans, Louisiana.
Manufacturers of all kinds of Cotton Brands Stencil Plates, Ribbon Stamps, Seal Presses, Burning Brands, Door Plates, House Numbers, etc. ja30 1y

THE MITCHELL & RAMMELSBERG
FURNITURE CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN ALL KINDS OF
FURNITURE,
MATTRESSES,
LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.
Nos. 103 and 105 Camp Street,
Corner Poydras, Moresque Building, New Orleans,
Have the largest and best assortment of FURNITURE OF ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.
Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. my29 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.
R. D. WOOD & BROS.,
106 Common St., opposite City Hotel,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied. my1 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.
R. D. MACLIN,
No. 31 Carondelet Street.
Pittsburg, Anthracite and American Cannel Coal, screened for family use. All orders from the country will receive immediate attention.
Yard, cor. Third and Tchoupitoulas Sts. mh13 1y

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.
COR. CANAL & ROYAL STS
NEW ORLEANS,
SOUTHERN AGENTS FOR THE
GORHAM MFG COMPANY
THE LARGEST MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD OF STERLING SILVER WARE
de6 1y

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND
—AND—
DOOR FACTORY,
ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,
301, 303, 305 and 307 Gravier Street,
je5 1y New Orleans.

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,
HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARETTES,
and a full assortment of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, constantly on hand and for sale cheap by
ED. L. ZELL,
Corner Canal and Carondelet streets,
de10 1y New Orleans, La.

B. T. WALSHE
IMPORTER AND DEALER IN MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS
BOYS' & CHILDREN'S CLOTHING,
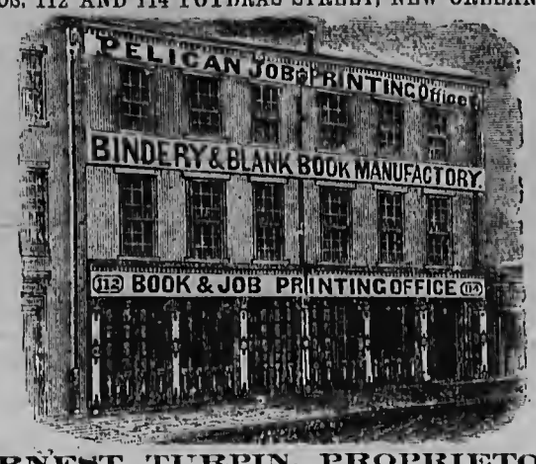
No. 110 CANAL ST.
NEW ORLEANS



WILLIAM J. HEIRNE & CO.,
PROPRIETORS OF
Washington Cooperage Establishment,
COR. MARENGO AND LEVEE STS.,
have the most improved steam machinery in operation, and are thus able to make the finest quality of Sugar Hogsheads and Molasses Barrels. Their work guaranteed to prove satisfactory. Office—28 and 29 Front street. oc23 1m

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED.....NOVEMBER, 1866.

THE PELICAN JOB OFFICE,
WHERE EXPEDITIOUS AND FIRST-CLASS
COMMERCIAL, BOOK AND JOB PRINTING IS EXECUTED,
NOS. 112 AND 114 POYDRAS STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

ERNEST TURPIN, PROPRIETOR.

A BRONZE MEDAL was awarded this office in 1865; also a BRONZE MEDAL AND TWO DIPLOMAS at the Louisiana State Fair, 1872.
Ledgers, Journals, Cash-Books, Check-Books, Time-Books, Music-Books, Ruling, etc. mhl1 tyeow

D. H. HOLMES,
DIRECT IMPORTATION OF
DRY GOODS,
NO. 155 CANAL STREET AND NO. 15 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.
IMPORTER OF
Silks, Embroidery, Laces, Ladies' and Children's Suits, Hosiery, HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, MATTINGS, ETC.
ap24 1y

BUSINESS CARDS.

E. HEATH. M. LARA.
HEATH & LARA,
Importers and Dealers in
UPHOLSTERERS' GOODS, WALL PAPER
WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,
Mirrors, Frames, Moulding and Wire Screens,
No. 99 Camp Street,
no20 1y New Orleans.

JULIUS LOEFFLER,
GAS FITTER AND DEALER IN GAS FIXTURES, ETC.,
No. 13 Royal Street,
Between Customhouse and Bienville streets,
no30 3m New Orleans.

MRS. LYNCH,
DRESS AND CLOAKMAKER,
180.....Canal Street.....180
Between Baronne and Dryades streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
☞ Patterns for sale. no20 2m

MRS. S. ZEPHIRIN,
DRY GOODS AND VARIETY STORE,
621.....MAGAZINE STREET.....621
NEW ORLEANS.
A large assortment of SUN-BONNETS always on hand. no13 2m

LUMBER YARD.....FEED STORE.
F. HEUER,
Dealer in All Kinds of Lumber,
Oak, Ash, Poplar, Cedar, Walnut, Cypress, etc., and all kinds of Flatboat Lumber; also in Hay, Corn, Oats, Bran, etc., 918 and 950 NEW LEVEE street, between Sixth and Seventh streets (Fourth District,) New Orleans. no13 2m

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
ja2 1y New Orleans, La.

O. W. RAE. W. H. FOSTER.
E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice, Louisiana.
RAE, FOSTER & E. T. MERRICK,
ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS
AND
SOLICITORS,
Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,
se25 NEW ORLEANS.

C. G. FORSHEY,
CONSULTING ENGINEER,
Academy of Science Rooms,
21 BARONNE STREET,
no20 2m New Orleans.

T. WHINREY CARTER,
ARCHITECT,
38.....CARONDELET STREET.....38
not3 2m New Orleans.

S. B. HAGGART,
ARCHITECT,
No. 5 Commercial Place, New Orleans.
Plans, detail drawings and specifications of Churches, School-houses and buildings of every description. de12 1y

WATER WHEEL.
NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED
N. F. Burnham's New Turbine
WATER WHEEL
To be the Best ever Invented.
Pamphlet free. Address—York, Pa.
jy2 16m

JOHN GIBSON,
ENGRAVER
AND
Steam Power Lithographic Printer,
82 BEEKMAN ST., NEW YORK.
Checks, Notes, Drafts, Receipts, Bonds, Certificates of Stock and Deposit, Bill, Letter and Note Headings, Business Cards, Envelops, Druggists' Fancy and Perfumery Labels, etc. Druggists wishing Labels, send for catalogue. jy3 1y

FLINN'S PATENT
SELF-FASTENING AND ADJUSTABLE
BED SPRINGS
Make the Best Spring Beds in Use.
They are complete in themselves, and can be applied in a few minutes to any slat bedstead.
☞ From three to five dozen make a Set.
JOHN FLINN,
26 South Second St., Philadelphia, Pa
Cor. S. Water and Champlain Sts., Cleveland.
Agents wanted everywhere. se18 1y

MEDICAL.

MATERN WEBER,
APOTHECARY,
No. 181, Cor. Royal and Spain Sts.,
has practiced as an Apothecary since 1851—before the School of Medicine was established in New Orleans. He defies any competition; moreover, there is no Chemist in the world who is able to analyze the following articles:
Weber's Spermatorrhœic Pills ($2 per box.)
Cough Syrup ($1 per bottle.)
Sarsaparilla ($2 per bottle.)
Piles Ointment ($1.10 per box.)
Dyspepsia Mixture, and Lotion for Sores.
He guarantees all the above compounds free from Mercury or any other injurious ingredients. He charges only for his medicine. no6 2m

A BOX OF
LIVER PILLS (FREE)
GOES
WITH EVERY BOTTLE
OF OUR
AGUE MEDICINE,
which we authorize every druggist to sell on
THE WARRANT
that, if taken according to directions and it fails to cure,
The Money Shall be Refunded.
We guarantee that it contains neither Arsenic, Strychnine nor any other poisonous ingredient.
Hear what those who have used it say of it:

READ THIS.

Thos. Broughton, with John D. Park, of Cincinnati, says: "W. C. Hamilton & Co.—I had had the Ague for two long years, and had tried several remedies of acknowledged or pretended merit without any good result. I finally tried your preparation—KRESS FEVER TONIC. One bottle completely broke up the malady, and I am now perfectly well. I can testify that your medicine does all you claim for it; and it is only due to you that this acknowledgment should be made, especially as so many worthless chill medicines are now offered."

☞ Ask for KRESS FEVER TONIC, and remember the guarantee of the proprietors,
W. C. HAMILTON & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
jy17 3m Cincinnati, Ohio.

BETHESDA MINERAL WATER.—THE acknowledged cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Liver and Bilious Affections, Kidney and Urinary diseases. Sold, wholesale or retail, at 38 Magazine Street. J. C. McALLISTER,
Address Glass Box 823. Sole Southern Agent. mh6 1y

THE SABBATH
THE LATEST, THE GREATEST AND BEST TUNE BOOK for Church Choirs of all Denominations.
Price, $1.50.
For dozen Copies, $15.00.
One Sample Copy, by Mail, $1.25
LEE & WALKER, 922 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia
ma13 tilt

SOUTHERN SALE STABLES,
COR. DELORD AND DRYADES STS.
Having purchased the above Stables from George W. Fisher, I will constantly keep on hand the largest variety of Kentucky MULES; also Harness and Saddle HORSES. Take the Jackson Railroad and Dryades street cars, foot of St. Charles street; they take you to the Stables in five minutes. Merchants; planters and dealers will find it to their interest to give me a call before purchasing elsewhere.
oc23 3m O. P. ALFORD.

MARCY'S SCIOPTICON
With Improved and Cheapened
MAGIC LANTERN SLIDES.
For Homes, S. Schools and Lecture-rooms.
It is unrivalled. Brilliant and easy to show. Circulars Free. Catalogues 10 cts.
SCIOPTICON MANUAL, Revised Ed. 50 cts.
T. J. MARCY, 1310 Chestnut St., Philadelphia
no20 4t

WORKING CLASS—MALE OR FEMALE. $30 a week. Employment at home, day or evening; no capital. Instructions and valuable package of goods sent free by mail. Address, with six-cent return stamp, M. YOUNG & CO., 173 Greenwich street, New York. no6 13t

IRON WORKS—BELLS.

BOSTON ORNAMENTAL
IRON WORKS.
EMPIRE LAWN MOWERS.
The Best in the Market.
Fountains, Vases, Statues, Deer, Dogs, Lions and other Lawn and Garden Ornaments.
Iron and Wire Railings for public and private buildings, banks, cemeteries, window-guards, etc.
Iron Crestings for Mansard roofs.
Iron Stable Fixtures of the most approved designs.
Copper Weather Vanes. Over two hundred new and original designs.
Emblematic Signs, suitable for every trade and profession.
Reynolds' Iron Roofing. Warranted.
All kinds of Wrought and Cast Iron made for building purposes. Estimates given. Send for catalogue.
RUBIER & CO., Proprietors,
Office—23 Exchange street.
au21 6m Factory—63 Merrimac St., Boston.

RAILINGS.....RAILINGS.
WROUGHT IRON AND WIRE RAILINGS
FOR
Public Grounds, Cemeteries, Cottages,
ETC., ETC.
Iron Bedsteads, with Wire Sackings, for Hospitals, etc. Verandas and every variety of Wrought Iron and Wire work. Every information by addressing the manufacturers.
M. WALKER & SONS,
se18 1y 805 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WIRE RAILING
AND
ORNAMENTAL WIRE WORKS.
DUFUR & CO.,
No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.,
Manufacture Wire Railing for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Sleeves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc. oc2 1y

PATENT COMBINED
IRON FENCES.
(The New Plan of Iron Nailed to Iron.)
The best and neatest in the world for public and private grounds. Send for designs.
J. H. WICKERSHAM & SONS,
Sole Manufacturers.
se25 3m 1003 Ridge avenue, Philadelphia.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati
R. J. WEST, Agent,
mh6 1y 115 and 117 Magazine st., New Orleans.

MENEELY & KIMBERLY,
BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.
Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.
Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.
☞ Illustrated catalogue sent free. jy31 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

BABCOCK SELF-ACTING
FIRE ENGINE,
FOR CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE USE.

The Babcock Fire Extinguisher, Hook and Ladder Trucks, with Portable Fire Extinguishers attached. The Fire Departments in the principal cities of the Union use them daily. They are safe and simple, and a powerful protection. Forty-six railroads use them. Insurance companies reduce rates where it is introduced.
A. M. GRANGER, General Agent,
mh6 1y Exposition Building

CABINS.....LUMBER.....CABINS.
PLANTATION CABINS, manufactured in the city and shipped to the country, all framed, fitted, and each piece marked and numbered, so that a common hand can put them up without the aid of a carpenter.
The above represents a double Cabin of two rooms, each 14x16, built with boards placed upright and the joints stripped. Price, delivered to boat, including all hardware, nails, shingles, etc., $135. We make them of all sizes. Cost in proportion.
We also keep a large stock of LUMBER, SASH, etc., on hand, and make a specialty of sawing bills to order. W. W. CARRE & CO.,
ja23 1y 850 Delord street, New Orleans.

MULTUM IN PARVO.
HINES' COMBINATION STEAM COOKER.

The most perfect Steam Cooking Apparatus ever invented. Will cook SIX different articles at ONE TIME—MEATS, POULTRY, FISH, VEGETABLES, PUDDINGS, etc.—without one article tainting another without the possibility of over-cooking or burning, and at the same time afford HOT WATER for Tea or Coffee, without interfering with the process of cooking.

| | |
|---|---|
| No. 1, small family size | $10 00 |
| No. 2, medium family size | 13 00 |
| No. 3, large family size | 16 00 |

Cookers sent to any part of the country on receipt of price, or C. O. D., with full instructions for using.
For sale at No. 52 GRAVIER STREET, New Orleans.
Agents wanted in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Send for circulars. Address
GOODWYN & CO.,
jy31 6m Lock Box 161, New Orleans, La.

BINGHAM HOUSE, PHILADELPHIA.
Corner of Eleventh and Market Sts.
CARLIS DAVIS, PROPRIETOR.
This popular Hotel being centrally located and accessible by street cars from all depots, makes it a desirable stopping-place for travelers. It will be conducted in the same liberal manner as heretofore, it being the intention of the proprietor to maintain the reputation it has always enjoyed of being in all respects a first-class hotel.
Terms, $4 a day. se11 1y

BRINLY PLOWS
Best and Cheapest in Use.
Have taken over 800 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for illustrated Catalogue with Price-list, and Certificates of Planters who use them.
SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

se25 3m

AMERICAN HOUSE,
BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.
The Largest first-class Hotel in the City.
Centrally located. Contains apartments with bathing conveniences adjoining. Also Passenger Elevator, Billiard Hall, Telegraph Office and Cafe.
au14 1y LEWIS RICE & SON.

New Orleans Markets.

From the New Orleans Price Current.

COTTON.—The following are the arrivals since twenty-eighth ultimo:

| | |
|---|---|
| Louisiana and Mississippi | bales... 26,880 |
| Lake | 33 |
| Arkansas | 1,382 |
| Tennessee | 2,806 |
| Mobile | 3,060 |
| Texas | 312 |
| Total | 31,481 |

On Saturday the market opened with only a moderate inquiry and a limited business, mostly at a decline of ⅛c., but later in the day factors stimulated the demand by making further concessions, and the movement became more animated, resulting in sales of 4,700 bales. Quotations were accordingly reduced ⅛@¼c. on low middling and the lower grades, and about ¼c. on the better qualities. The sales for currency included strict good ordinary at 15¼c., and low middling at 15⅛c., and for certified checks strict ordinary at 13⅛, 13 5-16, 13⅜c., good ordinary at 14⅛@14¼c., strict good ordinary at 14⅜, 15c, 15⅛c., low middling at 15⅛@15¼c., strict low middling at 16c., middling at 16, 16 1-16, 16⅛c., middling to strict middling at 16¾c., strict middling to good middling at 17⅛c., and good middling as low as 17⅜c., or ¾c. under quotations. On Monday the movement during the morning was of moderate extent, but later in the day exhibited more animation, and 4,850 bales changed hands at irregular and lower prices, a portion of the business being done at a decline of 1 1-16@⅛c., and a part at ⅛, 3-16@¼c., the average being 3-16@¼c. On Tuesday we noticed a fair inquiry during the morning, but mostly from buyers who came forward with offers which factors were unwilling to accept, notwithstanding which about 2,000 bales changed hands during the morning, partly at previous rates, but mostly at a decline of 1-16@⅛c., after which the movement became more animated, and the entire business summed up 6,500 bales. The closing rates showed an irregular decline of 1-16@¼c., but exhibited rather more steadiness than earlier in the day. The above makes an aggregate for the past three days of 16,250 bales, against 14,600 for the corresponding time last week and 11,300 the week before.

The receipts proper at this port since the first of September, exclusive of the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, are 267,888 bales, against 332,303 bales to the same date last year, and the decrease in the receipts at all the ports up to the latest dates, as compared with last year, is 146,259 bales. In the exports from the United States to foreign countries, as compared with the same date last year, there is an increase of 14,711 to Great Britain, and a decrease of 42,882 to France and of 59,386 to other foreign ports. We quote:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Ordinary | currency... | 12¼ @ — |
| Strict ordinary | | 12⅝ @ 13 |
| Good ordinary | | 14 @ 14⅛ |
| Strict good ordinary | | 14⅜ @ 14⅝ |
| Low middling | | 15 @ 15⅛ |
| Strict low middling | | 15¼ @ 15⅜ |
| Middling | | 16 @ 16⅛ |
| Strict middling | | 16⅜ @ 16⅝ |
| Good middling | | — @ 18 |

COTTON STATEMENT.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Stock on hand Sept. 1, 1873...bales | | 7,177 |
| Arrived past three days | 34,483 | |
| Arrived previously | 269,757— | 304,240 |
| | | 311,417 |
| Exported past three days | 20,827 | |
| Exported previously | 149,244— | 170,071 |
| Stock on hand and on shipboard | | 141,346 |

SUGAR.—The supplies, though not large, have found a dull market, with prices leaning in favor of buyers. The receipts on Saturday and Monday embraced 1,700 hhds., of which only about a half was disposed of at 4@5c. for inferior, 5¼@5⅝c. for common, 6@6¼c. for good common, 6¾@6⅞c. for fair, 7⅛c. for good fair, 7⅜@7⅝c. for fully fair, 8@8¼c. for prime, 8⅝@8¾c. for strictly prime, 8⅞@9c. for choice, 9@9⅛c. for seconds, 8⅝@9¼c. for yellow clarified, 9@9⅜c. for white clarified.

MOLASSES.—On Tuesday 3,069 hbls. and 110 half bbls. were received, and sold as fast as landed, inferior centrifugal 33c, centrifugal 39@45c, common 38c., fair 45@48c., prime 50@53c., strictly prime 54@55c., choice 58c. ₱ gallon.

CORN.—The supply is light, with a moderate demand at previous prices. On Saturday 1,900 sacks sold at 76c. for yellow mixed, and 78c. for white; and on Monday 1,200 sacks sold at 75c. for yellow and mixed; a small lot of white sold in store at 78c. per bushel.

OATS.—Supplies are liberal and the demand is fair. On Tuesday 1,050 sacks sold at 55c. for ordinary, and 56@57c. for choice.

BRAN—Is in light supply and limited demand. On Saturday 100 sacks sold at 85c. ₱ 100 lbs.

PORK.—The dealers have replenished their stocks since the first instant, and there was a good demand on Monday, when 354 bbls. new and old mess sold, in several lots, at $14.62½, $14.75@15 ₱ bbl.

BREAKFAST BACON—Is in good supply, but there is no demand, and prices are nominal. On Monday a lot of choice Western sold at 11½c. ₱ lb. On Tuesday 25 boxes sold on private terms.

HAMS.—On Tuesday 10 tierces choice new sugar-cured sold at 13½c. ₱ lb.

MONETARY.

Gold opened on Tuesday at 108⅞@109¼ for currency and 109¼@109⅝ for checks (against 108⅞ at New York,) and closed at the opening rates for the former and 109⅝@110 for the latter (against 109¼ at New Yark.)

Nothing has been reported in silver. It is extremely scarce. Quotations are entirely nominal.

New Orleans Wholesale Prices.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

Made up from Actual Sales as they Transpire.

| ARTICLES. | FROM | TO |
|---|---|---|
| AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS: | | |
| Cotton scrapers | $5 00 | $6 00 |
| Cotton sweeps | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth | 9 00 | 18 00 |
| Cultivators, riding and walking | 25 00 | 45 00 |
| Shovels and spades | 7 50 | 16 50 |
| Axes | 12 00 | 17 50 |
| Shovel plows | 6 00 | 9 00 |
| Half do., with cutters | 8 00 | 10 00 |
| Manly's double-shovel plow | 6 00 | 9 75 |
| Corn mills, Coleman's | 150 00 | 425 00 |
| Bradford's grist mills | 150 00 | 235 00 |
| BRICKS, ₱ M: | | |
| Lake | 13 00 | 16 00 |
| Country | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| English fire | 45 00 | 50 00 |
| American fire | 35 00 | 43 00 |
| CANDLES, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sperm, New Bedford | 33 | 36 |
| Tallow | 17 | — — |
| CHOCOLATE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Cocoa | 38 | 60 |
| No. 1 | 50 | 52 |
| Sweet | 25 | — — |
| COAL, ₱ ton: | | |
| Anthracite | — — | 13 00 |
| Western, ₱ bbl | — — | — — |
| COFFEE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Mexican | 27 | 28 |
| Java | 30 | — — |
| COTTON SEED: | | |
| Rough, ₱ ton | — — | 10 00 |
| In sacks | — — | — — |
| EGGS, ₱ dozen: | | |
| Western | 25 | 30 |
| FERTILIZERS, ₱ ton: | | |
| Stern's raw-bone superphosph'e | — — | 65 00 |
| Stern's fine-ground bone | — — | 45 00 |
| FLOUR, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Double extra | 5 00 | 5 75 |
| Superfine | 4 50 | 4 75 |
| Fine | — — | 4 25 |
| GLASS, ₱ box of 50 feet: | | |
| French, 8 by 10 | — — | 4 00 |
| French, 10 by 12 | 4 00 | 4 25 |
| French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20 | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20 | 4 50 | 5 00 |
| HAY, ₱ ton: | | |
| Prime | — — | 26 50 |
| Choice | — — | 27 00 |
| IRON, ₱ ton: | | |
| English, ₱ lb | 4¼ | 5½ |
| Swedes, assorted | 7½ | 8 |
| Hoop | 9 | 9 |
| Sheet | 7 | 10 |
| Nail rods | — — | 9¾ |
| Castings, American | 5¼ | 6 |
| LEATHER, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sole, hemlock | 30 | 33 |
| Sole, oak | 40 | 44 |
| Harness | 38 | 45 |
| Calf-skins, ₱ dozen | 35 00 | 100 00 |
| Texas, rough, ₱ lb | 24 | 26 |
| LIME, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Western | 1 75 | — — |
| Cement | 2 75 | 3 00 |
| Plaster Paris | 3 50 | 3 75 |
| LUMBER, ₱ M feet: | | |
| Boards, yellow pine | 13 00 | 15 00 |
| Boards, cypress | 20 00 | 25 00 |
| Flooring, dressed | 18 00 | 21 00 |
| Flooring, rough | 14 00 | 17 00 |
| Ceiling, dressed | — — | 12 00 |
| Weatherboards, dressed | 15 00 | 18 00 |
| Weatherboards, rough | — — | 12 00 |
| Scantling | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| Shingles, ₱ M | 3 50 | 4 00 |
| Lathe | 2 50 | 2 75 |
| OILS: | | |
| Lard, ₱ gallon | 82 | 85 |
| Coal oil, in barrels | 21 | 23 |
| Linseed, raw | 1 10 | — — |
| SUGAR, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Havana, white | — — | — — |
| Havana, yellow | 9 | 10 |
| Havana, brown | 9 | 9½ |
| Crushed | 11¾ | 12 |
| Pulverized | 11¾ | 12 |
| TEAS, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Imperial | 50 | 1 30 |
| Gunpowder | — — | 1 60 |
| Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Young Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Pouchong | 30 | — — |
| Oolong | 40 | 1 10 |
| WAGONS, CARTS, ETC.: | | |
| Wagon, two-horse | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 110 00 | 125 00 |
| Wagon, two-horse, thin skein | 85 00 | 90 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 100 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane wagon | 180 00 | 210 00 |
| Ox wagon | 90 00 | 125 00 |
| Ox cart, complete | 110 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane cart | 85 00 | 120 00 |
| Tongue cart, complete | 120 00 | 125 00 |
| Plantation cart | 55 00 | 70 00 |

CATTLE MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2, 1873.

| | |
|---|---|
| Texas beeves, choice, ₱ head | $— —@$45 00 |
| Texas beeves, first quality, ₱ head | 35 00 @ 40 00 |
| Texas cattle, second quality, ₱ head | 20 00 @ 28 00 |
| Texas cattle, third quality, ₱ head | 12 00 @ 15 00 |
| Western beeves, ₱ lb. net | 10 @ 12½ |
| Sheep, first quality, ₱ head | 4 00 @ 5 00 |
| Sheep, second quality, ₱ head | 3 00 @ 4 00 |
| Milch cows, choice, ₱ head | 80 00 @100 00 |
| Milch cows, ₱ head | 35 00 @ 50 00 |
| Calves, ₱ head | 7 00 @ 10 00 |
| Yearlings, ₱ head | 8 00 @ 12 00 |

Business Directory

OF THE

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Agencies.
Harchay & Co., Philadelphia.
E. C. Hilligman, New York.
A. Covle, St. Louis, Mo.
Mrs. H. Mogridge, purchasing agent, 96 Canal street.

Architects.
T. Whitney Carter, 58 Carondelet street.
S. B. Haggart, 5 Commercial place.

Artificial Legs and Arms.
Lewis Lockwood, 59 Camp street.

Banks.
New Orleans Savings Institution, 156 Canal st.

Bed Springs.
John Flinn, Philadelphia.

Bells.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Buckeye Bell Foundery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Book-Binder.
F. Kuhnholz, 112 Gravier street.

Books and Stationery.
Robert J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.
American Sunday School Union, Philadelphia.
Continental Publishing Co., St. Louis, Missouri.
J. W. Daughaday & Co., Philadelphia.
E. A. Hutchinson & Co., New Orleans.
Nettleton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. Hale Powers & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Queen City Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
James W. Queen & Co., New York.
H. R. Thompson & Co., 9 Lakeside building, Chicago, Illinois.
United States Publishing Company, New York.
Valley Publishing Company, New Orleans.
A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn

Boots and Shoes.
Louis Gimbel, 578 Magazine street.
John Hansen, 33 Canal street.
Mrs. D. J. Loewenstein, 549 Magazine street.
F. Selles, 181 Poydras street.
George John Wagner, corner Ursulines and Dauphine streets.

Butchers.
Martin Lannes, stalls 37, 38 and 7 Magazine market.

Canned Goods.
J. Winslow Jones, Portland, Maine.
Burnham & Morrill, Portland, Maine.

Carpets.
Elkin & Co., 168 Canal street.

Carriages, Wagons, Etc.
Joseph Beckhaus, Philadelphia.
W. F. Clark, 134 Rampart street.
D. M. Hollingsworth, 54 and 56 Baronne street.
J. A. Lunn & Co., 162 Gravier and 13 Union street.

Cemeteries.
Metairie Cemetery Association.

Clothing and Furnishing Goods.
M. Cogan, 19 and 29 Canal street.
Pierson & Hews, 13 and 15 Camp street.
B. T. Walshe, 110 Canal street.

Coal and Wood.
John D. Macfin, 31 Carondelet street.
H. & C. Tyler, 9 Carondelet street.
B. D. Wood & Bros., 101 Common street.
Wm. Velden, cor. Prytania and Philip streets.

Coopering.
Wm. J. Beirne & Co., cor. Marengo and Levee.

Cotton Ties.
Bartlett & Rayne, 48 Carondelet street.

Croquet.
Bradley's Patent Croquet, Robt. J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.

Dentists.
Dr. John G. Angell, 152 Julia street.

Dry Goods.
D. H. Holmes, 155 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

Educational.
Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana.
J. W. Blackman's Commercial College, 131 Carondelet street.
Emory and Henry College, Washington county, Virginia.
Hiwassee College, Sweetwater, Tennessee.
Homer College, Homer, Louisiana.
Readville Seminary, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
Whitworth Female College, Brookhaven, Miss

Engravers and Lithographers.
John Gibson, New York.
George E. Teetzel & Co., 82 Gruvier street.

Factors and Commission Merchants.
Aiken & Watt, 80 Carondelet street.
G. M. Bayly & Pond, 34 to 42 Canal and 59 and 61 Commott street.
W. Harrington & Co., 79 Carondelet street.
M. J. & D. D. O'Brien, 32 Peters street.
J. U. & H. M. Payne & Co., 64 and 66 Baronne st.

Fancy Goods.
Variety store, 547 Magazine street.
Mrs. S. Zephirin, 621 Magazine street.

Fire Engine.
Babcock Self-Acting Fire Engine, A. M. Gruger, general agent, Exposition building

Feamen.
Charles Hamilton, 661 Magazine street.
F. Wagener, 13 Baronne street.

Furniture.
J. Bois, 230 Camp street.
M. A. Davis & Sons, Philadelphia.
Nath. Johnson, New York.
The Mitchell & Rammelsberg Furniture Co. 103 and 105 Camp street.
Sampson & Bros., 33 and 35 Royal street.
W. P. Uhlinger, Philadelphia.

Gas and Steam-Pipe Fitters.
Barbarin Gas Machines, F. Roberts, superintendent, 2 Triangle building and 255 Peters st.
Julius Loeffler, 42 Royal street.
Jas. N. Quin, 118 and 120 Tchoupitoulas street.

Glass Works.
Aickin & Isaac, Philadelphia.

Grocers.
John I. Adams & Co., 43, 45 and 47 Peters street.
C. W. Roth, 175 Poydras street.

Hardware.
A. Baldwin & Co., 74 Canal, and 91, 93 and 95 Common street.

Hay.
Jacob C. Baker, Portland, Maine.

Hides and Tallow.
New Orleans Butchers' Hide and Tallow Co.

Hotels.
American House, Boston, Massachusetts.
Bingham House, Philadelphia.
McAllister's House, cor. Carondelet and Julia.
Sherman House, Chicago, Illinois.
St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

Human Hair Goods.
J. G. Bermel, 121 Canal street.
George T. Shilling, 381 Dryades street.

Ink.
Printers' Ink, S. Collins & Co., New York.

Insurance.
Ætna Life Insurance Co., 2 Carondelet street.
American Life Insurance Co., 10 Carondelet st.
Equitable Life Assurance Co., 31 Camp street.

Iron Manufactories.
Billings & Spencer Company, Hartford, Conn
Boston Ornamental Iron Works, Boston, Mass.
M. Walker & Sons, Philadelphia.
J. B. Wickersham & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

Jewelry.
A. B. Griswold & Co., cor. Canal and Royal sts.

Lumber.
W. W. Curre & Co., 350 Delord street.
Thomas Hasam, cor. Cedar and Julia streets.
F. Heiner, 948 and 950 New Levee street.
Ocean Saw Mill, foot of Bordeaux street, Sixth District.
Roberts & Co., 301 to 307 Gravier street.

Machinery.
N. F. Burnham's Water-wheel, York, Pa.
Daniel & James D. Edwards, 22 to 28 Front and 21 to 27 Delta street.
Lewis Johnson, corner Julia, Delta and Water streets.
Meneely & Kimberly, Troy, New York.
W. H. Reynolds, corner Fulton and South Market streets.
Jos. Walker, corner St. Joseph and Constance streets.
B. J. West, 115 and 117 Magazine street.

Magic Lanterns.
W. Mitchell McAllister, Philadelphia, Pa.

Manufacturers.
William Ebert, 164 and 166 Magazine street.

Medical.
Mrs. M. G. Brown's Metaphysical Discovery, 51 Bond street, New York.
Chills and Fevers, Dr. J. A. Muyes, Muyesville, South Carolina.
Citrate of Magnesia, etc., Hofmann & Co., N. Y.
Craddock & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Cundirango Bitters, 44 Dauphine street.
Fever and Ague cure, Billings, Clupp & Co., New York.
Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Sirup, E. J. Hart & Co., New Orleans.
Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion, W. C. Hamilton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Laplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm, B. Laplace, 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Buffalo, New York.
Dr. Resch's Hair Regenerator, 134 Thalia st.
Rogers' Citrate of Magnesia, Arthur Rogers, New York.
Simmons' Liver Regulator, J. H. Zellin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Swaim's celebrated Panacea, 170 William st., New York.
The Greatest Medical Discovery, Dr. Kennedy, Roxbury, Massachusetts.
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills, 18 and 20 Platt street, New York.
Matern Weber, apothecary, corner Royal and Spain streets.

Mineral and Soda Water.
Bethesda Mineral Water, J. C. McAllister, agent, glass box 825, New Orleans

Millinery.
H. Felsenfield, 194 Canal street.
Mrs. Barnhardt, 625 Magazine street.
Mrs. Lynch, 180 Canal street.
Mme. Montardier, 19 Bourbon street.
Mrs. M. Tournabeu, 208 Prytania street.

Modiste.
Sophie 13 Baronne street.

Musical Instruments, Publications, Etc.
Robert J. Harp, 110 and 112 Camp street.
Bigtow & Main, New York and Chicago.
S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, Ohio.
S. C. Collins, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
Charles H. Dixon & Co., New York.
Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, Massachusetts.
Lee & Walker, Philadelphia, Pa.
Alexander Mills, organ builder, New York.
Horace Waters & Son, New York.

Painters.
A. S. Cutler, 136½ Camp street.
Johnson & Hillsman, 144 Magazine street.

Paper-Hanger.
T. J. Brown, 203 Camp street.

Paper Mills.
Atlanta Paper Mills, Atlanta, Georgia.

Paper Patterns.
W. E. Cooper, 89 Canal street.

Patents.
John A. Wiedersheim & Co., Philadelphia.

Pens.
R. Esterbrook & Co., New York.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

Perfumery.
Colgate & Co.'s Cashmere Bouquet.

Photographers.
Anderson, 183 Canal street.
Umhauer & Simon, 21 Hospital street.

Plows.
Brinly Plows, Briuly, Miles & Hardy, Louisville, Kentucky.

Preserved Corn.
Portland Packing Company, Portland, Maine.

Printing.
Pelican Job Office, 112 and 114 Poydras street.

Professional.
Dr. C. J. Bickham, office, corner Magazine and Second streets.
C. G. Forshey, Civil Engineer, 24 Baronne street.
Dr. J. J. Lyons, office, 210 Carondelet street.
Race, Foster & E. T. Merrick, law office, corner Camp and Commercial place.

Pumps.
Chicago Farm Pumps, B. S. Twichell, agent.

Railroads.
Great Jackson Route.

Sciopticon.
L. J. Marcy, Philadelphia.

Seeds and Flowers.
Korn, Stelzer & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
D. Landreth & Son, Philadelphia.

Sewing Machines.
Florence Sewing Machine Co., Florence, Mass.
Weed Sewing Machine, 207 Canal street.

Soap.
J. H. Keller, 110 Gravier street.

Stables.
Southern Sale Stables, cor. Delord and Dryades.

Steamboat Agents.
Britton & Eppler, 135 Gravier street.

Steamships and Shipping.
Cromwell Line New York Steamers, Alfred Moulton, agent, 41 Carondelet street.
Merchants' Line New York Steamers, John H. Ludwigsen, agent, 190 Common street.

Stoves.
H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Tobacco and Cigars.
F. Esteva, corner Camp and Girod streets.
Santiago M. Lapeyre, 53 St. Louis street.
Ed. L. Zell, corner Canal and Carondelet streets.

Undertakers.
T. W. Bethick, 271 Camp street, New Orleans.

Upholstery.
Heath & Lara, 99 Camp street

Wants.
Goodwyn & Co., lock box 161, New Orleans.
Address Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans.

Washing Machines.
Lash Washing Machine, No. 5 North Seventeenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Ringen Washer, H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Watches.
New York Watch Company, Springfield, Mass.

Wire Railing, Etc.
Dufur & Co., Baltimore, Maryland.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

NOTICE.—The Publishing Committee of the ADVOCATE gave it as their opinion that the insertion of the notices of Quarterly Conferences once or twice was sufficient, and, as the space of the paper is valuable, they passed a resolution recommending that they "be not inserted more than once or twice." Our friends will are interested in these appointments will take due notice thereof, as we propose to be governed by the resolution in future.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Mansfield circuit, at Mansfield | Nov. 1, 2 |
| Keachie circuit, at Keachie | 8, 9 |
| Caddo circuit, at Mount Zion | 15, 16 |
| Many circuit, at Fort Jessup | 22, 23 |
| Anacoco circuit, at Holly Grove | 29, 30 |
| Springville circuit, at Forest Grove | Dec. 6, 7 |
| Pleasant Hill circuit, at Beulah | 13, 14 |
| North Bossier circuit | 20, 21 |
| Shreveport station | 27, 28 |

13 JOHN PIPES, P. E.

INSURANCE.

AMERICAN

LIFE INSURANCE CO.

SOUTHERN BRANCH,

10.....CARONDELET ST.....10

New Orleans, La.

Insures on LOW ALL-CASH RATES. All restrictions as to travel and residence removed.

Premiums paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually, at option of parties insuring.

The company is one of THE OLDEST in the United States, and has a share of the patronage of the public.

☞ Any particulars gladly furnished at the above place.

oc24 2m CAPT. JOHN D. SCOTT, Agent

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.

WILLIAM E. FITZGERALD,

Manager for Louisiana and Mississippi,

NO. 2 CARONDELET ST. (Room No. 10,)

oc23 3m New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW ORLEANS

SAVINGS INSTITUTION,

156.....CANAL STREET.....156

Incorporated March 15, 1855.

OFFICERS.

L. F. GENERES, President.
THOS. A. ADAMS, First Vice President.
THOS. ALLEN CLARKE, Second V. President.
CHARLES J. LEEDS, Third Vice President.
SAM JONES, Jr., Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| Dr. W. Newton Mercer, | David Urquhart, |
| L. F. Generes, | John G. Gaines, |
| George Jones, | Carl Kohn, |
| Thos. A. Adams, | Christian Schneider, |
| Thos. Allen Clarke, | Samuel Jamison. |
| Charles J. Leeds, | |

☞ SIX PER CENT. INTEREST on deposits.

oc23 3m

NEW ORLEANS BUTCHERS'

HIDE AND TALLOW CO.,

NO. 69 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.

Capital.....$100,000.

JEAN BERTHIN, President.
A. D. DUCHIRON, Secretary.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| J. Berthin, | P. Lacoze, |
| H. Hubat, | A. D. Duchiron, |
| P. Cestac, | A. Maithes, |
| L. Duches, | M. Lannes, |
| J. Dubarry, | J. Soulhie, |
| J. Berdelhan. | oc30 2m |

OCEAN SAW MILL.

Having our large NEW SAW MILL now in successful operation, which gives us increased facilities for sawing Lumber to order at short notice, and at reduced prices, we would be glad to have our customers and the public generally, in want of Lumber, to call and examine our stock, consisting of almost every variety of wood grown in the South, viz.:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cypress, | Cedar, | Hhd. Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, Yellow, | Maple, | Barrel Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, White, | Gum, | Headings | (cypress.) |
| Oak, White, | Sycamore, | Clap-Boards | (cypress.) |
| Ash, | Beech, | Shingles | (cypress.) |
| Walnut, | Cotton, | Laths | (cypress.) |
| Poplar, | Cherry, | Firewood, assorted, etc. | |

Also Mast-Sticks and Spars.

It will be greatly to the advantage of parties shipping by cargo to call upon us, as we can saw and furnish Lumber as rapidly as a vessel can receive it.

Orders directed to Messrs. M. PUIG & CO., No. 57 Customhouse street, or Box 2235, New Orleans Postoffice, and Box 297, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange, will receive prompt attention.

L. CARBO, Director and Agent,
Office, foot of Bordenmx street,
no6 1m Sixth District.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

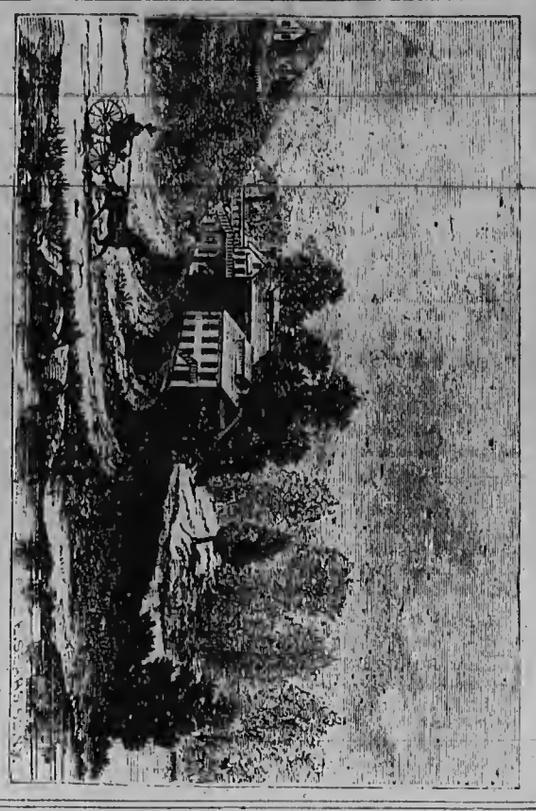
When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of Consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., giving name of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, New Orleans. no13 6m

THIS IS BONA FIDE.

THIS IS

NO LIQUIDATION SALE,

NEVER TO END.



Fire and Water have not injured my goods in the least, but I am firmly resolved to close my business in the store, No. 161 Poydras street, on the first of December. To accomplish this object I now offer to the public one of the finest stocks of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Philadelphia and Home-made Gaiters, Button Boots, Slippers, and in fact every style of Shoe known to the trade, not excepting Gentlemen's BOOTS AND SHOES, at prices way BELOW COST. To test the sincerity of this proposition I simply request the public to examine the goods. F. SELLES, no13 1m No. 161 Poydras street.

NOTICE TO

PLANTERS AND MILLERS.

A Licensed Engineer of twenty years' experience desires employment. Practical, alert, sober and honest. Address ENGINEER, no20 tf No. 144 Carondelet street.

PAPER MILLS.

ATLANTA PAPER MILLS,

JAMES ORMOND, PROPRIETOR.

OFFICE—No. 48 BROAD STREET, ATLANTA, GA.

☞ For Specimen of "News" we refer to this issue of this Paper. ☜

Cash Orders Solicited. nly1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

BILLINGS' PATENT

Sewing Machine

SHUTTLES.

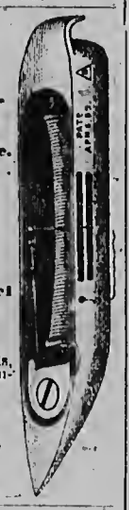
Twenty Varieties Now Made.

Forged solid from bar-steel and cold-pressed.

TRADE B MARK.

Also Wrought Iron and Steel

DROP FORGINGS



of all descriptions, for Guns, Pistols, Sewing Machines, Agricultural Implements, etc.

MANUFACTURED BY

Billings & Spencer Co.,

LAWRENCE STREET,

se25 6m Hartford, Conn.

THE ABOVE WATCHES

ARE MADE IN

THE CITY OF SPRINGFIELD, MASS.,

are the NE PLUS ULTRA in quality, and have the reputation of being thoroughly and honestly made. Warranted correct and durable Timekeepers, and equal at least to any Watches made in the WORLD for the money.

Sold by dealers generally in the United States and Canadas, and by E. A. TYLER, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Office in New York—180 Broadway. se11yoanl

METAIRIE

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.

OFFICE METAIRIE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION,
No. 27 Carondelet st., New Orleans, Nov. 9 1873.

We will be prepared, on and after the fifteenth of November, to offer for sale LOTS in this Cemetery. We respectfully invite the public to visit the grounds, which are now partly finished and in rapid course of completion.

We also invite parties wishing to secure Lots to call either on the undersigned or at the office of the company, and examine the plans of the grounds, which will afford to owners of Lots and their families a beautifully-shelled carriage-drive of over five miles in extent within its inclosure.

It is the purpose of the Association to so improve and ornament this Cemetery as to make it equal, in point of beauty, to any in this country.

The prices of Lots will be about the same per superficial foot as fixed by other cemeteries in this city. W. S. PIKE, no20 1m Prest. Metairie Cemetery Association.

LADIES' HAIR STORE.

GEORGE T. SHILLING,

381.....Dryades Street.....381

Between Erato and Thalia streets,
Near Dryades Market, opposite Jefferson School,

Manufacturer of and Dealer in all kinds of

HUMAN HAIR GOODS,

calls the attention of his customers and strangers visiting the city, before purchasing elsewhere, to call and examine his stock of

REAL HAIR CHIGNONS,
PUFFS, CHATELAINE, BRAIDS,
SWITCHES, CURLS, ETC.,

of all shades, constantly on hand, made to order and neatly repaired, at reasonable prices.

Also a large stock of French and American PERFUMERY, SILK HAIR-NETS AND FANCY GOODS. All orders from the country promptly attended to, and at prices to suit the times. no6 tm

GOOD NEWS.....GOOD NEWS

FROM OUR

UPPER CITY BLUE SHOE STORE,

No. 578 Magazine Street, New Orleans.

MR. PHILLIPS, formerly with the house of Messrs. Glynn & Wintz, having recently taken charge of my department for the manufacture of

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES,

will be happy to meet his old friends and customers, satisfied of his ability to convince them that in quality of material, excellence and taste of workmanship, and reasonableness of price, his stock is unsurpassed in the city. Also Men's and Boys' HATS, and TRUNKS.

no20 1m LOUIS GIMBEL, Agent.

JOSEPH BECKHAUS,

CARRIAGE BUILDER,

No. 1204 Frankford Road,

Above Girard Avenue,

se18 3m PHILADELPHIA.

CHURCH AND

SCHOOL FURNITURE.

The undersigned calls the attention of all interested in fitting up Churches and Schools to his numerous styles of School Desks, especially his NE PLUS ULTRA DESK, which has been adopted in all the new Public Schools erected this last year in New York; as also new styles of Pulpits, Settees for Sunday Schools, Pews, etc.; also his last Patent of combined Easel and Map or Lesson-Card Elevator.

Altars, Tabernacles, Runners, Alms-Boxes, Etc.

NATH. JOHNSON,
No. 490 Hudson street, New York.
Catalogues forwarded on application. oc2 3m

MEDICAL.

THE GREATEST

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

OF THE AGE.

MR. KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, has discovered in one of our common pasture-weeds a remedy that cures

EVERY KIND OF HUMOR,

FROM

The Worst Scrofula Down to a Common Pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both Hunchbacks.) He has now in his possession over one hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of Pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of blotches.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst Canker in the mouth or stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all Humor in the Eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the Ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running Ulcers.

One bottle will cure a scaly eruption of the Skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of Ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of Rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure Salt Rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of Scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

ROXBURY, Mass.

DEAR MADAM: The reputation of the Medical Discovery in curing all kinds of Humors is so well established, by the unanimous voice of all who have ever used it, that I need not say anything on the subject, as the most skillful physicians and the most careful druggists in the country are unanimous in its praise.

In presenting the Medical Discovery to your notice, I do it with a full knowledge of its curative power in relieving all, and curing most of those diseases to which you are unfortunately so liable. That most excruciating disease to an affectionate mother,

Nursing Sore Mouth,

is cured as if by a miracle. Your own temper is restored to its natural sweetness, and your babe, from short and fretful naps to calm and sweet slumbers; and the Medical Discovery becomes a fountain of blessing to your husband and household. In the more advanced stages of

Canker

it extends to the stomach, causing

Dyspepsia,

which is nothing but canker in the stomach; that in the intestines and creating a sinking, gone feeling, and an indifference even to the cares of your family. Your stomach is your food distresses you, and you can only take certain kinds, and even of that your system does not get half the nourishment it contains, as the corrosions fluid of the canker eats it up; then your complexion loses its bloom and becomes sallow or greenish, and your best day is gone. For want of nourishment your system becomes loose and flabby, and the fibers of your body become relaxed. Then follow a train of diseases which the Medical Discovery is peculiarly adapted to

Kidneys,

Raw and Inflamed,

Cure:

Palpitation of the heart, pain in the side, weakness of the spine and small of the back, pain of the joints when you retire, irregularity of the bowels, and also that most excruciating of diseases,

The Piles.

How many thousands of poor women are suffering from this disease and pining away a miserable life, and their next-door neighbor does not know the cause. I wish to impress on your mind the old proverb: "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." In you have both the preventive and the cure, with this great and good quality: that it will never, under any circumstances, do you any injury.

THE MEDICAL DISCOVERY

No change of diet is ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one tablespoonful per day; children over ten years, dessertspoonful; children from five to eight years, teaspoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day. Yours truly, apl1 1y DONALD KENNEDY.

Price, $1.50 per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

THE AMERICAN

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION

OFFERS

Special Terms to Sunday Schools

IN THE SELECTION OF NEW AND

REPLENISHING OF OLD LIBRARIES

Catalogues furnished on application to any of the

SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPOSITORIES.

No. 1122 Chestnut street, Philadelphia—ALEX. KIRKPATRICK.
No. 10 Bible House, New York—G.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 19. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1873. NO. 50.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Senate.—There was no session of the Senate to-day.

The nomination of Judge Williams as chief justice was referred to the judiciary committee. This is contrary to the usual customs of the Senate with regard to senators and ex-senators whose nominations escape the committee on investigations.

The Senate has elected the Rev. Mr. Sunderland chaplain, to succeed Newman.

GALVESTON, Dec. 5.—The News has the following: Thirty-three counties heard from give an aggregate majority for Coke for Governor of 17,659. Eleven counties voted Republican—aggregate majority, 2,597; showing Coke's net majority in the forty-four counties heard from as 15,062.

The Democrats claim the State by 40,000 majority.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The Senate committee on elections and privileges met this morning in secret session, and took up the contest between McMillan and Pinchback.

While the meeting was in session Mr. Ogden appeared at the door of the committee-room, and sent in for Senator Alcorn.

The senator came out and Mr. Ogden informed him that he was ready to represent Mr. McMillan, and was prepared with proofs and arguments to resist the seating of Pinchback. He asks that nothing should be done without a fair hearing. He subsequently handed Mr. Morton the following letter:

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6, 1873.

Hon. Oliver P. Morton, Chairman of the Committee of Privileges and Elections:

SIR—I have just learned that your committee is entering upon the consideration of the credentials presented from Louisiana by Messrs. McMillan and Pinchback. I have been sent here by the people of Louisiana to represent them in this important contest, and trust that no action will be taken by the committee until I have been given an opportunity to present my case. I am prepared to show that the Senate must either recognize and seat Mr. McMillan or proclaim the fact that there is now no goverument in Louisiana, in the American sense of that word, either in theory or practice; no government that an American Senate could recognize; no government elected by the people of the State; and further, no government that, through the ordinary and legitimate government machinery, is able to sustain itself. There is a rule in Louisiana—a direct rule of the Federal government, which is of course obeyed—nothing else; and under this unnatural rule every interest is dying—moral and physical, civic, industrial and commercial. I desire to be heard, and hope the committee will accord me the opportunity before taking any action upon this subject. There can certainly be no danger from investigation. Truth is like a torch: the more it is shaken the more it shines.

Respectfully, etc.,

HORATIO N. OGDEN,
Delegate from People of Louisiana.

The committee adjourned without action, and has assigned next Wednesday evening to hear both parties on the law of the case. Mr. Ogden says that he feels satisfied that the Senate will not abandon its constitutional jurisdiction in this matter, notwithstanding the action of the House and the attitude of the executive.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—A New York Herald special dispatch from Paris, December 6, says:

A cipher dispatch from Madrid says that the Cuban question has again assumed a grave character.

Minister Sickles to-day tendered his resignation as minister, in consequence of a disagreement with Secretary Fish about the Spanish complications. This disagreement between the secretary and the minister has existed for some time. It is understood that in the recent negotiations Secretary Fish corresponded directly with President Castelar, ignoring Minister Sickles and disapproving of his imperative tone. The Correspondencia of Madrid says that they have had frequent disagreements before. There was almost a rupture with Mr. Fish on the occasion of the correspondence attending the remand of Bidwell, the forger, from Havana, and also with Dr. Howard's case, when Mr. Fish ignored Sickles and dealt directly with the Spanish minister. It is said in diplomatic circles that the good offices of the British minister accomplished a settlement on the occasions named; but now, as Mr. Fish proposes further concessions, Sickles resigns.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—House.—Maynard, of Tennessee, from the committee on rules, reported a bill removing all disabilities imposed and remaining on any person, by the third section of the fourteenth article of the amendment to the Constitution, and substituted for the ironclad oath the modified oath now administered to persons from whom disabilities have been removed. The bill was passed by a vote of 141 to 29.

Sypher's bill in the House, for the construction of the Fort St. Philip canal, appropriates $7,500,000. It was referred to the committee on railways and canals.

His bill for steamships between New Orleans and Mexican ports gives a subsidy of $100,000 per year for ten years.

The Secretary of War has directed an examination for a ship channel at Berwick's Bay, with a report of the coast and its practicability for war and commercial purposes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Bishop Armitage, of Wisconsin, died here, in St. Luke's Hospital, aged forty-three.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—A Herald Madrid special says there is a heavy decline on the Bourse in consequence of Grant's refusal to accept Sickles' resignation.

By a recent decision of the Secretary of the Treasury no duties are henceforth to be charged on importations of tropical fruit. This will make a difference of between $400,000 and $500,000 annually in the customs receipts.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The proceedings against the Mobile and Ohio railroad, by order of the Attorney General, have been ordered stopped. The Attorney General's order to the district attorney in effect is: "You are ordered not to bring suit for duties paid the Confederate government by the company during the war, and, if brought, to dismiss it."

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The Times publishes a list of British subjects taken prisoners on the steamer Virginius and executed. The Times, commenting, says the British government, while demanding the surrender of the survivers, must carefully avoid committing itself to the proposition that the seizure of the Virginius was illegal.

A Spanish special says that the bombardment of Carthagena proved a failure. A regular siege is now intended.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—In the Assembly a motion introduced by the Left, to censure the government for continuing the state of siege, was voted down by a vote of 407 to 273.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The crew of the Lochearne, which ran into and sunk the Ville de Havre, have arrived at Plymouth. They were brought into port by the British Queen, which took them off the Lochearne on the twenty-ninth, at which time she was in a sinking condition.

The account of the Ville de Havre disaster, given by the rescued crew, represents that the captain and second officer of the steamship came on board the Lochearne shortly after the collision, and did not assist in saving any of the passengers; and that the majority of the French exhibited lamentable cowardice.

The captain of the Lochearne makes the following statement:

After first sighting the steamer, and seeing that she was coming dangerously near, the captain of the Lochearne rang the ship's bell and ported his starboard; but the steamer came right across the Lochearne's bow.

The people in the first boat from the French steamer did not say that she was sinking, but the captain of the Lochearne, observing that the steamer was settling down, sent out his boats.

Neither the first French boat nor the second, which arrived shortly afterward, bringing the first and second captains of the Ville de Havre, attempted to return to their steamer, but, in spite of the expostulations of all the crew who were left on board the Lochearne, and the threats of her mates upon them, remained alongside the ship.

The clothing of the French officers who reached the deck of the Lochearne was dry, showing no signs of their having been in the water.

Finally some Englishmen seized and manned one of the French boats and went to the rescue of those struggling in the sea. Only one French boat's crew assisted in the rescue.

The captain of the Lochearne considers that the great loss of life resulted from the fact that his vessel drifted such a long distance from the steamer after the collision before it was possible to shorten sail, from the tardiness of the steamer in showing signals of distress and from the misconduct of her crew.

MADRID, Dec. 7.—It is said the government issued peremptory orders to the fleet to attack Carthagena in conjunction with the land forces.

Estella has been wholly abandoned by the government forces, on account of the prevalence of the smallpox and cholera.

A conference has taken place between Castelar and Salmeron, which is believed to have resulted in the restoration of harmony between the statesmen.

ROME, Dec. 7.—It is said a consistory of cardinals will be held on the twenty-second instant, when eleven cardinals will be created and nuncios to Madrid, Lisbon, Vienna and Paris will be appointed.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—In the Bazaine courtmartial yesterday Mons Lachaud began the closing argument for the defense.

HAVANA, Dec. 7.—Captain General Jovellar authorizes the statement that the entire island is tranquil. He has no doubt that all will be arranged peaceably and satisfactorily, without the slightest difficulty. He now declares that he does not intend to leave Havana or transfer his power into the hands of General Merlo, the "Segundo Cabo," who arrived by the last steamer from Spain.

---

A LAZY DYSPEPTIC was bewailing his own misfortunes and speaking with a friend upon the latter's hearty appearance. "What do you do to make yourself so strong and healthy?" inquired the dyspeptic.

"Live on fruit alone," answered the friend.

"What kind of fruit?"

"The fruit of industry; and I am never troubled with indigestion."

---

THE WICKED are not always so happy, nor the good so unhappy, as is imagined; and vice is, nine times out of ten, its own punishment.

From the Work.

MINDEN, LOUISIANA.—Mr. Editor: As news from the churches is always welcome, I will tell you something of our meeting at Minden. We commenced October 16 and continued until November 13, assisted by Bros. W. P. Kimball, J. A. Miller, N. A. Cravens, J. W. Medlock and the superintendent of the Mexican mission, all doing good service—"good work and true"—just such as was necessary for the upbuilding of the church of Christ. The result, immediate and visible, was thirty-five accessions to the church, about the same number of conversions, and the membership built up and strengthened with might; also the establishing of a prayer meeting for the young converts, in which sixteen or eighteen young men and youths are working for their Master. I assure you this is a sight worth witnessing. May God bless and keep them in the path of duty. Yours in Christ,

H. O. WHITE.

NOVEMBER 27, 1873.

---

PLEASANT HILL, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: I have been waiting for some time to drop you a line as news from this part of the great vineyard of the Master. The frightful plague at Shreveport and other points deranged mails, and everything else in the way of travel and business, so that we felt here as if we had been cut off from the "wide, wide world." But the tidal wave of death has gone back and disappeared, and the great wheels of life and trade begin again to move.

Our camp meeting at Bethel was a most refreshing season from the presence of the Lord; but our Beulah camp meeting was postponed indefinitely because of the great alarm which prevailed among our hills as to the possible spread of the disease out through the country. We had a protracted meeting at this place, in lieu of that meeting, which lasted nearly two weeks, and we hope that good was done. We closed a three days' basket meeting at Beulah a few days ago, which, I judge, did some good.

At all these meetings there were souls added and converted. This work seems to be in a good religious state. The congregations are prompt and attentive, while there is a large number of unconverted persons who appear to desire "pure religion." Our new church at this place is approaching completion. It will be a most comfortable and neat structure when finished, and will be an ornament to this whole parish. Much credit is due to my predecessor for starting the work, and to the community for continuing it.

Captain R. L. Robertson, of Moreau Street church, in your city, sent us the neat and pretty chandeliers and pulpit lamps to light it and ten gallons of oil. This is just like him; he is always doing something of this sort. I judge his conversion was most thorough, for it included his purse. I fear that there are only a few conversions of this kind.

Although our community is much pressed in finances, yet our Conference collections are progressing.—Quarterage, as yet, does not seem to make much headway, though I am inclined to think that my people will do as well as they can in that matter. Yours, etc.,

JOSEPH E. BRADLEY.

NOVEMBER 19, 1873.

---

SHREVEPORT DISTRICT CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: Owing to the presence of the epidemic at Shreveport the District Conference, by the agreement of the preachers met at Mansfield, Louisiana, October 30, 1873. In the interval between this impromptu arrangement and the meeting of the conference, however, several cases of the yellow fever appeared at Mansfield, spreading the wildest consternation among the citizens of the town, and even into the surrounding country for many miles away. Owing to this, several of the brethren supposed that there would be no meeting of the body, and hence the attendance was much smaller than it would otherwise have been. Only five pastoral charges were represented in full, and a sixth partially: Caddo, Mansfield, Springville, Pleasant Hill, Anacoco and Leesville mission.

In spite of the small attendance, the usual business of a District Conference was attended to, and the social cheer and spiritual communion incident to such occasions enjoyed to their fullest extent. It would be useless for me to attempt giving you a detail of what was said and done, for I do not suppose "that all the columns of the ADVOCATE could contain them if written." We did, however, memorialize the Louisiana Annual Conference upon the subject of a change in regard to the manner of constituting the District Meeting Conference.

We found also that the finances of the church within the bounds of the district were of a very grave character—some things which, if related in this connection, would cause the ears of those that heard them to tingle.

Mansfield Female College received the full indorsement of the conference. It opens more prosperously than last year, being already far in advance of its promising neighbor of Keachie. We do pray for the prosperity of this fine institution.

Our material prosperity is very evident in some parts. For instance, at Pleasant Hill, where they have had no church since General Banks' famous visit in 1864, they have now one of the best houses of worship in the district.

On the whole, though we cannot boast of many great victories, we can say that, through many storms and through many times that have tried our souls, we have maintained a firm line, and have held the position. On Sabbath-morning there was a love-feast—the best we have ever witnessed—and after the sermon a communion season precious to many souls. The Lord bless the people of Mansfield and the itinerants of Shreveport district. Yours in love,

PRAIRIE.

GREENWOOD, Nov. 16, 1873.

---

BAYOU SARA CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: Truly have the people of this circuit been blessed. In the failure of crops and the consequent temporary distress we are able to recognize the hand of him in whose "most mysterious dealings there is wisdom," and in whose "roughest voice there is mercy." While disease and death have carried sadness to so many homes, our section of country has been remarkably quiet and healthy. The voice of parental mercy has never been silenced, and every means of grace has been within our reach.

This is the third year our pastor has been with us. Most honestly and faithfully has he served us, and under great disadvantages. Bayou Sara, Concord, New Hope, Atkins' (a private house,) Tunica and Pinckneyville have composed this circuit the last year, at each of which he has been very punctual in attendance. Think of his large and afflicted family, twenty-eight miles of the most rugged country in the whole Conference, several large and dangerous creeks, the heavy and frequent rains, all of which he must encounter to meet his congregation (very small, but attentive) at Tunica, and who can say he has not acted bravely in not disappointing the people more than three or four times in as many years? Surely no one but a man of God can so overcome difficulties.

At several places the preaching of the word has been attended with a manifestation of the Spirit's power. At Concord, New Hope and Atkins' many were taken into the church, and some most happily converted. The membership at Tunica was considerably revived a few weeks since, during a protracted meeting conducted by our pastor, with Bro. William Leith's assistance. Bro. Leith threw his whole strength into the work, and through the grace of God preached acceptably to all and profitably to many. I trust we may again have the privilege of entertaining him by our fireside. At Bayou Sara only three or four aged brethren comprise the membership, but are working well, and pay their part toward keeping up the ministry. The people of Pinckneyville manifest a desire to hear preaching, and, with only one or two Methodists in the place, they have ever received our preacher cordially, entertained him hospitably and paid freely to his support.

We urge the brethren everywhere on the work to do their duty by our pastor, as he has done by them. He has served us nobly, having visited our sick, buried our dead, united our young people in matrimony, and not in a single instance has he failed us; yet each year, to our sorrow (and I fear to our shame,) he has been poorly provided for. He is a kind friend, has prayed for and with us in times of bereavement, and is bound to us by ties of love and Christian sympathy. God bless him, and, though separated in life, may our journey have one blessed and happy termination. S.

DECEMBER 1, 1873.

Perform the Doing.

Some years since Mr. A. G. P. Dodge, of New York, gave $100,000 to the theological seminary at Alexandria, Virginia, but to withhold the principal for awhile to use in business, paying interest as it accrued. His recent failure will occasion the loss of the entire sum.

We have had occasion to notice and deplore but too frequently such facts as the one here cited. We know of a Southern Methodist institution of learning that had, prior to the war, an endowment of near $300,000 that was nearly all lost just in the way the Alexandria, Virginia, theological seminary has lost its endowment. The endowers held the principal and paid the interest, and when the great crash came at the close of the States' rights war the principal was hopelessly lost. Another case of $100,000 came under our knowledge lost in the same way.

If we give to God, let us give heartily and entirely, and give at once. We may not be allowed to choose our time and distant convenience. Circumstances, over which we may have no control, may sweep all away, and leave us forever unable to do what we once meant in good faith to do. In all these cases the endowers gained nothing in delaying to consummate their generous intentions, and the struggling institutions lost all. If God has blessed you with the means to do generous things, then do them promptly. "Work while it is called to-day; the night cometh when no man can work."—Texas Christian Advocate.

---

AIM at perfection in everything, though in most things it is unattainable; however, they who aim at it and persevere will come much nearer to it than those whose laziness and despondency make them give it up as unattainable.—Chesterfield.

---

"SHALL I cut this loin of mutton saddlewise?" said a gentleman. "No," said one of his guests, "cut it bridlewise, for then I may have a chance to get a bit in my mouth."

Proceedings of the Alabama Conference.

We condense as follows from the Daily Selma Times:

The forty-first session of this body convened on Wednesday, December 3, at nine A. M., in the basement of the Methodist church. The Conference was called to order by Bishop E. M. Marvin, president, who, after the usual religious exercises, addressed the body upon the peculiar emergencies of the times and the duties arising out of them. He also touched upon other points of interest, such as the necessity of observing the courtesies of debate in the deliberations of the Conference, and the importance of attending faithfully to the various duties that may arise. He referred touchingly to the fact that during the year five of the members of the Conference had been called away by death, viz.: Revs. G. Garrett, S. F. Pilley, G. R. Tally, J. L. Cotton and J. J. Cassady. The organization was finished by the election of R. B. Crawford, secretary, and J. M. Mason, M. E. Butt and Euclid Johnson, assistants.

The following committees were appointed: On public worship—A. J. Briggs, chairman; on books and periodicals—W. Shapard, chairman; on Sunday schools—S. A. Pilley, chairman; on education—W. M. Metley, chairman; on Bible correspondence—G. F. Ellis, chairman; on memoirs—A. S. Andrews, chairman.

The secretary read a communication from Rev. A. H. Redford, agent for the Publishing House, at Nashville, Tennessee, after which Dr. T. O. Summers made some remarks to the Conference upon the condition of the publishing interests of the church, and urged upon all the necessity of rallying to the help of the agent. Revs. W. H. Wild and T. W. Dyer were appointed to take charge of the accounts of the Publishing House for collection, and the agent's communication was referred to the committee on books and periodicals.

A communication from Rev. R. Abbey was read by the secretary, and the Conference adopted a resolution petitioning the general government to pay for property of the Methodist Church South, used and destroyed by the Federal army in 1864 and 1865.

Conference took up the twentieth question.

SECOND DAY—DECEMBER 4.

The Conference was opened at nine A. M., with religious services by Rev. J. T. Curry. On motion the calling of the roll was dispensed with for the remainder of the session. Revs. W. J. Lowry, pastor of the Presbyterian church, E. B. Teague, pastor of the Baptist church, P. Cowan, East Selma Presbyterian church, Linus Parker, editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, T. Roberts and Moody, of the North Alabama Conference, were introduced, and invited to seats within the bar.

On motion of Dr. T. O. Summers the Conference adopted a resolution expressing the sense of their loss in the death of the venerable Bishop Early, and requesting Bishop Marvin to deliver at some time during the session of the Conference a discourse commemorative of the deceased Bishop.

The question of the passage of the characters of the ministers was resumed.

During this examination the Bishop inquired minutely into the operations of the church, and the faithfulness of the ministers in the discharge of their duties. Great emphasis was given to the importance of attending to the details of ministerial and pastoral labor. He also inquired into the sentiment of the church as to pecuniary obligations, fashionable amusements, etc., and as to the state of the prayer meetings, class meetings, love-feasts, family religion and other means of grace. From his close inquiries into these points, and his exhortations to the ministers, we conclude that he feels the importance to the church of occupying higher grounds and giving room to no time-serving spirit.

The following persons were placed in the superannuated relation: J. A. Withers, J. H. Lockhart, W. H. Morris.

Revs. Dr. J. Spangler and T. S. Abernathy, heretofore effective, were added to this list. Revs. H. J. Hunter, W. B. Adams, W. C. Robinson, Z. Dowling, E. W. Story, J. F. Talley, J. W. Jordan, J. J. Tatum, W. Murrah and J. T. Roper were continued. Rev. O. R. Blew was at his request considered effective, and the names of Rev. E. V. Levert and W. H. McDaniel were laid over for further consideration.

The hour of adjournment having arrived, the Bishop announced that the candidates for admission would be received into the Conference today (December 5,) and urged them to enter upon this important life-work with fasting, prayer and solemn meditation. He invited the entire Conference and the membership of the church in Selma to join him in fasting and prayer on their behalf.

Rev. A. J. Briggs announced that $350 in cash had been raised for Dr. Spangler, and as he is paralyzed and has five children dependent on him, the amount ought to be raised to at least $500. Persons wishing to subscribe to this fund can hand the amount to Rev. A. J. Briggs.

THIRD DAY—DECEMBER 5.

Josiah Bancroft presented a memorial from the Greensboro District Conference concerning the regulation of the missionary work and the control of missionary funds, which was, on motion, referred to the Board Missions, with instructions to report thereon at some time during the present session.

J. Bancroft also presented a memorial from the same body asking that this Conference memorialize the next General Conference, which meets in Louisville, Kentucky, next May, to define more clearly the law of the church touching the sale of ardent spirits, in order to more effectually restrain the liquor traffic, which was referred to a committee on temperance, consisting of H. D. Moore, J. Hamilton, J. Bancroft, L. W. Reeves and A. K. Ramsey. Similar memorials from the Eufaula and Camden districts were also referred to the same committee.

T. F. Mangum presented the report of the board of visitors to the Alabama Conference Female College, at Tuskegee, which was referred to the committee on education.

Rev. A. S. Andrews, D. D., read a report of the faculty and board of trustees of the Southern University, located at Greensboro, which was also referred to the committee on education. This report gives a most encouraging and hopeful view of the prospects of that institution.

Rev. Joseph B. Cottrell, D. D., a transfer from the North Mississippi Conference, and formerly a member of this body, and Rev. Joel T. Daves, superintendent of the Southern Methodist mission work in Mexico, were introduced and warmly welcomed.

The regular minute business was then taken up, and in answer to the fourth question, "Who are admitted into full connection?" John A. Peterson, William S. Wade, T. C. M. Golland, David C. Standley and George Bancroft came forward as their names were called.

Ques. 8—"What traveling preachers are elected deacons?" Answer—John A. Peterson, William S. Wade, Joseph H. James, T. W. Dyer and James O. Andrew. The last-named is the son of Bishop Andrew, who for many years resided at Summerfield. Joseph A. Spear was discontinued at his own request.

Ques. 1—"Who are admitted on trial?" was called, and Preston G. Nash, Leander C. Calhoun, W. A. Rice, Waverly Briggs, Isaac F. Bilbro, John A. Green, Wade H. Weatherby, Thomas Y. Abernathy, Joshua S. Peavey, were admitted on trial into the traveling connection.

In answer to the second question—"Who remain on trial?" James O. Andrew, Asbury C. Hundley, P. H. Lightfoot, C. R. Williamson, T. W. Dyer, E. W. Solomon, J. L. Matherson, A. M. L. Douglas and P. H. Moss, were recommended by the committee before whom they had been examined, their characters were passed, and they were continued.

R. A. Mears, not having been before the committee, was passed, and continued in the first year's course of study.

P. B. Saffold, John M. Brown and James M. Mason were recommended and advanced to the fourth year's course.

J. S. Williams was elected to elder's orders.

Books and Periodicals.

CHURCH LIFE is the title of a volume of sermons preached in the Presbyterian Memorial church, New York, by the pastor, Rev. Charles S. Robinson. A. S. Barnes & Co., New York, publishers. These are very readable and edifying sermons, so far as we have been able to examine them. The topics are all such as are calculated to excite attention, and their treatment is thorough, original and stimulating. "Dull as a sermon" does not apply to these thoughtful and instructive discourses. Price, $1.50 sent by mail.

SMITH, ENGLISH & CO., Philadelphia, have lately issued a handsome volume entitled "Public Worship." The service is partly responsive and designed for any congregation. Rev. Daniel March contributes an introductory essay. Individuals, families and congregations wishing a form of service may find this as good as anything in its way. It appears to have been prepared with care, and is very beautiful in type and binding. For sale by Gresham, New Orleans. Price, $1.25.

THE SUNDAY MAGAZINE for November contains: Lukie's Boy; Notes from the South Pacific; Prove All Things; The Doctrine of the Resurrection of the Body; The Practical Books of the Old Testament; Bible Synonyms; Similes; Reginald Heber, and other articles. Altogether a very superior number of this incomparable publication.

---

AT A CALLED MEETING of the board of stewards of Georgetown circuit, Brookhaven district, Mississippi Conference, held on the first day of December, 1873, it was

Resolved, That we learn with regret that Bro. Hicks, under advice, in consequence of his wife's bad health, has at his own request been transferred to the St. Louis Conference, and, being called upon to part with our beloved pastor, we desire to bear testimony to his acceptability here, and we part with him with extreme regret, and congratulate the church to which he is assigned. We would gladly have received Bro. Hicks again to our work.

J. V. ENOCHS,
Sec. Board of Stewards.

---

AN ILLUSTRATION.—It was a storm that occasioned the discovery of the gold mines in India. Hath not a storm driven some to the discovery of the richer mines of the love of God in Christ?

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1873.

I COME! I COME!

Just as I am—without one plea,
But that thy blood was shed for me,
And that thou bidd'st me come to thee—
O Lamb of God, I come!

Just as I am—and waiting not
To rid my soul of one dark blot,
To thee, whose blood can cleanse each spot—
O Lamb of God, I come!

Just as I am—though toss'd about
With many a conflict, many a doubt,
Fightings and fears within, without—
O Lamb of God, I come!

Just as I am—poor, wretched, blind;
Sight, riches, healing of the mind,
Yea, all I need, in thee to find—
O Lamb of God, I come!

Just as I am—thou will receive,
Will welcome, pardon, cleanse, relieve,
Because thy promise I believe—
O Lamb of God, I come!

Just as I am—thy love unknown
Has broken every barrier down;
Now to be thine, yea, thine alone—
O Lamb of God, I come!

Some Thoughts.

MR. EDITOR: Duty has led me over one of the most fertile portions of our State, and in times past one of the wealthiest. In days gone an immense area of land was tilled with much care, and groaned with the wealth of agricultural products; residences luxurious, and other necessary improvements met the eye on every hand; the great natural channels of transportation were alive with boats bearing the rich staples to market; thrift was the order of the day, and prosperity followed in her wake. Now a drear silence reigns. The smile of success has faded; the work of decay marches onward with sure and rapid pace; the wheels of labor have stopped; the thrift that once was seen has given place to the slow motions of decrepit old age, and briars and weeds cover the once fair fields; the highways of commerce give but faint tokens of life, and every department of business is paralyzed. What has produced this wonderful change? Is it due to war, venality in civil government, changes of climate, impoverishment of soil, or a conflict with laws overtopping all these? I can but believe the latter to be the true cause; for I believe the moral law to be supreme everywhere and under all conditions. If men, therefore, forget God in their business, social relations and political combination, and work or act in these relations independent of his uttered will, the result must be failure and disaster. The history of the ages past furnishes numerous illustrations of this truth; and the converse of this sad fact stands out on the same record as equally true, for the world's instruction.

Obedience to the law of God has ever brought to man the reward of blessing, both spiritual and temporal; and this is not strange, for God has promised to honor and help all who honor and remember him. But throughout this large scope of country, in the days of large prosperity, the people forgot the obligations of obedience, honor, service and liberality due to the Giver of every good and perfect gift. House was added to house, farm to farm, and their thoughts were taken up with "chains and bracelets, with bonnets and ornaments, with head-bands, tablets and ear-rings, with rings, changeable suits of apparel, manties, glasses, fine linen, hoods and veils," with feasting, dancing and every outgrowth of fleshly appetite, with extravagance at home and squanderings abroad. Where one dollar was spent to bear onward the gospel, thousands were spent in the mere gratification of sensuous pleasure. Is it a matter of wonder, therefore, in view of these facts, that judgment bears heavy on the land, and the hearts of the people are sad?

If God's word be true—and who dares gainsay it?—are these judgments and sorrows other than the legitimate fruits of the seed sown? Firmly believing this to be a true statement of the case, the heart of every good man or woman must sorrow over the picture, and this sorrow to increase when there is no disposition shown by the witnesses and actors in this fearful drama to turn from their mad course. Judgments cause no halt in this death-march. Disaster only sharpens men's wits to new modes of evil-doing; pestilence does not awaken one serious, lasting thought of eternity and its issues.

The pride that once moved men to regard obligations of business never blushes now at the open violation of the most sacred contracts, and the loss of character is regarded as a mere bagatelle. The father's example points no moral to the son, and the mother's tender influence is lost in the whirlpool of general demoralization. To not mourn over such a state of things, one must have the heart of a Nero; to deny the truth of the statement argues blindness, or an unbelief that stamps history and facts as lies, and denies the truth that "righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

Is there no balm in Gilead, no physician there, for the hurt of this people? The balm and the physician have been at hand for forty-two years; and though the remedy was both good and ample to cure, and the healer has stood until his head was filled with dew and his locks with the drops of the night, both have been despised.

What more can he done? Must effort cease, and those who are alive to the truth of the gospel stand aside and await the fire to descend, the earth to open, or leave them asleep until their cup of iniquity be full, and a righteous judgment sweeps them into the eternal darkness that has covered so many people? Not so. Labor on, pray on, and perhaps in time the dead will arise, the lost be found. Christian, you live in this land; pray, therefore, the Lord to bare his arm in mercy and not in judgment. INDAMORA.

ALWAYS ADD, always walk, always proceed, neither stand still, nor go back, nor deviate; he that standeth still proceedeth not; he goeth back that continueth not; he declineth that revolteth; he goeth better that creepeth in his way, than he that moveth out of his way.—Augustine.

Recollections of Methodism.

MR. EDITOR: I am getting to be too old to take an active part in scenes that are now being enacted; yet my mind is still active, but, like most old people, lives in memories of the past. While some of them are painful, many are pleasant. Among the most pleasant of the past are my recollections of Methodism and Methodist preachers, which commenced in 1820, when I was about seventeen years of age. In Georgia, where I spent the early part of my life, Methodism was but little known (my antecedents being that of the Baptist Church.) Even that little was not brought to bear on my early life. It was not until 1820 (the year I moved to Alabama) that my acquaintance with Methodism commenced. Of course I was rather shy and timid, but somehow or other their preachers had other methods of taming shy birds than preaching hell and damnation to them. They would often, during their rest-days, go a-fishing with me; and while I was in good earnest after the fish, I have good reasons to believe they were fishing for me. Sure enough, they caught me, wild as I was, in about one year. Thank God, I still remain a communicant in that church. Please excuse this reference to myself, as it was introductory to my contemplated subject.

Whether Methodism and Methodist preachers in 1820 will compare favorably with Methodism and Methodist preachers of the present day, your readers must be the judges. That Methodism has made some advances I freely admit, but at the same time seriously doubt whether she has gained in the most essential part of Christianity—simplicity and sincerity of heart. I doubt, too, whether there are any greater preachers now than there were at that period in her history. More there may be, because the church has greatly increased in numbers. At the present day educational facilities are far greater, but whether those facilities have added anything to the real spiritual edification of the church may be questioned. The very same doctrines as were taught then are now taught, without any additional strength of proof. If they are enforced by preachers of the present day with power and in demonstration of the Spirit, so they were then. Indeed to my mind much greater power attended the preaching of that day than now. Convictions seemingly were more pungent and conversions clearer, and I think too a greater hungering and thirsting after righteousness and a holy life. The doctrine of entire consecration to God was strenuously insisted on from the pulpit at that day. Now the subject is seldom even alluded to in the pulpit. The traveling ministry of that day had but little time to devote to study. Circuits were as large then as presiding elders' districts are now. There were few or no parsonages then. The salary of a single man was $100 per annum, he furnishing his horse and equipage. Still there was not more complaint then than now, when the salary is determined by the popularity of the preacher. The facilities of traveling then were far behind what they are at the present day; consequently the fatigue and exposure were much greater. Well may the traveling ministry of the present day be thankful that their condition has been so vastly improved in the way of comforts. S. MIMS.

Alpha's Criticism.

MR. EDITOR: In your paper of October 30 a writer signing himself Alpha offered some interesting critical remarks on Dr. Rivers' view of the definition of virtue, and asked to be set right if he is in the wrong. We have given some attention to the subject he discusses, and while we would not undertake to set him right, we would ourselves like to be corrected if we are in error concerning it. Alpha wishes light on a point upon which has hinged one of the controversies of the ages. What part the consideration of self may be allowed to play in the exercise of virtue is a question which has perplexed metaphysicians and moral philosophers for centuries. The opponents of Paley's theory of virtue have named it opprobriously and fought it voluminously, but have not, we think, undermined its foundations or proposed a better in its stead. They have called it utilitarianism and the selfish system, but they have not satisfactorily answered the arguments by which it is supported. Mr. Leckey, in his History of European Morals, presents a very interesting detail of the arguments for and against this theory, which, though he himself ably opposes it, he does not overthrow.

When at school we were asked by the professor of moral philosophy our opinion of Paley's definition of virtue, viz.: the doing good to mankind, in obedience to the will of God, for the sake of everlasting happiness. We replied that we thought the object, mankind, too restricted; that the disentangling of a lamb from the briers would be an act of virtue as real, though not so meritorious, as the relieving of a distressed child. We have still no further criticism to offer of that formula as a definition of virtue in action. It is far easier to accuse and abuse it than to overthrow it by scriptural argument. Yes, scriptural argument, for what other standard have we on this subject than the Scriptures? Those intuitive moralists who deny that our love of ourselves should be the measure of our love for others, as the Scriptures teach, and profess to have discovered other and higher motives to virtue than those which God proposes in his word, have entered a region of higher law into which we do not desire to follow them. How a man is to look outside of himself and his relations to God and eternity for a motive to perform any act we cannot understand. The Scriptures everywhere appeal to our sense of self-interest. They do not leave us to discover the right by the uncertain suggestions of intuition, nor do they expect us to be urged or guided in the performance of duty by the varying dictates of conscience, which, though it be a divinely-implanted umpire, bases all its decisions upon the evidence of education alone. God has made our duties and our highest interests forever coincident. Lest our shortsightedness should lead us to mistake our real and permanent interest, he has given us his word. When that is silent on a question of duty, a wise regard for the greatest good to all is our safest guide.

But Mr. Leckey thinks that happiness is not always proportioned to virtue, and says that "for eighteen centuries the religious instinct of Christendom has recognized its ideal in the form of a 'Man of Sorrows.'" Did he forget that it is said of the "Man of Sorrows" that he, for the joy that was set before him, endured the cross? and that all the good who are unrewarded in this world "shall be recompensed at the resurrection of the just?"

The intuitive system of morals is allied to idealism in philosophy, which results in denying, as did Berkeley, the existence of matter; to mysticism in religion, which may profess, as did Swedenborg, communion with spirits; and leads to fanaticism in conduct such as that of those saints who spent their lives standing on pillars, from six to sixty feet high, in rapt communion with the Deity. Let us not philosophize away the plain teachings of the Bible, nor be wise above what is written. But space fails us to discuss this inviting subject in a newspaper article, where brevity is essential beauty. Dr. Rivers' writings are well worthy of critical study. H.

The Goodness and Love of God.

The goodness and love of God may be beheld in all of our surroundings, from the least speck on the face of the earth to the brightest orb in the immense universe. It is written on every leaf that vibrates in the air, and on every blade of grass that gives its breadth and space to form the magnificent green carpet which is spread over field and garden, hill and plain; it sparkles in every rippling brook that glides in transparent splendor through forest and farm; it is wafted on every breeze which fans the flushed cheeks and fevered brows of all the inhabitants of every clime under the sun; it glows in every glittering, pulsing star that twinkles through the dense blue above us; it was seen in man's origin, and may be traced in the footprints of his dealings with our race from the commencement of time. Let us go back in our thoughts to the beginning of the world's history, and with the eye of imagination, aided by the light of revelation, view an innocent, happy pair basking in the bowers of Paradise, and fanned by the breathing zephyr perfumed with the fragrance of thousands of flowers, and feasting on the luscious fruits of Eden. While there, see them stretching forth their hands and plucking fruit from the forbidden tree. Alas! in doing so they sin, and in sinning they fall. The righteous God of heaven, seeing his pure law infracted, enters at once into judgment with them by inflicting the penalty fixed to his command when given; and oh! what a change, what a sad change is produced by that transaction. Their condition is reversed, they are doomed to leave their lovely abode, they become subject to the inconvenience of toil, and the pain of sorrow and death.

Let us here leave them and pursue the course of God's efforts to relieve the world of the consequence of sin, through a lapse of more than four thousand years intervening between the fall of the first and the advent of the second Adam, during which time God's goodness and man's hope is illustrated by typical signs and represented with symbols, each serving as an index, pointing to the great antitype, "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world."

At the close of this period let us take our position with the devoted shepherds, who, as they were minding their flocks and tending their herds beneath the evening sky, on the green fields of Judea, lifted their eyes in wonder to behold the glorious sight of "angels flashing the light of their wings across the midnight gloom to celebrate our Savior's birth," and as they tremble with fear hear the leader and spokesman of that heavenly band, as he balances himself on his glittering pinions above, address the astonished assembly below: "Fear not; for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord." And then suddenly—O glorious scene—there is with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host, to my mind's eye and fancy forming a grand arch in the sky, commencing in the region of the star seen by the Magi in the far-off east, and gradually rising until it has reached the zenith, and then gently declining toward the western horizon, thus embracing in its beneficent span all nations on the globe, each link in the brilliant chain being an angel of God wearing a robe of immortal righteousness, and a crown of eternal life shining with gems and jewels of a heavenly line, holding in their hands harps and lutes of liquid gold, filling the earth, the air and cloud with music such as only an angel choir can make. Let earth join them in the soul-stirring chorus, and unite with them in praising God, saying: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

DAVID A. GIVENS.

WHEN Thorwaldsen returned to his native land with those wonderful marbles which have made his name immortal, chiseled with patient toil and glowing aspiration during his studies in Italy, the servants who opened them scattered upon the ground the straw in which they were packed. The next summer flowers from the gardens of Rome were blossoming in the streets of Copenhagen from the seeds thus accidentally planted. The genius that wrought grandly in marble had unconsciously planted beauty by the wayside.

God is Just as Good as Ever.

MR. EDITOR: The farmers are discouraged and are murmuring, and believe the eternal blight rests on all things Southern. After all their labors, their calculations and expectations the worm and the rot have come again, and the cotton yields but a poor return for a long year of constant effort. But we believe "God is just as good as ever." All this thwarting of our plans, this disappointing of our hopes, this blighting of our dreams, are but as so many angels in disguise, sent by a loving Providence to wean us from earth, and lead us step by step heavenward. "Afflictions are good and needful for us," and when trial follows trial, as billow chases billow, we are driven nearer and nearer to the Rock that is higher than we, until we find our life's ocean. There is no other refuge for us, and there in him we abide. Prosperity is our temptation. If we had the blue sky, the sunshine and the prosperous gale always, there is no telling how far out our frail barks would venture; and when the brief day of life was ended, and the night was coming on, I fear our soul would take wings and "put out into the unknown dark," without a glimmer from a star in the bright upper world to guide it to a happy destiny. With most of us our safety and our happiness are in danger unless rocked by a wave, driven by a wind or shadowed by a cloud, to remind us of him who alone "can speak to the winds and the sea, and they obey him." In some way we must be shown our dependence. Each one would be his own pilot if he dared. Oh! let us not murmur, then, at these little trials, such as crops failing and having to be inconveniently poor; but rather let us count our blessings, and be thankful we have been spared those great, agonizing, hurling griefs that crush the spirit and break the heart. What wonderful displays of God's goodness surround us even now, while we are complaining, and, it may be, are doubting our Father's tenderness to us. This twilight of the year, that God might have made somber and sad, as failing, fading, dying health, he has chosen as his season for displaying his wonders to delight and bless his children. The poet in his wildest rhapsodies could never tell the half of all the glories of an autumn, and no artist yet has ever placed them upon the canvas and made them live there forever. O these lovely autumn days, with their bright blush of health, their lavished wealth, and the thousand charms that win from the soul its sweetest music! The fresh breeze hurrying by seems to hurry our hands, hurry our heart-beats, hurry our thoughts over the face of the wide, wide earth. We gaze upon the forest with its thousand dyes, its varied tints, its shades deepening into shade, and all flooded with the sunlight, until our eyes grow weary of the fascination and of the wonder. And these golden skies, these glowing clouds, these calm, still evenings, these holy sunsets—oh, the wild, ravishing beauty of it all! The heavens seem to bend to meet the earth and the earth rises to catch its blessing, and a halo like love-light rests upon the world! Oh, what soul does not feel its inspiration, and what spirit does not rise upon wings, crying: "God, our God, is good?" F.

PREACHERS should be wise enough not to call the attention of a business man in business hours to trifles; but if it be deemed necessary by the preacher to wait upon them at any time in the spiritual interests of the church, let him stand not upon personal dignity, but upon the dignity of his office and mission; let him put his questions, state his business, and suffer, by his words or conduct, no thought to enter the mind of another that his time is less valuable than that of the most princely merchant or lawyer. That was a manly and courteous reply given by Rev. R. Cecil to a gentleman who asked him to call again. "An hour is nothing to you," remarked the gentleman. "You seem little to understand the nature of our profession," replied Mr. Cecil; "one hour of a clergyman's time, rightly employed, is worth more to him than all the gains of your merchandise." A preacher who thus values his time, and frankly expresses his mind, will lose nothing; he will gain much, and never be asked to suffer the above annoyance the second time.—Townsend.

IT IS a great mistake to teach children that they have souls. The consequence is that they think of their souls as of something which is not themselves. For what a man has cannot be himself. Hence, when they are told that their souls go to heaven, they think of their selves as lying in the grave. They ought to be taught that they have bodies, and that their bodies die, while they themselves live on. Then they will not think that they will be laid in the grave. It is making altogether too much, and is indicative of an evil tendency to materialism, that we talk as if we possessed souls, instead of being souls. We should teach our children to think no more of their bodies when dead than they do of their hair when it is cut off, or of their old clothes when they have done with them.—George MacDonald.

EARNESTNESS.—The Rev. Rowland Hill, in once addressing the people of Wotton, raising himself, exclaimed: "Because I am in earnest men call me an enthusiast. When I first came into this part of the country I was walking on yonder hill, and saw a gravel-pit fall in and bury three human beings alive. I lifted up my voice for help so loud that I was heard in the town below, at a distance of near a mile; help came, and rescued two of the sufferers. No one called me an enthusiast then; and when I see eternal destruction ready to fall on poor sinners, and about to entomb them irrecoverably in an eternal mass of woe, and call aloud on them to escape, shall I be called an enthusiast now? No, sinner, I am no enthusiast in so doing; and I call on them aloud to fly for refuge to the hope set before thee in the gospel."

Obituaries.

LITTLE LEONARD DOZIER TURNER.

This young child, son of J. P. and Eugenia Turner, was born November 23, 1868, and died October 30, 1873. He was one of the dear lambs of my flock, remarkable for intelligence, obedience and an affectionate nature. For the two years that I preached where this lovely little boy listened, he never failed to come to me, and with all the tenderness of his young soul would greet his pastor, and would often try to repeat my sermons, in his artless way, to his parents. But God had need of this promising little one, and he is gone—gone to slug with the angels, gone to rest eternally with him who said: "Suffer the little children to come unto me."

"There is no flock, however watched and tended,
But one dead lamb is there,
There is no fireside, howsoe'er defended,
But has one vacant chair."

His pastor, W. I. POWERS.

DIED, near Livingston, Sumter county, Alabama, November 16, 1873, Mrs. HANNAH WILSON, wife of Bro. John Wilson, local preacher. Sister Wilson was a native of England, and was born June 24, 1824. She was a member of the Methodist Church for thirty-five years, having belonged first to the Wesleyan Church in England, then to the Methodist Episcopal Church, and for about four years to the Methodist Episcopal Church South. She was married to Bro. Wilson a little more than eighteen years ago, and he states that she has ever been a kind and affectionate wife, and a faithful, devoted Christian. On her death-bed Sister Wilson stated to me that she was sustained by faith in Christ. She leaves a mother and sister in England, and a husband and son in America, who in their grief at her loss will be consoled by her dying testimony. May they so live as to meet her in the home of the redeemed.

Her pastor, J. M. MASON.

MIRIAM C., daughter of Joel and Sarah Pearson, was born in Washington parish, Louisiana, August 19, 1833, and died in St. Helena parish, Louisiana, October 27, 1873. She joined the Methodist Church in 1851, and was married to Elijah Yarborough, January 30, 1861.

Sister Yarborough, like her mother, who died in 1858, left the savor of her piety as a legacy to her husband and children. She was one in whom the church confided. Her afflictions, though long and painful, were borne with fortitude. For many weeks before her death her language often was: "Blessed Savior! Jesus is with me. I do not dread the sting of death. I will soon see those streets of shining gold." She said to her father: "Our great interest in heaven prompts us to be ever faithful." A few days before her death she became anxious to receive the sacrament once more, which was attended to by Father Clinton. Some hours before her death it was thought she was dying, when she said: "I am not gone yet, but am safe." Her father said to her: "Jesus can make a dying bed feel soft as downy pillows are." She exclaimed: "Blessed Jesus!"

"Thou art gone to the grave, but we will not deplore thee,
Whose God was thy ransom, thy guardian and guide;
He gave thee, he took thee, and he will restore thee,
And death has no sting, for the Savior has died."

C. C. WATKINS.

WILLIAM H. TURNER, son of Wiley H. and Hester E. Turner, was born in Jasper county, Mississippi, September 2, 1856, and died of congestive fever, in the same county and State, October 20, 1873, aged seventeen years, one month and eighteen days.

Much might be said concerning the exemplary character of the deceased, whose death we now record. In early childhood he was characterized by meekness of disposition and sobriety of conduct. Evil practices possessed no charms for him. He abhorred them, and was frequently known to abandon the society of his playmates when they indulged in profanity or in anything that was not reconcilable to his conscience. His conscientiousness was strong, and by its dictates he was always governed. He was truly a model boy. In his fifteenth year he was received, by the writer, into the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and up to the time of his death he lived a consistent Christian life. The rectitude of his conduct was observed and its influence felt by all his associates. But just as he began to ripen into manhood—to be, as we had hoped, a useful member of society, and especially of the church of God—the arms of death grasped him and claimed him as their prey. Four days he wrestled, but at last fell. His body was consigned to the grave, but his spirit went to its Maker, to dwell forever in the city of God.

L. CARLEY.

HENRY M. BOLEN was born in Orangeburg district, South Carolina, January 14, 1822, and died in Marengo county, Alabama, November 1, 1873.

In the life of this man we have a noble specimen of a noble nature under what some would call a rough exterior. In early life he had not the advantages of a liberal education, but, having naturally a good mind, a sound judgment, and rigid as well as correct views of right and wrong, he was well fitted for the station he filled as citizen, husband, father and neighbor. All the duties growing out of these relations were discharged with unflinching fidelity. He was a specimen of "the noblest work of God," if honesty makes a man so. During the fall of 1858 he embraced religion, and at Hampden united with the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and ever afterward showed the purity of his religion by the excellency of his works. This life was truly a living epistle, and a living demonstration of the power of the Christian religion. His death was peaceful and tranquil, and doubtless triumphant, though deprived of any direct testimony from the failure of the mind to perform its functions for several days prior to his death. But the more certain testimony of purity of heart and rectitude of life and conduct gives to sorrowing friends the blessed hope that, while his body sleeps in the grave, the soul reposes on the unshaken rock of its own immortality in the kingdom of God.

GEORGE F. ELLIS.

DIED, at the residence of her father, Dr. J. D. White, on Friday, November 21, 1873, MARY, wife of D. C. Scales, of Williamson county.

She possessed, in an eminent degree, that meek and quiet spirit which, in the sight of God, is of great price; and in all the relations of life as daughter, sister, friend, she was faithful and devoted; as a wife, most tender and affectionate. Her Christian character was the brightest gem in her earthly crown, and the great aim of her life seemed to be the formation of a beautiful, pious and intelligent mind. "Duty," she thought, "was one of the most beautiful words in the English language," and duty and love she made the watchword of her life.

She languished for three months upon the pillow of affliction, but yielded in sweet submission to the will of her heavenly Father. She clung to life, but was content with death. In her last moments—when for hours she had been unable to speak at all—her voice came back distinct and clear, as if from the shores of the eternal world, with the welcome benediction: "Glory, glory, I am happy. He does all things well. Let his name be praised. It is done!"

Her death was a bright illustration of the triumph of the Christian's faith; and, though dead, her beautiful life and victorious death will ever speak to her relatives and friends from the other shore.

"Her star went down
To rise upon another shore,
And light in heaven's jeweled crown
She shines forevermore."

DIED, at her residence in Livingstou, Alabama, October 13, 1873, Mrs. M. A. MASON, aged forty-two years. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Arrington, and was born in Nash county, North Carolina. At the age of thirteen she came to Livingston, Alabama, where she married Mr. James Mason, who died several years ago, leaving her a widow with two daughters. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South for the last sixteen years. Sister Mason was a woman of very remarkable energy and force of character, and labored much for the church. Her interest in the temporal and spiritual prosperity of the church was very great. Her pastor ever found her a faithful co-laborer, and a true, devoted, sympathizing friend. For many months she was a great sufferer with neuralgia and consumption, but she was patient and even cheerful in affliction; and so great was her energy that she continued, until a few weeks before her death, to attend to her usual household duties. She was a kind neighbor and a most devoted mother. Her loss is felt not only in her broken family circle, but in the church and the community.

Our consolation is drawn from the unfailing promises of God, which, in connection with her Christian example, her patient submission to the will of God, and her faith in Jesus are balm to the wounded heart. May we so live that the parted friendships of earth may be renewed in heaven, and the memory of sad farewells be lost in happy greetings on the other shore.

Her pastor, J. M. MASON.

DIED, of yellow fever, in Shreveport, Louisiana, on the nineteenth of September, 1873, WILLIAM STRINGFELLOW, who was born in Fauquier county, Virginia, in May, 1811. He became acquainted with Mr. Stringfellow in Vernou, Alabama, in 1837 or 1838, where he engaged in mercantile business. As a business man he was prompt, energetic and honest in all his transactions; cautious almost to a fault, arising, no doubt, from a strict regard to honesty in not overreaching his means and thereby causing others to suffer. We were intimately acquainted in our church relations, being members and associate class-leaders in the same church (Methodist Episcopal Church South) at Asbury church, Autaugaville, Alabama. His profession of religion was from a settled conviction of the pardon of his sins, through Christ Jesus our Lord; hence there was no wavering in his religious course. He was well instructed in all matters pertaining to salvation, as presented in God's word; conscientious in the discharge of all his Christian duties, always willing to bear the cross, yet not froward. He was a man who did his own thinking, without being dogmatic. He possessed a well-balanced mind, and usually came to correct conclusions on all practical questions. To sum up his character in a few words, I would say he was a perfect model of a Christian gentleman, such an one as would be safe for any young man to build up his character, both as a Christian and a business man; in fact in all the varied relations of life he was a model. I regret that I am not in possession of any facts relative to the closing scenes of his life. Suffice it to say that without doubt his end was peaceful. His whole career through life would justify that conclusion. May that God whom he served take care of his bereaved widow and orphan children. S. MIMS.

DON'T GIVE LIQUOR TO CHILDREN.—One of the first literary men in the United States said to the writer, after speaking on the subject of temperance: "There is one thing which, if you visit different places, I wish you to do everywhere; that is to entreat every mother never to give a drop of strong drink to a child. I have had to fight as for my life and all my days to keep from dying a drunkard, because I was fed with spirits when a child. I acquired a taste for it. My brother, poor fellow, died a drunkard. I would not have a child of mine take a drop of it for anything. Warn every mother, wherever you go, never to give a drop to a child.

LET not the stream of your life always be a murmuring stream.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1873.

THE LONG VOYAGE.

The mackerel boats sailed slowly out
Into the darkening sea,
But the gray gull's flight was landward,
The kestrel skimmed the lea.

Strange whisperings were in the air;
And though no leaflet stirred,
The echo of the distant storm,
The moaning sough, was heard.

It came—the swift-winged hurricane—
Bursting upon the shore,
Till the wild bird's nest and the fisher's cot
All trembled at its roar.

And women wept and watched, and wept
And prayed for the night to wane;
And watched and prayed, though the setting sun
Lit up the window-pane.

A sail!"
That sail is not for you;
It slowly fades away.
The sun may set, the moon may rise,
The night may turn to day.

Slow years roll by, and the solemn stars
Glide on—but all in vain!
They have sailed away on a long, long voyage;
They'll never come back again.

Blackwood.

Oneness With Christ.

BY REV. DANIEL STEELE, D. D.

The advocates of an advanced Christian experience, with great unanimity, insist that there is a well-defined line separating it from the former Christian life. We are often called on to state the specific difference—to draw the line between these two religious states; hence the attempts to discriminate between the new birth and entire sanctification are some of them conclusive, and others unsatisfactory. We are not whetting our theological razor to assist at this hair-splitting; we need less theorizing and more exemplification—less dogma, and more experience.

Are there men and women now on earth living the so-called "higher life?" There are saints treading the earth day by day, victors over the world and sin, "dead indeed unto sin," and "free indeed" from its very indwelling. It was not so with their former Christian state. Can they tell us what is the most conspicuous line running through their consciousness, separating these experiences? The unanimous testimony is that it is a sense of oneness with Christ, contrasting most strongly with the former feeling of duality, or two-ness. If we may coin a Saxon word, instead of borrowing from the Latin. We have heard of a converted Indian who came to the missionary one day in great distress, saying: "There are two Indians inside of me—a good and a bad." He expressed what all Christians feel in their initial spiritual life. There is a painful distraction. The secret is that self is still alive and disputing with Christ the throne of the soul. Self has not learned the difficult lesson of perfect and joyful submission. There is an inward schism between the spiritual and carnal forces. The prayer of the psalmist has not been offered in faith: "Unite my heart to fear thy name."

Octavius, who had been a triumvir, thought it for the interest of peace that the world should have but one ruler; and, styling himself Augustus, he became that ruler by the defeat of Mark Antony. It was found that a three-men power, or a two-men power, only provoked strife. It is certainly for your soul's peace, my dear reader, that you should henceforth have but one sovereign. The one-man power is what you need—the God-man. Which will you have for your king? Jesus, or the Barabbas of self? Which will bring in genuine eternal peace? The Prince of Peace. He is able to dethrone and extinguish self as a foe to his reign. "But can I not have perfect peace under his rival?" Yes; but not till Jesus is banished from his realm, and the Holy Ghost, his representative, has withdrawn, and conscience, God's vicegerent, has been dethroned. Then you would have the awful blessing of peace—the alarming tranquillity which presages the earthquake—the peace of an unwaking, endless stupor. Endless? No; death will dispel it, and set the worm, remorse, to gnaw forever. Do not, my Christian friend, try this way to peace. Jesus, the great peacemaker, is in thy heart, and offers to establish your perfect peace on an eternal foundation. He wishes to rule supreme; he has been thrust aside by self, and with sorrow has he protested against the usurpation of another, knowing the miseries to which you will be reduced. You may not be distinctly conscious of a power in you rivaling and antagonizing the Lord Jesus; you have lived so long in the atmosphere of self that you do not recognize its presence. The hidden self will come forth from his hiding-place into the sunlight if you begin in earnest and in detail to consecrate all to Christ. You will hear a plea for this little self-indulgence, for that small interest to be untouched by King Jesus; you will find a shrinking back from giving him full range through your whole being; he may uncover some secret idol.

That shrinking, dear reader, is self. You don't feel the shrinking now, because you are not earnestly attempting entire consecration; you are enjoying a kind of false peace; self has sent a flag of truce to Christ, not intending an unconditional surrender, but a compromise. "Immanuel may reign over all my being with certain trifling exceptions; I think that my sense of propriety is a little superior to his, therefore I wish to reserve the privilege of self-direction in some matters wherein others, by blindly following Christ's directions, have lost the good opinion of some cultivated people, and even made themselves unpopular. Then, again, there are certain principles of commercial morality which tend more directly to wealth than the high and impracticable ethics of the sermon on the mount. I always deemed it unfortunate for the success of Jesus Christ's moral code that he had not a business education—that he had not worked his way up from a journeyman carpenter to a master-builder, and become a millionaire by this shrewd management. He never rose in business because he was an impractical theorizer. Hence there are some points in which his ethics have become a little obsolete; at any rate, almost everybody thinks so, and there must be some good ground for their opinion; therefore it is not prudent to submit without reservation to his will; it is not the short cut to riches nor to honors."

If you lay your ear close to the lips of self, and listen to his soliloquy, you will find such whisperings of distrust respecting Jesus, whom these very persons have acknowledged as "God over all, and blessed forevermore," and invited to dwell in their hearts, and exercise a general oversight over them. Alas, the number of such Christians is not small. They are the majority in nearly all our churches. They are good and conscientious, and in the main dutiful, and are limping along toward heaven. The great defect in their experience is that they are not completely one with Christ. There are points on which they cannot trust him; he is held back from completing his own ideal in their lives because they interfere and insist on the alteration of his plans. He does not abandon them, but continues working, and to see his own splendid and perfect plan marred by the impertinent antagonism of self. The consummation which he most devoutly wishes is to see this ollielous intermeddler nailed to his cross. The crucifixion of self is the painful birth of the soul to the higher life—the life of perfect oneness with Christ.

Zion's Herald.

The Poetic Folk-Lore of Ireland.

In Ireland, as in most other countries where folk-lore is or has been abundant and popular, the nature and habits of the goblins will be observed to suit more than one mood and disposition of those who put faith in supernatural manifestations. Of course the peasantry are unable to dress or equip their fairies as completely as the poet could, but they can give the note or suggestion which ends in the bee being robbed for the taper which is to be lit at the eyes of the glow-worm, and in the painted wings of the butterfly being converted into a fan to keep off the moon-rays. In its way what can be prettier than the common folk-lore belief that the top of the mushroom serves for a fairy banquet-table, and that you can tell in the morning where the elves have been over night by looking at the heads of the daisies? The flowers round which the good people have assembled are observed to be asleep and shut up in the noontide, having been obliged, contrary to their sober custom, to keep their golden eyes open into the small hours of the morning.

The circumstance of the elves abducting the children of mortals—especially infants who have not been subjected to the rite of baptism—is an ordinary incident of Irish fairy lore. Sometimes the little boy or girl is kidnapped bodily into elf-land; sometimes the child, while apparently dead in the cradle, is believed to be in spirit the prisoner, thrall or toy of a goblin community. Not only children but grown people have been often carried or inveigled into fairy-land. The story of Thomas the Rhymer, Thomas of Erelldoune, has its Irish prototype with almost identical features. One version of this legend tells how a hunter followed a milk-white doe until both his comrades and his dogs had deserted him. After a weary chase the knight—for of course the adventurer was a knight—pursues the doe single-handed, until the creature vanishes as soon as it reaches a haunted spring. Round this spot the poet informs us purple heath-bells are blooming, and, as their fragrance and a feeling of fatigue tempted our knight to repose, he saw a fair lady in white approach him with a jeweled cup in her hand, in which she gayly pledged him by name. The hunter could do nothing less than propose for this lovely apparition on the spot, whereupon the damsel stoops over the fountain, from which she draws a ring, and she and the knight then go hand in hand over the hills and far away, or into the hills, to follow the text here paraphrased:

"And legends tell he now doth dwell
Within the hills so green;
But still the milk-white doe appears
And wakes the peasant's evening fears,
While distant bugles faintly ring
Around the lonely, haunted spring."

It will be remembered that Thomas the Rhymer was accosted by the queen of fair elf-land, who, after being kissed on the lips, raised Thomas to a seat on her steed, telling him to keep a guard upon his tongue in the place he was going to, otherwise he would never be able to return to the common world. The condition imposed on mortals who were abducted into fairy-land in Ireland, in order that they might have a chance of ultimately escaping from bondage, was that they should touch no food, observe a rigid fast, while they were with the good people. The most exquisite meats and dishes of all sorts were laid out to tempt them from this resolve; but the consequence of the slightest indulgence of appetite was understood to be imprisonment forever with the fairies.

The favorite time for seeing the elves is in mid-summer, between lights, or later, or when the harvest-moon is at its full. In haunted spots the hour of gloaming comes over meadows of gray mist threaded with rivers of fading saffron, a lingering flush in the sky, and a star shining over the plumes of a grove of fir-trees. Here is the path or the old castle of which the good people have taken possession. The ground is carefully shunned by the belated or wandering rustic. It may happen, however, that the area of enchantment is limited to a well or a thorn-tree.

All the accounts that come to us testify to the wonderful effects of fairy music. In the vulgar legends, indeed, the elfricaans are represented as playing upon the bagpipes such planxties and jigs as might be heard at the cross-roads at a wedding or christening, but we have also stories of harp tunes and melodies so solemn and absorbing that the soul has been made to lose the measure of time by them, and, when the awakening comes, years of the world have passed over the head of the listener, unfelt and unobserved. It was a belief also that some of the ancient minstrels were in possession of fairy instruments, that they had been presented by elfin potentates with the harps which so ravished the senses of the knights and dames for whom they performed. A harper was, at any time, liable to be carried off in a friendly way to a fairy revel, and pipers and fiddlers have been constantly secured in order to assist in the jovialities of the good people. The elves, however, have also their own musicians and orchestra. When the key-bugle at the Gap of Dunlow challenges the little folk, you shall hear their brave, fluttering response from the very center of the grim mountains, the sharp, single reply, the pause of an instant, followed by chord swelling after chord, rising and sinking, and then flickering like a dying flame, to faint away finally in the hills, as if the musicians of Queen Meav had slowly closed the doors of the palace at which they were posted.

May mornings, before the dew is off the grass, and when the lark is in full song, are supposed to be likely occasions for meeting with certain of the good people. Some of them are early risers, and evidently not subject to the law by which uncanny things are supposed to disappear as soon as the cock begins to crow. Shepherds and herdsmen have at times been startled when counting the kine or sheep to discover that additions have been made to their stock during the night. The illusion only lasts a few minutes, for the fairy cows or fairy sheep, as the case may be, soon seem to separate from the others and melt gradually into thin air, or slide off into meres or lakes which open to receive the phantom cattle. With reference to the absolute dimensions of fairies it is difficult to get a standard of measurement. They have no souls to live forever, but they seem to know nothing of death or decay. When the world comes to an end, they will come to an end with it, like the flowers, the birds and the trees.

Executions in China.

Outside the trading quarter commence the horrors of the ancient capital; and the unwary traveler, following the multitude peacefully pursuing their way, entirely indifferent themselves, and unconscious that strangers may not be so enviably constituted, finds himself in the Avenue of Executions, which is simply the junction between two of the main thoroughfares. The whole apparatus of justice consists of a shed and a bench, in front of which groups of condemned criminals are ranged, whose heads the executioner strikes off, each with one blow of his sword. There is no ceremony, no guard, no solemnity; the people pass by unconcerned; and, when the daily batch of victims has been dispatched, a butcher takes the place of the executioner, and exhibits joints of beef and mutton on the bench still wet with human blood. A little beyond this barbarously simple slaughter-house the decapitated heads are exposed in the open street, in wicker baskets, inserted into iron sockets. A slip of paper is attached to each of these ghastly heads, whose eyes and mouth are open, with the following inscription: "Justice has punished theft." Nor is this the worst. The heads are not buried after their exposure; removed from their baskets by the crowd of lepers and blind beggars, who assemble daily upon the famous "Bridge of Tears"—a fine antique structure in marble—they are salted and eaten! This one horrid fact alone should make us hope that Peking may not live for the predicted century. The great augmentation of commerce of late years, the gradual breaking of the barrier of exclusiveness, and the establishment of wise counselors about the young Emperor, lead us to hope that better days may be coming, and that Peking may not be buried in its own dust, but may arise and shake it off. Revolutions such as that which is accomplishing itself in Japan are happily infectious.—Chambers' Journal.

TO JESUS.—Nearly three years ago a noble steamer was sinking with hundreds of people on board. Only one boat-load was saved. As a man was leaping into the tossing boat, a girl who could not be taken into the boat, and who knew that she would soon be swallowed up in the deep, deep sea, handed him a note, saying: "Give this to my mother!"

The man was saved. The girl, with hundreds of other persons, was drowned. The mother had the note. What do you think the little girl had written in it? Here are her words: "Dear mother, you must not grieve for me; I am going to Jesus."

Dear girl! What faith and courage she must have had to write that note!

She was going to Jesus through the stormy waves of the angry sea, and she was not afraid.

DR. LIEBER has a new story of Washington, coming to him from Franco through Laboulaye, that if not true deserves to be. Jefferson one day visited Washington, and full as Jefferson was of French views and ideas of polities and everything else, he zealously attacked the system of two houses of Congress. General Washington replied that Jefferson was much better informed than himself upon such topics, but that he himself would adhere to the experience of English and American history. "You, yourself," said the general, "have proved the excellence of two houses, this very moment." "I?" said Jefferson, "how is that?" "You have," replied the heroic sage, "poured your hot tea from the cup into the saucer to cool it. It is the same thing we desire of the two houses."

AT A HOTEL TABLE one boarder remarked to his neighbor: "This must be a healthy place for chickens." "Why?" asked the other. "Because I never see any dead ones hereabouts."

WONDROUS LOVE.

A mind at perfect peace with God—
O what a word is this!
A sinner reconciled through blood—
This, this indeed is bliss!

By nature and by practice, far,
How very far from God!
Yet now by grace brought near to him
Through faith in Jesus' blood.

So nigh, so very nigh to God!
I cannot nearer be;
For in the person of his Son
I am as near as he.

So dear, so very dear to God!
More dear I cannot be;
The love wherewith he loves his Son—
Such is his love to me!

Anecdote of Two Arabs.

Lamartine, the French poet, relates the following anecdote: "There was a horse the name of which was spread far and near in the tribe of Nagdeh; and a Bedouin of another, by name Daher, desired extremely to possess it. In vain having offered for it his camels and his whole wealth, he hit at length upon the following device, by which he hoped to gain the object of his desire. He resolved to stain his face with the juice of an herb, to clothe himself in rags, and to tie his legs and neck together, so as to appear like a lame beggar. So equipped, he went to wait for Naber, the owner of the horse, who he knew was to pass that way.

"When he saw Naber approaching on his beautiful steed he cried out in a weak voice: 'I am a poor stranger; for three days I have been unable to move from this spot to seek for food. I am dying; help me, and Heaven will reward you!' The Bedouin kindly offered to take him upon his horse and carry him home; but the rogue replied: 'I cannot rise; I have no strength left.' Naber, touched with his distress, dismounted, led his horse to the spot, and with great difficulty set the seeming beggar on its back. No sooner did Daher feel himself in the saddle, than he set spurs to the horse and galloped off, calling out as he did so: 'It is I, Daher! I have got the horse, and am off with him!'

"Naber called after him to stop and listen. Certain of not being pursued, he turned, and halted at a short distance from Naber, who was armed with a spear. 'You have taken my horse,' said the latter. 'Since Heaven has willed it, I wish you joy of it; but I do conjure you never to tell any man how you obtained it.' 'And why not?' said Daher. 'Because,' said the noble Arab, 'another man might be really ill, and men would fear to help him. You would be the cause of many refusing to perform an act of charity for fear of being duped as I have been.'

"Daher, struck with shame at these words, was silent for a moment, then, springing from the horse, returned it to its owner and embraced him. Naber made him accompany him to his tent, where they spent a few days together and became fast friends for life."

Religion a Help in Life.

How it helps a man to suffer and to toil! How it calms his temper and soothes his spirit! How it heals his wounds and anoints him with joy. "His tool slipped," says Mahu, in his beautiful tract, "The Watchmaker of Geneva," "his tool slipped and the work was spoiled. He repented the attempt, and again he was unsuccessful. A slight and momentary expression of trouble appeared on his countenance, but the cloud soon passed away. He clasped his hands and looked upward, while his lips moved as if uttering a silent and fervent prayer; the expression of trouble disappeared—he resumed his work." And so many a good man in his cottage or workshop, amidst the spoiling of his work or the breaking of his tools, or the anger of his master, or the losing of his employment, or the cries of his children, or the sorrows of his wife, or the sickness of his body, or the trouble of his soul, finds prayer is the secret of peace. And in manifold ways does religion bless the poor man in his pilgrimage. Faith is a rod with which he cleaves Red seas of difficulty; and God's word is a pillar of cloud by day, and of fire by night, amidst the rocks of a sandy wilderness. And Sabbaths are wells of waters, and ordinances are beautiful and shady palm-trees; and prayer brings down manna every morning; and the sight of the cross heals the bite of fiery serpents; and hope is a spy, going beforehand, to bring back the clusters of Eschol. And then, at last, God's presence is as the ark in the midst of the river; and the pilgrim passes dryshod into the land that floweth with milk and honey."

DR. LYMAN BEECHER.—When the doctor was settled in Boston one of the precocious boys in his congregation had taken a wonderful liking to Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. Among the varied characters of that immortal dream none so charms the youthful mind as satan, under the name of Apollyon. The plate representing the arch enemy displays his dishevelled locks after the manner of General Jackson, the hair looking for all the world like the quills of the fretted porcupine. Dr. Beecher, who wore his hair somewhat in the same radiant style, had been ushered in the splendid parlor of one of his parishioners, and quietly took his seat alone.

An urchin, some eight years old, happened, on passing through the entry, to see a stranger, walked in, and stood silently before the venerable pastor. Gazing with wondering eyes and open mouth, he asked: "Mister, am you Apollyon?" It was the first, and we presume the last time, that man of piety was ever mistaken for Lucifer.—Our Monthly.

WE PASS every day through all the changes of human experience. We are children in the morning, with their fresh young bodies and feelings; we are middle-aged at noon, having seen an end of all perfection; we are old and weary and worn out at night. Hugh Macmillan.

CONTENTMENT consisteth not in adding more fuel, but in taking away some fire.

Religious Intelligence.

THE champion immerser is a preacher of the Disciples of Christ, who was recently seen to immerse 143 persons in the Mississippi river in less than an hour.

THE Baptists of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward's Island resolved, two years ago, to enter on independent missionary work. They have already ten laborers, having just sent forth seven to found a mission among the Karens of Siam.

THE programme of the Catholic bishops for the future education of Ireland proposes to make the Dublin Catholic University the center of the Irish educational system. The plan embraces the use or abuse of the Catholic political influence in no small measure.

A WOMAN'S PEACE SOCIETY has been formed in London, which has just published an offer of $100 for the best tract, written by a woman, on the subject of peace. The title must be: "In what way do wars affect women; and how may they best use their influence to prevent war."

AT THE laying of the corner-stone of a new Wesleyan Methodist chapel, October 3, at Newcastle-on-Tyne, the four stones were laid by four Methodist ladies, each of whom had contributed about $250 to the enterprise. Dr. Punshon and others made speeches on the novel occasion.

A ROMAN CATHOLIC priest, Father Paolo Grassi, incumbent of the noted basilica of Sta. Maria Maggiore, has abandoned the Old Catholic Church, and received baptism at the hands of an English Baptist minister. A foreign journal says the affair has created a profound sensation in Rome.

THE Methodist Episcopal church, New London, Connecticut, celebrated its eightieth anniversary on October 22 and 23. The gathering was large, and the exercises of the most interesting character. Several of the ex-pastors and members who had removed to other places were present and greatly contributed to the interest of the occasion.

THE results reported from the Zulu mission afford satisfactory evidence of success. The vigor and self-developing power of the missionary work are very gratifying. The progress of education, and specially the number and efficiency of native pastors and preachers engaged in missionary work, or in preparation for it, is very encouraging.

AUSTRALIA is not without a good supply of churches and schools; indeed, it may be said to abound in both. The Rev. John Graham, of Sydney, gives the following account of New South Wales: "There are 924 churches and chapels, accommodating 181,914 sitters, 933 Sunday schools, 6,049 teachers, and an average attendance of 176,596 scholars. The numbers belonging to each denomination were returned as follows: Church of England, 229,000; Presbyterians, 49,000; Methodists, 39,000; Congregationalists, 10,000; Roman Catholics, 145,000; heathens and others, 7,450. Of the total population of 503,981, it is calculated that one-third attended the churches and one-fifth the schools." This, for a country part of which was settled in 1788 by convicts, is great progress.—Methodist.

THE inhabitants of Victoria seem to be pretty well off for religions. The census of that colony, after giving the numbers of Methodists, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, etc., goes on to mention "other sects." Under this head come 17,650 pagans, chiefly, we presume, Chinamen, 14 Christadelphians, 12 of the Church of the First Born, 1 Druid, 1 Dickinite, a Rosicrucian and a Universal Restitutionist. Under "No Denomination" there are 8 "not decided" persons, 5 "Natural Religion or Naturalists." Original Thinkers are in a small minority, as we find only one under this head. Two persons return themselves as having a "religion of their own;" while one, a woman, is more plain-spoken, returning her faith as £, s., d. The registrar is hard-hearted enough to put a heading over her of "no religion." Under this latter head we find that the atheists are 11, against 3 returned as infidels. "No religion" (so returned) stands at 2,102. Although there are only 731,528 persons in the colony, it contains no fewer than 121 sects.

NEW YORK PASTORS' SALARIES.—The Times publishes a statement of the salaries our city pastors receive, which will doubtless be read with general interest: The highest salaries are paid in the Episcopal Church, though in at least one of the small denominations the average is higher; then come the Presbyterian, Unitarian, Baptist, Dutch Reformed, Methodist, and finally the Roman Catholic. The following table shows the average, highest and lowest of each denomination. It may be premised that several churches furnish their pastors with residences in addition to the salaries, and this is true of all the Roman Catholic churches.

| | Average. | Highest. | Lowest. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Baptist | $2,500 | $6,000 | $1,000 |
| Congregational | 4,000 | 6,000 | 2,500 |
| Episcopal | 4,000 | 12,000 | 1,000 |
| Hebrew | 2,200 | 6,000 | 900 |
| Lutheran | 1,800 | 5,000 | 700 |
| Methodist | 2,000 | 5,000 | 1,000 |
| Presbyterian | 3,000 | 10,000 | 1,000 |
| Roman Catholic | 700 | 800 | 600 |
| Reformed Dutch | 3,500 | 6,000 | 1,000 |
| Unitarian | 5,000 | 10,000 | 3,000 |
| Universalist | 3,000 | 5,000 | 2,000 |

It is proper to explain that only a few ministers receive salaries represented by the higher figures. Of the whole number in the city, only 60 receive $5,000 or upward, while the number receiving over that sum is only 30, and only 10 of the 30 are paid $10,000 or over. Six of these fortunate 10 are pastors of Episcopal churches. Twenty Baptist ministers get from $1,000 to $3,000; 10 ministers in the Lutheran Church are paid from $1,000 to $2,500; 40 in the Methodist Church at the same rates; 30 in the Presbyterian from $1,000 to $3,000; 35 in the Episcopal from $1,000 to $2,500; and 10 in the Reformed Dutch from $1,000 to $3,000. It is safe to say that not more than half the ministers in New York receive salaries of $2,500, while a very large number do not get more than half this sum. On the whole, however, the pastors of our city churches are pretty well rewarded in a pecuniary sense for their services.

THE GOSPEL IN BRAZIL.—In a late number of the Missionary, says the Christian Intelligencer, there is an extremely interesting letter from Rev. John Boyle, the indefatigable missionary at Pernambuco, Brazil, in which he relates the following incident: "The Lord is answering our prayers. Yesterday (Sabbath,) one week ago, a gentleman called to see us and join himself to us, who has cast off the superstition and idolatry of Rome. I have not yet learned his full history, what first led him to doubt the Romish dogmas, etc., but suppose it was the work of the Holy Spirit. This much we learned, that two years ago he sent to Lisbon for a copy of the holy Scriptures; that he began reading them; that he had not read them a great deal before he threw away all his images of the Virgin, the saints, and Christ (I use Rome's order,) which had hitherto been hanging around the walls of his house, and in the family oratory; that he does not think the 'Padre' can, by any amount of jugglery, make the flesh and blood of Christ out of the baker's crackers and the grocer's wine; and that he is firmly of the opinion that the Bishop has nothing to do with his sort; and, finally, that he wants to unite with a Christian church. He came, inquiring not for the 'American padres,' as some have done, but for the 'Christian ministers.' He has a pleasant face, was neatly dressed, and is evidently one of the middle class of people. He introduced himself as Senhor Joo (Mister John.) I afterward learned his full name, but you must excuse me from giving it, as it is in the same style as all other Brazilian names, and, of course, hard to remember. He says he has three friends who have also been reading the Scriptures, and hence believe as he does. He says he can bring with him quite a number of persons to our services so soon as we begin. I do not think these people have any connection with Vianna and his flock. The Lord be praised."

Scientific.

BOUSSINGAULT has succeeded in preserving beef-tea and sugar-cane juice fresh for eight years by first exposing them in hermetically-sealed cans to a temperature of four degrees above zero, Fahrenheit.

DR. CARPENTER has discovered that in the Mediterranean sea the water below a certain depth shows an excess of carbonic acid and deficiency of oxygen, and the scarcity of animal life at depths below one hundred and fifty or two hundred fathoms is attributed to this diminished supply of oxygen.

PERUVIAN ANTIQUITIES.—A valuable collection of Peruvian antiquities has lately been added to the ethnological section of the Berlin Museum. It consists of a number of mummies, articles of pottery and other remains. Three of the mummies are completely clothed, and the fabrics which form their wrappings will serve to show the state of textile art at a remote period among the Peruvians. One of the mummies, that of a woman, bears in its arms the image of an infant in clay. This collection also embraces the various objects usually found in ancient Peruvian sepulchers, such as the food bag, the drinking cup and the spindle and loom—the last-named objects being found only in women's tombs. These mementoes of extinct American civilization are very highly prized in Berlin, as belonging to a department of ethnology which previously was almost without a representative in the museum.—Galaxy.

ZOPISSA.—An English officer has discovered the means of circumventing time in a transparent varnish which he calls Zopissa. It is used on exposed surfaces, filling the pores, making a surface so close that no water can penetrate it. It is also remarkably insensible to heat, asbestos being not more indestructible. As a varnish it equals shellac, copal gum or pumice stone. In addition it is an excellent cement, uniting porcelain, glass, building stone, iron, while it unites wood, and is delicate enough to seal an envelope. The Art Journal thinks this is the substance with which the ancient Egyptians used to embalm their dead and preserve their works of art. It is a fact that, while the frescoes of Rome are becoming dim, the Egyptian mural paintings are fresh and pure. The paintings of Egypt have been exposed to a gas jet, but without any evil effects. If Zopissa even approaches this quality of endurance, which we have hitherto conceded to have been one of the "lost arts," its value will be unmistakable.—American Builder.

ELECTRIC ICE.—The professor of natural philosophy of Trinity College writes to the Hartford Times: "A pleasing experiment was made at the college this morning, confirming the statements made in our scientific books that ice at very low temperature becomes highly electric, and, when subjected to friction in this condition, gives forth electricity like glass. Taking a Bennett's gold-leaf electroscope of very delicate construction, and also a pith-ball electroscope, the instruments were placed on the ice at the north side of the chapel, when the thermometer was standing between ten and eleven degrees below zero. Upon rubbing the smooth ice vigorously with a thick piece of silk, and then bringing the latter toward the gold-leaf electroscope, the leaves directly diverged, showing by their repulsion that the silk, and consequently the ice, had become electrified; for when electricity is elicited by the friction of two bodies, one is negatively and the other positively electrified. The rubbing of a catskin upon the ice produced more energetic effects; for the leaves, when brought under its influence, flew rapidly apart, striking upon the sides of the glass-jar in which they hung, so great was their mutual repulsion. From a test that was applied, it appeared that the ice, in this case, was positively electrified. The pith-ball electroscope also showed that the ice gave forth electricity, by the mutual repulsion of the pith-balls; but with this instrument the indications were not as marked as in the Bennett electroscope."

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1873.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.
Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.
AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. A. J. BRIGGS.
REV. J. W. RUSH.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. WILLIAM V. TUDOR, D. D.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

REDUCTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers hereafter at the following rates:

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year | $2 00 |
| Six Months | 1 25 |
| Three Months | 75 |

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

to all Ministers of the Gospel, traveling or local, and widows of deceased traveling preachers.

FREE ONE YEAR

to any person forwarding to us four new yearly subscribers, with EIGHT DOLLARS.

The Higher Ground of Joy.

The seventy had been successful in their special and brief mission even beyond their expectation. Their ministry had been crowned with this peculiar triumph: "Even the devils are subject unto us through thy name." Coming back to the Lord to report, it is not strange that they were filled with joy. The powers of darkness were beginning to give way, and the demons, whose fearful possessions were then so prevalent, were overcome and cast out by these zealous disciples. Christ seems to magnify their achievements beyond their own conception of them when he declares, in response to the announcement, that the demons were subject unto them. "I beheld satan as lightning fall from heaven." Not these inferior agents of evil only, but the very head of the empire of sin, the prince of the powers of darkness, was falling from his throne of influence and dominion in the earth. The Savior, to make the caution which he is about to administer still more impressive, confirms and enlarges their gifts and privileges. "Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy; and nothing shall by any means hurt you." They had done more than they thought, and now they were to have power "over all the power of the enemy."

There was reason for elation in all this, and enough to make them jubilant, even to make them beside themselves. But the words of admonition and caution come in at the climax of their gifts and triumph. "Notwithstanding, in this rejoice not that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice because your names are written in heaven." In the midst of a most successful ministry, returning with great spoil and with the signs and fruits of spiritual conquest, there was a higher joy in the sense of their own personal acceptance with God. Busied with their mission to others, and absorbed in the conflicts incidental to their ministerial work, their own inward life might be overlooked. Always looking without, and engaged in combatting the hosts of evil as marshaled in the vices and errors of men, and ever on the stretch to gain others over to the kingdom of Christ, they were liable to neglect a close and watchful care of their own hearts. Devils were cast out, and the gift of tongues was possessed by those who were without charity, and who were repudiated by the Lord at last. But the gifts and graces common to all times may also lose the deep spirituality which should invest them, by the prosperous results which crown their exercise. Paul points out a conceivable peril when he contends that a bishop should not be a novice, "lest, being lifted up with pride, he fall into the condemnation of the devil." He also recognizes the thorn in the flesh as sent to keep him humble, "lest I should be exalted above measure through the abundance of the revelations." There is an element of danger in even the success of the preacher of the cross, and the joy of a marked and extraordinary harvest may easily be tinged with low and base emotions.

It was doubtless to guard against this really fearful danger that Christ calls back the attention of his enthusiastic disciples from the glorious and wonderful results of their first attempt in his service to their own relations to God, and to the work of grace in their own hearts. Let them rejoice in their labor and in the good done, but let them rejoice with trembling. While invading and overthrowing the dominion of satan in the bodies and souls of others, they were to take care that the devil gained no lodgment in themselves. The wiliest nets and the most seductive snares of the enemy are sure to be set for those who are most formidable in attacking his strongholds and are inflicting the greatest damage to his cause. The able, powerful, brilliant and wise, in the winning of souls and in the overthrow of error, are in most danger. It was to the standard-bearers, in the hour of their triumph, with a profusion of gifts and honors heaped upon them by Christ himself, that the warning was given: "Notwithstanding, in this rejoice not that the spirits are subject unto you." True, they had put in the saving clause in their report, "through thy name," but that might lose its force after awhile, and a certain subtle conceit and self-righteousness might even then lurk in their use of terms which seemed to disclaim all self-exaltation. Not unconditionally, but relatively they were not to make much account of their honors and victories in their evangelical mission. They were to rejoice rather "that their names were written in heaven." This was the higher and more essential distinction, and that which might be lost by a spirit of vain-glory and unsanctified ambition.

It was the intent of Christ not to enjoin a selfish and exclusive devotion to their own salvation, but it was to caution them against the neglect of their personal religious life. And, besides, it was to emphasize the vital and supreme necessity of deep piety in those whom Christ sent forth. No matter what they might do, or to what pitch of eminence they should rise, they were nothing without holiness and the approval and presence of God. In this they were to rejoice rather. The joy of their own sonship, and the Spirit of adoption crying in them, Abba, Father, was to overtop every other joy. Then they needed a ground of joy which should be abiding. They had come off from one campaign flushed with victory. But it might not be always so. There are dark and trying days, and fields wherein the enemy baffles, if he does not defeat. True, they for once could report, "Even the devils are subject unto us through thy name," but a long and heavy conflict awaited the Christian soldiery. Even satan was failing, but a stout and protracted fight must be waged through the centuries before the old serpent should be cast into the lake of fire. Immediate results could not always be counted on, and a joy is wanted which does not fluctuate with the apparent moods of the hour. Here, then, is a star that does not set, always shining down upon the soul, and a day-spring which rises in the heart. It is something better than success, and yet the condition of all true success—to maintain communion with God, and to ever have the witness within that our names are written in heaven. It is at once the highest joy, and the strongest support and incentive in the noblest and sometimes the severest path in which redeemed men are called to tread.

Alabama Conference.

Traveling in a Pullman is the pleasantest mode of locomotion. We may not sleep, but the berths are good and the horizontal position is restful, and the fatigue of an all-night's ride is not much. Leaving New Orleans at five P. M., we reach the Selma junction, one mile from Montgomery, at nine o'clock the next morning, and thence on the Western road, fifty miles nearly due west, to Selma. At Selma between twelve and one o'clock, December 3—just too late to be at the opening and first day's sitting of the Conference. On Thursday morning we found the Conference well advanced in the minute work, and on Friday this part of the business was nearly concluded.—Bishop Marvin does not require, except in the case of the undergraduates, that the preachers shall retire when their names are called. This is a great saving in time, besides being good in other respects. The presiding elders give a summary of the state of their districts as their names are called, and the Bishop's questions are well put in his searching inquiry into the state of the church in their bounds.

Among the presiding elders, Dr. A. H. Mitchell and Dr. William H. Ellison are still foremost for their venerable appearance, long experience and effectiveness. The former observed, in giving account of his work, that he had received forty-three appointments, and never a bad one. From the statements made we learn that this has been a year of great spiritual prosperity in the Conference; large accessions are reported from every district, and the class meetings and love-feasts are generally kept up. The Bishop emphasized the importance of these Methodist institutions, and especially insisted that the love-feasts should be conducted on the old plan, with closed doors, and that the fast on the Friday before the quarterly meeting should be most rigidly observed. The reception of preachers into full connection was a most impressive occasion. The Conference and people had been requested to unite in fasting and special prayer. The Bishop's address to the candidates was most effective and appropriate. He dwelt upon the necessity of much prayer in ministers, avoidance of debt, frugality, economy and care in the management of their finances, and advised the young men, when they married, to seek wives who are ready to endure hardness for the cause of Christ. In this connection he paid a beautiful tribute to his own excellent wife, and stated that he had traveled thirteen or fourteen years before he had received more than $400 for any one year. He insisted on special attention to the children, and the use of the catechism in their instruction, and closed by cautioning young preachers against dangers arising from the lust of fine preaching, which he thought most prevalent among Methodists. He reminded the class before him that the devil would probably at some time take them up into a very high mountain of Alabama and show them all the kingdoms of Alabama, such as Selma, Montgomery, Mobile, and the glory of them. They were to be on their guard against an unsanctified and ruinous ambition. The Conference appeared well-nigh overcome with emotion when the response to the last question was made, and the large assembly bowed in prayer, led by Dr. Jefferson Hamilton.

Drs. Cottrell and Hamilton and B. B. Ross have this year returned by transfer to their old Conference home. There have died this year Greenberry Garrett, S. F. Pliley, James L. Cotton, G. R. Tally and John J. Cassady—the last a young man of promise, and the others all men of note, and names familiar as household words to the Methodists of Alabama. Among the veterans whom God has still spared to grace the Conference with their presence, and to bless it with their counsels and prayers, we were happy to meet Rev. E. V. Levert, who is now seventy-nine years of age and has about closed his fifty-four years in the traveling ministry; Morgan C. Turrentine, who continues to move about actively, and has the ruddiness of youth; and Walter H. McDaniel, sturdy and weather-beaten, but full of zeal and devotion, and others who bear the scars of the battle, and who are honored and revered for their long and faithful services. Dr. T. O. Summers is, of course, present, as this is his own Conference, buoyant, cheerful and exceedingly well, a representative man, looking after the Publishing House interests, and contributing largely in every way to the interest of the occasion. May it be very long before he shall be missed from this annual convocation.

The personnel of the Conference is very fine. There is a large proportion of men in the zenith of their strength, and a good many valuable young men who are coming forward and rising in usefulness and reputation. A tolerably large number has been received on trial this year, and the supply of preachers for the Conference field is perhaps more than adequate. At least a score should be detailed for the more needy Conferences in the West and for Louisiana and Texas. At this writing (Saturday morning) the statistics are not yet reported. The hard times have been severely felt, and in this fine section of the State a series of calamities have reduced the finances of the people. We imagine the collections are not large, and that the support of the preachers has been inadequate. The preachers, however, are cheerful, hopeful, and rejoice in the spiritual success which has crowned the labors and sacrifices of the year.

Selma is a beautiful city of twelve thousand inhabitants, and a place of business activity and general growth and thrift. The hospitality of the people is generous and profuse, and the Conference is most delightfully entertained. Dr. M. S. Andrews is untiring in his attention to the comfort of the Conference, which it has been his duty to receive. Many thanks are due him. The editor is enjoying the hospitality of Colonel Benjamin M. Woolsey and his estimable wife. May the Lord's blessing rest upon them! Bishop Wightman is here, on his way to the Mississippi Conference, and will remain over Sunday. Rev. Joel T. Daves, superintendent of our Mexican mission, is also here, and making many personal friends, besides enlisting the preachers in behalf of his cause. With this is sent an abstract of proceedings as late as possible. Other notes will follow in due time.

SATURDAY'S SESSION.

On Saturday morning Bishop Wightman appeared in Conference and occupied the chair some part of the time. In addition to some routine business the election of delegates occupied much of the day. The clerical delegates are T. O. Summers, Sr., M. S. Andrews, W. A. McCarty, Jefferson Hamilton and W. Shapard. Reserves: A. S. Andrews, S. P. Richardson, A. J. Briggs. Lay delegates: R. H. Powell, A. H. Coleman, Rev. J. G. Mottley, H. A. Stolenwerck, T. J. S. Kimbrough. Reserves: L. W. Reeves, Flemming Law, Rev. Joseph Pladgett, Mr. Rush. Opelika was chosen as the place for holding the next Conference. At this writing the prospect is that the Conference will not adjourn before Tuesday.

Love Triumphing.

The Richmond Christian Advocate takes Dr. Curry to task for his hard words against the South, and shows up the nonsense of the big scare which still hangs over our Northern brethren. That last notice of the Southern Historical Society, by Dr. Curry, and all this pretended fear of another rebellion, is for political and ecclesiastical effect. Whenever the administration party gets into trouble, Whedon, Curry and the like set up this howl. We quote the conclusion of the trenchant article of the Advocate:

We do wish most sincerely that the people of the North could be made to understand the position of the people of the South. We do not care a fig about the negro question, though we do care for the negro, and wish to do all we can to make his unhappy condition as bearable to him as possible. He is not fit, and never can be, for social equality with the white race. We wish him to have all proper civil rights. We wish him to be educated as highly as he can be, and to have a fair chance to make his moral and social fortune. But as a ruler, as a legislator, the negro can never find his place in this country. It must and will be ruled by the superior race; and that race should guard the rights of their inferior brethren as they guard their own. This they will do, if men of sense and reason and character fill our legislatures; but if base, ignorant, time-serving, salable, pitiful political tricksters and seedy adventurers are placed in power, it will not require a prophet to predict the ruin of the government and the inauguration of anarchy.

We have heard much of late of church union, fraternal relations between the churches, especially between the Southern and the Northern Methodist churches. The signs are good for a better understanding between the two great branches of Methodism in this country, provided it can be shown to the satisfaction of Southern Methodists that Dr. Daniel Curry, Dr. D. D. Whedon and Bishop Gilbert Haven do not represent the views of the Northern Methodist Church. These three men were indorsed by the General Conference of that church and placed in high position. Two are chief editors; the other is a general superintendent, or, in the parlance of some, a Bishop. Is the mind of the Northern Church in accord with the severe utterances of these three powerful leaders? If not, why have we not heard notes of dissent from some quarter? Have the plans of the Northern Church for the extension of their operations in the South the full and entire approval of the membership? Has the Church Extension Society done its work to the satisfaction of all? Has the hope of disintegration and absorption been realized? We know that the scared old man, Dr. Daniel Curry, whose notes were once so loud and warlike on this point, now, like Bottom in the play, "roars as gently as any sucking dove." All he meant by it was to establish themselves in the South, and to let anybody that wished to do so join them. "Oh, what a fall, my countrymen!"

Mind.

"Mind your book, sir," is familiar in the ears of the school-boy. "Mind your stops," the teacher says to him when he is reading. "Mind your work," the idle apprentice, the inattentive servant hears. "Mind what you are about" is the startling check to carelessness or recklessness. "Put your mind on your lesson, your business, on what you are doing, or want to do or master," is the precept of success. "Mind" is attention. Mind will do whatever almost you require of it. It is exceedingly docile to demand. It is a kind and willing servant of our needs. It must be earnestly informed, however, of the exactions put upon it, and then it often surprises by the facility of its processes, and the desired results it can achieve. It is patient as a camel, under burdens of severe thought, close attention, investigation and invention. It assimilates information with a marvelous digestion. It partakes with the body of an indolent disposition, and has to be roused for strenuous effort. Necessity has often driven to mental labor when a man has found himself in a close place, and been compelled to think; the task may have fearfully strained him, but also the capabilities of mind have been a discovery and a wonder to him. We cannot try to think, but we can think. When we get to thinking really, the end which thought pursues may not be yet, but we shall reach it in time, or at least reach the limit of our powers.

In our boyhood we heard of Ross Winans, the great machinist of our native village, lying awake all night, pondering an improvement of which he had caught the idea, and which, if he could perfect it, would greatly augment the power of the locomotive. He succeeded in what he called the camel-back engine. The invention cost him many sleepless nights, but he thought it out.

Mind! Attention! This is the thing. Stewards of the manifold grace of God for the support of the preachers hereabouts, as far as we can hear, are lamenting, as of old, the defective system, or the no system at all, upon which the finances of the church are managed. They are working like beavers to make up deficiencies. They are driven to mental and other labor now, and they cheerfully undertake it. But is there any real necessity for this immemorial friction and worry? Who will put his mind on the subject, and lie awake all night, devising a working system to the end here contemplated, and not only so, but making provision also for other moneys, that the stated public collections of the year may be more effective and abundant in results? Details of system must necessarily vary much with locality and circumstances. The provision of our Discipline on the subject is wisely general, perfect as a basis, and susceptible of the most varied adaptation. Who is the steward in each board to which this may come who will consent to be appointed cashier of the board, and be held responsible for the last dime required? There will have to be some thinking done then, we trow. Somebody will have to lie awake all night, we imagine, pondering bills receivable and bills payable. But the result may be a new evangel.

W. V. T.

The Gospel for the World.*

BY JOSEPH ANGUS, D. D.

To every creature! Is this possible? and is it therefore our duty? The Christians of each age are to give the gospel to the people of that age. Every Christian is to tell the good news to as many as he can reach. Christians are collectively to tell it, if they can, to the world. What is the limit of our ability and duty? In ten or twenty years can repentance and remission of sins be preached through Christ to all generations? I believe they can. The Christians of the nineteenth century are more able to preach the gospel to the whole world than the Christians of the first century were to preach it to the world of their day. If so, the duty is binding, and the last command of our Lord is a summons claiming a literal obedience from us all.

OUR RESOURCES.

We can do it. Remember how largely our material facilities are increased. When Franklin, printer and statesman, wished to marry, his wife's mother objected to the marriage, because there were then two presses in America, and she thought there was not room for a third. It is not one hundred years since, and there are now some eight thousand printing offices in this country alone. A tithe of them could print the New Testament for the world. Only ten years ago to cross from the Atlantic to the Pacific was a six months' journey, perilous and toilsome in the extreme; now it is pleasantly done between Monday morning and Saturday night. Any man who has to travel much will save eight weeks in every ten, and if he spends his life in traveling the facilities of travel would practically multiply his years five-fold. In half a century of travel a missionary can now effect as much as he could have done in two centuries and a half one hundred years ago. The yearly income of England is five or six times larger than at the beginning of the century, and has doubled within thirty years. The income of the United States doubles, it is said, every five-and-twenty years. In printing power, in facilities of travel, in material wealth the church is incomparably stronger than it has ever been.

FIFTY THOUSAND MISSIONARIES.

But what is it we need to fulfill this duty? With fifty thousand missionaries at work for ten years, and with £15,000,000 a year for ten years to support them, it is demonstrable that the gospel might be preached, and preached repeatedly, to every man and woman and child on earth.

It seems a great company—fifty thousand preachers. And yet the number is not one per cent. of the members of evangelical churches in Christendom. There are three or four denominations in America, any one of which could supply all the preachers we need. England sent as many men to the Crimea to take a single fortress, and to keep up for a few years a Mohammedan despotism. Ten times the number of men fell on each side in the great American war. Five hundred years ago the Crusades had cost more lives, and they thought to win from men well-nigh as chivalrous as the Invaders an earthly Jerusalem and a temporal sovereignty. And cannot fifty thousand redeemed men be found to win back the world to Jesus Christ? Have our hymns no meaning?

> O send ten thousand heralds forth,
> From east to west, from south to north,
> To blow the trump of jubilee,
> And peace proclaim from sea to sea!

It seems a great sum—£150,000,000 sterling in ten years—yet it is less than £3 a year ($15) from each member of evangelical churches in Europe and America. England alone spends as much as the whole £150,000,000 every two years on intoxicating drinks. The Crimean war cost £100,000,000, the American war ten times as much. An annual tax of sevenpence on the pound on the income of Great Britain would yield the £15,000,000 we need. Nay, more; it would not be difficult to name ten thousand professing Christians who could give it all!

Looking only at men and money, is it not self-evident that it can be done?

I have not forgotten the difficulties of all kinds that surround this enterprise—travel, sickness, new tongues, unknown regions, barbarous tribes, the great wrath of one who would soon perceive that his time is short. I know, or can imagine, them all. But I venture to say, whatever these difficulties, they would be overcome if English national honor, or American progress, or the German Fatherland, or Swiss liberties were at stake. If diamond-beds or gold-fields had been discovered, if even a Nile were to be traced and mapped, is there a part of the earth that English or German-speaking people could not penetrate—for a consideration? And shall Christ's command and the world's need fail to move us? I repeat it—it can be done!

SUCCESS OF MISSIONS.

But ours is a practical age. Charity begins at home. We work for present results. We want them told upon the palm. The field of missions is distant, the process costly, the success small. Is it not truer economy and wiser philanthropy to work in our respective countries till they are evangelized and saved? My reply is: I plead for home also. Wherever men are found who have not heard the gospel often and earnestly proclaimed, there we are to preach it, "as first in Jerusalem and in Judea, in Samaria, and to the very ends of the earth." Such is the divine order. Already, however, we have more devout men laboring for the evangelization of London than all Christians send for the evangelization of the world. In New York there is a larger evangelical agency sustained by Christian people than all the missionaries of all the foreign evangelical societies of America. Begin at home, by all means, but don't end there. If the world is to wait for the gospel till London and New York are converted, till nothing more is needed there, the world will never get the gospel at all.

And as to the smallness of the success of missions, I entirely deny the accuracy of the answer. It is demonstrable that the success of the gospel in the last one hundred years is greater than the success it has achieved in any preceding hundred years—I may even say in any preceding two hundred and fifty years. We look back fondly on the first ages, and sigh for the gift of tongues and for Pentecostal blessing, and yet in the last century more has been done to give the Bible to the world than was done in the first ten centuries of our era. Twenty versions at most were made in the first one thousand years; in the last one hundred years a hundred and twenty have been made—in languages spoken by more than half the globe. There are more conversions from heathenism, in proportion to the number of preachers, than there are at home. It costs more per man to make a Christian in London or New York than it costs in heathendom. Even when Constantine proclaimed Christianity as the religion of the Roman empire the nominal Christians of the empire were fewer than one-fifteenth of the population; and when the Christians were most numerous in those ages they never exceeded over one-hundredth part of the population of the entire globe. Nominal Christians now form one-fifth. Each generation of the modern world consists of thirty millions of children, and they have to be Christianized individually one by one. Of these thirty millions, six millions (one-fifth) become nominally Christians, and a considerable proportion of them really Christians. In the Roman empire there were not three millions of nominal Christians out of every thirty millions, while for the whole world the nominal Christians were only about five hundred thousand out of every thirty millions. If any one wish for these facts in detail he may find them in a sermon preached years ago by Rev. Henry Venn, and in a recent address delivered by Canon Lightfoot. Had the results been different, there still stands the Maker's command—the marching orders of the church! But in fact our obedience to that command is enforced by prophecy—the promise of final victory, as it is also by victories already achieved! We can do it, and God has encouraged us to proceed.

* From a paper read by Dr. Angus, of London, before the late Evangelical Alliance.

VIRGINIA CONFERENCE.—The Virginia Conference assembled in Norfolk on Wednesday, November 26. Bishop Keener is present, and presides with his well-known executive ability and dispatch. He is as much at home in the chair as he is in the pulpit. For many years his acknowledged power in the gospel ministry gave him a commanding influence in the Southwest, and his elevation to the episcopal office was an event that had long been anticipated by those who knew his great work. The Rev. P. Whitehead and the Rev. P. A. Peterson are, as usual, acting as secretaries. They have so easy and ably occupied this position that their annual election is regarded as a matter of necessity. The Conference is well represented both by lay and clerical delegates. It is a large and intluential body, and everywhere can be seen the impress of its great patron and distinguished member, the late venerable Bishop Early. Bishop Doggett is expected to-morrow, having but just returned from his episcopal tour on the Pacific coast.—Baltimore Episcopal Methodist.

OUR Sunday school periodicals—the Magazine, Visitor and Our Little People—for January have come to hand. They wear an inviting expression, and abound with pithy and wholesome reading matter. People who live isolated—whose children have not the privilege of attending a Sabbath school—should make their homes happy by subscribing for these publications. We suppose there is no Sabbath school in our bounds that does not take them.

A.

North Alabama Conference.

LETTER FROM BISHOP MARVIN.

MR. EDITOR: I inclose you herewith the list of appointments of the North Alabama Conference. We have had a delightful session. The business was transacted in an excellent spirit. The public worship was profitable. The attendance on the business sessions was large and interested. The preachers were delighted with Talladega, and Talladega was delighted with the preachers.

The Conference, so recently constituted of the fragments of three Conferences, has already reached the consciousness of unity in a high degree.

A committee was appointed on the boundary question, and reported against any agitation of the subject. This report was laid on the table, and never called up again; but it was well understood on all sides that, if it had come to a vote, the report would have been adopted by a large majority. The Conference is content on this subject.

This is a reproductive Conference. It is able this year to send off ten transfers without conscious depletion, and could have spared one or two more good young men without detriment to itself. The only fact to be regretted is that the great majority of the transfers go to Conferences already full. Only two go to the needy Conferences in the West.

The increase of members is not so great as that of last year, but is still quite large—about fifteen hundred, I believe. The finances feel the shock of the times, but not to the extent I dreaded. The preachers are about as well supported as last year, and the missionary collections are a shade—and only a shade—better than last year. E. M. MARVIN.

TALLADEGA, ALA., November 26, 1873.

APPOINTMENTS.

Florence District.—J. B. Stevenson, P. E. Florence station, J. W. Whitten; Rodgersville and Driskill's chapel, Dawson Phelps; Lentzville circuit, John G. Gibson, T. F. Brown, sup.; Lexington mission, Joseph B. Perkins; Cypress circuit, M. E. Tumlin; Oakland circuit, William McQueen; Waterloo circuit, to be supplied by W. M. Ripley; Tuscumbia station, T. H. Deavenport; Walley station, William H. Armstrong; Chickasaw circuit, Samson H. Williams; Frankfort circuit, James H. Cameron; Colbert mission, G. W. Hamilton; State Normal College, H. Brown, professor.

Decatur District.—W. E. Mabry, P. E. Decatur station, John A. Thompson; Trinity circuit, Finch P. Scruggs; Courtland circuit, Virgil O. Hawkins; Leighton circuit, John S. Davis; Russell Valley circuit, Leander F. Whitten; Moulton circuit, James L. Brittain; Danville circuit, William E. Cameron; Somerville circuit, R. D. Evans; Gilmore mission, to be supplied by A. J. Whent; Littlesville mission, to be supplied by R. W. McKelvy.

Huntsville District.—W. R. Kirk, P. E. Huntsville station, C. D. Oliver; Madison station, Zachariah A. Parker; Madison circuit, Ambrose F. Driskill, Henry D. Hill; Athens station, F. T. J. Braudon; Athens circuit, Z. Parker, J. C. Phelps, sup.; Pettusville circuit, H. P. Turner; Maysville and New Market, M. E. Johnston, C. Godbey; Scottsboro circuit, W. T. Andrews; Paint Rock circuit, Reuben S. Price; Stevenson circuit, Robert J. Wilson; Woodville circuit, J. M. Hamer; Vienna circuit, John C. Hunkapillar, Robert F. Winston; Athens Female Institute, J. K. Armstrong.

Guntersville District.—J. G. Gurley, P. E. Guntersville station, John G. Walker; Guntersville circuit, Benjamin F. Lea; Cotaco mission, J. T. Bartee; Tennessee Valley circuit, Rufus Nicholson; Bristoe's Cove circuit, A. N. Lowery; Valley Head circuit, D. W. Ward; Van Buren circuit, William C. McCoy, James T. Miller; Cedar Bluff circuit, I. Q. Melton, J. A. Neeley, sup.; Center circuit, John W. Baine; Gadsden circuit, Perry K. Brindley; Sulphur Springs circuit, James Cox.

Talladega, Distriel.—Daniel Duncan, P. E. Talladega station, John H. Anderson; Talladega circuit, Moses L. Whitten; White Plains circuit, Robert A. Timmons; Alexandria circuit, Robert G. Ragan, E. B. McClellan, sup.; Jacksonville and Ariston, Melville B. Johnston; Cross Plains circuit, Theophilus Moody; Colvin Mountain mission, Charles A. Allday; Fayetteville circuit, John B. Cole; Harpersville circuit, L. M. Wilson; Columbiana circuit, Cicero L. Dobbs; Montevallo circuit, R. Stripling; Blue Mountain mission, John B. Gregory; Coosa River mission, C. S. McLeod.

Lafayette District.—L. R. Bell, P. E. Lafayette station, P. L. Henderson; Oak Bowery circuit, to be supplied; Fredonia circuit, James W. Christian; Louina circuit, E. W. Jones; Pluckneyville circuit, Warren D. Nicholson; Dadeville circuit, Robert F. Mountain, John N. Dupree, sup.; Secapatoy circuit, William T. Patillo; Llueville circuit, J. R. Sharpe; Arbacoochie circuit, Jesse F. Ellis; Chandler's Springs mission, G. S. D. Lassiter; Hatchet Creek mission, to be supplied by B. Stewart.

Birmingham District.—J. D. Anthony, P. E. Birmingham station, W. L. Clifton; Jones' Valley circuit, J. W. Newman; Blountsville circuit, Rufus W. Coons; Murphree's Valley circuit, James Dobbs; Asheville circuit, Priestley E. Nicholson; Gadsden station, Anson West; Ironton circuit, Francis M. Grace; Tuskaloosa circuit, Evan Nicholson; Woodstock mission, Hugh P. Berry; Jonesboro circuit, Thomas P. Roberts; Village Falls circuit, Robert G. Isbell; Jasper circuit, Julius W. Linn.

Tuskaloosa District.—J. L. Coleman, P. E. Tuskaloosa station, J. M. Boland; North Port circuit, Daniel S. McDonald; Sheffield circuit, Cornelius M. Livingston; Fayette circuit, James E. Andrews; Gordo circuit, Anderson G. Copeland; Carrollton circuit, R. J. Sampler; Fairfield and Pickensville, Robert D. Carver; Palmetto circuit, to be supplied by D. McKee; Yorkville circuit, G. R. Lynch, Thomas W. Shelton, sup.; Yellow Creek circuit, Jephthah F. Randall; Vernon circuit, E. F. S. Roberts; Bexar circuit, G. B. Wilson; North River circuit, J. N. Scott; Tuskaloosa Female College, B. F. Larrabee, principal.

Transferred.—W. Weakley, B. J. Gaston, John S. Marks and James M. Wright, to the Tennessee Conference; Jefferson Hamilton, B. B. Ross, B. G. Blackwell and J. T. Curry, to the Alabama Conference; Thomas G. Whitten, to the Memphis Conference; William R. Williams, to the St. Louis Conference; J. P. Glass, to the Illinois Conference.

VISITING COMMITTEES.

Tuskaloosa Female College.—J. M. Boland, Anson West, W. L. Clifton.

Athens Female Institute.—F. T. J. Brandon, John A. Thompson, V. O. Hawkins.

Huntsville Female College.—W. R. Kirk, C. D. Oliver, J. W. Whitten.

Shapard Hall Female Seminary.—J. W. Christian, W. T. Patillo, R. A. Hardaway.

Delegates to General Conference.—Clerical: Anson West, J. W. Whitten, J. M. Boland, J. D. Anthony and W. R. Kirk. Reserves: C. D. Oliver, L. M. Wilson and Daniel Duncan. Lay: N. T. Lupton, William B. Wood, R. A. Hardaway, J. H. Johnson and M. K. Taylor. Reserves: Thomas Peters, J. W. Harris and J. E. Groce.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

Publisher's Department.

Acknowledgments of Letters and Funds

RECEIVED BY MAIL,

For the Week Ending Dec. 6, 1873.

A—Edwin Aiden $71.45, William F. Alexander, A. F. Andro two letters $31.08, American News Company, W. J. Atwood, Philip Allen, Mrs. Lucy Armitage $12.50, T. S. Arthur & Son.

B—J. H. Butler & Co. three letters, J. M. Boem, B. W. Brown, J. H. Bass & Bro., C. H. Butt, G. W. Brown two letters, Milton Bradley & Co., G. K. Brooks.

C—Continental Publishing Company, W. H. Chidester $8, P. Casey, S. B. Colton, F. Curran, W. I. Clark, J. E. Cobb $20, Cassell & Baughn, John F. Cassels, Claxton, Remsen & Haffelfinger, J. S. Clower $19.50.

D—R. R. Downer, Dodd & Mead, R. A. Davis, C. L. Dobbs $1, C. H. Ditson & Co., J. W. Daughaday & Co.

E—Eldredge & Bro., F. P. Elliot 57 cents.

F—J. L. Francis $1, George L. Felton & Co., E. N. Freshman two letters $118.10, D. W. Foster, H. Walter Featherstine $120, W. M. Fropels.

G—Gould & Lincoln, J. E. Gibbs.

H—P. Howard, S. J. Hawkins, John Holland, W. C. Huntingdon, W. C. Haislip, J. H. Hargrove.

J—M. T. Jenkins, H. F. Johnson $75, B. Jones.

L—J. B. Lippincott & Co. three letters, Littell & Gay, Lee, Shepard & Dillingham, B. & P. Lawrence.

M—Manley & Co., T. Mullet two letters, H. H. Montgomery $8, Charles Miller three letters $20, Mrs. M. L. Moore $5, R. W. Millsaps.

N—C. D. Nicholson, D. C. Nicholson $27.50, Geo. F. Nesbitt & Co., Thomas Nelson & Sons, Robert W. North.

O—William Otis, J. Ormond two letters.

P—Portland Packing Company $16.66, Powers Paper Company, D. M. Proctor, J. H. Packwood $5.50.

R—John Rogers, A. H. Redford two letters, J. K. Randall two letters $21.13, John M. Richardson $21, A. S. Reed.

S—Sheffield & Stone two letters, H. A. Summer, William Shields, S. H. Schroeder, W. R. Stuart, Southwestern Book and Publishing Company.

T—S. W. Turner $5, B. F. Thomasson, John E. Taylor, Mrs. H. N. Tyler, F. M. Taylor $2, W. P. Thomasson $2.

W—William Wood & Co., A. D. Worthington & Co. $12.50, E. E. Wiley, J. K. Ward $2, A. Wheeler, H. Weems, James Whitaker, John Wilkinson two letters, Mrs. C. A. Woodward 50 cents, D. A. Wilkinson 10 cents, Weed Sewing Machine Company.

Y—M. Yantzky.

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.—The Perseverance sash, blind and door factory of George Purves is one of the largest in the country. Everything about the establishment gives evidence of enterprise and thrift. Their building, represented by the cut which appears in this issue of the ADVOCATE, is large and commodious, and well adapted to the extensive machinery which is operated within. They have an extensive lumber yard in connection, and invite attention to their manufactured products, as well as their dressed and undressed lumber. Our readers interested in purchasing building materials are invited to call at the corner of St. Charles and Clio streets and satisfy themselves.

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—The commercial college of Prof. George Soule, in the Story building, cor. of Camp and Common streets, is, we doubt not, one of the best in the country. A knowledge of the different branches of business is practically taught—banking, brokerage, mercantile, commissions, operations and shipping. The regular routine of business is gone through daily as if the transactions were real, and the lectures are admirably adapted to fix in the mind those universal principles upon which alone business can be philosophically, scientifically and safely conducted. The advertisement of the college will be found in our columns.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co. have special and extensive attractions for those whose household wares need replenishing. Their stock combines the beautiful and the useful, and we are satisfied that no reasonable person will complain of their prices. Their advertisement, to be found in another column, will give a just and clear idea of their qualities and prices of goods, but no one can form a correct idea of the great variety and extent of their stock without calling at their establishment, 55 Camp street, which we advise them to do.

GREAT REDUCTION IN DRY GOODS. The announcement of D. H. Holmes, in another place in to-day's issue, is important to purchasers of dry goods. We have been acquainted with this house for many years, and when we say that we have never seen a finer display of staple and fancy goods during any former season, a large number of our readers who live here or have visited the city can form an idea of the extent and character of the stock, which is offered at the greatly reduced prices set forth in his advertisement.

SHOW CASES AND SHOW WINDOWS.—We direct special attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Hecker & Hinrichs, manufacturers of white metal sash for show windows. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. City customers may find them at their establishment, No. 14 Perdido street, between St. Charles and Carondelet. See advertisement.

MRS. KATE C. LOGAN notifies her friends and the public that since the late fire she has removed to No. 9 Bourbon street, where she will be happy to meet those in want of her services in millinery and dress and cloakmaking. She opens a new stock this week. Orders will receive prompt attention.

PHOTOGRAPHER AND ARTIST.—W. W. Washburn, whose art gallery is at 113 Canal street, and whose advertisement is in the columns of the ADVOCATE, has had twenty-five years' experience in the business, and invites our readers to inspect the specimens of his work, which, if they do, we are confident they will be convinced of the superiority of his work.

MISS C. C. MATTHEWS, No. 2821 Camp street, near Calliope, has now in store, and is receiving fresh additions, a superior stock of human hair, in braids, curls, puffs, etc., of all colors; also fancy and toilet articles. She calls especial attention to the ladies' hair-dressing saloon connected with her establishment.

FURNITURE AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.—Mr. Flynn, at 167 Poydras street, advertises his large stock of furniture at greatly reduced prices. Superb bed-room sets at $125, and other articles at rates in proportion. Those in need of furniture should not fail to call and examine his stock and prices.

JOHN McMAINS, wholesale and retail dealer in groceries, teas, etc., Nos. 572 and 574 Magazine street, opposite Magazine market, and No. 40 Washington street, corner of Fulton. Goods delivered free of drayage.

SUFFERERS from coughs and colds are invited to read the advertisement headed "Pope's Cure." For sale by druggists generally. Price, seventy-five cents per bottle.

MESSRS. H. MALLEGEN & Co., whose office is at No. 321 Rampart street, are extensive dealers in wood and coal, which they advertise for sale at the lowest rates.

TEACHER WANTED.—See the advertisement for a middle-aged lady among our new advertisements.

DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY.—Our lady readers have their attention directed to the advertisement of Mrs. Garbanatti, 625 Magazine street, for good work and moderate prices. Those who wish to take lessons in cutting and fitting for themselves are informed that Mrs. Garbanatti has a novel and useful invention to facilitate their efforts, and offers to make "every lady her own dressmaker." In times like these such an accomplishment may not be without its attractions to some who have lightly esteemed it heretofore. Mrs. Garbanatti has a choice selection of goods in her line, and guarantees satisfaction to her patrons. Country as well as city orders solicited.

M. COGAN, Nos. 19 and 20 Canal street, continues to offer inducements to purchasers of clothing. His stock, damaged by water at the late fire, is not yet closed out.

AT Nos. 18, 20 and 22 Baronne street Mr. Louis Grunewald keeps a large and fine assortment of pianos, which he guarantees to purchasers.

PURCHASERS of hay, corn, oats and bran will remember the firm of M. J. & D. D. O'Brien, No. 32 Peters street, who make a specialty of feed.

THE finest flavor imaginable is imparted to fish, when served at the table, by the use of the famous Halford Leicestershire Tahlo Sauce. If you will test this standard article you will be satisfied with the result. dell 4t

COLGATE & CO.'s new perfume for the handkerchief, "CASHMERE BOUQUET," will be appreciated by all who have enjoyed the delicate and peculiar fragrance of their toilet soap of the same name, which is so universally popular. jel21y

BUSINESS NOTICES.

WANTED TO BE HEARD FROM.

If anybody has ever used the thorough and scientific course of treatment recommended by the proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy for the cure of Catarrh, and has not been perfectly cured, the proprietor, Dr. R. V. Pierce, would like to hear from that person, and by addressing him at the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, New York, such person, if there be one, will hear of something to his or her advantage, as the doctor is in earnest when he offers $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure, and is perfectly able to pay it if he fails in a single case, as any one may ascertain upon inquiry. The thorough course of treatment referred to and recommended by Dr. Pierce consists in the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, which is the only means by which the fluid can be carried high up and applied to all parts of the nasal passages and the chambers connected therewith, in which ulcers exist and from which the discharge proceeds. In addition to this thorough application of the Remedy, which should always be used warm, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery should be taken earnestly as constitutional treatment, without which few cases can be cured, as the disease is always constitutional and must be treated accordingly. This treatment has no unpleasant features about it, and has the advantage of never driving the disease to the lungs, as there is danger of doing by the use of strong, irritating snuffs or poisonous solutions.

PLAIN FACTS.

FRANKFORT, MICH., Sept. 13, 1873.

A year ago I had a bad cough from the Catarrh which had got in my throat. I tried a good many things, but got nothing to do me any good until I used your Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. They cured me in three months, for which I am very thankful.

dell 1t AMOS FISHER.

FORTY-SEVEN YEARS' STANDING. Messrs. Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa.—Gentlemen: Please send this box of Cannabis Indica immediately for my sick friends. And I here certify that your medicine has cured my wife, Susan Jones, of Asthma, of forty seven years' standing. The doctors here called it complicated bronchitis and consumption. If you would give me an agency I could sell considerable.

Respectfully, C. R. JONES.

LAFAYETTE SPRINGS, MISS., Sept. 23, 1873. dell 1t

MRS. M. G. BROWN'S METAPHYSICAL DISCOVERY kills the root of all disease—Deafness, Baldness, Blindness, Catarrh, etc. Three preparations form the Metaphysical Discovery, which enters the system through the Eyes, Ears and Scalp. No drugs through the mouth. Price, $1, $3.50 and $5. Sold by Frederickson & Harte, 139 Canal street, and E. J. Hart & Co., 73 to 79 Tchoupitoulas street, New Orleans, and by druggists generally; or will be sent to any address, on receipt of price, from the Metaphysical University, 51 Bond street, New York, where please inclose stamp for pamphlet. oc9 1yetw

A BOX of Liver Pills, free of charge, inclosed in the wrapper with every bottle of Kress Fever Tonic, and sold by Frederickson & Harte and E. J. Hart & Co., on the warrant of the proprietors that this Tonic will cure Fever and Ague, Chill and Fever, Dumb Ague, and all forms of this malady. Go get a bottle and try it. There is no arsenic, no strychnine nor any other poisonous property in the medicine. It has been tried for the last ten years in Indiana and Illinois, and is a success. dec 2m

PIERSON & HEWS, fine Clothing, Shirts and Furnishing Goods, 13 and 15 Camp street, opposite City Hotel, New Orleans, Louisiana. We invite visitors from the interior to examine our stock and prices. We claim to sell first-class goods as low as can be afforded and live. We sell the celebrated Shoulder-Seam Shirts, warranted to fit, wear and give satisfaction. Liberal deduction made to Clergymen, and their trade solicited. fe27 1y

IT CANNOT HURT YOU.—It is purely vegetable. Try Simmons' Liver Regulator if you wish to be well. It acts like a charm, without debilitating the system, and without any of the evil effects of mercury. Simmons' Liver Regulator is the safe remedy. dell 1t

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, New York.

Assets ..... $21,000,000
Income ..... 11,000,000

Branch office—33 CAMP STREET.

A. P. CLEVELAND,
fel3 1y General Agent.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

OCEAN SAW MILL.

Having our large NEW SAW MILL now in successful operation, which gives us increased facilities for sawing Lumber to order at short notice, and at reduced prices, we would be glad to have our customers and the public generally, in want of Lumber, to call and examine our stock, consisting of almost every variety of wood grown in the South, viz.:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cypress, | Cedar, | Hhd. Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, Yellow, | Manle, | Barrel Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, White, | Gum, | Headings | (cypress.) |
| Oak, White, | Sycamore, | Clap-Boards | (cypress.) |
| Ash, | Beech | Shingles | (cypress.) |
| Walnut, | Cotton, | Laths | (cypress.) |
| Poplar, | Cherry, | Firewood, assorted, etc. | |

Also Mast-Sticks and Spars.

It will be greatly to the advantage of parties shipping by cargo to call upon us, as we can saw and furnish Lumber as rapidly as a vessel can receive it.

Orders directed to Messrs. M. PUIG & CO., No. 57 Customhouse street, or Box 2228, New Orleans Postoffice, and Box 297, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange, will receive prompt attention.

L. CARBO, Director and Agent,
Office, foot of Bordeaux street.
dell 1m Sixth District.

LADIES' HAIR STORE AND HAIR DRESSING SALOON.

MISS C. C. MATTHEWS,

No. 2821 Camp Street, near Calliope,

would respectfully inform her friends and the public in general that she has now in store, and will be constantly receiving fresh additions, a superior stock of

REAL HUMAN HAIR,

in Braids, Curls, Switches, Puffs, Pin Curls, etc., of all colors and shades, and at VERY LOW PRICES. Old Hair Dyed and made new in any style. Also Combing made up in any desired style.

Ladies will find an experienced artist in the HAIR-DRESSING SALOON, and will receive prompt and polite attention.

She has also Fancy Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Fancy and Jet Bracelets, Combs, Brushes, Fancy Jet Sets, etc.

English and German spoken. Country orders promptly attended to. dell 1m

JOHN McMAINS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL GROCER,
Dealer in Groceries, Teas, etc.,
Nos. 572 and 574 Magazine Street,
Opposite Magazine Market, and
NO. 40 WASHINGTON ST., COR. FULTON,
NEW ORLEANS.
Goods delivered free of drayage. dell 2m

WANTED.—TO KNOW THE ADDRESS OF Nicholas Perkins and his wife, Martha Perkins, who formerly resided, and may still reside, in this city. Any person able to give the desired information will confer a favor by forwarding the same to

G. A. C., care Box 814, dell tf New Orleans, La.

WANTED.—A MIDDLE-AGED LADY, who understands English Grammar and Arithmetic, to teach in a private family. To commence about January 1, 1874. For further particulars address

W. P. THOMASON, dell 2t Red Mouth, Richland parish, La.

LADIES' HAIR STORE AND HAIR DRESSING SALOON.

MISS C. C. MATTHEWS,

No. 2821 Camp Street, near Calliope,

would respectfully inform her friends and the public in general that she has now in store, and will be constantly receiving fresh additions, a superior stock of

REAL HUMAN HAIR,

in Braids, Curls, Switches, Puffs, Pin Curls, etc., of all colors and shades, and at VERY LOW PRICES. Old Hair Dyed and made new in any style. Also Combing made up in any desired style.

Ladies will find an experienced artist in the HAIR-DRESSING SALOON, and will receive prompt and polite attention.

She has also Fancy Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Fancy and Jet Bracelets, Combs, Brushes, Fancy Jet Sets, etc.

English and German spoken. Country orders promptly attended to. dell 1m

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO PURCHASERS OF DRY GOODS.

IN VIEW OF OUR SENIOR, MR. HOLMES, RETIRING FROM BUSINESS, WE propose offering from and after this date, at GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, our entire stock of EUROPEAN GOODS, in store and to arrive, and we can to-day present a choice of LADIES' DRESS GOODS such as has never before been offered in this city, consisting of

Satins, Diagonals, Draps de Dames, Cygoinne, Camels' Hair Cloth,

BIERITZ, DRAPS IMPERATRICE, SILKS, BLACK AND COLORED. ALSO

CONFECTIONS, ROBES DE CHAMBRES, MATINÉES EN PERCALE, ETC.

THE GREATER PORTION AT

ONE-HALF THE PRICE OF IMPORTATION.

Our unsurpassed and unique assortment of LINGERIE AND LINGE, HOSIERY, LINENS AND HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS will come under the category of the heavy reductions.

OUR DOMESTIC STOCK

Will be offered at manufacturers' reduced prices, which are from twenty-five to thirty-three per cent. lower than they were in the beginning of the season. As we rarely appeal to purchasers by means of advertisements, our assurance of the truth of all we advance can be relied on.

D. H. HOLMES,
ap24 1y No. 115 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

NEW-ORLEANS, LA. TATTLE, N. Y.

GEORGE PURVES'

PERSEVERANCE

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD,

Cor. of St. Charles and Clio Sts., New Orleans.

GLAZED SASH.

Send for Price List.

dell 1y

MAKE YOUR HOME ATTRACTIVE BY REPLENISHING YOUR

TABLE-WARE

—AT—

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.'S,

55.....Camp Street.....55

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

See What a Little Money Will Buy.

An elegant White Granite DINNER SET, comprising 136 pieces, for..... $15 00

In wit:

| | |
|---|---|
| 12 Dinner Plates, | 1 Soup Tureen, |
| 12 Breakfast Plates, | 1 Sauce Bowl, |
| 12 Tea Plates, | 1 Salad Dish, |
| 12 Soup Plates, | 2 Covered Dishes, |
| 12 Preserve Plates, | 2 Vegetable Dishes, |
| 12 Butter Plates, | 4 Meat Dishes, |
| 12 Tea Cups and Saucers, | 2 Pickle Shells, |

12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers.

A Porcelain DeTerre DINNER SET (equal to French China in appearance, and much more durable,) same assortment as above. $18 00

A French China (best quality) DINNER SET, same assortment, 136 pieces..... 30 00

Decorated Porcelain DeTerre and French China DINNER SETS, from..... $30 up.

White Granite CHAMBER SETS, 11 pieces $4 00

White Granite TEA SETS, 41 pieces..... 4 00

French China TEA SETS, 44 pieces..... 6 50

French China Decorated TEA SETS, 44 pieces..... 7 50

Good Table GOBLETS, from 50 cents per set up.

| | |
|---|---|
| Granite Dinner Plates, per dozen..... | 1 40 |
| Granite Breakfast Plates, per dozen..... | 1 25 |
| Granite Tea Plates, per dozen..... | 1 15 |
| French China Dinner Plates, per dozen..... | 3 00 |
| French China Breakfast Plates, per dozen..... | 2 75 |
| French China Tea Plates, per dozen..... | 2 25 |

NOTE.—The prices above contemplate "First-choice" goods, every piece being warranted regular and perfect. "Seconds" or imperfect goods, warped in making and otherwise irregular, we will furnish for those that desire at twenty per cent. discount from these prices. We shall meet all competition promptly, and as we import our own ware our customers can depend upon getting the BEST GOODS at the lowest possible prices.

AGENTS FOR THE CELEBRATED

BLANCHARD CHURNS,

AND THE LARGEST DEALERS IN

HOUSEKEEPING NOVELTIES

IN THE SOUTHWEST.

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.,
dell 1y No. 55 Camp street, New Orleans.

HUGH FLYNN,

167 POYDRAS ST., NEW ORLEANS.

All who want to purchase CHEAP FURNITURE can call at 167 Poydras street, between St. Charles and Carondelet streets.

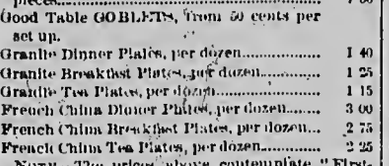
On account of retiring from the Furniture business, I am now selling off my large stock of New Furniture at greatly reduced rates. I am selling at rates below those of any house in the city.

Walnut Victoria Bed-room Sets, marble top..$125 00
Parlor Sets, eleven pieces..... 110 00
Double Bedsteads, with Testers and Rollers.. 12 00

Kitchen and Dining-room Furniture at equally low rates. Spring, Hair and Moss Mattresses of the best quality and at greatly reduced prices. dell 1y

W. W. WASHBURN,

ARTIST PHOTOGRAPHER,



113.....Canal Street.....113

Opposite Clay Statue, New Orleans.

MR. WASHBURN is himself an artist of twenty-five years' experience, and is supported in each department by a corps of assistants who have no superiors in this or the Old World. He is the master of his business. Besides employing the best artists, he uses the best materials and makes the best work on the continent. You may call this

"BLOWING HIS OWN HORN,"

but for proof he refers you to his thirty thousand patrons, and to his work, which may be inspected at his Art Gallery. dell 2t

BEST HOLIDAY GIFT.

OF CONSTANT AND PERMANENT VALUE.

dell 1t

H. MOLLEGEN & CO.,

DEALERS IN

All Kinds of Wood and Coal.

OFFICE—NO. 321 RAMPART STREET,
Between Calliope and Delord.

Wood Sawed and Split by machinery at ONE-FOURTH the usual charge, and delivered Free. Wood and Coal sold at the lowest rates. Full measure guaranteed. Stove Wood a specialty. dell 2m

LABOR AGENCY AND IMMIGRATION Office, 84 CARONDELET STREET, between Perdido and Poydras streets, where the best and most reliable help, of all nationalities, sexes and colors can be had for city or country, upon short notice, by leaving order, and on the most reasonable terms. A. MANE, Agent.

N. B.—My customers at a distance will please arrange for transportation for hands ordered, giving the name of some responsible citizen or merchant here as security to contract and payment of office fees. dell 1y

SPECIAL NOTICE.

MRS. KATE C. LOGAN

notifies her customers that she has reopened her MILLINERY, DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING BUSINESS, at

No. 9 Bourbon Street,

two doors from the corner of Canal, a few steps from her late premises, destroyed by fire on Friday night. She is prepared to fill orders as heretofore. dell 2m

SOULE'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE. The Commercial Athenæum of the South, corner Camp and Common streets (Story Building.) Mercantile and Banking offices are connected with this institution, daily lectures given, and all branches of a business education practically, scientifically and philosophically taught. An English Department for boys, twelve to eighteen years of age, is a special feature of this institution. French and Spanish are also taught.

GEO. SOULE, Principal.

N. B.—Soule's Philosophic Commercial and Exchange Calculator, 880 octavo pages, the great arithmetical work of the age, is for sale at the College office. dell 1m

SHOW CASES.....SHOW CASES.

HECKER & HINRICHS,

MANUFACTURERS OF

White Metal Sash for Show Windows,

NO. 14 PERDIDO STREET,

Bet. St. Charles and Carondelet Sts., New Orleans.

Orders by mail promptly attended to. dell 1m

DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY.

THE LATEST AND NEATEST STYLES.

Mrs. Garbanatti,

625.....MAGAZINE STREET.....625

(Aurich Row,) New Orleans.

Best of work. Prices moderate. Country orders solicited.

Every Lady Her Own Dressmaker.

MRS. GARBANATTI, 625 Magazine street, has a novel and useful invention for Cutting Dresses, Basques, etc., with which she will teach ladies to Cut and Fit without waste or possibility of error. Call and see for yourselves, ladies. Terms moderate. no27 3m

A LITERARY CURIOSITY.

MARK TWAIN

AND

CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER'S

NEW BOOK, ENTITLED

THE GILDED AGE.

Just fitted to the times. Sells easier and more rapidly than any other book now in market.

AGENTS wanted everywhere. Send for terms and sample pages to

NETTLETON & CO.,
oc2 1y 180 West Fourth St. Cincinnati, Ohio.

GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.

Trains depart and arrive as follows (from Depot foot of Calliope street:)

DEPART.

Express..... 7.00 A. M.
Mail..... 5.55 P. M.

ARRIVE.

Express..... 11.45 P. M.
Mail..... 11.00 A. M.

Accommodation discontinued.

This line is many miles the shortest and many hours the quickest to all points North and East, and the only line running Pullman's Palace Sleeping-Cars to Louisville and St. Louis (Missouri) without change. Only one change to principal cities North and East. Tickets for sale and all information given at 22 Camp street, corner of Common, New Orleans.

A. D. SHELDON, Agent.
E. D. FROST, General Manager. no27 6m

SELLING OUT.....SELLING OUT.

REGARDLESS OF COST,

AT A GREAT SACRIFICE,

To close the business, the entire stock of

TOYS, FANCY GOODS, BASKETS,

Trimmings, Bohemian and China Vases, etc., contained in

THE VARIETY STORE,

547.....MAGAZINE STREET.....547

(HASTING'S NOW.)

Between Felicity and St. Mary streets.

The Show Cases, Shelving and Counters for sale cheap. no6 75p

S. COLLINS & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PRINTING INK.

Office and Depot—26 Frankfort St.,

oc9 3m NEW YORK.

WANTED.

The highest Cash Price paid for Rags, Old Paper, Rope, etc., at

THE LOUISIANA PAPER MILLS,
Nos. 211 and 213 Liberty Street,
Between Third and Julia.
BROWN & PEMBERTON,
dec 2m Proprietors.

FIRST-CLASS FURNITURE

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Also Church Furniture and Cushions.

Patronage earnestly solicited.

M. A. DAVIS & SONS,
No. 224 South Second street,
sel8 3m Philadelphia, Pa.

WANTED.

A graduate of the Virginia Military Institute desires a situation in a College, or other institution of learning. For information address

REV. R. J. HARP,
New Orleans Christian Advocate Office,
no20 1m No. 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

Corner Magnolia and Second Streets,

New Orleans.

Office Hours—Eight to nine A. M. and three to four P. M. je29 tf

MOTHERS—MOTHERS—MOTHERS! Don't fail to procure Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for all diseases incident to the period of Teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, cures Wind-Colic, regulates the bowels, and, by giving relief and health to the child, gives rest to the mother.

Be sure and call for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. For sale by all druggists. je26 1yefw

MEDICAL.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

—IT IS—

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver diseases most prevail. It will cure all diseases caused by derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR
OR MEDICINE

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.

After over forty years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the

MOST EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC

for Constipation, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, despondency, gloom and forebodings of evil, all of which are the offspring of a diseased Liver.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion it Has No Equal.

☞ It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world. Manufactured only by J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia.

Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. se25 1y

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

THE STARTLING DRAWBACK ON nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for an agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY and STRENGTHEN

At One and the Same Time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which fully realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. This important desideratum is

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,

which purifies the blood and removes all corrupt humor and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but, on the contrary, tones the stomach and invigorates the body during the progress of its operation. It unites the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a strengthening purgative and a purifying tonic.

DR. TUTT'S PILLS are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation. They produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.

Price, 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists.

Principal Office, Nos. 18 and 20 Platt street, New York. oc2 1ysp

FREE!.....FREE!.....FREE

50,000

BUTTERICK & CO.'S

CATALOGUES of WINTER FASHIONS

Just received and ready for distribution,

FREE!

THE METROPOLITAN,

published monthly, and containing all the Latest Novelties in Dress, at $2 a year, or 25 cents for single copy.

A full and complete assortment of BUTTERICK & CO.'S celebrated PAPER PATTERNS always on hand. Send for club rates. Address

WM. E. COOPER, Agent,
no30 1m 89 Canal street.

THE SEVENTH WONDER OF THE WORLD IS THE LADY

CHEAP JOHN,

MRS. D. J. LOEWENSTEIN,

549.....MAGAZINE STREET.....549

Who has nearly sold out her damaged stock of BOOTS AND SHOES, and what is remaining will almost be given away, in order to make room for her extensive stock of NEW GOODS, now arriving direct from the best manufacturers of the North, East and West. Having been carefully selected for this market, and bought for cash, they will be sold at astonishingly low prices—not

The Child's Corner.

SONG OF THE WIND.

BY SARAH ROBERTS.

I've a great deal to do, a great deal to do;
Don't speak to me, children, I pray;
These little boys' hats must be blown off their heads,
And the little girls' bonnets away.

There's a great deal of dust to be blown in the air,
To trouble the traveler's eyes;
Those fruit-stalls and stands to be thrown to the ground,
And this tart-woman's puddings and pies.

There are bushels of apples to gather to-day,
And oh! there's no end to the nuts;
Over many long roads I must traverse away,
And many by-lanes and short cuts.

There are thousands of leaves, lying lazily here,
That needs must be whirled round and round;
A rickety house wants to see me, I know,
In the most distant part of the town.

The rich nabob's cloak must have a good shake,
Though he does hold his head pretty high;
And I must not slight Betty, who washes so nice,
And has just hung her clothes out to dry.

Then there are signs to be creaked and doors to be slammed,
Loose window-blinds, too, to be shaken;
When you know all the business I must do to-day,
You will see how much trouble I've taken.

I saw some ships leaving the harbor to-day,
So I'll e'en go and help them along,
And flap the white sails, and howl through the shrouds,
And join in the sailor boy's song.

Then I'll mount to the clouds, and away they will sail,
On their gorgeous wings, through the bright sky;
I bow to no mandate, save only to him
Who reigneth in glory on high.

Eye-Servants.

Do you know what an eye-servant is? God doesn't like eye-service. He says so in the Bible. It isn't a good kind of service. It's mean and wicked and selfish.

I once knew a boy who was hired in a family where he had a good many chores to do. This boy did not always do as he would if his master or mistress had been looking at him. He wanted to eat a great many times a day, and would go to the pantry very often to get pie or cake or anything nice. The lady found it out, and she told the cook she must not allow it. Then this boy would stuff his pockets with cookies or doughnuts at the table when he was not seen. The lady found this out too; then she told the boy she should not allow that.

After that this boy would get angry with the cook, because she wouldn't give him things when the mistress did not know it. This boy was an eye-servant—he needed watching all the time to do things right. If he was told to sweep a floor, unless he was watched he would be very careless about it. If he was told to work the washing machine he would jerk things around and tear the clothes unless he was watched.

Once he was told to go somewhere at a certain time; but he fell asleep, and so was half an hour late. When he was asked why he didn't come at the time he tried to deceive, and said he was told to come at another time. If he had said he had fallen asleep, and given that as his excuse, he would not have been so much blamed; but he was an eye-servant, and could not speak the truth.

He was also a coward, because he was afraid to take the blame he deserved, and tried to put it on some one else. Don't be an eye-servant. Learn to do right because it is right; then you will be trusted and respected.—Congregationalist.

CHRIST OUR GUEST.—When one of the boys of an orphans' refuge had said the grace, "Come, Lord Jesus, be our guest, and bless what thou hast provided," a little fellow looked up and said: "Do tell me why the Lord Jesus never comes. We ask him every day to sit with us, and he never comes. I shall set him a seat," and just then there was a knock at the door. A poor boy entered, begging a night's lodging. He was made welcome, the chair stood empty for him; every child wanted him to have his plate. The stranger was quite touched with such uncommon attentions. The little one, after thinking for some time, said:

"Jesus could not come, and so he sent this poor boy in his place; is that it?"

Yes, dear child, that is just it. Every piece of bread and every drink of water that we give to the poor or the sick or the prisoners for Jesus' sake, we give to him. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."—Memphis Presbyterian.

BETTER THAN GOLD.—We often hear little boys telling of the wonders they will do when they grow to be men. They are looking and longing for the time when they shall be large enough to carry a cane and wear a tall hat; and not one of them will say that he expects to be a poor man, but they every one intend to be rich. Now money is very good in its place; but let me tell you, little boys, what is a great deal better than money, and what you may be earning all the time you are waiting to grow large enough to earn a fortune. The Bible tells us that "a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold." A good name does not mean a name for being the richest man in town or for owning the largest house. A good name is a name for doing good deeds; a name for wearing a pleasant face and carrying a cheerful heart; for always doing right, no matter what we may be.

GO WITHOUT PUSHING.—I was showing my little daughter Carrie a picture representing mothers pushing their children toward Jesus when he held one of their number in his arms.

"I would not be pushed to Jesus, mamma," she said with earnestness.

"That is the way I would have done with you, Carrie, if I had been there," said I.

"I would not want to be pushed; I'd go to him without pushing," she replied.

A STOICAL SCOTCHMAN was addressed by his sick wife: "Oh! John, I shan't leave this bed alive."—"Please theeself, Betty, and thee'll please me," returned John, with great equanimity. "I have been a good wife to you, John," persisted the dying woman. "Meddlin', Betty, meddlin'," responded the matter-of-fact husband.

Farm, Garden and Household.

To Crystallize Flowers.

The following method of crystallizing flowers is given for the benefit of several correspondents who have lately asked for a description of the process:

Dissolve eighteen ounces of pure alum in a quart of soft spring-water (observing the same proportion for a greater or less quantity) by boiling it gently in a close tin vessel, over a moderate fire, keeping it stirred with a wooden spatula until the solution is complete. When the liquor is almost cold suspend the subject to be crystallized, by means of a small thread or twine, from a lath or small stick laid horizontally across the aperture of a deep glass or earthen jar, as being best adapted for the purpose, into which the solution must be poured. The respective articles should remain in the solution twenty-four hours, when they are perfectly dry.

When the subjects to be crystallized are put into the solution while it is quite cold the crystals are apt to be formed too large; on the other hand, should it be too hot the crystals will be small in proportion. The best temperature is about ninety-five degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer. Among vegetable specimens that may be operated on are the moss-rose of the gardens, ears of corn, especially millet-seed and the bearded wheat, berries of the holly, fruit of the slow-bush, the hyacinth, pink, furze-blossoms, ranunculus, garden-daisy, and a great variety of others; in fact there are few subjects in the vegetable world that are not eligible to this mode of preservation.

The fitness of this solution for the purpose may be ascertained by putting a drop of it on a slip of grass, and seeing if it crystallizes as it cools; if so the solution is sufficiently strong. Then twist round a sprig or plant, a cinder, a wire ornament of any kind, some cotton, or, still better, some worsted. After being immersed, as already directed, the surface of the whole will be found covered with beautiful crystallizations.

Standard of Ayrshire Cows.

The following are the points which the Royal Agricultural Association of Ayrshire has established as the standard of Ayrshire cows, as reported:

Head short; forehead wide; nose fine between the muzzle and the eye; muzzle moderately large; eyes full and lively; horns widely set on, inclining upward and curving slightly inward; neck long and straight from the head to the top of the shoulders, free from loose skin in the under side, fine at its junction with the head, and the muzzle symmetrically enlarging toward the shoulders; shoulders thin at top; brisket light; the whole forequarter thin in front, and gradually increasing in depth and width backward; back short and straight; spine well defined, especially at the shoulders; short ribs arched; the body deep at the flanks, and the milk-veins well developed; pelvis long, broad and straight; high bones, wide apart, and not much overlaid with fat; thighs deep and broad; tail long and slender, and set on a level with the back; udder capacious and extending well forward; hinder part broad and firmly attached to the body; the sole or under surface nearly level; the teats from two to two and a half inches in length, equal in thickness, and hanging perpendicularly; their distance apart at the sides should be equal to about one-third the length of the vessel, and across to about one-half of the breadth; legs short, the bones fine and the joints firm; skin soft and elastic, and covered with soft, close and woolly hair; the colors preferred are brown or brown and white, the colors being distinctly defined; weight of animal, when fattened, about forty imperial stone (five hundred and sixty pounds,) sinking the offal.

MOWING STRAWBERRIES.—During one of the winter meetings of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society the subject of mowing off the leaves of strawberries came up for discussion. Most of the speakers agreed as to its highly beneficial effect. It resulted in producing a growth of more vigorous and healthy foliage; the flower-buds for the next year being formed at this time, such a quantity of foliage is of great importance. Further observation has also shown that not only the tops but the roots are renewed at this time, giving a new and vigorous set of roots to furnish nourishment to the growing fruit.—Horticulturist.

We believe our Instructor is the only standard work that has recommended cutting off the old tops of strawberry-plants, and we do now, as we ever have, believe it very beneficial to the plant and to the future crop. It is well, however, to leave the tops around the crown, or else scatter around them on the surface a liberal quantity of well-rotted compost, or, if this is not done, give them oft-repeated cultivation.

It is reasonable that when the old, dead top is taken off the strength of the root goes to forming new crowns and leaves.—Editor Recorder.

THE FLORIDA ORANGE CROP.—In Jacksonville the past season oranges have sold at from $25 to $60 per thousand. Taking 500 as the average per tree, and a hundred trees to the acre, we have 50,000 oranges from an acre, which at $40 per thousand, taken as the average price, will give $2,000; while at $25, the lowest price at which good oranges were sold, we have $1,250 as the income from an acre. It requires no large outlay of capital to start an orange grove, and its care involves no more labor than an apple orchard of the same size. A correspondent writes: We leave it for parties interested to calculate the profits arising from an orange grove of ten or twenty acres in full bearing. We are quite sure the credit side of the sheet will show that the profit of growing the orange is larger in proportion to the expenditure of money and labor than that derived from the cultivation of any other crop in the United States. The largest grove in the State is situated on the eastern coast. It is known as Dummit's grove, from the name of the proprietor. It contains some 1,350 trees, which have produced in a single year 700,000 oranges.

A NOVEL METHOD OF CATCHING MICE.—A correspondent of the Journal of Pharmacy says: "Having noticed mice in our seed-barrels, I bethought me how I might trap the little intruders. I thought of saturating a piece of cotton with chloroform and throwing it in, then closing the lid. On raising it again in a few minutes I would find that life had almost or quite departed. Having, on one occasion, left the piece of cotton in the barrel, on again returning I found three mice with their heads in close contact with it, and dead. In the evening I saturated another piece and placed it in the barrel, and on opening it the next morning, to my surprise, I found nine dead mice."

CUTTING ASPARAGUS.—Among asparagus-growers the rule is that none should be cut the first year of planting. The second year the stronger spears may be cut at first as they appear above the surface, until the middle of May, when the spears should be allowed to run to seed. The third year the bed may be cut regularly until the first week in June, when some of the weaker growth should be left, and by the twelfth or fifteenth cutting should cease. From then on the bed may be cut from the middle of March to the middle of May, not later.

DR. NEALE, when in Vienna, asked the waiter if there were any Baptists in the city, and he was referred to the "head cook." This reminds us of the fur trader, out West, who, after buying skins of the woman, in the absence of her husband, asked if there were any Presbyterians about there. "I guess not," was the reply; "my husband never shot any."

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

M. J. & D. D. O'BRIEN,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
AND
DEALERS IN CORN, OATS, BRAN AND HAY,
32 Peters St. (late New Levee.)
no20 2m New Orleans.

ANDREW J. AIKEN. JOHN W. WATT.
AIKEN & WATT,
COTTON FACTORS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
60 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.
Special attention given to orders for the purchase of all descriptions of Produce, Agricultural Implements and Plantation Supplies. no6 1y

G. M. HAYLY & POND,
WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Nos. 31, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Canal, and 59 and 61 Common Street,
ja23 1y New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

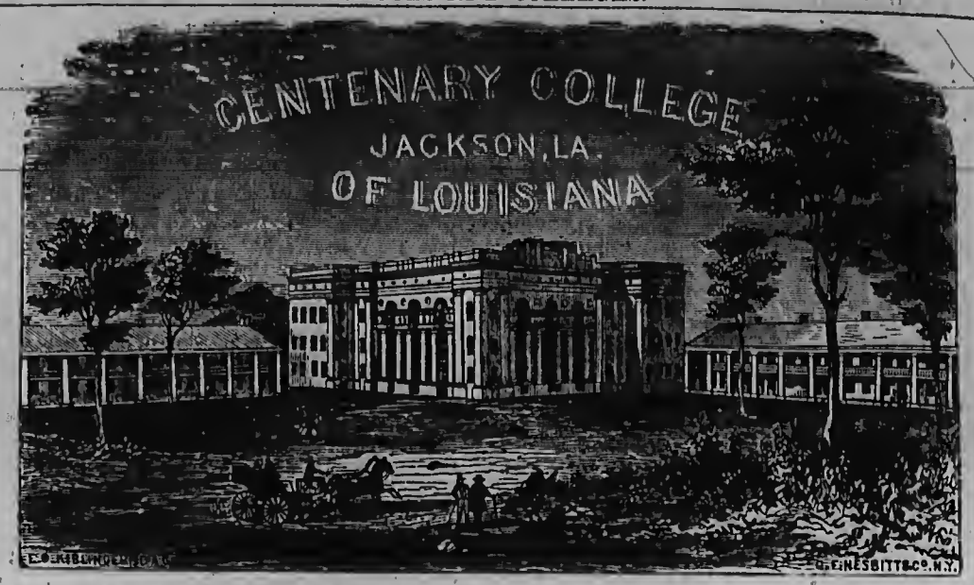
CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL FURNITURE.
Patent School Desks.
W. P. UHLINGER,
921 Chestnut St., Phila.
FACTORY,
Columbia Avenue, below Second.
ESTABLISHED 1850.
se18 3m

LANDRETH'S SEEDS
Have spoken their own praise for upward of three-quarters of a century.
The attention of Market Gardeners is particularly requested.
LANDRETH'S RURAL REGISTER AND ALMANAC will be mailed without charge to all who apply.
DAVID LANDRETH & SON,
21 and 23 South Sixth street,
se18 4m Philadelphia, Pa.

ALEXANDER MILLS,

ORGAN BUILDER,
NO. 539 BROOME STREET,
oc2 3m NEW YORK.



CHEAPEST AND BEST!

CHICAGO FARM PUMPS!
Send for Price List.
B.S. Twichell,
New Orleans.
oc30 6m

NEW ORLEANS PURCHASING BUREAU.
To the Ladies of the South.
A Purchasing Agency has been established in New Orleans, Louisiana, for the benefit of those residing at a distance from the city, and who have not the facilities for obtaining just what they require.
MRS. H. MOGRIDGE
respectfully offers her services in selecting, purchasing and forwarding any article of apparel or personal adornment for ladies' and children's use, including MILLINERY, DRY GOODS, JEWELRY, BRIDAL TROUSSEAUX, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Trimmings, Underwear, Sewing Machines, etc., etc.
Scrupulous care with reference to the price and quality, and fidelity to the interest and fulfillment of the wishes of correspondents, will be sedulously carried out.
MRS. H. MOGRIDGE,
At Mrs. Doherty's Elegant Millinery and Dressmaking Establishment, 96 Canal St., Over Zimmerman's Jewelry Store, New Orleans.
Send for circular fe8 1y

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

THE NEXT TERM OF THIS VENERABLE INSTITUTION OPENS ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER, 1873.

Faculty.—REV. C. G. ANDREWS, A. M., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Political Economy and International Laws; REV. A. R. HOLCOMBE, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Adjunct Professor of Natural Science; G. H. WILEY, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages; T. S. JONES, M. D., Professor of Natural Science; REV. R. D. NORSWORTHY, A. M., Principal of the Preparatory Department.

Charges.—Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in College, $60; Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in Preparatory Department, $40; Contingent expenses, $5. A matriculation fee of $5 must be paid on entering any regular college class. One-half the charges must be paid when the student enters; the other half on the beginning of the second term, March 1.

Board.—Board, including lodging, washing, lights and fuel, can be had in the best families for $20 per month. Day-boarding with the same families, $15 per month. Rooms provided in the dormitories free of rent. Board to be paid in advance at least one month.

Location.—This institution is located in the lovely village of Jackson, about twelve miles from Bayou Sara, in a grove of pine, magnolia, oak and beech. The location is remarkable for its beautiful woodlands, its bland and delightful atmosphere, its pure water, its unrivaled health-fulness, and its cultivated and refined society.

When Founded.—The college was established by the State of Louisiana in 1825, and ceded to the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1845.

Alumni.—Its Alumni numbers two hundred and three, and they are to be found in the most honorable and useful stations in the land.

Apparatus and Cabinet.—The college possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus, and also a well-selected Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet. The apparatus includes a Theodolite, Sextant, Compass, Chronometer, Atwood's Machine, Whirling Tables, Electrical Machine, Air Pump, various combinations of the Mechanical Powers, Batteries, Chemical Tests, etc., sufficient for a thorough and extended course of observations and experiments. Steps have been taken by the Board of Trustees to put these in thorough repair.

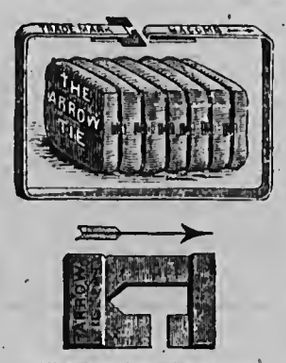
Literary Societies.—There are two regular Literary Societies connected with the Institution. These are of great utility to young men acquiring a liberal education—improving them in the art of public speaking, making them in some degree familiar with the proceedings of deliberative bodies, and inculcating systematic business habits. Each Society has a convenient hall and a well-selected Library—about one thousand six hundred volumes each, which, added to the College Library of two thousand volumes, makes over five thousand volumes in the college.

Buildings.—The Trustees are determined to complete the repairs on the building all completed. The grand Center Building is a noble specimen of architectural beauty and adaptation to the purposes of its erection. The wings, built of solid brick, present each a front of two hundred feet, with upper and lower galleries the entire length, supported by Tuscan columns, and with the center making in the perspective a continuous front of seven hundred feet.

Preparatory Department.—In the Preparatory Department students are fitted for regular college classes, or may obtain a thorough English or commercial education.

The Faculty.—Its Faculty are men of experience and success in teaching.

Board of Trustees.—Rev. Bishop J. C. KEENER, D. D., President, New Orleans.



Hon. Edward McGehee, Woodville, Mississippi.
Hon. John McVea, Clinton.
Hon. and Rev. James H. Rose, St. Helena parish.
Prof. W. H. N. Magruder, Baton Rouge.
Rev. H. H. Montgomery, Sharon, Mississippi.
C. G. McGehee, Esq., Wilkinson county, Miss.
Rev. John C. Miller, Jackson.
Josiah B. Nettles, Esq., East Baton Rouge, La.
Rev. J. A. Godfrey, Clinton.
Hon. E. T. Merrick, New Orleans.
Hon. Edward J. Gay, parish of Iberville.
Hon. J. O. Fuqua, Baton Rouge.
B. C. Hardee, Esq., Clinton.
Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans.
Samuel J. Norwood, Esq., Simmsport, Louisiana.
William L. Nugent, Esq., Jackson, Mississippi.
Rev. J. L. Forsythe, Jackson.
Rev. John A. Ellis, Meridian, Mississippi.
Hon. A. K. Farrar, Adams county, Mississippi.
Rev. W. H. Watkins, D. D., Natchez, Mississippi.
Rev. L. Parker, D. D., New Orleans.
Robert M. Walmsley, Esq., New Orleans.
Rev. J. A. R. Jones, Port Gibson, Mississippi.
Wilmot H. Goodale, Esq., Baton Rouge.
Rev. C. G. Andrews, Jackson, Louisiana.
Rev. A. E. Goodwyn, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

jy24 6m Address C. G. ANDREWS, President, Jackson, La.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

DANIEL & JAMES D. EDWARDS,
NOS. 22, 24, 26 AND 28 FRONT ST.
AND
NOS. 21, 23, 25 AND 27 DELTA ST.
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA
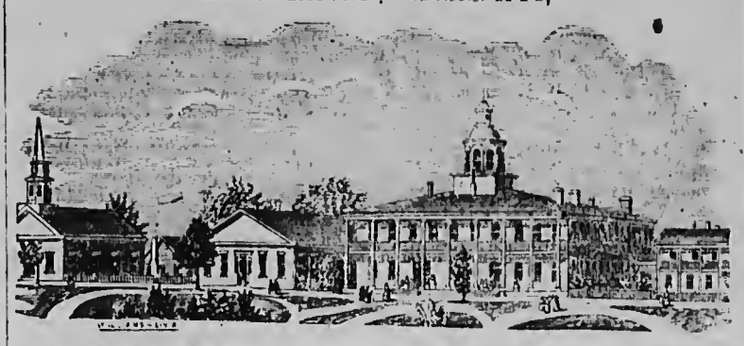
MANUFACTURERS OF
Copper, Brass, Iron and Sheet Iron
WORK OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
ALSO OF
Best and Most Improved Steam Trains for Making Sugar.
DEALERS IN
Wrought Iron Pipe and Fittings, all sizes,
Brass Work for Steam, Water and Gas,
Boiler Tubes, Bolts, Nuts and Washers,
Well and Cistern Pumps, Drove Well Pumps, and Well Points, Steam Syphon Pumps,
Rubber Hose, Steam Packing, Steam and Water Gauges, Flue Brushes, Sheet Copper,
Brass and Iron, Copper and Brass Wire,
Machinists' Tools and Machinery Supplies, etc.
AGENTS FOR
Cameron's Patent Steam Pumps,
Webster's Patent Combination Wrenches
And National Fire Extinguisher.
Send for new Illustrated Price List. fe20 1y

IMPORTANT TO PLANTERS.
IRON COTTON TIES.
THE ARROW TIE
AND ALL OPEN-SLOT TIES.



All approved Popular Patents:
ARROW,
ANCHOR, WALLIS
ALLIGATOR
AND DUNN.
For sale by all dealers in New Orleans, Mobile and Memphis, and by country merchants generally throughout the Cotton States.
BARTLETT & RAYNE,
GENERAL AGENTS,
48 CARONDELET STREET, COR. UNION,
je12 6m New Orleans.

LEWIS JOHNSON,
ENGINE AND MACHINE BUILDER,
Corner Jalla, Delta and Water Streets.
NEW ORLEANS.
Castings of all kinds. Repairing executed with dispatch. Steam and Vacuum Gauges repaired.
Glass Box 763, Postoffice. ap17 1y

THE IMPROVED
LASH WASHING MACHINE.
PRICE ONLY $15.
Warranted Entirely Satisfactory If Used as Directed.
Is unequaled as a "Family Washer," and equally adapted to Schools, Colleges, Hotels, etc. Will "thoroughly wash" the worst-soiled clothing without hand-rubbing in one-third the time usually required, and will not injure the most delicate fabric.
Call on or address Union Box and Machine Manufacturing Co., Room 3, Rear 313½ WALNUT St. Philadelphia, or No. 5 North SEVENTEENTH Street. se25 3m

WHITWORTH FEMALE COLLEGE,
BROOKHAVEN, MISSISSIPPI,

ON THE NEW ORLEANS, JACKSON AND GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD, one hundred and twenty-eight miles from New Orleans, will reopen on the TWENTY-FOURTH OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.
The health is good, discipline firm but parental, instruction thorough, and economy in dress enforced. The expenses are as low as the advantages given will allow.
The Director of the Music Department, Prof. ECKHARDT, is unexcelled. Madame JULIUS, an accomplished Parisian lady, has charge of French and the ornamental branches.
During the past term there were Thirteen in the Faculty, and Two Hundred and One pupils in attendance, over one hundred of whom boarded in the college.
All the branches of a thorough education are taught, including the languages, ancient and modern: also the higher mathematics.
Particular attention is paid to Spelling, Writing, Reading and Composition; also to the neatness, good manners and morals of the pupils.
For a catalogue address
jy17 tf REV. H. F. JOHNSON, President, Brookhaven, Mississippi.

HARDWARE, STOVES, ETC.

A. BALDWIN, C. EUSTIS. C. A. SLOCOMB, A. D. SLOCOMB, In copartnership.
HARDWARE.....HARDWARE.
A. BALDWIN & CO.,
SUCCESSORS TO
SLOCOMB, BALDWIN & CO.,
74 Canal, and 91, 93 and 95 Common St.,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
Foreign and Domestic Hardware,
GUNS, LOCKS, CUTLERY, NAILS, STEEL,
IRON CASTINGS, Etc.
Agents for J. E. Carver's Gin, Coates' Boiler Iron, Valentine & Butler's Safes, E. & O. Brooke's Cut Nails and Spikes, etc. no27 3m

THE UNRIVALED

BUCK'S BRILLIANT STOVE.
Every Brilliant is Fully Guaranteed.
H. HALLER,
NO. 49 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS,
Sole Agent for Louisiana.
Sole Agent for the
CELEBRATED RINGEN WASHER
In the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi. no13 1y

BULBS! SEEDS! OUR Autumn CATALOGUE OF
Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocus, Lilies, Etc.,
IS NOW READY,
and will be mailed FREE to all applicants. We desire every buyer of Flowers to write us for a copy. Our assortment of Vegetable and Flower SEEDS is complete, and growing our own Seeds, and importing from reliable sources, we know that our Seeds are pure and true. Correspondence solicited. Address
KERN, STEER & CO.,
Seed Growers and Merchants,
oc23 3m No. 211 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

CARPET WAREHOUSE,
17.....CHARTRES STREET.....17
A. BROUSSEAU & CO., Importers and Dealers, at Wholesale and Retail, in English and American Carpetings; Floor Oil Cloths; Table and Enameled Oil Cloths; Window Shades; Table and Piano Covers; Crumb Cloths, in squares & pieces Curtain and Furniture Materials; Brocatelles, Coutilenes, Terries, Reps, Lace and Nottingham Lace Curtains; Hair-cloth Ticking; Springs; Burlaps; Step Covers, etc.
de4 1y A. BROUSSEAU & CO.

HOMER COLLEGE,
HOMER, CLAIBORNE PARISH, LA.
COURSE OF EDUCATION
THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL.
Total Expense Per Annum from $187 to $207.
SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 15, 1873.
Send for a catalogue to
REV. J. LANE BORDEN, President.
Tuition free to children of Preachers in regular work. jy4 6m

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE,
WASHINGTON COUNTY, VA.
On the Eleventh of September
our scholastic year begins, and continues Forty consecutive weeks. It is divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. The Spring session begins January 29, 1874. Students can enter at any time, though they should, if possible, begin with the session. The entire expenses for the forty weeks, including board, tuition, fuel, room-rent, washing and contingent fees, need not exceed $150. These rates, so remarkably low considering the superior advantages here offered, must commend this Institution to the favor of those seeking thorough collegiate training. Before selecting your school consult any of those knowing the college, especially our Alumni and old students, prominent men in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and professors of the University of Virginia, who have authorized this reference, or send directly to the undersigned for a catalogue or for any information desired.
E. E. WILEY, President,
jy3 8m Emory P. O., Virginia.

HOLSTON COLLEGE,
UNDER CARE OF
The Holston Conference, M. E. Church South.
Founded in 1849. Greatly improved. Boarding-house, with farm of five hundred acres. Fare generous. Faculty full. Instruction thorough. Located in the quiet country, seven miles from Sweetwater, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad. Expenses of tuition, board, bed, lodging and washing less than $160 a year. Conveyance any day. For further information address
REV. J. H. BRUNNER,
se25 6m Sweetwater, Tenn.

J. W. BLACKMAN'S
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,
131.....CARONDELET ST.....131
This is the only Commercial College in this city where students from the country can board in the family of the Principal. There is ample accommodation for thirty to forty students to board in the college building. This department is in charge of Mrs. Blackman, and in case of sickness students will be properly cared for, and not sent to a hospital, or the cold care of strangers.
All Commercial branches taught. Terms over Thirty per cent. less than other colleges in this city. The Principal has been established in New Orleans since 1851. For circulars address
J. W. BLACKMAN,
no30 3m 131 Carondelet St., New Orleans, La.

BEEF!.....BEEF!.....BEEF!
FRESH BEEF, VEAL, MUTTON AND PORK.
Country and city orders filled with dispatch at
J. STAFFORD'S MEAT STORE,
Cor. St. Peter and Old Levee Sts.
The very best quality of Fresh Meats always on hand. Orders from the country filled at the lowest prices and carefully attended to. Plantations supplied with the best Meats with promptitude and at the lowest possible figures. Address
J. STAFFORD, Meat Store,
Corner St. Peter and Old Levee streets,
de4 2m New Orleans.

TO THE PUBLIC.
Those who contemplate giving up housekeeping this winter, and desire to have their FURNITURE carefully packed for shipping or storing will do well to call on
J. BOES,
No. 291 Camp street.
N. B.—Furniture repaired and bought. Carpets taken up and cleaned. oc25 2m

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

DITSON & CO.'S
CELEBRATED

HOME MUSICAL LIBRARY.

Unexcelled Collections of Bound Music.

VOCAL.

GEMS OF GERMAN SONG.
GEMS OF SCOTTISH SONG.
GEMS OF SACRED SONG.
WREATH OF GEMS.
OPERATIC PEARLS.
SILVER CHORD.
SHOWER OF PEARLS. Duets.
MUSICAL TREASURE. Vocal and Instrumental.

INSTRUMENTAL.

FOR PIANOFORTE OR REED ORGAN.

GEMS OF STRAUSS.
ORGAN AT HOME.
PIANIST'S ALBUM.
PIANOFORTE GEMS.
HOME CIRCLE. Volumes I and 2.

Price of each book, in cloth, $3; in boards, $2.50; fine gilt, $4. The above splendid books are perfect treasure-houses of the best and most popular music, being selected as the "cream" from an immense stock. Two hundred to two hundred and fifty pages, full sheet-music size, in each book. Buy these books for presents. In each book you get $25 worth of music. In the whole library, costing, according to binding, $35, $42 or $56, you will get $350 worth!

Sent, post-paid, on receipt of retail price.
CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.,
711 Broadway, New York.
OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
Boston.
jy21 1y

A GOOD BOOK.

SOLD BY CANVASSING AGENTS ONLY.

DR. DEEMS' "JESUS,"

A Rational History to Prove the Divinity of Christ.

☞ Agents will find this the best-selling Book of the season. Clergymen, students and book agents address
UNITED STATES PUBLISHING CO.,
oc9 3m 11 and 13 University Place, New York.

NEW BOOK FOR AGENTS.—We want Agents everywhere for a new, beautifully illustrated work of the author's own adventures.

WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.

Incidents of nearly THIRTY YEARS of hunting and trapping, captively among the Comanches, in the Mexican wars, encounters with Apaches, Grizzly Bears, etc. Thrillingly interesting. Send for circular and the most LIBERAL terms; or, if in haste to begin work, send $1 for complete outfit to F. A. HUTCHINSON & CO.,
oc9 1y St. Louis, Mo

AGENTS WANTED.—ACT AT ONCE.—The people everywhere are eager to buy the only authentic and complete history of

LIVINGSTONE.

His wonderful discoveries and thrilling adventures during Twenty-eight Years in the wilds of Africa, and resurrection by the daring STANLEY. Over 600 pages, beautifully illustrated; only $2.50. Selling like wildfire! Write for extra terms; or, if you wish to begin at once, send $1 for outfit.
VALLEY PUBLISHING CO.,
oc9 1y St. Louis, Mo.

Wanted

More Farmers, Ladies, Ministers, Young Men and Women from every township, ($20 to $75 a week) to act as Agents for

Mary Clemmer Ames' New book,
TEN YEARS IN WASHINGTON.

It tells of the "inner life," wonders, mantels, mysteries, secret doings, &c., of the Capital, "As a Woman Sees Them." It is actually overflowing with every one of wit, humor, pathos and good things to read. It is indispensable to every wide-awake person,—man, woman, or child—is popular everywhere, with everybody, and is selling far and wide by thousands. 30 Engravings, Steel portrait of author. Agents! don't miss the chance. Money for You in this work. Terms liberal; particularly to readers of the Advocate, everywhere. Southern Agents S. H.) Until Free to everyone. We pay freight on books. Reader! write at once for particulars (free) to

QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO.,
se11 1y Cincinnati, Ohio.

BIG GENT Commission on rapidly-selling works for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Red Men, Mechanics, Temperance, etc. Sales unprecedented. One Agent clears $1,200 in three months, another $90 in eight hours, scores $50 in one day. Write for circular and prove this. Give number of your Lodge, and name this paper.
J. HALE POWERS & CO.,
Ja30 1y Fraternity Publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE PRACTICAL POCKET COMMENTARY
AND BIBLE DICTIONARY.

Ten volumes. One Dollar each. Acknowledged to be the best and cheapest Commentary on the whole Bible extant. By the Rev. Drs. JAMIESON, FAUSSET & BROWN. Sold only by subscription. Agents wanting territory address
BLACKALLER & TURNER,
Jy17 1y Room 9, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

BOOK AGENTS, REJOICE!—HARD Times no More! MARK TWAIN'S New Book, THE GILDED AGE, now ready. Secure territory before it is too late. Canvassing outfit, $1.50. For terms address
CONTINENTAL PUBLISHING CO.,
de1 1y New Orleans or St. Louis.

PLUCKY AGENTS WANTED to sell our Modern United States and State Maps, and Pictorial and Religious Charts.
Large profits to Agents. Small capital needed.
E. C. BRIDGMAN,
oc9 3m No. 5 Barclay street, New York.

AGENTS WANTED TO ENGAGE IN A permanent, lucrative and respectable business. None but energetic and responsible persons need apply.
A. COYLE,
oc23 6m 419 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo.

EASY ROAD TO FORTUNE.

AGENTS WANTED to sell our cheap, fast-selling and highly illustrated Books. Retail at 50 cents, and sold to agents at very low wholesale prices. Any man can succeed at the business. New books now ready. These publications sell on sight. Address BARCLAY & CO.,
se18 3m 21 N. Seventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FROM A RECENT ANALYSIS BY Prof. W. O. Atwater, of Yale College, the following table will show the chemical composition of YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Albuminoids | 12.45 | Sugar | 13.06 |
| Gum | 5.21 | Starch | 55.62 |
| Fat | 8.59 | Cellulose | 2.95 |
| Ash | 2.12 | | |

It will be seen that the Albuminoids (albumen, gluten, casein, etc.) constitute nearly thirteen per cent. "These," says Yonmans, "are the flesh-forming principles—the true elements of nutrition."

It is particularly valuable to all requiring a highly nutritious and at the same time easily assimilated diet, and hence is used as an article of daily consumption in climates which occasion rapid waste of the system. "Almost all Asiatics, Africans and (aboriginal) Americans use it as their chief nourishment."—Louis Nigeler, in his work on the Vegetable World.

In Hermetically-sealed YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN all the nutritive qualities of the gram are preserved. The grain is cut from the ear and placed in the canisters with the rich juices (or milk) which exude from it, and is then sealed air-tight and the canister subjected to steam heat, which coagulates the albumen. In this condition it will keep for years. It will be seen by this that all the nutritive properties of the grain are preserved, and the most nourishing article of food in the domain of nature placed within the reach of all.

RECEIVED THE AWARD OF THE
Paris Exposition, American Institute, and Great Exposition of Cordova.

Sealed under the original patent. Ask your grocer for it. PORTLAND PACKING CO.,
au21 6m Portland, Maine.

CHURCH AND
SCHOOL FURNITURE.

The undersigned calls the attention of all interested in fitting up Churches and Schools to his numerous styles of School Desks, especially his NE PLUS ULTRA DESK, which has been adopted in all the new Public Schools erected this last year in New York; as also new styles of Pulpits, Settees for Sunday Schools, Pews, etc.; also his last Patent of combined Easel and Map or Lesson-Card Elevator.

Altars, Tabernacles, Banners, Alms-Boxes, Etc.

NATH. JOHNSON,
No. 490 Hudson street, New York.
Catalogues forwarded on application. oc2 3m

ROGERS' EFFERVESCING
CITRATE OF MAGNESIA,

In six-ounce bottles, in powder. This Magnesia is a mild purgative and aperient, very acceptable to the stomach for sick Headache, Sour or Sick Stomach, and all Febrile cases. Good for all seasons of the year. For sale by druggists. Prepared by ARTHUR ROGERS, 193 Spring St., N Y oc9 3m

BUSINESS CARDS.

T. W. BOTHICK, UNDERTAKER,
No. 271 Camp Street, New Orleans.
Metallic, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Rosewood COFFINS always on hand. Black, Satin, Brown and White Merlin Ladies' and Children's Shrouding. Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Hearses, Carriages and Cabs for hire. Funerals attended to in person by the proprietor, who hopes, by strict attention, to obtain a share of public patronage. de1 1y

T. A. BECK, COOPER,
NOS. 23 AND 24 FRONT STREET,
Between Customhouse and Blenville streets (Sugar Landing,) New Orleans, has constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Hoop Poles, etc. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to trimming. de4 1y

J. SEGASSIE,
DEALER IN
Western Produce, Hay, Corn, Oats,
BRAN, FLOUR, CORN MEAL, ETC.,
NO. 97 OLD LEVEE STREET,
de4 2m New Orleans.

THE NEW CHEAP JOHN
(JOHN HANSEN)
continues to Manufacture, in spite of the FIRE, First-class
Custom-Made Boots and Shoes,
better and cheaper than ever, at No. 33 CANAL street, corner of Peters, next door to Cogan's Clothing House. no13 2m

C. W. ROTH,
DEALER IN
Staple and Fancy Groceries,
175.....POYDRAS STREET.....175
Corner Carondelet, New Orleans.
TEAS AND COFFEES a specialty. no27 1m

H. FEHSENFELD,
(Formerly with Daniel Gorren,)
Millinery and Trimming Store,
191.....CANAL STREET.....191
Bet. Dryades and Rampart, New Orleans.
Country orders promptly attended to. no27 2m

PRICES TO SATISFY ALL.
CHARLES HAMILTON,
Practical Picture Framer, Etc.,
661.....MAGAZINE STREET.....661
Old Shades renewed (as good as new) at 75 cents a piece. no 2m

COAL.....COAL.
H. & C. TYLER,
9.....CARONDELET ST.....9
will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates.
oc3 3m H. & C. TYLER.

J. M. ELKIN. F. STRINGER.
ELKIN & CO.,
168.....CANAL STREET.....168
Near Baronne, New Orleans,
IMPORTERS OF ALL VARIETIES OF
English Carpetings, Rugs, Etc., Etc.
Also Oil Cloths, Mattings, Curtain Damasks, Lace Curtains, Window Shades, etc. oc24 1y

JOHN I. ADAMS. JAY L. ADAMS. WM. H. BENAUD.
JOHN I. ADAMS & CO.,
WHOLESALE GROCERS,
AND DEALERS IN
PROVISIONS, LARD, OIL, ETC.,
Nos. 13, 15 and 17 Peters Street,
(Formerly New Levee.)
mh27 1y New Orleans.

JAMES N. QUIN,
PRACTICAL
GAS AND STEAM-PIPE FITTER.
All kinds of Brass Work. General Southern Agent for the celebrated Nichols Patent Challenge Wind Mill; also for Challenge Feed Mills, Hay Cutters, Corn Shellers and Drove Wells. For price list and circulars address J. N. QUIN.
Ja30 1y 116 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans.

J. U. PAYNE. GEORGE MOORMAN.
H. M. PAYNE. J. G. PAMHAM.
J. U. & H. M. PAYNE & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS,
61 and 66.....Baronne Street.....61 and 66
Between Union and Gravier streets,
Je19 1y New Orleans, La.

F. WAGENER, AGENT,
FRAMING STORE,
13 Baronne St., near Canal, New Orleans.
Frames of all descriptions made to order at the shortest notice and at New York prices.
Pictures and Window Shades put up. Cords, Tassels and Shade Fixtures for sale. my15 1y

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING,
CUTTING AND FITTING,
At Reasonable Prices, by
MRS. M. TOURNABEN,
No. 206 Prytania street,
mh27 1y Corner of St. Mary, New Orleans.

A. S. CUTLER,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER.
136½.....Camp Street.....136½
Bet. Girod and Lafayette, New Orleans.
Graining, Gilding, Glazing, Kalsomining and Wall-coloring. my8 1y
Box 35, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange.

J. A. LUM. FRANK H. HOOKER.
J. A. LUM & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,
162 Gravier and 13 Union Street.
☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES. my29 9m

F. ESTEVA,
CIGAR DEPOT,
Corner of Camp and Girod Streets,
New Orleans, La.
Havana and Domestic Cigars always on hand. Country orders promptly attended to. oc30 3m

WILLIAM EBERT,
ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS,
AND GENERAL HOUSESMITH.
Iron Railings, Tomb Railings, Fences and Verandas of all kinds made to order; also Iron Shutters, Doors, Window and Door Gratings.
164 and 166 Magazine St., New Orleans.
Box 213, Mechanics' Exchange. ap10 1y

LEWIS LOCKWOOD,
MANUFACTURER OF
DR. D. BLY'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEGS AND ARMS,
125 Gravier St., New Orleans.
Prices from $75 to $160. Satisfaction guaranteed. No advance payment required. The patient can put on the Leg and practically test it as long as desired. Pamphlets sent free. my5 1y

CRESCENT MACHINE SHOP.
JOSEPH WALKER,
Machinist, Engineer, Blacksmithing,
ETC., ETC.,
CORNER ST. JOSEPH AND CONSTANCE STS.,
New Orleans.
☞ Plantation Machinery manufactured and repaired. Jobbing promptly attended to. Ja30 1y

C. SAMPSON. F. G. SAMPSON.
SAMPSON BROTHERS,
(LATE C. C. SAMPSON,)
FURNITURE,
33 and 35.....Royal Street.....33 and 35
NEW ORLEANS.
Established in 1833. Ja23 1y

JOSEPH BECKHAM'S,
CARRIAGE BUILDER,
No. 1201 Frankford Road,
Above Girard Avenue,
se18 3m PHILADELPHIA.

JOHNSON & HILLSMAN,
PRACTICAL PAINTERS,
144.....Magazine Street.....144
House and Sign Painting, Steamboat, Store and Office Painting, Graining, Marbling, Gilding and Kalsomining. All work promptly attended to, and charges moderate. No. 144 Magazine, between Julia and Girod streets. fe6 1y

TO THE PUBLIC.—I AM NOW PREpared to remove and repair IRON SAFES; also Lightning Rods repaired and put up to order. I have also on hand New and Second-hand SAFES for sale, both Burglar and Fire-Proof. Particular attention paid to repairing Bank Locks and Printing Presses, on most reasonable terms.
GEORGE COATS,
de26 1y No. 166 Magazine street, near Julia.
Second-hand Sewing Machines always on hand and for sale. Also second-hand Copying Presses.

BUSINESS CARDS.

E. HEATH. M. LARA.
HEATH & LARA,
Importers and Dealers in
UPHOLSTERERS' GOODS, WALL PAPER
WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,
Mirrors, Frames, Molding and Wire Screens,
No. 99 Camp Street,
no29 1y New Orleans.

JULIUS LOEFFLER,
GAS-FITTER AND DEALER IN GAS FIXTURES, ETC.,
No. 43 Royal Street,
Between Customhouse and Blenville streets,
no23 3m New Orleans.

WILLIAM VELDEN,
DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,
Corner Peytania and Philip Streets.
Oak, Ash, Bakers' Pine, Lightwood and Charcoal always on hand. Wood sawed to stove-length and split. no6 2m

T. J. BROWN,
PRACTICAL PAPER-HANGER,
And dealer in Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Buff, Green and White Hollands, Picture Cord, Tassels, etc.,
No. 262 Camp Street, New Orleans.
All orders from the country promptly attended to. no6 3m

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ
134 Rampart Street,
Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans
MANUFACTURER OF
CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.
Also carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Cabriolet built anywhere oc23 3m

F. J. KUHNHOLZ,
Book-Binder,
112.....GRAVIER ST.....112
Orders for Ruling and Binding executed with neatness and dispatch. Merchants and others requiring Blank-Books will find it to their interest to order direct from the binder. oc30 2m

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Boots, Shoes and Brogans,
Corner Prytania and Dauphine Sts.,
(SIGN OF THE RED BOOT,)
NEW ORLEANS.
Every description of articles in the Boot and Shoe line, for Ladies', Gentlemen's and Children's wear, constantly on hand, and offered at the LOWEST PRICES. oc30 2m

SANTIAGO M. LAPEYRE,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,
Also Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Etc., Etc.,
No. 53 St. Louis Street,
oc9 2m Cor. St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

THE PREMIUM BUTCHER STALLS.
MARTIN LANNES, BUTCHER,

STALLS 37, 38 and 7,
MAGAZINE MARKET,

New Orleans, Louisiana.
respectfully informs his friends and the public in general that he is prepared to furnish Families, Hotels, Boarding-Houses, Steamboats, Ships and Steamships with the best BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, SAUSAGES, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Game, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords, at the very Lowest Rates. Thanking my customers for past favors, I solicit a continuance of the same. Recollect the Stalls, Nos. 37, 38 and 7, Magazine Market, where all orders sent will be thankfully received and promptly filled. ☞ All Meats delivered free of charge. oc23 6m

NEW ORLEANS STENCIL WORKS
AND
MAGIC BATTERY MANUFACTORY.
AGENCY OF THE GOLDEN WONDER
GEORGE E. TEETZEL & CO.,
ENGRAVERS STENCIL CUTTERS, STAMP AND SEAL-MAKERS,
82.....Gravier Street.....82
New Orleans, Louisiana.
Manufacturers of all kinds of Cotton Brands Stencil Plates, Rubber Stamps, Seal Presses, Burning Brands, Door Plates, House Numbers, etc., etc. ja30 1y

THE MITCHELL & RAMMELSBERG
FURNITURE CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN ALL KINDS OF
FURNITURE,
MATTRESSES,
LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.
Nos. 103 and 105 Camp Street,
Corner Poydras, Moresque Building, New Orleans,
Have the largest and best assortment of
FURNITURE OF ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.
Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. my29 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.
B. D. WOOD & BROS.,
106 Common St., opposite City Hotel,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied. my1 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.
R. D. MACLIN,
No. 31 Carondelet Street.
Pittsburg, Anthracite and American Cannel Coal, screened for family use. All orders from the country will receive immediate attention.
Yard, cor. Third and Tchoupitoulas Sts. mh13 1y

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND
—AND—
DOOR FACTORY,
ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,
301, 303, 305 and 307 Gravier Street.
Je3 1y New Orleans.

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,
HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARETTES,
and a full assortment of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, constantly on hand and for sale cheap by
ED. L. ZELL,
Corner Canal and Carondelet streets,
de19 1y New Orleans, La.

no 3m

fe27 1y

WILLIAM J. REIRNE & CO.,
PROPRIETORS OF
Washington Cooperage Establishment,
COR. MARENGO AND LEVEE STS.,
have the most improved steam machinery in operation, and are thus able to make the finest quality of Sugar Hogsheads and Molasses Barrels. Their work guaranteed to prove satisfactory. Office—23 and 29 Front street. oc23 6m

BUSINESS CARDS.

MRS. LYNCH,
DRESS AND CLOAKMAKER,
180.....Canal Street.....180
Between Baronne and Dryades streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
☞ Patterns for sale. no20 2m

MRS. S. ZEPHIRIN,
DRY GOODS AND VARIETY STORE,
621.....MAGAZINE STREET.....621
NEW ORLEANS.
A large assortment of SUN-BONNETS always on hand. no13 2m

LUMBER YARD.....FEED STORE.
F. HEUER,
Dealer in All Kinds of Lumber,
Oak, Ash, Poplar, Cedar, Walnut, Cypress, etc., and all kinds of Flatboat Lumber; also in Hay, Corn, Oats, Bran, etc., 918 and 950 NEW LEVEE street, between Sixth and Seventh streets (Fourth District,) New Orleans. no13 2m

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. JOHN G. ANGELL,
DENTAL SURGEON,
152.....Julia Street.....152
All operations in Operative, Mechanical and Surgical Dentistry carefully performed.
Nitrous Oxide and other Anæsthetics administered. de1 1y

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
Ja2 1y New Orleans, La.

O. W. RACE. W. H. FOSTER.
E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice, Louisiana.
RACE, FOSTER & E. T. MERRICK,
ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS
AND
SOLICITORS,
Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,
fe25 NEW ORLEANS.

C. G. FORSHEY,
CONSULTING ENGINEER,
Academy of Science Rooms,
24 BARONNE STREET,
no20 2m New Orleans.

T. WHINREY CARTER,
ARCHITECT,
58.....CARONDELET STREET.....58
no13 2m New Orleans.

S. B. HAGGART,
ARCHITECT,
No. 5 Commercial Place, New Orleans.
Plans, detail drawings and specifications of Churches, School-houses and buildings of every description. de12 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE WEED SEWING MACHINE.

THE WEED
SEWING MACHINE
HAS JUST RECEIVED
THE HIGHEST AWARD
AT VIENNA,
THUS
REPEATING ITS EXPERIENCE
AT PARIS IN 1867.

No Machine possesses so many good qualities for general Family use.
The universal satisfaction given by this Machine justifies its claim to the well-known name:

FAMILY FAVORITE.

COMPANY'S OFFICE IN
New Orleans.....207 Canal St.
Houston.....113 Main Street.
Atlanta.....27 Marietta St.
Savannah.....27 Bull Street.
se11 3m

METAIRIE
CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.
OFFICE METAIRIE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION,
No. 27 Carondelet St., New Orleans, Nov. 9, 1873.
We will be prepared, on and after the fifteenth of November, to offer for sale LOTS in this Cemetery. We respectfully invite the public to visit the grounds, which are now partly finished and in rapid course of completion.
We also invite parties wishing to secure Lots to call either on the undersigned or at the office of the company, and examine the plans of the grounds, which will afford to owners of Lots and their families a beautifully-shelled carriage-drive of over five miles in extent within its inclosure.
It is the purpose of the Association to so improve and ornament this Cemetery as to make it equal, in point of beauty, to any in this country.
The prices of Lots will be about the same per superficial foot as fixed by other cemeteries in this city. W. S. PIKE, no20 1m Pres't. Metairie Cemetery Association.

SHERMAN HOUSE,
COR. CLARK AND RANDOLPH STS.,
Chicago, Illinois.
C. S. MUNSON, MANAGER.
This splendid Hotel, rebuilt on its former site was thrown open for the reception of guests April 10. Its exterior is grand and imposing, its appointments unique and magnificent throughout, and its management unsurpassed. jy10 1y

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED
N. F. Burnham's New Turbine
WATER WHEEL
To be the Best ever Invented.
Pamphlet free. Address—York, Pa.
jy23 6m
WATER WHEEL

JOHN GIBSON,
ENGRAVER
AND
Steam Power Lithographic Printer,
82 BEEKMAN ST., NEW YORK.
Checks, Notes, Drafts, Receipts, Bonds, Certificates of Stock and Deposit, Bill, Letter and Note Headings, Business Cards, Envelops, Druggists' Fancy and Perfumery Labels, etc. Druggists wishing Labels, send for catalogue. jy3 1y

FLINN'S PATENT
SELF-FASTENING AND ADJUSTABLE
BED SPRINGS
Make the Best Spring Beds in Use.
They are complete in themselves, and can be applied in a few minutes to any slat bedstead.
☞ From three to five dozen make a Set.
JOHN FLINN,
248 South Second St., Philadelphia, Pa
Cor. S. Water and Champlain Sts., Cleveland.
Agents wanted everywhere. se18 1y

WORKING CLASS—MALE OR FEMALE, $10 a week. Employment at home, day or evening; no capital. Instructions and valuable package of goods sent free by mail. Address, with six-cent return stamp, M. YOUNG & CO., 173 Greenwich street, New York. no6 13t

MEDICAL.

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

THE STANDARD REMEDY FOR
SCROFULA,
And all diseases arising from
IMPURITY OF BLOOD,
such as Eruptions, Pimples, Boils, Ulcers or Sores, Abscesses, White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, etc., and all affections of the Eyes, Ears, Throat or Lungs, occurring in Scrofulous constitutions. For pamphlets, illustrating cases, send to
SWAIM'S LABORATORY,
113 S. Seventh street, below Chestnut,
de1 1m Philadelphia, Pa.

COUGHS.....COLDS.....ASTHMA.
Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS
Lapham's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm
IS THE SOLE REMEDY,
Combining efficacy of action with a most palatable flavor.
GIVE IT A TRIAL.
Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores and by the proprietor, H. LAPLACE, Chemist, no27 3m Nos. 23 and 25 Elysian Fields St.

POPE'S CURE
FOR COUGHS AND COLDS.
In all affections of the Throat and Lungs requiring the use of a mild, soothing and decidedly efficient remedy, this preparation may be used by persons of all ages, from
"The infant, mewling and puking in its nurse's arms,
To where the sixth age shifts—
Into the lean and slippered pantaloon"— with perfect security. As an expectorant it will be found to act speedily and effectually, and in many cases, where actual Phthisis was supposed to exist, it has been known to render prompt and permanent relief.
"Turn, sufferer, turn! why will you die,
Or cough and colds endure,
When for a trifle you can try
A bottle of POPE'S CURE?"
Price, 75 cents. Prepared and sold by
JOHN H. POPE, Druggist,
Corner of Jackson and Prytania streets.
BALL & LYONS, Camp St., Agents. de1 1m

MATERN WEBER,
APOTHECARY,
No. 484, Cor. Royal and Spain Sts.,
has practiced as an Apothecary since 1851—before the School of Medicine was established in New Orleans. He defies any competition; moreover, there is no Chemist in the world who is able to analyze the following articles:
Weber's Spermatorrhœa Pills ($2 per box.)
Cough Syrup ($1 per bottle.)
Sarsaparilla ($2 per bottle.)
Piles Ointment ($1.10 per box.)
Dyspepsia Mixture, and Lotion for Sores.
He guarantees all the above compounds free from Mercury or any other injurious ingredients. He charges only for his medicine. no6 2m

A BOX OF
LIVER PILLS (FREE)
GOES
WITH EVERY BOTTLE
OF OUR
AGUE MEDICINE,
which we authorize every druggist to sell on
THE WARRANT
that, if taken according to directions and it fails to cure,
The Money Shall be Refunded.
We guarantee that it contains neither Arsenic, Strychnine nor any other poisonous ingredient.
Hear what those who have used it say of it:

READ THIS.

Thos. Broughton, with John D. Park, of Cincinnati, says: "W. C. Hamilton & Co.—I had had the Ague for two long years, and had tried several remedies of acknowledged or pretended merit without any good result. I finally tried your preparation—KRESS FEVER TONIC. One bottle completely broke up the malady, and I am now perfectly well. I can testify that your medicine does all you claim for it; and it is only due to you that this acknowledgment should be made, especially as so many worthless chill medicines are now offered."

☞ Ask for KRESS FEVER TONIC, and remember the guarantee of the proprietors,
W. C. HAMILTON & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
Jy17 3m Cincinnati, Ohio.

BETHESDA MINERAL WATER.—THE acknowledged cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Liver and Bilious Affections, Kidney and Urinary diseases. Sold, wholesale or retail, at 38 Magazine street. J. C. McALLISTER,
Sole Southern Agent.
Address Glass Box 825. mh6 1y

WARRANTED CURE.
WARRANTED CURE.
Sufferers from CHILLS AND FEVERS, and those whose health has been seriously impaired by protracted attacks of Chills, are invited to write to the undersigned for the means of cure. The worst cases easily and thoroughly cured. Correspondence solicited. Address
DR. J. A. MAYES,
no13 3m Maysville, Sumter County, S. C.

THE SABBATH
THE LATEST, THE GREATEST AND BEST TUNE BOOK for Church Choirs of all Denominations.
Price, $1.50.
Per dozen Copies, $15.00.
One Sample Copy, by Mail, $1.25
LEE & WALKER, 922 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia
no13 1ot

SOUTHERN SALE STABLES,
COR. DELORD AND DRYADES STS.
Having purchased the above Stables from George W. Fisher, I will constantly keep on hand the largest variety of Kentucky MULES; also Harness and Saddle HORSES. Take the Jackson Railroad and Dryades street cars, foot of St. Charles street; they take you to the Stables in five minutes. Merchants, planters and dealers will find it to their interest to give me a call before purchasing elsewhere.
oc23 3m O. P. ALFORD.

MARCY'S SCIOPTICON
With Improved and Cheapened
MAGIC LANTERN SLIDES.

For Homes, S. Schools and Lecture-rooms. It is unrivalled. Brilliant and easy to show. Circulars Free. Catalogues 10 cts. SCIOPTICON MANUAL, Revised Ed. 50 cts.
L. J. MARCY, 1340 Chestnut St., Philadelphia
no20 4t

IRON WORKS—BELLS.

BOSTON ORNAMENTAL
IRON WORKS.
EMPIRE LAWN MOWERS.
The Best in the Market.
Fountains, Vases, Statues, Deer, Dogs, Lions and other Lawn and Garden Ornaments.
Iron and Wire Railings for public and private buildings, banks, cemeteries, window-guards, etc.
Iron Crestings for Mansard roofs.
Iron Stable Fixtures of the most approved designs.
Copper Weather Vanes. Over two hundred new and original designs.
Emblematic Signs, suitable for every trade and profession.
Reynolds' Iron Roofing. Warranted.
All kinds of Wrought and Cast Iron made for building purposes. Estimates given. Send for catalogue.
RUBER & CO., Proprietors.
Office—24 Exchange street.
an21 6m Factory—63 Merrimac St., Boston.

RAILINGS.....RAILINGS.
WROUGHT IRON AND WIRE RAILINGS
FOR
Public Grounds, Cemeteries, Cottages,
ETC., ETC.
Iron Bedsteads, with Wire Stackings, for Hospitals, etc. Verandas and every variety of Wrought Iron and Wire work. Every information by addressing the manufacturers.
M. WALKER & SONS,
sp18 1y 805 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WIRE RAILING
AND
ORNAMENTAL WIRE WORKS.

DUFUR & CO.,
No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.,
Manufacture Wire Railing for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Sieves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc. oc2 1y

PATENT COMBINED
IRON FENCES.

(The New Plan of Iron Nailed to Iron.)
The best and neatest in the world for public and private grounds. Send for designs.
J. R. WICKERSHAM & SONS,
Sole Manufacturers,
se25 3m 1003 Ridge avenue, Philadelphia.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the Improved Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati
mh6 1y 115 and 117 Magazine st., New Orleans. H. J. WEST, Agent,

MENEELY & KIMBERLY,
BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.
Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.
Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.
☞ Illustrated catalogue sent free. Jy31 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

BABCOCK SELF-ACTING
FIRE ENGINE,
FOR CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE USE.

The Babcock Fire Extinguisher, Hook and Ladder Trucks, with Portable Fire Extinguishers attached, The Fire Departments in the principal cities of the Union use them daily. They are safe and simple, and a powerful protection. Forty-six railroads use them. Insurance companies reduce rates where it is introduced.
A. M. GRANGER, General Agent,
mh6 1y Exposition Building

CABINS.....LUMBER.....CABINS.
PLANTATION CABINS, manufactured in the city and shipped to the country, all framed, fitted, and each piece marked and numbered, so that a common hand can put them up without the aid of a carpenter.
The above represents a double cabin of two rooms, each 11x15, built with boards placed upright and the joints stripped. Price, delivered to boat, including all hardware, nails, shingles, etc., $135. We make them of all sizes. Cost in proportion.
We also keep a large stock of LUMBER, SASH, etc., on hand, and make a specialty of sawing bills to order. W. W. CARRE & CO.,
Ja23 1y 350 Delord street, New Orleans.

MULTUM IN PARVO,
HINES' COMBINATION STEAM COOKER.

The most perfect Steam Cooking Apparatus ever invented. Will cook SIX different articles at ONE TIME—MEATS, POULTRY, FISH, VEGETABLES, PUDDINGS, etc.—without one article tainting another, without the possibility of over-cooking or burning, and at the same time afford HOT WATER for Tea or Coffee, without interfering with the process of cooking.
No. 1, small family size.....$10 00
No. 2, medium family size.... 13 00
No. 3, large family size..... 16 00
Cookers sent to any part of the country on receipt of price, or C. O. D., with full instructions for using.
For sale at No. 52 GRAVIER STREET, New Orleans.
Agents wanted in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Send for circulars. Address
GOODWY

New Orleans Markets.

From the New Orleans Price Current.

The river is 11 feet 11 inches below high water.

COTTON.—The following are the arrivals since the fifth instant:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Louisiana and Mississippi | bales... | 27,167 |
| Lake | | 94 |
| Mobile | | 2,274 |
| Florida | | 64 |
| Texas | | 639 |
| Total | | 30,238 |

On Saturday the market opened with a good inquiry, but buyers claiming further concessions, and a fair business was done during the morning, partly at previous rates and partly at a falling off of ⅛@¼c., after which the demand became more lively and prices steadier, the closing quotations showing a decline of barely ⅛c. Good ordinary sold, for certified checks, at 14@14⅛c., strict good ordinary at 14⅜c., strict good ordinary to low middling at 14⅞@15c., low middling at 15⅛@15⅜c., the latter for high style, low middling to strict low middling at 15½c., strict low middling at 15⅝c., middling at 16c., strict middling at 16⅛@16⅜c., good middling at 17⅛c., and good middling to middling fair at 18c. The market was unfavorably affected by a decline of 1-16d. at Liverpool and ⅛c. at New York. The sales embraced 6,350 bales. On Monday buyers came forward with unabated spirit; as the extent of the demand was developed factors assumed increased confidence, and desirable kinds commanded full prices. The sales for the day footed up 8,330 bales. On Tuesday operations were checked by light supplies and n poor assortment. The sales during the morning were consequently nf moderate extent, but subsequently the movement became more lively, and the day's business summed up 6,870 bales. Prices exhibited some irregularity, a small part of the business showing no decline, but the bulk a falling off of ⅛c., with some transactions at ¼c.

The above makes an aggregate for the past three days of 22,050 bales, against 16 250 for the corresponding time last week and 14,60 the week before.

The receipts proper at this port since the first of September, exclusive of the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, are 318,367 bales, against 373,226 bales to the same date last year, and the decrease in the receipts at all the ports up to the latest dates, as compared with last year, is 115,158 bales. In the exports from the United States to foreign countries, as compared with the same date last year, there is an increase of 34,136 to Great Britain, and a decrease of 32,003 to France and of 76,342 to other foreign ports. We quote:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Ordinary | currency... | 12¼ @ 12¾ |
| Strict ordinary | | 12⅝ @ 13⅛ |
| Good ordinary | | 13⅝ @ 14⅛ |
| Strict good ordinary | | 14⅜ @ 14⅝ |
| Low middling | | 14⅝ @ 14⅞ |
| Strict low middling | | 15⅛ @ 15⅜ |
| Middling | | 15⅝ @ 16 |
| Strict middling | | 16⅛ @ 16⅜ |
| Good middling | | 17⅛ @ 17⅜ |

COTTON STATEMENT.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Stock on hand Sept. 1, 1873 | bales | 7,177 |
| Arrived past three days | 30,238 | |
| Arrived previously | 332,106 | 362,344 |
| | | 369,521 |
| Exported past three days | 12,218 | |
| Exported previously | 185,627 | 197,840 |
| Stock on hand and on shipboard | | 171,681 |

SUGAR.—On Tuesday 1,019 hhds. were received. The demand was good, with a further slight improvement in prices, especially for the better grades. Most of the receipts were sold at 4@4¼c. for inferior, 5⅛@6c. for common, 6⅛@6⅝c. for fair, 6⅞@7¼c. for good fair, 7¼c. for fully fair, 8⅛@8⅜c. for prime, 8½c. for choice, 8⅝@8⅞c. for seconds, 8⅛@8½c. for gray clarified, 8¾@9c. for yellow clarified, and 9⅛@9½c. for white clarified.

MOLASSES.—On Tuesday 3,191 hbls. and 81 half bbls. were received. The demand was good, and the supplies were all sold at 42½@45c. for common, 48@50c. for fair, 55@56c. for prime, 57@59c. for strictly prime, and 59@60c. for choice.

CORN.—On Tuesday 1,300 sacks sold at 75c. for new yellow and white, and 76c. for old yellow mixed.

OATS.—On Saturday 2,100 sacks sold at 53@54c. for prime, and 54@55c. for choice. On Monday 1,200 sacks sold at 54@55c. ₱ bushel. On Tuesday 770 sacks sold at 55c. ₱ bushel.

BRAN.—On Tuesday 150 sacks sold at $1 ₱ 100 lbs.

PORK.—On Tuesday the market was quiet, but very strong at $15 ₱ bbl. for mess. A lot of 150 bbls. thin mess sold at $14.25 ₱ bbl. It is retailing at $15.50@16 ₱ bbl.

BACON.—On Tuesday the market was very firm, with a good demand, and 88 casks clear sides sold, in lots, at 8¼c. ₱ lb. Shoulders were quoted at 7c., and clear rib sides at 8¼@8¾c. ₱ lb., and scarce.

HAMS.—Old are quoted at 10@10½c. ₱ lb. New would command 13@14c. ₱ lb. The market is bare of new.

LARD.—On Saturday 142 tierces choice refined sold at 8½c., and 10 do. at 6½c. ₱ lb.

BREAKFAST BACON.—Is in light supply and very dull. Western is quoted at 11@11½c. ₱ lb. Northern is retailing at 14c. ₱ lb.

SPARE RIBS.—New command $8@9 ₱ bbl.

MONETARY.

Gold opened on Tuesday at 109@109¼ for currency and 110¼@111 for checks (against 109⅜ at New York,) and closed at 109⅛@109⅜ for the former and 110¼@111 for the latter (against 109⅛ at New York.)

New Orleans Wholesale Prices.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

Made up from Actual Sales as they Transpire.

| ARTICLES. | FROM | TO |
|---|---|---|
| AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS: | | |
| Cotton scrapers | $5 00 | $6 00 |
| Cotton sweeps | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth | 9 00 | 18 00 |
| Cultivators, riding and walking | 25 00 | 45 00 |
| Shovels and spades | 7 50 | 16 50 |
| Axes | 12 00 | 17 50 |
| Shovel plows | 6 00 | 9 00 |
| Half do., with cutters | 8 00 | 10 00 |
| Manly's double-shovel plow | 6 00 | 9 75 |
| Corn mills, Colemin's | 120 00 | 425 00 |
| Bradford's grist mills | 150 00 | 235 00 |
| BRICKS, ₱ M.: | | |
| Lake | 13 00 | 16 00 |
| Country | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| English fire | 45 00 | 50 00 |
| American fire | 35 00 | 43 00 |
| CANDLES, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sperm, New Bedford | 33 | 36 |
| Tallow | 17 | — — |
| CHOCOLATE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Cocoa | 38 | 60 |
| No. 1 | 50 | 52 |
| Sweet | 25 | — — |
| COAL, ₱ ton: | | |
| Anthracite | — — | 13 00 |
| Western, ₱ hhl | — — | — — |
| COFFEE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Mexican | 24 | 25 |
| Java | 32 | 35 |
| COTTON SEED: | | |
| Rough, ₱ ton | — — | 10 00 |
| In sacks | — — | — — |
| EGGS, ₱ dozen: | | |
| Western | 22 | 27 |
| FERTILIZERS, ₱ ton: | | |
| Stern's raw-bone superphosph'e | — — | 65 00 |
| Stern's fine-ground bone | — — | 45 00 |
| FLOUR, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Double extra | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Superfine | — — | 5 00 |
| Fine | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| GLASS, ₱ box of 50 feet: | | |
| French, 8 by 10 | — — | 4 00 |
| French, 10 by 12 | 4 00 | 4 25 |
| French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20 | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20 | 4 50 | 5 00 |
| HAY, ₱ ton: | | |
| Prime | 22 00 | 23 00 |
| Choice | — — | 25 00 |
| IRON, ₱ ton: | | |
| English, ₱ lb | 4¼ | 5½ |
| Swedes, assorted | 7½ | 8 |
| Hoop | 7 | 9 |
| Sheet | 7 | 10 |
| Nail rods | — — | 9¾ |
| Castings, American | 5¼ | 6 |
| LEATHER, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sole, hemlock | 30 | 33 |
| Sole, oak | 40 | 44 |
| Harness | 38 | 45 |
| Calf-skins, ₱ dozen | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Texas, rough, ₱ lb | 24 | 26 |
| LIME, ₱ hhl.: | | |
| Western | 1 75 | — — |
| Cement | 2 75 | 3 00 |
| Plaster Paris | 3 50 | 3 75 |
| LUMBER, ₱ M feet: | | |
| Boards, yellow pine | 13 00 | 15 00 |
| Boards, cypress | 20 00 | 25 00 |
| Flooring, dressed | 18 00 | 21 00 |
| Flooring, rough | 14 00 | 17 00 |
| Ceiling, dressed | — — | 12 00 |
| Weatherboards, dressed | 15 00 | 18 00 |
| Weatherboards, rough | — — | 12 00 |
| Scantling | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| Shingles, ₱ M | 3 50 | 4 00 |
| Laths | 2 50 | 2 75 |
| OILS: | | |
| Lard, ₱ gallon | 75 | 80 |
| Coal oil, in barrels | 22 | 25 |
| Linseed, raw | 1 10 | — — |
| SUGAR, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Havana, white | — — | — — |
| Havana, yellow | 9 | 10 |
| Havana, brown | 9 | 9½ |
| Crushed | 11¾ | 12 |
| Pulverized | 11¾ | — — |
| TEAS, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Imperial | 50 | 1 30 |
| Gunpowder | — — | 1 60 |
| Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Young Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Pouchong | 80 | — — |
| Oolong | 40 | 1 10 |
| WAGONS, CARTS, ETC.: | | |
| Wagon, two-horse | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 110 00 | 125 00 |
| Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein | 85 00 | 90 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 100 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane wagon | 180 00 | 210 00 |
| Ox wagon | 90 00 | 125 00 |
| Ox cart, complete | 110 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane cart | 85 00 | 120 00 |
| Tongue cart, complete | 120 00 | 125 00 |
| Plantation cart | 55 00 | 70 00 |

CATTLE MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 9, 1873.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Texas beeves, choice, ₱ head | — — | @ 45 00 |
| Texas beeves, first quality, ₱ head | 35 00 | @ 40 00 |
| Texas cattle, second quality, ₱ head | 20 00 | @ 28 00 |
| Texas cattle, third quality, ₱ head | 12 00 | @ 15 00 |
| Western beeves, ₱ lb. net | 10 | @ 12½ |
| Sheep, first quality, ₱ head | 4 00 | @ 5 00 |
| Sheep, second quality, ₱ head | 3 00 | @ 4 00 |
| Milch cows, choice, ₱ head | 80 00 | @ 100 00 |
| Milch cows, ₱ head | 35 00 | @ 50 00 |
| Calves, ₱ head | 7 00 | @ 10 00 |
| Yearlings, ₱ head | 5 00 | @ 12 00 |

Business Directory

OF THE

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Agencies.
Barclay & Co. Philadelphia.
E. C. Bridgman, New York.
A. Coyle, St. Louis, Mo.
Mrs. H. Mogridge, purchasing agent, 96 Canal street.

Architects.
T. Whinrey Carter, 58 Carondelet street.
S. B. Haggart, 5 Commercial place.

Artificial Legs and Arms.
Lewis Lockwood, 69 Camp street.

Banks.
New Orleans Savings Institution, 156 Canal st.

Bed Springs.
John Flinn, Philadelphia.

Bells.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Buckeye Bell Foundery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Book-Binder.
F. Kuhnholz, 112 Gravier street.

Books and Stationery.
Robert J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.
American Sunday School Union, Philadelphia.
Continental Publishing Co., St. Louis, Missouri.
J. W. Daughaday & Co., Philadelphia.
F. A. Hutchinson & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Nettleton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. Hale Powers & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Queen City Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
James W. Queen & Co., New York.
H. B. Thompson & Co., 9 Lakeside building, Chicago, Illinois.
United States Publishing Company, New York.
Valley Publishing Company, St. Louis, Mo.
A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn

Boots and Shoes.
Louis Gimbel, 575 Magazine street.
John Hansen, 33 Canal street.
Mrs. D. J. Loewenstein, 540 Magazine street.
F. Selles, 161 Poydras street.
George John Wagner, corner Ursulines and Dauphine streets.

Butchers.
Marilu Lannes, stalls 37, 38 and 7 Magazine market.
J. Stafford, corner St. Peter and Old Levee sts.

Canned Goods.
J. Winslow Jones, Portland, Maine.
Birnham & Morrill, Portland, Maine.

Carpets.
A. Brousseau & Co., 17 Chartres street.
Elkin & Co., 159 Canal street.

Carriages, Wagons, Etc.
Joseph Beckham, Philadelphia.
W. F. Clark, 124 Ramhart street.
J. A. Lum & Co., 162 Gravier and 13 Union street.

Cemeteries.
Metairie Cemetery Association.

Clothing and Furnishing Goods.
M. Cogan, 19 and 29 Canal street.
Pierson & Hews, 13 and 15 Camp street.
B. T. Walshe, 110 Canal street.

Coal and Wood.
John D. Maclin, 34 Carondelet street.
H. & C. Tyler, 9 Carondelet street.
B. D. Wood & Bros., 106 Common street.
Wm. Velden, cor. Prytania and Philip streets.

Cooperage.
T. A. Beck, 23 and 24 Front street.
Wm. J. Beirne & Co., cor. Marengo and Levee.

Cotton Ties.
Bartlett & Rayne, 48 Carondelet street.

Croquet.
Bradley's Patent Croquet, Robt. J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.

Dentists.
Dr. John G. Angell, 152 Julia street.

Dry Goods.
D. H. Holmes, 135 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

Educational.
Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana.
J. W. Blackman's Commercial College, 131 Carondelet street.
Emory and Henry College, Washington county, Virginia.
Hiwassee College, Sweetwater, Tennessee.
Homer College, Homer, Louisiana.
Whitworth Female College, Brookhaven, Miss

Engravers and Lithographers.
John Gibson, New York.
George E. Teetzel & Co., 82 Gravier street.

Factors and Commission Merchants.
Aiken & Watt, 60 Carondelet street.
G. M. Bayly & Pond, 34 to 42 Canal and 59 and 61 Common street.
W. Harrington & Co., 79 Carondelet street.
M. J. & D. H. O'Brien, 32 Peters street.
J. C. & H. M. Payne & Co., 64 and 66 Baronne st.

Fancy Goods.
Variety store, 547 Magazine street.
Mrs. S. Zeiglrin, 621 Magazine street.

Fire Engine.
Babcock Self-Acting Fire Engine, A. M. Granger, general agent, Exposition building

Fensurs.
Charles Hamilton, 661 Magazine street.
F. Wagener, 13 Baronne street.

Furniture.
J. Bois, 291 Camp street.
M. A. Davis & Sons, Philadelphia.
Nath. Johnson, New York.
The Mitchell & Ramuelsberg Furniture Co. 103 and 105 Camp street.
Sampson & Bros., 33 and 35 Royal street.
W. P. Udlinger, Philadelphia.

Gas and Steam-Pipe Fitters.
Barbarin Gas Machines, F. Roberts, superintendent, 2 Triangle building and 255 Peters st.
Julius Loeffler, 43 Royal street.
Jas. N. Quin, 118 and 120 Tchoupitoulas street.

Glass Works.
Atckin & Isaac, Philadelphia.

Grocers.
John I. Adams & Co., 43, 45 and 47 Peters street.
C. W. Roth, 175 Poydras street.

Hardware.
A. Baldwin & Co., 74 Canal, and 91, 93 and 95 Common street.

Hay.
Jacob C. Baker, Portland, Maine.

Hides and Tallow.
New Orleans Butchers' Hide and Tallow Co.

Hotels.
American House, Boston, Massachusetts.
Bingham House, Philadelphia.
McAllister's House, cor. Carondelet and Julia.
Sherman House, Chicago, Illinois.
St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

Human Hair Goods.
J. G. Bermel, 121 Canal street.

Ink.
Printers' Ink, S. Collins & Co., New York.

Insurance.
Ætna Life Insurance Co., 2 Carondelet street.
American Life Insurance Co., 10 Carondelet st.
Equitable Life Assurance Co., 31 Camp street.
Factors' and Traders' Insurance Company, 37 Carondelet street.

Iron Manufactories.
Billings & Spencer Company, Hartford, Conn
Boston Ornamental Iron Works, Boston, Mass.
M. Walker & Sons, Philadelphia.
J. B. Wickersham & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

Lumber.
W. W. Carre & Co., 350 Delord street.
Thomas Hassan, cor. Cedar and Julia streets.
F. Heuer, 948 and 950 New Levee street.
Ocean Saw Mill, foot of Bordeaux street, Sixth District.
Roberts & Co., 301 to 307 Gravier street.

Machinery.
N. F. Burnham's Water-wheel, York, Pa.
Daniel & James D. Edwards, 22 to 28 Front and 21 to 27 Delta street.
Lewis Johnson, corner Julia, Delta and Water streets.
Memely & Kimberly, Troy, New York.
W. H. Reynolds, corner Fulton and South Market streets.
Jos. Walker, corner St. Joseph and Constance streets.

Magic Lanterns.
W. Mitchell McAllister, Philadelphia, Pa.

Manufacturers.
William Ebert, 164 and 166 Magazine street.

Medical.
Mrs. M. G. Brown's Metaphysical Discovery, 51 Bond street, New York.
Chills and Fevers, Dr. J. A. Mayes, Mayesville, South Carolina.
Citrate of Magnesia, etc., Hofmann & Co., N. Y.
Craddock & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Cundurango Bitters, 44 Dauphine street.
Fever and Ague cure, Billings, Clapp & Co., New York.
Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Sirup, E. J. Hart & Co., New Orleans.
Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion, W. C. Hamilton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Laplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm, B. Laplace, 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Buffalo, New York.
Pope's Cure, John H. Pope, corner of Jackson and Prytania streets.
Dr. Rosch's Hair Regenerator, 134 Thalia st.
Rogers' Citrate of Magnesia, Arthur Rogers, New York.
Simmons' Liver Regulator, J. H. Zellin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Swaim's celebrated Panacea, 170 William st., New York.
The Greatest Medical Discovery, Dr. Kennedy, Roxbury, Massachusetts.
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills, 18 and 20 Platt street, New York.
Matern Weber, apothecary, corner Royal and Spain streets.

Mineral and Soda Water.
Bethesda Mineral Water, J. C. McAllister, agent, glass box 825, New Orleans

Milliners.
H. Felsenfield, 104 Canal street.
Mrs. Garbanatti, 625 Magazine street.
Mrs. Lynch, 180 Canal street.
Mrs. M. Tournahen, 206 Prytania street.

Musical Instruments, Publications, Etc.
Robert J. Harp, 110 and 112 Camp street.
Biglow & Main, New York and Chicago.
S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, Ohio.
Charles H. Ditson & Co., New York.
Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, Massachusetts.
Louis Grunewald, 18, 20 and 22 Baroane street.
Lee & Walker, Philadelphia, Pa.
Alexander Mills, organ builder, New York.
Horace Waters & Son, New York.

Painters.
A. S. Cutler, 136½ Camp street.
Johnson & Hillsman, 144 Magazine street.

Paper-Hanger.
T. J. Brown, 203 Camp street.

Paper Mills.
Atlanta Paper Mills, Atlanta, Georgia.

Paper Patterns.
W. E. Cooper, 89 Canal street.

Patents.
John A Wiedersheim & Co., Philadelphia.

Pens.
R. Esterbrook & Co., New York.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

Perfumery.
Colgate & Co.'s Cashmere Bouquet.

Photographers.
Umhauer & Simon, 21 Hospital street.

Plows.
Brinly Plows, Brinly, Miles & Hardy, Louisville, Kentucky.

Professional.
Dr. C. J. Bickham, office, corner Magazine and Second streets.
C. G. Forshey, Civil Engineer, 24 Baronne street.
Dr. J. J. Lyons, office, 249 Carondelet street.
Race, Foster & E. T. Merrick, law office, corner Camp and Commercial place.

Preserved Corn.
Portland Packing Company, Portland, Maine.

Printing.
Pelican Job Office, 112 and 114 Poydras street.

Pumps.
Chicago Farm Pumps, B. S. Twichell, agent.

Railroads.
Great Jackson Route.

Sciopticon.
L. J. Marcy, Philadelphia.

Seeds and Flowers.
Kern, Sieber & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
D. Landreth & Son, Philadelphia.

Sewing-Machines.
Florence Sewing Machine Co., Florence, Mass.
Weed Sewing Machine, 207 Canal street.

Soap.
J. H. Keller, 110 Gravier street.

Stables.
Southern Sale Stables, cor. Delord and Dryades.

Steamships and Shipping.
Cromwell Line New York Steamers, Alfred Moulton, agent, 41 Carondelet street.
Merchants' Line New York Steamers, John H. Ludwigsen, agent, 140 Common street.

Stoves.
H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Tobacco and Cigars.
F. Esteva, corner Camp and Girod streets.
Santiago M. Lapeyre, 53 St. Louis street.
Ed. L. Zell, corner Canal and Carondelet streets.

Undertakers.
T. W. Bothick, 271 Camp street, New Orleans.

Upholstery.
Heath & Lara, 99 Camp street

Wants.
Goetzyn & Co., lock box 161, New Orleans.
Louisiana Paper Mills, 241 and 245 Liberty st.
Address Rev. R. J. Hurp, New Orleans.

Washing Machines.
Lash Washing Machine, No. 5 North Seventeenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Ringen Washer, H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Watches.
New York Watch Company, Springfield, Mass.

Wire Railing, Etc.
Dufur & Co., Baltimore, Maryland.

INSURANCE.

FACTORS' AND TRADERS'

INSURANCE CO.,

37.....Carondelet Street.....37

NEW ORLEANS, NOV. 17, 1873.

Extract from the Seventh Annual Statement.

| | |
|---|---|
| Premiums for fiscal year ending April 30, 1873 | $735,857 95 |
| Losses paid within the year | 350,200 41 |
| Reserved for unterminated risks, April 30, 1873 | 103,220 00 |
| Interest and savings received | 152,808 31 |
| Net premium profits for fiscal year | 160,902 72 |
| Gross net profits after payment of $110,000 interest | 203,709 03 |

ASSETS,

April 30, 1873 ..... $1,570,278 32

Fire, River and Marine Risks Written at the Current Rates of Premium.

HARMON DOANE, President.
MOSES GREENWOOD, Vice President.
ED. A. PALFREY, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

| | |
|---|---|
| Moses Greenwood, | John I. Adams, |
| W. A. Johnson, | Isaac Scherck, |
| John I. Noble, | R. M. Walmsley, |
| John Chaffe, | William Morrison, |
| Richard Milliken, | Joseph W. Carroll, |
| Samuel E. Moore, | A. Brittin, |
| J. J. Warren, | J. T. Pace, |
| R. T. Buckner, | A. H. May, |
| Samuel Friedlander, | S. H. Snowden, |
| H. Frellsen, | T. Lytt. Lyon, |
| W. S. Pike, | W. C. Raymond, |
| A. A. Yates, | James S. Prestidge, |

Samuel H. Boyd. de4 1m

AMERICAN

LIFE INSURANCE CO.

SOUTHERN BRANCH,

10.....CARONDELET ST.....10

New Orleans, La.

Insures on LOW ALL-CASH RATES. All restrictions as to travel and residence removed.

Premiums paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually, at option of parties insuring.

The company is one of THE OLDEST in the United States, and beg a share of the patronage of the public

☞ Any particulars gladly furnished at the above place.

oc23.2m CAPT. JOHN D. SCOTT, Agent

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.

WILLIAM E. FITZGERALD,

Manager for Louisiana and Mississippi,

NO. 2 CARONDELET ST. (Room No. 10,)

oc23 3m New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW ORLEANS BUTCHERS'

HIDE AND TALLOW CO.,

NO. 69 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.

Capital.....$100,000.

JEAN BERTHIN, President.
A. D. DUCHIRON, Secretary.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| J. Berthin, | P. Lacoze, |
| B. Dahat, | A. D. Duchiron, |
| P. Cestac, | A. Mathes, |
| L. Duclos, | M. Lannes, |
| J. Dubnrry, | J. Soulbde, |

J. Bernichan. oc30 2m

GOOD NEWS.....GOOD NEWS

FROM OUR

UPPER CITY BLUE SHOE STORE,

No. 578 Magazine Street, New Orleans.

MR. PHILLIPS, formerly with the house of Messrs. Glynn & Wintz, having recently taken charge of my department for the manufacture of

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES,

will be happy to meet his old friends and customers, satisfied of his ability to convince them that in quality of material, excellence and taste of workmanship, and reasonableness of price, his stock is unsurpassed in the city. Also Men's and Boys' HATS, and TRUNKS.

no20 1m LOUIS OIMBEL, Agent.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of Consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., giving name of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, New Orleans. no13 6m

THIS IS BONA FIDE.

THIS IS

NO LIQUIDATION SALE,

NEVER TO END.

Fire and Water have not injured my goods in the least, but I am firmly resolved to close my business in the store, No. 161 Poydras street, on the first of December. To accomplish this object I now offer to the public one of the finest stocks of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Philadelphia and Home-made Gaiters, Button Boots, Slippers; and in fact every style of Shoe known to the trade, not excepting Gentlemen's BOOTS AND SHOES, at prices way BELOW COST. To test the sincerity of this proposition I simply request the public to examine the goods. F. SELLES, no13 1m No. 161 Poydras street.

NOTICE TO

PLANTERS AND MILLERS.

A Licensed Engineer of twenty years' experience desires employment. Practical, alert, sober and honest. Address ENGINEER.

no29 tf No. 144 Carondelet street.

PAPER MILLS.

ATLANTA PAPER MILLS,

JAMES ORMOND, PROPRIETOR.

OFFICE—No. 42 BROAD STREET, ATLANTA, GA.

☞ For Specimen of "News" we refer to this issue of this Paper. Cash Orders Solicited. my6 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

BILLINGS' PATENT

Sewing Machine

SHUTTLES.

Twenty Varieties Now Made.

Forged solid from bar-steel and cold-pressed.

TRADE B MARK.

Also Wrought Iron and Steel

DROP FORGINGS

of all descriptions, for Guns, Pistols, Sewing Machines, Agricultural Implements, etc.

MANUFACTURED BY

Billings & Spencer Co.,

LAWRENCE STREET,

se25 6m Hartford, Conn.

W. HARRINGTON & CO.,

GENERAL GRANGE AGENCY

—AND—

COTTON FACTORS.

NO. 79 CARONDELET STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The undersigned, having been elected by the Mississippi State Grange as their Purchasing Agents and Cotton Factors for this port, would respectfully inform the Granges of the States who deal in this market that we will take pleasure in serving their interests to the best of our ability. Our terms of business are the same as those of your Agency in the city of Memphis.

Parties desiring to purchase in this market can do so, when cotton is in hand, with from thirty to sixty days' indulgence.

We are endeavoring, in Sugars, Molasses, Rice and Coffee, to control the patronage of the Western States, which will give us unusual advantages in this market.

ALL ORDERS FILLED

—AT—

WHOLESALE PRICES.

Orders must be under the seal of the Grange. We respectfully solicit your attention, and all business intrusted to our care will receive our best attention.

no20 6m W. HARRINGTON & CO.

THE CLEARING HOUSE.

THE BALANCE

OF THE

GOODS DAMAGED BY WATER

AT

THE LATE FIRE ON CANAL STREET.

Fine Winter Dress CLOTHING,
Boys' Clothing, Shirts and Hats.
Splendid Beaver and Pilot Cloth Overcoats, Talmas and Pea Jackets.
The latest styles of HATS.
Cloth, Silk, Velvet and Fur CAPS.
Linen Shirts and Underclothing.
Leather and Zinc Trunks and Valises.

All slightly damaged by water during the LATE FIRE ON CANAL STREET, and which will be sold FIFTY PER CENT. below cost, at

M. COGAN'S,

Nos. 19 and 29 Canal street,

de4 1m Bet. the Custom-house and the River.

NEW ORLEANS

SAVINGS INSTITUTION,

156.....CANAL STREET.....156

Incorporated March 15, 1855.

OFFICERS.

L. F. GENERES, President.
THOS. A. ADAMS, First Vice President.
THOS. ALLEN CLARKE, Second V. President.
CHARLES J. LEEDS, Third Vice President.
SAM JONES, Jr., Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| Dr. W. Newton Mercer, | David Urquhart, |
| L. F. Generes, | John G Gaines, |
| George Jones, | Carl Kohn, |
| Thos. A. Adams, | Christian Schneider, |
| Thos. Allen Clarke, | Samuel Jamison. |
| Charles J. Leeds, | |

☞ SIX PER CENT. INTEREST on deposits.

oc23 3m

GEORGE BURNHAM, JR. J. B. BURNHAM.
C. S. MORRILL.

BURNHAM & MORRILL,

PACKERS AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

HERMETICALLY-SEALED GOODS,

MEATS, FISH AND VEGETABLES,

No. 61½ Commercial Street,

And corner Commercial St. and Burnham's Wharf,

PORTLAND, MAINE.

au28 6m

MAGIC LANTERNS.

McALLISTER'S PATENT ARTOPTICON.

The most powerful Magic Lantern ever made; with a brilliant Oil Lamp; for Home, Sunday School and Lectures. Sciopticons, etc. Slides at reduced prices. A profitable business for a man with small capital. Send stamp for catalogue.

W. MITCHELL McALLISTER,

oc30 2m 1314 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

THE AMERICAN

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION

OFFERS

Special Terms to Sunday Schools

IN THE SELECTION OF NEW AND

REPLENISHING OF OLD LIBRARIES.

Catalogues furnished on application to any of the

SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPOSITORIES.

No. 122 Chestnut street, Philadelphia—ALEX. KIRKPATRICK.
No. 10 Bible House, New York—G. S. SCOFIELD.
No. 40 Winter street, Boston—E. SHUTE.
No. 24 West Madison st., Chicago—W. R. POST.
No. 267 N. Sixth St., St. Louis—S. PAXSON, se11 6m

R. ESTERBROOK & CO.'S

STEEL PENS.

FOR SALE BY

ALL BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Esterbrook Steel Pen Manufact'g Co.,

40 MAIDEN LANE, NEW YORK.

Works—Camden, New Jersey. oc2 1y

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS WAREHOUSE,

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SON.

HENRY HOE, Sole Agent. je26 1y

STEAMSHIPS—STEAMBOATS.

FOR NEW YORK.

The Cromwell New York and New Orleans Steamship Line.

Leaving New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY

Cabin Passage ..... $50 00
Steerage Passage ..... 25 00

Through bills of lading to foreign and coastwise ports issued

ALFRED MOULTON,

se13 1y No. 41 Carondelet street.

FOR NEW YORK.

Merchants' Steamship Line.—Sailing from New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY:

Cabin Passage ..... $50 00
Steerage Passage ..... 25 00

Through tickets to Liverpool and the Continent

New Orleans wharf—Foot of Jefferson street.

New York wharf—Pier No. 4, North River.

JOHN H. LUDWIGSEN, Agent,

fe13 1y No. 130 Common street.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

WATERS' CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS are the most beautiful in style and perfect in tone ever made. The CONCERTO STOP is the best ever placed in any Organ. It is produced by an extra set of reeds, peculiarly voiced, the EFFECT of which is MOST CHARMING AND SOUL STIRRING, while ITS IMITATION of the Human Voice IS SUPERB. Terms liberal.

A GREAT OFFER. HORACE WATERS & SON, 481 Broadway, N. Y., will dispose of 500 PIANOS and ORGANS of first-class makers, including WATERS', at extremely low prices for cash, or part cash, and balance in small monthly payments, New 7-Octave first-class PIANOS, all modern improvements, for $225 cash; 6 Octave, $70. DOUBLE-REED ORGANS, 4 Stops, $110; 8 Stops, $125. Illustrated Catalogues mailed. A large discount to Ministers, Churches, Sunday-Schools, Temperance Societies, etc. AGENTS WANTED.

L. GRUNEWALD'S

MAMMOTH

PIANO AND ORGAN WAREROOMS,

18, 20 AND 22 BARONNE STREET.

The Largest and Finest Store,
The Largest and Best Assortment,
The Best and Finest Pianos,
The Cheapest Prices, and
The Most Accommodating Terms.

Every Piano warranted to be as represented, and to give satisfaction.

Twenty second hand PIANOS at $100, $125, $150 and upward; in perfect order. Sold below their value, on time or for cash, to make room for new stock now arriving. de4 1m oc30 2m UMHAUER & SIMON.

CONSTANT'S PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY, No. 21 HOSPITAL ST., bet. Old Levee and Chartres. Being the successors of the above establishment, which we have had in charge for the last five years, we are prepared to do all work in the line of PHOTOGRAPHY—Photographs, Porcelains, Crayons, India Ink, Water or Oil Paintings, either from life or copy. Enlargements from small to life-size. All work intrusted to us will be neatly executed at very moderate prices.

MEDICAL.

THE GREATEST

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

OF THE AGE.

MR. KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, HAS discovered in one of our common pastures weeds a remedy that cures

EVERY KIND OF HUMOR,

FROM

The Worst Scrofula Down to a Common Pimple.

He has tried it in over seven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder-humor.) He has now in his possession over one hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of Pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of Blotches.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst Canker in the mouth or stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all Humor in the Eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the Ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running Ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 19. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1873. NO. 51.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—A special dispatch from Washington to the Tribune says the Secretary of War has sent a letter to the House making direct charges of fraud and malfeasance in office against Brigadier General O. O. Howard, in connection with his management of the Freedmen's Bureau.

The letter is accompanied by evidence from the records and accounts of the late bureau, which fully sustain the secretary's charges.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—The consecration to-day of Rev. Charles Edward Cheney, of this city, as a bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church, took place at Christ church, corner of Michigan avenue and Twenty-fourth street, of which Mr. Cheney is the rector. The church was crowded.

In addition to Bishop Cummins the following presbyters of the Episcopal Church were in attendance and participated in the services: Rev. Marshall Smith, Rev. Mr. Gallagher, Rev. B. B. Leacock, Rev. W. V. Tiltwell and Rev. Charles H. Tucker.

The services were in accordance with the formula arranged by the council of the Reformed Episcopal Church, recently held in New York.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The Navy Department at midnight was without advices regarding the surrender of the Virginius. Baila Honda, where the delivery was probably made, is many miles from any telegraph station. Details are not expected to-night.

Colonel Frederick Dent, father of Mrs. Grant, died at midnight. His daughter, Mrs. Casey, is quite ill at Philadelphia. An unfavorable effect from the sad news is apprehended.

Colonel Dent has resided for a long time at the White House as the guest of his daughter. The colonel never abandoned his Democracy. His somewhat forcible denunciations of the prevailing faction, in its highest places, has been one of the features of the executive mansion. He ate his breakfast and smoked his cigar yesterday morning.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—A Herald special from Paris says a cipher dispatch from Madrid states that Castelar made an official call on General Sickles to-day, accompanied by the Secretary of State, and made formal announcement of the surrender of the Virginius and the prisoners. The utmost cordiality was shown on both sides.

A Herald London special says an enthusiastic meeting was held at Exeter Hall to hear the report of the delegates to the Evangelical Alliance. Lord Embury presided. Speeches were made by Lord Alfred Churchill, the Dean of Canterbury, Rev. Dr. Parker and others, who alluded with the utmost enthusiasm to their splendid reception in America.

FOREIGN.

VERSAILLES, Dec. 10.—Lachaud, counsel for Bazaine, in his peroration, said:

"I deeply sympathize with this valiant soldier, overwhelmed by a terrible accusation. I fear not death for him; he is brave and fears nothing but the loss of his honor, for the sake of his wife and children. I feel most for France, which will deplore the loss of a valorous soldier. Your own patriotism, gentlemen, forbids that you condemn him. You know what political trials are, on the spot on which posterity has raised a statue to those executed after such trials."

M. Ponriet, for the prosecution, replied demanding that a terrible example be made as a lesson to the rising generation.

Before the judges withdrew Bazaine said:

"I have two words in my heart—honor and country. I have never been wanting toward this proud motto during forty-two years of service. I swear before Christ that I have not betrayed France!"

After a long deliberation the judges declared Bazaine guilty of the charges of the surrender of Metz and the army in open field, without doing all that was prescribed by honor and duty to avoid the surrender, and unanimously condemned him to death and to be degraded from his rank previous to his execution.

After judgment had been rendered all the members of the court signed an appeal to the government for mercy, which the Due D'Aumale immediately conveyed in person to President MacMahon.

Bazaine was greatly agitated at hearing the decision of the court.

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—The Landtag rejected by 193 majority the motion censuring legislation introduced by the government directed against Ultramontane Catholics.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Times says Bazaine is justly convicted.

The Telegraph considers him a sacrifice to national vanity.

The News hopes, as the evidence was so conflicting, the sentence will be commuted to perpetual exile or imprisonment.

BAYONNE, Dec. 11.—It is rumored that Lizarraga has captured and shot the Cure of Santa Cruz.

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—The press regard the verdict in the Bazaine case as the result of political intrigue, and censure the conduct of the Duc D'Aumale.

PARIS, Dec. 12.—The decision of President MacMahon, in the case of Bazaine, is announced this morning. The sentence of death against the marshal is commuted to twenty years' seclusion. He is to bear the effects of degradation of rank, but will be spared the humiliating ceremony.

HAVANA, Dec. 12, Evening.—The Virginius has gone to the port of Bahia Honda, sixty miles west of Havana, where she will be delivered by a Spanish man-of-war to a vessel of the United States.

Captain General Jovellar has given the necessary orders for the transfer of the Virginius' prisoners at Santiago de Cuba to an American man-of-war to-day.

The captain general is certain that his orders will be carried out, and the men delivered at the appointed time.

It is officially denied at the Havana treasury department that the payment of customs duties will be required in gold after January 1, 1874.

Archbishop Llorente has returned to Santiago.

The Voz de Cuba fears that religious troubles will be added to the foreign and internal complications of the island. But the mass of the people manifest little interest in these ecclesiastical affairs.

PARIS, Dec. 13.—Marshal Bazaine, since he received notice of his commutation of sentence, has written a letter to President MacMahon, in which he says: "You remember the days in which we served the country together; I feared that the impulses of your heart would be overmastered by State considerations. I should have died without regret, since the recommendation of the court for mercy vindicates my honor."

Bazaine's counsel, in a letter to ex-President Thiers, thanks him for having expressed his opinion that the marshal was innocent of the charges upon which he was tried.

The Island of Saint Ma, off Cannes, is the place designated for Bazaine's confinement. He will be sent there this week. The marshal received the news of the commutation of his sentence without emotion.

BERLIN, Dec. 13.—The question of obtaining satisfaction from Spain for the seizure of the German vessels is exciting the public.

MADRID, Dec. 13.—General Lopez Dominguez issued a command before Carthagena that the bombardment be temporarily suspended.

From the Work.

FRANKLIN STATION, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: As the retiring pastor of this congregation I ask to be allowed space in the ADVOCATE to give a brief synopsis of what has been accomplished by the efforts made during the present year to build up the interests of this station.

For three years preceding the present the testimony coming up from all sides was that the interests of the station had been rapidly on the decline. During last year, however, a few days of service from Rev. W. V. Tudor greatly stirred the consciences of this people, and awakened an interest and considerable activity in some of the membership; and when I came here as pastor, in January last, almost every one seemed ready for and anxious to have a better state of things in the church. Apprehending, as I then thought I did, both the difficulties and the advantages of the then disorganized condition of things, I determined on pressing all the interests to the fall of their respective claims, and, besides the regular Sabbath morning and evening services, I began to hold weekly class meetings—a sight which many of the membership had never seen. Having no one to assist me in conducting the weekly prayer meetings, I gave weekly lectures on personal holiness, and the obligation of each member to come forward and contribute the whole of their influence in the upbuilding of the church to which they belonged. Signs soon followed. The congregation grew to be much larger than it had been in a long while. A religious interest seemed to be awakened. The Sunday school was made to be of special importance, every possible effort being made to give it the position it should always occupy. In many respects it has been a success—in some a failure. The pupils numbered one hundred and fifteen; officers and teachers, eleven. Quite a number of the Sunday school children have joined the church.

While there has been no occasion which might strictly be termed a revival occasion, yet from time to time great power has overshadowed the people and attended the word. Some have been induced to seek a deeper experience in the divine life. About twenty-five persons have joined the church. Six adults and twelve infants baptized. Discipline has not been administered in any sense whatever, though its importance has been strongly urged. The great disadvantage at which the pastor has been placed, on account of personal and family sickness, necessitated failure in many departments of our plans; yet I am persuaded that the interests of the charge, as a whole, are at least fifty per cent. better than at the beginning of the year. The preaching of the word in its claims to personal holiness and obedience, instead of a form of piety, has greatly stirred the moral sentiments of this people, and I hope and pray, with Moses, "that the Lord, the God of the spirits of all flesh, may set a man over this congregation—a man in whom is the Spirit—who may go out and come in before them, that this congregation of the Lord be not as sheep having no shepherd." The finances of the charge are considerably behind, though something will be collected in every department.

Last, but not least, a large, commodious new parsonage has been built, and though not quite finished, yet the brethren say it shall be by Conference. Yours respectfully,

A. W. WILLIAMS, Pastor.

Proceedings of the Alabama Conference.

FOURTH DAY—DECEMBER 6.

Bishop Wightman entered the Conference-room and was introduced to the president of the Conference and heartily welcomed.

Question 20 was resumed, and R. H. Harris and Wilbur F. Norton, of the class of the fourth year, having passed an approved examination, were passed.

Question 12—"What traveling preachers are elected elders?" Isaac Z. F. Morris and Charles B. DuBose.

Question 10—"What local preachers were elected deacons?"

Answer—David M. Reese, Wilson Nabors, William M. Boswell, Lawrence Baker, William M. Pritchett, Leonidas B. Cohron.

Question 13—"What local preachers are elected elders?"

Answer—William S. Hardy, John A. Green, D. M. Banks, Clarance L. McCartha, James W. Crosby and A. B. Middlebrooks.

Rev. A. S. Andrews, D. D., announced the following names as members of the board of trustees of the Southern University: Hon. W. M. Byrd, president, Hon. A. A. Coleman, vice president, James J. Garrett, Esq., secretary and treasurer, Rev. Allen S. Andrews, D. D., Rev. E. Wadsworth, D. D., Rev. J. Hamilton, D. D., Rev. A. R. Winfield, D. D., Rev. A. C. Allen, Rev. A. H. Mitchell, D. D., Rev. T. O. Summers, D. D., LL. D., Rev. J. W. Rush, Rev. W. M. Motley, Rev. T. Y. Ramsey, Rev. T. C. Wier, M. D., Rev. J. Bancroft, Rev. S. P. Richardson, Rev. J. S. Moore, Rev. E. S. Smith, Rev. W. A. McCarty, D. D., Rev. H. Urquhart, Rev. M. S. Andrews, Hon. S. H. Dent, Hon. Joseph W. Taylor, Hon. P. G. Wood, Hon. David Clopton, F. M. Peterson, M. D., William Otis, Esq., John Bradfield, M. D., Gastou Drake, M. D., Benjamin Rush, Esq., General J. G. L. Huey, John H. Y. Webb, Esq., Warren E. Kennedy, Esq., Rev. D. M. Hudson, Colonel A. C. Jones, Henry A. Stollenwerck, W. W. Powers, Esq., T. J. Seay, Esq.

The following additional names were also nominated and confirmed: Madison Jones, D. J. Castleman, Rev. S. H. Cox, Thomas H. Price, Hon. James E. Cobbs, Rev. W. Shapard, D. D., Rev. R. S. Woodward, George N. Gilmer, James R. Rodgers, S. S. Melon, A. Stollenwerck, Prof. J. Massey, Rev. A. D. McVoy, Rev. H. D. Moore.

On motion of Rev. W. Murrah the Conference then proceeded to the election of delegates to the General Conference.

Clerical delegates elected: T. O. Summers, D. D., W. A. McCarty, D. D., M. S. Andrews, D. D., Jefferson Hamilton, D. D., William Shapard. Reserves: A. S. Andrews, D. D., S. P. Richardson, A. J. Briggs. Lay delegates: R. H. Powell, Hon. A. A. Coleman, Rev. J. Motley, Dr. T. J. S. Kimbrough, H. A. Stollenwerck. Reserves: Colonel Levi W. Reeves, Fleming Law, Esq., Rev. Moses Padgett, Hon. John Chain, B. A. Rush.

Opelika was chosen as the place for holding the next Conference.

FIFTH DAY—DECEMBER 8.

Bishop Marvin reported the names of John A. Peterson, William S. Wade, Joseph H. James, James O. Andrew, Thomas W. Dyer, David M. Rush, Franklin Jeter, Leonidas B. Cohron, ordained deacons; and Jere S. Williams, Isaac Z. T. Morris, Charles B. DuBose, Edward Robinson and Francis A. Liles, ordained elders.

The resolution of S. H. Cox and A. K. Ramsey, concerning boundaries, which was tabled on Friday, was taken up from the table. The resolution was read by the secretary, as follows:

"Resolved, That the delegates from this Conference to the next General Conference be and are hereby instructed to endeavor to have all that portion of the Alabama Conference north of the Noxubee river, and all that portion of the North Alabama Conference west of the Tombigbee river, placed in the North Mississippi Conference."

Rev. E. S. Smith moved to amend the resolution by inserting the words: "The members of the North Alabama Conference concurring," before the words: "All that portion of the North Alabama Conference, etc." This amendment was accepted by the movers, and became a part of the original resolution.

The original resolution, as amended by Rev. E. S. Smith, was then put to the vote and carried.

The committee on temperance brought in their report, and offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, That we urge the next General Conference to insert in the Book of Discipline a specific rule against the sale of intoxicating spirits, except for mechanical or medicinal purposes."

After considerable discussion the resolution was adopted.

Rev. W. Shapard presented the report of the publishing committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, which was referred to the committee on books and periodicals.

Rev. W. Shapard, chairman, presented the report of the committee on books and periodicals, and offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, That so soon as we shall arrive at the appointments which we shall receive at the Conference, we will visit our people and try to sell $100 worth of our publications, and that we will transmit, if possible, at least the above amount within thirty days, or, at furthest, within ninety days after we shall reach our destination."

W. C. Menefee offered a resolution requesting the committee on Sunday school publications to adopt, for the year 1874, the text of the International series of lessons. The resolution was referred to the committee on Sunday schools.

Colonel Levi W. Reeves read the report of the committee on the Bible cause, which was adopted.

Upon the motion of D. M. Hudson it was resolved that the preachers take up, some time during the months of March and April, a collection for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the delegates to the General Conference, and to forward the amounts raised to some one of the delegates.

Rev. F. Walker, who was located at the last Conference during his absence, applied to be reinstated, and, after an investigation of the case, he was reinstated.

Proceedings of the Mississippi Conference.

We condense from the reports published by the Brandon Daily Republican:

FIRST DAY—DECEMBER 10.

The fifty-eighth session of the Mississippi Annual Conference convened at the courthouse in Brandon, Mississippi, at half-past nine o'clock A. M., on Wednesday, December 10, 1873.

Bishop William May Wightman read the tenth chapter of Romans, sang the two hundred and seventy-second hymn, and offered prayer.

C. G. Andrews, J. A. B. Jones, J. T. Cameron and J. J. Smilie were elected secretaries.

The hours of half-past nine A. M. and two P. M. were fixed as the hours of meeting and adjournment.

The third seat beyond the railing was prescribed as the bar of the Conference.

Rev. J. W. Adkisson, a transfer from the Missouri Conference, Rev. Dr. L. Parker, editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, Rev. Joel T. Daves, of the Louisiana Conference, and appointee as missionary to Mexico, and R. S. Trippett, of the Louisiana Conference, were introduced to the Conference.

The presiding elders, according to custom, presented the following nominations on the regular standing committees, which were adopted, viz.:

On Public Worship.—F. M. Williams, G. F. Thomson, H. H. Montgomery, A. G. Mayers and R. Lowry.

On Finance.—W. L. Nugent, Thos. Reed, J. E. Jagers, George Nicholson, R. T. G. S. Hilliard, J. N. Applewhite, C. R. Rencher and W. M. Thornton.

R. Abbey and J. A. Ellis were relieved from service on the financial board, and W. E. Ballard and F. M. Featherstun appointed in their stead.

On Sunday Schools.—E. H. Mounger, C. B. Galloway, I. B. Robertson, N. B. Young, E. W. Simmons, S. B. Watts, G. M. Gilmore, L. M. Horton and W. W. Hurst.

On Bible Cause.—J. A. Godfrey, R. J. Jones, D. A. J. Parker, J. H. Thompson, Henry Newsom, J. C. Brogan, T. J. Feazell and J. Nicholson.

On Religious Literature.—John G. Jones, E. C. Postell, E. F. Mullins, W. Longmire, H. P. Lewis, J. M. Gann and W. A. Ray.

On Education.—W. L. C. Hunnicutt, A. M. Campbell, C. Chamberlin, L. K. Barber, B. Jones, J. A. Ellis, C. McDonald and P. H. Napier.

On Missions.—H. F. Johnson, J. M. Weems, W. B. Lewis, J. S. Beasley, S. L. Galce, S. W. Galloway, D. P. Bradford, L. Isam, E. A. Flowers, J. E. Jagers, T. Y. Armstrong, G. D. McCormick, L. M. Horton, G. W. Chatfield and D. A. Givens.

On Temperance.—H. R. Singleton, F. W. Sharbrough, R. D. Norsworthy, J. H. Holland, T. R. Holloman and L. Kendall.

On Minutes.—J. T. Heard, R. B. Downer and A. B. Stewart.

On Memoirs.—J. G. Jones and A. M. Campbell.

An exhibit and supplement of the Publishing House at Nashville, signed by A. H. Redford, agent, were read to the Conference, and referred to the committee on religious literature.

A communication from Dr. T. O. Summers, editor of the Christian Advocate, at Nashville, was read and referred to the committee on religious literature.

A communication from R. Abbey, in relation to the claim of the Methodist Church South against the government of the United States for the use of the Publishing House at Nashville, during the war, was read, and a petition to the Congress of the United States, submitted by Bro. Abbey, was passed.

On motion of W. E. M. Linfield the committee on religious literature was authorized to appoint a sub-committee to collect the claims of the Publishing House against the preachers of the Conference, forwarded by Dr. Redford.

W. H. Watkins moved that the Conference sit with open doors during the regular examination of character, and that the preachers be not required to retire, while their characters were being examined, which was adopted.

N. J. Bullivant was passed and announced as transferred to the Illinois Conference.

The balance of the morning was taken up with the examination of characters.

SECOND DAY—DECEMBER 11.

Bishop Wightman called the Conference to order at half-past nine A. M. The religious exercises were conducted by the Rev. Joseph Nicholson.

On motion of H. F. Johnson the committee on missions was discharged, and all matters relating to missions were referred to the regular Missionary Board.

A report from Rev. R. J. Harp, publisher of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, was read, and on motion of C. G. Andrews was referred to the committee on religious literature.

The twentieth question was resumed.

The following were passed and placed in the supernumerary relation, viz.: J. N. Williams, W. Spillman and H. P. Bowen.

The following were passed and located at their own request, viz.: J. O. Napier, E. J. Taylor and P. H. Napier.

The second question was called, Who remain on trial? Answer: J. W. Ellison, J. B. K. Smith, C. C. Watkins, J. W. McLaurin and T. S. West were passed.

Edward Hicks was passed and announced as transferred to the West St. Louis Conference. Ralph Bradley and Robert Barnip were passed and announced as transferred to the Illinois Conference.

The seventh question was called, Who are the deacons of one year? Answer: G. M. Gilmore, passed and continued, J. W. Hall, passed and elected to elder's orders, D. G. W. Ellis, J. Holland, T. B. Walden, H. R. Singleton, J. S. Parker and D. P. Bradford were passed and continued.

THIRD DAY—DECEMBER 12.

Religious services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Parker, editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

A communication from Dr. McFerrin, missionary secretary, was read and referred to the Board of Missions.

A report from the trustees of East Mississippi Female College, and one from the president of Centenary College, and one from the Millwood Institute, at Jackson, Louisiana, were referred to the committee on education without reading.

The fourth question was called, Who are admitted into full connection? Answer: W. C. Black, J. J. Smilie, H. W. Featherstun, John W. Sandell.

These brethren, according to custom, were called before the Conference and answered the questions prescribed in the Discipline. In delivering the charge to the young members the venerable Bishop grew eloquent and unctuous upon the sublime office of the ministers of Christ.

U. B. Phillips, R. D. Norsworthy and D. A. Givens were passed and continued in the class of the fourth year.

James Weems was passed and elected to elder's orders.

The following were admitted on trial into the Conference: Daniel C. Langford, from the Mount Olive circuit; Albert T. Tidwell, from the Brownsville circuit; Joseph W. Hall, from the Sulphur Springs circuit; Thomas B. Holloman, Clarence A. Powell, Lewis R. Featherstun, each from the North Warren circuit; Charles R. Benson, from Fayette circuit; John W. Ritchie, from Bogue-chitto circuit; Duncan A. Little, from the Paulding circuit; Alexander McBride, from Toomsuba circuit.

The following local preachers were elected to deacon's orders, viz.: Albert T. Tidwell, A. R. Holcombe, J. S. Weems, A. McBride and W. M. Jordan.

The following local preachers were elected to the order of elder: William Hoover, Moses H. Lack, Irvin Miller.

FOURTH DAY—DECEMBER 13.

Religious services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Watkins.

The minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

The committee appointed on the application of Rev. John W. Huffman made report adversely to his admission.

On motion of N. B. Young half-past twelve o'clock was designated as the hour for the election of delegates to the General Conference, to meet at Louisville, Kentucky, in May next.

J. G. Jones, chairman of the committee on religious literature, read his report, which was adopted, with resolutions recommending each member of the Conference to sell at least $100 worth of the books published at Nashville, during the coming year, and also heartily indorsing the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and pledging the Conference to increase its circulation.

J. A. Godfroy, chairman of the committee on the Bible cause, read his report, which was adopted, with resolutions pledging hearty co-operation with the Southwestern Bible Society in the distribution of the holy Scriptures, and recommending the adoption of the plan of the board of the Southwestern Bible Society for circulating the Scriptures.

The hour having arrived specified for the election of delegates to the General Conference, the first ballot resulted in the election of C. G. Andrews, H. F. Johnson, H. H. Montgomery, W. E. M. Linfield, J. T. Heard. Reserve delegates were elected on the first ballot, as follows, viz.: W. H. Watkins, W. L. C. Hunnicutt and W. B. Hines.

The lay members elected delegates to represent them, as follows: A. G. Mayers, J. E. Jagers, Thomas Christian, W. L. Nugent, J. H. Thompson. Reserves: E. C. Postell, Irvin Miller, L. K. Barbour, George Nicholson and S. B. Watts.

The following places were nominated as the place of holding the next Annual Conference: Yazoo City, Crystal Springs, Enterprise, Vicksburg, Hazlehurst, Brandon and Canton. Hazlehurst was chosen.

Northwest Texas Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

Belton District.—W. R. D. Stockton, P. E. Belton station, John F. Neal (postoffice, Belton;) Port Sullivan and Cameron, J. W. Walker, Salado; San Gabriel circuit, William C. Collins (from Center to Cameron;) Salado and Davilla circuit, Oscar M. Addison; Georgetown circuit, James S. Lane; Liberty Hill circuit, J. W. B. Allen, Florence; Burnet mission, N. A. Duckett, Strickland; Lampasas mission, T. G. A. Tharp, Lampasas; Sugar Loaf circuit, to be supplied by D. H. Baird; Gatesville station, R. J. Perry, Gatesville; Gatesville circuit, John Carpenter, Belton; Leon circuit, Willis J. King; agent for Sunday schools in the Waco and Springfield districts, Robert Crawford; agent for Sunday schools in the Belton, Waxahachie, Weatherford and Stephensville districts, F. Olin Dannelly.

Waco District.—W. G. Veal, P. E. (postoffice, Waco.) Waco station, Thomas Stanford, Waco; Marlin station, William L. Kidd; Bremond circuit, William T. Mulugin, Bremond; Groesbeeck circuit, J. Fred. Cox, Groesbeeck, M. Yell, supernumerary; Owensville circuit, William K. Turner; Wheelock circuit, S. C. Vaughan, Englewood; Calvert and Hearne circuit, Charles E. Brown, Calvert; Deer Creek circuit, J. R. White; Cedar Bridge circuit, James Peeler; Bosqueville circuit, William L. Kistler, J. W. F. Toland, supernumerary; Jonesboro mission, W. G. Davenport; Waco Female College, W. G. Conner, president, Sam. P. Wright, agent, Waco; Owensville High School, Hiram M. Glass, principal.

Springfield District.—G. W. Graves, P. E. (postoffice, Mexia.) Springfield circuit, James D. Shaw, Mexia; Fairfield circuit, W. W. Jared, Fairfield; Butler circuit, George R. Bryce, Butler; Centerville circuit, W. F. Compton, Centerville; Red Land circuit, J. J. Davis, Centerville; Navasota mission, S. J. Franks; Mount Calm circuit, O. A. Shook; Dresden circuit, R. C. Hendricks, Dresden; Corsicana station, Horace Bishop, W. C. Young, supernumerary; Corsicana circuit, to be supplied; agent of American Bible Society, John S. McCarver.

Waxahachie Dist.—Andrew Davis, P. E. Waxahachie station, M. B. Fly, Waxahachie, Joe F. Hines, supernumerary; Waxahachie circuit, William Price, Waxahachie, F. P. Ray, supernumerary; Lancaster circuit, J. S. Davis and J. Willis Kelley, Lancaster; Grove Creek and Ennis, A. D. Gaskill; Chatfield circuit, William Vaughan; Millford circuit, William B. Robinson; Hillsboro circuit, H. C. McQuown; Peoria circuit, Thomas G. Gilmore, Peoria; Fort Graham circuit, R. K. Thomas; Chambers and Blooming Grove mission, S. S. Yarborough; Marvin College, J. M. Pugh, president.

Weatherford Dist.—T. W. Hines, P. E. (postoffice, Waxahachie.) Weatherford station, W. A. Sampey, Weatherford; Weatherford circuit, James Hiner; Granbury circuit, James R. Randle, Granbury; Acton circuit, J. J. Shirley, Acton; Cleburne and Marysville station, R. B. Womack, Cleburne; Cleburne circuit, J. P. Mussett, Cleburne; Alvarado circuit, E. A. Bailey, Alvarado, John Powell, supernumerary; Mansfield circuit, James Campbell, Mansfield; Johnson station, William F. Johnson, Johnson station; Fort Worth station, R. H. H. Burnett, Fort Worth; Springtown mission, H. S. B. Ashby, Springtown; Cartersville circuit, J. M. Jones and J. M. Trult, Weatherford; Jacksboro station, P. W. Gravis; principal of Weatherford District High School, W. P. Wilson.

Stephensville Dist.—W. M. Monk, P. E. (postoffice, Liberty Hill.) Stephensville mission, N. F. Laws, Stephensville; North Bosque mission, Wiley V. Jones, Iradell; Paloxy circuit, S. D. Akin; Palo Pinto and Graham City, J. T. Graham, Palo Pinto; Comanche station, A. A. Cornett; Comanche circuit, H. J. McQuary, Comanche; Eastland mission, Levi H. Collin, Stephensville; Camp Colorado mission, Hugh Griffen; San Saba circuit, to be supplied by James A. King, San Saba; Rockvale and Fort Mason circuit, James D. Whitehead and J. R. Barden, Shovel Mountain; Hamilton mission, William E. Weaver; Fort Griffin, Hilliard B. Smith.

Transferred.—Thomas K. Leonard, transferred to the South Georgia Conference.

Superannuated.—Joseph P. Sneed, C. N. McGuire, Drury Womack, W. W. Thomas, J. M. Johnson, Benjamin A. Kemp.

VISITING COMMITTEES.

Texas University.—Oscar M. Addison, Sam. P. Wright, John R. Henry.

Waco Female College.—J. M. Pugh, Thomas Stanford, William G. Veal.

Owensville High School.—J. D. Shaw, Charles E. Brown, J. H. Bishop.

Marvin College.—William G. Connor, William L. Kidd, Hon. Judge Thomason.

Joint Board of Finance.—The clerical members for 1872-3 were reappointed on the joint board of finance.

Delegates to the General Conference.—Clerical: Thomas Stanford, William G. Veal, William Price, W. G. Connor. Reserves: J. S. McCarver, A. Davis. Lay: Colonel W. A. Fort, Rev. E. A. Martin, B. A. Philpott, J. H. Bishop. Reserves: D. S. Anglin, Rev. H. L. Taylor.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1873.

EARTH'S ANGELS.

I never saw an angel,
Except the ones in books;
I don't believe a mortal
Knows how an angel looks.
We guess at something misty,
With trailing wings of white,
With amber tresses floating,
And garments strangely bright.

But I believe earth's angels
Walk here in mortal guise,
Though we discern but faintly
Through heavy-lidded eyes,
Or see them as they leave us,
Who walked beside us here,
Their angelhood quite hidden
Because it lived so near.

I can remember angels
Who seemed like common folks;
Who wore old-fashioned bonnets,
And faded winter cloaks;
Who came when dire disaster
Crowned lesser home mishap,
Or younger claimants crowded
The dear maternal lap.

With curving arms wide open
To take the weary in,
With patient love to listen
To childish want or sin,
What better thing could angels
For childish sinners do,
Than listen to their story,
And bid them promise new?

I think of fireside angels,
Upon whose faded hair
There shone no crown of glory,
And yet the crown was there;
When tender love, true-hearted,
Forgave the wrongs it knew,
And patient voice gave answer
The days of trial through.

Ah, me! the childish angel
Who beckons as I write!
Perchance I should not know him
In mystic robe of white.
He wears a school boy's jacket,
And cap and boots, to me,
As when we walked at twilight,
His head against my knee.

There are dear mother angels;
We each perchance know one,
Whose robes of better glory
Are daily being spun,
With loving hands to guide us,
With loving speech to cheer,
Said I not well: Earth's angels
Walk daily with us here?

Our Best Deeds Are Not Sinful.

MR. EDITOR: We saw an article published in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE of November 7, taken from the Christian Treasury, written under the caption, "Sinfulness of Our Best Deeds." Now we cannot believe that our best deeds are sinful, because, if this be true, no living soul could be saved. We are taught in the word of God that in the day of judgment we will be judged accordiug to our works (see Second Corinthians v, 10:) "For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad." Now if all the Christian's best deeds be sinful, they are not good, but bad, and will be recognized as such by the Judge in the day of judgment, and dealt with accordiagly. And if so, no flesh on earth will be saved, for if the Christian is not saved, none on earth can be; and he cannot be saved if all his best deeds are sinful. (See also the twentieth chapter of the Book of Revelations 12, 13.) Here it is said also that in the day of judgment we will all be judged according to our works; and this is the teaching of the whole tenor of Scripture; and if so—if all our best deeds be sinful—we must all be lost, eternally lost. It will be vain to say that there is ample provision made in the gospel to cleanse the believer in Jesus from all sin, which is a Bible truth; but this provision in the gospel will profit us nothing unless it be applied to our guilty, polluted souls, so as to cleanse them from all sin, by faith in Jesus Christ, so as to enable us to do the good works of righteousness. When we are enabled "by grace, through faith," to do this, our best deeds are not sinful, but righteous. "Our holy services, our prayers, our good words, our good deeds, our praises, our worship, our breaking of bread at the table of the Lord," are not sinful, but righteous. And hence it is very clear that these our best deeds are not sinful, as the Christian Treasury would have us believe, but righteous and acceptable in the sight of God, and will be rewarded in the day of judgment. It is very true that base, hypocritical professors of religion may use all the above-named means of grace in a sinful way, so as to need pardon for all their unholy services, their unholy words and deeds, their unholy prayers and praises, their unholy "worship and breaking of bread at the table of the Lord." But not so with the true and honest Christian.

Neither is it true that the humble, penitent mourner, when coming to Christ, needs forgiveness for his act of coming, as the Christian Treasury states. We admit that the penitent sinner is guilty and condemned in the sight of God, and in a helpless condition. Outside the atonement made by Jesus Christ he can do nothing good—no, he could not live one moment. But, being a redeemed subject, he is embraced in the covenant of mercy, and under the gracious provision of the gospel he can, as a moral agent, perform acts that are not sinful, although he be a sinner himself. He can repent; and this is not a sinful act, because God has commanded him to do it, and surely God would not command a sinner to do a sinful act. He can believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and be saved, but this could not be so if his believing was a sinful act, because no sinner can be pardoned in the very act of sin.

Again, God commands all sinners to "seek him while he may be found, and call on him while he is near." Surely, then, it is not sinful for the penitent sinner to pray the prayer of the publican: "God be merciful to me, a sinner." Now this is God's plan of granting forgiveness, and our way of obtaining it, and when we seek God in this way, according to his own plan, our acts cannot be sinful, and need pardon. Hence we conclude that when a penitent sinner comes to Christ in his own appointed way, that his act of coming is not sinful, and consequently needs no forgiveness. And these the best acts of the sinner are not sinful, and need pardon. Because they are gracious acts, and not sinful acts, they proceed from grace, and not from sin. If it be true that Jesus Christ tasted death for every man, and that this grace hath appeared unto all men, it will follow that all men at some time during life have been or will be brought under its influence, so as to be convinced of sin, of righteousness and a judgment to come. While under this gracious influence they are penitent, and perform many good acts of mercy to their fellow-man, and have many good desires in their hearts to reform their lives, and be good men before they die, and have to stand before the judgment seat of Christ. Now we would ask: Are all these good desires and good acts of mercy sinful in themselves, and need pardon? We think not. Therefore we conclude that our best deeds are not sinful. JAMES SHANKS.

Scientific Preaching.

MR. EDITOR: We cannot commend too heartily the extract in your paper of the sixth instant upon this subject. Philosophy is more than arrogant in summoning Christianity before its tribunal, that its truths may be passed upon, and it is strange that the representatives of Christianity have not oftener exposed its want of jurisdiction. Napoleon, than whom there are none more profound, cited as one of the strongest evidences of the divinity of Jesus Christ that he borrowed absolutely nothing from philosophy.

It is remarkable that we find this profound reflection verified in Shakespeare. He is, among uninspired writers, the truest expounder of the human heart, yet he never philosophizes. He looked at human nature as if it were in a mirror before him, and wrote it down as he saw it, without ever asking the why or the wherefore.

The divinity of Jesus Christ knew that philosophy could never be made the expouent of the attributes of the soul, that wonderful part of our being which can express its emotions only through faith, and that links us to God and eternal life. Indeed the spheres of philosophy and Christianity are as different as matter and spirit. Philosophy has done much toward ameliorating the physical condition of man. Her creations are but little short of miracles, but her miracles are purely physical. She has never advanced a single step toward solving the great mystery of spiritual life. It has never been able to soothe a single sorrow. To the disconsolate, the despairing, the afflicted, or the terrors of death, it has never been able to offer anything but the sullen indifference of the stoic; and yet how great, how real is such a want! But this want it can never supply, because the exhibitions of the human soul—its joys, its sorrows, its thirst after immortality, its adoration, that irrepressible desire to worship something higher than itself, that consciousness of the life within, of its immortality, and, above all, the Christian's triumph in the presence of death, not only without fear, but with a joy unspeakable and full of glory—are all beyond the grasp of philosophy, beyond the realm of statistics. But to Jesus Christ they were all household words, and he has bound and united them all together in the simple story of the cross. At his touch every chord of human sorrow and human joy vibrated, as if swept by the hand of God, and will ever vibrate, unaided by philosophy, to the touch of the minister who tells the story of his gentleness, his meekness, his loving kindness, his melting sympathy and his redeeming love.

We honor philosophy, but we must ever adore Christianity, which, when philosophy is impotent to meet the ills and afflictions of life, rises above it, and takes by the hand the naked and hungry poor, and tells them that the fowls of the air are fed and the lilies of the field are clothed by One whose ever-watchful care is over them, and has numbered even the hairs of their heads; that can go to the mourning mother and tell that in her Father's house are many mansions, where bright angels live; that can go to the bedside of affliction and tell of a land where suffering never comes, and to the bedside of the dying, and tell them of a crown of everlasting life. R. J. B.

ALEXANDRIA, LA., November 15, 1873.

The Death of Luther.

On the seventeenth of February, 1546, his weakness increased visibly, so that he was advised to take rest, which he did. On the last evening, among other things, he answered the question whether believers would know each other in the future world by adducing the case of Adam, who immediately knew his wife to be bone of his bone and flesh of his flesh, because he was full of the Holy Ghost and of the knowledge of God. He then went to his room and prayed, as was his custom, especially for the church of his native land, but soon afterward complained of an oppressive sensation in the breast. He took the medicine which was given him, and at about eight o'clock laid himself upon his couch, saying: "If I could slumber a half hour it would, I hope, become better." He then slept quietly until ten o'clock, when he awoke and arose, saying as he entered his bed-room: "In the name of God, I retire to rest; into thy hands I commit my spirit; thou hast redeemed me, Lord God of truth." When he had retired to bed he extended his hand to all, bade them good-night, and said: "Dr. Jonas and M. Coelius and the rest of you, pray for our Lord God and his gospel, that it may prosper; for the Council of Trent and the odious Pope are greatly enraged against it."

As the clock struck one he awoke and said: "O Lord God, how ill I feel! Ah! dear Dr. Jonas, I believe I shall remain here at Eilesben, where I was born and baptized." He then went from his chamber to the room and repeated: "Into thy hands I commend my spirit; thou hast redeemed me, Lord God of truth." When perspiration had been produced by rubbing him with warm cloth, and his friends, especially the counts who had come in haste to visit him, expressed the hope that his condition would now improve, he said: "Yes, it is the cold sweat of death; I shall yield up my spirit, for the sickness grows worse." He then prayed in these words: "O my heavenly Father, the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, thou God of all consolation, I thank thee that thou hast revealed to me thy dear Son, Jesus Christ, in whom I believe, whom I have preached and confessed, whom I have loved and extolled, whom the pernicious Pope and all the ungodly dishonor, persecute and blaspheme. I pray thee, Lord Jesus Christ, receive my soul into thy care. O heavenly Father, although I must leave this body and be torn away from this life, I nevertheless know assuredly that I shall be with thee forever, and that no one can pluck me out of thy hands."

He also said further in Latin: "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."—John iii, 16; and the words of the sixty-eighth psalm: "He that is our God is the God of salvation, and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death." A physician having offered him a tonic, he took it and again said: "I pass away; I shall yield up my spirit;" after which he rapidly thrice repeated the words in Latin: "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit; thou hast redeemed me, Lord God of truth." He then lay quietly with folded hands and closed eyes. His friends spoke to him, but he returned no answer. Upon this, Jonas and Coelius addressed to him in loud tones the question: "Reverend father, are you willing to die in firm adherence to Christ and the doctrine which you have preached?" to which he answered so distinctly that all could hear it: "Yes." This was his last word. Having uttered this, he turned upon his right side and slept about a quarter of an hour. Some of those present again began to entertain hopes of his recovery, when his face became deathly pale; his hands and feet became cold; he drew one more deep, gentle breath, and yielded up his spirit into the hands of his faithful God in quiet resignation. He thus fell asleep in the Lord, gently and peacefully, after a last illness of only about seven hours, without disquietude, without pains of body or pangs of death, on the eighteenth of February, 1546, between two and three o'clock in the morning, in the sixty-third year of his pilgrimage on earth.—Fick's Life and Deeds of Martin Luther.

"Rock" and "Stone" as Names of Our Lord.

Rock, as a name of our Lord, denotes his divine nature. Stone, as his name, denotes his human nature.

We will give the proofs of this distinction.

In the New Testament Rock is the name of our Lord in these five instances: Matthew xvi, 18; Romans ix, 33; First Corinthians x, 4 (twice,) and First Peter ii, 8.

In First Corinthians x, 4 the name Rock must include our Lord's divine nature. This is undeniable, from the words themselves in the original: "They drank of the spiritual following Rock, and the Rock was Christ."

This Rock was Christ personally, and not figuratively. The personal Christ followed the Israelites in the wilderness. His person thus following them was spiritual, and, because following, was divine, as no human spirit could follow the journeying multitudes, and refresh their souls with spiritual food and drink.

In Romans ix, 33, and First Peter ii, 8, the Rock as a "foundation" is identical with Jesus Christ as "the Head of the corner of God's temple."—Ephesians ii, 20. But as this temple is the church universal in all ages, the corner foundation of this temple (Jesus Christ) must be divine, or he could not sustain the immense edifice.

Thus, in four of the five places where Rock as a person occurs in the New Testament, it is proved that this name denotes the divine nature of our Lord.

That the Rock in Matthew xvi, 18—the fifth place where Rock as a person is found—can be no other person than Jesus Christ is proved by this fact, and the law of interpretation establishes the fact: There are in the New Testament only the five places already mentioned where the word Rock indicates a person. In four of these places Jesus Christ is the person intended.

This fact creates this law: Jesus Christ, and no other person, must be meant in the fifth place, namely, in Matthew xvi, 18. The meaning of Rock in the four places controls and fixes the meaning of Rock in the only other place where the Rock personal is mentioned.

Thus the Rock in Matthew xvi, 18 cannot be Peter, but must be Jesus Christ himself. Usage demands this meaning, and permits no other.

That the Rock, Jesus Christ, in Matthew xvi, 18 is divine is proved by St. Peter's confession, which our Lord himself approved: "Thou art the Son of the living God."—Matthew xvi, 16.

We can now see that everywhere in the New Testament does the name Rock denote our Lord in his divine nature.

The proof that the name Stone, when applied to our Lord, denotes his human nature is brief and conclusive.

Christians are called "stones."—First Peter ii, 5. Since they are so called, the name Stone cannot denote our Lord as God, but must denote him in his humanity.

It was his human nature which made him to the unbelieving Jews "a stone of stumbling," and caused them to "refuse" him.

To this distinction between the names of Rock and Stone, when applied to our Lord, it is no objection that they are sometimes used in the same connection, as when he is called a "Stone of stumbling and a Rock of offense."—First Peter ii, 8. For this reason is the objection groundless. In the same connection is our Lord called Jesus and Christ, and yet the name Jesus denotes his human nature, while the name Christ may denote his divine nature, as it certainly does in these words of St. Peter: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God;" and also in those of Martha: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of God."

This distinction which the New Testament makes between our Lord's names of Rock and Stone is important, for these reasons:

1. The distinction demolishes the blasphemous assumption of the papists that Peter is the Rock on which Christ builds his church.

2. The distinction gives our Lord the Old Testament name of Rock, so often there used as an appellation of God.

Each Christian can now say: "Christ is the Rock of my heart and my portion forever."—Psalms lxxiii, 26.—Churchman.

Readings for Missionary Sunday.

"But he, willing to justify himself, said unto Jesus, Who is my neighbor? * * * And he said, He that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus, Go thou and do likewise."

"I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me, and they have received them, and have known that I come out from thee, and have believed that thou didst send me."

"I have given unto them thy word."

"As thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world."

"And Jesus came and spoke unto them and said, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore and teach all nations."

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also, and greater works than these shall he do, because I go unto my Father."

"For the love of Christ constraineth us, because we thus judge that if one died for all, then were all dead; and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them and rose again."

"God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself."

"We were allowed of God to put in trust with the gospel."

"At the name of Jesus every knee shall bow."

"No man liveth unto himself, and no man dieth unto himself."

"Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me. * * * Then will I teach transgressors thy ways, and sinners shall be converted unto thee."

"Behold, these shall come from far; and lo, these from the north and from the west, and these from the land of Sinim."

"Thus saith the Lord of hosts, It shall yet come to pass that there shall come people and the inhabitants of many cities; and the inhabitants of one city shall say to another, Let us go speedily to pray before the Lord and to seek the Lord of hosts; and I will go also."

"For from the rising of the sun even unto the going down of the same my name shall be great among the Gentiles; and in every place incense shall be offered unto my name and a pure offering; for my name shall be great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hosts."

"Will a man rob God? But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings."

"Whoso hath this world's good and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up the bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue, but in deed."

"Ye are not your own, for ye are bought with a price; therefore glorify God in your body and in your spirit, which are God's."

"Freely ye have received; freely give."

"Thy kingdom come."

ONLY TWO.—Only two ways. One broad, the other narrow; one leads to destruction, the other to life; many go by the one, few by the other. Which is your way?

Only two sorts of people. Many sorts in men's opinion; only two in God's sight—the righteous and the wicked, the wheat and the chaff, the living and the dead. Which are you?

Only two deaths—the death of the righteous and the death of the wicked. Which do you think you will die? Which would it be if you were to die this moment?

Only two sides at the day of judgment—the right hand and the left. Only these two. Those on the right hand will be blessed—"Come, ye blessed of my Father." Those on the left will be cursed—"Depart, ye cursed." All must appear before the judgment seat of Christ, to receive the things done in the body, whether good or bad. What words will be spoken to you?

Only two places after death—heaven and hell. The one happy, the other miserable. In the one will be heard forever songs of joy and praise; in the other, weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. God will be in the one, and angels and saints, and all the redeemed of the Lord; in the other, none but devils and lost souls. Which of these two will be your place? Which, if you were to die now?

THE United Presbyterian gives utterance to "a painful apprehension:" "At different times the Prince of Wales, who is the expected successor of Queen Victoria upon the throne in England, has been the occasion of anxiety to very many subjects of the kingdom. The latest is one just announced in the Rock, a very able Dissenting periodical. It is that he is in growing sympathy with the Ritualism that is widely and rapidly ripening, especially in England, into Romanism. Often of late he and the Princess Alexandra, his wife, are seen among the worshipers at All Saints', Margaret street, one of the most ritualistic of all the churches in London; and he is said to manifest an increasing interest in everything pertaining to the service and worship. Openly, also, the Roman Catholics are saying that, as mass was abolished by Edward the Fourth, so it will be re-established by Edward the Seventh.

THE shrewd authorities of St. Paul, Minnesota, propose to catch drunkards by tarred lamp-posts. One conspicuous post is estimated to be worth about ten constables.

Obituaries.

DIED, at Gosport, Alabama, October 29th, of erysipelas, SUSANNAH COALE, infant daughter of Henry and Adele Forwood, aged five weeks.

None but a mother can feel a mother's love; none but a mother can know a mother's sorrow. With what resignation can a Christian exclaim: "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord." A. E. BOOTH.

DIED, on the fourth of November, 1873, after a painful and lingering illness, little RADCLIFFE BOON, only son of Mr. Radcliffe R. Boon, of Franklin, Louisiana, aged six years and eight months.

Little Radcliffe was a bright and promising boy, always giving pleasure and sunshine to the now gloomy and weeping household. Having lived just long enough to entwine the affections and hopes of fond parents about him, God has taken him up to heaven, it may be, to attract hither those that loved him so.

AMICUS W. WILLIAMS.

ELIZABETH MILLER, wife of J. Miller, died in Shelby county, Alabama, some weeks since. She embraced religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South in her eighteenth year. For twelve or fourteen years she was a faithful and zealous Christian. She had on the wedding garment, and was prepared to go hence and be with Jesus. She had earthly ties, such as a husband, children and parents, to bind her to earth. The grace of God was sufficient in the hour of death, so that by faith in Christ she was more than conqueror. Her loved ones are sad, but not without hope, for they feel assured that their irreparable loss is her everlasting gain. May those who still survive prepare to meet her in that bright and happy world.

R. G. RAGAN.

MRS. LAURETTA REYNOLDS, wife of Thomas R. Reynolds, of Franklin, Louisiana, departed this life November 19, 1873, after three months of severe suffering, under which "patience had its perfect work."

Sister Reynolds was of pious parentage—was reared in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, had given herself to the Lord, and was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. As her pastor I visited her the day before her death, and found her peaceful, meek and resigned to her heavenly Father's will. While singing for her comfort, "How firm a foundation," etc., she sang with us till her strength of voice failed. In her last moments she seemed to be much enraptured with what she conceived to be visions of heaven and the angels. Leaving affectionate and most comforting messages for her absent husband, she died as if falling asleep.

A. W. WILLIAMS, Pastor.

ST. JOSEPH CT., DELHI DISTRICT.

On motion of Rev. P. H. Dieffenwierth the following resolutions were unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

Resolved, That the following tribute of respect be recorded in the minutes of this Quarterly Conference:

It is with heartfelt sorrow that we have heard of the death of our beloved and esteemed brother, R. N. HERBERT. He removed from the State of Tennessee to the parish of Tensas, in this State, in January, 1873, and died, while on a visit to his native State, in the month of October. During his short residence among us he proved himself the efficient Christian gentleman. We will miss him. He held a high place in our Christian regards.

Resolved, That the New Orleans and Nashville Christian Advocates be requested to publish the above resolutions. J. E. CONN, P. E.

J. M. DIEFFENWIERTH, Sec.

Nashville Christian Advocate please publish.

DIED, at the residence of her mother, in Vernon parish, Louisiana, August 27, 1873, Miss L. J. GERMAN, aged twenty-one years, three months and eighteen days.

Sister German joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South at a protracted meeting held by Revs. J. M. Franklin, and Tanner, a local preacher, since which time she continued a consistent member of the church, and a regular attendant at Sabbath school as teacher, and also member of the Bible class. She bore her afflictions with patience and fortitude, and expressed a clear evidence of her acceptance with God. After a severe illness of nine days she fell asleep in Jesus, leaving a bereaved, widowed mother, one brother and two sisters to follow on when the Lord calls. Doubtless her illness and death have induced several of her young associates to go to Christ, and find him in conversion at our recent Holly Grove revival, wherein the Lord has shown much of his glory in converting and reviving the church. H. L. S.

MRS. MARY A. SMILIE, relict of Jacob Smilie, and whose maiden name was Cameron, was born in North Carolina in 1805, and died in Baker county, Alabama, September 25, 1873.

Sister Smilie was raised in the Presbyterian faith, and although she became a Christian when quite young, she did not join the church until the year 1845, when she became a very devoted and much-esteemed member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and so continued until her triumphant death on the above date. She was the much-loved mother of eleven children, six of whom live to mourn her loss, and these all carry the impress of a mother indeed upon their character. "They arise up and call her blessed," as well in their lives as with their lips. They are all highly respected members of the church of her choice, and one of them (the Rev. Robert Smilie) a very worthy member of the Alabama Conference. Her home was a delightful retreat to all ministers of the gospel and to all the good that passed that way. May the mantle of her piety and usefulness rest upon her children and many grandchildren, and may they all emulate her godly example, and meet her in the home of the good.

B. F. BLOW.

MISS ELIZABETH FOREMAN, the subject of this memoir, was born in St. Landry parish, Louisiana, July 16, 1826, and died August 24, 1873. Her maiden name was Foreman. Her father was one of the old school Methodists, and, being a class-leader for many years, it is reasonable to suppose his children were well trained. Sister Foreman was not only a professor but a possessor, from what we can learn from those who were always acquainted with her, of the old-fashioned religion for thirty-three years. She delighted in the class meeting, where she always found the Savior precious to her soul, and gave him praise from a feeling sense of his presence. It was my fortune to make her acquaintance at her home the last week-day she ever saw, just four weeks before she died, and I was much pleased with her earnestness and religious conversation.

She was married in early life to Emanuel Foreman, and settled in what is now Vermilion parish, near Kimball chapel, where she lived and held her membership until she died. She was the mother of thirteen children, twelve of whom, with the father, live to mourn her loss; but not as those having no hope. When the hour arrived for her departure she met it with exclamations of joy and triumph. A. MCPHATTER.

THOMAS J. HOPKINS was born in Wilkes county, Georgia, September 12, 1809. He was married to Miss Nancy Norman, January 20, 1831. He professed religion in October after his marriage, and united himself to the Baptist Church. In 1848 he removed to this State, and located near this village. In 1851 he united with our branch of the church of Christ, under Rev. Alexander Goodwyn. He was preparing to attend the Beulah camp meeting at the time of his death. He was very anxious to occupy his old tent there, and said he "would do it if he lived, though the worm should destroy all his year's labor." He closed his earthly career September 24, 1873, just ten days before the published time of said meeting. His death was sudden and unexpected; and although nothing was said at the time of his departure about his peace, yet his family and friends feel confident that their loss is his gain.

JAMES E. BRADLEY.

MISS LOUISIANA G., daughter of Bro. T. J. and Nancy Hopkins, was called away a few days after the death of her father, viz.: September 29, 1873. She was born in this State, March 22, 1853. She joined the church at Pleasant Hill in August, 1870, and was converted at Beulah campground in October, 1871.

Her illness was short and severe; but death did not find her unprepared. She expressed herself ready, and desired her brother to sing:

"Jesus can make a dying bed Soft as downy pillows are."

She joined in the singing, but her voice soon failed her. Then, requesting all to meet her in heaven, she passed away.

JAMES E. BRADLEY.

PLEASANT HILL, LA., November, 1873.

REV. JOHN CARROLL was born August 5, 1795, in Adams county, Mississippi, and died in Jackson parish, Louisiana, on the first day of November, 1873. He lived to the good old age of seventy-eight years, two months and twenty-seven days.

He was a member of the Methodist Church for fifty years. He found peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ one year before he had an opportunity of connecting himself with the church, and during that time he erected the family altar, on which holy incense burned unto the Lord until he saw fit to call his servant from labor to reward, unless in cases of illness; and at times he had to be assisted from his knees on account of bodily affliction. He was a soldier in the war of 1812, and was in the fighting around New Orleans in 1815.

He was among the first ministers to preach the glad tidings of salvation to dying men and women in these regions, and he deserves more honor as a faithful soldier of the cross than is any other way, as he was a local preacher without reproach or stain on his character, official or private, for thirty years. He was faithful to his commission until disease brought him down. For four years he endured affliction as only those who wait for the appearing of their Master can. I had the privilege of knowing him, and it was truly refreshing to talk with a man who walked with God and whose conversation was in heaven, from whence he continually looked for the Lord, who had loved him and had washed him in his own blood. He seemed to be buried to this world and alive only to Jesus, and one could see in him the spirit of his Master by his daily walk. A short time before his death, as I sat by his bedside, he was in ecstasies of joy to think he was nearing the place where there would be no more pain, disease or death, and he said to me: "Bud, I'll never grow old, but will always be young;" and as he talked he wept for joy. Among his last words were that he had been laboring a long time for a home in heaven, and now he was going to reap the reward. The door was open; he had been with Jesus. His was truly a life of prayer, and he could be heard talking with God in his room when he was not able to retire to his usual place. Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints. May his children serve their father and mother's God, and make an unbroken family in heaven.

PHILIP ALLEN.

IN OLDEN TIMES in New Hampshire military titles were held in higher respect than at the present day. Some years ago an officer, who had been promoted to a colonelcy, on being met by a thoughtless young man, was accosted:

"Good-morning, major."

"Major, sir?" returned the hero; "colonel, if you please, and tell your father also."

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1873.

BY THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH

I like not lady-slippers,
Nor yet the sweet-pea blossoms,
Nor yet the flaky roses,
Red or white as snow;
I like the chalice lilies,
The heavy Eastern lilies,
The gorgeous tiger-lilies
That in our garden grow!

For they are tall and slender;
Their mouths are dashed with carmine
And when the wind sweeps by them
On their emerald stalks
They bend so proud and graceful—
They are Circassian women,
The favorites of the Sultan,
Adown our garden-walks!

And when the rain is falling
I sit beside the window
And watch them glow and listen,
How the horn and glow!
O for the burning lilies,
The tender Eastern lilies,
The gorgeous tiger-lilies,
That in our garden grow!

Man and the Evolution Theory.

St. George Mivart, F. R. S., an eminent English naturalist, has contributed two powerful articles to the Popular Science Review, exposing the fallacy of Mr. Darwin's claim that man is descended from the ape. We extract the following admirable summary of the bearing of the facts which he adduces:

"Man being, as the mind of each man will tell him, an existence not only conscious, but conscious of his own consciousness; one not only acting on inference, but capable of analyzing the process of inference; a creature not only capable of acting well or ill, but of understanding the ideas 'virtue' and 'moral obligation,' with their correlatives, freedom of choice and responsibility—man being all this, it is at once obvious that the principal part of his being is his mental power.

"In nature there is nothing great but man,
In man there is nothing great but mind.

"We must entirely dismiss, then, the conception that mere anatomy by itself can have any decisive bearing on the question as to man's nature and being as a whole. To solve this question, recourse must be had to other studies—that is to say, to philosophy, and especially to that branch of it which occupies itself with mental phenomena—psychology.

"But if man's being as a whole is excluded from our present investigation, man's body, considered by itself, his mere massa corporea, may fairly be compared with the bodies of other species of his zoological order, and his corporeal affinities thus estimated.

"Let us suppose ourselves to be purely immaterial intelligences, acquainted only with a world peopled like our own, except that man had never lived on it, yet into which the dead body of a man had somehow been introduced.

"We should, I think, consider such a body to be that of some latisternal ape, but of one much more widely differing from all the others than such others differ one from another among themselves. We should be especially struck with its vast brain, and we should be the more impressed by it when we noted how bulky was the body to which that brain belonged. We should be so impressed because we should have previously noted that, as a general rule, in backboned animals, the larger the bulk of the body the less the relative size of the brain. From our knowledge of the habits and faculties of various animals in relation to their brain structure, we should be led to infer that the animal man was one possessing great power of co-ordinating movements, and that his emotional sensibility would have been considerable. But, above all, his powers of imagination would have been deemed by us to have been prodigious, with a corresponding faculty of collecting, grouping and preserving sensible images of objects in complex and coherent aggregations to a degree much greater than in any other animal with which we were before acquainted. Did we know that all the various other kinds of existing animals had been developed one from another by evolution; did we know that the numerous species had been evolved from potential to actual existence by implanted powers in matter, aided by the influence of incident forces; then we might reasonably argue by analogy that a similar mode of origin had given rise to the exceptional being, the body of which we were examining.

"If, however, it were made clear to us—immaterial intelligences—that the dead body before us had been, in life, animated not by a merely animal nature, but by an active intelligence like our own, so that the difference between him and all other animals was not a difference of degree, but of kind—if we could be made to understand that its vast power of collecting and grouping sensible images served but to supply it with the materials made use of by its intelligence to perceive not merely sensible phenomena, but also abstract qualities of objects—if we became aware that the sounds uttered by it in life were not exclusively emotional expressions, but signs of general conceptions (such as predominate in the language of even the lowest savage,) then the aspect of the question would be entirely altered for us.

"We should probably decide that if the body before us seemed to us to be so little related to the informing rational soul, that its existence anterior to and independent of such rational soul was quite conceivable and possible, then its origin by process of natural evolution would, indeed, also be conceivable and, indeed, a priori probable.

"But if, on the other hand, we were convinced, from whatever reason, that it was inconceivable and impossible for such a body to be developed, or exist without such informing soul, then we should with perfect reason and logic affirm that as no natural process would account for the entirely different kind of soul—one capable of articulately expressing general conceptions—so no merely natural process could account for the origin of the body informed by it—a body to which such an intellectual faculty was so essentially and intimately related.

"Dropping now the metaphor of immaterial spirits, it seems that the answers supposed to be given by such spirits must be the answers really given by sincere and unbiased investigators in the combined spheres of zoology and anthropology.

"But however near to apes may be the body of man, whatever the kind or number of resemblances between them, it should always be borne in mind that it is to no one kind of ape that man has any special or exclusive affinities—that the resemblances between him and lower forms are shared in not very unequal proportions by different species; and be the preponderance of resemblance in which species it may, whether in the chimpanzee, the siamang or the orang, there can be no question that at least such preponderance of resemblance is not presented by the much-vaunted gorilla, which is no less a brute and no more a man than is the humblest member of the family to which it belongs."

Diagoras and his Sons.

In the histories of Greece we often find something said about the "games." These games were very different from boy's play. They were rather what we should now call athletic or manly sports. Only men or quite grown-up youths were permitted to take part in them. It required a great deal of strength and skill, and a great deal of practice, too, to be a victor in any of them. The foot-races were the chief, but there were also contests in wrestling and throwing the quoit; and afterward there was a chariot-race.

Those who took part in these contests had to be trained under a master for ten months before the time for holding the games. Only native-born Greeks were allowed to engage in them, and they were required to be men of honorable parentage and good character. Neither were they allowed to use any unfair means to win the victory; if they did, they were most severely punished.

Now we may imagine the foot-racers waiting for the signal to start. They have laid aside their garments, that nothing may hinder them or trip them up in running, and they stand in a row, every foot forward, every eye fixed, every thought set upon winning the crown. Hark! the trumpet sounds, and they are off. How the people crowd and press forward, but the racers heed them not. Now they shout aloud to encourage them, and now they laugh at one who has fallen and is left behind, but the others take no notice. They stop for nothing, turn aside for nothing, do not even look on one side, for they know that a single false step may lose the race. And now they are getting near the goal where the judge sits, and the first who passes that seat wins the prize. Many are lagging behind, only three seem likely to win, and they are very close to each other. But see, one of them with a tremendous effort—how the people all cheer him!—springs forward and is first. The others try to pass him, but in vain. Another moment, and amidst still louder shouts he reaches the goal.

Now he receives the palm-branch in token of his victory, and his friends and relations crowd around him and embrace him with tears of joy.

When the winners return to their native cities new honors will greet them, and the people will come out to meet them with shouts and songs of triumph.

At one of these games a very affecting scene occurred. The sons of an old man named Diagoras, who had himself in days gone by been a victor, came to contend for a prize. Both won the crown made of olive-leaves. With joy the old man pressed forward to greet them, and as they embraced him they took their crowns from their own heads and placed them on his. Then lifting him on their shoulders, as if he were the victor, they carried him along the race-ground in triumph. The people greeted them with loud shouts, for the Greeks honored old age, and they honored the sons who put such honor upon their father. "Die now, Diagoras," they cried, "for thou hast nothing more to wish for." And so it came to pass, for the joy of the triumph was too much for the old man, and, dropping his head upon the shoulder of his eldest-born, he died in his arms.

There is a nobler, better crown for us to win, and which all of us may win; but the course is not a short one, which may be run in a few minutes; it lasts our whole lifetime, and is not ended till we die. It begins when we earnestly and with all our hearts resolve to serve God and walk in his ways; it finishes when we enter eternal glory.

And what a glorious crown it is which is offered to us to win! No fading wreath of olive! No, nor worldly wealth, nor honor, but a crown of righteousness, a crown of triumph with Christ. Earthly fame as well as earthly crowns must perish, but this endures forever, for it is a crown of glory that fadeth not away.

Who would not strive to win this crown? To have the approval of Christ and the Judge, and receive the palm, and the robe, and the crown from his hands? These Greeks strove for a corruptible crown, but we for an incorruptible. They were self-denying and patient, and earnest to win honor from men; we seek to win the approval of God. Before us lies the course—the narrow way that leadeth unto life; and here at the end of it sits our gracious Savior and Lord, who encourages us by his kind words, and holds out for us the prize. He too will also help us in the race, and none who run in it faithfully shall lose the crown. "Let us, therefore, run with patience the race set before us, looking unto Jesus."—From "Heroes and Great Men of Old."

THE doctrine that God is the object of certain and true knowledge lies at the foundation of all religion, and therefore must never be given up.

The Roman Love of Perfumery.

The Grecian love of perfumes, together with the national skill in compounding them, was inherited by the Romans, and the simple bunch of vervain or sage, which in early times used to be hung over the doorway of a house to counteract the evil eye, soon became only the rude symbol of a perfected art. The barber's trade was a flourishing one, and the art of perfumery joined hands with it; but the stern old Roman spirit was not subdued to the effeminacy of sweet scents without a struggle, and both L. Crassus and Julius Cæsar, wishing to restrain the excess to which the passion had risen in their days, promulgated an edict to forbid the sale in Rome of all foreign compositions, comprising under this head every kind of odoriferous mixture. It was of no good; for the young Romans had taken the taste and had adopted the habit of lavishly scenting themselves, and prohibitory laws simply made indulgence more costly, but not a whit more restrained. Under the emperors the taste grew so that there was no longer the semblance of restraint. Everything and every person was scented, from the palace walls to the water of the baths, from the lady to her slaves, the soldier to his flag, and down to the very dogs and horses. Of course all religious ceremonies were accompanied by burnt incense and sweet perfumes in wine and oil and precious unguents; so likewise in the funeral rites, where, first, cremation and then the deposition of the loved ashes in the funeral urn were occasions for the large use of perfumed woods, essential oils, aromatic herbs, and the like. When Poppæa died, Nero lavished on her funeral more incense than Arabia could supply in ten years. But then Nero was immoderately fond of perfumes, as he was immoderate in all else. In his golden palace he had the rarest device of ivory leaves which shed flowers and scents over his guests; and in a fete which he gave on the shores of Baiæ, the expense for roses alone is said to have been equal to about twenty thousand pounds of our money. But indeed almost all the emperors had the same passionate delight in perfumes; though perhaps Caligula, Nero, Heliogabalus and Otho were the most notorious, and did the wildest things in that way. The Roman perfumers became, as time went on, a large body, and a famous one. They lived in the quarter called Vicus Thurarius; and at Capua the principal street was almost entirely devoted to them. Their art entered into everything connected with the toilet; and there was no part of the body which the perfumer of his day did not undertake to render beautiful forever by the aid of his medicaments. Pastilles for the breath, composed chiefly of myrrh and the lentiscus; ointments to keep the limbs supple and the skin smooth—simple for young girls—that is, containing one perfume only, as rose, quince, bitter almond, narcissus, crocus; but for matrons complex, containing many ingredients; dyes for the hair, now for golden tresses and now for raven; with many other things beside—all belonged to the Rimmels of their time; and never was the art of the perfumer in higher esteem or more lavishly rewarded than in the days when the Roman matron sat on the throne of feminine power, and united the grace of Greece with her own graver, sterner dignity.—Every Saturday.

THE comic papers of Vienna are filled with satires of the fabulous prices put on things in that city since the opening of the exposition. One represents a stranger stalking away naked from a restaurant, where he has left purse and garments in payment for a dinner; another shows a waiter bringing a bill about ten feet long, and the guest, in despair, jumping out of the window; another has a waiter—an exquisite picture of supercilious condescension—saying:

"Here's a glass of water, sir!" while the alarmed and embarrassed stranger replies:

"I'd like to have one, but—really—I'm afraid I can't afford it."

Some of the dialogues represent the waiter as adding five or ten kreutzers after every dish, in order to "round off," or make even sums, while another, after counting a small piece of boiled beef at one florin, asks the guest:

"Was it good?"

And when the latter answers "Yes," adds, "One florin more!"

AN OLD LADY who was in the habit of declaring, after the occurrence of any event, that she had predicted it, was one day cleverly "sold" by her worthy spouse, who, like many others we wot of, had got tired of hearing her eternal "I told you so." Rushing into the house, breathless with excitement, he dropped into a chair, elevated his hands, and exclaimed: "Oh! my dear! what do you think? The old cow has gone and eaten up our grindstone!" The old lady was ready, and, hardly waiting to hear the last word, she screamed out at the top of her lungs: "I told you so! I told you so! You always would let it stand out of doors."

THE JOURNEY OF LIFE.—Ten thousand human beings set forth together on their journey. After ten years one-third at least have disappeared. At the middle point of the common measure of life but half are still upon the road. Faster and faster, as the rank grows thinner, they that remain till now become weary, and lie down to rest no more. At threescore and ten a band of some four hundred still struggle on. At ninety these have been reduced to a handful of thirty trembling patriarchs. Year after year they fall in diminishing numbers. One lingers, perhaps, a lonely marvel, till the century is over. We look again and the work of death is finished.—Economist.

HE THAT would be angry and sin not, must not be angry with anything but sin.—Secker.

The Death of Dr. Candlish.

The Scotch papers are filled with biographical notices of Dr. Candlish, who died on Sunday night, October 19, at twenty minutes before twelve, aged sixty-seven. One of them, in giving a record of his last illness, says that a serious change took place in his condition on Saturday evening, and that death was momentarily expected. Dr. Benjamin Bell, his medical adviser, and one of the elders of his congregation, was in attendance from midnight till early on Sunday morning, and throughout the whole of Sunday the members of the family kept watch at the bedside. So great was his state of prostration on Saturday evening, and up to the time of his decease, that he was unable to speak or recognize his relatives, and a slight motion of the head was the only indication that he understood the remarks of those around. For some hours previous to his death he was in a state of semi-consciousness, and passed tranquilly away at about a quarter of an hour before midnight. During his last illness he spoke with perfect freedom of his approaching departure. Abounding strength and comfort sustained him in his closing days. "Pray for me," he said; "I don't desire deep experiences or great raptures. I just wish to rest on facts—the facts that Christ died and that Christ is mine." A writer in the Edinburg Daily Review says: "The great intellect continued clear almost to the end, and his comfort and peace of soul never for a moment weakened. If the mind now and then wandered for a little toward the close, it was in fancied occupation with college or pastoral work, but ever returning to the prevailing and welcome thought that he was 'going home,' and that it was very near. The fears of the act of dying which he used in former years to express, and which he shared with many of our best men, never came near him; and so the grand old man fell asleep." London Christian World.

A LETTER from Mexico city, says the Independent, addressed to the Herald and Presbyter, by a lay member of the Mexican mission, denies the statement made some time since in regard to outrages perpetrated in Puebla upon Protestant worshipers in that city, and says that Dr. Butler sent a messenger to ascertain the state of the case, who could find no ground for this report. It was afterward found that, although there had been some difficulty, it had not been of a serious character. The writer goes on to say: "As the president, Mr. Lerdo, has thus far done all in his power to enforce the reform laws, which give protection to all classes of worship, it is but just that the statement referred to should be modified." In the Missionary Advocate Dr. Butler reports favorable progress in the city of Pachuca, in which the Mexican congregation has doubled during the quarter, and gives us the general statistics of his mission at present. "Three Sunday schools, with 8 officers and teachers and 47 scholars, a small increase, with 10 scholars in the day school; 2 English congregations in Mexico and Pachuca, with a regular attendance of 105 persons; 7 Mexican congregations, with an average attendance as follows: In Mexico, San Fernando 12, San Felipa 18, at the Mission House, 40. In Pachuca 70, Real del Monte 19, Orizaba 20, Miraflores 40. Total attendance 219, an increase of nearly 40 per cent. in the quarter. Two class meetings have a weekly attendance of 39 Mexicans and English.

ONE of the most prosperous churches in this city (New York) is the Church of the Strangers, of which Dr. Deems is the pastor. It occupies the building formerly owned by the Presbyterians on Mercer street, which was purchased and presented to Dr. Deems by Commodore Vanderbilt. The church is attached to no denomination. Its organization is very simple; a council of seven persons, nominated by the pastor, being the governing body. All who profess and call themselves Christians are admitted, and letters from any church which bears the Christian name are accepted without questioning. The church, which holds from one thousand two hundred to one thousand five hundred people, is crowded twice every Sunday; the social meetings are largely attended; and there are two benevolent societies—one of young women, who call themselves "The Sisters of the Stranger," and one of young men, called "The Fraternals"—both of which are efficient in their labors for those classes in the neighborhood which are most in need of Christian influences. The success of this church shows clearly that down-town churches are needed, and may be sustained if rightly managed. The affairs of few churches in this city are managed more economically than those of the Church of the Strangers, and there are very few, we imagine, that are more successful in Christian work.—Independent.

THE Advance, speaking of an article in the last Overland Monthly, on "Wine-Making in California," says it "is to us most unpleasantly suggestive of that sure harvest of woe which these wine-makers and brandy distillers are preparing. The 'mocker' will, in the end, do that glorious State but little good. Already it appears that 'light wines' are but a bait to the brandies. The writer says that 'a small still should be attached to every vineyard.' A fine prospect for the next generation of Californians, with a distillery at every farm-house!"

TAKE TIME.—Pastors, take time. Be patient with your people. Teach them cautiously. Scolding, as a rule, is damaging. Do not stone the sheep. Feed them. Do not rebuke much, but instruct. You cannot set a whole church to work in a minute. But keep steadily working in that direction. Ply the truth to them vigorously. Stir up on all sides. Study adaptation—that is, set each man at what he is adapted to do. Even a strong man, out of his adaptation, is weak.

Scientific.

MR. CHAPMAN, Mr. Rutherford's photographer and mechanician, is now engaged in ruling "gratings" of fine lines, about six thousand five hundred to the inch, on polished speculum metal. They give diffraction spectra far more brilliant and better defined than those obtained by similar plates ruled on glass, and may for some purposes supersede the prism in spectroscopes.

CAMELS IN NEVADA.—The Virginia City Enterprise says that a train of over a dozen camels recently arrived in that city, having journeyed from the Carson River valley, below Dayton. These "ships of the desert" were loaded with hay, in bales, for Adams' hay yard, on North D street. The huge, ungainly beasts presented quite a picturesque appearance as they filed into town with their cumbrous freight. Upon arriving at the hay yard, at the word of command, they all knelt down to be relieved of their loads. These animals appear to thrive quite as well in this country as in the wilds of Sahara. There is an abundance of deserts here, if they are necessary to the comfort of the beast.

A BEAM OF LIGHT DIRECTED UPON THE LUNGS.—Beautiful as well as useful are the inter-relations of the different sciences. For instance, it is a well-known fact in surgery that when air gets into the tissues, in consequence of a perforation of the lung by a punctured rib, it does not excite putrefaction or suppuration, as it is apt to do when it acts on an external wound. In a letter to the London Times Prof. Tyndall has connected with this fact his interesting and valuable observation, by means of a beam of light, that air expelled from the lungs by a forced expiration contains no floating particles, and considers that together these facts afford a complete demonstration that germs in the air, removable by filtration, are the cause of putrefaction and its associated phenomena of animalcular life.

DR. WAGHORN BEGBIE advocates the use of turpentine in the severe headache to which nervous and hysterical women are subject. He says: "There is another class of sufferers from headache, composed of both sexes, who may be relieved by turpentine. I refer to the frontal headache, which is most apt to occur after prolonged mental effort, but may likewise be induced by unduly sustained physical exertion—what may be styled the headache of a fatigued brain. A cup of very strong tea often relieves this form of headache; but this remedy, with not a few, is perilous, far, bringing relief to pain, it may produce general restlessness, and, worst of all, banish sleep. Turpentine, in doses of twenty or thirty minims, given at intervals of an hour or two, will not only remove the headache, but produce, in a wonderful manner, that soothing influence to which reference has already been made."

PAPER FROM CORN HUSKS.—It is said that the German paper manufacturers have of late been very successful in the production of paper and cloth from corn husks. The husks are first boiled with an alkali in tubular boilers; as a result of which the fibers of the husks are found at the bottom of the boiler in a spongy condition, filled with gelatinous substance or dough, which latter is pressed out from the fibers by hydraulic process, leaving the fiber in the shape of longitudinal threads, interspersed with a dense mass of short fiber. Linen that is made from the long fibers is said to furnish a very good substitute for the coarser kinds of flax and hemp, while it is superior to jute, gunny cloth, and the like. The paper, for which mostly the short fibers are used—the long fibers being employed for spinning—is stronger than the paper of the same weight from linen or cotton rags, and is hard and firm in grain. It is very durable, and can be made extremely transparent, without sacrificing any portion of its strength. The yield of the husks employed for the purpose is said to be thirty per cent. of fiber, ten of gelatine and sixty of dough.

MELTEN OVER.—I stood in the foundery yard. Great piles of iron, all ready for the melting, were gathered there. I noticed one heap of columns, broken, bent, split, shattered.

I went into the foundery. They were "tapping" the furnace, and the molten metal flowed out in one stream of fire, sending up a sputter of sparks whiter than the stars. A row of men, on whose swarthy faces fell the strange glare of the fire, stood a little way from the furnace to catch the iron in ladles and carry it off to be run in the molds.

I knew those broken columns would some day be cast into the furnace, softened, melted, to run out in a stream of fire, and be molded again in tall, shapely pillars. In no other way could they be of use. They must be melted over.

That very afternoon I saw a mother all bent and broken by affliction. She had parted with an only child. Just the Sabbath before had the earth been broken for that child's grave. I pitied that mother. How keenly her Savior felt for her! And yet perhaps the only way to reach some elements in that mother's character, and change them, was through affliction. The character was not worthless; far from it. It only needed melting over. Oh! the pain of that furnace of suffering, its smart, its agony! But in just this way is character sometimes made over, its qualities shaped into the strong, stately pillars sustaining the interests of the Redeemer's kingdom.

May grace be given to all who stand in the furnace, and above the roars of its fires may they hear a voice saying: "I have chosen thee in the furnace of affliction."—The Christian Treasury.

MRS. STANTON says if American girls would only work hard at some useful occupation they would develop into the most beautiful women in the world.

Religious Intelligence.

THE Presbyterian church at South Charleston pays its minister his salary every week, a good example.

A CURIOSITY has been added to the Pacific Methodist College cabinet in the shape of a six-inch shell found in Captain Jack's cave—the gift of Hon. J. K. Luttrell.

MRS. JAMES B. COLGATE, daughter of the late Governor Colby, has given the New London Seminary, in which he was so deeply interested, the handsome sum of $25,000.

REV. DR. FITZGERALD reports fine progress in church and college affairs at Santa Rosa, California. Recently six persons were received into the church, and the college roll shows 216 matriculates.

REV. FRANCIS HOWARTH, one of the Wesleyan brethren who joined the North Mississippi Conference a year ago, is to be transferred by Bishop Doggett to California, and placed in charge of our church in Gilroy.

BISHOP DOGGETT dedicated the church at Hollister, California, on Sunday, November 9. There was a large audience present, and a collection amounting to more than $600 was raised—much more than was needed to pay the debt on the building.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH, in Rome, required for its erection 176 years, and to complete the structure an additional 121 years. It cost $50,000,000 in gold. An idea of its vast dimensions may be conveyed by the statement that it covers eight acres of ground.

THE Pacific Methodist, in speaking of Bishop Doggett's departure from California, says: "The Bishop has many lovers here. All who came near him were won by his gentle courtesy and Christian bearing. He is the preacher, par excellence. His visit will be long remembered."

MR. JAMES BROWN gives $300,000 to complete the endowment of the professorship called by his name in the Union Theological Seminary, New York. The Rev. Dr. William Adams is to take this chair, and be at the same time president of the institution. Dr. Adams will grace any position he will assume.

A GOOD GIFT.—At the late session of the Indiana Conference Bishop Bowman stated that a generous Methodist layman had requested him to draw on him for $1,000, to be used in small sums to help build plain churches in destitute places. He had already drawn for $600. To his certain knowledge this $600 had been instrumental in raising $12,000 more.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Holston Methodist says: "The Southern Methodists have almost a monopoly of this section of the city, though the Baptists have a people here. The Northern Methodists have very little foothold here, as well as in the city generally. There are many Yankees in the city, but they do not much incline to the Methodist Episcopal Church. The day is coming when South Chattanooga will be one of the best stations in the Conference."

THE London Hour says it has trustworthy information that, by a privately expressed wish of Pius the Ninth, the cardinals have been in consultation, and selected Cardinal Pecci, Archbishop of Perugia, for the next Pope. He was born in 1810, and became a cardinal in 1853, is a hard-working bishop, is called an ultramontane, but would no doubt live on terms of amity with the Italian government. Even the free-thinkers of Italy greatly respect Cardinal Pecci.

THERE are those who say that their success amounted to but little. A missionary and an old colonel of the army happened to be traveling home from India in company. The colonel protested that in thirty years he had not seen a single converted Hindoo. The missionary held his peace for a time, and when, shortly afterward, the colonel began to talk with great gusto about his hunting exploits, particularly about the number of elephants he had shot, the missionary protested that he had spent thirty years in India, and had never once seen an elephant shot.

A SUMMARY of the receipts of the various national benevolent societies and institutions for 1872-3 is given by Mr. Lewis E. Jackson at $7,071,837.41, or, omitting the "sales" of the American Bible Society, American Tract Society and the American Sunday School Union, he sets down the total contributions to forty-four leading benevolent organizations at $6,055,734.49, or "about $6,000,000 in round numbers." But we notice that the "sales" of some of the denominational publication societies are evidently included in their total receipts, and are not distinguished in the table from their benevolent receipts, as are the "sales" in the reports of the three prominent union societies above named. Hence a larger deduction must be made from Mr. Jackson's summary, probably amounting to from $500,000 to $700,000, to get the exact amount of benevolent receipts by the national religious societies.

ARE YOU READY?—Rev. Dr. Kidd was a Scotch minister of some prominence, and very eccentric, and one who had his own way of doing things. One of his parishioners says: "I was busy in my shop, when, in the midst of my work, in stepped the doctor. 'Did you expect me?' was his abrupt inquiry, without even waiting for a salutation. 'No,' was my reply. 'What if I had been Death?' he asked, when at once he stepped out as abruptly as he came, and was gone almost before I knew it."

What a question! What a thought for every one of us! Does not Death come to most, if not to all, as unexpectedly as this? And does not the inquiry impress the lesson from our Savior's lips: "Be ye also ready; for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of man cometh."—American Messenger.

WHEN a fault is discovered it is well to look up a virtue to bear it company.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1873.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, Publisher.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. Harp, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. Linus Parker, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Agents—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. A. J. BRIGGS.
REV. J. W. RUSH.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. WILLIAM V. TUDOR, D. D.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

REDUCTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers hereafter at the following rates:

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year | $2 00 |
| Six Months | 1 25 |
| Three Months | 75 |

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

to all Ministers of the Gospel, traveling or local, and widows of deceased traveling preachers.

FREE ONE YEAR

to any person forwarding to us four new yearly subscribers, with Eight Dollars.

Mississippi Conference.

On Tuesday morning, at something after ten o'clock, leaving the Alabama Conference still in session, we departed from Selma, in the good company of Bishop Wightman and Bro. Daves, for Brandou. It was a pleasaut day, through some very sightly and rich country for the first few hours, through Demopolis, and in view of the Black Warrior, and then across the Bigbee, and after awhile at Meridian, and there aud on, with preachers constautly entering the cars, until at midnight we reached the Brandon statiou. Hacks are there waiting, and Bro. Thompson, the pastor, is also there to direct, and in an hour we are at our old quarters, at Colonel A. J. Frantz's, the editor and proprietor of the Brandon Republican. The colonel himself came to the depot for his guests, and gave us a cordial and generous reception. We were right glad to be once more under his hospitable roof, and to renew the acquaintauce of last year with his accomplished wife and interestiug childreu. Colonel Frantz is a host indeed in the entertainment of a Conference, publishes a daily of the proceedings, and in many ways contributes to the comfort and interest of the occasion.

The Conference was held in the courthouse, and was opened at half-past nine o'clock A. M., December 10, by Bishop Wightman. Rev. C. G. Andrews was elected secretary, Rev. J. A. B. Jones, J. T. Cameron, Esq., assistants, and J. J. Smilie statistical secretary. In the examination of character the preachers do not retire, but report their collections, aud make such statements as may be required of their work. Among the oldest and most venerable members present are J. G. Jones and James Shanks. The latter is cousiderably over seventy, and is still effective. The former addressed the Conference in reference to the history of Methodism in Mississippi. He stated that he had one volume ready for the press, bringing the history dowu from 1799 to 1814, and that it would require three volumes in all to bring the narrative down to within twenty years of the present time. We doubt not it will be a work of great interest, and an important contribution to the history of Methodism in the Southwest. Dr. Watkins, H. H. Montgomery, J. A. Godfrey, H. J. Harris, W. E. M. Linfield, G. F. Thompson, C. G. Andrews, John A. B. Jones, J. T. Heard, F. M. Featherstun, William B. Hines, H. F. Johnson, W. L. C. Hunnicutt and B. Jones are still at their posts and most effective in the business of the Conference. There is here a fine class of young and middle-aged men, and altogether a large amount of excellent material for the itinerant ranks.

On Friday four were received into full connection. Bishop Wightman's address was very forcible aud telling, in which he especially emphasized the importance of knee-work, of pastoral visiting and of deep spirituallty. The absolute and highest essential of preaching power is the powor of the Holy Ghost. We are glad to see that the Bishops are giving particular attention to the reception of young preachers, not slurring over the solemn vows, but putting the questions with emphasis, and with ample admonition and instruction. Ten young men were admitted on trial—four of them from the Vicksburg district—a fine class, we judge, from the representations made of them. One of them, Lewis R. Featherstun, is the second son whom our brother, F. M. Featherstun, has given to the ministry in this Conferenee. In connection with his case Bishop Wightmau made affecting mention of the recent admission of his son into the South Carolina Conference. Methodist preachers know well the toils and sacrifices of the itinerancy, but they count it a happiness and an honor, nevertheless, to give their sons to this noble work. It has been a gratification to us at this Conferenco to meet Dr. C. K. Marshall, of Vicksburg, as we sometimes write it, but more truly of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. He has been seriously ill from over-work during the summer, but is recovering his wonted elasticity, and is almost himself again.

This is Bishop Wightman's first episcopal visit to the Mississippi Conference, and the impression, we believe, is altogether favorable. He is the urbane and accomplished Christian gentleman in the chair, and in all his official intercourse with the preachers. His addresses in the Conference-room and his preachiug are characterized by good taste, vigorous and broad thought, and by earnestness, pathos and unction. He has secured the respect aud love of the preachers and people.

The Conference was held in Brandon last year, and now again the good people are profuse and overflowing in their entertainment of the preachers and lay delegates. The Methodist church, finished and dedicated during the past summer, is a gem of neatness and beauty, symmetrical in its outward proportions from foundations to spire, and exceedingly well and comfortably furnished and upholstered within. It is forty-two by fifty-four feet in dimensions, substantially built of brick, and graced with a spire seventy-six feet high. The entire cost, including $500 for furnishing, was $6,850. We are glad to say that the church is paid for, the last item of indebtedness having been met on Sunday morniug by a collection of $460. For this handsome enterprise much credit is due to the pastor, Rev. G. F. Thompson, to Colonel A. G. Mayers, General Robert Lowry and to other liberal citizens of Brandon. We notice a very fair attendaneo of lay delegates, among whom are J. T. Cameron, of Canton, W. L. Nugent, of Jackson, Thomas Reed, of Fayette, W. G. Longmire, L. K. Barbour, of Woodville, E. C. Postell, of Canton, and Colonel Mayers and General Lowry, of Brandou, and Rev. J. E. Jagers, of Liberty.

The delegates to the General Conference were elected on Saturday. The Conference is entitled to five clorical and five lay delegates. On the first ballot all the five clerical delegates were elected, to wit: C. G. Andrews, H. F. Johnson, H. H. Montgomery, W. E. M. Linfield, J. T. Heard. There was but one balloting for reserves, resulting in the election of W. H. Watkins, W. L. C. Hunnicutt, William B. Hines. The following were elected lay delegates: A. G. Mayers, Rev. J. E. Jagers, W. L. Nugent, Thomas Christian, L. H. Thompson. Reserves: E. C. Postell, Rev. Irvin Miller, L. K. Barbour, George Nicholson, S. B. Watts. An excellent delegation. The missionary meetiug on Saturday night was an occasion of more thau usual interest. Dr. Watkins made a strong appeal in connection with the reading of his report as treasurer. Bro. Daves presented tho claims of the Mexican mission with much fervor and power, and Dr. C. K. Marshall, though in infirm health, made one of the best speeches of his life. The collection was not well managed, but, in view of all the circumstances, it was perhaps not expedient to urge the matter very persistently. We have not heard how much was realized, but the sum could hardly have exceeded $200. The missionary collection of the Conference this year sums up $1,847.40.

On Sunday morning Bishop Wightman preached at the Methodist church, and ordained the following deacons: Alexander L. McBride, Albert T. Tidwell, John Newton Henry. After tho three o'clock sermon the following elders were ordained: H. Walter Featherstun, John W. Hall, James M. Weems, Irvin Miller. We heard an excellent sermon at eleven A. M., in the Presbyterian church, preached by Rev. J. T. Heard, and another in the Methodist church, at night, by Rev. W. E. M. Linfield. We learned that one person was converted while Bro. Linfield was preaching. Rev. H. H. Montgomery preached in the Presbyterian church at night. His sermon and that of the Bishop were highly commended by those whose privilege it was to hear them. The reports on education, temperance and memoirs were presented on Monday. Memoirs were presented and read, by the venerable J. G. Jones, of John G. Deskin, born in 1799, admitted on trial into the Mississippi Conference in 1837, and died in great peace after a faithful ministry of many years; and of John G. Willis, born in 1824, and admitted on trial by the Mississippi Conference in 1855—a good man, and well reported of among his brethren. Among the superannuated preachers whose characters were passed were the names of Thomas Clinton, Barnabas Pipkin, Levi Pearce and John R. Higinbotham.

The statistical secretary reports a total membership of 19,656—an increase over last year of 1,674; 185 Sunday schools, 288 churches, 71,060 sittings, 21 parsonages. Collected for Bishops' fund, $1,412.70. Conference collection for widows, orphans aud superannuates, $1,784.40—about forty per cent. on the claims. The preachers have received, on an average, something over two-thirds of their allowance. The total amouut received by them this year is $3,558.95 less than last year. The Conferenco has done very well financially, considering the times. It is by no means full, but needs more preachers to supply the work. The Conference adjourned on Monday night, after a pleasaut session. William Wood was ordained elder aud Jesse Harper deacon just before the appointments were announced. Hazlehurst is the place of the next session.

APPOINTMENTS.

Jackson District.—H H Montgomery, P E. Jacksou station, C B Galloway; Brownsville, J M Weems; Madison, W C Black; aud one to be supplied; Canton, R S Jones; Sharon, A T Tidwell, J W Adams, sup.; Camden, R Bradley, A Y Davis, sup.; Thomastown, to be supplied, J K Hamiln, sup.; Carthage, O H P Davis, and one to bo supplied; Mount Olivet, J W Hall, and one to be supplied; Dover, D W Dilliehay; Yazoo City, R D Norsworthy; Silver Creek, to be supplied; Yazoo, J W Ellison; R Abbey, agent Publishing House; J W Lambuth, missionary to China.

Vicksburg District.—F M Featherstun, P E. Vicksburg station, Josiah Bancroft; Grove Street, J J Smilie; North Warren, Ira B Robertson, L B Holloman; Sunflower mission, J S Harris; Clover Hill, T B Walden; Rolling Fork, A B Stewart; South Warren, D A J Parker; Cayuga, F W Sharbrough; Rocky Springs, J A B Jones; Port Gibson, William B Lewis; Fayette, J H Shelton, C A Powell; Kingston, H R Singleton; Natchez, W L C Hunnicutt.

Woodville District.—J L Forsyth, P E. Woodville station, William H Watkins; Wilkinson, P Howard; Amite, J Ritchie; Buffalo, J S Parker; Bayou Sara, D C Langford; Jackson, Louisiana, C G Andrews; Clinton, Louisiana, A M Campbell; Pipkin chapel, R B Downer; East Feliciana, J A Godfrey; East Baton Rouge, N B Young; Meadville, E A Flowers; Homochitto mission, P S Petty; C G Andrews, president Centenary College.

Summit District.—A B Nicholson, P E. Summit, A B Nicholson; Holmesville, H P Lewis; McComb City mission, E R Strickland; St Helena, C C Watkins; Greensburg, D P Bradford; Union, Thomas Price, and one to be supplied; Covington, L R Featherstun, G L Vickers, sup.; Franklinton, E W Simmons; Big Creek mission, S R Hyde.

Brookhaven District.—W E M Linfield, P E. Brookhaven station, H Walter Featherstun; Boguechitto mission, J W Sandell; Scotland, W Wadsworth; Brandywine, C W Campbell; Crystal Springs, W E Ballard, H P Bowen, sup.; Terry, H J Harris; Hazlehurst, C Chamberlin; Zion, E F Mullins; Georgetown, B T Pearson; Providence, P A Johnson; Raymond, George F Thompson; Beauregard, E H Mounger; Monticello, J J Clarke; H F Johnson, president of Whitworth College.

Brandon District.—F M Williams, P E. Brandon station, W H Leith; Fannin, W W Hurst; Garlandsville, Thomas S West; Raleigh, R A Sibley; Trenton, S Evans; Morton, C McDonald, J M Williams, sup.; Philadelphia, J A Vance; Hillsboro, G W Chatfield; Walnut Grove, J B K Smith; Centerville, L P Meador; Forest and Lake, J D Hays.

Meridian District.—W B Hines, P E. Meridian station, J T Heard; DeKalb, to be supplied; Spring Hill, D G W Ellis; Toomsuba and Marion, J C Brogan, A L McBride; Enterprise station, U B Phillips, W Spillman, sup.; Enterprise, T Y Armstrong; Quitman, J Shanks; Clark, F Walker; Shubuta, J M Gann; De Soto, G M Gilmore; Waynesboro, J McLaurin; Wayne, D A Little; Paulding, J H Holland; J A Ellis, agent East Mississippi College; J W Adkisson, president East Mississippi College.

Seashore District.—C F Gillaspie, P E. Mount Carmel, H Moore; Rankin, L Kendall; Columbia, C R Benson; Pearlington, D A Givens; Ocean Springs, J Nicholson; White Plains, Joseph W Hall; Enon, D Merchant; East Pascagoula, B Jones; Taylorville mission, L Carley; Chickasahay and Greene mission, to be supplied by G W Davidson; J W Harmon, Sunday school agent.

Transferred.—J M Mitchell, transferred to North Mississippi Conference; E Hicks, transferred to West St Louis Conference; W J Bullivant and R Burnlt, transferred to Illinois Conference.

Alabama Conference.

CONTINUED.

The churches of Selma are numerous, and the most of the pulpits on Sunday were filled by the preachers of the Conference. We heard Bishop Wightman at the Methodist church at eleven A. M., and Dr. Hamilton in the afternoon. Both were excellent sermons. The deacons were ordained after the morning sermon, and the elders in the afternoon. At night Bishop Marvin, as requested by a resolution of the Conference, preached a sermon appropriate as a memorial of Bishop Early. The congregations were large at every service in the Methodist church, not only on Sunday, but also every night during the Conference session. The church is a handsome brick structure, has a commodious basement, in which the Conference met, and the audience-room above is beautifully frescoed, comfortably seated, and furnished with a fine organ. The choir exhibited good taste in the selection of old and familiar tunes, and the music was altogether gratifying to those who love a spiritual worship.

On Monday, the last day of our attendanco, the Conference was occupied with the discussion of reports. The committee on temperance reported a resolution asking the General Conference to enact a specific law against the sale of spirituous liquors for other than mechanical and medicinal purposes. After a lively and somewhat protracted debate the resolution was adopted. While the report on church publications was under consideration Dr. Summers and Bishops Wightman and Marvin made effective and stirring speeches in behalf of our publishing interests, and the distribution and sale of our books and periodicals.

From the accounts we were able to gather we judge that the support of the preachers has been better than could have been expected, considering the failure of crops in some of the richest parts of the Conference territory, and the financial troubles which recently swept over the land. The entire collection for missions, however, this year nearly reaches $4,000, and only sixty per cent. is paid on the drafts for domestic missions. At the missionary anniversary addresses were made by Rev. Joel T. Daves, superintendent of our Mexican mission, and by Bishop Marvin. The Mexican mission was well presented by both speakers, and the cause of missions generally. Owing to the series of failures in the crops of this section, and the pressure of the times, the appeal for money was not pressed. A card collection of something over $100 was taken.

In conclusion we would express to the brethren of the Conference our thanks for much kindness and courtesy, and also our gratification at being once more permitted to mingle with them in the business and Christian intercourse of another Conference session. In their going forth upon the toils and duties of another year, we pray that they may have the presence and blessing of their divine Master, and that it may prove a year of spiritual triumph, and be crowned with an abundant harvest.

APPOINTMENTS.

Mobile District.—J Hamilton, P E; Franklin Street, J W Rush; Eastern Shore mission, to be supplied; Mobile City mission, P G Nash; St Francis Street, W Shapard; St Paul's, Josiah Barker; Grand Bay mission, I F Bilbro; Whistler station, to be supplied; Citronelle circuit, Charles R Williamson; St Stephen's and Washington mission, W Hargrave Morris; Pensacola, D M Hudson; Navy Yard and Perdido mission, P B Saffold; Milton station, James O Andrew; Black Water mission, A M L Douglas; Yellow River mission, to be supplied by S W Douglas; Pollard circuit, David C Stanley; Mount Pleasant circuit, Joseph H James.

Demopolis District.—Silas H Cox, P E; Demopolis station, Robert B Crawford; Livingston station, A J Coleman; Belmont circuit, James M Patton; Gaston circuit, C B DuBose; Cuba circuit, George Bancroft; Butler circuit, David J Wright; Oktuppa mission, to be supplied by G W Fagan; Bladen Springs circuit, W Ira Powers; Forkland circuit, L Patterson; Gainesville circuit, A Hood; Greene circuit, John W McCann; Eutaw station, D C Crook.

Selma District.—A J Briggs, P E; Selma station, Mark S Andrews; East Selma and Benton, Joseph B Cottrell; Uniontown, James A Glenn; Dayton circuit, S M Thames, one to be supplied; Orrville circuit, John F Evans; Rembert Hills circuit, John S Frazer, G F Ellis, sup; Choctaw Corner circuit, W S Wade; Lower Peachtree circuit, A C Hundley; Suggsville circuit, E M Turner; Jackson circuit, to be supplied by C H Kelley; Tallahatta circuit, William A Rice; Summerfield station, R S Woodward; Centenary Female College, A Rice.

Greensboro District.—A H Mitchell, P E; Greensboro station, A S Andrews; Newberne and Mount Hermon circuit, B D Gayle; Marion station, John E Foust; Havana circuit, G Hawkins; Brush Creek circuit, W M Winn; Autaugaville circuit, W A Montgomery; Autauga and Clanton mission, R A Mears; Prattville station, E S Smith; Randolph circuit, W H McDaniel; Perryville circuit, W A Edwards; Ocmulgee, to be supplied by B B Nally; Southern University, A S Andrews, president, John S Moore, professor of mathematics, T O Summers, Jr., professor of chemistry; Nashville Christian Advocate, Thomas O Summers, Sr., editor.

Montgomery District.—W A McCarty, P E; Montgomery station, E Wadsworth; Heron Street and Mt. Meigs mission, J T Curry; Tuskegee station, T F Mangum; Tuskegee circuit, J W Solomon, J A Wethers, sup; Tallopeo mission, M C Turrentine; Elmore circuit, Robert F Perdue; Notasulga circuit, Lewis F Dowdell; Opelika station, W M Motley; Salem circuit, William B Neal, John H Lockhart, sup; Crawford circuit, William W Graham; Auburn station, E L Loveless; Hurtville and Silver Run, Jere S Williams, Wetumpka station, Philip H Lightfoot; Alabama Conference Female College, H D Moore, president; Alabama Mechanical and Agricultural College, B B Ross; T J Rutledge, superintendent American Bible Society.

Eufaula District.—W H Ellison, P E; Eufaula station, E M Bounds; Glennville, Thomas W Dyer; Villula circuit, E P Bireh; Beuiah circuit, W K Norton; Enon and Midway, W H Wild; Perote circuit, W S Turner; Pea River mission, to be supplied by G Y Thomason; Claytou and Louisville, S A Pilley; Henry circuit, T C M Golland; White Pond circuit, James L Matherson.

Mariana District.—M E Butt, P E; Mariaua station, Isaac Z T Morris; Greenwood circuit, H M Gillis; Holmes Valley circuit, John M Brown; Calhoun mission, Wade H Weatherly; Columbia circuit, J Scaife; Newton circuit, Johu M Johnston; Geneva circuit, John A Green; Big Creek circuit, Leander C Calhoun; Cerro Gordo mission, to be supplied; Ozark circuit, A Dowling; Mariana District High School, E Phillips, principal.

Camden District.—J W Shores, P E; Camden circuit, A M Jones; Pineville circuit, J L Skipper; Lowndesboro, Hayneville and Union, James M Mason; Sepulga circuit, Joseph M Scott; Monroeville circuit, Thomas Y Abernathy; Evergreen circuit, Robert Smiley; Pleasant Hill circuit, Emmett W Solomou; Monterey circuit, M M Graham; Georgiana circuit, N Gillis; Brewton mission, Joshua S Peavly.

Union Springs District.—S P Richardson, P E; Union Springs station, John A Peterson; Union circuit, C W Calhoun; Pine Level circuit, W P H Counerly; Rocky Mount circuit, B L Selman; Fort Deposit circuit, Wilbur F Norton; Greenville station, O R Blew, W H Morris, supernumerary; Greenville circuit, Philip H Moss; Rutledge circuit, B F Blow; Troy and Brundidge, G Waverly Briggs; Troy circuit, A S Dickinson; Elba circuit, B G Blackwell; Greenville Collegiate Institute, H Urquhart, president.

Transferred.—R M Powers, transferred to the North Mississippi Conference; Robert H Harris, transferred to North Alabama Conference, and appointed to Oak Bowery circuit; Josiah Bancroft and F Walker, transferred to Mississippi Conference; J W Vest, transferred to West Texas Conference; W A Sampey, transferred to Northwest Texas Conference; W G Perry, transferred to Texas Conference.

North Mississippi Conference.

The fourth session of the North Mississippi Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South was held at Grenada, Mississippi, November 26 to December 2, 1873, Bishop Paine presiding. The following resolutions, after discussion, were adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Conference that the District Conferences should be invested with authority to examine and correct the minutes of the Quarterly Conferences on the districts.

Resolved, That tho General Conference be and it is hereby memorialized to make a law to that effect.

APPOINTMENTS.

Holly Springs District.—Philip Tuggle, P E. Holly Springs station, Clarence J Nugent, D O Hughes, sup.; Holly Springs circuit, Daniel L Cogdell; Early Grove and Carmel, Joshua K Morris; Byhalia and New Salem, James W Honnoll; Emory, Thomas G Freeman, P J Eckles, sup.; Marshall, Robert Paine Mitchell; Ashland, Hiram R Caldwell; Salem, Benjamin D Brown; Hudsonville and Sylvestra, Thomas Joyner; Cornersville, Peter M Marmon; Hickory Flat, James M Mitchell.

Hernando District.—Joseph H Brooks, P E. Hernando and Cold Water, John Bancroft; Hernando circuit, M M Dunn; Pleasant Hill, Joseph J Brooks; Longtown, William B Mitchell; Sardis and Davis' chapel, Thomas W Dye; Como and Fredonia, Samuel C Stone; Senatobia, J W Luter; Coekrum, H C Morehead; Chulahoma, Tilmon Page, S J Montgomery; Tyro, Nimrod P Johnson.

Iuka District.—J D Cameron, P E. Iuka station, Thomas S Campbell; Iuka circuit, Robert A Neblett; Burnsville, Daniel N Foose; Corinth station, John C Lowe; Corinth circuit, Joseph Johnson; Boonville and Rienzi, Thomas Cameron, M L Martin, sup.; Jacinto, J W Lourance, W E Ellis, sup.; Carolina, James M Owen; Kossuth station, David Plows; Kossuth circuit, J W Gooch; Jonesboro, to be supplied by D W Babb; Ripley mission, S B Carson; Ripley circuit, T P Ramsey; Hatchie mission, William J Smith; Corinth Female College, Lorenzo Lea, president; Iuka Female Institute, Joseph E Douglass, president.

Verona District.—J B Stone, P E. Verona station, Thomas C. Wier; Okolona station, John R Allen; Tupelo, James A Peebles; Pontotoc, E H Moon; Baldwyn, Benjamin W Stubbs; Saltillo, John McElhannon; Richmond, William D Mathis; Fulton, to be supplied by J W Perry; New Albany, David Fleming; Marietta, T J Taylor, J B Price, sup.; Okolona circuit, Samuel W Miller, R W Young, sup.; Bay Spring, to be supplied by Hardin Patterson; Verona Female College, T C Wier, president; agent for Verona Female College, J T Cunningham.

Columbus District.—Thomas Y Ramsey, P E. Columbus station, William S Harrison; Columbus circuit, Henry E Smith; Athens, Isaac N Reeves; Aberdeen station, William Shepherd; Vinton, William L Peebles; West Point and Tibbee, C L Bates; Houston, J M Hampton, A J Foster; Sparta, T J Lowry; Line Creek, to be supplied by Wiley Lewis, T W Castles, sup.

Macon District.—A C Allen, P E. Macon station, E E Hamilton; Brooksville, James L Futrell; Crawfordsville, R G Porter; Starksville station, to be supplied by R M Powers; La Grange, W R Rainey; Louisville, J G Carlisle, J O Woodward, sup.; Plattsburg, Benjamin F Morris; Perkinsville [illegible]; Philadelphia, Alexius W Langley.

Grenada District.—A Kendall, P E. Grenada station, S R Brewer; Grenada circuit, H D Howell; Water Valley station, Elias Jackson; Oxford station, J J Wheat; Oxford circuit, J W Poston, R A Ellis, A A Houston, sup.; Eureka, B B Brown; Batesville, J W Bates; Charleston, William J O'Bryant; Coffeeville, G W Boyls; Calhoun, Ben H Bounds; Banner, George W Bachman; Lafayette Springs, R M Davis, William Irby, sup.

Yazoo District.—Kenneth A Jones, P E. Black Hawk, William P Barton; Winona and Carrollton, Daniel S Hearon; Winona circuit, Thomas C Parish; Vaiden, George W Brown; Durant, Ambrose M Barrington; Richland, James M Boon; Attala, George D Wade, W M Ross, sup.; Newport, John Mitchell, J P Commander, sup.; Kosciusko and Bethel, Abner P Sage, A R Hines, sup.; Liberty, Joseph D Newsom; Zilpha mission, to be supplied by S D Murff; Bellefoutaine, W S Lagrone; Greenwood, Lorenzo D Worsham; McNutt, to be supplied by J C Carlyle; Yazoo District High School, T A S Adams, president.

Greenville District.—James P Dancer, P E. Greenville station, Francis Howarth; Deer Creek and Lake Lee, to be supplied by Noel R Hamer; Indian Bayou, J D Murff; Jones' Bayou, W T Ashford; Lake Bolivar and Glenecoe, Joseph S Oakley; Riverton and Beulah, Quincy A Oats; Concordia station, John F Truslow; Friar's Point station, John F Markham; Clarksdale and Cherry Hill, James Wilkinson; Cassada, H H Thacker; Swan Lake, to be supplied; Austin station and Tunica mission, J W Knott, F A Owen, sup.

Transferred.—Ferdinaud S Petway, Thomas L Luter and Thomas G Randle, to Memphis Conference; Orlando P Thomas, to Arkansas Conference; James D Whitehead and Felix G Howcott, to Northwest Texas Conference; Joseph B Cottrell, to Alabama Conference; Moses L Whitten, to North Alabama Conference; R F Chew, to St. Louis Conference.

VISITING COMMITTEES.

Corinth Female College.—J D Cameron, J W Knott, P Tuggle.

Yazoo District High School.—A P Sage, D S Hearon, G W Brown.

Verona Female College.—A C Allen, Thomas Cameron, J C Lowe.

Iuka Female Institute.—T S Campbell, Joseph Johnson, R A Neblett.

Rev. J. B. McFerrin, D. D.—Dr. McFerrin left the Northwest Texas Conference on Tuesday morning for Nashville. He bears with him the affection not only of many of his old friends from Tennessee whom he found in our State, but of multitudes of the new friends he made during his recent visit to our State. His counsels in the Conference-room, and his labors in the pulpit and altar, will long be borne in grateful recollection by his Texas brethren. While ever on the alert where the interests of the missionary cause were involved, yet he was also abundant in labor, and under God led many souls to the cross during the revivals which attended the three Conferences he visited. He was quite unwell during his visit to Waco, yet he responded cheerfully to the numerous calls on his services. He will always find a warm welcome from his brethren in this State.—Texas Christian Advocate.

Bishop Keener in Baltimore. Bishop Keener paid us a surprise visit, arriving in Baltimore on Saturday evening. He preached at Trinity on Sunday morning, and at Central at night, to the ordinary congregation, as it was not known he would preach. His sermon at Trinity is highly spoken of, and his discourse at night, which we heard, was original, practical and forcible. On Monday morning he attended the preachers' meeting at St. Paul's, and left in the afternoon to attend the North Carolina Conference, which commenced its session on the tenth instant. When he shall visit Baltimore again, we hope he will give us timely notice, and tarry longer with us.—Episcopal Methodist.

Western Conference.—In a private letter to the book agent from the Rev. H. D. Hogan, presiding elder of Council Grove district, Western Conference, dated Council Grove, Kansas, December 1, he says: "Revival here still in a flame—one hundred and twenty-three have been converted, and over one hundred received into the church—thirteen penitents and six conversions last night."—Nashville Christian Advocate.

We were pleased, says the Texas Christian Advocate, to meet Rev. R. Alexander, D. D., in the Advocate office a few days ago. His host of friends throughout Texas will be gratified to learn that his health has improved very much within the last two months, and he expects to meet his brethren again at the session of the Texas Conference at Austin. Bro. Alexander's postoffice is now at Lynchburg, Harris county, Texas.

Louisiana Conference.

The members of the Conference, on their arrival at Batou Rouge, will please report at the preacher's office, in the basement of the Methodist church, day or night.

Those who arrive in the night will find the sexton, and fire and lights in the office, where they can, in some degree of comfort, "watch for the morning."

A. E. Goodwyn.

Baton Rouge, December 10, 1873.

The last day's proceedings of the Alabama Conference, Tuesday, December 9, reached us too late for this issue. They will appear next week.

Sunday is the golden clasp that binds together the volume of the week.

THE SOUTHERN REVIEW. — We take pleasure in publishing the following card from Dr. Bledsoe, the [illegible] Southern Review. We are gratified to learn that this excellent Review will continue to be published in St. Louis. The first of January is nigh at hand, and we respectfully urge the preachers everywhere to be active in obtaining subscribers, and forwarding their names to the Southwestern Book and Publishing Company, St. Louis, Missouri.

"I recall the notice which appeared a few weeks ago in this paper in relation to the Southern Review. It will continue to be published, as heretofore, in St. Louis, without a change of name or programme, and under precisely the same auspices.

"Will those papers which published the former notice do me the very great favor to publish this also?

A. T. BLEDSOE.

BALTIMORE, December 3, 1873."

Nashville Christian Advocate.

MR. HENRY JAMES, the new solicitor general of Great Britain, in a speech to his constituents, gave an admirable illustration of the need of a burial bill in England by telling how a burglar had been buried with all the best hopes of the church for his salvation, and the very next day a Nonconformist of high worth and repute had been refused "the right to lie by the burglar."

MR. CHARLES NORDHOFF states that attendance upon schools is more general in the Sandwich Islands than anywhere else in the world. Out of a school population of 8,931 (six to fifteen years of age) 8,287 are in actual attendance at the 2,455 schools. The schools are under the supervision of the government. Attendance is enforced by law; and, as a result, scarcely a Hawaiian can be found who is unable to read and write.

MARRIED.

COOPER—BURGES.—By the Rev. Fred. White, at the residence of the bride, on Bayou Boeuf, Rapides parish, Louisiana, on Wednesday evening, November 26, 1873, Rev. Silas H. Cooper, of the Louisiana Conference, to Mrs. Mary D. Burges.

THOMPSON—JOINER.—On the twentieth of November, 1873, at the residence of Mr. Joshua Methview, by Rev. Thomas Price, Mr. John R. Thompson and Miss Susan Joiner, all of St. Helena parish, Louisiana.

COLE—GRENES.—On the eighth of December, 1873, by the same, at the residence of Mr. A. Jelvington, of Amite City, Mr. John G. Cole to Miss Ida E. Grones.

WOLF—REDER.—At the parsonage of Bryndes street German Methodist Episcopal Church South, New Orleans, November 27, 1873, by Rev. J. R. A. Ahrens, Mr. Jacob P. Wolf, of New Orleans, and Miss Anna Caroline Reder, of France.

MENGE—TREADAWAY.—At the residence of Mr. Bargalis, in New Orleans, December 3, 1873, by Rev. J. R. A. Ahrens, Mr. William Menge and Miss Lydian Treadaway, both of Plaquemine parish, Louisiana.

REDDING—HAMPTON.—By Rev. James E. Bradley, October 29, 1873, Mr. Charles Redding and Miss Sarah Hampton, all of Sabine parish, Louisiana.

Publisher's Department.

Acknowledgments of Letters and Funds

RECEIVED BY MAIL,

For the Week Ending Dec. 13, 1873.

A—O. M. Anderson, American News Company two letters, Applegate, Pounsford & Co.

B—John W. Boswell, R. J. Briggs, J. W. Bryan, George W. Brown, P. B. Bridges, Mrs. S. M. Bell, J. M. Boon, J. E. Bradley, J. B. Bobbitt.

C—R. J. Carroll, Colton, Zahm & Roberts, J. T. Cunningham $13.50, H. Cochran, B. E. Crossland, W. L. Clifton, S. K. Cox, T. Cameron, G. A. Campbell, C. W. Carter, W. W. Campbell 50 cents, Cassell & Baughn $25, S. H. Cox, S. C. Collins.

D—H. R. Downs & Co., J. J. Davis, W. W. Douglass, DePoorter & Gibbs, Donaldson & Co., R. A. Davis, R. B. Downer, Joel T. Daves, F. O. Donnelly.

E—J. H. Earle, W. G. Elder.

F—E. N. Freshman three letters, W. C. Falt $50, W. J. Finley, W. M. Francis, J. L. Futrell.

G—Thomas Garrett $11, John Gibson, W. W. Granville, R. H. Griffen two letters, Joseph Gorton, E. A. Garrison $1, E. George.

H—Mrs. Julia M. Hinyule $6, W. H. Hartley, B. Haynes, William Hardy, E. E. Hamilton, Hamilton & Co., J. Hamilton, W. J. Hamilton, J. L. Hill, C. H. Hall.

I—Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., R. S. Isbell.

J—H. F. Johnson.

K—Kiturell & Purnel, C. Keener.

L—J. T. Laird $3.25, J. W. Laney, Charles M. Liddle, J. B. Lippincott & Co., A. C. Littlejohn, G. M. Liverman.

M—Thomas Mullett, J. M. McKay, M. C. Manley, W. B. Moy $8.35, Mrs. M. E. Morgan, O. M. Marsh, Charles Miller, J. M. McKee two letters $35, Mrs. Jane E. Mills, George W. McMillan 40 cents, A. C. McDougall $6.

N—C. J. Nugent.

O—James Ormond $2.

P—J. A. Prestwood, J. F. Patterson 50 cents, A. M. Purdy, Thomas Price, S. M. Pettengill & Co. four letters, L. Parker, A. L. Pritchett, Powers Paper Company, R. M. Powers $2, Isaac Pipes.

R—W. W. Richards $2.25, Mrs. Julia E. Ritchie $4.45, J. K. Randall two letters $27.50, A. H. Redford, T. B. Russell, Mrs. Mary F. Robertson $1, John Reed $2, George Routledge & Sons two letters, W. B. Raiford.

S—James D. Shaw, G. F. Seals two letters, J. E. Surratt two letters $70, Sheldon & Co., Shepard & Gill two letters $18, S. S. Scott, E. Stieger & Co., Scribner, Welford & Armstrong, J. G. Shields, Smith & Cregun, J. W. Schermerhorn, R. R. Stallings.

T—V. L. Terrell, W. V. Taylor, S. W. Turner.

V—F. Vonderheide.

W—J. Woodbridge, Mrs. Mary T. White, J. R. Walker $2, R. S. Wilkins $5.13, Mrs. P. G. Wynn, T. O. Wier $7.13, R. P. Wells $1, A. W. Williams.

Y—H. A. Young & Co.

A. ENSMINGER'S Crescent Steam Trunk Manufactory—depot at No. 44 Royal street. A large assortment of all kinds of ladies' and gentlemen's traveling and packing trunks, valises, bags, etc. Trunks made to order and repaired.

SEE ADVERTISEMENT of F. A. Quinette's fruit and nursery depot, No. 36 Carondelet street. Fruit-trees, plants and vines of finest varieties always on hand, and delivered to purchasers in the city free of druyage.

AT THE cigar store of F. Esteva, corner of Camp and Girod streets, lovers of the weed will find all the best brands of Havana cigars, chewing tobacco, snuff, cigarettes, cigar cases and holders, pipes, etc.

MR. JAMES HEANY, No. 226 Baronne street, is offering great inducements for the holidays to purchasers of hair goods and fancy and toilet articles, of which he has a large assortment.

D. DAVIS, No. 200 Poydras street, manufacturer and dealer in men's, youths' and boys' clothing. Hats, caps and gentlemen's furnishing goods in great variety.

A NOVELTY in the way of cheap stores will be noticed in the advertisement of the Lady Cheap John, Mrs. D. J. Loewenstein, No. 519 Magazine street.

WE CALL ATTENTION to the advertisement, elsewhere, of the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas railroad. The Mobile line is furnished with through Pullman palace cars to Louisville, Atlanta and Charlotte, and make but one change to the principal Northern and Eastern cities. E. P. Shute, Esq., the general ticket agent, will furnish information and tickets to travelers at the office of the company, corner of Camp and Common streets. Mr. S. H. Scranton is the general superintendent of the Mobile route.

GILDING AND REPAIRING.—J. A. Kernan and T. White, practical gilders, at No. 106 Customhouse street, are prepared to regild, reline, varnish, clean and put in the most perfect order oil paintings, pictures and looking-glasses of every description. Their long experience in this line of business is a guarantee that work intrusted to them will be well and faithfully executed.

THE agency of the Weed Sewing Machine Company in this city is at No. 207 Canal street, where a large stock of these favorite sewing machines will always be found. The manufacturers claim many good qualities for the Weed machine not possessed by others, and that they received the highest award at the Vienna Exposition.

THE popular grocers, Messrs. A. W. Skardon & Co., invite the attention of our readers to their superior stock of groceries. Their establishment is situated at the corner of Jackson and Rousseau streets. Call and supply yourselves for the Christmas holidays.

THE crockery store of Messrs. Joseph Wolfe & Co., No. 633 Magazine street, as set forth in their advertisement, which appears in this issue, is plentifully stocked with fancy China and Bohemian glassware, selected for the holidays, and to be sold at low figures.

MESSRS. MUNCY & MARCY, wholesale dealers in cypress lumber, shingles, ash wood and oak staves, Nos. 421 and 426 Delord street, postoffice box 298. Messrs. Muncy & Marcy are agents for the Amite river packet Alice and the Pensacola packet Amite.

THE old-established house of E. A. Tyler, No. 115 Canal street, in his complete stock of watches, diamonds, plateware, table cutlery, fancy goods, jewelry, etc., presents the best field for purchasers of holiday presents. Clocks and watches repaired.

ON ACCOUNT of a change in business the proprietors of the St. Philip store, No. 230 Royal street, corner of St. Philip, advertise their entire stock of dry goods and notions at fifty per cent. below cost, for cash only.

MR. ALFRED DAMARIN, the successor to Gaines & Relf's branch store, No. 592 Magazine street, offers for sale, at prices to suit the times, China, glass and crockeryware, plateware, hardware and cutlery in great variety.

MR. F. HEIDERICH, No. 624 Magazine street, advertises his entire stock of furniture at cost.

THE finest flavor imaginable is imparted to fish, when served at the table, by the use of the famous Halford Leicestershire Table Sauce. If you will test this standard article you will be satisfied with the result. del1 lt

COLGATE & Co.'s new perfume for the handkerchief, "CASHMERE BOUQUET," will be appreciated by all who have enjoyed the delicate and peculiar fragrance of their toilet soap of the same name, which is so universally popular. je12 1y

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE celebrated Poor Richard's Eye-Water removes inflammation, films, cataract, lifts sunken eyes, strengthens weak eyes, clears dim eyes, restores the sight; prevents Catarrh, makes the voice strong, lubricates the head, throat and chest. Price, 25 cents, $1 and $2. Sold by Frederickson & Harte, 139 Canal street, and E. J. Hart & Co., 73 to 79 Tchoupitoulas street, New Orleans, and by druggists generally; or will be sent to any address, on receipt of the price, from the Metaphysical University, 51 Bond street, New York, inclose stamp for pamphlet. oct8 1yetw

A box of Liver Pills, free of charge, inclosed in the wrapper with every bottle of Kress Fever Tonic, and sold by Frederickson & Harte and E. J. Hart & Co., on the warrant of the proprietors that this Tonic will cure Fever and Ague, Chill and Fever, Dumb Ague, and all forms of this malady. Do get a bottle and try it. There is no arsenic, no strychnine nor any other poisonous property in the medicine. It has been tried for the last ten years in Indiana and Illinois, and is a success. del 2m

PIERSON & HEWS, fine Clothing, Shirts and Furnishing Goods, 13 and 15 Camp street, opposite City Hotel, New Orleans, Louisiana. We invite visitors from the interior to examine our stock and prices. We claim to sell first-class goods as low as can be afforded and live. We sell the celebrated Shoulder-Seam shirts, warranted to fit, wear and give satisfaction. Liberal deduction made to Clergymen, and their trade solicited. fe27 1y

BEST AND OLDEST FAMILY MEDICINE.—SANFORD'S LIVER INVIGORATOR, a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic, for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debility, Sick Headache, Bilious Attacks and all derangements of liver, stomach and bowels. Ask your druggist for it. Beware of imitations mh27 1yeow

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, New York.

Assets ..... $21,000,000
Income ..... 11,000,000

Branch office—33 CAMP STREET.

A. P. CLEVELAND, General Agent.

fe13 1y

THE EFFECT of Simmons' Regulator on the stomach, liver and kidneys is prompt and effectual. de18 1t

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO THE LADIES.

Great Inducements for the Holidays.

ALL STYLES OF HAIR GOODS,

Plats, Curls, Chignons, Bandeaux, Braids, Puffs and Switches, at cost prices. Wigs for gentlemen and ladies always on hand. Latest styles of Jet Goods and Fancy Articles. Large variety of French and German Extracts and Cologne. Opera Glasses and Fans. Satisfaction warranted. Call and you will be convinced. JAMES HEANY,

No. 226 Baronne St., above Julia, New Orleans.

Country orders solicited. de18 1m

F. A. QUINETTE,

FRUIT AND NURSERY DEPOT,

36.....Carondelet Street.....36

NEW ORLEANS.

Fruit-Trees, Plants and Vines of the finest varieties always on hand, and delivered in the city free. de18 1m

MUNCY & MARCY,

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Cypress Lumber, Shingles, Ash Wood AND OAK STAVES,

SHINGLES A SPECIALTY.

424 and 426 Delord St., New Orleans.

P. O. Box 298. Mechanics' Exchange, 6.

Agents for Steamer Alice, Amite River Packet, and for Steamer Amite, Pensacola Packet. de18 2m

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

E. A. TYLER,

115 Canal Street, New Orleans.

FINE WATCHES, DIAMONDS, JEWELRY, Plateware, Table Cutlery, Fancy Goods, etc. Pure Sterling Silverware, suitable for presents. Clocks and Bronzes in great variety. Jewelry manufactured and repaired. Clocks and Watches repaired. de18 2m

PIANO FOR SALE CHEAP.

A FINE INSTRUMENT.

Address ROBT. J. HARP, Agent, 110 and 112 Camp street, de18 1t New Orleans.

J. A. KERNAN & T. WHITE,

PRACTICAL GILDERS,

106 CUSTOMHOUSE ST., near Royal, New Orleans. Regilding done in the best style. Oil Paintings restored, relined, cleansed and varnished. Looking-glass and Picture Frames made to order. Having a business experience of nearly forty years in this city, they hope to give satisfaction to their customers not only in the superiority of their work, but likewise in their moderate charges. Country orders promptly attended to. de18 2m

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

IMPORTANT TO PLANTERS.

IRON COTTON TIES.

THE ARROW TIE AND ALL OPEN-SLOT TIES.

All approved Popular Patents:

ARROW,
ANCHOR, WALLIS
ALLIGATOR
AND DUNN.

For sale by all dealers in New Orleans, Mobile and Memphis, and by country merchants generally throughout the Cotton States.

BARTLETT & RAYNE,

GENERAL AGENTS,

48 CARONDELET STREET, COR. UNION,

de18 6m New Orleans.

1874. BETTER THAN EVER. 1874.

MOORE'S

RURAL NEW YORKER.

THE GREAT ILLUSTRATED

Rural, Literary & Family Weekly.

THIS FAMOUS WEEKLY, which has been the Leading and Largest-circulating Journal of its class for over Twenty Years, not only "still lives," but purposes to render its ensuing (Twenty-ninth) volume better than any yet published. MOORE'S RURAL is the STANDARD AUTHORITY on Agriculture, Horticulture and Domestic Affairs, and a choice, high-toned and popular Literary and Family Paper. No other journal in its sphere has such a large and able corps of Editors and Contributors, and none comprises so many departments or so great a variety of subjects, illustrations, etc. National in character and objects, and adapted to both town and country, it has ardent admirers in every State, Territory and Province on the continent. Ever earnestly advocating the rights and interests of the industrial classes, MOORE'S RURAL NEW YORKER has long been the

FARM AND FIRESIDE FAVORITE,

and to-day has no peer in its important sphere of Journalism. Believing in tact, talent, and the discussion of such timely topics as are of paramount interest to Producing people, it employs the ablest talent in the land, and furnishes the Best Paper for

THE FARMER,
THE HORTICULTURIST,
THE STOCK GROWER,
THE DAIRYMAN,
THE HOUSEWIFE, ETC.

In the future no pains will be spared to render the paper indispensable to the Rural and Industrial population of the country, and a welcome guest at every fireside it may visit. The reading for the Family and Young People, with appropriate illustrations, will receive increased care and attention, while none of the practical departments will be neglected, our aim being to excel in every and all features, and to furnish the best combined Rural, Literary and Family Newspaper obtainable.

Style, Terms, Etc.

MOORE'S RURAL NEW YORKER contains Sixteen Quarto Pages weekly, finely and profusely illustrated and neatly printed. Only $2.40 per year; in clubs of ten or more, $2 per copy. Now is the Time to Subscribe for 1874. Great premiums or cash commissions to club agents. Specimens, premium lists, etc., sent free to all disposed to act as agents. Address D. D. T. MOORE, de18 2t New York City.

LIQUIDATION!.....LIQUIDATION!

ON ACCOUNT OF

A CHANGE IN BUSINESS.

GOODS REDUCED

FIFTY PER CENT. BELOW COST,

FOR CASH ONLY.

From this date our entire stock of DRY GOODS will be reduced to surprisingly low prices. We shall mention, among others:

French CORSETS at 40 cents, fully worth $1.50.
Fine Pocket HANDKERCHIEFS at 50 cents a dozen, fully worth $1.25.
POPLINS at 10 cents a yard, fully worth 20.
Plain and Broche Black ALPACAS at 25 cents, fully worth 50.
Australian CHAPE at 50 cents, fully worth $1.
A full line of Light and Medium-colored SILKS for Children at 50 and 75 cents a yard.
Real English HOSE at $6 a dozen, worth $12.

—AT—

THE ST. PHILIP STORE,

230.....Royal Street.....230

Corner of St. Philip. de18 1m

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE AND TEXAS RAILROAD.

THE MOBILE LINE is the shortest and most reliable route to New York and all Northeastern cities. Pullman Palace Cars, via this line only, to Louisville, Atlanta and Charlotte. But one change to all principal Northern and Eastern cities.

Express Train leaves Depot, foot of Canal street, daily at five P. M.

For tickets and information apply at office of Mobile line, corner of Camp and Common streets, opposite City Hotel.

F. P. SHUTE, General Ticket Agent.

S. H. SCRANTON, General Supt. de18 3m

ALFRED DAMARIN,

Successor to Gaines & Relf's Branch Store,

No. 592 Magazine St., near St. Andrew.

Offers for sale, at prices to suit the times,

CHINA, GLASS AND CROCKERYWARE,
PLATED WARE,
HARDWARE,
CUTLERY,
JAPANNED WARE,
TINWARE,
WOODENWARE,
WILLOWWARE,
BRUSHES,

and a variety of articles too numerous to mention. Call and get bargains. de18 1m

D. DAVIS,

DEALER IN

Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing.

HATS, CAPS AND GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,

200.....POYDRAS STREET.....200

New Orleans, Louisiana.

Clothing made to order. All orders from the country will be promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. de18 2m

"A NEW THING UNDER THE SUN."

Sixteen Oil Paintings in a Book.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE'S latest work, "WOMAN IN SACRED HISTORY," is making a great sensation among Agents, because it is absolutely a new thing, and has "money in it." Never before was such an idea attempted in book illustration. PRIME AGENTS WANTED. Send for terms and circulars to J. B. FORD & CO., de18 4t Fourth and Elm Sts., Cincinnati, O.

A. ENSMINGER'S CRESCENT STEAM TRUNK MANUFACTORY.

Depot, 44 Royal Street,

Bet. Customhouse and Bienville Sts., New Orleans.

Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of all kinds of Ladies' and Gentlemen's Traveling and Packing Trunks, Valises, Bags, etc.

Factory, Tchoupitoulas street, between Lyon and Upper Line, Sixth District. Trunks made to order, repaired and covered. de18 1m

THE HOUSEHOLD PANACEA AND Family Liniment is the best remedy in the world for the following complaints, viz.: Cramp in the limbs and stomach, pain in the stomach, bowels or side, Rheumatism in all its forms, bilious colic, neuralgia, cholera, dysentery, colds, fresh wounds, burns, sore throat, spinal complaints, sprains and bruises, chills and fever. Purely Vegetable and all-healing. For internal and external use. Prepared by CURTIS & BROWN, No. 218 Fulton St., New York, and for sale by all druggists. fy3 1yefw

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE WEED SEWING MACHINE.

THE WEED SEWING MACHINE

HAS JUST RECEIVED

THE HIGHEST AWARD

AT VIENNA,

THUS

REPEATING ITS EXPERIENCE

AT PARIS IN 1867.

No Machine possesses so many good qualities for general Family use.

The universal satisfaction given by this Machine justifies its claim to the well-known name:

FAMILY FAVORITE.

Company's Office in New Orleans,

207.....CANAL STREET.....207

☞ Agents wanted. de18 3m

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE,

VIRGINIA.

The Spring session of this widely-known and popular institution begins on the Twenty-ninth of JANUARY next, and closes on the Seventeenth of June, which is Commencement day. In view of the present financial depression we now make this liberal offer:

FOR ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS, paid in advance, we will give, for one entire session of twenty weeks, to any student in the Collegiate, Scientific or Business course, his board at the Ryars House (now reduced to $10 per month,) tuition, fuel, room-rent, washing, library and contingent fees. In the Preparatory Department the charges will be even less. Board at the Fulton House and in private families may be obtained at moderate though at somewhat more advanced rates. The advantages now offered here to those seeking thorough collegiate training and culture were never excelled in our previous history, as those best acquainted with the school will testify. If you desire more information write to

E. E. WILEY, President, jy3 8m Emory P. O., Virginia.

THE EIGHTH WONDER OF THE WORLD IS THE LADY

CHEAP JOHN,

MRS. D. J. LOEWENSTEIN,

519.....MAGAZINE STREET.....519

Who has sold out her damaged stock of BOOTS, SHOES AND HATS, and is receiving an extensive stock of NEW GOODS, now arriving direct from the best manufacturers of the North, East and West. Having been carefully selected for this market, and bought for cash, they will be sold at astonishingly low prices—not to be beaten in this city. Then come and see the wonder, which will cost nothing, but you will carry away more Shoes and Boots, for less money than you imagine. Do not fail to come. Look out for the sign of the WHITE LION. de18 1m

JOSEPH WOLFE & CO.,

"THE" CROCKERY STORE,

633 Magazine Street, New Orleans.

Our stock of Fancy China and Bohemian GLASSWARE, specially selected for the Holidays, will be found to be the largest and cheapest in the South. Goods packed and delivered to any part of the city free of drayage. de18 2m

A. W. SKARDON & CO.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL GROCERS,

Corner Jackson and Rousseau Streets.

CHRISTMAS GOODS.

Call and order your CHRISTMAS GOODS.

de18 2m

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

F. HEIDERICH,

No. 624 Magazine Street,

is now offering his entire stock of first-class FURNITURE, including everything in the Furnishing line, at cost. Call and get a bargain. de18 1m

HUGH FLYNN,

167 POYDRAS ST., NEW ORLEANS.

All who want to purchase CHEAP FURNITURE can call at 167 Poydras street, between St. Charles and Carondelet streets.

On account of retiring from the Furniture business, I am now selling off my large stock of New Furniture at greatly reduced rates. I am selling at rates below those of any house in the city.

Walnut Victoria Bed-room Sets, marble top, $125 00
Parlor Sets, eleven pieces ..... 110 00
Double Bedsteads, with Testers and Rollers.. 12 00

Kitchen and Dining room Furniture at equally low rates. Spring, Hair and Moss Mattresses of the best quality and at greatly reduced prices. de11 1y

W. W. WASHBURN,

ARTIST PHOTOGRAPHER,

113.....Canal Street.....113

Opposite Clay Statue, New Orleans.

MR. WASHBURN is himself an artist of twenty-five years' experience, and is supported in each department by a corps of assistants who have no superiors in this or the Old World. He is the master of his business. Besides employing the best artists, he uses the best materials and makes the best work on the continent. You may call this

"BLOWING HIS OWN HORN,"

but for proof he refers you to his thirty thousand patrons, and to his work, which may be inspected at his Art Gallery. de11 2t

THE NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL SONG BOOK,

ROYAL DIADEM,

CONTAINS

HYMNS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO THE INTERNATIONAL LESSONS

FOR 1873 AND 1874.

Together with an INDEX prepared for the convenience of Superintendents and Choristers.

☞ Provision is made for Every Lesson.

ROYAL DIADEM

is sold by the leading booksellers all over the world.

Retail price, 35 cents; $30 per 100 copies.

☞ Ask your book-seller for it.

BIGLOW & MAIN Publishers, Successors to Wm. B. Bradbury, no6 4teow New York and Chicago.

H. MOLLEGEN & CO.,

DEALERS IN

All Kinds of Wood and Coal.

OFFICE—NO. 321 RAMPART STREET, Between Calliope and Delord.

Wood Sawed and Split by machinery at ONE-FOURTH the usual charge, and delivered Free. Wood and Coal sold at the lowest rates. Full measure guaranteed. Stove Wood a specialty. de11 2m

JOHN McMAINS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL GROCER, Dealer in Groceries, Teas, etc.,

Nos. 573 and 571 Magazine Street,

Opposite Magazine Market, and

NO. 40 WASHINGTON ST., COR. FULTON, NEW ORLEANS.

Goods delivered free of drayage. de11 2m

SHOW CASES.....SHOW CASES.

BECKER & HINRICHS,

MANUFACTURERS OF

White Metal Sash for Show Windows,

NO. 14 PERDIDO STREET,

Bet. St. Charles and Carondelet Sts., New Orleans. Orders by mail promptly attended to. de11 1m

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

Corner Magazine and Second Streets,

New Orleans.

Office Hours—Eight to nine A. M. and three to four P. M. je20 tf

THE SABBATH

THE LATEST, THE GREATEST AND THE BEST TUNE BOOK for Church Choirs of all Denominations

Price, $1.50.

For dozen Copies, $13.50. One Sample Copy, by Mail, $1.25

LEE & WALKER, 922 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

no13 10dsp

WANTED.—A MIDDLE-AGED LADY, who understands English Grammar and Arithmetic, to teach in a private family. To commence about January 1, 1874. For further particulars address W. P. THOMASON, de11 2t Red Mouth, Richland parish, La.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MAKE YOUR HOME ATTRACTIVE

BY REPLENISHING YOUR

TABLE-WARE

—AT—

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.'S,

55.....Camp Sirrel.....55

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

See What a Little Money Will Buy.

An elegant White Granite DINNER SET, comprising 136 pieces, for..... $15 00

to wit:

| | |
|---|---|
| 12 Dinner Plates, | 1 Soup Tureen, |
| 12 Breakfast Plates, | 1 Sauce Boat, |
| 12 Tea Plates, | 1 Salad dish, |
| 12 Soup Plates, | 2 Covered Dishes, |
| 12 Preserve Plates, | 2 Vegetable Dishes, |
| 12 Butter Plates, | 4 Meat Dishes, |
| 12 Tea Cups and Saucers, | 2 Pickle Shells, |

12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers.

A Porcelain DeTerro DINNER SET (equal to French China in appearance, and much more durable,) same assortment as above.. $18 00

A French China (best quality) DINNER SET, same assortment, 136 pieces..... 30 00

Decorated Porcelain DeTerre and French China DINNER SETS, from..... $30 up.

White Granite CHAMBER SETS, 11 pieces $1 00
White Granite TEA SETS, 44 pieces..... 4 00
French China TEA SETS, 44 pieces..... 6 50
French China Decorated TEA SETS, 44 pieces..... 7 50
Good Table GOBLETS, from 50 cents per set up.
Granite Dinner Plates, per dozen..... 1 40
Granite Breakfast Plates, per dozen..... 1 25
Granite Tea Plates, per dozen..... 1 15
French China Dinner Plates, per dozen..... 3 00
French China Breakfast Plates, per dozen... 2 75
French China Tea Plates, per dozen..... 2 25

NOTE.—The prices above contemplate "First-choice" goods, every piece being warranted regular and perfect. "Seconds" or imperfect goods, warped in making and otherwise irregular, we will furnish for those that desire at twenty per cent. discount from these prices. We shall meet all competition promptly, and as we import our own ware our customers can depend upon getting the BEST GOODS at the lowest possible prices.

AGENTS FOR THE CELEBRATED

BLANCHARD CHURNS,

AND THE LARGEST DEALERS IN

HOUSEKEEPING NOVELTIES

IN THE SOUTHWEST,

— W. C. SHEPARD & CO.,

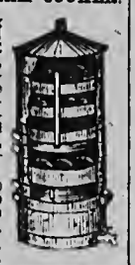
de11 1y No. 55 Camp street, New Orleans.

OCEAN SAW MILL.

Having our large NEW SAW MILL now in successful operation, which gives us increased facilities for sawing Lumber to order at short notice, and at reduced prices, we would be glad to have our customers and the public generally, in want of Lumber, to call and examine our stock, consisting of almost every variety of wood grown in the South, viz.:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cypress, | Cedar, | Hhd. Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, Yellow, | Maple, | Barrel Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, White, | Gum, | Headings | (cypress.) |
| Oak, White, | Sycamore, | Clap-Boards | (cypress.) |
| Ash, | Beech, | Shingles | (cypress.) |
| Walnut, | Cotton, | Laths | (cypress.) |
| Poplar, | Cherry, | Firewood, assorted, etc. | |

Also Mast-Sticks and Spars.



It will be greatly to the advantage of parties shipping by cargo to call upon us, as we can saw and furnish Lumber as rapidly as a vessel can receive it.

Orders directed to Messrs. M. PUIG & CO., No. 57 Customhouse street, or Box 228, New Orleans Postoffice, and Box 27, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange, will receive prompt attention.

L. CARIDO, Director and Agent, Office, foot of Bordeaux street, de11 1m Sixth District.

MULTUM IN PARVO.

HINES' COMBINATION STEAM COOKER.

The most perfect Steam Cooking Apparatus ever invented. Will cook SIX different articles at ONE TIME—MEATS, POULTRY, FISH, VEGETABLES, PUDDINGS, etc.—without one article tainting another, without the possibility of over-cooking or burning, and at the same time afford HOT WATER for Tea or Coffee, without interfering with the process of cooking.

No. 1, small family size.....$10 00
No. 2, medium family size..... 13 00
No. 3, large family size..... 16 00

Cookers sent to any part of the country on receipt of price, or C. O. D., with full instructions for using.

For sale at No. 52 GRAVIER STREET, New Orleans.

Agents wanted in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Send for circulars. Address GOODWYN & CO., Jy31 6m Lock Box 161, New Orleans, La.

DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY.

THE LATEST AND NEATEST STYLES.

Mrs. Garbanatti,

625.....MAGAZINE STREET.....625

(Auriet Row,) New Orleans.

Best of work. Prices moderate. Country orders solicited.

Every Lady Her Own Dressmaker.

MRS. GARBANATTI, 625 Magazine street, has a novel and useful invention for Cutting Dresses, Basques, etc., with which she will teach ladies to Cut and Fit without waste or possibility of error. Call and see for yourselves, ladies. Terms moderate. no27 3m

A LITERARY CURIOSITY.

MARK TWAIN

AND

CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER'S

NEW BOOK, ENTITLED

THE GILDED AGE.

Just fitted to the times. Sells easier and more rapidly than any other book now in market.

AGENTS wanted everywhere. Send for terms and sample pages to NETTLETON & CO., oc2 1y 180 West Fourth St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

SELLING OUT.....SELLING OUT,

REGARDLESS OF COST,

AT A GREAT SACRIFICE,

To close the business, the entire stock of

TOYS, FANCY GOODS, BASKETS,

Trimmings, Bohemian and China Vases, etc., contained in

THE VARIETY STORE,

547.....MAGAZINE STREET.....547

(HASTING'S ROW,)

Between Felicity and St. Mary streets.

The Show Cases, Shelving and Counters for sale cheap. no6 75p

S. COLLINS & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

PRINTING INK.

Office and Depot—26 Frankfort St.,

oc9 3m NEW YORK.

WANTED.

The highest Cash Price paid for Rags, Old Paper, Rope, etc., at

THE LOUISIANA PAPER MILLS,

Nos. 241 and 243 Liberty Street,

Between Girod and Julia.

de4 2m BROWN & PEMBERTON, Proprietors.

WANTED.

A graduate of the Virginia Military Institute desires a situation in a College or other institution of learning. For information address

REV. R. J. HARP,

New Orleans Christian Advocate Office, no20 1m No. 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

WANTED.—TO KNOW THE ADDRESS OF Nicholas Perkins and his wife, Martha Perkins, who formerly resided, and may still reside, in this city. Any person able to give the desired information will confer a favor by forwarding the same to G. A. C., care Box 814, de11 tf New Orleans, La.

MEDICAL.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

—IT IS—

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver diseases most prevail. It will cure all diseases caused by derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE

is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.

After over forty years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the

MOST EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC

for Constipation, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, despondency, gloom and forebodings of evil, all of which are the offspring of a diseased Liver.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion it Has No Equal.

☞ It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world. Manufactured only by J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. se25 1y

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

THE STARTLING DRAWBACK ON nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for an agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY and STRENGTHEN

At One and the Same Time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which fully realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. This important desideratum is

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,

which purifies the blood and removes all corrupt humor and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but, on the contrary, tones the stomach and invigorates the body during the progress of its operation. It unites the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a strengthening purgative and a purifying tonic.

DR. TUTT'S PILLS are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation. They produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.

Price, 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists.

Principal Office, Nos. 18 and 20 Platt street, New York. oc2 1y5p

FREE!.....FREE!.....FREE

50,000

BUTTERICK & CO.'S

CATALOGUES of WINTER FASHIONS

Just received and ready for distribution,

FREE!

THE METROPOLITAN,

published monthly, and containing all the Latest Novelties in Dress, at $2 a year, or 25 cents for single copy.

A full and complete assortment of BUTTERICK & CO.'S celebrated PAPER PATTERNS always on hand. Send for club rates. Address WM. E. COOPER, Agent, no20 1m 89 Canal street.

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

AWARDED IN 1873 TO

J. G. BERMEL,

121.....CANAL STREET.....121

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Cheapest Human Hair Manufactory in the South.

Gloves, Fans, Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Fancy and Jet Jewelry, Pocket-Books, Opera Glasses, Walking-Canes, Crutches, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc.

A fine assortment of rich Bronze and Gilt ORNAMENTS, well adapted for the approaching Holidays, will be sold at cost. oc20 2m5p

MANUALS OF MATHEMATICAL INSTRUMENTS,

The Child's Corner.

WRIGGLES.

BY GEORGE COOPER.

Wriggles is a little boy
Whose mother can't be still;
Squirming is his only joy,
And squirm he ever will.
Jackets will not stay on him,
And buttons will not hold;
Then he has a funny whim
For jumping-Jacks, I'm told.

Wriggles loves the butterflies
And birds; but then he feels Very kindly toward sad sighs
For tadpoles and for eels.
With the boys he went to school—
'Twas down a winding lane;
He set them squirming, 'spite the rule;
They all squirmed home again.

Wriggles went to fly a kite
Upon the house's top;
There he ran with all his might—
So fast he couldn't stop!
Down he spun! The folks below
Looked up in fear and pain.
Little Wriggles wriggled so
He wriggled back again!

Ensign Jackman's Dog.

Ensign Jackman was an old Vermont farmer. He had a good dog, that for some reason bore half of his owner's name, being plain Jack; and it would be no reflection on the old man's sense if we should say the creature knew half as much as he did. Jackman once owed his life to Jack; and it all came about by his taking him with him to his wood-lot, which was a good way distant from his house. Almost every day during the winter the farmer and his dog went off together, always returning safely with the great loads of wood, until one afternoon, as they were jogging homeward, the sled canted on a stone, and the uppermost log on the load rolled off on the ensign's side, taking him unaware, knocked him down, and held him there wedged in between the runner and a huge bowlder which almost overhung the path.

As he fell he instinctively shouted "Whoa!" to the oxen; and they stopped at once, then and there. If they had started at all the sidling load would have been precipitated upon his head; but, trained and most obedient of creatures, like all good oxen, they minded what was said to them, and halted with the toppling logs ready to roll off at the first movement. But, though they might stand there all the afternoon, as probably they would, when night drew near they would go home. Besides, there was no help in them.

While this had been happening Jack had been off careering about the woods, hunting hares and starting up partridges, and having a most delightful time; but now, when the ensign whistled for him, he came bounding back to the sled, saw what had happened, and that he could not get at his master, and started for home with the speed of a race-horse.

Mother Jackman saw him coming down the road, and he seemed to her to be flying. His lameness did not hinder him then. He cleared the ground like a deer running for his life. She knew that something was the matter, and rushed to the door, but, instead of stopping there, he shot past, and kept straight on, by several houses and shops, to the shoemaker's. Meanwhile she caught up a shawl, and set out for the woods.

Jack had evidently gone through with some process of reasoning which brought him to the conclusion that it was a case in which a woman could not help, not even his own mistress. And so he sped by everybody else to the one man who had befriended him.

He burst on into the presence of the shoemaker, pulled at his shirt-sleeves, and ran to the door, whining. The man put on his coat and followed. At the grocery store, next door, he stopped long enough to tell of the dog's conduct; then borrowed a horse and sleigh which stood waiting while the owner was making purchases, and drove on after Jack.

Men came out along the road until there was quite a party on the way, some in sleighs and some on foot. When the old lady was overtaken she was picked up and conveyed along.

Jack led the way. There stood the patient oxen in their tracks; they had not lifted so much as one of their feet in all that time. And there lay the ensign, quite insensible now, just where he had fallen.—Dumb Animals.

Jesus the Guide.

An army was once marching to attack a castle when night came on. It became so dark that a man could scarcely see a yard from his face. So the men stumbled up against one another and fell, and others trampled on those that had fallen. Then many began to quarrel among themselves, and flung themselves down on the ground in despair, and others wandered off from the rest, and tried to find the way for themselves. But the enemy had dug pitfalls here and there, and had set traps and laid mines, and many of the wandering soldiers fell into the traps and pitfalls. Then they were in great terror. First one said, "I know the way; follow me;" then another said, "No, but follow me; I know it better;" but none of the men really knew the right way, and they only led those that followed them into worse mischief.

At last came up the real guide, with a lantern in his hand, and he said: "Be still, all of you. I will go on before with my lantern; you must keep your eyes fixed on it, and follow it, and it will lead you rightly."

Then he went on before them, and, though the lantern was but a small one, it shone out so brightly that it lit up all the country round; and the soldiers could now see all the traps and pitfalls, and, besides, they could see each other distinctly, and knew what their neighbors were doing, just as though it had been daylight; and they no longer stumbled up against each other, but all marched on in order, keeping step as they went. Then they very soon came to the enemy's castle.

The siege lasted a long time, but in the end the castle was taken and utterly destroyed.

The castle is sin. All Christians make war against sin. Some children may think that they can guide themselves and others in the right way without Jesus; but they cannot. Jesus is the real guide, and the lantern is Christian love. One of the best friends of Jesus wrote in a book that "if we love one another we walk in the light, and there is no occasion for stumbling." If we do not love one another, then we shall be perpetually offending and stumbling against our neighbors.—Parables for Children.

Farm, Garden and Household.

Flavoring With Leaves.

Leaves are more or less popular for garnishing, but it has often surprised me, says a correspondent of the Garden, that they are so little used for flavoring. With the exception of sweet and bitter herbs grown chiefly for the purpose, and parsley (which is neither bitter nor sweet, but the most popular of all flavoring plants,) comparatively few other leaves are used. Perhaps I ought also to except the sweet bay, which is popular in rice and other puddings, and certainly imparts one of the most pleasant and exquisite flavors. But, on the other hand, what a waste there is of the flavoring properties of peach, almond and laurel leaves, so richly charged with the essence of bitter almonds, so much used in most kitchens! Of course such leaves must be used with caution, but so must the spirit as well. An infusion of these could readily be made, either green or dry, and a tea or tablespoonful of the flavoring liquor used to taste. One of the most useful and harmless of all leaves for flavoring is that of the common syringa. When cucumbers are scarce these are a perfect substitute in salads or anything in which that flavor is desired. The taste is not only like that of cucumbers, but identical—a curious instance of the correlation of flavors in widely different families. Again, the young leaves of cucumbers have a striking likeness in the way of flavor to that of the fruit. The same may be affirmed of carrot-tops, which are as like carrots in taste as may be. In most gardens there is a prodigious waste of celery flavor in the sacrifice of the external leaves and their partially blanched footstalks. Scores of sticks of celery are cut up into soup when the outsides would flavor it equally well or better. The young leaves of gooseberries added to bottled fruit give a fresher flavor and a greener color to pies and tarts. The leaves of the flowering currant give a sort of intermediate flavor between that of black currants and red. Orange, citron and lemon leaves impart a flavoring equal to that of the fruit and rind combined, and somewhat different from both. A few leaves added to pies, or boiled in the milk used to bake with rice, or formed into crusts or paste, impart an admirable and almost inimitable bouquet. In short, leaves are not half so much used for seasoning purposes as they might be.

CHEESE-MAKING IN TEXAS.—A Mr. Brown, who emigrated from Jefferson county, New York, to Erath county, Texas, began there experiments in cheese-making, in 1869. With rude apparatus he made, from 35 common Texas range cows, 1,000 pounds; lost 700 pounds of it, and sold the rest for 35 cents per pound. With better apparatus, obtained from the North in 1870, he made from 40 cows of the same grade, 2,000 pounds, and lost about 300. Inferring that the loss was not owing to climate, cows or feed, but to improper management of the business in that untried climate, he improved the winter following in gaining information from the best authorities on cheese-making; procured Bavarian prepared rennet, and last season tried again, and with very satisfactory results, not losing 10 pounds. He estimates that, with good management, an ordinary Texas cow will make during the season 100 pounds of cheese, besides rearing a calf, and at least $40 worth of pork may be raised on the whey from her milk, properly fed out.

MINERAL-WATER FOR PLANTS.—A curious discovery has recently been made public in France in regard to the culture of vegetables and fruit-trees. By watering with a solution of sulphate of iron the most wonderful fecundity has been attained. Pear-trees and beans, which have been submitted to this treatment, have nearly doubled in the size of their productions, and a noticeable improvement has been remarked in their flavor. Dr. Becourt reports that, while at the head of an establishment at Enghein, or the sulphurous springs, he had the gardens and plantations connected with it watered, during several weeks of the early spring, with sulphurous water, and that not only the plantations prospered to a remarkable extent, but flowers acquired a peculiar brilliancy of coloring and healthy aspect, which attracted universal attention.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES OF EGGS.—The white of an egg has proved of late the most efficacious remedy for burns. Seven or eight successful applications of this substance soothes pain and effectually excludes the burned parts from the air. This simple remedy seems preferable to collodion or even cotton.

Extraordinary stories are told of the healing properties of a new oil which is easily made from the yolk of hens' eggs. The eggs are first boiled hard, the yolks are then removed, crushed and placed over a fire, where the whole substance is just on the point of catching fire when the oil separates and may be poured off. One yolk will yield nearly two teaspoonfuls of oil. It is in general use among the colonists of south Russia as a means of curing cuts, bruises and scratches.

SOAKING SEEDS BEFORE PLANTING.—It is a good practice to soak seeds before planting, when the weather is cool, or when danger is apprehended from insects. Professor Mapes used to recommend adding carbonate of ammonia to the water in which the seed is to be soaked. When seeds first germinate they obtain carbonate acid from the soil, having no leaves to absorb it from the atmosphere, and the carbonate of ammonia supplies it. James Campbell has for many years steeped corn and other seeds in a solution of carbonate of ammonia, and is convinced that germination is hastened, as well as the maturity of the crop, and that the yield is increased, other things being equal. The carbonate of ammonia can be had of druggists, and four ounces to a gallon of water may be used.—Science of Health.

CHARCOAL FOR POULTRY.—The benefit which fowls derive from eating charcoal is, I believe, acknowledged. The method of putting it before them is, however, not well understood. Pounded charcoal is not in the shape in which fowls usually find their food, and consequently is not very enticing to them.

I have found that corn burnt on the cob, and the refuse, which consists almost entirely of the grains reduced to charcoal, and still retaining their perfect shape, placed before them, is greedily eaten, with a marked improvement in their health, as is shown by the brighter color of their combs, and their soon producing a greater average of eggs to the flock than before.—Correspondent Poultry World.

GOOD ADVICE.—Let me caution all mothers never, never, NEVER to put anything into a child's ear. If afflicted with the earache roast an onion and place it upon the ear, or make a common flaxseed poultice. It is also good to syringe the ear with warm water.

A gentleman once asked a distinguished physician of Boston what he should use to get the wax out of his ears, and received the following answer: "Sir, you may with impunity put your elbow into your ear whenever you choose and can get it there; but never use anything else, as there is danger of injuring the drum."—Household.

A BOSTON PREACHER, in speaking of the danger of permitting the Bible to be crowded out by the newspaper, perpetrated the following excellent pun: "Men nowadays," said he, "are, like Zaccheus, desirous of seeing Jesus, but they cannot because of the Press."

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

M. J. & D. D. O'RIEN,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
AND
DEALERS IN CORN, OATS, BRAN AND HAY,
32 Peters St. (late New Levee.)
no20 2m New Orleans.

ANDREW J. AIKEN. JOHN W. WATT.
AIKEN & WATT,
COTTON FACTORS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
60 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.
Special attention given to orders for the purchase of all descriptions of Produce, Agricultural Implements and Plantation Supplies. no6 1y

G. M. BAYLY & POND,
WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Nos. 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Canal, and 59 and 61 Common Street,
Ja23 1y New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

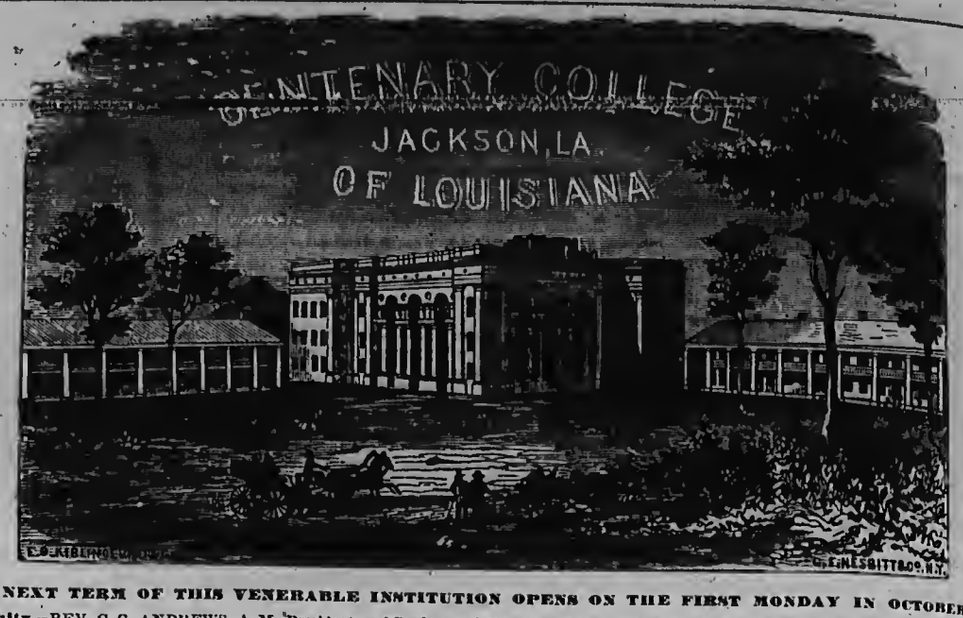
LANDRETH'S SEEDS — Have spoken their own praise for upward of three-quarters of a century.
☞ The attention of Market Gardeners is particularly requested.
LANDRETH'S RURAL REGISTER AND ALMANAC will be mailed without charge to all who apply.
DAVID LANDRETH & SON,
21 and 23 South Sixth street,
se18 4m Philadelphia, Pa.

ALEXANDER MILLS.

ORGAN BUILDER,
NO. 539 BROOME STREET,
oc2 3m NEW YORK.

CHEAPEST AND BEST!



CHICAGO FARM PUMPS!
Send for Price List.
R.S. Twichell, New Orleans.
oc30 6m

JOHN GIBSON,
ENGRAVER
AND
Steam Power Lithographic Printer,
82 BEEKMAN ST., NEW YORK.
Checks, Notes, Drafts, Receipts, Bonds, Certificates of Stock and Deposit, Bill, Letter and Note Headings, Business Cards, Envelops, Druggists' Fancy and Perfumery Labels, etc. Druggists wishing Labels, send for catalogue. jy3 1y

FLINN'S PATENT
SELF-FASTENING AND ADJUSTABLE
BED SPRINGS
Make the Best Spring Beds in Use.
They are complete in themselves, and can be applied in a few minutes to any slat bedstead.
☞ From three to five dozen make a Set.
JOHN FLINN,
248 South Second St., Philadelphia, Pa
Cor. S. Water and Champlain Sts., Cleveland.
Agents wanted everywhere. se18 1y

CARPET WAREHOUSE.
17 ..... CHARTRES STREET..... 17
A. BROUSSEAU & CO., Importers and Dealers, at Wholesale and Retail, in English and American Carpetings; Floor Oil Cloths; Table and Enameled Oil Cloths; Window Shades; Table and Piano Covers; Crumb Cloths, in squares or pieces Curtain and Furniture Materials; Brocatelles, Cotelines, Terries, Reps, Lace and Nottingham Lace Curtains; Haircloth Ticking; Springs; Curtains; Step Covers, etc.
de1 1y A. BROUSSEAU & CO.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

THE NEXT TERM OF THIS VENERABLE INSTITUTION OPENS ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER.

Faculty.—REV. C. G. ANDREWS, A. M., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Political Economy and International Law; A. R. HOLCOMBE, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Adjunct Professor of Natural Science; G. H. WILEY, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages; T. S. JONES, M. D., Professor of Natural Science; REV. R. D. NORSWORTHY, A. M., Principal of the Preparatory Department.
Charges.—Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in College, $60; Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in Preparatory Department, $40; Contingent expenses, $5. A matriculation fee of $5 must be paid on entering any regular college class. One-half the charges must be paid when the student enters, the other half on the beginning of the second term, March 1.
Board.—Board, including lodging, washing, lights and fuel, can be had in the best families for $20 per month. Day boarding with the same family, $15 per month. Rooms provided in the dormitories free of rent. Board to be paid in advance at least one month.
Location.—This institution is located in the lovely village of Jackson, about twelve miles from Bayou Sara, in a grove of pine, magnolia, oak and beech. The location is remarkable for its beautiful woodlands, its bland and delightful atmosphere, its pure water, its unrivaled healthfulness, and its cultivated and refined society.
When Founded.—The college was established by the State of Louisiana in 1825, and ceded to the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1845.
Alumni.—Its Alumni numbers two hundred and three, and they are to be found in the most honorable and useful stations in the land.
Apparatus and Cabinet.—The college possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus, and also a well-selected Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet. The apparatus includes a Theodolite, Sextant, Compass, Chronometer, Atwood's Machine, Whirling Tables, Electrical Machine, Air Pump, various combinations of the Mechanical Powers, Batteries, Chemical Tests, etc., sufficient for a thorough and extended course of observations and experiments. Steps have been taken by the Board of Trustees to put these in thorough repair.
Literary Societies.—There are two regular Literary Societies connected with the Institution. These are of great utility to young men acquiring a liberal education—improving them in the art of public speaking, making them in some degree familiar with the proceedings of deliberative bodies, and cultivating systematic business habits. Each Society has a convenient hall and a well-selected Library—about one thousand six hundred volumes which, added to the College Library of two thousand volumes, makes over five thousand volumes in the college.
Buildings.—The Trustees are determined to continue the repairs on the buildings till completed. The grand Center Building is a noble specimen of architectural beauty and adaptation to the purposes of its erection. The wings, built of solid brick, present each a front of two hundred feet, with upper and lower galleries the entire length, supported by Tuscan columns, and with the center making in the perspective a continuous front of seven hundred feet.
Preparatory Department,—in the Preparatory Department students are fitted for regular college classes, or may obtain a thorough English and commercial education.
The Faculty.—Its Faculty are men of experience and success in teaching.

Board of Trustees.—Rev. Bishop J. C. KEENER, D. D., President, New Orleans.

Hon. Edward McGehee, Woodville, Mississippi.
Hon. John McVea, Clinton.
Hon. and Rev. James H. Muse, St. Helena parish.
Prof. W. H. N. Magruder, Baton Rouge.
Rev. H. H. Montgomery, Sharon, Mississippi.
C. G. McGehee, Esq., Wilkinson county, Miss.
Rev. John C. Miller, Jackson.
Josiah D. Nettles, Esq., East Baton Rouge, La.
Rev. J. A. Godfrey, Clinton.
Hon. E. T. Merrick, New Orleans.
Hon. Edward J. Gay, parish of Iberville.
Hon. J. O. Fuqua, Baton Rouge.
D. C. Hardee, Esq., Clinton.
Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans.
Samuel J. Norwood, Esq., Shumsport, Louisiana.
William L. Nugent, Esq., Jackson, Mississippi.
Rev. J. L. Forsythe, Jackson.
Rev. John A. Ellis, Meridian, Mississippi.
Hon. A. K. Farrar, Adams county, Mississippi.
Rev. W. H. Watkins, D. D., Natchez, Mississippi.
Rev. L. Parker, D. D., New Orleans.
Robert M. Walmsley, Esq., New Orleans.
Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Port Gibson, Mississippi.
Wilmot H. Goodale, Esq., Baton Rouge.
Rev. C. G. Andrews, Jackson, Louisiana.
Rev. A. E. Goodwyn, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

jy24 6m Address C. G. ANDREWS, President, Jackson, La.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

DANIEL & JAMES D. EDWARDS,
NOS. 22, 24, 26 AND 28 FRONT ST.
AND
NOS. 21, 23, 25 AND 27 DELTA ST.
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA
MANUFACTURERS OF
Copper, Brass, Iron and Sheet Iron
WORK OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
ALSO OF
Best and Most Improved Steam Trains for Making Sugar.
DEALERS IN
Wrought Iron Pipe and Fittings, all sizes, Brass Work for Steam, Water and Gas, Boiler Tubes, Bolts, Nuts and Washers, Well and Cistern Pumps, Drove Well Pumps, and Well Points, Steam Syphon Pumps, Rubber Hose, Steam Packing, Steam and Water Gauges, Fine Brushes, Sheet Copper, Brass and Iron, Copper and Brass Wire, Machinists' Tools and Machinery Supplies, etc.
AGENTS FOR
Cameron's Patent Steam Pumps,
Webster's Patent Combination Wrenches
And National Fire Extinguisher.
☞ Send for new Illustrated Price List. fe20 1y

Get the REYNOLDS
REVOLVING, WROUGHT IRON SCREW PLANTATION
COTTON PRESS
IF YOU WANT THE BEST
W.H. REYNOLDS,
COR. SOUTH-MARKET & FULTON STS.
P.O. Box 1690. NEW ORLEANS.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR
Je19 6m

LEWIS JOHNSON,
ENGINE AND MACHINE BUILDER,
Corner Julia, Delta and Water Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
Castings of all kinds. Repairing executed with dispatch. Steam and Vacuum Gauges repaired. Glass Box 753, Postoffice. ap17 1y

THE IMPROVED
LASH WASHING MACHINE.
PRICE ONLY $15.
Warranted Entirely Satisfactory If Used as Directed.
Is unequaled as a "Family Washer," and equally adapted to Schools, Colleges, Hotels, etc. Will "thoroughly wash" the worst-soiled clothing without hand-rubbing in one-third the time usually required, and will not injure the most delicate fabric.
Call on or address Union Box and Machine Manufacturing Co., Room 3, Rear 3139 WALNUT St. Philadelphia, or No. 5 North SEVENTEENTH street. se25 3m

METAIRIE
CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.
OFFICE METAIRIE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION,
No. 27 Carondelet St., New Orleans, Nov. 9 1873.
We will be prepared, on and after the fifteenth of November, to offer for sale LOTS in this Cemetery. We respectfully invite the public to visit the grounds, which are now partly finished and in rapid course of completion.
We also invite parties wishing to secure Lots to call either on the undersigned or at the office of the company, and examine the plans of the grounds, which will afford to owners of Lots and their families a beautifully-shelled carriage-drive of over five miles in extent within its inclosure.
It is the purpose of the Association to so improve and ornament this Cemetery as to make it equal, in point of beauty, to any in this country.
The prices of Lots will be about the same per superficial foot as fixed by other cemeteries in this city.
W. S. PIKE,
no20 1m Prest. Metairie Cemetery Association.

SHERMAN HOUSE,
COR. CLARK AND RANDOLPH STS.,
Chicago, Illinois.
C. S. MUNSON, MANAGER.
This splendid Hotel, rebuilt on its former site was thrown open for the reception of guests April 10. Its exterior is grand and imposing, its appointments unique and magnificent throughout, and its management unsurpassed. jy10 1y

HARDWARE, STOVES, ETC.

A. BALDWIN. C. A. SLOCOMB.
C. EUSTIS. A. D. SLOCOMB.
In commendam.
HARDWARE ..... HARDWARE.
A. BALDWIN & CO.,
SUCCESSORS TO
SLOCOMB, BALDWIN & CO.,
71 Canal, and 91, 93 and 95 Common St.,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
Foreign and Domestic Hardware,
GUNS, LOCKS, CUTLERY, NAILS, STEEL,
IRON CASTINGS, ETC.
Agents for J. E. Carver's Gin, Coats' Roller Iron, Valentine & Butler's Safes, E. & G. Brooke's Cut Nails and Spikes, etc. no27 3m

THE UNRIVALED

BUCK'S BRILLIANT STOVE.
Every Brilliant is Fully Guaranteed.
H. HALLER,
NO. 49 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS,
Sole Agent for Louisiana.
Sole Agent for the
CELEBRATED RINGEN WASHER
In the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi. no13 1y

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

THE AMERICAN
SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION
OFFERS
Special Terms to Sunday Schools
IN THE SELECTION OF NEW AND
REPLENISHING OF OLD LIBRARIES
Catalogues furnished on application to any of the
SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPOSITORIES.
No. 1122 Chestnut street, Philadelphia—ALEX. KIRKPATRICK.
No. 10 Bible House, New York—G. S. SCOFIELD.
No. 40 Winter street, Boston—E. SHUTE.
No. 261 West Madison St., Chicago—W. H. PORT.
No. 207 N. Sixth St., St. Louis—S. PAXSON. se13 6m

R. ESTERBROOK & CO.'S
STEEL PENS.
FOR SALE BY
ALL BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS IN THE UNITED STATES.
Esterbrook Steel Pen Manufactur'g Co.,
49 MAIDEN LANE, NEW YORK.
Works—Camden, New Jersey. oc2 1y

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S
STEEL PENS.
SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.
MANUFACTURERS' WAREHOUSE,
No. 91 John Street, New York.
JOSEPH GILLOTT & SON.
HENRY HOE, Sole Agent. je26 1y

TO THE PUBLIC.
Those who contemplate giving up housekeeping this winter, and desire to have their FURNITURE carefully packed for shipping or storing will do well to call on
J. BOIS,
No. 281 Camp street.
N. B.—Furniture repaired and bought. Carpets taken up and cleaned, etc. oc22 2m

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

HOMER COLLEGE,
HOMER, CLAIBORNE PARISH, LA.
COURSE OF EDUCATION
THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL.
Total Expense Per Annum from $150 to $207.
SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 15, 1874.
☞ Send for a catalogue to
REV. J. LANE BORDEN, President.
Tuition free to children of Preachers in regular work. jy4

HIWASSEE COLLEGE,
UNDER CARE OF
The Holston Conference, M. E. Church South.
Founded in 1849. Greatly improved. Boarding house, with farm of five hundred acres. Faculty full. Instruction thorough. Located in the quiet country, seven miles from railroad, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad. Expenses of tuition, board, lodging and washing less than $150 a year. Economy and economy any day. For further information address
REV. J. H. BRUNER,
se25 6m Sweetwater, Tenn.

SCUDDER'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
The Commercial Athenæum of the Southern Camp and Common streets (entry Bank Mercantile and Banking offices are connected with this institution, daily lectures given, all branches of a business education practically, scientifically and philosophically taught. An Elementary Department for boys, twelve to eighteen years of age, is a special feature of this institution. French and Spanish are also taught.
GEO. SOULE, Principal.
N. B.—Soule's Philosophic Commercial Calculator, 300 octavo pages, the greatest mental work of the age, is for sale at the College office. de1

J. W. BLACKMAN'S
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,
131 ..... CARONDELET ST. .....
This is the only Commercial College in the city where students from the country can board in the family of the Principal. There is ample accommodation for thirty to forty students in the college building. This department is under the care of Mrs. Blackman, and in case of sickness they will be properly cared for, and not sent to the hospital, or the cold care of strangers.
All Commercial branches taught. Terms: Thirty per cent. less than other colleges in the city. The Principal has been established in New Orleans since 1851. For circulars address
J. W. BLACKMAN,
oc30 3m 131 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

BULBS! SEEDS!
CATALOGUE OF Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocus, Lilies,
IS NOW READY,
and will be mailed FREE to all applicants who desire every lover of Flowers to write in for a copy of our assortment of Vegetable and Flower Seeds, which is complete, and growing our own seeds, and procuring from reliable sources, we know that the Seeds are pure and true. Correspondence solicited. Address
KERN, STEBER & CO.,
Seed Growers and Merchants,
oc23 3m No. 211 Market street, St. Louis.

NEW ORLEANS
PURCHASING BUREAU
To the Ladies of the South.
A Purchasing Agency has been established in New Orleans, Louisiana, for the benefit of those residing at a distance from the city, and who may not the facilities for obtaining just what they require.
MRS. H. MOORIDGE
respectfully offers her services in selecting, purchasing and forwarding any article of apparel or personal adornment for ladies' and children's wear, including MILLINERY, DRY GOODS, JEWELRY, BRIDAL TROUSSEAUX, Fancy and Staple Articles, Trimmings, Underwear, Sewing Machines, etc., etc.
Scrupulous care with reference to the price, quality, and fidelity to the interest and faithful execution of the wishes of correspondents, will be secured and carried out.
MRS. H. MOORIDGE,
At Mrs. Doherty's Elegant Millinery and Dressmaking Establishment, 93 Canal street, Over Zimmerman's Jewelry Store, New Orleans.
☞ Send for circular

BEEF! ..... BEEF! ..... BEEF!
FRESH BEEF, VEAL, MUTTON
AND PORK.
Country and city orders filled with dispatch.
J. STAFFORD'S MEAT STORE
Cor. St. Peter and Old Levee Sts.
The very best quality of Fresh Meats always on hand. Orders from the country filled at the lowest prices and carefully attended to. Plantations supplied with the best Meats with promptitude and at the lowest possible figures. Address
J. STAFFORD, Meat Store,
Corner St. Peter and Old Levee streets,
de1 2m New Orleans.

CHURCH AND
SCHOOL FURNITURE.
The undersigned calls the attention of all interested in fitting up Churches and Schools to his numerous styles of School Desks, especially his PLUS ULTRA DESK, which has been adopted all the new Public Schools erected this last year in New York; as also new styles of Pulpits, Settees for Sunday Schools, Pews, etc.; also his last invention of combined Easel and Map or Lesson-Card Elevator.
Altars, Tabernacles, Banners, Altar Boxes, Etc.
NATH. JOHNSON,
No. 490 Hudson street, New York.
Catalogues forwarded on application. oc2

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

DITSON & CO.'S

CELEBRATED

HOME MUSICAL LIBRARY.

Selected Collections of Sound Music.

VOCAL.

GEMS OF GERMAN SONG.
GEMS OF SCOTTISH SONG.
GEMS OF SACRED SONG.
WREATH OF GEMS.
OPERATIC PEARLS.
SILVER CHORD.
SHOWER OF PEARLS. Duets.
MUSICAL TREASURE. Vocal and Instrumental.

INSTRUMENTAL.

FOR PIANOFORTE OR REED ORGAN.

GEMS OF STRAUSS.
ORGAN AT HOME.
PIANIST'S ALBUM.
PIANOFORTE GEMS.
HOME CIRCLE. Volumes I and 2.

Price of each book, in cloth, $3; in boards, $2.50; in paper, $1. The above splendid books are perfect storehouses of the best and most popular music, being selected as the "cream" from an immense stock. Two hundred to two hundred and fifty pages, full sheet-music size, in each book. Cheap books for presents. In each book you get $5 worth of music. In the whole library, costing according to binding, $35, $42 or $50, you will get $50 worth!

Sent post-paid, on receipt of retail price.

CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.,
711 Broadway, New York.
OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
Boston.

my21y

GOOD BOOK.

SOLD BY CANVASSING AGENTS ONLY.

DR. DEEMS' "JESUS."

A National History to Prove the Divinity of Christ.

Agents will find this the best-selling Book of the season. Clergymen, students and book agents will find it a UNIVERSAL BOOK.

UNITED STATES PUBLISHING CO.,
11 and 13 University Place, New York.
3m

NEW BOOK FOR AGENTS.—We want Agents everywhere for a new, beautifully illustrated work of the author's own adventures.

WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.

Incidents of nearly THIRTY YEARS of hunting and trapping, captivity among the Comanches, Mexican wars, encounters with Apaches, Grizzly Bears, etc. Thrillingly interesting. Send circular and the most LIBERAL terms; or, if you wish to begin work, send $1 for complete outfit.

F. A. HUTCHINSON & CO.,
St. Louis, Mo
my

AGENTS WANTED.—ACT AT ONCE.—The people everywhere are eager to buy the authentic and complete history of

LIVINGSTONE.

The wonderful discoveries and thrilling adventures during Twenty-eight Years in the wilds of Africa, and resurrection by the daring STANLEY. 700 pages, beautifully illustrated; only $2.50. Sells like wildfire! Write for extra terms; or, if you wish to begin at once, send $1 for outfit.

VALLEY PUBLISHING CO.,
St. Louis, Mo.
my

Wanted

Farmers, Farmers, Ministers, Young Men and Women (from whom we pay $20 to $75 a week) to act as Agents for the Empty Clemmer Ames' New Book, TEN YEARS IN WASHINGTON.

Tells all the inner facts, wonders, mysteries, secret history of the Capital. "As a Woman Sees Them." Is entirely unobjectionable with every woman, hunter, pushes itself right to sell. It is indispensable to every wide-awake man, woman, or child—is popular everywhere, with old, and selling fast and wide by thousands. 50 Engravings, Steel portrait of author. Agents! don't miss this. Money for You in this work. Terms Big; for parties (in readers of the Advocate, everywhere, Southern especially, B.) Circ'l Free to anyone. We pay freight on books. Readers write at once for particulars (free) to

QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO.,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
my

BIG Commission on rapidly-selling works for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Red Men, Mechanics, Temperance, etc. Sales unprecedented. One Agent clears $1,200 in three months, another over $200 in five days, another $90 in eight hours, scores $50 in a day. Write for circular and prove this. Give number of your Lodge, and name this paper.

J. HALE POWERS & CO.,
Fraternity Publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio.
my

THE PRACTICAL POCKET COMMENTARY AND BIBLE DICTIONARY.

Six volumes. One Dollar each. Acknowledged the best and cheapest Comanentary on the Bible extant. By the Rev. Drs. JAMIESON, FAUSSET & BROWN. Sold only by subscription. Agents wanting territory address

BLACKALLER & TURNER,
Room 9, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.
my

BOOK AGENTS, REJOICE!—IT IS A FACT! Thanks to More! MARK TWAIN'S New Book, THE GILDED AGE, now ready. Secure territory before it is too late. Canvassing outfit, with terms, address

CONTINENTAL PUBLISHING CO.,
New Orleans or St. Louis.
my

LUCKY AGENTS WANTED to sell our Modern United States and State Maps, and Pictorial and Religious Charts. Large profits to Agents. Small capital needed.

E. C. BRIDGMAN,
No. 5 Barclay street, New York.
3m

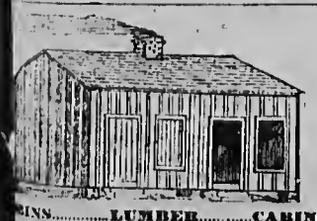
AGENTS WANTED TO ENGAGE IN A permanent, lucrative and respectable business. None but energetic and responsible persons need apply.

A. COYLE,
419 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo.
6m

FROM A RECENT ANALYSIS BY Prof. W. O. Atwater, of Yale College, the following table will show the chemical composition of YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Albuminoids | 12.45 | Sugar | 13.06 |
| Fat | 5.21 | Starch | 55.62 |
| Ash | 8.59 | Cellulose | 2.95 |
| | 2.12 | | |

It will be seen that the Albuminoids (albumen, gluten, caseln, etc.) constitute nearly thirteen per cent. "These," says Youmans, "are the flesh-forming principles—the true elements of nutrition."



It is particularly valuable to all requiring a highly nutritious and at the same time, easily assimilated diet, and hence is used as an article of food in consumption in eliminates which occasion waste of the system. "Almost all Asiatics, Africans and (aboriginal) Americans use it as their chief nourishment."—Louis Figuier, in his "The Vegetable World."

The Hermetically-sealed YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN has all the nutritive qualities of the grain are preserved. The grain is cut from the ear and by the canisters with the rich juices (or milk) exude from it, and is then sealed air-tight in a canister subjected to steam heat, which dilates the albumen. In this condition it will keep for years. It will be seen by this that all the nutritive properties of the grain are preserved, and the most nourishing article of food in the domain of nature are placed within the reach of all.

RECEIVED THE AWARD OF THE Centennial Exposition, American Institute, and Great Exposition of Cordova.

Packed under the original patent. Ask your grocer for it.

PORTLAND PACKING CO.,
Portland, Maine.
jy

CABINS.....LUMBER.....CABINS.

PLANTATION CABINS, manufactured in the city and shipped to the country, all framed, fitted, and each piece marked and numbered, so that a child can put them up without the aid of a carpenter.

The above represents a double Cabin of two rooms each 14x15, built with boards placed upright and battens stripped. Price, delivered to boat, including all hardware, nails, shingles, etc., $125. Cabins of them of all sizes. Cost in proportion.

Also keep a large stock of LUMBER, SASH, DOORS on hand, and make a specialty of sawing bills to order.

W. W. CARRE & CO.,
350 Delord street, New Orleans.
my

BREWERS' EFFERVESCING

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA,

In ounce bottles, in powder. This Magnesia is a purgative and aperient, very acceptable to the stomach for sick Headache, Sour or Sick Stomach, and all Febrile cases. Good for all seasons of the year. For sale by druggists. Prepared by A. C. ROGERS, 195 Spring St., N. Y.
oc9 3m

BUSINESS CARDS.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

MRS. KATE C. LOUD,

notifies her customers that she has reopened her MILLINERY, DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING BUSINESS, at

No. 9 Bourbon Street,

two doors from the corner of Canal, a few steps from her late premises, destroyed by fire on Friday night. She is prepared to fill orders as heretofore.
de11 2m

T. W. BOTHICK, UNDERTAKER,

No. 271 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Metallic, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Rosewood COFFINS always on hand. Black, Satin, Brown and White Merino Ladies' and Children's Shrouding. Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Hearses, Carriages and Cabs for hire. Funerals attended to in person by the proprietor, who hopes, by strict attention, to obtain a share of public patronage.
de4 1y

T. A. BECK, COOPER,

NOS. 23 AND 21 FRONT STREET,

Between Customhouse and Bienville streets (Sugar Landing,) New Orleans, has constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Hoop Poles, etc. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to trimming.

de4 1y

J. SEGASSIE,

DEALER IN

Western Produce, Hay, Corn, Oats,

BRAN, FLOUR, CORN MEAL, ETC.,

NO. 97 OLD LEVEE STREET,

del 2m New Orleans.

THE NEW CHEAP JOHN

(JOHN HANSEN)

continues to Manufacture, in spite of the FIRE, First-class

Custom-Made Boots and Shoes,

better and cheaper than ever, at No. 33 CANAL street, corner of Peters, next door to Cogan's Clothing House.
no13 2m

C. W. ROTH,

DEALER IN

Staple and Fancy Groceries,

175.....POYDRAS STREET.....175

Corner Carondelet, New Orleans.

TEAS AND COFFEES a specialty. no27 1m

H. FEHSENFELD,

(Formerly with Daniel Corren,)

Millinery and Trimming Store,

191.....CANAL STREET.....194

Bet. Dryades and Rampart, New Orleans.

Country orders promptly attended to. no27 2m

PRICES TO SATISFY ALL.

CHARLES HAMILTON,

Practical Picture Framer, Etc.,

661.....MAGAZINE STREET.....661

Old Shades renewed (as good as new) at 75 cents a piece.
no 2m

COAL.....COAL.

H. & C. TYLER,

9.....CARONDELET ST.....9

will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates.
oc30 3m

H. & C. TYLER.

J. M. ELKIN. F. STRINGER.

ELKIN & CO.,

168.....CANAL STREET.....168

Near Baronne, New Orleans,

IMPORTERS OF ALL VARIETIES OF

English Carpetings, Rugs, Etc., Etc.

Also Oil Cloths, Mattings, Curtain Damasks, Lace Curtains, Window Shades, etc.
oc23 1y

JOHN I. ADAMS. JAY L. ADAMS. WM. R. RENAUD.

JOHN I. ADAMS & CO.,

WHOLESALE GROCERS,
AND DEALERS IN
PROVISIONS, LARD, OIL, ETC.,

Nos. 43, 45 and 47 Peters Street,

(Formerly New Levee.)

mh27 1y New Orleans.

JAMES N. QUIN,

PRACTICAL

GAS AND STEAM-PIPE FITTER.

All kinds of Brass Work, General Southern Agent for the celebrated Nichols Patent Challenge Wind Mill; also for Challenge Feed Mills, Hay Cutters, Corn Shellers and Drove Wells. For price list and circulars address J. N. QUIN, Ja30 1y 116 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans.

J. U. PAYNE. GEORGE MOORMAN.
H. M. PAYNE. J. O. FARHAM.

J. U. & H. M. PAYNE & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS,

64 and 66.....Baronne Street.....64 and 66

Between Union and Gravier streets,

Je19 1y New Orleans, La.

F. WAGENER, AGENT,

FRAMING STORE,

13 Baronne St., near Canal, New Orleans.

Frames of all descriptions made to order at the shortest notice and at New York prices.

Pictures and Window Shades put up. Cords, Tassels and Shade Fixtures for sale.
my15 1y

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING,

CUTTING AND FITTING,

At Reasonable Prices, by

MRS. M. TOURNABEN,
No. 206 Prytania street,
mh27 1y Corner of St. Mary, New Orleans.

A. S. CUTLER,

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,

136½.....Camp Street.....136½

Bet. Girod and Lafayette, New Orleans.

Graining, Gilding, Glazing, Kalsomining and Wall-coloring.
my8 1y

Box 35, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange.

J. A. LUM. FRANK H. HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

182 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.
my29 9m

F. ENTEVA,

CIGAR DEPOT,

Corner of Camp and Girod Streets,

New Orleans, La.

Havana and Domestic Cigars always on hand. Country orders promptly attended to.
oc30 3m

WILLIAM EHERT,

ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS,

AND GENERAL HOUSESMITH.

Iron Railings, Tomb Railings, Fences and Verandas of all kinds made to order; also Iron Shutters, Doors, Window and Door Gratings.

161 and 166 Magazine St., New Orleans.

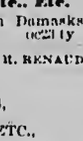
Box 213, Mechanics' Exchange. ap10 1y



LEWIS LOCKWOOD,

MANUFACTURER OF

Dr. D. BLY'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEGS AND ARMS,

125 Gravier St., New Orleans.

Prices from $75 to $160. Satisfaction guaranteed. No advance payment required. The patient can put on the Leg and practically test it as long as desired. Pamphlets sent free.
my8 1y

CRESCENT MACHINE SHOP.

JOSEPH WALKER,

Machinist, Engineer, Blacksmithing,

ETC., ETC.,

CORNER ST. JOSEPH AND CONSTANCE STS., New Orleans.

Plantation Machinery manufactured and repaired. Jobbing promptly attended to.
ja30 1y

C. SAMPSON. F. G. SAMPSON.

SAMPSON BROTHERS,

(LATE C. C. SAMPSON,)

FURNITURE,

33 and 35.....Royal Street.....33 and 35

NEW ORLEANS.

Established in 1833.
ja28 1y

JOHNSON & HILLSMAN,

PRACTICAL PAINTERS,

144.....Magazine Street.....144

House and Sign Painting, Steamboat, Store and Office Painting, Graining, Marbling, Gilding and Kalsomining. All work promptly attended to, and charges moderate. No. 144 Magazine, between Julia and Girod streets.
fe8 1y

TO THE PUBLIC.—I AM NOW PREPARED to remove and repair IRON SAFES; also Lightning Rods repaired and put up to order. I have also on hand New and Second-hand SAFES for sale, both Burglar and Fire-Proof. Particular attention paid to repairing Bank Locks and Printing Presses, on most reasonable terms.

GEORGE COATS,
de26 1y No. 168 Magazine street, near Julia.

Second-hand Sewing Machines always on hand and for sale. Also second-hand Copying Presses.

BUSINESS CARDS.

R. HEATH. M. LARA.

HEATH & LARA,

Importers and Dealers in

UPHOLSTERERS' GOODS, WALL PAPER WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,

Mirrors, Frames, Molding and Wire Screens,

No. 99 Camp Street,

no20 1y New Orleans.

JULIUS LOEFFLER,

GAS FITTER AND DEALER IN GAS FIXTURES, ETC.,

No. 43 Royal Street,

Between Customhouse and Bienville streets,

no20 3m New Orleans.

WILLIAM VELDEN,

DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,

Corner Prytania and Philip Streets.

Oak, Ash, Bakers' Pine, Lightwood and Charcoal always on hand. Wood sawed to stove-length and split.
no6 2m

T. J. BROWN,

PRACTICAL PAPER-HANGER,

And dealer in Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Buff, Green and White Hollands, Picture Cord, Tassels, etc.,

No. 263 Camp Street, New Orleans.

All orders from the country promptly attended to.
no6 3m

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ

134 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Caleche built anywhere
oc23 3m

F. J. KUHNHOLZ,

Book-Binder,

113.....GRAVIER ST.....113

Orders for Ruling and Binding executed with neatness and dispatch. Merchants and others requiring Blank-Books will find it to their interest to order direct from the binder.
oc30 2m

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Boots, Shoes and Brogans,

Corner Ursulines and Dauphine Sts.,

(SIGN OF THE RED BOOT.)

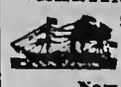
NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of articles in the Boot and Shoe line, for Ladies', Gentlemen's and Children's wear, constantly on hand, and offered at the LOWEST PRICES.
oc30 2m

SANTIAGO M. LAPEYRE,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,



Also Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Etc., Etc.,

No. 53 St. Louis Street,

oc30 2m Cor. St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

THE PREMIUM BUTCHER STALLS.

MARTIN LANNES, BUTCHER,

STALLS 37, 38 and 7,

MAGAZINE MARKET,

New Orleans, Louisiana,

respectfully informs his friends and the public in general that he is prepared to furnish Families, Hotels, Boarding-Houses, Steamboats, Ships and Steamships with the best BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, SAUSAGES, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Game, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords, at the very Lowest Rates. Thanking my customers for past favors, I solicit a continuance of the same. Recollect the Stalls, Nos. 37, 38 and 7, Magazine Market, where all orders sent will be thankfully received and promptly filled. ☞ All Meats delivered free of charge.
oc23 6m

NEW ORLEANS STENCIL WORKS

AND

MAGIC BATTERY MANUFACTORY.

AGENCY OF THE GOLDEN WONDER

GEORGE E. TEETZEL & CO.,

KNGRAVERS STENCIL CUTTERS, STAMP AND SEAL-MAKERS,

82.....Gravier Street.....82

New Orleans, Louisiana.

Manufacturers of all kinds of Cotton Brands Stencil Plates, Ribbon Stamps, Seal Presses, Burning Brands, Door Plates, House Numbers, etc, etc.
Ja30 1y

THE MITCHELL & RAMMELSBERG FURNITURE CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN ALL KINDS OF

FURNITURE,

MATTRESSES,

LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.

Nos. 103 and 105 Camp Street,

Corner Poydras, Moresque Building, New Orleans,

Have the largest and best assortment of FURNITURE OF ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.

Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.
my29 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

B. D. WOOD & BROS.,

106 Common St., opposite City Hotel,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.
my1 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

R. D. MACLIN,

No. 34 Carondelet Street.

Pittsburg, Anthracite and American Cannel Coal, screened for family use. All orders from the country will receive immediate attention.

Yard, cor. Third and Tchoupitoulas Sts.
mh13 1y

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND

—AND—

DOOR FACTORY,

ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,

301, 303, 305 and 307 Gravier Street,

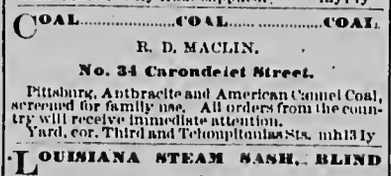
Je5 1y New Orleans.



HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

HAVANA AND DOMESTIC CIGARETTES,

and a full assortment of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, constantly on hand and for sale cheap by

ED. L. ZELL,
Corner Canal and Carondelet streets,
de19 1y New Orleans, La.

WILLIAM J. REIBNE & CO.,

PROPRIETORS OF

Washington Cooperage Establishment,

COR. MARENGO AND LEVEE STS.,

have the most improved steam machinery in operation, and are thus able to make the finest quality of Sugar Hogsheads and Molasses Barrels. Their work guaranteed to prove satisfactory. Office—28 and 29 Front street.
oc23 4m

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED..... NOVEMBER.....

THE PELICAN JOB OFFICE,

WHERE EXPEDITIOUS AND FIRST-CLASS

COMMERCIAL, BOOK AND JOB PRINTING IS EXECUTED;

NOS. 112 AND 114 POYDRAS STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

ERNEST TURPIN, PROPRIETOR.

A BRONZE MEDAL was awarded this office in 1868; also a BRONZE MEDAL AND TWO DIPLOMAS at the Louisiana State Fair, 1872.

Ledgers, Journals, Cash-Books, Check-Books, Time-Books, Music-Books, Ruling, etc.
mh6 1yeew

TO PURCHASERS OF DRY GOODS.

IN VIEW OF OUR SENIOR, MR. HOLMES, RETIRING FROM BUSINESS, WE propose offering from and after this date, at GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, our entire stock of EUROPEAN GOODS, in store and to arrive, and we can to-day present a choice of LADIES' DRESS GOODS such as has never before been offered in this city, consisting of

Satins, Diagonals, Draps de Dames, Cygoline, Camels' Hair Cloth,

BIERITZ, DRAPS IMPERATRICE, SILKS, BLACK AND COLORED. ALSO

CONFECTIONS, ROBES DE CHAMBRES, MATINEES EN PERCALE, ETC.

THE GREATER PORTION AT

ONE-HALF THE PRICE OF IMPORTATION.

Our unsurpassed and unique assortment of LINGERIE AND LINOE, HOSIERY, LINENS AND HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS will come under the category of the heavy reductions.

OUR DOMESTIC STOCK

Will be offered at manufacturers' reduced prices, which are from twenty-five to thirty-three per cent. lower than they were in the beginning of the season. As we rarely appeal to purchasers by means of advertisements, our assurance of the truth of all we advance can be relied on.

D. H. HOLMES,
ap24 1y No. 115 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

GEORGE PURVES'

PERSEVERANCE

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD,

Cor. of St. Charles and Clio Sts., New Orleans.

GLAZED SASH.

Send for Price List.
de11 1y

BUSINESS CARDS.

MRS. LYNCH,

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKER,

180.....Canal Street.....180

Between Baronne and Dryades streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ Patterns for sale.
no20 2m

MRS. S. ZEPHIRIN,

DRY GOODS AND VARIETY STORE,

621.....MAGAZINE STREET.....621

NEW ORLEANS.

A large assortment of SUN-BONNETS always on hand.
no13 2m

LUMBER YARD.....FEED STORE.

F. HEUER,

Dealer in All Kinds of Lumber,

Oak, Ash, Poplar, Cedar, Walnut, Cypress, etc., and all kinds of Flatboat Lumber; also in Hay, Corn, Oats, Bran, etc., 618 and 630 NEW LEVEE street, between Sixth and Seventh streets (Fourth District,) New Orleans.
no13 2m

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. JOHN G. ANGELL,

DENTAL SURGEON,

152.....Julia Street.....152

All operations in Operative, Mechanical and Surgical Dentistry carefully performed.

Nitrous Oxide and other Anæsthetics administered.
de4 1y

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,

Between Julia and St. Joseph,

Ja2 1y New Orleans, La.

G. W. BACK. W. H. FONTEE.
E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice, Louisiana.

RACE, FOSTER & E. T. MERRICK,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,
se25 NEW ORLEANS.

C. G. FORSHEY,

CONSULTING ENGINEER,

Academy of Science Rooms,

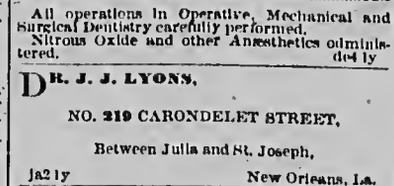
24 BARONNE STREET,

no20 2m New Orleans.

T. WHINEY CARTER,

ARCHITECT,



58.....CARONDELET STREET.....58

no13 2m New Orleans.

BABCOCK SELF-ACTING

FIRE ENGINE,

FOR CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE USE.

The Babcock Fire Extinguisher, Hook and Ladder Trucks, with Portable Fire Extinguishers attached. The Fire Departments in the principal cities of the Union use them daily. They are safe and simple, and a powerful protection. Forty-six railroads use them. Insurance companies reduce rates where it is introduced.

A. M. GRANGER, General Agent,
mh6 1y Exposition Building

WORKING CLASS—MALE OR FEMALE. $30 a week. Employment at home, day or evening; no capital. Instructions and valuable package of goods sent free by mail. Address, with six-cent return stamp, M. YOUNG & CO., 173 Greenwich street, New York.
no6 13t

IRON WORKS—BELLS.

BOSTON ORNAMENTAL

IRON WORKS.

EMPIRE LAWN MOWERS.

The Best in the Market.

Fountains, Vases, Statues, Deer, Dogs, Lions and other Lawn and Garden Ornaments.

Iron and Wire Railings for public and private buildings, banks, cemeteries, window-guards, etc.

Iron Crestings for Mansard roofs.

Iron Stable Fixtures of the most approved designs.

Copper Weather Vanes. Over two hundred new and original designs.

Emblematic Signs, suitable for every trade and profession.

Reynolds' Iron Roofing. Warranted.

All kinds of Wrought and Cast Iron made for building purposes. Estimates given. Send for catalogue.

HURIER & CO., Proprietors.
Office—23 Exchange street.
au21 6m Factory—63 Merrimac St., Boston.

RAILINGS.....RAILINGS.

WROUGHT IRON AND WIRE RAILINGS

FOR

Public Grounds, Cemeteries, Cottages,

ETC., ETC.

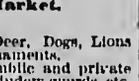
Iron Bedsteads, with Wire Sackings, for Hospitals, etc. Verandas and every variety of Wrought Iron and Wire work. Every information by addressing the manufacturers.

M. WALKER & SONS,
my18 1y 805 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WIRE RAILING

AND

ORNAMENTAL WIRE WORKS,



DUFUR & CO.,

No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.,

Manufacture Wire Railing for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Sleeves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.
oc2 1y

PATENT COMBINED

IRON FENCES.

(The New Plan of Iron Nailed to Iron.)

The best and neatest in the world for public and private grounds. Send for designs.

J. B. WICKERSHAM & SONS,
Sole Manufacturers.
se25 3m 1003 Ridge avenue, Philadelphia.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCK CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,

102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati

P. J. WEST, Agent,
mh6 1y 115 and 117 Magazine st., New Orleans.

MENEELY & KIMBERLY,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.

Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.

☞ Illustrated catalogue sent free.
jy31 1y

WATER WHEEL

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED

N. F. Burnham's New Turbine

WATER WHEEL

To be the Best ever Invented.

Pamphlet free. Address—York, Pa.
jy24 6m

SOUTHERN SALE STABLES,

COR. DELORD AND DRYADES STS.

Having purchased the above Stables from George W. Fisher, I will constantly keep on hand the largest variety of Kentucky MULES; also Harness and Saddle HORSES. Take the Jackson Railroad and Dryades street cars, foot of St. Charles street; they take you to the Stables in five minutes. Merchants, planters and dealers will find it to their interest to give me a call before purchasing elsewhere.
oc23 3m O. P. ALFORD.

MEDICAL.

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

THE STANDARD REMEDY FOR

SCROFULA,

And all diseases arising from

IMPURITY OF BLOOD,

such as Eruptions, Pimples, Boils, Ulcers or Sores, Abscesses, White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, etc., and all affections of the Eyes, Ears, Throat or Lungs, occurring in Scrofulous constitutions. For pamphlets, illustrating cases, send to

SWAIM'S LABORATORY,
113 S. Seventh street, below Chestnut,
de4 1m Philadelphia, Pa.

COUGHS.....COLDS.....ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS

Laplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm

IN THE SOLE REMEDY.

Combining efficacy of action with a most palatable flavor.

GIVE IT A TRIAL.

Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores and by the proprietor, B. LAPLACE, Chemist, no27 3m Nos. 23 and 25 Elysian Fields St.

POPE'S CURE

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS.

In all affections of the Throat and Lungs requiring the use of a mild, soothing and decidedly efficient remedy, this preparation may be used by persons of all ages, from

"The infant, mewling and puking in its nurse's arms,
To where the sixth age shifts—
Into the lean and slippered pantaloon"—

with perfect security. As an expectorant it will be found to act speedily and effectually, and in many cases, where actual Phthisis was supposed to exist, it has been known to render prompt and permanent relief.

Turn, sufferer, turn! why will you die,
Or coughs and colds endure,
When for a trifle you can try
A bottle of POPE'S CURE?

Price, 75 cents. Prepared and sold by

JOHN H. POPE, Druggist,
Corner of Jackson and Prytania streets.
BALL & LYONS, Camp St., Agents. de4 1m

MATERN WERER,

APOTHECARY,

No. 181, Cor. Royal and Spain Sts.,

has practiced as an Apothecary since 1851—before the School of Medicine was established in New Orleans. He defies any competition; moreover, there is no Chemist in the world who is able to analyze the following articles:

Weber's Spermatorrhic Pills ($2 per box.)
Cough Syrup ($1 per bottle)
Sarsaparilla ($2 per bottle.)
Piles Ointment ($1.50 per box.)
Dyspepsia Mixture, and Lotion for Sores.

He guarantees all the above compounds free from Mercury or any other injurious ingredients. He charges only for his medicine.
no6 2m

A BOX OF

LIVER PILLS (FREE)

GOES

WITH EVERY BOTTLE

OF OUR

AGUE MEDICINE,

which we authorize every druggist to sell on

THE WARRANT

that, if taken according to directions and it fails to cure,

The Money Shall be Refunded.

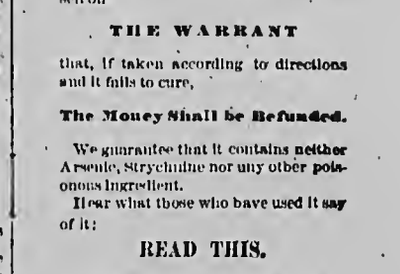
We guarantee that it contains neither Arsenic, Strychnine nor any other poisonous ingredient.



Hear what those who have used it say of it:

READ THIS.

Thos. Broughton, with John D. Park, of Cincinnati, says: "H. C. Hamilton & Co.—I had had the Ague for two long years, and had tried several remedies of acknowledged or pretended merit without any good result. I finally tried your preparation—KRESS FEVER TONIC. One bottle completely broke up the malady, and I am now perfectly well. I can testify that your medicine does all you claim for it; and it is only due to you that this acknowledgment should be made, especially as so many worthless chill medicines are now offered."

☞ Ask for KRESS FEVER TONIC, and remember the guarantee of the proprietors,

W. C. HAMILTON & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
jy17 3m Cincinnati, Ohio.

BETHESDA MINERAL WATER.—THE acknowledged cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Liver and Bilious Affections, Kidney and Urinary diseases. Sold, wholesale or retail, at 38 Magazine street. J. C. McALLISTER,
Sole Southern Agent.
Address Glass Box 825.
mh6 1y

WARRANTED CURE.

WARRANTED CURE.

Sufferers from CHILLS AND FEVERS, and those whose health has been seriously impaired by protracted attacks of Chills, are invited to write to the undersigned for the means of cure. The worst cases easily and thoroughly cured. Correspondence solicited. Address

DR. J. A. MAYES,
no6 13m Mayesville, Sumter County, S. C.

BRINLY PLOWS

Best and Cheapest in Use,

Have taken over 300 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue with Price-list, and Certificates of Planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
LOUISVILLE, KY.
se25 6m

BINGHAM HOUSE, PHILADELPHIA,

Corner of Eleventh and Market Sts.

CARLIS DAVIS, PROPRIETOR.

This popular Hotel being centrally located and accessible by street cars from all depots, makes it a desirable stopping-place for travelers. It will be conducted in the same liberal manner as heretofore, it being the intention of the proprietor to maintain the reputation it has always enjoyed of being in all respects a first-class hotel.

Terms, $1 a day.
se11 1y

New Orleans Markets.

From the New Orleans Price Current.

The river is 9 feet 6 inches below high-water mark.

COTTON.—The following are the arrivals since the twelfth instant:

| | |
|---|---|
| Louisiana and Mississippi | bales... 21,644 |
| Lake | 55 |
| [illegible] | [illegible] |
| Mobile | 1,051 |
| Tennessee | 2,923 |
| Texas | 870 |
| Total | 35,004 |

On Saturday the business summed up 6,450 bales. This is exclusive of 600 bales additional on Friday. The sales for certified checks included good ordinary at 14⅝c., strict good ordinary at 15c., strict good ordinary to low middling at 15¾c., low middling at 15⅞c., low middling to strict low middling at 15¾c., middling at 16⅛, 16⅜@16½c., and strict middling at 17c.; and for currency, good ordinary at 14⅞c., strict good ordinary to low middling at 15⅛c., and barely low middling at the same. Prices were strengthened by an advance of ⅛ ₱ cent. in foreign exchange. On Monday, under the influence of an advance of 16@1¼ ₱ cent. in foreign exchange, and an improvement of 1-16d. at Liverpool and ¼c. in spots and about 3-16c. in futures at New York, the market opened with an active demand and continued animated throughout the day, the movement resulting in sales of 10,300 bales. Factors raised their pretensions ⅛@¼c., but subsequently met the demand at ⅛@¼c. On Tuesday, under the stimulus of a further advance of 1-16d. at Liverpool and of 1⅛ ₱ cent. in gold at New York, the market opened with an active demand and at irregular prices, some factors accepting the previous advance and others claiming still higher rates, notwithstanding which a large business was done during the morning, partly at figures showing no quotable improvement and partly at an advance of ⅛c., but later in the day buyers evinced less eagerness, and, the supply being increased, the previous improvement was lost, while Monday's advance was fully maintained, the business summing up 6,600 bales.

The above makes an aggregate for the past three days of 23,350 bales, against 22,090 for the corresponding time last week and 16,350 the week before.

The receipts proper at this port since the first of September, exclusive of the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, are 379,855 bales, against 411,892 bales to the same date last year, and the decrease in the receipts at all the ports up to the latest dates, as compared with last year, is 59,941 bales. In the exports from the United States to foreign countries, as compared with the same date last year, there is an increase of 47,140 to Great Britain, and a decrease of 16,499 to France and of 91,105 to other foreign ports. We quote:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Ordinary | currency... | 12¾ @ 13⅛ |
| Strict ordinary | | 13⅜ @ 13⅞ |
| Good ordinary | | 14⅜ @ 14⅞ |
| Strict good ordinary | | 15⅛ @ 15⅝ |
| Low middling | | 15⅝ @ 15⅞ |
| Strict low middling | | 15⅞ @ 16⅛ |
| Middling | | 16⅜ @ 17 |
| Strict middling | | 17⅛ @ 17⅜ |
| Good middling | | 17⅜ @ 18 |
| Middling fair | | 18¼ @ 18½ |
| Fair | | 19 @ 19⅝ |

COTTON STATEMENT.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Stock on hand Sept. 1, 1873...bales | | 7,177 |
| Arrived past three days | 35,004 | |
| Arrived previously | 395,165— | 430,169 |
| | | 437,346 |
| Exported past three days | 29,786 | |
| Exported previously | 222,649— | 252,435 |
| Stock on hand and on shipboard | | 184,911 |

SUGAR.—There were receipts on Saturday and Monday of 2,239 hhds., but only 800 hhds. were sold at 4@4¾c. for inferior, 5@5¾c. for common, 6@6¼c. for low fair, 6¾@7c. for good fair, 7¼@7½c. for fully fair, 7¾@8c. for prime, 8⅛@8½c. for strictly prime, 8¾@8¾c. for choice, 8½@7½c. for seconds, 8@9¼c. for low to good yellow clarified, and 9¾@10c. for white clarified.

MOLASSES.—On Saturday 4,100 bbls. and 8 half bbls. were received, and sold at 40@47c. for centrifugal, 55@56c. for fair, 57@59c. for prime, 60@62c. for strictly prime, and 63c. for choice.

CORN.—On Tuesday there was a good demand, and 3,000 sacks sold, in lots, at 78c. for yellow and yellow mixed, and 78@80c. for white.

OATS.—The supplies have been liberal, and the demand is limited. On Saturday 1,100 sacks sold at 56c. for inferior, 57c. for prime, and 58c. for choice.

BRAN.—Has been in fair supply and dull. On Saturday and Monday 800 sacks sold at 95c.@$1 ₱ 100 lbs.

PORK.—The market is quiet but firm, with a light stock of new on hand. On Tuesday a lot of 100 bbls. new mess sold at $15 ₱ bbl. New mess is retailing at $15.75@16, old at $14.50@15 ₱ bbl.

BACON.—The stock on hand is small, but there is little or no demand beyond a job trade. The sales on Saturday and Monday were confined to 400 casks clear sides, in six lots, at 8¼@8⅝c. ₱ lb. Shoulders and clear rib sides are very scarce. Shoulders are quoted at 7¼c., clear rib sides at 8@8¾c., clear sides 8¾c. On Tuesday only 10 casks shoulders sold at 7¼c. ₱ lb.

MONETARY.

Gold opened on Tuesday at 111⅜@111½ for currency (against 111⅝ at New York,) and closed at 111¾@112¼ for currency (against 112⅛ at New York.)

Nothing has been reported in silver. It is extremely scarce. Quotations are entirely nominal.

New Orleans Wholesale Prices.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

Made up from Actual Sales as they Transpire.

| ARTICLES. | FROM | TO |
|---|---|---|
| AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS: | | |
| Cotton scrapers | $5 00 | $6 00 |
| Cotton sweeps | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth | 9 00 | 18 00 |
| Cultivators, riding and walking | 25 00 | 45 00 |
| Shovels and spades | 7 50 | 16 50 |
| Axes | 12 00 | 17 00 |
| Shovel plows | 6 00 | 9 00 |
| Half do., with cutters | 8 00 | 10 00 |
| Manly's double-shovel plow | 6 00 | 9 75 |
| Corn mills, Coleman's | 120 00 | 425 00 |
| Bradford's grist mills | 150 00 | 235 00 |
| BRICKS, ₱ M: | | |
| Lake | 13 00 | 18 00 |
| Country | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| English fire | 45 00 | 50 00 |
| American fire | 35 00 | 43 00 |
| CANDLES, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sperm, New Bedford | 33 | 36 |
| Tallow | 17 | — — |
| CHOCOLATE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Cocoa | 38 | 60 |
| No. 1 | 50 | 52 |
| Sweet | 25 | — — |
| COAL, ₱ ton: | | |
| Anthracite | — — | 13 00 |
| Western, ₱ bbl | — — | — — |
| COFFEE, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Mexican | 24 | 25 |
| Java | 32 | 35 |
| COTTON SEED: | | |
| Rough, ₱ ton | — — | 10 00 |
| In sacks | — — | — — |
| EGGS, ₱ dozen: | | |
| Western | 25 | 27 |
| FERTILIZERS, ₱ ton: | | |
| Stern's raw-bone superphosph'e | — — | 65 00 |
| Stern's fine-ground bone | — — | 45 00 |
| FLOUR, ₱ bbl.: | | |
| Double extra | 5 60 | 6 00 |
| Superfine | — — | 5 00 |
| Fine | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| GLASS, ₱ box of 50 feet: | | |
| French, 8 by 10 | — — | 4 00 |
| French, 10 by 12 | 4 00 | 4 25 |
| French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20 | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20 | 4 50 | 5 00 |
| HAY, ₱ ton: | | |
| Prime | 21 00 | 22 00 |
| Choice | 23 00 | 25 00 |
| IRON, ₱ ton: | | |
| English, ₱ lb | 4¾ | 5¾ |
| Swedes, assorted | 7¾ | 8 |
| Hoop | 7 | 9 |
| Sheet | 7 | 10 |
| Nail rods | — — | 9¾ |
| Castings, American | 5¾ | 6 |
| LEATHER, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Sole, hemlock | 30 | 33 |
| Sole, oak | 40 | 44 |
| Harness | 38 | 45 |
| Calf-skins, ₱ dozen | $5 00 | 100 00 |
| Texas, rough, ₱ lb | 24 | 26 |
| LIME, ₱ bbl: | | |
| Western | 1 75 | — — |
| Cameron | 2 75 | 3 00 |
| Plaster Paris | 3 50 | 3 75 |
| LUMBER, ₱ M feet: | | |
| Boards, yellow pine | 13 00 | 15 00 |
| Boards, cypress | 20 00 | 25 00 |
| Flooring, dressed | 18 00 | 21 00 |
| Flooring, rough | 14 00 | 17 00 |
| Ceiling, dressed | — — | 12 00 |
| Weatherboards, dressed | 15 00 | 18 00 |
| Weatherboards, rough | — — | 12 00 |
| Scantling | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| Shingles, ₱ M | 3 50 | 4 00 |
| Laths | 2 50 | 2 75 |
| OILS: | | |
| Lard, ₱ gallon | 75 | 85 |
| Coal oil, in barrels | 22 | 25 |
| Linseed, raw | 1 05 | — — |
| SUGAR, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Havana, white | — — | — — |
| Havana, yellow | 9 | 10 |
| Havana, brown | 9 | 9½ |
| Crushed | 11¾ | 12 |
| Pulverized | 11¾ | — — |
| TEAS, ₱ lb.: | | |
| Imperial | 50 | 1 30 |
| Gunpowder | — — | 1 60 |
| Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Young Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Pouchong | 30 | — — |
| Oolong | 40 | 1 10 |
| WAGONS, CARTS, ETC.: | | |
| Wagon, two-horse | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 110 00 | 125 00 |
| Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein | 85 00 | 90 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 100 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane wagon | 180 00 | 210 00 |
| Ox wagon | 90 00 | 125 00 |
| Ox cart, complete | 110 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane cart | 85 00 | 120 00 |
| Tongue cart, complete | 120 00 | 125 00 |
| Plantation cart | 55 00 | 70 00 |

CATTLE MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 18, 1873.

| | |
|---|---|
| Texas beeves, choice, ₱ head | $— — @$45 00 |
| Texas beeves, first quality, ₱ head | 35 00 @ 40 00 |
| Texas cattle, second quality, ₱ head | 20 00 @ 28 00 |
| Texas cattle, third quality, ₱ head | 12 00 @ 15 00 |
| Western beeves, ₱ lb. net | 10 @ 12½ |
| Sheep, first quality, ₱ head | 4 00 @ 5 00 |
| Sheep, second quality, ₱ head | 3 00 @ 4 00 |
| Milch cows, choice, ₱ head | 80 00 @100 00 |
| Milch cows, ₱ head | 35 00 @ 50 00 |
| Calves, ₱ head | 7 00 @ 10 00 |
| Yearlings, ₱ head | 8 00 @ 12 00 |

Business Directory

OF THE

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Agencies.
E. C. Bridgmann, New York.
A. Coyle, St. Louis, Mo.
Mrs. H. Mogridge, purchasing agent, 98 Canal street.

Architects.
T. Whitney Carter, 58 Carondelet street.

Artificial Legs and Arms.
Louis Lockwood, 59 Camp street.

Banks.
New Orleans Savings Institution, 156 Canal st.

Bed Springs.
John Flinn, Philadelphia.

Bells.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Buckeye Bell Foundery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Book-Binder.
F. Kuhnholz, 112 Gravier street.

Books and Stationery.
Robert J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.
American Sunday School Union, Philadelphia.
Continental Publishing Co., St. Louis, Missouri.
F. A. Hutchinson & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Nettleton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. Hale Powers & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Queen City Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
James W. Queen & Co., New York.
H. R. Thompson & Co., 9 Lakeside building, Chicago, Illinois.
United States Publishing Company, New York.
Valley Publishing Company, St. Louis, Mo.
A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn

Boots and Shoes.
Louis Gimbel, 576 Magazine street.
John Hansen, 33 Canal street.
Mrs. D. J. Loewenstein, 549 Magazine street.
George John Wagner, corner Ursulines and Dauphine streets.

Butchers.
Martin Lannes, stalls 37, 38 and 7 Magazine market.
J. Stafford, corner St. Peter and Old Levee sts.

Canned Goods.
J. Winslow Jones, Portland, Maine.
Burnham & Morrill, Portland, Maine.

Carpets.
A. Bronsseau & Co., 17 Charires street.
Elkin & Co., 168 Canal street.

Carriages, Wagons, Etc.
W. F. Clark, 134 Rampart street.
J. A. Lum & Co., 162 Gravier and 13 Union street.

Cemeteries.
Metairie Cemetery Association.

China and Crockeryware.
W. C. Shepard & Co., 55 Camp street.

Clothing and Furnishing Goods.
M. Cogan, 19 and 29 Canal street.
Pierson & Hews, 13 and 15 Camp street.
B. T. Walshe, 110 Canal street.

Coal and Wood.
John D. Maclin, 34 Carondelet street.
H. Mollegen & Co., 321 Rampart street.
H. & C. Tyler, 9 Carondelet street.
B. D. Wood & Bros., 106 Common street.
Wm. Velden, cor. Prytania and Philip streets.

Cooperage.
T. A. Beck, 23 and 24 Front street.
Wm. J. Beirne & Co., cor. Marengo and Levee.

Croquet.
Bradley's Patent Croquet, Robt. J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.

Dentists.
Dr. John G. Angell, 152 Julia street.

Dry Goods.
D. H. Holmes, 155 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

Educational.
Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana.
J. W. Blackman's Commercial College, 131 Carondelet street.
Emory and Henry College, Washington coonty, Virginia.
Hiwassee College, Sweetwater, Tennessee.
Homer College, Homer, Louisiana.
Soule's Commercial College, corner Camp and Commar streets.
Whitworth Female College, Brookhaven, Miss

Engravers and Lithographers.
John Gibson, New York.
George E. Teetzel & Co., 82 Gravier street.

Factors and Commission Merchants.
Aiken & Watt, 60 Carondelet street.
G. M. Bayly & Pond, 34 to 42 Canal and 59 and 61 Common street.
W. Harrington & Co., 79 Carondelet street.
M. J. & D. D. O'Brien, 32 Peters street.
J. U. & H. M. Payne & Co., 64 and 66 Baronne st.

Fancy Goods.
Variety store, 547 Magazine street.
Mrs. S. Zephirin, 621 Magazine street.

Fire Engine.
Babcock Self-Acting Fire Engine, A. M. Granger, general agent, Exposition building

Frames.
Charles Hamilton, 661 Magazine street.
F. Wageaer, 13 Baronne street.

Furniture.
J. Reds, 291 Camp street.
Hugh Flynn, 167 Poydras street.
South Johnson, New York.
The Mitchell & Rammelsberg Furniture Co. 103 and 105 Camp street.
Sampson & Bros., 33 and 35 Royal street.

Gas and Steam-Pipe Fitters.
Barbaria Gas Machines, F. Roberts, superintendent, 2 Triangle building and 255 Peters st.
Julius Loetller, 43 Royal street.
Jas. N. Quio, 118 and 120 Tchoupitoulas street.

Glass Works.
Alcklu & Isaac, Philadelphia.

Grocers.
John D. Adams & Co., 43, 45 and 47 Peters street.
John McMains, 572 and 574 Magazine street.
C. W. Roth, 175 Poydras street.

Hardware.
A. Baldwin & Co., 74 Canal, and 91, 93 and 95 Conanon street.

Hides and Tallow.
New Orleans Butchers' Hide and Tallow Co.

Hotels.
American House, Boston, Massachusetts.
Bingham House, Philadelphia.
McAllister's House, cor. Carondelet and Julia.
Sherman House, Chicago, Illinois.
St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

Human Hair Goods.
J. G. Bermel, 121 Canal street.
Miss C. C. Matthews, 232½ Camp street.

Ink.
Printers' Ink, S. Collins & Co., New York.

Insurance.
Ætna Life Insurance Co., 2 Carondelet street.
American Life Insurance Co., 10 Carondelet st.
Equitable Life Assurance Co., 33 Camp street.
Factors' and Traders' Insurance Company, 37 Carondelet street.

Iron Manufactories.
Billings & Spencer Company, Hartford, Conn
Boston Ornamental Iron Works, Boston, Mass.
M. Walker & Sons, Philadelphia.
J. B. Wickersham & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

Labor Agency.
A. Hane, 84 Carondelet street.

Lumber.
W. W. Carre & Co., 350 Delord street.
Thomas Husard, cor. Cedar and Julia streets.
F. Heuer, 918 and 950 New Levee street
Ocean Saw Mill, foot of Bordeaux street, Sixth District.
George Purves, cor. St. Charles and Clio streets.
Roberts & Co., 301 to 307 Gravier street.

Machinery.
N. F. Burnham's Water-wheel, York, Pa.
Daniel & James D. Edwards, 22 to 28 Front and 21 to 27 Delta street.
Lewis Johnson, corner Julia, Delta and Water streets.
Memeely & Kimberly, Troy, New York.
W. H. Reynolds, corner Fulton and South Market streets.
Jos. Walker, corner St. Joseph and Constance streets.

Magic Lanterns.
W. Mitchell McAllister, Philadelphia, Pa.

Manufacturers.
William Ebert, 164 and 166 Magaziae street.

Medical.
Mrs. M. G. Brown's Metaphysical Discovery, 51 Bond street, New York.
Chills and Fevers, Dr. J. A. Muyes, Mayesville, South Carolina.
Citrate of Magnesia, etc., Hofmann & Co., N. Y.
Craddock & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Cundinango Bitters, 44 Dauphine street.
Fever and Ague cure, Billings, Clapp & Co., New York.
Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Sirup, E. J. Hart & Co., New Orleans.
Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion, W. C. Hamilton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Laplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm, H. Laplace, 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Buffalo, New York.
Pope's Cure, John H. Pope, corner of Jackson and Prytania streets.
Dr. Resch's Hair Regenerator, 134 Thalia st.
Rogers' Citrate of Magnesia, Arthur Rogers, New York.
Simmons' Liver Regulator, J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Swaim's celebrated Panacea, 170 William st., New York.
The Greatest Medical Discovery, Dr. Kennedy, Roxbury, Massachusetts.
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills, 18 and 20 Platt street, New York.
Matern Weber, apothecary, corner Royal and Spain streets.

Mineral and Soda Water.
Bethesda Mineral Water, J. C. McAllister, agent, glass box $25, New Orleans

Millinery.
H. Fehsenfield, 194 Canal street.
Mrs. Garbanati, 625 Magazine street.
Mrs. Kate C. Logan, 9 Bourbon street.
Mrs. Lynch, 180 Canal street.
Mrs. M. Touroaben, 206 Prytania street.

Musical Instruments, Publications, Etc.
Robert J. Harp, 110 and 112 Camp street.
Biglow & Main, New York and Chicago.
S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, Ohio.
Charles H. Ditson & Co., New York.
Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, Massachusetts.
Louis Grunewald, 18, 20 and 22 Baronne street.
Lee & Walker, Philadelphia, Pa.
Alexander Mills, organ builder, New York.
Horace Waters & Son, New York.

Painters.
A. S. Cutler, 136½ Camp street.
Johnson & Hillsman, 144 Magazine street.

Paper-Hanger.
T. J. Brown, 253 Camp street.

Paper Mills.
Atlanta Paper Mills, Atlanta, Georgia.

Paper Patterns.
W. E. Cuoper, 89 Canal street.

Patents.
John A. Wiedersheim & Co., Philadelphia.

Pens.
R. Esterbrook & Co., New York.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

Perfumery.
Colgate & Co.'s Cashmere Bouquet.

Photographers.
Uuhauer & Simon, 21 Hospital street.

Plows.
Brinly Plows, firinly, Miles & Hardy, Louisville, Kentucky.

Professional.
Dr. C. J. Bickham, office, corner Magazine and Second streets.
C. G. Forshey, Civil Engineer, 24 Buronne street.
Dr. J. J. Lyons, office, 219 Carondelet street.
Race, Foster & E. T. Merrick, law office, corner Camp and Commercial place.

Preserved Corn.
Portland Packing Company, Portland, Maine.

Printing.
Pelican Job Office, 112 and 114 Poydras street.

Pumps.
Chicago Farm Pumps, R. S. Twichell, agent.

Railroads.
Great Jackson Route.

Sculpticon.
L. J. Marcy, Philadelphia.

Seeds and Flowers.
[illegible]
D. Landreth & Son, Philadelphia.

Sewing Machines.
Florence Sewing Machine Co., Florence, Mass.
Weed Sewing Machine, 207 Canal street.

Show Cases.
Hecker & Illnrichs, 14 Perdido street.

Soap.
J. H. Keller, 110 Gravier street.

Stables.
Southern Sale Stables, cor. Delord and Dryades.

Steamships and Shipping.
Cromwell Line New York Steamers, Alfred Moulton, agent, 41 Carondelet street.
Merchants' Line New York Steamers, John H. Ludwigsen, agent, 190 Common street.

Stoves.
H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Tobacco and Cigars.
F. Esteva, corner Camp and Girod streets.
Santiago M. Lapeyre, 53 St. Louis street.
Ed. L. Zell, corner Canal and Carondelet streets.

Undertakers.
T. W. Bothick, 271 Camp street, New Orleans.

Upholstery.
Heath & Lara, 99 Camp street

Wants.
Address Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans.
Address G. A. C., care Box 814, New Orleans.
Address W. P. Thomason, Red Mouth, La.
Goodwyn & Co., lock box 161, New Orleans.
Louisiana Paper Mills, 241 and 245 Liberty st.

Washing Machines.
Lash Washing Machine, No. 5 North Seventeenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Ringen Washer, H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Watches.
New York Watch Company, Springfield, Mass.

Wire Railing, Etc.
Dufur & Co., Baltimore, Maryland.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

DEMOPOLIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Livingston | Jan. 3, 4 |
| Belmont, at Coatopa | 10, 11 |
| Eutaw | 17, 18 |
| Greene | 24, 25 |
| Demopolis | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Forkland, at Forkland | Feb. 7, 8 |
| Gainesville, at Gainesville | 14, 15 |
| Cuba, at Cuba | 21, 22 |
| Gaston, at Christopher | 28, Mar. 1 |
| Butler, at Bethel | Mar. 7, 8 |
| Bladen, at Isney | 14, 15 |

Let every official member be present at the first Quarterly Conference.

18 S. H. COX, P. E.

SELMA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Summerfield | Dec. 27, 28 |
| East Selma | Jan. 3, 4 |
| Tallahatta circuit, at Tallahatta | 10, 11 |
| Choctaw Corner, at camp ground | 17, 18 |
| Selma | 24, 25 |
| Jackson, at Jackson | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Suggsville, at Suggsville | Feb. 7, 8 |
| Orrville, at Orrville | 14, 15 |
| Dayton, at Spring Hill | 21, 22 |
| Uniontown | 28, Mar. 1 |
| Rembert Hills, at Shiloh | Mar. 7, 8 |
| Peachtree, at Liberty | 14, 15 |

The district stewards will meet at Uniontown, February 28. They are as follows: A. D. McVoy, T. T. Tallman, B. M. Allen, H. D. Hudson, H. A. Stollenwerck, J. P. Chapman, J. W. Rorlis, W. E. Bird, George Skinner, W. E. Keanedy, J. E. Pollitz, C. C. Curtis.

15 ANDREW J. BRIGGS, P. E.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Whistler | Dec. 20, 21 |
| St. Paul's | 27, 28 |
| Franklin street | Jan. 3, 4 |
| St. Stephen's | 10, 11 |
| Citronelle | 17, 18 |
| Pollard | 21, 25 |
| Mount Pleasant | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Grand Bay | Feb. 7, 8 |
| Pensacola | 14, 15 |
| Milton | 21, 22 |
| St. Francis street | 28, Mar. 1 |

18 J. HAMILTON, P. E.

INSURANCE.

FACTORS' AND TRADERS'

INSURANCE CO.,

37 Carondelet Street 37

NEW ORLEANS, NOV. 17, 1873.

Extract from the Seventh Annual Statement.

| | |
|---|---|
| Premiums for fiscal year ending April 30, 1873 | $735,837 95 |
| Losses paid within the year | 359,200 41 |
| Reserved for unterminated risks, April 30, 1873 | 103,230 00 |
| Interest and savings received | 152,800 31 |
| Net premium profits for fiscal year | 160,902 72 |
| Gross net profits after payment of $110,000 Interest | 203,709 03 |

ASSETS,

April 30, 1873 $1,570,278 32

Fire, River and Marine Risks Written at the Current Rates of Premium.

HARMON DOANE, President.
MOSES GREENWOOD, Vice President.
ED. A. PALFREY, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

| | |
|---|---|
| Moses Greenwood, | John I. Adams, |
| W. A. Johnson, | Isaac Scherck, |
| John I. Noble, | R. M. Walmsley, |
| John Chalfe, | William Morrison, |
| Richard Milliken, | Joseph W. Carroll, |
| Samuel E. Moore, | A. Brittin, |
| J. J. Warren, | J. T. Pace, |
| R. T. Buckner, | A. H. May, |
| Samuel Friedlander, | S. H. Snowden, |
| H. Freilsen, | T. Lytt. Lyon, |
| W. S. Pike, | W. C. Raymond, |
| A. A. Yates, | James S. Prestidge, |

Samuel H. Boyd. de1 1m

AMERICAN

LIFE INSURANCE CO.

SOUTHERN BRANCH,

10 CARONDELET ST. 10

New Orleans, La.

Insures on LOW ALL-CASH RATES. All restrictions as to travel and residence removed.

Premiums paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually, at option of parties insuring.

The company is one of THE OLDEST in the United States, and begs a share of the patronage of the public

☞ Any particulars gladly furnished at the above place.

oc23 2m CAPT. JOHN D. SCOTT, Agent

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.

WILLIAM E. FITZGERALD,

Manager for Louisiana and Mississippi,

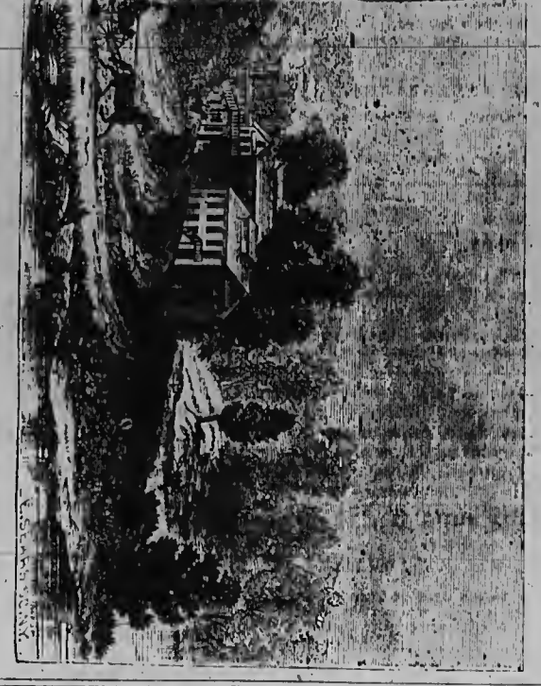
NO. 2 CARONDELET ST. (Room No. 10,)

oc23 3m New Orleans, La.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.



When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of Consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., giving name of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, New Orleans. no13 3m

LABOR AGENCY AND IMMIGRATION Office, 81 CARONDELET STREET, between Perdido and Poydras streets, where the best and most reliable help, of all nationalities, sexes and colors can be had for city or country, upon short notice, by leaving order, and on the most reasonable terms. A. HANE, Agent, 84 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

N. B.—My customers at a distance will please arrange for transportation for hands ordered, giving the name of some responsible citizen or merchant here as security to contract and payment of office fees. de11 1y

PAPER MILLS.

ATLANTA PAPER MILLS,

JAMES ORMOND, PROPRIETOR.

OFFICE—NO. 43 BROAD STREET, ATLANTA, GA.

☞ For Specimen of "News" we refer to this issue of this Paper. Cash Orders Solicited. no6 1y

MISCELLANEOUS.

BILLINGS' PATENT

Sewing Machine

SHUTTLES.

Twenty Varieties Now Made.

Forged solid from bar-steel and cold-pressed.

TRADE B MARK.

Also Wrought Iron and Steel

DROP FORGINGS

of all descriptions, for Guns, Pistols, Sewing Machines, Agricultural Implements, etc.

MANUFACTURED BY

Billings & Spencer Co.,

LAWRENCE STREET,

se25 6m Hartford, Conn.

W. HARRINGTON & CO.,

GENERAL GRANGE AGENCY

—AND—

COTTON FACTORS,

NO. 79 CARONDELET STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The undersigned, having been elected by the Mississippi State Grange as their Purchasing Agents and Cotton Factors for this port, would respectfully inform the Granges of the States who deal in this market that we will take pleasure in serving their interests to the best of our ability. Our terms of business are the same as those of your Agency in the city of Memphis.

Parties desiring to purchase in this market can do so, when cotton is in hand, with from thirty to sixty days' indulgence.

We are endeavoring, in Sugars, Molasses, Rice and Coffee, to control the patronage of the Western States, which will give us unusual advantages in this market.

ALL ORDERS FILLED

—AT—

WHOLESALE PRICES.

Orders must be under the seal of the Grange. We respectfully solicit your attention, and all business intrusted to our care will receive our best attention.

no20 6m W. HARRINGTON & CO.

THE CLEARING HOUSE.

THE BALANCE

OF THE

GOODS DAMAGED BY WATER

AT

THE LATE FIRE ON CANAL STREET.

Fine Winter Dress CLOTHING.
Boys' Clothing, Shirts and Hats.
Splendid Beaver and Pilot Cloth Overcoats, Talmas and Pea Jackets.
The latest styles of HATS.
Cloth, Silk, Velvet and Fur CAPS.
Linen Shirts and Underclothing.
Leather and Zinc Trunks and Valises.

All slightly damaged by water during the LATE FIRE ON CANAL STREET, and which will be sold FIFTY PER CENT. below cost, at

M. COGAN'S,

Nos. 19 and 29 Canal street,

de1 1m Bet. the Custom House and the River.

NEW ORLEANS

SAVINGS INSTITUTION,

156 CANAL STREET. 156

Incorporated March 15, 1855.

OFFICERS.

L. F. GENERES, President.
THOS. A. ADAMS, First Vice President.
THOS. ALLEN CLARKE, Second V. President.
CHARLES J. LEEDS, Third Vice President.
SAM JONES, Jr., Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| Dr. W. Newton Mercer, | David Urquhart, |
| L. F. Geueres, | John G Gaines, |
| George Jonas, | Carl Kohn, |
| Thos. A. Adams, | Christian Schneider, |
| Thos. Allen Clarke, | Samuel Jamison. |
| Charles J. Leeds, | |

☞ SIX PER CENT. INTEREST on deposits.

oc23 3m

GEORGE BURNHAM, JR. J. E. BURNHAM.
C. S. MORRILL.

BURNHAM & MORRILL,

PACKERS AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

HERMETICALLY-SEALED GOODS,

MEATS, FISH AND VEGETABLES,

No. 61½ Commercial Street,

And corner Commercial St. and Burnham's Wharf,

PORTLAND, MAINE.

an28 6m

MAGIC LANTERNS.

McALLISTER'S PATENT ARTOPTICON.

The most powerful Magic Lantern ever made; with a brilliant Oil Lamp; for Home, Sunday School and Lectures. Stereopticons, etc. Slides at reduced prices. A profitable business for a man with small capital. Send stamp for catalogue.

W. MITCHELL McALLISTER,

oc30 2m 1314 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

STEAMSHIPS—STEAMBOATS.

FOR NEW YORK.

The Cromwell New York and New Orleans Steamship Line.

Leaving New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage $50 00
Steerage Passage 25 00

Through bills of lading to foreign and coastwise ports issued.

ALFRED MOULTON,

au20 1y No. 41 Carondelet street.

FOR NEW YORK.

Merchants' Steamship Line,

Sailing from New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage $50 00
Steerage Passage 25 00

Through tickets to Liverpool and the Continent.

New Orleans wharf—Foot of Jefferson street.

New York wharf—Pier No. 4, North River.

JOHN H. LUDWIGSEN, Agent,

fe13 1y No. 190 Common street.

RAILROADS.

GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.

Trains depart and arrive as follows (from Depot foot of Calliope street:)

DEPART.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 7.00 A. M. |
| Mail | 5.55 P. M. |

ARRIVE.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 11.45 P. M. |
| Mail | 11.00 A. M. |

Accommodation discontinued.

This line is many miles the shortest and many hours the quickest to all points North and East, and the only line running Pullman's Palace Sleeping-Cars to Louisville and St. Louis (Missouri) without change. Only one change to principal cities North and East. Tickets for sale and all information given at 22 Camp street, corner of Common, New Orleans.

A. D. SHELDON, Agent.
E. D. FROST, General Manager. no27 6m

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

WATERS' CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS

are the most beautiful in style and perfect in tone ever made. The CONCERTO STOP is the best ever placed in any Organ. It is produced by all extract of reeds, peculiarly voiced, the EFFECT of which is MOST CHARMING AND SOUL STIRRING, while ITS IMITATION of the Human Voice IS SUPERB. Terms liberal.

A GREAT OFFER. HORACE WATERS & SON, 481 Broadway, N. Y., will dispose of 500 PIANOS and ORGANS of first-class makers, including WATERS', at extremely low prices for cash, or part cash, and balance in small monthly payments. New 7-Octave first-class PIANOS, all modern improvements, for $275 cash, or rent, 5-Octave, $70. DOUBLE-REED ORGANS, 4 Stops, $110; 8 Stops, $125. Illustrated Catalogues mailed. A large discount to Ministers, Churches, Sunday-Schools, Temperance Societies, etc. AGENTS WANTED. jy31 1y

L. GRUNEWALD'S

MAMMOTH

PIANO AND ORGAN WAREROOMS,

18, 20 AND 22 BARONNE STREET.

The Largest and Finest Store,
The Largest and Best Assortment,
The Best and Finest Pianos,
The Cheapest Prices, and
The Most Accommodating Terms.

Every Piano warranted to be as represented, and to give satisfaction.

Twenty second-hand PIANOS at $100, $125, $150 and upward; in perfect order. Sold below their value, on time or for cash, to make room for new stock now arriving. de1 1m

NEW ORLEANS BUTCHERS'

HIDE AND TALLOW CO.,

NO. 69 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.

Capital $100,000.

JEAN BERTHIN, President.
A. D. DUCHIRON, Secretary.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| J. Berthin, | P. Lacoze, |
| B. Dalat, | A. D. Duchiron, |
| P. Cestac, | A. Mathes, |
| L. Duclos, | M. Launes, |
| J. Duberry, | J. Soulide, |
| J. Bernichan. | oc30 2m |

GOOD NEWS GOOD NEWS

FROM OUR

UPPER CITY BLUE SHOE STORE,

No. 578 Magazine Street, New Orleans.

MR PHILLIPS, formerly with the house of Messrs. Glynn & Wintz, having recently taken charge of my department for the manufacture of

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES,

will be happy to meet his old friends and customers, satisfied of his ability to convince them that in quality of material, excellence and taste of workmanship, and reasonableness of price, his stock is unsurpassed in the city. Also Men's and Boys' HATS, and TRUNKS.

no

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 19. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1873. NO. 52.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Rev. Charles E. Cheney, rector of Christ church, in this city, was duly consecrated as a bishop of the new Episcopal Church on Sunday. The sermon on the occasion was preached by Bishop Cummins. It was an elaborate review of the office and work of a bishop.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—There was another field day in the House on the salary bill. After the bill had been amended by requiring the restitution of the back pay received by those members who had also been members of the last Congress, a substitute was adopted, in spite of the opposition of the friends of the reduction and of the committee who had charge of the bill. The substitute makes the salary of members $6,000, with an allowance for actual traveling expenses; but it has no retroactive effect.

There was great confusion and excitement in the House during the last three or four hours, and it was not until nine o'clock that the House adjourned.

The news of the surrender of the Virginius was communicated to this government this evening by Admiral Polo, who was advised thereof by Captain General Jovellar.

No information has been received to-night concerning the Virginius survivors at Santiago de Cuba; but no doubt exists that they were delivered to our authorities.

It would take some time for the news to reach Havana, and this would account for the fact that the intelligence of their release has not been communicated to this government. The following dispatch was received to-night by Secretary Robeson:

Key West, Dec. 17.—To the Hon. George M. Robeson, Secretary of the Navy: The Virginius was promptly put into our hands yesterday at the appointed time. Your orders will be carried into effect with all dispatch.

Further information will be telegraphed to-morrow.

G. S. SCOTT,
Rear Admiral Commanding.

This government insisted that the Virginius be given into its possession at a Cuban port, and the Spaniards decided that, under all the circumstances, Bahia Honda was the most suitable place at which the surrender could be made.

KEY WEST, Dec. 18.—The small steamer Dispatch, Captain A. D. Whiting, which had been assigned by the United States government to the duty of receiving the surrender, sailed from Key West on Sunday evening and arrived in the harbor of Bahia Honda the next morning, where she found the Virginius in charge of the Spanish sloop of war La Favorita, Senor De La Camara commanding.

Shortly after noon the latter came on board the Dispatch and made arrangements with Captain Whiting for the surrender at nine o'clock on Tuesday morning. His visit was returned later in the day by Captain Whiting. The intercourse was of the most courteous character.

On Tuesday the weather was bright and clear. The only spectators of the scene about to take place were the men on the Dispatch and La Favorita, and some ragged and dirty Cubans in fishing smacks, apparently intent upon fishing alone.

At half-past eight the gig came over from La Favorita to the Virginius, containing the oarsmen and a single officer. As the latter stepped on deck a petty officer and half a dozen men who had stood watch on the Virginius during the negotiations went over the side and remained in a dinghy awaiting orders.

Punctually as the bells on the Dispatch struck for nine, and before the echo had died away, the American flag flew to the flagstaff of the Virginius, and at the same moment the boat containing Captain Whiting and Lieutenant Marlax put away from the Dispatch.

As they ascended the accommodation ladder of the Virginius a single man on the deck, who proved to be Senor De La Camara, advanced and made a courteous salute. The officers then read their respective instructions, and Captain De La Camara remarked that, in obedience to the requirements of his government, he had the honor to turn over the steamer Virginius to the American authorities.

Captain Whiting accepted her, and, ascertaining that a receipt would be acceptable, gave one.

A word or two more, civilly spoken, and the Spaniard stepped over the side, signaled his oarsmen, and in ten minutes was again upon the deck of his own vessel, having discharged, with becoming dignity, the unpleasant duty imposed upon him by his government.

OMAHA, Dec. 19.—The Union Pacific railroad has in transit a car-load of silk-worms, which are en route from Japan to France. They are very valuable, being worth about $1.50 per ounce. The atmosphere of the car is required to be kept at a uniform temperature of about forty degrees.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—Booth was elected by two majority to the United States Senate.

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—Prof. Agassiz, by his will, chose his son Alexander as his successor in the school presidency of Penikese.

KEY WEST, Dec. 21.—Since the last dispatch was sent it has become known here that the British consul general at Havana has received dispatches from Lord Granville to instruct all naval commanders in the West Indies to immediately rendezvous in Cuban ports.

It is stated that in official circles it is certainly known that the British government will assuredly demand the punishment of Burriel.

The British admiral has left for St. Thomas, where he expects to be relieved.

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 22.—The Cairo and Fulton railroad bridge across the Arkansas river at this point was completed last evening, and to-day several trains passed. This gives unbroken railway connection between St. Louis and Fulton. The bridge across Red river at the latter place is rapidly approaching completion.

FRANKLIN, Dec. 23.—The planters of St. Mary reassembled here to-day. The movement is progressing favorably. A resolution was adopted fixing the wages of field laborers at not over fifteen dollars per month. A paper is to be circulated for signatures binding the planters not to pay over that amount. Pending the organization of the grangers, all other business before this and previous meetings has been postponed, to await the organization of that body.

FOREIGN.

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec. 16, via Havana, Dec. 22.—The priests Arlas and Gilies, the alleged instigators of the Tejupilco riots, have been brought as prisoners to the city.

Petroleum wells have been discovered near Tlacotalpam.

The Wells Fargo Express Company has been prohibited from bringing letters into Lower California, because of a violation of the postoffice rules.

The Bishop of Queretaro advises the people to submit to the present government as a matter of expediency.

The government candidate has been elected speaker of the National Congress.

ROME, Dec. 17.—The papal nuncio at Paris has been notified that the Archbishops of Paris, Cambray and Valencia have been elevated to the College of Cardinals.

BERLIN, Dec. 17.—An ordinance is officially promulgated to-day ordering that in future all bishops, upon their installation, shall swear to maintain complete subordination to the State and co-operation in the suppression of all disloyal intrigues.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Dec. 18.—The Virginius survivors have been delivered on board the Juniata, which will bring them to New York.

BERLIN, Dec. 22.—The Emperor William has had a slight attack of apoplexy. Much uneasiness is felt thereat.

PARIS, Dec. 23.—A rumor is current that Bazaine has fled from the country.

It is reported that Henri Rochefort has died at the penal settlement in New Caledonia.

Chevalier Nigro, the Italian minister, had an interview with President MacMahon to-day, and proposed the resumption of cordial relations between France and Italy.

The proposed grant of money to the ex-Empress Eugenie is strongly opposed.

From the Work.

SPARTA, LOUISIANA.—Mr. Editor: Last February I started for St. Landry, intending to make that my home. In this place, however, I met old friends who persuaded me to remain; and here I am still. Because of the condition of the work, I consented to do what I could toward serving this and one other church. Thus, though in feebleness, I have tried to be of some use still. Had it not been for Bro. Crowson, however, I had done but little. When ill health prevented my going, he was always prompt. Bro. Boddie held a camp meeting, of which you have heard, and meetings have been held with the majority of churches placed by Conference in Bro. Medlock's charge. The people have had full ministerial service. Our presiding elder, Bro. Scott, has also been in labors abundant; has missed no meeting, but given diligent care to the churches. There is great poverty and hard times. I think, on the whole, that good has been done on the Sparta and Ruggold circuit this year. About twenty years ago I came to this place to preach my first sermon as a licentiate; after many trials and varied experiences I am here to-day a partial wreck, physically laid up for repairs. Thanks to a kind Father that I still look Zionward.

F. T. R.

DECEMBER 11, 1873.

CASHMERE GOATS.—The hair or fleece from the Cashmere goat, bred on the Pacific slope, has got to be a considerable feature among the commercial products of the country. Shipments of this article are now regularly made from California to our Eastern ports. In a recent shipment to Messrs. Davis & Faulk, Philadelphia, several hundred pounds of this fleece, after being sorted out, was valued as follows: For fine, $2.20; low fine, $1.10; fine kempty, eighty cents; low kempty, seventy cents; short, from three-quarter grade, forty cents; breech locks, forty cents. The fleeces sold were from three-quarters grade up to full blood.—New York Weekly Times.

A VERY superior quality of champagne is now made with petroleum as the chief ingredient. The manufacturers claim that it is the best that has ever benzine.

MANUFACTURING is not a poor-paying business, although it takes ten mills to make one cent.

Little Rock Conference.

The twentieth session of the Little Rock Conference was held in Camden, Arkansas, November 26-30, 1873, Bishop Pierce presiding. The following preamble and resolution were adopted:

Whereas, It is altogether important to have perfect harmony in our administration of discipline, as well as in the governmental polity of the church, to furnish correct statistics; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Little Rock Annual Conference, That we memorialize the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, to meet in Louisville, Kentucky, in May, 1874, to incorporate in the Book of Discipline a rule requiring the secretaries of church conferences to bring their records to the fourth Quarterly Conference of each year for examination, and the recording stewards of the Quarterly Conference be required to bring their records to the District Conferences, to be examined by a committee to be appointed by said conferences.

The election of delegates to the General Conference resulted as follows: Clerical: A. Hunter, A. R. Winfield and Cadesman Pope. Reserves: John F. Carr and John Pryor. Lay: J. L. DeYampert, W. T. Crouch and S. M. McGehee. Reserves: I. C. Mills and Norborne Young.

Monticello was selected as the place of holding the next Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

Little Rock District.—A. R. Winfield, P. E. Little Rock; Second Street, W. C. Hearn; Spring Street, H. H. Watson; Capitol Hill, R. S. Hunter; Bartlett, J. A. Anderson; Bayou Metre, T. H. Ware; Lonoke, J. P. Holmes; Richwoods mission, to be supplied by B. E. Mitchell; Austin, L. D. Webb; Austin circuit, F. D. Van Valkenburg; Collegeville, S. N. Burns; Perryville, Z. T. McHan; Maumelle mission, W. J. Scott; DeWitte, C. C. Godden; White River, John McLanehan; Hickory Plains Male and Female Academy, B. H. Malone; agent Arkansas Female College and Vanderbilt University, A. R. Winfield.

Pine Bluff District.—H. B. Frazee, P. E. Pine Bluff, H. Jewell; Plum Bayou, J. M. Pirtle; Swan Lake, R. H. Sanders, C. D. McSwain; Red Fork mission, N. S. Burnett; Sulphur Springs, W. I. Davis, A. W. Simmons, sup.; Simmons Creek mission, E. L. Gaddy; Lehigh, F. M. Winburn; Star City mission, to be supplied, J. A. Clower, sup.

Arkadelphia District.—A. Hunter, P. E.; Arkadelphia, M. H. Wells; Clarke, G. Hare; Murfreesboro, to be supplied by G. W. Logan; Caddo, A. Monk; Ouachita mission, to be supplied; Hot Springs, to be supplied; Hot Springs mission, to be supplied; Rockport, W. R. Gardiner; Tulip, W. H. H. Biggs; Princeton, C. V. Meador, one to be supplied; Benton, J. M. Cline; Princeton Academy, C. O. Jones, principal; agent American Bible Society, J. E. Coldwell.

Monticello District.—J. F. Carr, P. E. Monticello, J. R. Harvey; Mount Pleasant, J. H. Blakeley; Selma, J. G. Ward; Green Hill, G. W. Duncan; Hamburg, A. B. Winfield; Hamburg circuit, J. H. Riggins; Bartholomew, B. Ward; Eudora, W. Wooten; Holly Grove mission, John Pryor; Palestine, J. R. Sherwood; Warren, H. D. McKinnon; New Edinburg, to be supplied by I. H. Baird.

Camden District.—J. A. Parker, P. E. Camden, C. Pope; Camden circuit, R. B. Alston; Ouachita, E. R. Barcus; Lisbon, W. C. Dunn, J. Turrentine, sup.; El Dorado, D. H. Linebaugh, J. C. Rodes; Magnolia, E. N. Watson, W. H. Browning, sup.; Louisville, to be supplied; Falcon, to be supplied; Hampton, J. M. G. Douglass.

Washington District.—B. G. Johnston, P. E. Washington, S. G. Colburn; Moscow, J. P. Hulse; Mineral Springs, G. W. Matthews; Center Point, W. J. Rogers; Cossitot mission, H. Townsend; Locksburg, A. C. Biggs; Richmond, to be supplied; Dallas, J. W. Haskew; Rondo, W. H. Hagan; Bright Star, A. D. Jenkins; Mineral Springs Academy, T. W. Hayes.

Transferred.—J. W. Johnson, to Trinity Conference; J. Loving, to Arkansas Conference; C. M. Slover, to Indian Mission Conference.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

Proceedings of the Alabama Conference.

SIXTH DAY—DECEMBER 9.

P. G. Wood, treasurer of the Legal Conference, read his report, which was received and placed on file.

On motion the Conference proceeded to elect the Legal Conference for the ensuing year, with the following results:

Rev. J. Hamilton, D. D., president; Rev. A. H. Mitchell, D. D., Rev. W. A. McCarty, D. D., Rev. M. S. Andrews, D. D., managers; Hon. P. G. Wood, secretary and treasurer.

E. S. Smith read the report of the joint board of finance, which, too, was adopted, and $4,152.35 was distributed among the various Conference claimants.

W. M. Motley, chairman, presented the report of the committee on education, which was read and adopted.

The Bishop was requested to appoint Rev. E. Phillips to take charge of the Mariana District Conference High School.

J. Bancroft and J. E. Cobb tendered their resignation as members of the board of managers of the Alabama Conference Female College, which was accepted, and J. G. Motley and T. J. Rutledge were appointed to fill the vacancy.

R. B. Crawford was appointed to fill a vacancy on committee of the fourth year.

J. S. Moore, treasurer of the Southern University, read a report of the moneys received by him, which was placed on file.

A board of trustees for Centenary Female College was nominated by A. D. McVoy, and confirmed by action of the Conference.

The committee on Sunday schools read their report, which was adopted.

On motion the Conference adjourned to meet at three o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Conference met pursuant to adjournment, and was opened with the usual religious exercises by D. M. Hudson.

Minutes read and approved.

Question 16—"Who are located?" Answer—T. K. Armstrong, at his own request.

Question 18—Resumed, and John A. Spence, Charles Strider, F. L. B. Shaver and E. V. LeVert were superannuated.

Question 17—"Who are supernumerary?" Answer—George F. Ellis.

Resolutions of thanks to the citizens, to the pastors of the Methodist Church and the pastors and members of the other churches who offered their pulpits to the ministers of the Conference; to railroad companies, steamboats and other public conveyances for favors rendered to the secretaries of the Conference; to the Selma Daily Times and to the Mobile Register; and also to the people of Uniontown for kindness to their afflicted and bereaved pastor, Dr. Isaac Spangler, were adopted, after which the Conference adjourned to meet at seven P. M.

Virginia Conference.

The Richmond Christian Advocate, referring to the recent session of the Virginia Conference, says:

We had a pleasant session. The body was cordially received by the Norfolk people, and entertained with a free and overflowing hospitality. Bishop Keener presided with much ability and courtesy, and made a pleasing impression upon the Conference and all who had intercourse with him. The financial reports showed that, notwithstanding the panic cry, the people had liberally given to the various collections, except in some parts of the Conference where local causes, such as a failure of the leading crops, caused a falling off. The revivals that blessed the church during the past year have brought thousands into our communion, who will require the most diligent care of the pastors to train them to usefulness in all the departments of church work. But few changes were made in the appointments, taking them altogether, and we believe the preachers have gone to their fields with a renewed purpose to give themselves fully to the work of saving souls and building up the church.

We find the following statistics in the reported proceedings:

The number of local preachers and members in the several circuits, stations and missions of the Conference was reported in answer to minute question 21, page 43 of Discipline, viz.: Local preachers, 1st; white members, 44,572; colored members, 638.

The number of baptisms, infant and adult, during the year was reported as follows, in answer to minute questions 22 and 23: Infants baptized, 1,158; adults baptized, 2,092.

The statistics of Sunday schools were reported in answer to questions 24, 25, 26, Discipline, page 43: Number of Sunday schools, 537; number of officers and teachers, 5,698; number of scholars, 29,981.

Alex. G. Brown, from the joint board of finance, made a report, which was adopted, and the funds distributed.

Answers to minute questions 27 and 28, pages 43 and 44 of Discipline, were furnished by this report as follows: Assessed for support of superannuated preachers, widows and orphans, $6,400; collected for same, $5,016.23; applied to superannuated preachers, $1,170.75; applied to widows and orphans of deceased preachers, $3,714.10; balance in hand and stationery, $151.38.

The amount collected for missions was reported in answer to minute question 20, page 44 of Discipline, to be $7,571.12 (including special donations to Mexican mission.)

Delegates to General Conference.—Clerical: J. A. Duncan, L. M. Lee, W. W. Bennett, P. A. Peterson, J. E. Edwards, L. S. Reed and J. C. Granberry. Alternates: E. P. Wilson, A. G. Brown and J. D. Blackwell. Lay delegates: D'Arcy Paul, F. H. Smith, G. M. Bain, J. E. Broadwater, Richard Pollard, W. Grant and T. W. Garret. Alternates: W. W. Webb, Thomas Branch and J. R. Kilby.

SKIP IT.—A boy in school, who was very much puzzled by a longer word than of two syllables, was in the habit of depending on a friend, who stood by his side, for a prompter. The lesson was a selection from Solomon's proverbs, and, coming to a word that his friend did not know, the prompter softly whispered:

"Skip it, skip it;" and, much to the amusement of the class, he drawled out:

"Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child, but the rod of skip it shall drive it far from him."

Letter from the Superintendent of the Mexican Mission.

MR. EDITOR: I was relieved from my district in September. Yellow fever prevailing in Havana and Vera Cruz, prevented an immediate departure for Mexico. The time, however, was in some sort redeemed in representing the mission and raising funds. My reports have been published, and I need not refer to them here.

On the morning of the eighteenth ultimo we left the pleasant little town of Bastrop, en route for New Orleans. The we refers to Mrs. Daves, Walter W. and Joel T. Daves, Jr.—the former nine years, the latter eighteen months of age. These two are all we have now. Our little girl—darling little Jeannie—is not. The blessed Savior took her to himself. We can't count her. She goes with us, but in spirit-guise.

I need not attempt a reference to the trial of bidding farewell to mother, brothers, sisters and well-loved friends. When duty calls, demands, a surrender of not only friends and kindred, but of native land as well, we have but to listen and obey. The individual must be lost sight of—become a willing sacrifice upon the altar. Still, shadows come upon the heart. Tears spring unbidden to the eyes. Sighs hang heavily upon the breath. After all, however, such things educate the soul—discipline and toughen the life—for work. The blessed Elder Brother "learned obedience by the things which he suffered." He "suffered" separation from home—from friends and kindred. He that forsaketh findeth. Only he that soweth, it may be in tears, can reap. The evening and night passed pleasantly in Monroe—rested, refreshed. The cars leave Monroe at nine A. M., and arrive at Delta, three miles below Vicksburg, at half-past two P. M. This road passes almost centrally through my old district. At the different stations pleasant faces and kind greetings lulled somewhat the pain of parting. In passing Delhi, our former home, the shadow deepened. Here she had been the pet, joy and sunshine of our humble dwelling. Here she faded and died, and here our first great parental sorrow came upon us. And here, too, there were warm and true hearts that more than ordinarily grieved at the separation.

At Tululah our little party was joined by Bro. Liverman, a live preacher of the Delhi district. As such he is but one of many in the same field. Reaching Delta at 2.30 P. M., 3.15 brought us to the Hill City, and to pleasant apartments at the Washington Hotel. Bro. Heard, then pastor of the Vicksburg church, called soon after our arrival. In addition to the compliment of welcoming us to his brave little city, we found that he "meant business." Well, I preached for him, the best I could. The congregation was small, but spiritual and devout. The superintendent being, in a graceful and earnest manner, introduced to the audience by Bro. Heard at the conclusion of the service, a brief reference to our noble mission was made. A deep interest in the congregation was manifest. Intending to leave by the four P. M. train, I was induced, at the solicitation of brethren, to delay, preach again, and take passage on the R. E. Lee. The lateness of the hour prevented an adequate advertisement of the appointment, and the congregation consequently was small. The Mexican mission, however, by special request, came in for a liberal mention, evidently deepening and widening the already large sympathy of Vicksburg Methodism. I can never forget the earnest words and prayers given to our great enterprise. The Lee left her wharf at five P. M. on Friday. Bating the delays in frequent landings, the trip was pleasant.

Reaching your city early on Monday morning, we breakfasted at the City Hotel. I had hoped that we could leave New Orleans for Mexico on the twenty-fifth ultimo, and at the latest on the sixth instant. But we have been unavoidably delayed. Among the causes are the failure of the project of a line of steamers direct to Vera Cruz, the Cuban complications, and having to send to Washington city for a passport. But the delay has been profitable. On Sunday morning I had an introduction to the Carondelet and Felicity Sunday schools. They are under the judicious administration, in the order of their naming, of Mr. R. M. Walmsley and Hon. W. H. Foster. I have not time to speak of these schools as they merit. The promise of an abundant yield of good things is indeed flattering. A good omen is found in the strong missionary spirit manifested. The Carondelet school has contributed this year $500 to the Mexican mission. The Felicity $300 to Chihua. The hearty, earnest welcome accorded me by officers and schools was gratifying. It has been, and will continue to be, a source of strength and inspiration in my work. It was my privilege to fill the pulpit at Felicity in the morning, and Carondelet at night. The congregations were large and devout.

Pending a hearing from Bishop Keener, I left on Wednesday evening, the third instant, via Mobile, for Selma, Alabama, the seat of the Alabama Conference. Reaching the junction about nine o'clock, changed to the Selma cars. Reaching Selma about twelve M., found the Conference well advanced in the usual business. A cordial, brotherly welcome was extended me by Bishop Marvin. He looks worn. It made my heart sad to look upon him. God bless him, and preserve him long to the church. I was favorably impressed with the personnel of the Alabama Conference. There are here some grand old men, and middle-aged and young men giving promise of great usefulness to the church. I must here return thanks to those brethren who were so marked and earnest in expressions of sympathy. Through the thoughtful kindness of Bishop Marvin the Mexican mission enjoyed a full mention. The Bishop himself made a strong speech for our cause in giving some account of Hernandez.

On Tuesday, in company with Bishop Wightman and a certain editor, I left Selma by the Meridian road for Brandon, the seat of the Mississippi Conference. Enjoyed the travel, the company, the Conference, etc., abundantly. Wish I had time and space to write more at length. My reception by the Mississippi Conference was all I could ask. Our mission is fully before them. The promise of good things is encouraging. Leaving Brandon on Monday night, reached your city next morning. To-morrow morning, the nineteenth instant, we sail in the good ship Juniata for Havana. Soon we are to lose sight of our native land. Imagine the little group watching with moist eye the fading lines, and waving a final good-by to native land, friends and loved ones.

Affectionately,

JOEL T. DAVES.

DECEMBER 18, 1873.

Periodicals.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.—What distinguishes Littell's Living Age is the fact that with its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present freshly, and with a satisfying completeness attempted by no other publication, the best essays, reviews, serial and short stories, poetry, sketches of travel and discovery, and the most valuable biographical, historical, political and scientific information, from the entire body of foreign periodical literature. It is therefore invaluable to American readers, as giving promptly and without abridgment whatever is essential to them in a great and generally inaccessible but indispensable current literature—indispensable because it embraces the productions of the ablest writers in science, fiction, poetry, history, biography, politics, theology, philosophy, criticism and art. Among the eminent authors lately represented in its pages are Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Prof. Huxley, Lord Lytton (Bulwer,) Fritz Reuter, the popular German novelist, MM. Erckmann-Chatrain, the distinguished French writers, Ivan Turgenieff, the eminent Russian author, Mrs. Oliphant, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Miss Thackeray, Charles Kingsley, Prof. R. A. Proctor, Miss Muloch, Matthew Arnold, Jean Ingelow, George MacDonald, Froude, Gladstone and many others.

WE HAVE RECEIVED the first number of the International Review. A. S. Barnes & Co., publishers. The International is a bi-monthly. Price, $5 per annum. The present (January) number is able and attractive to thoughtful readers. Contents: 1. Our Late Panic; 2. Fires in American Cities; 3. Deep Sea Exploration; 4. Universal Education; 5. The Prussian Church Law; 6. International Arbitration; 7. Books.

THE NEW ORLEANS MEDICAL AND SURGICAL JOURNAL for September has just come to hand. An excellent publication, edited by S. M. Bemiss, M. D. James A. Gresham, proprietor and publisher, 92 Camp street, New Orleans.

VICK'S FLORAL GUIDE for 1874 is a beautiful illustrated pamphlet. Those who are in want of vegetable and flower-seeds should send for the Floral Guide. Published quarterly, by James Vick, Rochester, New York.

ST. NICHOLAS, Scribner's illustrated magazine for girls and boys, conducted by Mary Mapes Dodge, is a very attractive periodical, splendidly illustrated and ably edited. We have received the December number.

THE ALDINE for December is perhaps the best number of the year. Christmas in the Fields, Old Friends, God So Loved the World, A Polite Beggar, are the titles of some of the superb engravings.

LA CREME DE LA CREME is the title of a new monthly containing music for advanced players. We have received the first number. Published by J. L. Peters, New York. Price, $4 per annum.

THE CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER, New York, one of our best exchanges, has recently assumed the quarto form, and comes out in a new dress, with a new and beautiful heading.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE YOUNG OF ALL AGES for November is a capital number.

WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE for December has a good table of contents.

THERE ARE EVEN NOW many of our churches but very poorly supplied with hymn-books. Since the reduction of the price this is inexcusable. Every man, woman and child attending divine worship should own a hymn-book, and use it too. When we find a preacher, because of the paucity of hymn-books, "line" the hymn, we always think of the Irishman's herring, suspended by a string from the rafter, touching almost the center of the table, around which the family is grouped, peeling potatoes. In order to give a taste of the lone ex-aquatic to all, each member is permitted to touch it with the potato before consuming it. Poor eating! Poor singing as well.

A.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1873.

BRINGING OUR SHEAVES WITH US.

The time for toil is past, and night has come;
The last and saddest of the harvest eyes;
Worn out with labor long and wearisome,
Drooping and faint, the reapers hasten home,
Each laden with his sheaves.

Last of the laborers, thy feet I gain,
Lord of the harvest; and thy spirit grieves
That I am burdened not so much with grain
As with heaviness of heart and brain.
Master, behold my sheaves!

Few and light and worthless, yet their trifling weight
Through all my frame a weary aching leaves;
For long I struggled with my hapless fate,
And staid and toiled till it was dark and late,
Yet these are all my sheaves!

Full well I know I have more tares than wheat—
Brambles and flowers, dry stalks and withered leaves;
Therefore I blush and weep, and at thy feet
I kneel down reverently and repeat:
"Master, behold my sheaves!"

I know these blossoms, clustering heavily,
With evening dews upon their folding leaves,
Can claim no value or utility;
Therefore shall fragrance and beauty be
The glory of my sheaves.

So do I rather strength and hope anew;
For well I know thy patient love perceives
Not what I did, but what I strive to do;
And, though the full, ripe ears be small and few,
Thou wilt accept my sheaves.

In Memoriam.

MRS. MARY H. M'GEHEE.

BY W. H. WATKINS, D. D.

MARY BURRUSS was born in Caroline county, Virginia, March 21, 1812. She was the daughter of Rev. John C. Burruss and Elizabeth Brame. Her early years were spent amid the ceaseless, homeless wanderings incident to itinerancy in the early days of Methodism. In her childhood she gave promise of those qualities which in riper years distinguished her as a living exemplification of womanly virtues. Every available means was employed to furnish her the advantages of education, literary and scientific, and her mental activity was such that her superiority in every department of learning was readily conceded. At eleven years of age she was made happily conscious of the forgiveness of sin and regeneration by the Holy Spirit. To the end of life she never doubted the genuineness of her conversion, and although the period was often referred to as the starting-point in her religious history, her daily life was replenished by nearer and deeper communion with God. What of conflict with nature she endured, what of struggle there was between fear and hope, what of victory was achieved in her steady growth to complete Christian character, we are not permitted to know; but this we may affirm, that she ceased not to practice the strictest self-denial, the utmost diligence in reading the Scriptures, the most rigid punctuality in her private devotions, the most diligent attendance upon all the ordinances of religion, and that year by year a brighter light blazed upon her path, year by year she put on more of the image of the heavenly, "until she was not, for God had taken her."

In 1829 she became the wife of Hon. Edward McGehee, of Woodville, Mississippi. Young life imposed upon her an accumulation of responsibilities from which age and experience might shrink. The wife of a man already distinguished for his enterprise, his wealth, his social position and his moral worth—the mother of children not her own—the gushing hopes of young womanhood were brought within the bounds of real life, and a life too which, in spite of herself, was to be made conspicuous—all these were enough to render the post of duty difficult and dangerous. But no wife ever more fully matched the ambitions hopes of her husband, and no mother ever more assiduously molded the life and character of her children. She knew how to reprove with gentleness and to correct without anger, how to indulge without weakness and how to deny without harshness. She had schooled herself into a life of method, and, applying its principles to the nursery, as well as to all the departments of social and domestic life, her hand moved the complicated machinery with a promptness, regularity and skill never surpassed. The habits of her children—their company, their books, their sports, all that went to make up the growth of mind and heart—were tended with a care only seen in the life of a Christian mother.

It would be difficult to distinguish any trait of character which stood out above and beyond all others, so evenly were her virtues balanced, so in harmony with duty were thought and sentiment, so symmetrical was the whole character—the utmost elegance of literary culture was blended with the utmost simplicity of Christian faith. She was tender yet firm, generous yet discreet, meek yet resolute, cheerful yet devout. She saved that she might give, and rested that she might recover strength to do good to others—like the lamp that consumes itself to diffuse its light abroad, or the cloud that exhausts its generous bosom that the earth may be decked with green.

The heir to her father's face, she had inherited his genial nature and his brilliant talents, while an ardent love of learning gave to her early habits of study the utmost range of research. She read much, and with rare discrimination. A refined and cultivated taste, mellowed by a sublime sense of the beautiful and the good, enabled her to appreciate truth, and to reject the spurious and the false. Poetry, whether the pathetic or the sublime, whether it glowed in nature or swept along the paths of revelation, met a quick response in her own hallowed thought, and grew all the more enchanting as it told of the Savior and redemption. With equal relish she sought out the depths of philosophy, and, with that incisive thought which seemed to lay bare the essence of questions the most abstruse, the theologian and the scholar were impressed with her skill in utterance, the strength of her intellect and the accuracy of her judgment.

She was born in the church and had been reared for God. A gentle, patient, prayerful mother, who went away to God when she was young, and a gifted, godly father, whose honored years were spent in the trying duties of the itinerant ministry, had guided her to the Savior. Home had been consecrated; talent, fortune and life had been laid upon the altar; memories of childhood's days, when mother, or God communed with the father, or knelt to invoke benediction upon the dying mother—these had drawn her to Christ; and while yet a child she sought, with contrition for sin and faith in Jesus, pardon for sin and the witness of the Spirit. In after-life, when her experience had pervaded her whole character, when thought was matured, she clung with increasing steadiness to these doctrines of the church. A minister's daughter, she felt a special interest in the minister and his family. Cautious in counsel, affluent in good works, a thoughtful, untiring and unselfish friend, the family of the minister shared her kindest regard. To lighten their burden, to anticipate their want, to secure their comfort—these came like the breathings of daily life. Eternity alone shall tell how much she has contributed to the comfort and usefulness of her minister. Fully up to the spirit of the church's great work, all of its means of usefulness passed under review. She was familiar with the names of our missionaries and their fields of labor; felt a deep interest in education and in literary institutions, in the distribution of the Bible and the success of the Sabbath school; and, so far as her own church was concerned, she seemed to magnify its agency in all these directions. Profoundly convinced that the doctrines and usages of her own church were adapted to the development of the highest type of Christian excellence, all of its enterprises were dear to her heart. But in all this she was not a bigot. She loved the Savior and loved his people. Educated to charity, she knew no sect; but, bounding over the restraints which party jealousy had imposed, she found fellowship with Christians, and sighed or rejoiced as the Savior was forgotten or honored. She could never have become a bigot. Her heart was too large and her soul was too deeply imbued with the Christ-like for her ever to have been dwarfed or marred in the molds of an intolerant ecclesiasticism. Her creed was for herself. Her charity knew no bound. She made herself familiar with the history, polity and doctrines of the church, not as a polemic, but as one who loved the truth, and into the various appliances of usefulness she brought an enthusiasm, a warmth and strength of interest which was fruitful of suggestions to a more active and efficient labor. Her piety took on no passive form, but glowed with a fervor that diffused itself into all the relations of life. Her own rich experience of the fruits of the Spirit had brought her into fellowship with the Father and with the Son, and so fully and definitely had this experience shaped her own habits of thought and feeling and action that with winning confidence she urged it upon others. And although she could but be conscious that God had endowed her with gifts and acquirements above the common lot, these were but the background of the picture of humility that sat at the feet of Jesus, radiant with hope, but subdued into meekness. And here possibly was the greatest charm of her character—a heart all aglow with communion with God, and a gentle, loving spirit that yearned for fellowship with the lowly and the sincere.

She had inherited a frail constitution, and there was a life-long struggle for the comfort of existence. Only such as were admitted to the closest friendship knew what of heroic effort was required for the labor she performed. That which gave effect to all she did was the intelligence which guided energy, will, method, and the abiding consciousness that the endowments of nature and the acquisitions of study were talents committed to her trust for the benefit of others. She felt that she was not her own—that she was bought with a price—and hence her patience, her fortitude, and the sublimity of her resignation to the will of God. As gold, that is tried in the fire, she came out of affliction refined and exalted, reflecting more brightly the image of her Savior.

In nothing was she more discreet than in the distribution of her deeds of kindness. To provide an outfit for a destitute child, to speak a gentle word to one who seemed neglected, to relieve an untold want, to supply a need which pride concealed, was the habit of life. Her impulses of tenderness were so prompt, and so far in advance of cautious calculation, that while others waited for an opportunity she had performed the deed and received her reward. In this way her means—and they were ample—were so judiciously bestowed that the noiseless stream flowed over and in all directions; and wealth was worth to her what of good it could contribute to the needy. She literally sought out the sick and the destitute, that she might afford them comfort. She walked so closely with God, and had consecrated head and heart and hand so wholly to him, that she seemed to have been chosen his almoner, and her hands were filled that she might distribute to others. And yet so delicately did she perform her work that you marveled that she escaped unseen—a gentle, silent, loving form went by, and when the morning dawned the dew lay upon the grass.

In social life there was sometimes a dignified reserve which was mistaken for pride; and such was her disdain of hypocrisy or pretension that when she encountered the heartless votary of pleasure, the literary fop or the clerical sham, whether she employed sarcasm or wit, invective or argument, her look, her bearing, her speech were like the smiting of the sword. And yet no nurse was ever more gentle to her babe than was she to the simple-minded and sincere. She read character by the light of her own genius, and measured merit by the pulsations of her own ingenuous nature. I have seen her disarm prejudice by her gentle, genial approach to the ignorant and the poor, and I have seen her turn away from high encounter with the wise and great, and sit, silent and docile as a child, while the good but unlettered man talked of prayer and faith, and love and God, until her cheeks were wet with the tears of gladness and her heart glowed with the rapture of angels. To a very rare extent she possessed the art of making all occasions promotive of religious culture. God was in all her thoughts, and "I want to be an angel" gladdened the glee of childhood, the lofty strains of the psalmist mingled with the mirth of riper years, or "let us worship God" was the closing act of the gayest feast; and all so fit, so as we wished, that the skeptic bowed with the devout, and went away a wiser and a better man.

Conspicuous among her many excellencies was the cordial welcome to her hospitality. It was the utmost remove from cold formality or pretentious ostentation. The guest was relieved of embarrassment, and found the amenities of home-life administered with so much ease and grace that he lingered when the hour of departure came, and cherished in his memory the beautiful as his ideal of domestic quiet and social joy.

The well-chosen library, the prominence always given to family worship, the easy gliding into conversation upon subjects suggestive of religious thought or religious labor, the reference to some Christian biography, or to some field of usefulness which laid invitingly before the people of God, could not fail to impress a guest with the conviction that the perfume of a sanctified life permeated the air he breathed. There an altar was built, there was the appointed season of worship, and there the household worshiped God.

Here I know that I tread closely upon a province I will not, cannot enter. Who shall rudely invade the domestic sanctuary, or profane the cherished memories of a hallowed home? I am content to wait without, until the record she folded to her bosom, all hallowed in prayer and bathed in tears of maternal affection, and bore away to the paradise of God, shall be read out in the light of eternity, at once a measure of the joy that awaited her and a treasure to those who follow in her steps.

You will allow one to speak who for thirty-seven years had been growing into a knowledge of her worth. By a little my senior, she was already presiding over a household, the brilliant center of an admiring circle, rendering a lofty deference to her husband, and learning to fill the station God had assigned her. Fluent in conversation, ready at reply, the dangerous gifts of wit and sarcasm were held in reserve, or only employed to give point to sentiment or to put folly to shame. She drew around her the wisdom of age and the impetuosity of youth—the equal companion of both. The maturer years of life gave strength and force and depth to her character, and experience, ripening into rarer usefulness, threw over all these qualities of mind and heart a light, "shining more and more unto the perfect day." I have rarely known her to allude to the faults of absent parties. I have often known her to check fault-finding in others. I have seen her in all those conditions of life known to the world, and there is not the recollection of a word that seemed uncharitable, or a thought that savored of selfishness. For a year past she had seemed to approach me more closely, and while bestowing upon me a share of the affection she had lavished upon a brother, who, though dead, is speaking to-day—the grand embodiment of a sublime humanity—that near approach more fully revealed the elements of a character so pure, so unselfish, so Christ-like that her presence was felt to be an inspiration of holiness and zeal. And I think I may be allowed to cherish the hope that others were similarly impressed, and that all along through life a cherished memory may be drawing us nearer and nearer to that Savior who was her all in all. Look which way I will, I see that some busy hand has been employed; from the picture that adorns the wall to the thought that communes with God I recognize that presence, and feel how still the world has grown. One by one the links by which we seemed to touch God are snapped, and the human sympathy which drew us toward God has left us to solitude and to tears. Without the Bible remonstrance would be just, as submission is proper now. We shall miss her when happy children sing of heaven; we shall miss her from the communion and from the Sabbath worship; we shall miss her from the prayer meeting and the seasons of benevolent labor; we shall miss her charitable hand, her prudent counsel, her diligent zeal, and the steadiness of her upward, onward step; we shall miss from the life-current of society the flow of a refreshing fountain, and sigh that the remorseless grave should consume so much of human joy and human hope. We shall miss her from the social circle and in the hallowed home; but, present with us in the charm of holy living, we shall be stimulated by her zeal and strengthened by her faith in God. Tradition shall tell of her virtues to children's children, and the monumental marble shall keep watch over her grave until "the earth and the sea shall give up their dead."

---

DR. MARVIN says that every year 3,000,000,000 pounds of tea, 220,000,000 pounds of coffee and cacao, 25,000,000 pounds of opium, 200,000,000 pounds of haschisch, and 865,000,000 pounds of tobacco are consumed. Now add the quantity of arsenic and alcoholic liquors used, and the figures open into a wilderness. It has been estimated, perhaps rashly, that of alcoholic liquors there is an aggregate product every year enough, if collected into one sea, to keep afloat the united navies of the world. Added to all this, strychnine has been pressed into service, and is used in India in doses of one-sixteenth of a grain. The Polynesians make themselves drunk with a liquor prepared from pepper (Piper inebrians vel methysticum.) The Kamschatkans use the Agaricus muscarius, and many of the Eastern nations use betel-nut.

Epidemic Death-Roll

OF THE M. E. CHURCH AT SHREVEPORT, LOUISIANA.

At last the pestilence is stayed; the enemy has withdrawn from our gates, and the survivors emerge from the thick darkness of the "frowning Providence" like so many troops emerging from a fearfully disastrous siege. The first cases of the yellow fever occurred here in the middle of August; the last cases were in the early part of the present month; so that we have been at the mouth of the valley of the shadow of death for more than three months, struggling against the forces of the King of Terrors. We begin now to gather up the lists of the dead, and to count the losses sustained by our churches and Sabbath schools and benevolent organizations and the like. The total number of deaths recorded is seven hundred and sixty-eight; the unrecorded ones would augment this number to eight hundred at least. Of these one hundred were colored people. When it is recollected that not more than ten thousand white people remained here after the breaking out of the epidemic, it will be seen from these figures that a third part of them died—a terrific mortality indeed.

The Methodist Church has suffered a loss of twenty-two members, including three of the board of stewards. Our Sabbath school has lost twenty-three members, including four teachers. Here are the names of the church-members, with some memoirs attached:

HARRY WALTERS, aged twenty, died September 10. He had been a faithful member of the church for the past two years, but was religiously inclined from childhood. He was remarkably free from the vices so common among youth. He always took more delight in the service of God than in the service of the world. In life he loved Jesus as his Savior, and in death he but fell asleep in the arms of Jesus. Dear Harry is at rest.

MRS. VIRGINIA HAMILTON, aged thirty-nine, died September 11. She was the daughter of George W. Johnson, Esq., of Florida, and was married to Colonel W. E. Hamilton, of Shreveport, December 22, 1853. She was converted and joined the church in Fillmore, Louisiana, in 1855. Sister Hamilton was an elect lady truly. Her religious life was not very demonstrative in the public congregation; but a deep vein of piety ran through all her "walk and conversation." She possessed, in an eminent degree, "the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit." She was greatly esteemed and beloved by all of us. Her husband and five children survive.

MRS. FANNIE S. FLEMING, aged twenty-two, died September 13. She was the daughter of Colonel J. M. and Mrs. M. E. Sandidge, of New Orleans. In January, 1870, she joined the Caroudelet Street church, New Orleans, was married soon after to Mr. W. F. Fleming, of Shreveport, and moved here at once, bringing her church letter with her. Sister Fleming was distinguished among us for great gentleness and tender-heartedness, and for warm devotion to the church. She leaves a husband and two precious little children.

WILLIAM DYER, aged twenty-three, died September 14. He was a young man of excellent habits and much promise. In his death his mother has lost a most devoted son; yet "not lost, but gone before."

W. J. WATTS, aged thirty-seven, died September 15. He was converted and joined the church at Shreveport in 1858. He married Miss Martha Cooke in 1865; she and four children survive him. Bro. Watts was a very exemplary Christian—his life was a "living epistle" of godliness. All the interests of the church were dear to him. He was a man, too, of large-hearted benevolence. He was a man of prayer in the family as well as in the closet. He died praying.

J. J. HILL, aged twenty-eight, died September 18. He was but recently from Georgia, and had not yet moved his family here. He would have proved a useful member in our church; already he had taken a class in the Sabbath school, and was disposed to do what good he could among us.

H. H. LEE, aged twenty-four, died September 18. He was from New York, where he had been converted and joined the church early in life. He removed to Shreveport two years ago, and was becoming one of our most successful hardware merchants. He was a very valuable member of the church here; he was a man that would have strengthened into a strong pillar of it had he been spared to us. The scholars of his large class in the Sabbath school were devoted to him, and he to them. When the epidemic broke out he told me he had made up his mind to remain and take the consequences; that he was ready to live or to die, as it should please God. He nursed others until he was taken sick himself. The day before he died he assured me he had placed his case in the hands of the Lord, and was waiting the issue with calmness. A young wife, who was absent visiting relatives in New York, is left mourning, yet cheered with the hope of meeting again in one of the many mansions "of the New Jerusalem."

WILLIAM STRINGFELLOW, aged sixty-one, died September 19. For more than forty years he was a member of the church, and had served in every official relation. He loved all the peculiarities of Methodism and all the services of the sanctuary. No man was more regular in attendance nor more efficient in helping at our prayer meetings than he. He would sing or pray or exhort when called upon. Death found him ready and willing to depart. He leaves a wife and several children and grandchildren.

E. M. WOODRUFF, aged thirty-nine, died September 23. He had been a member of our church the past three years. Seldom was he absent from preaching or prayer meeting, and he was always disposed to be an active member of the church. Until he was taken sick himself, he was unsparing in his efforts to serve others during the epidemic. He leaves a wife and child.

MRS. MCEACHERN, aged thirty, died September 24. An excellent woman. She had been living in widowhood for the last two years. She leaves two precious little children.

A. P. PAGE, aged thirty-eight, died September 26. He was one of the most conscientious, consecrated, God-serving men I ever knew. According to his means, he was the most liberal giver to the Lord's treasury in a church where liberality abounded; and according to his capacity he was the most efficient worker in said church. His labors for the church, like his gifts to the church, were never rendered grudgingly, but always cheerfully. In losing him we also lose by removal his estimable wife and dear little boy.

MRS. E. F. HALL, aged thirty-six, died September 26. She was the daughter of Bro. Cook, Elysian Fields, Texas, and was married to H. G. Hall in 1860. She was one of the most devout women in our Israel.

H. G. HALL, aged forty-two, died three weeks after his wife. He was judge of Caddo parish court at the time of his death. He was a man of superior order of intellect. He was learned in the Scriptures and in theology, in science and philosophy. At the last General Conference he was present as a lay delegate from our Annual Conference. Three young children survive him.

C. W. LEWIS, aged thirty-five, died October 1. He was once a very active member of the church at this place. He prayed much unto God in his last sickness.

ALFRED SAVILLE, aged thirty-six, died October 8. He came here from Memphis during the epidemic to take charge of the telegraph office after the death of its superintendent. He identified himself with our church here at once, but the brave brother was not spared to us long. The day he died he spent in praying and singing, and in exhorting the devoted young men around him to seek the salvation of their souls. His end was triumphant.

JOHN W. STUART, aged forty, died October 9. He was a brother of Rev. Charles B. Stuart, president of Mansfield Female College. He experienced and professed conversion during his sickness, and died in full assurance of the inheritance of everlasting life through our Lord Jesus Christ. He leaves a wife and several children.

MARY GILL, aged twenty-six, died October 12. She was a member of the church here for several years, and was one of our most regular Sabbath school teachers.

W. ROSE, aged fifty-two, died October 20. He was married to Miss Harriet E., daughter of Rev. Mark McCutcheon, in 1855. She and four children survive him. His three oldest children—Mary Lizzie, aged seventeen; Charles Samford, aged fourteen; and Alexander Moss, aged twelve—died but a few days before himself. Bro. Rose was a man of great energy, and was quite successful in business. For several years he has been one of the stewards of our church.

MRS. M. E. ALSTON, aged fifty, died October 20. She had been a widow for some years, and was greatly devoted to her many children. She died in great peace.

WILLIAM HEFFNER, aged twenty-five, died November 3. He joined the church at twelve years of age. He was a very upright young man. After nursing several relatives and friends during the epidemic, the noble fellow was taken sick with the fever himself and died.

J. M. NABORS, aged twenty-four, died at Mansfield, Louisiana, whither he had gone for refuge shortly after the breaking out of the epidemic.

REV. J. C. BLACKMAN, aged sixty-four, died November 24. He was a local preacher for more than twenty years. He moved to this place last winter. He died in the faith.

J. W.

SHREVEPORT, December 10, 1873.

Obituaries.

OUR friend and brother, JAMES A. STEWART, died of apoplexy, at his residence in Macon, Mississippi, November 27, 1873, in his sixty-fourth year.

He was a cultivated, intelligent man, useful and beloved by society, a devoted husband, an affectionate father, a kind and obliging neighbor. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and was regarded by his brethren as a good man and true. The community and the church have suffered loss in the death of this worthy Christian gentleman, but most of all will his loss be felt by his wife and children, to whom, in this hour of deepest bereavement, we tender our sincere sympathy and condolence. The light of your loved and honored one's example still shines upon you, and his spirit, from its beautiful home in heaven, calls to you, and bids you battle in hope with life's ills and sorrows, assuring you that the hereafter will all be joy and peace if you follow Jesus here.

E. E. HAMILTON.

JOHN JENKINS MCCARROLL was born near Lake Providence, in Carroll parish, Louisiana, October 17, 1855; and died at his father's residence, in St. Louis county, Missouri, on the fifth of November, 1873.

The life-long convictions and conduct of our dear young brother were decidedly religious. A purer and more manly young heart and life his pastor has never known. Our weak, short-sighted faith sometimes halts to contend with God for exciting within us such high hopes, only so soon to be blighted. But God's loving answer drives us to distraction and mutinous unbelief, or subdues us into sweet submission and faith: "Won't you trust me? Are you willing for a short while to know only in part?"

Bro. Harp, of the Louisiana Conference, dedicated to God, by baptism, our dear young brother in his infancy. Some months before his death he professed conversion, and three or four weeks before his departure he was received into full membership in the Methodist Episcopal Church South at Eden chapel, St. Louis Conference.

His fatal disease, congestion of the brain, completed its deathly mission in about forty hours. His eclipsed consciousness, struggling to express itself in fragments of hymns and broken prayers, was like glimpses of an archangel rising amid the black and broken fragments of a storm.

Johnnie—pure young spirit—with thy sad mother, with thy poor, afflicted father, and thy waiting brothers and sisters, we ardently hope to come and greet thee in our eternal home!

IRL HICKS, Pastor.

[The parents of the subject of the above notice are among our earliest friends. May God bless and sustain them in this hour of deep affliction. EDITOR ADVOCATE.]

MR. EDITOR: This short sketch will bear you the sad intelligence of the death of our much-esteemed brother, URBANE E. TRAVIS. After lingering for several months he passed from earth to the church triumphant, on the fifteenth of November, 1873, at the ripe old age of sixty-four years, four months and twenty-five days. In the death of this good man the community has lost one of her most honored citizens, and the Methodist Church South at Delhi one of her official members. He was punctual in his attendance on the sanctuary when able. The pastor realizes a vacant seat in the church, but doubtless none feels the loss or realizes the absent link so much as his disconsolate widow and orphan children, who are left to mourn his loss; but your loss is his eternal joy, for he is the companion now of saints in glory, and is enjoying "that rest that remaineth to the people of God."

G. M. L.

FLOYD, Louisiana.

RICHARD WRIGHT BROWN died near Prattville, Alabama, December 10, 1873. He was born October 5, 1833, and was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South during a revival in Indian Hill church, in 1847, being in his fourteenth year. His whole conduct through life was such as won and preserved the confidence of all who knew him. Honesty, in its most scrupulous exactness, was his distinguishing virtue. His piety was unobtrusive but sincere, his experience well defined, and his whole character well proportioned. He illustrated, in a remarkable degree, what true manly courage may accomplish: Having lost an arm in the Confederate service during our late war, instead of resigning himself to what seemed to be a dependent condition, by force of will he acquired such use of one hand as enabled him, by his own labor in farm-work, to build up his fortune rapidly. What a rebuke to those who, with all their members, have been wasting life in fruitless laments over losses, or perverting it by shrewd turns to get gain! The example of such true Christian manhood should not be lost to the church and the country. Bro. Brown was prevented, by the nature of his disease, from giving a dying testimony; but he testified while living, which is better. He leaves a wife, to whom he was united in matrimony on the sixth of last March, to mourn his loss. May God attend her with his comforting and saving grace.

E. S. SMITH.

DIED, of paralysis and heart disease, at Walnut Grove, Mississippi, November 7, 1873, MRS. MARTHA HENDERSON, in her sixty-sixth year. Another mother in Israel has gone to rest. Mother Henderson was born in South Carolina; professed religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at a camp meeting, held at Antioch camp ground, Jasper county, Georgia, in 1833; was married to David Henderson in 1837; and emigrated to Mississippi in 1854. For forty years she followed Christ. Nineteen years of that time she was a bright and shining light in the church at this place. Few such women as Mother Henderson have lived at this day and time. She was devotedly attached to the church of her choice, but also loved and worshiped with all Christian people—was never heard to speak evil of any. She enjoyed that religion that imparts "love, joy and peace." I never in life saw her temper ruffled. She wore almost a perpetual smile upon her countenance, which shed a halo of gladness, joy and light in her own household, in the community and in the church. She was one of the kindest companions, one of the best of mothers, and one of the brightest Christians in our midst. She was truly "an Israelite indeed, in whom there was no guile." Her household are left desolate, but they "weep not as those who have no hope."

She lived to see all her children grown and married, and all converted and brought into the fold of Christ with herself and her husband. Often have we bowed together around the public and the family altar; often have we heard her shout the high praises of her Redeemer, and tell of the love of Jesus and her prospect of heaven. Truly she has left us all an example worthy of our imitation. Her seat was never found vacant in the house of God without a reasonable cause. The last ten years of her life she was the child of affliction to a greater or less extent—suffering with heart disease—but was never heard to murmur. She was stricken down on the morning of the twenty-sixth of October, and from that hour till her death she suffered as but few have to suffer; was conscious a greater part of the time, and tried very much to talk to her companion, children and friends; but alas! her paralyzed tongue would allow her to utter only a few words that were intelligible; yet her countenance would brighten and tears of joy run down her furrowed cheeks as the writer of this would sing and pray with her, and talk to her of the love of Jesus and her home in heaven. For twenty-four hours previous to the last moments she seemed to suffer less, and died without a struggle, as we were singing, praying and weeping around her bedside.

IRVIN MILLER.

No grain so small that not an ear contains;
No ear so small but yet the harvest gains;
No thing so small but teaches that God reigns.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1873.

THE MORNING MOON.

The gold moon turns to white:
The white moon fades to cloud;
It looks so like the gold moon's shroud,
It makes me think upon the dead.
And hear the words I have heard read,
By graves for burial rite.

I wonder now how many moons
In just such white have died;
I wonder how the stars divide
Among themselves their share of light;
And if there were great years of night
Before the earth saw moons?

I wonder why each moon, each sun
Which ever has been or shall be,
In this day's sun and moon I see;
I think perhaps all of the old
Is hidden in each new day's hold;
So the first day is not yet done!

And then I think—our dust is spent
Before the balances are swung;
Shall we be loneliest among God's living creatures? Shall we dare
To speak in this eternal air
The only discontent?

Religion and Science.

From the excellent address by J. Lawrence Smith, late president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, at Portland, we take the following extract:

Reference has already been made to the tendency of quitting the physical to revel in the metaphysical. More special reference will be made here to the proclivity of the present epoch among philosophers and theologians to be parading science and religion side by side, talking of reconciling science and religion—as if they have ever been unreconciled. Scientists and theologians may have quarreled, but never science and religion. At dinners they are toasted in the same breath, and calls made on clergymen to respond, who, for fear of giving offense, or lacking the fire and firmness of St. Paul, utter a vast amount of platitudes about the beauty of science and the truth of religion, trembling in their shoes all the time, fearing that science may take away their professional calling. Instead of uttering in a voice of thunder, like the Boanerges of the gospel, that "the world by wisdom knew not God." And it never will. Our religion is made so plain by the light of faith that the wayfaring man, though a fool, cannot err therein. I firmly believe that there is less connection between science and religion than there is between jurisprudence and astronomy; and the sooner this is understood the better it will be for both. Religion is based upon revelation, as given to us in a book, the contents of which are never changed, and of which there have been no revised or corrected editions since it was first given, except so far as men have interpolated—a book more or less perfectly understood by mankind, but clear and unequivocal in all essential points concerning the relation of man to his Creator—a book that affords practical directions, but no theory—a book of facts, and not of arguments—a book that has been damaged more by theologians than by all the pantheists and atheists that have ever lived and turned their invectives against it. And no one source of mischief on the part of theologians is greater than that of admitting the profound mystery of many parts of it, and almost in the next breath attempting some sort of explanation of these mysteries. The book is just what Richard Whately says it is, namely: "Not the philosophy of the human mind, nor yet the philosophy of the divine in itself, but (that which is properly religion) the relation and connection of the two beings—what God is to us, what he has done and will do for us, and what we are to be in regard to him." Now science on her part has her records; they are discovered truths in the relations that man bears to the animate and inanimate kingdoms around him, so far as they are discovered by him from time to time; but as he has to proceed in his labors with imperfect instruments, and often equally imperfect senses, he has to correct himself over and over again, and his observations and theories, especially the latter, make frequent shifts, each time supposing that the true one has been reached.

For the last fifty years or more the unity of the human race has been a most prolific subject of investigation and discussion, until it was generally conceded that there must have been more than one origin for the different races. In fact, theologians had already entered on that mischievous work, called reconciling science and religion, and saying, after all, there was some little mistake in the biblical record on that subject; and, if the author would only permit it, would be well to make a correction just there. But this could not be done, and there it stood, that all men were of one flesh. But science, restless, changeful, moved on; and to-day the unity of the human race is insisted on by nearly all the leading naturalists.

One other example I give under this head, and I have done. The book of science teaches that the sun is the source of all light and heat; yet in that post-prophetic chapter of the book of our religion it is said that the creation of the first day was light, and not until afterward was the sun created. And this was again a stumbling-block to theologians, and many wished that Moses had been a little more particular. But science tells us that if we can imagine one to have been placed on our globe before it had consolidated, he would have seen vast seas of vapor floating around and far above it, shutting out the very light of heaven; so that darkness brooded over the waters; and that the first benign influence that smiled upon the earth was the light struggling through the dark mist, and the prophetic eye, either on the plain, in the valley or on the highest mountain-peak, would not behold whence it came, and might exclaim in sublime poetic ecstasy: "God said, Let there be light; and there was light." And not until, perhaps, ages after that did the bright orb of the sun reveal itself to the prophet as the source of this light.

So I say, let our book of religion stand as it is. If it be not of God, it will come to naught. And let science search for truth; and if it mistakes its results it is certain to correct them in time, for the causes of its perturbations are as surely discovered as Leverrier and Adams discovered those of Uranus. Science and religion are both traveling to the same great point—toward the Author of all truth, yet by two very different roads. Science treats of certain mathematical axioms and principles, recognizing matter and certain forces or modifications of an energy innate in matter, as heat, light, electricity, etc.; religion is guided by its axioms and principles, as faith, love and hope; and with these it is expected to work out its great end in the present and future of mankind. Science is nature revealed; religion is nature's God revealed; and neither the one nor the other can be without its axioms, incapable of demonstration. Faith is as much an energy of the immortal as heat is one of the energies of matter. We know heat by its phenomena alone, and we know faith in the same way, its phenomena proving its existence as well to the child as to the man, to the learned and the unlearned. That many a scientist will be swallowed up in pantheism from want of patience, is to be expected; and I regret to acknowledge, with Hartmann, "will maintain that creation is a cause, existence a misfortune, life a deepening disappointment, and that the extinction of personal consciousness is the only salvation;" but many more will enjoy the double felicity of arriving at the great end, sustained both by science and by religion.

THE PRAYER-GAUGE.

I cannot close this part of my subject without reverting to the tendency of certain men of science to make physical experiment the test of all truth. Even prayer and Divine Providence influencing affairs in this world, must become subjects for experiment; and if the results be not in accordance with these experiments, then suspicion is to be cast on faith. This has been truly explained as coming from the spirit of an age which strives to make natural science the all in all of wisdom, and begins with nature instead of beginning with God, and ends with burying man, and even God, within physical conditions, and assigning to the supreme Spirit the impersonality that is usually ascribed to material nature; and all this in spite of the fact that profound philosophers have believed in there being a consciousness subject to influence above their sense.

In this matter of subjecting faith to physical test by what is now commonly called the "prayer-gauge," philosophers of the most advanced school differ very widely in their opinion, and that remarkable pantheist (or pessimist,) Edward von Hartmann, probably the most remarkable man of that school since the days of Spinosa, who believes only in nature, yet ranks with the old patriarch in his idea of the power of faith, or something next akin to it; for he calls all mankind to "combine together in one grand act of self-abilition, and to resign the very faculty of will by a mighty concert, not of prayer, but of self-renunciation, by the help of such means as art and science may apply, and by such perfection of the magnetic telegraph as shall enable them all at once to will not to will any more, and so to bring all conscious personal life to an end by an absorption in the almighty and unconscious spirit." Not the most ascetic religious devotee could exhibit more unbounded confidence in the power of faith, subverting not only the laws of nature, but nature herself, as is expressed in those views.

In fine, then, gentlemen, let us stick to science—pure, unadulterated science, and leave to religion things which pertain to it, for science and religion are like two mighty rivers flowing toward the same ocean, and before reaching it they will meet and mingle their pure streams, and flow together into the vast ocean of truth which encircles the throne of the great Author of all truth, whether pertaining to science or to religion. And I will here, in defense of science, assert that there is a greater proportion of its votaries who now revere and honor religion in its broadest sense, as understood by the Christian world, than that of any other of the learned secular pursuits.

Far-Fetched Seasonings.

Mrs. Fannie R. Feudge gives in the August number of Lippincott's Magazine a really entertaining article on the "Fruits and Flowers of the Tropics." It describes an excursion which she enjoyed among the various plantations of the Island of Singapore, and furnishes much that one would like to know concerning the appearance and manner of cultivation of "crops" of which we are acquainted only with the prepared and imported products. First, we are taken to a pepper-garden, cultivated by Chinamen:

"First, we strolled over a plantation of black pepper, cultivated by Chinamen. The vine is a creeper with a knotty stem that, if unpruned, will reach the height of nearly thirty feet, but in order to render the vines more productive they are kept down to about a dozen or fifteen feet, and each is trained over a separate pole or prop. At each joint of the stem the plant puts out its fibrous tendrils, grasping the prop, and so climbing to the top. Whenever a vine happens to trail on the ground, these tendrils, like strawberry 'runners,' shoot into the earth, but then they bear no fruit. The branches are short, brittle, and easily broken; the leaves deep green, heart-shaped, and very abundant; and the blossom, a cluster of small white flowers, almost destitute of odor. The fruit hangs in long clusters of some forty or fifty grains each, somewhat after the fashion of the wild grape, though much more diminutive in size. Until after it has reached its full size it is green; when at maturity, of a bright red, and black only after it has become thoroughly dry. When the berries begin to redden the bunches are gathered and spread upon mats in the sun to dry; then the corns soon wither, turn black and drop from the stems, becoming thus the shriveled black pepper known in commerce. What is known among us as white pepper was formerly supposed to be a different species from the black; but the sole difference is in the curing; that intended for white pepper being placed in baskets under water, until sufficiently swollen for the exterior pellicle to rub off by rolling in the hands after being again dried in the sun. The plants are propagated by cuttings, which are generally placed some six feet apart, sometimes being trained over the trunk of an old tree, and at others over a strong stake. The vines commence bearing the third year, and continue to do so for a dozen or more, when they are rooted up, new ones having been previously planted to take their places."

COFFEE.

She next called at a plantation of gambier—a substance used in dyeing and tanning; the plant of which, it is said, will not flourish if touched by a woman—and the next at a coffee plantation:

"Our next call was at a coffee plantation, where we saw sixty thousand young and healthy coffee-trees, and two-thirds of them in a bearing condition, yielding in the aggregate not less than fifty thousand pounds of dry coffee per annum. The trees are beautifully formed, and rise naturally to the height of sixteen feet or more, but when under culture are kept at five or six feet for the convenience of collecting the ripe fruit. They are planted in rows, the leaves grow opposite each other, and many sessile flowers are produced at their insertion. The blossoms are pure white, and when the plants are in full bloom nothing can exceed their beauty or fragrance, the branches looking as if frosted with snow, while the air is filled with the delicate perfume. But the scene is brief as enchanting; the flowers fade a few hours after they are full blown, to be succeeded by tiny berries that are at first green, then a yellowish red, and finally ripen into a rich crimson or purple; after which, unless gathered at once, they shrivel and drop from the tree. This is about seven months after the blooms make their appearance. The pulp is torn off and separated from the seeds by means of a machine, and the grains, after being thoroughly washed, are dried in the sun and put up in bags. Chek Kongtwau, the Chinese proprietor of the plantation, not only walked with us over his grounds, and answered all our questions with exemplary patience, but insisted that we should go into the house, be presented to his wife and partake of a lunch. He regaled us with tea and coffee of his own growing and curing, excellent turtle-steaks, boiled rice, and curry made of shrimps and cucumbers stewed together. For vegetables there were the Malay lobak, a tender white radish, and the cocoanut bud stewed in the milk of the ripe fruit; and as dessert we had placed before us, for the first time, the far-famed durian, so universal a favorite among Orientals as to command a higher price than any other fruit in market, yet so abominably disgusting in smell that the olfactories of few strangers can tolerate its approach. To me the odor seemed precisely that supposed to be produced by the admixture of garlic and asafœtida; and as a plate piled with the rich golden pulp was placed before me by our hostess, I came so near fainting as to be compelled to seek the open air. The old Chinaman followed me, and, when he had learned the cause of my imlisposition, laughed heartily, saying: 'Wait a year or two. You have not been in the country long enough to appreciate this rare luxury. But when you have become initiated into a knowledge of its surpassing excellences, never an orange, pineapple or other fruit will you touch when a durian can be had.'"

To the vandal declaration which one often hears in these days, and which asserts that there is no practical utility in the study of the ancient classics, a singular and complete refutation has recently been made in France. The French police were struck this summer with the extraordinary number of wooden rocking-horses for children which were being imported into France. Now in that country, however it may be in this, the policeman is a suspicious animal, having a provoking habit of being always around, of putting this and that together, and of thrusting his penked official nose into other people's business. Seeing, therefore, this sudden invasion of France by vast herds of hobby-horses, and wondering at this extraordinary "demand of French babies for wooden equitation," he began to think what it could all mean. At this point the policeman's well-known devotion to classical study served him in good stead. He remembered reading in his Homer how Troy was ruined by one wooden horse; and he resolved that France should not suffer in a similar way from some hundreds of them. He captured one of the creatures, disemboweled it, and discovered that its body was full of fine foreign cigars—an ingenious but short-lived device of the smugglers.—Christian Union.

A few days since a man well known in New York society—not young, and who could not dance—was sitting at a party near a young lady, and watching the mazes of the "German." He turned to her, knowing her well, and said: "I wish you would let me put my arm around your waist." Of course she looked at him in amazement. "Oh!" said he, "you know I can't dance, but I don't see the difference. All these young men have their arms about the girls' waists, and why should not I have the same privilege, though I sit still?"

Two little girls were comparing progress in catechism study. "I've got to original sin," said one. "How far have you got?" "Me? Oh! I'm away beyond redemption," said the other.

MEMORY.

How oft in silence, secretly, alone,
We wander back along the traveled road
Of life which lies behind us! There we strode
With buoyant step; and there, with many a groan,
We picked a painful way from stone to stone,
Which barred our path; one while a weary hill
Defeated ardor; then, again, a pool
In [illegible] chasms lay. All are past and gone,
But not forgotten. Standing, as we seem,
Inside One wall which hides formerly,
The long-lost past behind us gives a hope
And faithful promise of security,
But none of ease; or else there were no scope
For trust in God, and life were but a dream.

Chambers' Journal.

Original Letter of George Washington.

The following original letter from "the Father of his Country" has been recently presented to the library of the Theological Seminary at Princeton by Captain and Mrs. John S. Gulick, now residing near Princeton. It is understood that this letter, hitherto unpublished, was written to a youth in the family of Washington, and relative of Mrs. Washington, and that it had been in the family of Mrs. Gulick (formerly Miss Milligan, of Virginia) for two generations. It is as follows, precisely as written:

"System in all things should be aimed at; for in execution it renders everything more easy. If now and then, of a morning before breakfast, you are inclined, by way of change, to go out with a gun, I shall not object to it, provided you return by the hour we usually set down to that meal.

"From breakfast until about an hour before dinner (allowed for dressing and preparing for it, that you may appear decent,) I shall expect that you will confine yourself to your studies, and diligently attend to them, endeavoring to make yourself master of whatever is recommended to or required of you.

"While the afternoons are short, and but little interval between rising from dinner and assembling for tea, you may employ that time in walking or any other recreation.

"After tea, if the studies you are engaged in require it, you will, no doubt, perceive the propriety and advantage of returning to them until the hour of rest.

"Rise early, that it may become familiar, agreeable, healthy and profitable. It may for awhile be irksome to do this; but that will wear off; and the practice will produce a rich harvest forever thereafter, whether in public or private walks of life.

"Make it an invariable rule to be in place (unless extraordinary circumstances prevent it) at the usual breakfasting, dining and tea hours. It is not only disagreeable, but it is also very inconvenient, for servants to be running here and there, and they know not where, to summon you to them, when their duties, and attendance on the company who are seated, render it improper.

"Saturday may be appropriated to riding, to your gun, or other proper amusements.

"Time disposed of in this manner makes ample provision for exercise and every useful or necessary recreation; at the same time that the hours allotted for study, if really applied to it, instead of running up and down stairs, and wasted in conversation with any one who will talk with you, will enable you to make considerable progress in whatsoever line is marked out for you; and that you may do it is my sincere wish.

GO. WASHINGTON.

MOUNT VERNON, 7 January, 1798."

New York Observer.

A Nova Scotia Tide.—The scenery here is remarkable only in a single point, and that is the rise of the tide-waves. A gentleman said to me: "When I go away abroad, and in different lands, they boast of their many advantages, I always stump them by asking: 'How high does your tide run? Ours rises sixty feet.'" The valleys and meadows that reach along the basin look very much like other fertile valleys. The orchards, on the fruit of which Longfellow still gives an annual premium, look just like the orchards of Eastern States. And the farm-houses differ from those in Maine and New Hampshire only by being a little more antique. But the tide is an institution. Every farmer on the lower land has a dike to keep the Atlantic ocean from stealing his chickens and other things. When the tide is out many miles of fine pasture offer a tempting bite to the cattle. They have learned, however, to be cautious, for, when it comes in, the herd are put to their mettle to keep ahead of it. The pigs of Nova Scotia, differing from all their cousins, are especially shrewd on this subject. They follow the tide out closely to feed on the fish it strands in its rapid retreat. The finest runner takes the lead, keeping nearest the outbound wave, with one eye on the crabs and the other on the tide. The instant the tide turns, and takes its first backward step, the porcine leader sounds a shrill note of alarm. The moment it is given the whole herd, without waiting for another bite, start for the highland, making such time as only Acadian pigs can. They never get fat, as that would interfere with agility and their mission in life, which is to keep ahead of the ocean.

The following is given as the origin of the penny-postage movement in Great Britain: Rowland Hill saw a poor woman, whose husband was away, look earnestly at the outside of a letter from him, and then decline to take it—the postage was too great. He expressed his sympathy, but when the postman was gone she explained that the letter was "all outside." Her husband and she had agreed on signs and tokens to be conveyed by lines and dots and variations of the address, so that she could learn without fee that he was well or ill, was coming home soon or wished her to come to him, or would send her money next week, and so on. The future reformer thought it a pity the poor should be driven to such shifts, and undertook to secure cheap postage for the people, and did it almost unaided.

How has the little busy moth
Improved our winter furs!
From eating muffs and seal-skin hats
No camphor it deters.

Religious Intelligence.

The French Protestants number less than 1,000,000 out of 36,000,000 of people.

The municipality of Naples has issued a decree prohibiting all Catholic processions in the streets of that city, as well as throughout all the ex-kingdom of Naples.

Through the exertions of Dr. McGirk the Cumberland Presbyterians have received eight hundred square miles of land in Venezuela for educational and missionary purposes.

The Synod of Baltimore, which includes the presbyteries of Baltimore, Newcastle and Washington city, reports an aggregate membership of 105 churches, 118 ministers and licentiates and 12,901 communicants.

The Baptist Preachers' Meeting, of Boston, have been discussing the question of substituting the Sunday school for one of the preaching services of the Sabbath. On a test vote, nearly every member in the association voted for the change.

There is quite a rapid increase in the number of Presbyterian churches in Spain. In 1871 there were but ten congregations; in 1872 there were sixteen; and this year a General Assembly was held in Madrid, and the church of that country divided into four presbyteries.

Considerable progress is being made by the Wesleyans on the Gold Coast of Africa in the initiatory work of providing a native Christian literature for the people. The primer and first catechism have been printed in the Fanti language, the primer and first and second catechisms in the Yoruba language, and the Pope primer and first catechism are now in the press.

Calcutta.—The English Baptist mission here is enjoying a good religious interest. The brother of Brojonath, of Khoostia, has been recently baptized, and the brothers are very useful in the mission work. They have given new life and hope to the mission. A great work in saving their native brethren is before them. Several are inquiring the way to the kingdom of God. The missionaries of the Northwest Provinces will meet at Calcutta the present season for their Annual Conference.

Presbyterians are sometimes called "blue." "The epithet," observes a religious exchange, "arose in this way: The distinct dress of the Scotch Presbyterian clergy was a blue gown and a broad blue bonnet. The Episcopalian clergy, on the other hand, either wore no distinctive dress in public service, or else wore a black gown. From this rose the contrasting epithets of 'Black Prelacy' and 'True Blue Presbyterians.' So says Dean Stanley in his lectures on the history of the Church of Scotland."

The Cumberland Presbyterian Church is extending its missionary work to Venezuela, and has recently secured a grant of eight hundred square miles of land for educational and mission purposes. The land is part of a grant of two hundred and forty thousand square miles to an English and American trading company, made by the government of Venezuela for the promotion of colonization. The Cumberland Presbyterians have already sent missionaries to the Island of Trinidad, near by, and will soon occupy this new field.

Christianity Not Declining.—The increase of communicants of evangelical churches in the United States for the last two years is 800,000, or a little more than eleven per cent. The same rate of increase for ten years would swell the number of communicants to 10,000,000. This does not clearly indicate the decline of Protestantism. We do not see cause for the alarm of some Christians and Christian pastors, lest rationalists, infidels and Romanists should take away our country and nation. The anticipation of defeat is neither wise nor courageous.

At Navuloa, in the Fiji Islands, the Wesleyan training institution took possession of its new premises last spring, the occasion being celebrated by a grand festival. King Cakobau presided, and about four thousand chiefs and people from all parts of the group of islands were present. The annual report stated that when the institution was established there were 54,000 nominal Christians in the islands, and now there are 109,000. Then there were 20,000 children in the village schools, now there are 50,000.

The Free Church of Scotland has been informed by one of its missionaries that within one month Mr. Taylor, an agent in the Province of Gujerat, India, had baptized fifty-eight natives, of whom forty were adults, and they have learned from the Rev. Dhanjibhai Nauroji, another of their missionaries, that native Christians in Western India had begun the missionary work on their own account. From Pietermaritzburg, South Africa, they have been informed that, after a week of united prayer, fifty-three persons had been added to the church, a considerable number of them being converts from heathenism.

The sixty Adventists who are waiting in tents on Terry's Island, in the Connecticut river, about seventeen miles above Hartford, were disappointed in not being called to depart on the fifth of November, the day announced for the end of the world. The choice of Guy Fawke's day is a queer coincidence; but the ascension of the Adventists, like that which was planned for the British Parliament by Guy, was prevented by causes beyond their control. They are, however, still hoping for the end of all things, and insist that it must come before the end of this year. It may be; the Hoosac tunnel is so near completed that the blows of the miners' drills are audible from the one heading to the other.

Publication Endowment.—The Southern Presbyterian General Assembly, during its sessions at Little Rock, Arkansas, adopted resolutions recommending that active measures may be taken to raise an aggregate sum of about $60,000, of which $13,000 are needed to complete the endowment of $50,000, the minimum amount originally proposed and ordered by the General Assembly to be raised for this purpose, while $45,000 are required for the purchase of a publishing house. The Assembly also directed that a special collection be made in all the churches on the first Sabbath in December, 1873, or as near thereto as practicable, for this purpose."

"Old Hundred" is a tune heard all over the world. A correspondent writing from Switzerland says he visited the Church of the Madeleine at Geneva: "As the sermon is preached at eight o'clock in the morning few are present, and the preacher himself, M. Duquet, reads the Bible, prayers, creed, etc., and gives out a psalm and hymn, one of which is sung to the familiar tune of 'Old Hundred.' It seems to the English listener as if that good old melody had also packed up its things and gone traveling with the rest of the world, when he hears it set to French words, and chanted out by a strong-voiced leader from the desk of a Genevan church."—Northern Christian Advocate.

A correspondent of the Liberal Christian, writing from Geneva of Pere Hyacinthe's preaching, bears such grand testimony as this: "Instead of a 'popular' topic, adapted to 'soothe, amuse or entertain' the audience, the great reformer, as I have come to consider him, stands up 'full of the Holy Ghost,' and, without any parading of himself, preaches to the people as Jesus used to, to the Jews, 'Repent ye, for the kingdom of God is at hand!' or as Paul used to, to the Athenians, 'The times of this ignorance God winked at, but now he commands all men everywhere to repent.' Even to me, Unitarian, strong and zealous as I am, there is something inexpressibly attractive both in the religious services and in the religious personality of Pere Hyacinthe."

The Old Catholics in Switzerland number over fifty congregations, of which five are settled parishes, with their own priests, eleven are congregations not having their own priests, but forming parts of missionary circuits, five are church districts, and thirty-one are Vereins. The cause is impeded by some difficulty which exists in Germany of finding priests who will venture to join the movement. A fund has been started for the education of candidates for orders, to which the town of Solothurn and the government of Berne have already contributed liberally. Dr. Herzog, of Olten, and Michelis are among the persons named for bishop. The meeting of the Westphalian leagues of Old Catholics at Dortmund, on the tenth of October, was signalized by the formation of a Verein of fifty-two members.

At the Church Congress recently held in Bath, England, Sir Bartle Frere read a paper on foreign missions, in which he argued that the church should send forth among the barbarous heathen a "full representation of a civilized community, thus allowing missionaries to undertake other work besides mere preaching." He instanced the Moravians, Germans and Roman Catholics as having successfully acted on this principle, and described a settlement at Zanzibar of French missionaries from Alsace, which was self-supporting, because, in the carrying on of a large and successful farm, they taught their converts the arts of civilized life. He spoke with special emphasis of the great results brought about by Bishop Mackenzie and Bishop Tozer in the Central African mission, which could only be produced by sending out a "Christian community," instead of a bishop with one or two clerical assistants.

For the first time in their history the Primitive Methodists of England held, on the last Monday in September, a missionary meeting in Exeter Hall. This unpretending body of Christians has of late years grown with great rapidity. "In 1830 the number of its members was 33,535—there are now 160,658; 234 traveling preachers and 2,719 local preachers in 1830 were contrasted with 1,005 traveling preachers and 14,751 local preachers in 1873. In 1830 the return of 420 chapels included all the rented rooms and all sorts of odds and ends of places of which the Primitive Methodists so readily availed themselves; now the number was 6,352. The missionary income, which in the year 1830 was set down at £243 1s. 9½d., has now increased to £32,000. The book-room in 1830 had a capital of £2,016 18s. 5½d., and the profits of the year were £75 5s. 3½d.; the capital is now £12,000, and the yearly profits upward of £3,000.

The Bible in Bengal.—A decision of the Bengal government in favor of Bible circulation in that immense presidency, numbering some 65,000,000, has been just given by the Lieutenant Governor, Sir George Campbell. It is addressed to the convener of the committee of the Calcutta Bible Society, and is to the following effect: "Sir, with reference to the Rev. J. E. Carlyle's letter, dated July 10, 1873, offering to supply copies of the Bible to the libraries of all the schools and colleges in Bengal, I am to convey the thanks of the Lieutenant Governor for the society's offer. The Bible is already in the library of some government schools and colleges; but as government has no specific information whether it is supplied in all, the director of public instruction will be requested to assist you in distributing English and vernacular copies of the Bible to all government schools and colleges, if you think proper to supply them. The dispatches of the home government quoted by you plainly lay down that the Bible should be kept in the libraries of government schools and colleges." The only exception made to this general principle by the government is in reference to the village patshallas or primary school, where "it is feared" by the government that a general distribution might "arouse suspicion, and do little good."—Christian Intelligencer.

When we are alone we have our thoughts to watch, in the family our tempers, and in company our tongues.—Hannah More.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1872.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. A. J. BRIGGS.
REV. J. W. RUSH.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. WILLIAM V. TUDOR, D. D.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

REDUCTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers hereafter at the following rates:

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year | $2 00 |
| Six Months | 1 25 |
| Three Months | 75 |

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

to all Ministers of the Gospel, traveling or local, and widows of deceased traveling preachers.

FREE ONE YEAR

to any person forwarding to us four new yearly subscribers, with EIGHT DOLLARS.

Christmas Greetings.

The day has come again, and we wish our readers joy. The world has a Savior. He came into the world, and he came to stay. His birth has made a new world of the sin-cursed and death-stricken earth. The mystery and the glory of the incarnation stirred the universe. The wise men of the East were drawn to the spot where the holy child was, the heavenly powers broke into song over the event which was to rise above all epochs in history, and we may well believe that satan was startled by the long-predicted advent.

Christ in the world! This is the import of our Christmas. He came, and his work of redemption is going forward. The babe is now the crowned and mighty King. His kingdom is come, and is coming. His presence is felt in every land, and every year increases the number of those who join in the anthem of praise. A world without a Christ! Could anything be more drear and dark than life without the consciousness that he has come, and that he came to be with us forever? In spite of its tears and sorrows and death, life is grand and beautiful as it stands lighted up and transfigured by the Sun of righteousness. The general joy is from this great fact. It may have a low expression and be often perverted to base and sensual gratifications, and the most of those who join in the annual festivities may have little apprehension of the indescribable glory of the redemptive plan, but the sentiment has become rooted and universal that a Savior, God's only-begotten, was given as the manifestation of infinite wisdom and love.

Happy for us if we may realize to-day that we have a Savior in our hearts. Christ is in history, his gospel has entered into the civilization, the thought and the worship of the world at large. But we must bring the child, Jesus, into the family circle and into the domestic gladness and reunions which mark the occasion. Parents and children and household associations are drawn around this consecrated center of all love and happiness, and all should feel how completely their sweetest pleasures and brightest hopes grow out of him who was born in Bethlehem of Judea, and whose infant form was laid in the rude manger. Let the children be glad; and yet it should not be a Christless Christmas, as is too often the case. It is peculiarly their hour, as the Redeemer was a child, and as they are in a special sense the objects of his love. Their joy is due to Jesus, and Christian childhood is invested with a happiness unknown to the childhood of heathen and pagan lands. The blessings which the gospel brings to little children are among the most wonderful and striking of all. They ought to cry Hosanna, and to be first to bring their tribute of praise, and to crown the Savior Lord of all. The child Jesus was a gift to the childhood of the whole world, and therefore let the children sing and let them be glad. Christ in the family, at the fireside, at the well-spread board, and amidst the groups of reunited kindred. So it should be. Not revelry, dissipation and sensual indulgence, but a sense of Christ's presence at the feast, and as the revered and honored guest of every house. He stands at the door and knocks, and most happy is that home to which he is admitted.

Christ in the heart! This should be the crowning experience. Always in the heart, but especially to-day. His felt presence and grace in the soul are essential to our happiness, and are also needed to keep us from the hurtful and silly dissipations so prevalent. The devout believer will not be in sympathy with the reckless merriment and intemperate revelries which too much characterize the holiday season. He will, however, turn more than ever to Jesus as his hope and consolation; and, while others are exclusively making provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof, he will be careful to put on the Lord Jesus Christ. Christ will be in him the hope of glory, and his heart will be in unison with the wise men who brought their precious gifts and their grateful worship to the new-born Savior; and his soul will be in most perfect accord with the angelic song: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." Christ in the world, in the family, in the heart. May this be the direction of our meditations and the ground of our rejoicing. We wish our readers joy in the social amenities and intercourse of their homes, in the happy companionship of friends and kindred, and joy in Christ—the child that was born, the Son that was given.

Our Schools.

The educational interests of the Mississippi Conference were ably represented at the recent session. Rev. William B. Hines, S. B. Watts, Esq., and President Adkisson presented the claims of East Mississippi Female College, located at Meridian. Rev. J. A. Ellis was appointed agent for this institution. President H. F. Johnson represented Whitworth, and we were gratified to hear his statement of its condition and prospects. A better-managed or more flourishing female college is not in the bounds of Southern Methodism. Centenary College, all things considered, such as the yellow fever reports and the financial stringency, is doing tolerably well. Seventy-six students have matriculated this fall, and there is promise of many more entering after the first of January. The new roof on one of the wing buildings is now completed, and the large and beautiful campus has been substantially and neatly inclosed. Best of all, President Andrews stated that, during a recent revival in Jackson, forty persons had been converted, the most of whom were college students.

The president, in his speech, dropped the remark that boys sent to Centenary were more likely to become religious than if kept at home. In many instances this is no doubt true, and to parents concerned for the salvation of their sons the religious privileges and influences of Centenary will not fail of appreciation. We have had occasion heretofore to call attention to the religious revivals and many conversions which occur in our colleges. This should be the strongest inducement of all to send our sons to them. Besides the discipline and culture of intellect, they are brought to Christ, qualified for the highest usefulness, and prepared for everlasting blessedness. These gracious religious influences are to us the very highest commendation of any literary institution. They meet an objection which parents often feel in reference to sending their children away from home at an age when they are most liable to be corrupted and led astray. What is true of Centenary is also true of our other Southern Methodist colleges. The religious results are decided and permanent, many of the young men are converted, and all receive the lasting impress of earnest teaching and pious example.

This is a reason, all-sufficient and overwhelming, why our people should patronize their own schools. State institutions may be cheaper possibly in some cases, and those claiming no denominational character may be equal or even superior in some respects, but nothing can weigh in the balance against the sound and saving religious influences which pervade our Southern Methodist colleges. We would urge this point persistently and strongly. No matter what claims other institutions may set up, no matter what advantages they may assert, send your boys where they will become good men, as well as scholars, and where, instead of losing the impressions of home piety and training, these impressions will be deepened, and all the principles of a noble Christian manhood will be developed in their utmost strength. We confess to a most profound gratification at these reports of revivals and conversions in our colleges, and we would emphasize them as final and conclusive reasons why we should send our boys to our own schools. And in this connection we would remind our people of their duty to pray for our schools and colleges. God has answered prayer wonderfully in this direction. Let us continue to pray.

Reformed Episcopal Church.

This new organization excites considerable interest. Rev. C. E. Cheney, D. D., of Chicago, has accepted the position of missionary of the Northwest, and so the Reformed Episcopal Church of the United States is an accomplished fact, with two Bishops at its head, and other things which go to make up a church. We do not see how Bishop Cummins and his associates could conscientiously do otherwise than break away from a church whose doctrines and spirit they could neither believe nor indorse. The marvel is not that they have come out, but rather that they have stayed so long, and that any Low Churchman should remain in the Protestant Episcopal Church. Of the movement the New York Observer says:

The views and protestations of Bishop Cummins have taken definite shape in the organization of a new branch of the evangelical church. On Tuesday of last week a number of ministers and laymen, the latter considerably preponderating, met in one of the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city, for the purpose of organizing a Reformed Episcopal Church on the basis of the prayer-book of 1785. Among the clergymen present were Rev. C. E. Cheney, of Chicago, the Rev. B. B. Leacock, of New York, the Rev. Mason Gallagher, of New Jersey, and Rev. Mr. Bourne. In the circular convening the meeting Bishop Cummins stated that its object was not to discuss the expediency of organizing, but to organize, and this line of action was consequently adopted at once. The declaration of principles accepted by the meeting, announced adherence to the episcopacy, not as a divine right, but as a very ancient and desirable form of church polity, and provided that the liturgy should be retained, though not as imperative; it condemned the idea that there is only one form of ecclesiastical polity, that the clergy are priests in the High Church use of the term, that the sacrament of holy communion is an oblation of the body and blood of Christ, and that the doctrines of the real presence and baptismal regeneration are scriptural. Bishop Cummins was elected presiding Bishop; the meetings of the General Council, to hold and dispose of temporalities, were fixed for the second Wednesday in May, and standing executive committees were appointed, with provision for drafting a constitution and form of ordination for ministers. With reference to other denominations it was resolved that ministers in good standing in other churches shall be received into this church on letters of dismission, without reordination, they sustaining a satisfactory examination on such points as may hereafter be determined, and subscribing to the doctrine, discipline and worship of this church, and that communicants in good standing in other evangelical churches shall be received on presentation of a letter of dismissal or other satisfactory evidence. In the afternoon session the Rev. C. E. Cheney, D. D., of Chicago, was elected missionary Bishop of the Northwest, and although that gentleman declined to serve, the request was pressed upon him, and the executive committee empowered, in case of his acceptance, to make arrangements for the consecration services. In the course of the proceedings Bishop Cummins stated that he himself intended to form a congregation in New York city, and that he had letters from about thirty Episcopal clergymen, in addition to those present, who were willing to come into communion with the Reformed Episcopal Church as soon as congregations could be found for them.

Of the new church enterprise the Methodist has this:

Dearly as we love our own communion, and content as we are with the progress which it is making in every direction, yet we cannot and will not withhold our cordial greetings from the new-comer into the ranks of evangelical Christianity. We, too, have gone out from the Anglican body; the yoke which our fathers could not bear these brethren have found intolerable. As we showed several weeks ago, the great revival of the last century known as Methodism had its fruits both within and without the pale of the English establishment. It has appeared to us inevitable that the Methodism (or Evangelicalism, if that word is preferred) within the Anglican body, must either leaven it or be forced out of it. The hope of leavening their church the Evangelicals give up; the other alternative is all that remains. The third course, which some propose, will only lead to their extinction as a recognized party or section of the church.

What will come of it all? We surely do not know. The venerable Dr. Tyng strongly condemns the separation, and predicts that Bishop Cummins will find himself "going farther away and becoming more solitary, a monad, a severed branch, a cloud carried to and fro by the changes of the wind." The Church Journal calls him a "fallen bishop," and proposes that the House of Bishops set apart "a day of humiliation and prayer, when all loyal churchmen may plead with God for the repentance and pardon of an unhappy soul * * * an apostate bishop!" We hope that "the loyal churchmen" will at the same time do a little praying for themselves, for they are greatly in need of it. Who but they have raised the storm of uncharitable speech which has swept through England and America, because a large-hearted Anglican clergyman saw fit to commune with his non-Anglican brethren?

If the leaders of the new church are rash they will fail. If they are unstable they will fail. If they have not, as their opponents charge, competent learning, they cannot carry with them educated men. This charge, however, remains to be proved; the "Reformed Episcopalians" are, we should presume, men of sufficient culture for the work they have undertaken. They must expect, however, to be decried in every conceivable way. But to cheer them, and to admonish their antagonists, we will here recite the first sentence of the Methodist Discipline. The title to which it belongs is the "Origin of the Methodist Episcopal Church:"

"The preachers and members of our society in general, being convinced that there was a great deficiency of vital religion in the Church of England in America, and being in many places destitute of the Christian sacrament, as several of the clergy had forsaken their churches, requested the late Rev. John Wesley to take such measures, in his wisdom and prudence, as would afford them suitable relief in their distress."

There is the whole story. We came out of the church because we could not find what we needed there. And now some of those whom we left behind, of like spirit, being sorely pressed, have come out also. The one going forth has been blessed; why may not God's blessing be asked upon the other?

Death of Agassiz.

The death of Agassiz, the eminent scientist, will be universally regretted. He died on Sunday evening, the fourteenth of December. He was one of the foremost men of science of this age, and one who was enthusiastically devoted to natural science. Over-work in his favorite pursuit is supposed to have induced the disease under which he expired. The New York Observer gives the following outline of his life:

Louis John Rudolph Agassiz was of French descent, his family having been one of those driven abroad by the edict of Nantes against the Huguenots. He was the son of six generations of clergymen. His father was pastor of the Protestant parish of St. Imier, in the ancient Bishopric of Basel. His mother was the daughter of a physician, in the Canton de Vaud. Louis was born May 28, 1807, in the parish of Mottier, Switzerland. He received an academical education in the Canton of Berne. In 1824 he went to Zurich as a medical student, thence to Heidelberg University, and continued his medical studies, and studied zoology under Leuckart and botany under Bischoff. In 1827 he entered the University of Munich. He early became distinguished in the department of natural science, and was made in 1832 professor of natural history in the College of Neufchatel. Having visited the United States in 1846 and excited great interest by his lectures, he was invited by Prof. Bache, of the Coast Survey, to use its facilities for the prosecution of his researches, an offer which induced him to take up his residence in the United States. In 1848 he became a professer in the newly-founded scientific school at Cambridge, Massachusetts, which he has since made the center of operations which have extended to every part of the United States, and almost circumscribed the American continent.

About the last article from the pen of Agassiz is one which will appear in the Atlantic Monthly, for January, in opposition to Darwinism. The new publishers, Hurd & Houghton, with advanced sheets, have sent us the following summary of Agassiz's article:

Mr. Agassiz's article is a direct and explicit denial of Darwinism, save as an ingenious speculation. He declares that the different types, vertebrates, articulates, radiates and mollusks never have passed into each other, and that there is no proof that they have ever done so, the only structural differences between individuals of the same stock being monstrosities. He admits the great variation that domesticated animals undergo, but contends that these return to their original type when left to nature, to whom, he holds, any such law as "survival of the fittest," in the Darwinian sense, is unknown. The Darwinian theory, he admits, has been presented with great charms of style, and with a vast army of interesting facts, which, however, cannot be justly said to prove any more than startling coincidences. He takes the case of the Ascidian to which many pin their faith in the descent of man from soft-shelled clams, and calls attention to the fact, established by the late researches of Von Baer, that the string of cells in the Ascidian, supposed by the Darwinians to be coidentical with the dorsal cord of the vertebrates, runs along the ventral side of the clam, and not along its back. As for the lost link, but for the loss of which the Darwinians claim that their theory would be beyond dispute, Mr. Agassiz shows that the geological formations bear no evidence of their having ever existed; that the strata reveal no types in a state of transmutation, that the species still extant are identical with their remotest ancestors. In short, he denies all scientific foundation to Darwinism, while treating Darwin and his disciples with the greatest respect and delicacy.

Anniversary.

The anniversary exercises of the Southwestern Bible Society took place at the Carondelet Street Methodist church, of this city, on Sunday night, December 21. The night was rainy and inclement, but we are informed the congregation was good and the services exceedingly impressive. Rev. John Mathews, pastor of the Felicity Street Methodist church, delivered the address, of which we have heard the most flattering reports. From the secretary's statements, as reported by the Picayune, we gather the following items: During the year books to the value of $2,000 have been donated, 3,849 Bibles have been given away, 2,952 Bibles have been sold; 4,201 white families and 4,056 colored families have been visited and supplied with the word of God. The financial exhibit shows that the expenditures have exceeded the receipts by some $400. We regret our inability to be present on the occasion, but are glad to learn that the interest in this noble institution, the Southwestern Bible Society, is not losing ground among the Protestant people of New Orleans.

Oregon Correspondence.

MR. EDITOR: One month's time and four thousand five hundred miles travel have brought quite a "change o'er the spirit of our dreams." We are about three hours west of you, and thirteen and a half degrees north. Our river (Willamette—pronounced Will-am-ette) runs north, so that it appears that gravitation has turned the other way, which by a logical process might argue that terrestrial gravitation is overcome by the celestial, and hence we are tending heavenward. I hope, yea, believe, it is verily so by the unerring laws of spiritual gravitation.

Our stay of Saturday and Sunday at St. Louis was a pleasant episode between a ten days' trip up the Mississippi river and six days' wheeling and thundering by railroad through valley and mountain to San Francisco. Had the pleasure of worshiping with Bishop Marvin and other brethren in St. Louis, at St. John, on Saturday, General Lewis officiating. From Bro. Dameron, unsolicited, I received kindness, and through him, from Mr. Groat, railroad ticket agent, which forms another link in the golden chain of providences leading us here. The weather was, in the main, pleasant, the road good, crowds of people traveling, the country singularly bare and barren for a thousand miles, yet my eyes never tired of looking. We were on the Rocky mountains before we knew it, and were amazed to find them bleak and bare of forest trees and falling cataracts. At Sherman, the highest point, eight thousand two hundred and forty-two feet above the sea-level, the air was perceptibly rarefied, the breathing apparatus performing its functions more vigorously.

Reaching San Francisco on Saturday at nine o'clock P. M., found the steamer for Portland, Oregon, had left at ten A. M., and no other till the following Saturday. Sailed out on Sunday. Found Bro. Hoss and his congregation worshiping in a hired hall for the present, till they build. We received no "small kindness" from Bro. Hoss and your brother editor of the Pacific Methodist—Bro. Parsons—and some brethren of the laity. The week spent in that grand and wonderful city was delightful, and the detention unregretted now, and certain friendships formed and kindnesses received form another golden link in that wonderful Providence that has led us in safety and health to this coast to "declare the unsearchable riches of Christ." We are now the happy recipients of the kind Christian hospitalities of Rev. Joseph Emery, professor of mathematics in the college here. In a day or two we hope to get to our own "hired house."

Corvallis (cor and valis—heart of the valley) is, what its name imports, in the heart of a valley forty or fifty miles wide, a beautiful little city, pleasantly located on the Willamette river at the head of low-water navigation, ten miles from the city of Albany, through which a railroad passes up the valley from Portland over two hundred miles now, and to connect with the Central Pacific railroad up toward Nevada. This is a great and grand country. We are pleased with the outlook.

I have already "thrust in my sickle," and expect, by the help of God, to "reap, if I faint not," the harvest, as it stands "ready for the reaper's gathering hand."

We bless God and take courage, realizing that "hitherto the Lord hath been our helper," and that "his word will not return unto him void, but will accomplish that whereto he sent it."

We are about fifty miles from the Pacific—mountain fastnesses near on the west, and more remote on the east. It has been raining (misting most of the time) for three days, with occasional glimpses of radiant sunshine through the rifting clouds. A light snow fell this morning on the adjacent mountains, that, with the moving clouds and green fields of wheat round about, assure us we are in the land of poesy.

The rainy season has set in, and will continue, pretty much as it has commenced, for three months, with but a few occasional days of intermission. The thermometer has been down to forty; no ice, but one frost, the morning after we arrived, as big as a yearling snow.

Our reception is cordial, and we feel at home already, although so far away, cultivating the outside row of Immanuel's kingdom. Love to all the brethren. God bless you.

Affectionately,

T. B. WHITH.

CORVALLIS, OREGON, Nov. 30, 1872.

M. E. Church Statistics.

The following summaries are taken from the Western Christian Advocate. It will be seen that the net gain of members and probationers is only 5,586. This is a very small gain, and especially as it embraces their boasted progress in the South. What is the cause of this declining vitality and prosperity? But we give the statements:

The principal summaries of the General Minutes of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 1873, just being issued from the press, are as follows:

| | This year. | Increase. |
|---|---|---|
| Bishops | 14 | |
| Annual Conferences | 76 | |
| Itinerant ministers | 10,571 | 329 |
| Local preachers | 12,261 | 257 |
| Total preachers and Bishops | 22,846 | 586 |
| Lay members | 1,288,701 | 6,208 |
| Probationers | 175,323 | dec. 10,622 |
| Total members and probationers | 1,464,027 | 5,586 |
| Deaths during the year | 18,900 | 1,472 |
| Church edifices | 14,499 | 490 |
| Value of church edifices | $20,332,580 | $3,930,343 |
| Parsonages | 4,977 | 197 |
| Value of parsonages | $3,542,554 | dec. $3,323 |
| Total value of churches and parsonages | $24,875,134 | $3,906,020 |
| Sunday schools | 19,031 | 570 |
| Sunday school officers and teachers | 197,180 | 3,493 |
| Sunday school scholars | 1,318,603 | 9,041 |
| Conference collections | $1,085,339 | $77,301 |

"It will be noted," remarks the Christian Advocate, "that, after making up for the unusually large number of deaths (18,900,) there is a considerable net gain in the membership, though much less than was hoped for at the beginning of the year. There has been a large increase in the number of itinerant and local preachers. The advance in the number of churches is also large, giving an average increase of over one and a half church for each working-day of the year. In the number of parsonages the gain has been nearly four each week. The net increase in church property (church edifices and parsonages) is nearly $4,000,000. The average increase in connectional church property for each week of the year is over $75,000. The progress of the church in the Sunday school department is also gratifying, the average gain for every Sabbath in the year being over 10.7, over 67 officers and teachers, and 770 scholars."

THE cause of missions, says the Richmond Christian Advocate, is one that should lie near the heart of every Christian. At our late Conference Bishop Keener gave a most interesting account of his visit to Mexico and the establishment of our mission in that country. His heart is truly in that work, and he loses no opportunity of pressing it upon the notice of our people. After the close of our Conference he made a flying trip to Baltimore, and gathered up several hundred dollars for the Mexican work.

He had with him a number of beautiful and accurate maps of the City of Mexico, showing the location of all the principal buildings and the sites he has purchased for the mission chapels we hope soon to see going up. We hope the heart of the church will be deeply stirred this year in this cause, and that instead of the paltry sum of seven or eight thousand dollars, given by forty-five thousand members, we shall have at the lowest twenty thousand. We are sure that with proper efforts this sum can be reached. We have no minimum now; there are no assessments for missions. The people must feel the claims of the word and give to the utmost of their ability. We used to give from fifteen to twenty thousand a year for missions. We must reach these figures again. Let us nobly resolve to do it.

DEPARTURE OF MISSIONARIES.—Rev. Joel T. Daves and family left New Orleans for Mexico on Friday, December 19. They took passage on the Juniata for Havana, where they expect to connect with the British steamer for Vera Cruz. During their sojourn in New Orleans they have made many friends, and many prayers will go up for the mission work in Mexico, and for the welfare of our brother, the superintendent, and his estimable wife and children. Bro. Daves' address for the present is City of Mexico, care of Rev. Dr. Butler, 10 Calle de Lopez.

MANY WILL SHARE in our regrets at the recent removal of John L. Dunnica to St. Louis. He has been a prominent citizen and merchant of New Orleans for many years, and a most invaluable official member of the Carondelet Street Methodist church. Bro. Dunnica leaves our city on account of his health, and proposes to try the more bracing climate of St. Louis. It is with deep regret that we part with him and his family. May a kind Providence attend them, and may they ever rejoice in the gracious presence of the divine Master.

REV. J. S. WHITE, after an absence of several weeks, returned to his charge, the Louisiana Avenue church, a few days ago. Bro. White was called away to Lebanon, Tennessee, by the illness of his father and sister. The latter, Mrs. Mary C. Scales, died in great peace on the twenty-first of November. The former, we are glad to learn, is in a fair way to recover. Bro. White has the sympathy and prayers of his brethren in the bereavement which he has been called to experience.

WHILE we are indifferent to our good qualities we keep on deceiving ourselves in regard to our faults, until we at last come to look upon them as virtues.

Publisher's Department.

Acknowledgments of Letters and Funds

RECEIVED BY MAIL,

For the Week Ending Dec. 20, 1873.

A—D. Appleton & Co., American News Company, S. D. Akin, O. M. Addison $2, T. S. Abernethy, Edwin Alden, E. & H. T. Anthony, W. & T. H. Anthony & Co., J. O. Andrew.

B—A. J. Briggs, W. H. Barbee, E. A. Bailey, W. P. Barton $2.45, John Baggett, William Biss, James E. Bradley, J. T. Baller, S. W. Brown, O. R. Blue, J. Billingsley, Mrs. M. E. Bridges, George Burch & Co. $39.50.

C—J. A. Clark, E. C. Cook, E. Chamberlain & Co., J. M. Curtis, Cassell & Baughn four letters.

D—E. S. Drake 40 cents, Donaldson & Co., R. B. Dovell's Sons, R. A. Davis, J. B. Daugherty & Co. $40, S. W. Davill, H. R. Downs & Co.

E—H. Eastland.

F—W. Frazier 50 cents, A. J. Foster, H. W. Featherston, W. W. Francis, E. N. Freshman four letters, Franklin & Penn, R. W. Freeman $3, L. W. Fairchild & Co., Leroy M. Fairchild.

G—G. H. Griffen, T. G. Garner, Charles B. Galloway, A. M. Galloway, R. H. Griffen.

H—Mrs. J. M. Haynie $3, J. D. Harper, J. H. Hill, A. B. Hart, H. O. Houghton & Co., B. Haynes $29.35, F. A. Hutchinson & Co., J. Hamilton, W. C. Haislip, J. S. Hannn $2, A. C. Hundley, E. J. Hale & Son, Almerin Hall.

J—W. L. Jones two letters, Thomas L. James, J. R. Jones $10.50, H. F. Johnson.

K—C. Keener $50, W. C. Kindell, T. D. Kellogg.

L—A. C. Littlejohn two letters, A. W. Lambright, George M. Livermnn.

M—J. A. Miller $35.30, E. Miller $3.65, J. H. Millspaugh two letters $100, W. R. May two letters $10, J. McArthur, E. A. Morris $3.15.

N—Thomas Nelson & Sons, New York Sun, W. F. Norsworthy.

O—James Ormond two letters.

P—Powers Paper Company two letters, W. L. Powers, Oliver Phillips, S. M. Pettengill & Co., T. K. Peterson, Peaslee & Co. $18, L. F. Palmer, Pierce & Terry, Mrs. M. C. Petway, Phillips & Garrett $310, A. M. Purdy $6.25.

R—A. H. Redford, agent, two letters, George Routledge & Sons, J. W. Rush, J. K. Randall, Mrs. M. W. Read $19.50, Mrs. Mary Robinson $1, George P. Rowell & Co., A. Riker $10.

S—E. R. Strickland, C. S. Stewart, W. A. Sampey $2, A. L. Slack two letters $2.25, Miss S. C. Staples $1, Scribner & Co., Mrs. A. A. Staples, Smith & Dixon, J. W. C. Smith, R. Singleton, Mrs. Bettie Saunders, J. E. Sorratt.

T—C. Taylor, Taylor & Meyers $3.51, W. L. Tillery, T. Torey.

U—H. Urquhart.

V—F. D. Van Valkenberg.

W—John Wilkinson, L. E. Whitten, Wilson, Hinkle & Co., A. West $1, A. R. Winfield, George Woods & Co., Carlos White, L. H. Williams, W. R. Webb, J. Woodbridge.

Y—M. Young & Co., J. B. York.

MR. ED. L. ZELL, whose advertisement appears in another column, keeps one of the best assortments of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco to be found in the city. He opened the establishment at the corner of Canal and Carondelet streets about a year since, and the rapid increase of custom is the best evidence of the success of his efforts to please. His cigars, cigarettes and tobacco are selected with a view to the satisfaction of all tastes and purses, and consumers can obtain the low-priced five-cent or the best brands of Havana. Mr Zell has been shipping, to a great extent, C. O. D., and will warrant his goods as represented. He claims he has now on hand the finest five and ten-cent cigars ever offered for the price in the city, and the ten-cent cigarettes defy competition. Country orders solicited, and personal attention given to his customers.

FIFTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.—Messrs. Theodor Dänziger & Sons, as will be seen by referring to their advertisement elsewhere, are offering at their popular emporium, No. 203 Canal street, in addition to their rich and elegant assortment of dress goods, silks, satins, velvets, cloaks, etc., at fifty cents on the dollar, great inducements in the shape of holiday presents. Their center counters are stocked with beautiful goods, ranging at from ten cents to one dollar, and an early call will avoid the rush daily thronging the establishment.

SEED POTATOES, APPLES, ONIONS. By referring to the advertisement of Joseph Keller, Nos. 38 and 40 Poydras street, it will be noticed that he has now on hand, and landing from the boats and steamer George Washington, a large lot of seed potatoes—Russets, Peachblows, Boston Jackson Whites and many other varieties. Mr. Keller sells his seed potatoes under full guarantee as to quality. He has also in store apples, onions, peaches, beans, sweet potatoes and all kinds of vegetables.

WILLIAM E. COOPER, No. 89 Canal street, is the agent in this city for the sale of Butterick & Co.'s paper patterns. He is now ready to distribute Butterick & Co.'s catalogues of winter fashions, which will be sent free to any one on application. The Metropolitan, a monthly fashion magazine, containing all the latest novelties in dress, is furnished to subscribers at $2 per year or twenty five cents per copy.

READ Braselman & Adams' advertisement of holiday goods at low prices, corner Magazine and St. Andrew streets.

WE CALL the attention of our readers to the establishment of William Hogan, Nos. 99 and 101 Canal street, manufacturer and dealer in boots, shoes, trunks, valises and bags; also agent for the Empire and Gold Medal sewing machines. Hogan's custom-made boots and shoes will be sure to please, both in style and quality of material used.

OLIVER A. PEIRCE, at the ladies' hair store, No. 205 Canal street, is now prepared to offer special bargains in all shades of hair goods. Braids, puffs, curls, chignons, etc., made to order. Old hair reworked into present styles. A branch of this house is at No. 886 Magazine street, and a competent hair-dresser is in attendance.

H. P. BUCKLEY, No. 8 Camp street, has for sale, at low prices, fine gold and silver watches of American, English and Swiss manufacture. Fine jewelry, sterling silverware, etc. Particular attention given to the repairing of clocks, watches and jewelry.

THE Louisiana ladies' underwear manufactory has been removed to No. 202 Canal street, corner of Rampart. The proprietors offer great inducements to purchasers, as will be seen by reference to their advertisement in this number of the ADVOCATE.

LOUIS GIMBEL, from the upper city shoe store, No. 578 Magazine street, advertises, in another column, "Good News for the Holidays." At Gimbel's will be found a large assortment of boots and shoes; also hats, caps and trunks.

MR. J. W. BLACKMAN, whose commercial college is situated at No. 131 Carondelet street, has long conducted an educational institution of this kind here. The attention of our readers is called to his advertisement in another column.

READ the advertisement of John Bois, No. 291 Camp street, who does a general business of repairing, buying and selling second-hand furniture, and will also make contracts for removing and packing furniture, etc.

HAVANA cigars and cigarettes, and the best brands of chewing and smoking tobacco, at F. Estevn's, corner of Camp and Girod streets.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS at Braselman & Adams', corner Magazine and St. Andrew streets.

BARGAINS to be found at the crockery store, 633 Magazine street.

---

MOORE'S RURAL NEW YORKER, as will be seen by reference to the advertisement in this paper, not only "still lives," but purposes to furnish a better paper during the ensuing year than ever before. It has long been a leading combined rural, literary and family weekly, and we trust its future prosperity will equal its past career.

ESTABLISHED IN 1846.—The reliable firm of Messrs. E. Conery & Son have succeeded to sustain the high position among our leading grocers which they originally secured.

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER, corner of Ursulines and Dauphine streets, manufactures to order and also has on hand a large assortment of ready-made boots and shoes.

BRASELMAN & ADAMS have a large assortment of dry goods, laces, notions, etc.—something suitable for all tastes and purses.

THE finest flavor imaginable is imparted to fish, when served at the table, by the use of the famous Halford Leicestershire Table Sauce. If you will test this standard article you will be satisfied with the result. del I 4t

COLGATE & Co.'s new perfume for the handkerchief, "CASHMERE BOUQUET," will be appreciated by all who have enjoyed the delicate and peculiar fragrance of their toilet soap of the same name, which is so universally popular. jel 21y

BUSINESS NOTICES.

MRS. M. G. BROWN'S UNEQUALED SCALP RENOVATOR AND HAIR RESTORER.—It is safe, reliable, free from Sugar of Lead and Lac Sulphur. Penetrates, through the canals of the head, the entire system. Is the best, most gentle cathartic. Removes dandruff. Gives a new scalp. Prevents the hair from falling. Gives strong, thick, glossy hair. Restores hair to its natural color. Dresses the hair. Cools the head. Cures headache. Brightens the intellect. Renews the memory.—Price, 25 cents, 75 cents and $1. Sold by Frederickson & Harte, 139 Canal street, and E. J. Hart & Co., 73 to 79 Tchoupitoulas street, New Orleans, and by druggists generally; or will be sent to any address, on receipt of the price, from the Metaphysical University, 51 Bond street, New York. Inclose stamp for pamphlet. oc23 1yetw

A BOX of Liver Pills, free of charge, inclosed in the wrapper with every bottle of Kress's Fever Tonic, and sold by Frederickson & Harte, and E. J. Hart & Co., on the warrant of the proprietors that this Tonic will cure Fever and Ague, Chill and Fever, Dumb Ague, and all forms of this malady. Go get a bottle and try it. There is no arsenic, no strychnine nor any other poisonous property in the medicine. It has been tried for the last ten years in Indiana and Illinois, and is a success. dec1 2m

PHILIP WERLEIN'S OLD AND RELIABLE PIANO, ORGAN AND MUSIC HOUSE, Nos. 78, 80, 82 and 90 Baronne St., New Orleans.—We have in stock one hundred and fifty Pianos and Organs, comprising all styles and grades, at panic prices, for cash, and on easy monthly payments to all parts of the South. Wholesale rates to ministers and schools. Address PHILIP WERLEIN, 78, 80, 82 and 90 Baronne street. Latest publications of Sheet Music by every mail. Pianos rented. de25 1y

PIERSON & HEWS, fine Clothing, Shirts and Furnishing Goods, 13 and 15 Camp street, opposite City Hotel, New Orleans, Louisiana. We invite visitors from the interior to examine our stock and prices. We claim to sell first-class goods as low as can be afforded and live. We sell the celebrated Shoulder-Seam Shirts, warranted to fit, wear and give satisfaction. Liberal deduction made to Clergymen, and their trade solicited. fe27 1y

I HAVE for years been opposed to calomel, and since 1839 have used Simmons' Liver Regulator as a vegetable remedy, and can confidently assert that it has exceeded my expectations, curing cases of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint that were thought almost hopeless.
GRENVILLE WOOD,
de25 1t Wood's Factory, Macon, Ga.

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, New York.

Assets ..... $21,000,000
Income ..... 11,000,000

Branch office—33 CAMP STREET.
A. P. CLEVELAND,
fe13 1y General Agent.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

J. W. VALENTINE,
PRACTICAL HATTER,
Corner Magazine and Seventh Sts.

HATS of all kinds made to order, cleaned and repaired. de25 3m

GOOD NEWS FOR THE HOLIDAYS
FROM OUR
UPPER CITY BLUE SHOE STORE,
No. 578 Magazine Street, New Orleans.

MR. PHILLIPS, formerly with the house of Messrs. Glynn & Wintz, having recently taken charge of my department for the manufacture of
LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES,
will be happy to meet his old friends and customers, satisfied of his ability to convince them that in quality of material, excellence and taste of workmanship, and reasonableness of price, his stock is unsurpassed in the city. Also Men's and Boys' HATS, and TRUNKS.
de25 1m LOUIS GIMBEL, Agent.

THE FRUIT RECORDER AND COTTAGE GARDENER will be sent FREE for three months to all who will pay postage at office of delivery. We do not ask any one to subscribe for our paper until they know what they are to get. It speaks for itself. Price only $1 per year. The SMALL FRUIT INSTRUCTOR is a work of 64 pages that tells in simple language just how to grow fruits in abundance for home use or market. Price, 25 cents, post-paid.
A. M. PURDY, de25 4t Palmyra, New York.

3 Months FREE.

E. CONERY. E. CONERY, JR.
E. CONERY & SON,
(ESTABLISHED IN 1846,)
WHOLESALE GROCERS,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
AND DEALERS IN WESTERN PRODUCE,
Corner Canal and Delta Sts.,
de25 3m New Orleans.

LOUISIANA LADIES' UNDERWEAR MANUFACTORY, Suits, etc., has removed to No. 202 CANAL STREET, corner of Rampart.
Skirts at 75 cents, 85 cents, $1 and upward.
Chemises at 75 cents, 85 cents, $1 and upward.
Night-Gowns at 75 cents, $1, $1.25 and upward.
Drawers at 75 cents, 85 cents, $1 and upward.
Toilet Sacques at 75 cents, $1 and $1.25.
Lace Collars and Handkerchiefs; Piquet Dresses; Infant Bonnets and Dresses, etc. Orders taken for Trousseaus and promptly executed. de25 3m

H. P. BUCKLEY,
8 ..... CAMP STREET ..... 8
Has for sale, at Low Prices, Fine Gold and Silver WATCHES, American, English and Swiss; Fine JEWELRY, Sterling SILVERWARE, Gold, Silver and Steel SPECTACLES and EYE-GLASSES. Particular attention to repairing all kinds of Clocks and Watches. Diamonds remounted and Jewelry repaired. de25 1m

ED. L. ZELL,
DEALER IN
CIGARS, CIGARETTES AND TOBACCO,
Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts.,
Postoffice Lock Box 374, New Orleans, Louisiana.
Largest and best assortment always on hand. Prices as low as the lowest. Goods forwarded C. O. D. by Express to any address. Country orders solicited. Satisfaction warranted. de25 1y

TO THE PUBLIC.—Returning thanks for past favors, the undersigned desires to inform his friends and the public that he is still at his old and long-established stand,
291 Camp Street, corner Calliope, where he continues to Buy, Sell, Store, Remove, Pack and Repair FURNITURE of every description. Pictures and Looking-glasses framed.
JOHN BOIS,
de25 2m No. 291 Camp street.

SHOW CASES ..... SHOW CASES.
HECKER & HINRICHS,
Manufacturers of and Dealers in Silver and Wooden Show Cases,
AT 14 PERDIDO STREET,
Between St. Charles and Carondelet streets, del 1m New Orleans, La.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS!

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS
AT PANIC PRICES.

We have now in store and are constantly receiving HOLIDAY GOODS, selected expressly for CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

We have something that will suit all conditions, sexes and ages—from the "Dear little dimpled darlings
That have never seen Christmas yet," to the Silvery-headed loved ones
Whom we never should forget.

BRASELMAN & ADAMS,
MAGAZINE AND ST. ANDREW STREETS.
CASH HOUSE. de25 1t

WILLIAM HOGAN, MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN BOOTS, SHOES, TRUNKS,
VALISES AND BAGS,
SEWING MACHINES.
AGENT FOR EMPIRE AND GOLD MEDAL,
NOS. 99 AND 101 CANAL STREET,
NEW ORLEANS. de25 1m

SEED POTATOES—APPLES—ONIONS.
3,000 bbls. RUSSETS.
1,000 bbls. PEACHBLOWS.
500 bbls. BOSTON JACKSON WHITES, for Seed.
300 bbls. EARLY ROSE.
200 bbls. PINKEYES.
100 bbls. GOODRICH.
200 bbls. PEERLESS.
100 bbls. HARRISON.
250 bbls. LONDON LADY.
250 bbls. Red and Yellow ONIONS, per Geo. Washington.
500 bbls. choice Rennock APPLES, in shipping order.
50 bbls. KRAUT.
50 half bbls. KRAUT.
100 bbls. choice DRIED APPLES, per steamer Louisville.
25 bbls choice DRIED PEACHES.
150 bbls. choice Red Kidney BEANS.
75 bbls. choice White Navy BEANS.
6 mats Spanish GARLIC.
100 bbls. Red and White Sweet POTATOES.
In store, Flatboat landing, and steamer George Washington, in lots to suit purchasers, at Nos. 38 and 40 Poydras street. All Seed Potatoes sold under full guarantee as to quality. Call and see me before purchasing elsewhere.
de25 2m JOSEPH KELLER.

TALMAGE,
SPURGEON.
T. DeWitt Talmage is Editor of The Christian at Work; C. H. Spurgeon, Special Contributor. They write for no other paper in America. Three magnificent Chromos. Pay larger commission than any other paper. CHROMOS ALL READY. No Sectarianism. No Sectionalism. One agent obtained 380 subscriptions in eighty hours' absolute work. Sample copies and circulars sent free.
AGENTS WANTED.
H. W. ADAMS, Publisher, 102 Chambers Street, New York.
de25 4t

FREE!.....FREE!.....FREE!
50,000
BUTTERICK & CO.'S
CATALOGUES of WINTER FASHIONS
Just received and ready for distribution,
FREE!
THE METROPOLITAN,
published monthly, and containing all the Latest Novelties in Dress, at $2 a year, or 25 cents for single copy.
A full and complete assortment of BUTTERICK & CO.'S celebrated PAPER PATTERNS always on hand. Send for club rates. Address
WM. E. COOPER, Agent,
de25 1m 89 Canal street.

THEODOR DANZIGER & SONS,
NO. 203 CANAL STREET,
Between Burgundy and Rampart.
Together with our extensive line of Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Cloaks, Furs, Kid Gloves, etc., which we are offering at FIFTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR, we beg to call attention to a magnificent display on our center counters of goods suitable for HOLIDAY PRESENTS,
all marked in plain figures, and ranging from 10 cents to $1. Please call early and avoid the rush.
T. DANZIGER & SONS,
de25 1m5p No. 203 Canal street.

SAM. SMITH, 351 DRYADES STREET, between Clio and Erato streets. I extend thanks to my friends for past favors, and earnestly solicit their future patronage. Any persons who have not yet obtained their fuel for the winter will do well to call before purchasing elsewhere. I am selling Wood at reduced prices; also sawed and split Wood for stove use and Coal counted the best in the city, screened free from slack. Please call and examine for yourselves. Quantity and quality guaranteed. Do not forget the place, 351 Dryades. Orders sent to 282 Calliope street, or 289 Rampart street, will receive prompt attention.
de25 1m SAM. SMITH.

200 Pages—500 Engravings and Colored Plates.
Published QUARTERLY, at 25 CENTS A YEAR. First number for 1874 just issued. A German edition at same price. Address de25 4t JAMES VICK, Rochester, N. Y.

LADIES' HAIR STORE, 205 CANAL STREET.—We are now prepared to offer special bargains in all shades of Hair. Our prices are very low; our work of the best. Braids, Puffs, Curls, Chignons and all Hair Goods made to order. Old Hair reworked into present styles. Combings made up. Country orders solicited, promptly executed and satisfaction guaranteed. Having a large assortment to select from, the Ladies cannot fail to be suited. OLIVER A. PEIRCE, Agent,
205 Canal street.
Branch—886 Magazine street. A competent Hair-Dresser always on hand. de25 2m

Boys are wild over it.
GORHAM'S SILVER MARKER, for Linen, Cards, Envelopes, &c. Set all complete with raised type for $1.00. It is beautifully chased and heavily silver plated. Gorham & Co., 143 Washington St., Boston.
SAMPLES FREE.
By Mail $1.12.
de25 4teow

AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE FOR KIT CARSON'S
LIFE AND ADVENTURES.
From facts narrated by himself. Embraces events in the lifetime of America's Greatest Hunter, Trapper, Scout and Guide; includes vivid accounts of the every-day life, lonar character and peculiar customs of all INDIAN TRIBES OF THE FAR WEST; an accurate description of the country, its condition, prospects, resources, its mountains, rivers, valleys and natural wonders. Also, a full and complete history of the Modoc Indians and the Modoc War.
Splendidly illustrated and sells at sight. Agents reporting from 15 to 100 subscribers each per week. Illustrated circulars and terms sent free to any address by QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
oc2 1y

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CLARKSVILLE FEMALE ACADEMY,
CLARKSVILLE, TENN.
The next term of this institution will begin JANUARY 19. A full corps of experienced Teachers, every department thoroughly furnished, ample grounds, comfortable lodgings, excellent boarding arrangements, moderate charges and thorough training give us many advantages.
Clarksville is remarkable for its health. We had no cholera last summer, nor are we subject to epidemics.
The President, Rev. J. M. WRIGHT, has spent his life in the school-room.
Bishop Pierce says: "I have known Rev. J. M. Wright for years, and have always had a high opinion of him as a Christian man, a scholar, a preacher and a teacher. I take pleasure in commending him to public confidence and patronage."
Bishop McTyeire, in a letter to one of the Trustees, says: "I know him; and when you do you will agree with me in a high verdict in his favor as a Christian man, a minister and an educator. He takes to teaching con amore; he pursues it conscientiously, and what is so done is thoroughly done. I have great hope of your people, and I am confident of my Bro. Wright's success."
Bishop Paine says: "I have known Bro. J. M. Wright for several years as a minister of our church and President of Athens Female Institute, and most cordially congratulate the friends and patrons of Clarksville Female Academy in having secured him as its President, believing that his education, aptitude to impart instruction, his administrative capacity, combined with gentleness of manner and purity of character, eminently fit him for that delicate and responsible office."
The Memphis Appeal says: "Clarksville Female Academy is an institution unsurpassed by any in the South. The city of Clarksville is one of the most delightful places in the Union, occupying, as it does, a romantic and healthy site, and possessing a community noted for its social elegance, culture and morality. We cheerfully commend the Clarksville Female Academy to the patronage of parents who wish their daughters to enjoy the best of educational advantages."
For particulars address the President, Rev. J. M. Wright, or JOHN B. COUTS, de25 3t Secretary Board of Trustees.

CULLEOKA INSTITUTE,
CULLEOKA, MAURY CO., TENN.
W. R. WEBB (A. M. University of North Carolina) and J. M. WEBB, Principals. The Principals were prepared for college by the Binghams, of North Carolina, and were both first-honor men at the University of North Carolina. Boys trained by them have taken the highest honors in five colleges and universities.
COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.—Classical, Mathematical, Commercial and Normal.
TERMS.—Tuition, $25 per session of twenty weeks. Board, from $10 to $15 per month, including lodging, fuel, lights and washing.
Spring Term opens JANUARY 12, 1874. Send for circulars. We refer by permission to Bishops Paine and McTyeire; Drs. Summers, Haygood, McFerrin, Young, Hargrove and Kelley, Nashville, Tennessee. de25 2t

THE WEED SEWING MACHINE.
THE WEED
SEWING MACHINE
HAS JUST RECEIVED
THE HIGHEST AWARD
AT VIENNA,
THUS
REPEATING ITS EXPERIENCE
AT PARIS IN 1867.
No Machine possesses so many good qualities for general Family use.
The universal satisfaction given by this Machine justifies its claim to the well-known name.
FAMILY FAVORITE.
Company's Office in New Orleans,
207 ..... CANAL STREET ..... 207
Agents wanted. de18 3m

1874. BETTER THAN EVER. 1874.
MOORE'S
RURAL NEW YORKER,
THE GREAT ILLUSTRATED
Rural, Literary & Family Weekly.
THIS FAMOUS WEEKLY, which has been the Leading and Largest-circulating Journal of its class for over Twenty Years, not only "still lives," but purposes to render its ensuing (Twenty-fifth) volume better than any yet published. Moore's RURAL is the STANDARD AUTHORITY on Agriculture, Horticulture and Domestic Affairs, and a choice, high-toned and popular Literary and Family Paper. No other Journal in its sphere has such a large and able corps of Editors and Contributors, and none comprises so many departments or so great a variety of subjects, illustrations, etc. National in character and objects, and adapted to both town and country, it has ardent admirers in every State, Territory and Province on the continent. Ever earnestly advocating the rights and interests of the industrial classes, MOORE'S RURAL NEW YORKER has long been the
FARM AND FIRESIDE FAVORITE, and to-day has no peer in its important sphere of journalism. Believing in fact, talent, and the discussion of such timely topics as are of paramount interest to Producing people, it employs the ablest talent in the land, and furnishes the Best Paper for
THE FARMER,
THE HORTICULTURIST,
THE STOCK GROWER,
THE DAIRYMAN,
THE HOUSEWIFE, ETC.
In the future no pains will be spared to render the paper indispensable to the Rural and Industrial population of the country, and a welcome guest at every fireside it may visit. The reading for the Family and Young People, with appropriate illustrations, will receive increased care and attention, while none of the practical departments will be neglected, our aim being to excel in every and all features, and to furnish the best combined Rural, Literary and Family Newspaper obtainable.
Style, Terms, Etc.
MOORE'S RURAL NEW YORKER contains Sixteen Quarto Pages weekly, finely and profusely illustrated and neatly printed. Only $2.50 per year; in clubs of ten or more, $2 per copy. Now is the Time to Subscribe for 1874. Great premiums or cash commissions to club agents. Specimens, premium lists, etc., sent free to all disposed to act as agents.
Address D. D. T. MOORE, de18 2t New York City.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.
A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.
When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of Consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., giving name of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, New Orleans. no13 6m

A. W. SHARDON & CO.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL GROCERS,
Corner Jackson and Bonsseau Streets.
CHRISTMAS GOODS.
Call and order your CHRISTMAS GOODS.
de18 2m

SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS.
F. HEIDERICH,
No. 621 Magazine Street,
is now offering his entire stock of first-class FURNITURE, including everything in the Furnishing line, at cost. Call and get a bargain. de13 1m

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
Corner Magazine and Second Streets,
New Orleans.
Office Hours—Eight to nine A. M. and three to four P. M. je29 1f

S. COLLINS & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS OF
PRINTING INK.
Office and Depot—26 Frankfort St.,
oc9 3m NEW YORK.

CHILDREN OFTEN LOOK PALE AND sick from no other cause than having Worms in the stomach.
Brown's Vermifuge Comfits
will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.
CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton street, New York.
Sold by druggists and chemists and dealers in medicines at Twenty-five cents a box. jy10 1yefw

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MAKE YOUR HOME ATTRACTIVE
BY REPLENISHING YOUR TABLE-WARE
—AT—
W. C. SHEPARD & CO.'S,
55 ..... Camp Street ..... 55
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

See What a Little Money Will Buy.

An elegant White Granite DINNER SET, comprising 136 pieces, for ..... $15 00
to wit:

| | |
|---|---|
| 12 Dinner Plates, | 1 Soup Tureen, |
| 12 Breakfast Plates, | 1 Sauce Boat, |
| 12 Tea Plates, | 1 Salad Dish, |
| 12 Soup Plates, | 2 Covered Dishes, |
| 12 Preserve Plates, | 2 Vegetable Dishes, |
| 12 Butter Plates, | 4 Meat Dishes, |
| 12 Tea Cups and Saucers, | 2 Pickle Shells, |
| 12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers. | |

A Porcelain DeTerre DINNER SET (equal to French China in appearance, and much more durable,) same assortment as above.. $18 00
A French China (best quality) DINNER SET, same assortment, 130 pieces ..... 30 00
Decorated Porcelain DeTerre and French China DINNER SETS, from ..... $30 up.
White Granite CHAMBER SETS, 11 pieces $4 00
White Granite TEA SETS, 44 pieces ..... 4 00
French China TEA SETS, 44 pieces ..... 6 50
French China Decorated TEA SETS, 41 pieces ..... 7 50
Good Table GOBLETS, from 50 cents per set up.
Granite Dinner Plates, per dozen ..... 1 40
Granite Breakfast Plates, per dozen ..... 1 25
Granite Tea Plates, per dozen ..... 1 15
French China Dinner Plates, per dozen ..... 3 00
French China Breakfast Plates, per dozen ..... 2 75
French China Tea Plates, per dozen ..... 2 25
NOTE.—The prices above contemplate "First-choice" goods, every piece being warranted regular and perfect. "Seconds" or imperfect goods, warped in making and otherwise irregular, we will furnish for those that desire at twenty per cent. discount from these prices. We shall meet all competition promptly, and as we import our own ware our customers can depend upon getting the BEST GOODS at the lowest possible prices.
AGENTS FOR THE CELEBRATED
BLANCHARD CHURNS,
AND THE LARGEST DEALERS IN
HOUSEKEEPING NOVELTIES
IN THE SOUTHWEST.
W. C. SHEPARD & CO.,
de11 1y No. 55 Camp street, New Orleans.

LIQUIDATION:.....LIQUIDATION!
ON ACCOUNT OF
A CHANGE IN BUSINESS.
GOODS REDUCED
FIFTY PER CENT. BELOW COST,
FOR CASH ONLY.
From this date our entire stock of DRY GOODS will be reduced to surprisingly low prices. We shall mention, among others:
French CORSETS at 60 cents, fully worth $1.50.
Fine Pocket HANDKERCHIEFS at 60 cents a dozen, fully worth $1.25.
POPLINS at 10 cents a yard, fully worth 20.
Plain and Broche Black ALPACAS at 25 cents, fully worth 50.
Australian CRAPE at 50 cents, fully worth $1.
A full line of Light and Medium-colored SILKS for Children at 50 and 75 cents a yard.
Real English HOSE at $6 a dozen, worth $12.
—AT—
THE ST. PHILIP STORE,
230 ..... Royal Street ..... 230
Corner of St. Philip. de18 1di

W. HARRINGTON & CO.,
GENERAL GRANGE AGENCY
—AND—
COTTON FACTORS,
NO. 79 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
The undersigned, having been elected by the Mississippi State Grange as their Purchasing Agents and Cotton Factors for this port, would respectfully inform the Granges of the States who deal in this market that we will take pleasure in serving their interests to the best of our ability. Our terms of business are the same as those of your Agency in the city of Memphis.
Parties desiring to purchase in this market can do so, when cotton is in hand, with from thirty to sixty days' indulgence.
We are endeavoring, in Sugars, Molasses, Rice and Coffee, to control the patronage of the Western States, which will give us unusual advantages in this market.
ALL ORDERS FILLED
—AT—
WHOLESALE PRICES.
Orders must be under the seal of the Grange. We respectfully solicit your attention, and all business intrusted to our care will receive our best attention.
no20 6m W. HARRINGTON & CO.

ALFRED DAMARIN,
Successor to Gaines & Reif's Branch Store,
No. 502 Magazine St., near St. Andrew,
Offers for sale, at prices to suit the times,
CHINA, GLASS AND CROCKERYWARE,
PLATED WARE,
HARDWARE,
CUTLERY,
JAPANNED WARE,
TINWARE,
WOODENWARE,
WILLOWWARE,
BRUSHES,
and a variety of articles too numerous to mention. Call and get bargains. de18 1m

THE SABBATH
THE LATEST, THE GREATEST AND THE BEST TUNE BOOK for Church Choirs of all Denominations.
Price, $1.50.
Per dozen Copies, $13.50.
One Sample Copy, by Mail, $1.25
LEE & WALKER, 922 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia
no13 10dp

PATENTS For INVENTIONS, TRADE MARKS, Copyrights, etc., etc., procured by
JOHN A. WIEDERSHEIM & CO.,
110 South Fourth street, below Chestnut,
Philadelphia, Pa
Full information without charge.
Call or send for Book of Instructions. se18 1y

WANTED.
The highest Cash Price paid for Rags, Old Paper, Rope, etc., at
THE LOUISIANA PAPER MILLS,
Nos. 241 and 243 Liberty Street,
Between Girod and Julia.
BROWN & PEMBERTON,
de4 2m Proprietors.

WANTED.—TO KNOW THE ADDRESS OF Nicholas Perkins and his wife, Martha Perkins, who formerly resided, and may still reside, in this city. Any person able to give the desired information will confer a favor by forwarding the same to O. A. C., care Box 814, de11 1f New Orleans, La.

MEDICAL.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.
—IT IS—
PURELY VEGETABLE,
containing those Southern Roots and Herbs which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver diseases most prevail. It will cure all diseases caused by derangement of the Liver and Bowels.
SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR
OR MEDICINE
is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.
After over forty years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the
MOST EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
for Constipation, Headache, Pain in the Shoulder, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, Billious attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, despondency, gloom and forebodings of evil, all of which are the offspring of a diseased Liver.
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion it Has No Equal.
It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world. Manufactured only by
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia.
Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. se25 1y

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.
THE STARTLING DRAWBACK ON nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for an agent that would,
PURGE, PURIFY and STRENGTHEN
At One and the Same Time,
Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which fully realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. This important desideratum is
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,
which purifies the blood and removes all corrupt humor and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but, on the contrary, tones the stomach and invigorates the body during the progress of its operation. It unites the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a strengthening purgative and a purifying tonic.
DR. TUTT'S PILLS are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation. They produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.
Price, 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists.
Principal Office, Nos. 18 and 20 Platt street, New York. oc4 1y6p

OCEAN SAW MILL.
Having our large NEW SAW MILL now in successful operation, which gives us increased facilities for sawing Lumber to order at short notice, and at reduced prices, we would be glad to have our customers and the public generally, in want of Lumber, to call and examine our stock, consisting of almost every variety of wood grown in the South, viz.:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cypress, | Cedar, | Hhd. Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, Yellow, | Maple, | Barrel Staves | (cypress.) |
| Pine, White, | Gum, | Headings | (cypress.) |
| Oak, White, | Sycamore, | Clap-Boards | (cypress.) |
| Ash, | Beech, | Shingles | (cypress.) |
| Walnut, | Cotton, | Laths | (cypress.) |
| Poplar, | Cherry, | Firewood, assorted, etc. | |

Also Mast-Sticks and Spars.
It will be greatly to the advantage of parties shipping by cargo to call upon us, as we can saw and furnish Lumber as rapidly as a vessel can receive it.
Orders directed to Messrs. M. PUIG & CO., No. 57 Customhouse street, or Box 2226, New Orleans Postoffice, and Box 236, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange, will receive prompt attention.
L. CARBO, Director and Agent,
Office, foot of Bordeaux street,
dell 1m Sixth District.

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS
AWARDED IN 1873 TO J.

The Child's Corner.

SANTA CLAUS' POOR SPELL.

BY JOSEPHINE POLLARD.

Word came from the country where Santa Claus dwells
That he was alarmingly ill,
And fears were expressed that he'd not be on hand
With presents the stockings to fill.

The children had fancied the precious old saint Secure from all mortal mishaps,
And they said it was queer that at this time of year
He should have such a dreadful collapse.

"Oh! what shall we do?" cried the little ones all,
With grief that they could not control;
"Oh! what shall we do? for our penalties are few,
And there isn't a toy that is whole!"

"I thought that he'd bring me a wagon," said Jack.
"I want a new dolly," said Jane.
"I looked for a sled this Christmas," said Fred;
And they all fell to crying again.

"It won't be like Christmas; I'm certain of that,"
Said young Master Frank with a pout;
"And the bells will ding-dong a monotonous song
If Santa Claus isn't about."

"I guess," said mamma, "that the giant Despair
Came into our castle to day,
And, filling with gloom every heart in this room,
Took all of our sunshine away.

"Dear Santa Claus doesn't like children that pout,
And make such a dismal ado;
Because he, alack! has a pain in his back,
And feels much more wretched than you.

"A smile on the face will do Santa Claus good,
And help him, I'm sure, to get well;
And our hearts may keep time to a musical chime,
Though Santa Claus has a poor spell.

"For Christmas is coming; and Christmas must be
A season of gladness and cheer;
Though broken our toys, let us make it, my boys,
The merriest day of the year!"

Little Corporal Magazine.

William Haverley.

About thirty years ago, said Judge P., I stepped into a book store in Cincinnati, in search of some books that I wanted. While there a little ragged boy, not over twelve years of age, came in and inquired for a geography.

"Plenty of them," was the salesman's reply.

"How much do they cost?"

"One dollar, my lad."

"I did not know they were so much." He turned to go out, and even opened the door, but closed it again and came back. "I have got only sixty-one cents," said he; "could you let me have a geography, and wait a little while for the rest of the money?"

How eagerly his little bright eyes looked for an answer! and how he seemed to shriuk within his ragged clothes when the man, not very kindly, told him he could not!

The disappointed little fellow looked up to me, with a very poor attempt at a smile, and left the store. I followed him and overtook him.

"And what now?" I asked.

"Try another place, sir."

"Shall I go too, and see how you succeed?"

"O, yes, if you like," said he in surprise.

Four different stores I entered with him, and each time he was refused.

"Will you try again?" I asked.

"Yes, sir, I shall try them all, or I should not know whether I could get one."

We entered the fifth store, and the little fellow walked up manfully, and told the gentleman just what he wanted, and how much money he had.

"You want the book very much?" said the proprietor.

"Yes, sir, very much."

"Why do you want it so very, very much?"

"To study, sir. I can't go to school, but I study when I can at home. All the boys have got one, and they will get ahead of me. Besides, my father was a sailor, and I want to learn of the places where he used to go."

"Does he go to these places now?" asked the proprietor.

"He is dead," said the boy softly. Then he added after awhile: "I'm going to be a sailor too."

"Are you though?" asked the gentleman, raising his eyebrows curiously.

"Yes, sir, if I live."

"Well, my lad, I will tell you what I will do; I will let you have a new geography, and you may pay the remainder of the money when you can, or I will let you have one that is not new for fifty cents."

"Are the leaves all in it, and just like the others, only not new?"

"Yes, just like the new ones."

"It will do just as well then, and I will have eleven cents left toward buying some other book. I am glad they did not let me have one at any of the other places."

The bookseller looked up inquiringly, and I told him what I had seen of the little fellow. He was much pleased, and when he brought the book along I saw a nice new pencil and some clean white paper in it.

"A present, my lad, for your perseverance. Always have courage like that, and you will make your mark," said the bookseller.

"Thank you, sir, you are so very good."

"What is your name?"

"William Haverley, sir."

"Do you want any more books?" I now asked him.

"More than I can ever get," he replied, glancing at the books that filled the shelves.

I gave him a bank note. "It will buy some for you," I said.

Tears of joy came into his eyes.

"Can I buy what I want with it."

"Yes, my lad, anything."

"Then I will buy a book for mother," said he; "I thank you very much, and some day I hope I can pay you back."

He wanted my name, and I gave it to him. Then I left him standing by the counter so happy that I almost envied him, and many years passed before I saw him again.

Last year I went to Europe on one of the finest vessels that ever plowed the waters of the Atlantic. We had very beautiful weather until very near the end of the voyage; then came a most terrible storm, that would have sunk all on board had it not been for the captain.

Every spar was laid low, the rudder was almost useless, and a great leak had shown itself, threatening to fill the ship. The crew were all strong, willing men, and the mates were practical seamen of the first-class; but, after pumping for one whole night, and still the water was gaining upon them, they gave up in despair, and prepared to take the boats, though they might have known no small boat could ride such a sea. The captain, who had been below with his charts, now came up; he saw how matters stood, and, with a voice that I heard distinctly above the roar of the tempest, he ordered every man to his post.

It was surprising to see those men bow before the strong will of their captain, and hurry back to the pumps.

The captain then started below to examine the leak. As he passed me I asked him if there was any hope. He looked at me, and then at the other passengers, who had crowded up to hear the reply, and said rebukingly:

"Yes, sir, there is hope as long as one inch of this deck remains above water; when I see none of it, then I shall abandon the vessel, and not before, nor one of my crew, sir. Everything shall be done to save it, and if we fail it will not be from inaction. Bear a hand, every one of you, at the pumps."

Thrice during the day did we despair; but the captain's dauntless courage, perseverance and powerful will mastered every man on board, and we went to work again.

"I will land you safely at the dock in Liverpool," said he; "if you will be men."

And he did land us safely; but the vessel sunk moored to the dock. The captain stood on the deck of the sinking vessel, receiving the thanks and blessings of the passengers, as they passed down the gang-plank. I was the last to leave. As I passed he grasped my hand and said:

"Judge P., do you recognize me?"

I told him that I was not aware that I ever saw him until I stepped aboard his ship.

"Do you remember the boy in Cincinnati?"

"Very well, sir; William Haverley."

"I am he," said he. "God bless you!"

"And God bless noble Captain Haverley!"

HAD HE A MOTHER?—"How does God seem to you when you try to pray?" I asked of a Sabbath school scholar.

He looked up rather sadly, and said slowly: "I never prayed."

"Never?" I said wonderingly. "Did you never try?"

"No," he answered, and a sad, hungry look came into his eyes.

I was sad too, and could only exclaim: "What a sweet lesson you have yet to learn!"

Some one who heard the strange remark asked me: "Had he a mother? She surely must have taught him 'Now I lay me,' or 'Our Father.'"

Strange she did not; strange that she could allow him to say; "Not one, not even my mother, ever taught me to pray."

I hope there are few mothers in this gospel land whose sons and daughters can speak thus.

O, mothers, teach your children to call on their heavenly Father, even if you cannot yourselves. Try, best of all, to teach them by example, so that in after-life, in the great hereafter, your sons and daughters may gladly say: "My mother taught me to pray."—Times.

Farm, Garden and Household.

Hoe Cake.

Prepare the meal into dough, have the hoe or griddle hot, make your cakes out with your hand in an oblong shape, put them on the hoe or griddle, and pat them out as thin as you want them—the thinner they are the nicer they eat; it takes quite a practiced hand to make a pretty hoe cake.

In the good old times of Virginia, young ladies used to go into the kitchen to try their fortune, as those who could make a pretty hoe cake would get a handsome husband.

There is, however, a peculiar motion required to make a pretty hoe cake and pone, which very few white persons ever acquire. A large handful of dough is grasped, the two hands are held together, open, the sides not quite touching, and, with a gentle tossing motion, the one hand up, the other down, the least little way imaginable, the dough falls from one to the other, rolling as it moves, until it is of the most beautifully smooth, round, oblong shape—this is a pone; when thrown upon the hoe and gently patted flat with the hand it becomes a hoe cake. An old-fashioned Virginia colored cook would make a most beautiful pone in half a minute; a modern belle could not make one in half a day. A person who is determined to learn to make up corn bread will by long practice acquire the art; but there seems to be a peculiar adaptation in colored hands to corn meal, as they rarely fail in making of it not only good bread, but pretty bread, for nothing is prettier than a well-shaped pone or hoe cake.

And now for the reason that it is called hoe cake. In the olden times in Virginia in the country, when the weedling-hoes were worn out, and no longer of service in the corn-fields, they would be taken to the kitchen to the cook for baking her cakes, and it was just this peculiar oblong form that was required for the cakes to make them fit the worn-out hoes. There were no stoves, of course, in those days—nothing but wide, old-fashioned fireplaces, that would require a small cart-load of wood to build a fire that would fill them. These fires were made of oak and hickory, that burned down into hard, large, vivid coals, by which the brick or earthen fireplace would be heated red-hot. When it was in this condition the ashes would be swept from it clean, with a straw-broom gathered by the little darkies from the broom-straw fields, and the old hoes, spread in long and wide array upon the red-hot hearth, would soon be in fine condition for baking the most delicious cakes. But those delicious cakes have disappeared with the wide, open fireplaces, the hickory wood, the good meal, and the good, faithful servants of those dear old times.—Old Dominion.

FREEZING OF SAP IN THE WINTER.—A remarkable paper has recently been contributed to a German magazine, by Prof. Mohr, showing not only that the sap does not freeze in trees and plants which live through hard winters, but also the reason why it does not freeze. He says that though true water, as we generally see and understand it, freezes at thirty-two degrees, it does not do so when its particles are finely divided. Tropical plants have large cells, and these are the ones in which the sap freezes; but in plants with very small cells, in which the liquid particles are finely divided, there is no freezing of the liquids until after the structure has received injury of some sort. This is true, he says, of insects and insect pupæ. They never freeze; but cut one apart, soon after the humors solidify, and, on thawing, life flies.

SCUDDING BEES.—The stings of bees were given them for the protection of their stores. They are not disposed to sting when not in danger, and every bee which does sting dies. Away from their own hive they rarely make an attack. The natural dread of stings deter many from keeping bees who would be glad to do so. In the use of modern hives the danger of being stung is lessened, as these give you facilities for subduing them. A bee with its honey-sack full never stings. When you alarm a colony of bees they all instinctively at once fill their sacks with honey, and after time has been allowed them to do this their hive can be opened and examined with no danger from their anger.—Mrs. Tupper.

OLIVE OIL IN CALIFORNIA.—A writer in the Overland Monthly publishes the information that the culture of the olive-tree, and the manufacture of oil from its fruit, is gradually becoming a leading industry in California. The character of the climate, and the soil of the valley of Santa Barbara, and of the foot-hills of Santa Inez, for sixty miles along, are adapted to the production of the finest varieties of oil. It is predicted that this portion of the State will eventually be numbered among the most celebrated oil districts of the world.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

M. J. & D. D. O'BRIEN,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
AND
DEALERS IN CORN, OATS, BRAN AND HAY,
32 Peters St. (late New Levee.)
no2'72m New Orleans.

ANDREW J. AIKEN. JOHN W. WATT.
AIKEN & WATT,
COTTON FACTORS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
60 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.
Special attention given to orders for the purchase of all descriptions of Produce, Agricultural Implements and Plantation Supplies. no6 1y

G. M. RAYLY & POND,
WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Nos. 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Canal, and 59 and 61 Common Street,
Ja23 1y New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LANDRETH'S SEEDS — Have spoken their own praise for upward of three-quarters of a century.
☞ The attention of Market Gardeners is particularly requested.
LANDRETH'S RURAL REGISTER AND ALMANAC will be mailed without charge to all who apply.
DAVID LANDRETH & SON,
21 and 23 South Sixth street,
se18 4m Philadelphia, Pa.

ALEXANDER MILLS,

ORGAN BUILDER,
NO. 539 BROOME STREET,
oc2 3m NEW YORK.

CHEAPEST AND BEST!

CHICAGO FARM PUMPS!
Send for Price List.
B.S. Twichell,
New Orleans.
oc30 6m

JOHN GIBSON,
ENGRAVER
AND
Steam Power Lithographic Printer,
82 BEEKMAN ST., NEW YORK.
Checks, Notes, Drafts, Receipts, Bonds, Certificates of Stock and Deposit, Bill, Letter and Note Headings, Business Cards, Envelops, Druggists' Fancy and Perfumery Labels, etc. Druggists wishing Labels, send for catalogue. jy3 1y

FLINN'S PATENT
SELF-FASTENING AND ADJUSTABLE
BED SPRINGS
Make the Best Spring Beds in Use.
They are complete in themselves, and can be applied in a few minutes to any flat bedstead.
☞ From three to five dozen make a Set.
JOHN FLINN,
218 South Second St., Philadelphia, Pa
Cor. S. Water and Champlain Sts., Cleveland.
Agents wanted everywhere. se18 1y

CARPET WAREHOUSE,
17.....CHARTRES STREET.....17
A. BROUSSEAU & CO., Importers and Dealers, at Wholesale and Retail, in English and American Carpetings; Floor Oil Cloths; Table and Enameled Oil Cloths; Window Shades; Table and Piano Covers; Crumb Cloths. In squares or pieces Curtain and Furniture Materials; Brocatelles, Cotelenes, Terries, Reps, Lace and Nottingham Lace Curtains; Haircloth Ticking; Springs; Buntings; Step Covers, etc.
de4 1y A. BROUSSEAU & CO.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

THE NEXT TERM OF THIS VENERABLE INSTITUTION OPENS ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER, 1873.

Faculty.—REV. C. G. ANDREWS, A. M., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Science, Political Economy and International Law; REV. A. B. HOLCOMBE, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Adjunct Professor of Natural Science; G. H. WILEY, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages; T. S. JONES, M. D., Professor of Natural Science; REV. R. H. NORTHCUTT, A. M., Principal of the Preparatory Department.

Charges.—Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in College, $60; Tuition, per session of forty weeks, in Preparatory Department, $40; Contingent expenses, $5. A matriculation fee of $5 must be paid on entering any regular college class. One-half the charges must be paid when the student enters; the other half on the beginning of the second term, March 1.

Board.—Board, including lodging, washing, lights and fuel, can be had in the best families for $20 per month. Day-boarding with the same families, $13 per month. Rooms provided in the dormitories free of rent. Board to be paid in advance at least one month.

Location.—This institution is located in the lovely village of Jackson, about twelve miles from Bayou Sara, in a grove of pine, magnolia, oak and beech. The location is remarkable for its beautiful woodlands, its bland and delightful atmosphere, its pure water, its unrivaled healthfulness, and its cultivated and refined society.

When Founded.—The college was established by the State of Louisiana in 1825, and ceded to the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1845.

Alumni.—Its Alumni numbers two hundred and three, and they are to be found in the most honorable and useful stations in the land.

Apparatus and Cabinet.—The college possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus, and also a well-selected Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet. The apparatus includes a Theodolite, Sextant, Compass, Chronometer, Atwood's Machine, Whirling Tables, Electrical Machine, Air Pump, various combinations of the Mechanical Powers, Batteries, Chemical Tests, etc., sufficient for a thorough and extended course of observations and experiments. Steps have been taken by the Board of Trustees to put these in thorough repair.

Literary Societies.—There are two regular Literary Societies connected with the Institution. These are of great utility to young men acquiring a liberal education—improving them in the art of public speaking, making them in some degree familiar with the proceedings of deliberative bodies, and in cultivating systematic business habits. Each Society has a convenient hall and a well-selected Library—about one thousand six hundred volumes, each, which, added to the College Library of two thousand volumes, makes over five thousand volumes in the college.

Buildings.—The Trustees are determined to continue the repairs on the buildings till completed. The grand Center Building is a noble specimen of architectural beauty and adaptation to the purposes of its erection. The wings, built of solid brick, present each a front of two hundred feet, with upper and lower galleries the entire length, supported by Tuscan columns, and with the center making in the perspective a continuous front of seven hundred feet.

Preparatory Department.—In the Preparatory Department students are fitted for regular college classes, or may obtain a thorough English or commercial education.

The Faculty.—Its Faculty are men of experience and success in teaching.

Board of Trustees.—Rev. Bishop J. C. KEENER, D. D., President, New Orleans.

Hon. Edward McGehee, Woodville, Mississippi. Hon. John McVea, Clinton. Hon. and Rev. James H. Muse, St. Helena parish. Prof. W. H. N. Magruder, Baton Rouge. Rev. H. H. Montgomery, Sharon, Mississippi. C. G. McGehee, Esq., Wilkinson county, Miss. Rev. John C. Miller, Jackson. Josiah D. Nettles, Esq., East Baton Rouge, La. Rev. J. A. Godfrey, Clinton.
Hon. E. T. Merrick, New Orleans. Hon. Edward J. Gay, parish of Iberville. Hon. J. O. Fuqua, Baton Rouge. D. C. Hardee, Esq., Clinton. Rev. R. J. Harp, New Orleans. Samuel J. Norwood, Esq., Shreveport, Louisiana. William L. Nugent, Esq., Jackson, Mississippi. Rev. J. L. Forsythe, Jackson. Rev. John A. Ellis, Meridian, Mississippi.
Hon. A. K. Farrar, Adams county, Mississippi. Rev. W. H. Watkins, D. D., Natchez, Mississippi. Rev. L. Parker, D. D., New Orleans. Robert M. Walmsley, Esq., New Orleans. Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Port Gibson, Mississippi. Wilmot H. Goodale, Esq., Baton Rouge. Rev. C. G. Andrews, Jackson, Louisiana. Rev. A. E. Goodwyn, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

jy24 6m Address C. G. ANDREW, President, Jackson, La.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

IMPORTANT TO PLANTERS.
IRON COTTON TIES.
THE ARROW TIE AND ALL OPEN-SLOT TIES.

All approved Popular Patents:
ARROW,
ANCHOR, WALLIS
ALLIGATOR
AND DUNN.
For sale by all dealers in New Orleans, Mobile and Memphis, and by country merchants generally throughout the Cotton States.
BARTLETT & RAYNE,
GENERAL AGENTS,
48 CARONDELET STREET, COR. UNION,
de18 6m New Orleans.

DANIEL & JAMES D. EDWARDS,
NOS. 22, 24, 26 AND 28 FRONT ST.
AND
NOS. 21, 23, 25 AND 27 DELTA ST.
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA
MANUFACTURERS OF
Copper, Brass, Iron and Sheet Iron
WORK OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
ALSO OF
Best and Most Improved Steam Trains for Making Sugar.
DEALERS IN
Wrought Iron Pipe and Fittings, all sizes, Brass Work for Steam, Water and Gas, Boiler Tubes, Bolts, Nuts and Washers, Well and Cistern Pumps, Drove Well Pumps, and Well Points, Steam Syphon Pumps, Rubber Hose, Steam Packing, Steam and Water Gauges, Flue Brushes, Sheet Copper, Brass and Iron, Copper and Brass Wire, Machinists' Tools and Machinery Supplies, etc.
AGENTS FOR
Cameron's Patent Steam Pumps, Webster's Patent Combination Wrenches And National Fire Extinguisher.
☞ Send for new Illustrated Price List. fe20 1y

LEWIS JOHNSON,
ENGINE AND MACHINE BUILDER,
Corner Julia, Delta and Water Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
Castings of all kinds. Repairing executed with dispatch. Steam and Vacuum Gauges repaired. Glass Box 763, Postoffice. ap17 1y

BEEF!.....BEEF!.....BEEF!
FRESH BEEF, VEAL, MUTTON AND PORK.
Country and city orders filled with dispatch at
J. STAFFORD'S MEAT STORE,
Cor. St. Peter and Old Levee Sts.
The very best quality of Fresh Meats always on hand. Orders from the country filled at the lowest prices and carefully attended to. Plantations supplied with the best Meats with promptitude and at the lowest possible figures. Address
J. STAFFORD, Meat Store,
Corner St. Peter and Old Levee streets,
de4 2m New Orleans.

SHERMAN HOUSE,
COR. CLARK AND RANDOLPH STS.,
Chicago, Illinois.
C. S. MUNSON, MANAGER.
This splendid Hotel, rebuilt on its former site was thrown open for the reception of guests April 10. Its exterior is grand and imposing, its appointments unique and magnificent throughout, and its management unsurpassed. jy10 1y

CHURCH AND
SCHOOL FURNITURE.
The undersigned calls the attention of all interested in fitting up Churches and Schools to his numerous styles of School Desks, especially his NEPLUS ULTRA DESK, which has been adopted in all the new Public Schools erected this last year in New York; as also new styles of Pulpits, Settees for Sunday Schools, Pews, etc.; also his last Patent of combined Easel and Map or Lesson-Card Elevator.
Altars, Tabernacles, Banners, Alms-Boxes, Etc.
NATH. JOHNSON,
No. 490 Hudson street, New York.
Catalogues forwarded on application, oc2 3m

HARDWARE, STOVES, ETC.

A. BALDWIN, C. EUSTIS, C. A. SLOCOMB, A. D. SLOCOMB, In commendam.
HARDWARE.....HARDWARE.
A. BALDWIN & CO.,
SUCCESSORS TO
SLOCOMB, BALDWIN & CO.,
74 Canal, and 91, 93 and 95 Common St.,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
Foreign and Domestic Hardware,
GUNS, LOCKS, CUTLERY, NAILS, STEEL,
IRON CASTINGS, ETC.
Agents for J. E. Carver's Gin, Coats' Roller Iron, Valentine & Butler's Safes, E. & G. Brooke's Cut Nails and Spikes, etc. no27 3m

THE UNRIVALED

BUCK'S BRILLIANT STOVE.
Every Brilliant is Fully Guaranteed.
H. HALLER,
NO. 49 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Sole Agent for Louisiana.
Sole Agent for the
CELEBRATED RINGEN WASHER
In the States of Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi. no23 1y

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

THE AMERICAN
SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION
OFFERS
Special Terms to Sunday Schools
IN THE SELECTION OF NEW AND
REPLENISHING OF OLD LIBRARIES
Catalogues furnished on application to any of the
SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPOSITORIES.
No. 1122 Chestnut street, Philadelphia—ALEX. KIRKPATRICK.
No. 10 Bible House, New York—G. S. SCOFIELD.
No. 40 Winter street, Boston—E. SHUTE.
No. 203 West Madison St., Chicago—W. R. POST.
No. 207 N. Sixth St., St. Louis—S. PAXSON. se11 6m

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

HOMER COLLEGE,
HOMER, CLAIBORNE PARISH, LA.
COURSE OF EDUCATION
THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL.
Total Expense Per Annum from $187 to $207.
SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 15, 1873.
☞ Send for a catalogue to
REV. J. LANE BORDEN,
President.
Tuition free to children of Preachers in regular work. jy3 6m

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE,
VIRGINIA.
The Spring session of this widely-known and popular institution begins on the Twenty-ninth of JANUARY next, and closes on the Seventeenth of June, which is Commencement day. In view of the present financial depression we now make this liberal offer:
FOR ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS, paid in advance, we will give, for one entire session of twenty weeks, to any student in the Collegiate, Scientific or Business course, his board at the Byars House (now reduced to $10 per month), tuition, fuel, room-rent, washing, Library and contingent fees. In the Preparatory Department the charges will be even less. Board at the Fulton House and in private families may be obtained at moderate though at somewhat more advanced rates. The advantages now offered here to those seeking thorough collegiate training and culture were never excelled in our previous history, as those best acquainted with the school will testify. If you desire more information write to
E. E. WILEY, President,
jy3 8m Emory P. O., Virginia.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE,
UNDER CARE OF
The Holston Conference, M. E. Church South.
Founded in 1849. Greatly improved. Boarding-house, with farm of five hundred acres. Fare generous. Faculty full. Instruction thorough. Located in the quiet country, seven miles from Sweetwater, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Rail road. Expenses of tuition, board, fuel, lighting and washing less than $150 a year. Conveyance any day. For further information address
REV. J. H. BRUNNER,
se25 6m Sweetwater, Tenn.

SOULE'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.
The Commercial Athenæum of the South, corner Camp and Common streets (Story Building). Mercantile and Banking offices are connected with this institution, daily lectures given, and all branches of a business education practically, scientifically and philosophically taught. An English department for boys, twelve to eighteen years of age, is a special feature of this institution. French and Spanish are also taught.
GEO. SOULE, Principal.
N. B.—Soule's Philosophic Commercial and Exchange Calculator, 88 foolscap pages, the great arithmetical work of the age, is for sale at the College office. de11 1m

J. W. BLACKMAN'S
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,
131.....CARONDELET ST.....131
This is the only Commercial College in this city who receives students from the country can board in the family of the Principal. There is ample accommodation for thirty to forty students to board in the college building. This department is in charge of Mrs. Blackman, and in case of sickness students will be properly cared for, and not sent to a hospital, or the cold care of strangers.
All Commercial branches taught. Terms over Thirty per cent. less than other colleges in this city. The Principal has been established in New Orleans since 1851. For circulars address
J. W. BLACKMAN,
oc31 3m 131 Carondelet St., New Orleans, La.

BULBS! SEEDS! OUR Autumn CATALOGUE OF
Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocus, Lilies, Etc.,
IS NOW READY.
and will be mailed FREE to all applicants. We desire every lover of Flowers to write us for a copy. Our assortment of Vegetable and Flower SEEDS is complete, and growing our own Seeds, and importing from reliable sources, we know that our Seeds are pure and true. Correspondence solicited. Address
KERN, STEDER & CO.,
Seed Growers and Merchants,
oc24 3m No. 211 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

NEW ORLEANS
PURCHASING BUREAU.
To the Ladies of the South.
A Purchasing Agency has been established in New Orleans, Louisiana, for the benefit of those residing at a distance from the city, and who have not the facilities for obtaining just what they require.
MRS. H. MOORIDGE
respectfully offers her services in selecting, purchasing and forwarding any article of apparel or personal adornment for ladies' and children's use, including MILLINERY, DRY GOODS, JEWELRY, BRIDAL TROUSSEAUX, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Trimmings, Underwear, Sewing Machines, etc., etc.
Scrupulous care with reference to the price and quality, and fidelity to the interest and fulfillment of the wishes of correspondents, will be sedulously carried out.
MRS. H. MOORIDGE,
At Mrs. Doherty's Elegant Millinery and Dressmaking Establishment, 96 Canal St., Over Zimmerman's Jewelry Store, New Orleans.
☞ Send for circular fe6 1y

J. A. KERNAN & T. WHITE,
PRACTICAL GILDERS,
106 CUSTOM HOUSE ST., near Royal, New Orleans.
Regilding done in the best style. Oil Paintings restored, relined, cleansed and varnished. Looking-glass and Picture Frames made to order. Having a business experience of nearly forty years in this city, they hope to give satisfaction to their customers not only in the superiority of their work, but likewise in their moderate charges. Country orders promptly attended to. de13 2m

CONSTANT'S PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY, No. 21 HOSPITAL ST., bet. Old Levee and Chartres. Being the successors of the above established gallery, which we have had in charge for the last five years, we are prepared to do all work in the line of PHOTOGRAPHY—Photographs, Porcelains, Crayons, India Ink, Water or Oil Paintings, either from life or copy. Enlargements from small to life-size. All work intrusted to us will be neatly executed at very moderate prices.
no29 2m UHLHAUER & SIMON.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S
STEEL PENS.
SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.
MANUFACTURERS' WAREHOUSE,
No. 91 John Street, New York.
JOSEPH GILLOTT & SON.
HENRY HOE, Sole Agent. je26 1y

CONSTANT'S PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY, No. 21 HOSPITAL ST., bet. Old Levee and Chartres. Being the successors of the above established gallery, which we have had in charge for the last five years, we are prepared to do all work in the line of PHOTOGRAPHY—Photographs, Porcelains, Crayons, India Ink, Water or Oil Paintings, either from life or copy. Enlargements from small to life-size. All work intrusted to us will be neatly executed at very moderate prices.
no29 2m UHLHAUER & SIMON.

R. ESTERBROOK & CO.'S
STEEL PENS.
FOR SALE BY
ALL BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS IN THE UNITED STATES.
Esterbrook Steel Pen Manufact'g Co.,
49 MAIDEN LANE, NEW YORK.
Works—Camden, New Jersey. oc2 1y

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

DITSON & CO.'S

CELEBRATED

HOME MUSICAL LIBRARY.

Choice collections of Bound Music.

VOCAL.

GEMS OF GERMAN SONG.
GEMS OF SCOTTISH SONG.
GEMS OF SACRED SONG.
WREATH OF GEMS.
OPERATIC PEARLS.
SILVER CHORD.
SHOWER OF PEARLS. Duets.
MUSICAL TREASURE. Vocal and Instrumental.

INSTRUMENTAL.

FOR PIANOFORTE OR MELODEON.

GEMS OF STRAUSS.
ORGAN AT HOME.
PIANIST'S ALBUM.
PIANOFORTE GEMS.
HOME CIRCLE. Volumes 1 and 2.

Price of each book, in cloth, $3; in boards, $2.50; fine gilt, $4. The above splendid books are perfect treasure-houses of the best and most popular music, being selected as the "cream" from an immense stock. Two hundred to two hundred and fifty pages, full sheet-music size, in each book. Buy these books for presents. In each book you get $25 worth of music. In the whole library, costing, according to binding, $35, $42 or $56, you will get $450 worth!

Sent, post-paid, on receipt of retail price.

CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.,
711 Broadway, New York.
OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
Boston.

jy21 1y

A GOOD BOOK.

SOLD BY CANVASSING AGENTS ONLY.

DR. DEEMS' "JESUS."

A Rational History to Prove the Divinity of Christ.

☞ Agents will find this the best-selling book of the season. Clergymen, students and Book agents address

UNITED STATES PUBLISHING CO.,
oc9 3m 11 and 13 University Place, New York.

NEW BOOK FOR AGENTS.—We want Agents everywhere for a new, beautifully illustrated work of the author's own adventures.

WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.

Incidents of nearly THIRTY YEARS of hunting and trapping, captivity among the Comanches, in the Mexican wars, encounters with Apaches, Grizzly Bears, etc. Thrillingly interesting. Send for circular and the most LIBERAL terms; or, if in haste to begin work, send $1 for complete outfit to

F. A. HUTCHINSON & CO.,
oc9 1y St. Louis, Mo

AGENTS WANTED.—ACT AT ONCE.—The people everywhere are eager to buy the only authentic and complete history of

LIVINGSTONE.

His wonderful discoveries and thrilling adventures during Twenty-eight Years in the wilds of Africa, and resurrection by the daring STANLEY. Over 600 pages, beautifully illustrated; only $2.50. Selling like wildfire! Write for extra terms; or, if you wish to begin at once, send $1 for outfit.

VALLEY PUBLISHING CO.,
oc9 1y St. Louis Mo.

Wanted

More Farmers, Ladies, Ministers, Young Men and Women from every County, to obtain $220 to $75 a week to act as Agents for

Mary Clemmer Ames' Book,

TEN YEARS IN WASHINGTON,

Entitled the "Inner Life," wonders, secrets, mysteries, secret doings, &c., of the world. "A Woman Sees Them." It is the most wonderful selling book ever published. Immense sales, profits and good things for all. Exclusive territory to every wide-awake person, —man, woman, or children—to positively canvass, with exceptional and increasing fat and wide backwoods. 30 Engravings, Steel portrait of author. Agents don't miss the chance. Money for You in the work. Terms Rigt positively to readers of the Advocate, everywhere. (Southern Agents N. B.) Outfit Free to anyone. We pay freight on books. Reader! write at once for particulars (free) to

QUEEN CITY PUBLISHING CO.,
se11 1y Cincinnati, Ohio.

BIG GEST Commission on rapidly-selling works for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Red Men, Mechanics, Temperance, etc. Sales unprecedented. One Agent clears $1,250 in three months, another over $200 in five days, another $80 in eight hours, scores $50 in one day. Write for circular and prove this. Give number of your Lodge, and name this paper.

J. HALE POWERS & CO.,
Ja30 1y Fraternity Publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE PRACTICAL POCKET COMMENTARY AND BIBLE DICTIONARY.

Ten volumes. One Dollar each. Acknowledged to be the best and cheapest Commentary on the whole Bible extant. By the Rev. Drs. JAMIESON, FAUSSET & BROWN. Sold only by subscription. Agents wanting territory address

BLACKALLER & TURNER,
jy17 1y Room 9, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

BOOK AGENTS, REJOICE!—HARD Times no More! MARK TWAIN'S New Book, THE GILDED AGE, now ready. Secure territory before it is too late. Canvassing outfit, $1.50. For terms address

CONTINENTAL PUBLISHING CO.,
de1 1y New Orleans or St. Louis.

PLUCKY AGENTS WANTED to sell our Modern United States and State Maps, and Pictorial and Religious Charts.

Large profits to Agents. Small capital needed.

E. C. BRIDGMAN,
oc9 3m No. 5 Barclay street, New York.

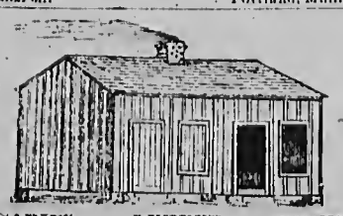
AGENTS WANTED TO ENGAGE IN A permanent, lucrative and respectable business. None but energetic and responsible persons need apply.

A. COYLE,
oc21 6m 410 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo.

FROM A RECENT ANALYSIS BY Prof. W. O. Atwater, of Yale College, the following table will show the chemical composition of YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Albuminoids | 12.15 | Sugar | 13.06 |
| Gum | 5.21 | Starch | 35.62 |
| Fat | 8.59 | Cellulose | 2.95 |
| Ash | 2.42 | | |

It will be seen that the Albuminoids (albumen, gluten, casein, etc.) constitute nearly thirteen per cent. "These," says Yeomans, "are the flesh-forming principles—the true elements of nutrition."



It is particularly valuable to all requiring a highly nutritious and at the same time easily assimilated diet, and hence is used as an article of daily consumption to eliminates which occasion rapid waste of the system. "Almost all Adultes, Orleans and (aboriginal) Americans use it as their chief nourishment."—Louis Figuier, in his work on the Vegetable World.

In Hermetically-sealed YARMOUTH SUGAR CORN all the nutritive qualities of the grain are preserved. The grain is cut from the ear and placed in the canisters with the rich juices (or milk) which exude from it, and as then sealed air-tight and the canister subjected to steam heat, which coagulates the albumen. In this condition it will keep for years. It will be seen by this that all the nutritive properties of the grain are preserved, and the most nourishing article of food in the domain of nature placed within the reach of all.

RECEIVED THE AWARD OF THE
Paris Exposition, American Institute, and Great Exposition of Curdova.

Sealed under the original patent. Ask your grocer for it.

PORTLAND PACKING CO.,
an24 6m Portland, Maine.

CABINS.....LUMBER.....CABINS.

PLANTATION CABINS, manufactured in the city and shipped to the country, all framed, lined, and each piece marked and numbered, so that a common hand can put them up without the aid of a carpenter.

The above represents a double Cabin of two rooms, each 14x16, built with boards placed upright and the joints stripped. Price, delivered to boat, including all hardware, nails, shingles, etc., $135. We make them of all sizes. Cost in proportion.

We also keep a large stock of LUMBER, SASH, etc., on hand, and make a specialty of sawing bills to order.

W. W. CARRE & CO.,
Ja23 1y 350 Deloid street, New Orleans.

ROGERS' EFFERVESCING

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA,

in six-ounce bottles, in powder. This Magnesia is a mild purgative and aperient, very acceptable to the stomach for Sick Headache, Sour or Sick Stomach, and all Febrile cases. Good for all seasons of the year. For sale by druggists. Prepared by ARTHUR ROGERS, 193 Spring St., N Y oc9 3m

BUSINESS CARDS.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

MRS. KATE C. LOGAN

notifies her customers that she has reopened her MILLINERY, DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING BUSINESS, at

No. 9 Bourbon Street,

two doors from the corner of Canal, a few steps from her late premises, destroyed by fire on Friday night. She is prepared to fill orders as heretofore. de11 2m

T. W. ROTHICK, UNDERTAKER,
No. 271 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Metallic, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Rosewood COFFINS always on hand. Black, Satin, Brown and White Merino Ladies' and Children's Shrouding. Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Hearses, Carriages and Cabs for hire. Funerals attended to in person by the proprietor, who hopes, by strict attention, to obtain a share of public patronage. de4 1y

T. A. BECK, COOPER,

NOS. 23 AND 24 FRONT STREET,

Between Custom house and Blenville streets (Sugar Landing,) New Orleans, has constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Hoop Poles, etc. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to trimming. de4 1y

J. SEGASSIE,

DEALER IN

Western Produce, Hay, Corn, Oats,

BEAN, FLOUR, CORN MEAL, ETC.,

NO. 97 OLD LEVEE STREET,

de4 2m New Orleans.

THE NEW CHEAP JOHN

(JOHN HANSEN)

continues to Manufacture, in spite of the FIRE, First-class

Custom-Made Boots and Shoes,

better and cheaper than ever, at No. 33 CANAL street, corner of Peters, next door to Cogan's Clothing House. no14 2m

C. W. ROTH,

DEALER IN

Staple and Fancy Groceries,

175.....POYDRAS STREET.....175

Corner Carondelet, New Orleans.

TEAS AND COFFEES a specialty. no27 1m

H. FEHSENFELD,

(Formerly with Daniel Gorren,)

Millinery and Trimming Store,

191.....CANAL STREET.....191

Bet. Dryades and Rampart, New Orleans.

Country orders promptly attended to. no27 2m

PRICES TO SATISFY ALL.

CHARLES HAMILTON,

Practical Picture Framer, Etr.,

661.....MAGAZINE STREET.....661

Oil Shades renewed (as good as new) at 75 cents a piece. no6 2m

COAL.....COAL.

H. & C. TYLER,

9.....CARONDELET ST.....9

will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates.

oc30 3m H. & C. TYLER.

J. M. ELKIN. F. STRINGER.

ELKIN & CO.,

168.....CANAL STREET.....168

Near Baronne, New Orleans,

IMPORTERS OF ALL VARIETIES OF

English Carpetings, Rugs, Etc., Etc.

Also Oil Cloths, Mattings, Curtain Damasks, Lace Curtains, Window Shades, etc. oc21 1y

JOHN I. ADAMS. JAY L. ADAMS. WM. H. RENAUD.

JOHN I. ADAMS & CO.,

WHOLESALE GROCERS,
AND DEALERS IN
PROVISIONS, LARD, OIL, ETC.,
Nos. 43, 45 and 47 Peters Street,
(Formerly New Levee.)
mh27 1y New Orleans.

JAMES N. QUIN,

PRACTICAL

GAS AND STEAM-PIPE FITTER.

All kinds of Brass Work. General Southern Agent for the celebrated Nichols Patent Challenge Wind Mill; also for Challenge Feed Mills, Hay Cutters, Corn Shellers and Drove Wells. For price list and circulars address J. N. QUIN, Ja30 1y 116 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans.

J. U. PAYNE. GEORGE MOORMAN.
H. M. PAYNE. J. G. PARHAM.

J. U. & H. M. PAYNE & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS,

64 and 66.....Baronne Street.....64 and 66

Between Union and Gravier streets,

Je19 1y NEW ORLEANS, LA.

F. WAGENER, AGENT,

FRAMING STORE,

13 Baronne St., near Canal, New Orleans.

Frames of all descriptions made to order at the shortest notice and at New York prices.

Pictures and Window Shades put up. Cords, Tassels and Shade Fixtures for sale. my15 1y

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKING,

CUTTING AND FITTING,

At Reasonable Prices, by

MRS. M. TOURNAHEN,
No. 206 Prytania street,
mh27 1y Corner of St. Mary, New Orleans.

A. S. CUTLER,

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,

136½.....Camp Street.....136½

Bet. Girod and Lafayette, New Orleans.

Graining, Gilding, Glazing, Kalsomining and Wall-coloring. my8 1y

Box 35, Mechanics' and Dealers' Exchange.

J. A. LUM. FRANK H. HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

162 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES. my29 9m

F. ESTEVA,

CIGAR DEPOT,

Corner of Camp and Girod Streets,

New Orleans, La.

Havana and Domestic Cigars always on hand. Country orders promptly attended to. oc30 3m

WILLIAM ERERT,

ORNAMENTAL IRON WORKS,

AND GENERAL HOUSESMITH.

Iron Railings, Tomb Railings, Fences and Verandas of all kinds made to order; also Iron Shutters, Doors, Window and Door Gratings.

141 and 146 Magazine St., New Orleans.

Box 213, Mechanics' Exchange. ap10 1y

LEWIS LOCKWOOD,

MANUFACTURER OF

Dr. D. ELY'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEGS AND ARMS,

125 Gravier St., New Orleans.

Prices from $75 to $150. Satisfaction guaranteed. No advance payment required. The patient can put on the Leg and practically test it as long as desired. Pamphlets sent free. my8 1y

CRESCENT MACHINE SHOP.

JOSEPH WALKER,

Machinist, Engineer, Blacksmithing,

ETC., ETC.,

CORNER ST. JOSEPH AND CONSTANCE STS.,

New Orleans.

☞ Plantation Machinery manufactured and repaired. Jobbing promptly attended to. Ja30 1y

C. SAMPSON. F. B. SAMPSON.

SAMPSON BROTHERS,

(LATE C. C. SAMPSON,)

FURNITURE,

33 and 35.....Royal Street.....33 and 35

NEW ORLEANS.

Established in 1833. Ja23 1y

JOHNSON & HILLSMAN,

PRACTICAL PAINTERS,

144.....Magazine Street.....144

House and Sign Painting, Steamboat, Store and Office Painting, Graining, Marbling, Gilding and Kalsomining. All work promptly attended to, and charges moderate. No. 144 Magazine, between Julia and Girod streets.

TO THE PUBLIC.—I AM NOW PREpared to remove and repair IRON SAFES; also Lightning Rods repaired and put up to order. I have also on hand New and Second-hand SAFES for sale, both Burglar and Fire-Proof. Particular attention paid to repairing Bank Locks and Printing Presses, on most reasonable terms.

GEORGE COATS,
de26 1y No. 168 Magazine street, near Julia.

Second-hand Sewing Machines always on hand and for sale. Also second-hand Copying Presses.

BUSINESS CARDS.

E. HEATH. M. LARA.

HEATH & LARA,

Importers and Dealers in

UPHOLSTERERS' GOODS, WALL PAPER WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,

Mirrors, Frames, Molding and Wire Screens,

No. 99 Camp Street.

no20 1y New Orleans.

F. A. QUINETTE,

FRUIT AND NURSERY DEPOT,

36.....Chronadelet Street.....36

NEW ORLEANS.

Fruit-Trees, Plants and Vines of the finest varieties always on hand, and delivered in the city free. de18 1m

JULIUS LOEFFLER,

GAS FITTER AND DEALER IN GAS FIXTURES, ETC.,

No. 43 Royal Street,

Between Customhouse and Blenville streets,

no20 3m New Orleans.

WILLIAM VELDEN,

DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,

Corner Prytania and Philip Streets.

Oak, Ash, Rakers' Pine, Lightwood and Charcoal always on hand. Wood sawed in stove-length and split. no6 2m

T. J. BROWN,

PRACTICAL PAPER-HANGER,

And dealer in Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Buff, Green and White Hollands, Picture Cord, Tassels, etc.,

No. 263 Camp Street, New Orleans.

All orders from the country promptly attended to. no6 3m

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ

131 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Calèche built anywhere oc23 3m

F. J. KUHNHOLZ,

Book-Binder,

112.....CHARTER-ST.....112

Orders for Ruling and Binding executed with neatness and dispatch. Merchants and others requiring Blank-Books will find it to their interest to order direct from the Binder. oc30 2m

GEORGE JOHN WAGNER,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Boots, Shoes and Brogans,

Corner Ursulines and Dauphine Sts.,

(SIGN OF THE RED BOOT.)

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of articles in the Boot and Shoe line, for Ladies', Gentlemen's and Children's wear, constantly on hand, and offered at the LOWEST PRICES. oc30 2m

SANTIAGO M. LAPEYRE,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS,

Also Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Etc., Etc.,

No. 53 St. Louis Street.

oc30 2m Cor. St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

THE PREMIUM BUTCHER STALLS.

MARTIN LANNES, BUTCHER,

STALLS 37, 38 and 7,

MAGAZINE MARKET,

New Orleans, Louisiana,

respectfully informs his friends and the public in general that he is prepared to furnish Families, Hotels, Boarding-Houses, Steamboats, Ships and Steamships with the best BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, SAUSAGES, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Game, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords, at the very Lowest Rates. Thanking my customers for past favors, I solicit a continuance of the same. Recollect the Stalls, Nos. 37, 38 and 7, Magazine Market, where all orders sent will be thankfully received and promptly filled. ☞ All Meats delivered free of charge. oc21 6m

NEW ORLEANS STENCIL WORKS

AND

MAGIC BATTERY MANUFACTORY.

AGENCY OF THE GOLDEN WONDER

GEORGE E. TEETZEL & CO.,

ENGRAVERS, STENCIL CUTTERS, STAMP AND SEAL-MAKERS,

82.....Gravier Street.....82

New Orleans, Louisiana.

Manufacturers of all kinds of Cotton Brands Stencil Plates, Ribbon Stamps, Seal Presses, Burning Brands, Door Plates, House Numbers, etc. etc. Ja30 1y

THE MITCHELL & RAMMELSBERG

FURNITURE CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN ALL KINDS OF

FURNITURE,

MATTRESSES,

LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.,

Nos. 103 and 165 Camp Street,

Corner Poydras, Moresque Building, New Orleans,

Have the largest and best assortment of FURNITURE OF ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.

Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. my29 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

H. D. WOOD & BROS.,

106 Common St., opposite City Hotel,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied. my1 1y

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

R. D. MACLIN,

No. 31 Carondelet Street.

Pittsburg, Anthracite and American Cannel Coal, screened for family use. All orders from the country will receive immediate attention.

Yard, cor. Third and Tchoupitoulas Sts. mh13 1y

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND

—AND—

DOOR FACTORY,

ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,

301, 303, 365 and 307 Gravier Street,

je5 1y New Orleans.

E. T. WALSHE

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

MEN'S

FURNISHING GOODS

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

CLOTHING,

No. 110 CANAL ST.

NEW ORLEANS

no6 1y

WILLIAM J. BEIRNE & CO.,

PROPRIETORS OF

Washington Cooperage Establishment,

COR. MARENGO AND LEVEE STS.,

have the most improved steam machinery in operation, and are thus able to make the finest quality of Sugar Hogsheads and Molasses Barrels. Their work guaranteed to prove satisfactory. Office—28 and 29 Front Street. oc23 4m

MISCELLANEOUS.

TO PURCHASERS OF DRY GOODS.

TO VIEW OUR SENIOR, MR. HOLMES, RETIRING FROM BUSINESS, WE propose offering from and after this date, at GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, our entire stock of EUROPEAN GOODS, in store and to arrive, and we can today present a choice of LADIES' DRESS GOODS such as has never before been offered in this city, consisting of

Satins, Diagonals, Draps de Dames, Cygoinne, Camels' Hair Cloth,

BIERITZ, DRAPS IMPERATRICE, SILKS, BLACK AND COLORED. ALSO

CONFECTIONS, ROBES DE CHAMBRES, MATINEES EN PERCALE, ETC.

THE GREATER PORTION AT

ONE-HALF THE PRICE OF IMPORTATION.

Our unsurpassed and unique assortment of LINGERIE AND LINGE, HOSIERY, LINENS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS will come under the category of the heavy reductions.

OUR DOMESTIC STOCK

Will be offered at manufacturers' reduced prices, which are from twenty-five to thirty-three per cent. lower than they were in the beginning of the season. As we rarely appeal to purchasers by means of advertisements, our assurance of the truth of all we advance can be relied on.

D. H. HOLMES,
ap24 1y No. 115 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.

GEORGE PURVES'

PERSEVERANCE

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD,

Cor. of St. Charles and Clio Sts., New Orleans.

GLAZED SASH.

Send for Price List.

de11 1y

BUSINESS CARDS.

HUGH FLYNN,

167 POYDRAS ST., NEW ORLEANS.

All who want to purchase CHEAP FURNITURE can call at 167 Poydras street, between St. Charles and Carondelet streets.

On account of retiring from the Furniture business, I am now selling off my large stock of New Furniture at greatly reduced rates. I am selling at rates below those of any house in the city.

Walnut Victoria Bed-room Sets, marble top.$125 00
Parlor Sets, eleven pieces..... 110 00
Double Bedsteads, with Testers and Rollers.. 12 00

Kitchen and Dining-room Furniture at equally low rates. Spring, Hair and Moss Mattresses of the best quality and at greatly reduced prices. de11 1y

H. MOLLEGEN & CO.,

DEALERS IN

All Kinds of Wood and Coal.

OFFICE—NO. 321 RAMPART STREET,

Between Calliope and Behrd.

Wood Sawed and Split by machinery at ONE-FOURTH the usual charge, and delivered Free. Wood and Coal sold at the lowest rates. Full measure guaranteed. Stove Wood a specialty. de11 2m

MUNCY & MARCY,

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Cypress Lumber, Shingles, Ash Wood

AND OAK STAVES,

SHINGLES A SPECIALTY.

121 and 126 Orford St., New Orleans.

P. O. Box 2238. Mechanics' Exchange, 6.

Agents for Steamer Alice, Amite River Packet, and for Steamer Amite, Pensacola Packet. de18 2m

D. DAVIS,

DEALER IN

Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing,

HATS, CAPS AND GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,

200.....POYDRAS STREET.....200

New Orleans, Louisiana.

Clothing made to order. All orders from the country will be promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. de18 2m

A. ENSMINGER'S

CRESCENT

STEAM TRUNK MANUFACTORY.

Depot, 11 Royal Street,

Bet. Customhouse and Blenville Sts., New Orleans.

Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of all kinds of Ladies' and Gentlemen's Travelling and Packing Trunks, Valises, Bags, etc.

Factory, Tchoupitoulas street, between Lyon and Upper Line, Sixth District. Trunks made to order, repaired and covered. de18 1m

JOHN McMAINS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL GROCER,

Dealer in Groceries, Teas, etc.,

Nos. 572 and 571 Magnalur Street,

Opposite Magazine Market, and

NO. 40 WASHINGTON ST., COR. FULTON,

NEW ORLEANS.

Goods delivered free of drayage. de11 2m

JOSEPH WOLFE & CO.,

"THE" CROCKERY STORE,

633 Magazine Street, New Orleans.

Our stock of Fancy China and Bohemian GLASSWARE, specially selected for the Holidays, will be found to be the largest and cheapest in the South. Goods packed and delivered to any part of the city free of drayage. de18 2m

MRS. LYNCH,

DRESS AND CLOAKMAKER,

180.....Canal Street.....180

Between Baronne and Dryades streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ Patterns for sale. no20 2m

LUMBER YARD.....FEED STORE.

F. HEFER,

Dealer in All Kinds of Lumber,

Oak, Ash, Poplar, Cedar, Walnut, Cypress, etc., and all kinds of Flatboat Lumber; also in Hay, Corn, Oats, Bran, etc., 618 and 950 NEW LEVEE street, between Sixth and Seventh streets (Fourth District,) New Orleans. no13 2m

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. JOHN G. ANGELL,

DENTAL SURGEON,

152.....Julia Street.....152

All operations in Operative, Mechanical and Surgical Dentistry carefully performed.

Nitrous Oxide and other Anæsthetics administered. de1 1y

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,

Between Julia and St. Joseph,

Ja2 1y New Orleans, La.

O. W. RACE. W. H. FOSTER.
E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice, Louisiana.

RACE, FOSTER & E. T. MERRICK,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place, ap25 NEW ORLEANS.

C. G. FORSHEY,

CONSULTING ENGINEER,

Academy of Science Rooms,

21 BARONNE STREET,

no20 2m New Orleans.

T. WHINERY CARTER,

ARCHITECT,

58.....CARONDELET STREET.....58

no13 2m New Orleans.

"A NEW THING UNDER THE SUN."

Sixteen Oil Paintings in a Book.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE'S latest work, "WOMAN IN SACRED HISTORY," is making a great sensation among Agents, because it is absolutely a new thing, and has "money in it." Never before was such an idea attempted in book illustration. PRIME AGENTS WANTED. Send for terms and circulars to J. B. FORD & CO., de18 4t Fourth and Elm Sts., Cincinnati, O.

IRON WORKS—BELLS.

BOSTON ORNAMENTAL

IRON WORKS.

EMPIRE LAWN MOWERS.

The Best in the Market.

Fountains, Vases, Statues, Deer, Dogs, Lions and other Lawn and Garden Ornaments.

Iron and Wire Railings for public and private buildings, banks, cemeteries, window-guards, etc.

Iron Crestings for Mansard roofs.

Iron Stable Fixtures of the most approved designs.

Copper Weather Vanes. Over two hundred new and original designs.

Emblematic Signs, suitable for every trade and profession.

Reynolds' Iron Roofing. Warranted.

All kinds of Wrought and Cast Iron made for building purposes. Estimates given. Send for catalogue.

BIBBER & CO., Proprietors.
Office—23 Exchange street.
au21 6m Factory—63 Merrimac St., Boston.

RAILINGS.....RAILINGS.

WROUGHT IRON AND WIRE RAILINGS

FOR

Public Grounds, Cemeteries, Cottages,

ETC., ETC.

Iron Bedsteads, with Wire Sackings, for Hospitals, etc. Verandas and every variety of Wrought Iron and Wire work. Every information by addressing the manufacturers,

M. WALKER & SONS,
se14 1y 805 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WIRE RAILING

AND

ORNAMENTAL WIRE WORKS.

DUFUR & CO.,

No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.,

Manufacture Wire Railing for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Sleeves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc. ie2 1y

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted

Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free

VANDUZEN & TIFT,

102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati

B. J. WEST, Agent,
mh6 1y 115 and 117 Magazine st., New Orleans.

MENEELY & KIMBERLY,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.

Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.

☞ Illustrated catalogue sent free. Jy31 1y

BABCOCK SELF-ACTING

FIRE ENGINE.

FOR CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE USE.

The Babcock Fire Extinguisher, Hook and Ladder Trucks, with Portable Fire Extinguishers attached. The Fire Departments in the principal cities of the Union use them daily. They are safe and simple, and a powerful protection. Forty-six railroads use them. Insurance companies reduce rates where it is introduced.

A. M. ORANGER, General Agent,
mh6 1y Exposition Building

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED

N. F. Burnham's New Turbine

WATER WHEEL

To be the Best ever Invented.

Pamphlet free. Address—York, Pa.

Jy24 6m

MILTUM IN PARVO.

HINES' COMBINATION STEAM COOKER.

The most perfect Steam Cooking Apparatus ever invented. Will cook SIX different articles at ONE TIME—MEATS, POULTRY, FISH, VEGETABLES, PUDDINGS, etc.—without one article tainting another, without the possibility of over-cooking or burning, and at the same time afford HOT WATER for Tea or Coffee, without interfering with the process of cooking.

No. 1, small family size.....$10 00
No. 2, medium family size..... 13 00
No. 3, large family size..... 16 00

Cookers sent to any part of the country on receipt of price, or C. O. D., with full instructions for using.

For sale at No. 52 GRAVIER STREET, New Orleans.

Agents wanted in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Send for circulars. Address

GOODWYN & CO.,
jy31 6m Lock Box 161, New Orleans, La.

SOUTHERN SALE STABLES.

COR. DELORD AND DRYADES STS.

Having purchased the above Stables from George W. Fisher, I will constantly keep on hand the largest variety of Kentucky MULES; also Harness and Saddle HORSES. Take the Jackson Railroad and Dryades street cars, foot of St. Charles street; they take you to the Stables in five minutes. Merchants, planters and dealers will find it to their interest to give me a call before purchasing elsewhere.

oc23 3m O. P. ALFORD.

MEDICAL.

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

THE STANDARD REMEDY FOR

SCROFULA,

And all diseases arising from

IMPURITY OF BLOOD,

such as Eruptions, Pimples, Boils, Ulcers or Sores, Abscesses, White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, etc., and all affections of the Eyes, Ears, Throat or Lungs, occurring in Scrofulous constitutions. For pamphlets, illustrating cases, send to

SWAIM'S LABORATORY,
113 S. Seventh street, below Chestnut,
de11 1m Philadelphia, Pa.

COUGHS.....COLDS.....ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS

Lapince's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm

IS THE SOLE REMEDY,

Combining efficacy of action with a most palatable flavor.

GIVE IT A TRIAL.

Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores and by the proprietor, H. LAPLACE, Chemist, no27 3m Nos. 23 and 25 Elysian Fields St.

POPE'S CURE

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS.

In all affections of the Throat and Lungs requiring the use of a mild, soothing and decidedly efficient remedy, this preparation may be used by persons of all ages, from

"The infant, mewling and puking in its nurse's arms,

To where the sixth age shifts—

Into the lean and slippered pantaloon"—

with perfect security. As an expectorant it will be found to act speedily and effectually, and in many cases, where actual Phthisis was supposed to exist, it has been known to render prompt and permanent relief.

Turn, sufferer, turn! why will you die,
Or coughs and colds endure,
When for a trifle you can try
A bottle of POPE'S CURE?

Price, 75 cents. Prepared and sold by

JOHN H. POPE, Druggist,
Corner of Jackson and Prytania streets,
BALL & LYONS, Camp St., Agents. de4 1m

MATHEW WEBER,

APOTHECARY,

No. 181, Cor. Royal and Spain Sts.,

has practiced as an Apothecary since 1836—before the School of Medicine was established in New Orleans. He defies any competition; moreover, there is no Chemist in the world who is able to analyze the following articles:

Weber's Spermatorrhic Pills ($2 per box.)
Cough Syrup ($1 per bottle.)
Sarsaparilla ($2 per bottle.)
Piles Ointment ($1.00 per box.)
Dyspepsia Mixture, and Lotion for Sores.

He guarantees all the above compounds free from Mercury or any other injurious ingredients. He charges only for his medicine. no6 2m

A BOX OF

LIVER PILLS (FREE)

GOES

WITH EVERY BOTTLE

OF OUR

AGUE MEDICINE,

which we authorize every druggist to sell on

THE WARRANT

that, if taken according to directions and it fails to cure,

The Money Shall be Refunded.

We guarantee that it contains neither Arsenic, Strychnine nor any other poisonous ingredient.

Hear what those who have used it say of it:

READ THIS.

Thos. Broughton, with John D. Park, of Cincinnati, says: "W. C. Hamilton & Co.—I had had the Ague for two long years, and had tried several remedies of acknowledged or pretended merit without any good result. I finally tried your preparation—KRESS FEVER TONIC. One bottle completely broke up the malady, and I am now perfectly well. I can testify that your medicine does all you claim for it; and it is only due to you that this acknowledgment should be made, especially as so many worthless chill medicines are now offered."

☞ Ask for KRESS FEVER TONIC, and remember the guarantee of the proprietors,

W. C. HAMILTON & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
Jy17 3m Cincinnati, Ohio.

BETHESDA MINERAL WATER.—THE acknowledged cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Liver and Billious Affections, Kidney and Urinary diseases. Sold, wholesale or retail, at 38 Magazine street.

J. C. McALLISTER,
Sole Southern Agent.
Address Glass Box 825. mh6 1y

WARRANTED CURE.

WARRANTED CURE.

Sufferers from CHILLS AND FEVERS, and those whose health has been seriously impaired by protracted attacks of Chills, are invited to write to the undersigned for the means of cure. The worst cases easily and thoroughly cured. Correspondence solicited. Address

DR. J. A. MAYES,
no13 3m Mayesville, Sumter County, S. C.

BRINLY PLOWS

Best and Cheapest in Use.

Have taken over 300 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue with Price-list, and Certificates of Planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
Louisville, Ky.

se25 6m

BINGHAM HOUSE, PHILADELPHIA.

Corner of Eleventh and Market Sts.

CARLIS DAVIS, PROPRIETOR.

This popular Hotel being centrally located and accessible by street cars from all depots, makes it a desirable stopping-place for travelers. It will be conducted in the same liberal manner as heretofore, it being the intention of the proprietor to maintain the reputation it has always enjoyed of being in all respects a first-class hotel.

Terms, $1 a day. se11 1y

New Orleans Markets.

From the New Orleans Price Current.

COTTON.—The following are the arrivals since the nineteenth instant:

| | |
|---|---|
| Louisiana and Mississippi | bales... 33,675 |
| Lake | 112 |
| Arkansas | 9,772 |
| Alabama | 3,283 |
| Florida | 8 |
| Texas | 610 |
| Total | 47,370 |

On Saturday the market opened under the depressing influence of a decline in foreign exchange and silver freights, as well as of a falling off of ½c. at New York, and buyers consequently claimed concessions of ¼@⅜c., which many factors were unwilling to admit, but later in the day the parties came together more freely, and the movement became quite animated, resulting in sales of 9,100 bales, twenty-two brokerage houses participating in the business. Good ordinary was reported as low as 13⅜c., and also sold at 13¾c., strict good ordinary at 14⅛, (14⅜@14¾c., strict good ordinary to low middling at 14⅜, 14⅝@14¾, low mnfdlling at 14⅞, 15c., 15@15⅛c. strict low middling at 15⅛@15⅜c., the latter for tuck style, and middling at 15c. On Monday the market opened with a very good inquiry and ample supply, but poor assortment, with a preponderance of the lower grades, while under a decline of ⅜ per cent. in foreign exchange, and of 1-16d. at Liverpool, buyers claimed concessions of ⅛@¼c., which checked the movement. The business summed up 10,500 bales. On Tuesday the market opened with a good demand, and, notwithstanding a further falling off in foreign exchange, as well as a decline of 1-16d. at Liverpool, a liberal business was done during the morning, mostly at previous rates, but partly at a slight falling off, after which the movement exhibited increased animation, but prices showed more irregularity, the day's business summing up 12,000 bales. We have put down the sales at 12,500 bales, but understand toward the close that there had been additional sales of at least 3,000 bales which were not reported.

The above makes an aggregate for the past three days of 31,000 bales, against 24,370 for the corresponding time last week and 22,950 the week before.

The receipts proper at this port since the first of September, exclusive of the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, are 93,058 bales, against 117,711 bales to the same date last year, and the increase in the receipts at all the ports up to the latest dates, as compared with last year, is 37,493 bales. In the exports from the United States to foreign countries, as compared with the same date last year, there is an increase of 38,925 to Great Britain, and a decrease of 4,005 to France and of 86,212 to other foreign ports. We quote:

| | |
|---|---|
| Ordinary | 11⅞ @ 12¼ |
| Strict ordinary | 12⅜ @ 12¾ |
| Good ordinary | 13 @ 13⅜ |
| Strict good ordinary | 14 @ 14⅛ |
| Low middling | 14⅜ @ 14¾ |
| Strict low middling | 15 @ 15⅛ |
| Middling | 15⅜ @ 15⅝ |
| Strict middling | 15¾ @ 16 |
| Good middling | 16⅛ @ 17 |

COTTON STATEMENT.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Stock on hand Sept. 1, 1873...bales | | 7,177 |
| Arrived past three days | 47,370 | |
| Arrived previously | 471,696 | 519,066 |
| | | 526,243 |
| Exported past three days | 37,440 | |
| Exported previously | 289,687 | 307,127 |
| Stock on hand and on shipboard | | 219,116 |

SUGAR.—The market has shown more activity, though without any improvement in prices until Tuesday, when the medium grades were firmer. There were receipts on Saturday and Monday of 2,200 hhds., and 1,800 hhds. were sold, including some from previous supplies, at 4¼@4½c. for inferior, 4⅝@5c. for common, 5@5¼c. for fair, 5⅜@5⅝c. for good fair, 5⅞@6c. for fully fair, 6⅛@6⅜c. for prime, 6¾@7c. for strictly prime, 8½c. for choice, 8⅝@7⅜c. for seconds, 8¼@8⅝c. for yellow clarified, and 9¼@10c. for white clarified.

MOLASSES.—On Tuesday 1,467 bbls. and 7 half bbls. were received, and partially sold at 30c. for inferior, 35@40c. for common, 50c. for fair fermenting, 55@55c. for fair to good fair, 54@56c. for prime, 58@60c. for strictly prime, and 65c. for choice.

CORN.—The supply is light, with a fair demand, but at easier prices for buyers. On Tuesday 3,000 sacks sold at 72½@73c. for white, and 74c. for yellow mixed.

OATS.—Are in good supply and dull. On Tuesday 2,250 sacks sold at 52@53c., a small lot of choice commanding 54c. ₩ bushel.

BRAN.—Is in light supply and dull, at easier prices for buyers. On Tuesday 100 sacks sold at 85c.

PORK.—On Saturday 300 bbls. mess sold at $15, and 100 new at $15.25 ₩ bbl.; and on Monday 50 bbls. new sold, on the landing, at $15.25, with the stock in store held at $15.50 ₩ bbl.

BACON.—On Tuesday 150 casks sold, in lots, at 8¾c. for clear rib sides, and 9, 9¼, 9⅛(@9⅜c. for clear sides, the market closing at the outside prices.

HAMS.—On Saturday 10 tierces new sugar-cured uncanvassed sold at 12c. ₩ lb. On Tuesday 25 tierces old, freshly packed, sold at 13c. ₩ lb.

LARD.—On Saturday 300 kegs refined sold at 9½c., and 35 tierces, in lots, at 8c. for kettle-rendered, and 8¼@8¾c. for refined.

MONETARY.

Gold opened on Tuesday at 110¼@110⅝ (against 110⅜ at New York,) and closed at 110@110⅛ (against 110⅜ at New York.)

Nothing has been reported in silver. It is extremely scarce. Quotations are entirely nominal.

New Orleans Wholesale Prices.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

Made up from Actual Sales as they Transpire.

| ARTICLES. | FROM | TO |
|---|---|---|
| AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS: | | |
| Cotton scrapers | $5 00 | $6 00 |
| Cotton sweeps | 5 00 | 6 00 |
| Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth | 9 00 | 16 00 |
| Cultivators, riding and walking | 25 00 | 45 00 |
| Shovels and spades | 7 50 | 15 50 |
| Axes | 12 00 | 17 50 |
| Shovel plows | 6 00 | 9 00 |
| Half do., with cutters | 8 00 | 10 00 |
| Manly's double-shovel plow | 6 00 | 9 75 |
| Corn mills, Coleman's | 350 00 | 425 00 |
| Bradford's grist mills | 350 00 | 235 00 |
| BACON, ₩ lb.: | | |
| Lake | 13 00 | 16 00 |
| Country | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| English fire | 45 00 | 50 00 |
| American fire | 35 00 | 43 00 |
| CANDLES, ₩ lb.: | | |
| Sperm, New Bedford | 33 | 36 |
| Tallow | 17 | — — |
| CHOCOLATE, ₩ lb.: | | |
| Cocoa | 38 | 60 |
| No. 1 | 50 | 52 |
| Sweet | 25 | — — |
| COAL, ₩ ton: | | |
| Anthracite | — — | 13 00 |
| Western, ₩ bbl. | — — | — — |
| COFFEE, ₩ lb.: | | |
| Mexican | 24 | 25 |
| Java | 32 | 35 |
| COTTON BAGS: | | |
| Rough, ₩ ton | — — | 10 00 |
| In sacks | — — | — — |
| EGGS, ₩ dozen: | | |
| Western | 25 | 27 |
| FERTILIZERS, ₩ ton: | | |
| Stern's raw-bone superphosph'e | — — | 65 00 |
| Stern's fine-ground bone | — — | 45 00 |
| FLOUR, ₩ bbl.: | | |
| Double extra | 5 90 | 6 00 |
| Superfine | — — | 5 25 |
| Fine | 4 25 | 4 75 |
| GLASS, ₩ box of 50 feet: | | |
| French, 8 by 10 | — — | 4 00 |
| French, 10 by 12 | 4 00 | 4 25 |
| French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20 | 4 25 | 4 50 |
| French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20 | 4 50 | 5 00 |
| HAY, ₩ ton: | | |
| Prime | — — | 21 00 |
| Choice | — — | 23 00 |
| IRON, ₩ ton: | | |
| English, ₩ lb. | 4¼ | 5¼ |
| Swedes, assorted | 7½ | 8 |
| Hoop | 7 | 9 |
| Sheet | 6½ | 10 |
| Nail rods | — — | 9¾ |
| Castings, American | 5¼ | 6 |
| LEATHER, ₩ lb.: | | |
| Sole, hemlock | 30 | 33 |
| Sole, oak | 40 | 44 |
| Harness | 38 | 45 |
| Calf-skins, ₩ dozen | 35 00 | 100 00 |
| Texas, rough, ₩ lb. | 24 | 26 |
| LIME, ₩ bbl.: | | |
| Western | 1 75 | — — |
| Cement | 2 75 | 3 00 |
| Plaster Paris | 3 50 | 3 75 |
| LUMBER, ₩ M feet: | | |
| Boards, yellow pine | 15 00 | 15 00 |
| Boards, cypress | 20 00 | 25 00 |
| Flooring, dressed | 18 00 | 21 00 |
| Flooring, rough | 14 00 | 17 00 |
| Ceiling, dressed | — — | 12 00 |
| Weatherboards, dressed | 15 00 | 18 00 |
| Weatherboards, rough | — — | 12 00 |
| Scantling | 12 00 | 14 00 |
| Shingles, ₩ M | 3 50 | 4 00 |
| Laths | 2 50 | 2 75 |
| OILS: | | |
| Lard, ₩ gallon | 75 | 85 |
| Coal oil, in barrels | 20 | 22 |
| Linseed, raw | 1 00 | — — |
| SUGAR, ₩ lb.: | | |
| Havana, white | — — | — — |
| Havana, yellow | 9 | 10 |
| Havana, brown | 9 | 9½ |
| Crushed | 11¾ | 12 |
| Pulverized | 13¾ | — — |
| TEAS, ₩ lb.: | | |
| Imperial | 50 | 1 30 |
| Gunpowder | — — | 1 60 |
| Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Young Hyson | 70 | 1 40 |
| Souchong | 30 | — — |
| Oolong | 40 | 1 10 |
| WAGONS, CARTS, ETC.: | | |
| Wagon, two-horse | 85 00 | 100 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 110 00 | 125 00 |
| Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein | 85 00 | 90 00 |
| Wagon, four-horse | 100 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane wagon | 180 00 | 210 00 |
| Ox wagon | 90 00 | 125 00 |
| Ox cart, complete | 110 00 | 115 00 |
| Cane cart | 85 00 | 120 00 |
| Tongue cart, complete | 120 00 | 125 00 |
| Plantation cart | 55 00 | 70 00 |

CATTLE MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23, 1873.

| | |
|---|---|
| Texas beeves, choice, ₩ head | — — @ 45 00 |
| Texas beeves, first quality, ₩ head | 35 00 @ 40 00 |
| Texas cattle, second quality, ₩ head | 20 00 @ 28 00 |
| Texas cattle, third quality, ₩ head | 12 00 @ 15 00 |
| Western beeves, ₩ lb. net | 10 @ 12½ |
| Sheep, first quality, ₩ head | 4 00 @ 5 00 |
| Sheep, second quality, ₩ head | 3 00 @ 4 00 |
| Milch cows, choice, ₩ head | 80 00 @ 100 00 |
| Milch cows, ₩ head | 35 00 @ 50 00 |
| Calves, ₩ head | 7 00 @ 10 00 |
| Yearlings, ₩ head | 8 00 @ 12 00 |

Business Directory

OF THE

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Agencies.
E. C. Bridgman, New York.
A. Coyle, St. Louis, Mo.
Mrs. H. Mogridge, purchasing agent, 96 Canal street.

Architects.
T. Wilhrey Carter, 58 Carondelet street.

Artificial Legs and Arms.
Lewis Lockwood, 59 Camp street.

Banks.
New Orleans Savings Institution, 156 Canal st.

Bed Springs.
John Flinn, Philadelphia.

Bells.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Buckeye Bell Foundery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Book-Binder.
F. Kuhnholz, 112 Gravier street.

Books and Stationery.
Robert J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.
American Sunday School Union, Philadelphia.
Continental Publishing Co., St. Louis, Missouri.
J. B. Ford & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
E. A. Hutchinson & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Nettleton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. Hale Powers & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Queen City Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
James W. Queen & Co., New York.
H. R. Thompson & Co., 9 Lakeside building, Chicago, Illinois.
United States Publishing Company, New York.
Valley Publishing Company, St. Louis, Mo.
A. D. Worthington & Co., Hurtford, Conn

Boots and Shoes.
John Hansen, 33 Canal street.
Mrs. H. J. Loewenstein, 549 Magazine street.
George John Wagner, corner Ursulines and Bauphine streets.

Bufhers.
Martin Lannes, stalls 37, 38 and 7 Magazine market.
J. Stafford, corner St. Peter and Old Levee sts.

Canned Goods.
J. Winslow Jones, Portland, Maine.
Burnham & Morrill, Portland, Maine.

Carpets.
A. Brousseau & Co., 17 Chartres street.
Elkin & Co., 168 Canal street.

Carringes, Wagons, Etc.
W. F. Clark, 134 Rampart street.
J. A. Lunn & Co., 362 Gravier and 33 Union street.

China and Crockeryware.
Alfred Damarin, 592 Magazine street.
W. C. Shepard & Co., 85 Camp street.
Joseph Wolf & Co., 633 Magazine street.

Clothing and Furnishing Goods.
M. Cogan, 19 and 21 Canal street.
D. Davis, 291 Poydras street.
Pierson & Hews, 33 and 35 Camp street.
R. T. Walshe, 330 Canal street.

Coal and Wood.
John D. Macfin, 34 Carondelet street.
H. Mollegen & Co., 323 Rampart street.
H. & C. Tyler, 9 Carondelet street.
B. D. Wood & Bros., 106 Common street.
Wm. Velden, cor. Prytania and Phillp streets.

Cooperage.
T. A. Beck, 23 and 24 Front street.
Wm. J. Beirne & Co., cor. Marengo and Levee.

Croquet.
Bradley's Patent Croquet, Robt. J. Harp, agent, 110 and 112 Camp street.

Dentists.
Dr. John G. Angell, 152 Julia street.

Dry Goods.
D. H. Holmes, 155 Canal and 15 Bourbon street.
St. Philip store, cor. St. Philip and Royal streets.

Educational.
Centenary College, Jackson, Louisiana.
J. W. Blackman's Commercial College, 131 Carondelet street.
Emory and Henry College, Washington county, Virginia.
Hiwassee College, Sweetwater, Tennessee.
Homer College, Homer, Louisiana.
Soule's Commercial College, corner Camp and Common streets.
Whitworth Female College, Brookhaven, Miss

Engravers and Lithographers.
John Gibson, New York.
George E. Teetzel & Co., 82 Gravier street.

Factors and Commission Merchants.
Aiken & Watt, 60 Carondelet street.
G. M. Bayly & Pond, 34 to 42 Canal and 59 and 61 Common street.
W. Harrington & Co., 79 Carondelet street.
M. J. & D. O'Brien, 32 Peters street.
J. U. & H. M. Payne & Co., 84 and 86 Baronne st.

Fire Engine.
Babcock Self-Acting Fire Engine, A. M. Granger, general agent, Exposition building

Frames.
Charles Hamilton, 661 Magazine street.
F. Wagener, 33 Baronne street.

Furniture.
J. Bols, 291 Camp street.
Hugh Flynn, 197 Poydras street.
F. Heiderich, 624 Magazine street.
Nath. Johnson, New York.
The Mitchell & Rammelsberg Furniture Co. 103 and 105 Camp street.
Sampson & Bros., 33 and 35 Royal street.

Gas and Steam-Pipe Fitters.
Barbarin Gas Machines, F. Roberts, superintendent. 2 Triangle building and 255 Peters st.
Julius Loeffler, 43 Royal street.
Jas. N. Quin, 118 and 120 Tchoupitoulas street.

Gilders.
J. A. Kernan & T. White, 100 Customhouse st.

Grocers.
John I. Adams & Co., 43, 45 and 47 Peters street.
John McMains, 572 and 574 Magazine street.
C. W. Roth, 175 Poydras street.
A. W. Skardon & Co., corner of Jackson and Rousseau streets.

Hardware.
A. Baldwin & Co., 74 Canal, and 91, 93 and 95 Common street.

Hides and Tallow.
New Orleans Butchers' Hide and Tallow Co.

Hotels.
American House, Boston, Massachusetts.
Bingham House, Philadelphia.
McAllister's House, cor. Carondelet and Julia.
Sherman House, Chicago, Illinois.
St. Louis Hotel, New Orleans.

Human Hair Goods.
J. G. Bernel, 121 Canal street.
James Heany, 226 Baronne street.
Miss C. C. Matthews, 282½ Camp street.

Ink.
Printers' Ink, S. Collins & Co., New York.

Insurance.
Ætna Life Insurance Co., 2 Carondelet street.
Equitable Life Assurance Co., 33 Camp street.
Factors' and Traders' Insurance Company, 37 Carondelet street.

Iron Manufactories.
Billings & Spencer Company, Hartford, Conn
Boston Ornamental Iron Works, Boston, Mass.
M. Walker & Sons, Philadelphia.

Labor Agency.
A. Hane, 84 Carondelet street.

Lumber.
W. W. Carre & Co., 350 Delord street.
Thomas Hassan, cor. Cedar and Julia streets.
F. Beier, 918 and 936 New Levee street
Muncy & Marcy, 424 and 426 Delord street.
Ocean Saw Mill, foot of Bordeaux street, Sixth district.
George Purves, cor. St. Charles and Clio streets.
Roberts & Co., 303 to 307 Gravier street.

Marble Yard.
N. P. Burnham's Water-wheel, York, Pa.
Daniel & James D. Edwards, 22 to 26 Front and 21 to 27 Delta street.
Lewis Johnson, corner Julia, Delta and Water streets.
Memsely & Kimberly, Troy, New York.
W. H. Reynolds, corner Fulton and South Market streets.
Jos. Walker, corner St. Joseph and Constance streets.

Magic Lanterns.
W. Mitchell McAllister, Philadelphia, Pa.

Manufacturers.
William Eberl, 164 and 166 Magazine street.

Medical.
Mrs. M. G. Brown's Metaphysical Discovery, 51 Bond street, New York.
Chills and Fevers, Dr. J. A. Mayes, Mayesville, South Carolina.
Citrate of Magnesia, etc., Hofmann & Co., N. Y.
Craddock & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Fever and Ague cure, Billings, Clapp & Co., New York.
Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Sirup, E. J. Hart & Co., New Orleans.
Hamilton's Buchu and Dandelion, W. C. Hamilton & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Laplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm, B. Laplace, 21 and 25 Elysian Fields street.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Buffalo, New York.
Pope's Cure, John H. Pope, corner of Jackson and Prytania streets.
Rogers' Citrate of Magnesia, Arthur Rogers, New York.
Simmons' Liver Regulator, J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
Swaim's celebrated Panacea, 170 William st., New York.
The Greatest Medical Discovery, Dr. Kennedy, Roxbury, Massachusetts.
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills, 18 and 20 Platt street, New York.
Matern Weber, apothecary, corner Royal and Spain streets.

Mineral and Soda Water.
Bethesda Mineral Water, J. C. McAllister, agent, glass box 825, New Orleans

Millinery.
H. Felsenfield, 191 Canal street.
Mrs. Garbanatti, 625 Magazine street.
Mrs. Kate C. Logan, 9 Bourbon street.
Mrs. Lynch, 180 Canal street.
Mrs. M. Tournaben, 296 Prytania street.

Musical Instruments, Publications, Etc.
Robert J. Harp, 110 and 112 Camp street.
S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, Ohio.
Charles H. Ditson & Co., New York.
Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, Massachusetts.
Louis Grunewald, 18, 20 and 22 Baronne street.
Lee & Walker, Philadelphia, Pa.
Alexander Mills, organ builder, New York.
Horace Waters & Son, New York.

Nurseries.
P. A. Quinette, 36 Carondelet street.

Painters.
A. S. Cutler, 136½ Camp street.
Johnson & Hillsman, 144 Magazine street.

Papers.
Moore's Rural New Yorker, New York city.

Paper-Hanger.
T. J. Brown, 263 Camp street.

Paper Mills.
Atlanta Paper Mills, Atlanta, Georgia.

Patents.
John A. Wiedersheim & Co., Philadelphia.

Pens.
R. Esterbrook & Co., New York.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

Perfumery.
Colgate & Co.'s Cashmere Bouquet.

Photographers.
Unthauer & Simon, 21 Hospital street.

Plows.
Brinly Plows, Brinly, Miles & Hardy, Louisville, Kentucky.

Professional.
Dr. C. J. Bickham, office, corner Magazine and Second streets.
C. G. Forshey, Civil Engineer, 24 Baronne street.
Dr. J. J. Lyons, office, 219 Carondelet street.
Race, Foster & E. T. Merrick, law office, corner Camp and Commercial place.

Preserved Corn.
Portland Packing Company, Portland, Maine.

Printing.
Pelican Job Office, 112 and 114 Poydras street.

Pumps.
Chicago Farm Pumps, R. S. Twichell, agent.

Railroads.
Great Jackson Route.
New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Railroad, office, corner Camp and Common streets.

Stereopticon.
L. J. Marey, Philadelphia.

Seeds and Flowers.
Kern, Steber & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
D. Landreth & Son, Philadelphia.

Sewing Machines.
Florence Sewing Machine Co., Florence, Mass.
Wheel Sewing Machine, 207 Canal street.

Show Cases.
Becker & Illuriehs, 14 Perdido street.

Soap.
J. H. Keller, 130 Gravier street.

Stables.
Southern Sale Stables, cor. Delord and Dryades.

Steamships and Shipping.
Cromwell Line, New York Steamers, Alfred Moulton, agent, 41 Carondelet street.
Merchants' Line New York Steamers, John H. Ludwigsen, agent, 190 Common street.

Stoves.
H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Tobacco and Cigars.
F. Esteva, corner Camp and Girod streets.
Santiago M. Lapeyre, 51 St. Louis street.

Trunks.
A. Ensminger, 44 Royal street.

Undertakers.
T. W. Bothick, 271 Camp street, New Orleans.

Upholstery.
Heath & Lara, 99 Camp street

Wants.
Address G. A. C., care Box 814, New Orleans.
Address W. P. Thomason, Red Mouth, La.
Goodwyn & Co., lock box 161, New Orleans.
Louisiana Paper Mills, 241 and 245 Liberty st.

Washing Machines.
Ringen Washer, H. Haller, 49 Camp street.

Watches and Jewelry.
New York Watch Company, Springfield, Mass.
E. A. Tyler, 135 Canal street.

Wire Railing, Etc.
Dufur & Co. Baltimore, Maryland.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

DEMOPOLIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Livingston | Jan. 3, 4 |
| Belmont, at Coatopa | 10, 11 |
| Eutaw | 17, 18 |
| Greene | 24, 25 |
| Demopolis | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Forkland, at Forkland | Feb. 7, 8 |
| Gainesville, at Gainesville | 14, 15 |
| Cuba, at Cuba | 21, 22 |
| Gaston, at Christopher | 28, Mar. 1 |
| Butler, at Bethel | Mar. 7, 8 |
| Bladen, at Laney | 14, 15 |

Let every official member be present at the first Quarterly Conference.

18 S. H. COX, P. E.

SELMA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Summerfield | Dec. 27, 28 |
| East Selma | Jan. 3, 4 |
| Tallahatta circuit, at Tallahatta | 10, 11 |
| Choctaw Corner, at camp ground | 17, 18 |
| Selma | 24, 25 |
| Jackson, at Jackson | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Suggsville, at Suggsville | Feb. 7, 8 |
| Orrville, at Orrville | 14, 15 |
| Dayton, at Spring Hill | 21, 22 |
| Uniontown | 28, Mar. 1 |
| Rembert Hills, at Shiloh | Mar. 7, 8 |
| Peachtree, at Liberty | 14, 15 |

The district stewards will meet at Uniontown, February 28. They are as follows: A. D. McVoy, T. T. Tallman, B. M. Allen, R. D. Hudson, H. A. Stollenwerck, J. P. Chapman, J. W. Portis, W. E. Bird, George Skinner, W. E. Kennedy, J. E. Pollnitz, C. C. Curtis.

18 ANDREW J. BRIGGS, P. E.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Whistler | Dec. 26, 21 |
| St. Paul's | 27, 28 |
| Franklin street | Jan. 3, 4 |
| St. Stephen's | 10, 11 |
| Citronelle | 17, 18 |
| Pollard | 24, 25 |
| Mount Pleasant | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Grand Bay | Feb. 7, 8 |
| Pensacola | 14, 15 |
| Milton | 21, 22 |
| St. Francis street | 28, Mar. 1 |

18 J. HAMILTON, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Terry circuit and Crystal Springs | Jan. 3, 4 |
| Georgetown, at Pleasant Grove | 10, 11 |
| Beauregard, at Beauregard | 17, 18 |
| Providence, at Pleasant Grove | 24, 25 |
| Brookhaven | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Scotland, at Caseyville | Feb. 7, 8 |
| Bogue Chitto, at Bogue Chitto | 14, 15 |
| Zion, at Bethel | 21, 22 |
| Raymond, at Clinton | 28, Mar. 1 |
| Monticello, at Topsaw | Mar. 8, 9 |
| Hazlehurst | 15, 18 |
| Brandywine, at Pisgah | 23, 22 |

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Crystal Springs, January 3.

W. E. M. LINFIELD, P. E.,
25 Hazlehurst, Mississippi.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Woodville station | Jan. 3, 4 |
| Clinton, Louisiana | 10, 11 |
| Jackson, Louisiana | 17, 18 |
| Pipkin charge | 24, 25 |
| Wilkinson, at Bethel | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Bayou Sarat, at Concord | Feb. 7, 8 |
| Buffalo | 14, 15 |
| East Feliciana | 21, 22 |
| East Baton Rouge | 28, Mar. 1 |
| Meadville | Mar. 7, 8 |
| Amite | 14, 15 |

The district stewards will meet at Jackson, Louisiana, January 17 and 18.

J. L. FORSYTH, P. E.,
25 Jackson, Louisiana.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Waynesboro | Jan. 3, 4 |
| Enterprise station | 10, 13 |
| Spring Hill circuit, at Bethel | 17, 18 |
| DeKalb circuit, at Pleasant Ridge | 24, 25 |
| Marion and Toomsuba ct., at Marion | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Wayne circuit, at Enon | Feb. 8, 9 |
| Decatur circuit, at DeSoto | 15, 16 |
| Quitman and Clarke cts., at Quitman | 22, 23 |
| Meridian | 28, Mar. 1 |
| Enterprise circuit, at Bascom's chapel | Mar. 8, 9 |
| Shubuta station | 15, 16 |

The official members should all be present at the first quarterly meeting. Official members of Quitman and Clarke circuits will meet at Quitman together for quarterly meeting. The district stewards, viz.: T. P. Bell, William Calloway Broadaway, Stress Taylor, T. Y. Blanks, G. D. McCormick, Zeb. Gathright, John McCormick, Holden, S. B. Watts and A. Trotter, will meet at Meridian on Thursday, January 8, at the Methodist church, at eleven o'clock. I hope that the preachers will notify and urge these stewards to be on hand on that day.

25 WILLIAM B. HINES, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

| | |
|---|---|
| Jackson station | Jan. 3, 4 |
| Canton station | 10, 11 |
| Madison circuit, at Madison station | 17, 18 |
| Sharon circuit, at Sharon | 24, 25 |
| Camden circuit, at Soule chapel | 31, Feb. 1 |
| Yazoo circuit, at Benton | Feb. 7, 8 |
| Yazoo City and Silver Creek | 14, 15 |
| Dover circuit, at Fletcher chapel | 21, 22 |
| Mount Olivet circuit, at Shiloh | 28, Mar. 1 |
| Thomastown circuit, at Forest Grove | 7, 8 |
| Brownsville circuit, at Bolton | 14, 15 |
| Carthage circuit, at Conway | 21, 22 |

The district stewards will please meet at Canton on Friday, the sixteenth of January, 1874, at ten o'clock A. M. They are: N. H. Lane, A. M. Hicks, W. L. Klutz, J. R. Bell, I. W. Merchant, E. C. Pottell, G. W. Galloway, R. T. Stokes, G. R. Fearn, Thomas Coleman, J. P. Stevens, T. L. Holliday and J. J. Birdsong.

H. H. MONTGOMERY, P. E.,
25 Sharon, Mississippi.

THE CLEARING HOUSE.

THE BALANCE

OF THE

GOODS DAMAGED BY WATER

AT

THE LATE FIRE ON CANAL STREET.

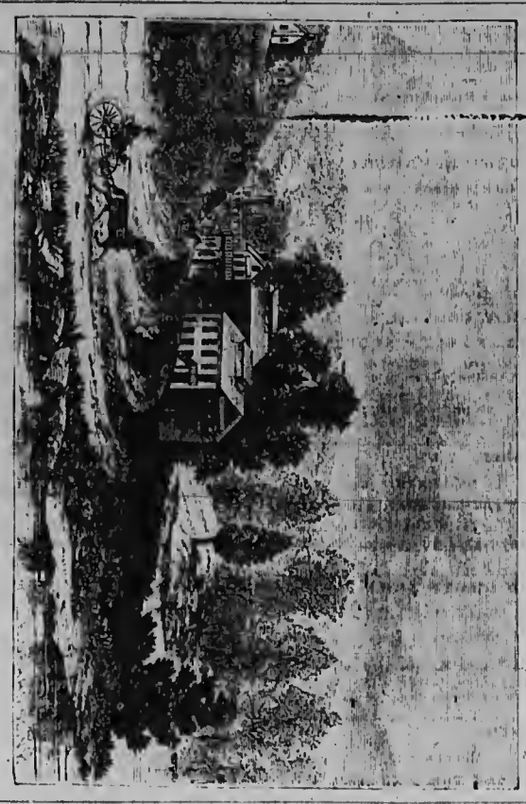
Fine Winter Dress CLOTHING.
Boys' Clothing, Shirts and Hats.
Splendid Beaver and Pilot Cloth Overcoats, Tailors and Pea Jackets.
The latest styles of HATS.
Cloth, Silk, Velvet and Fur CAPS.
Linen Shirts and Underclothing.
Leather and Zinc Trunks and Valises.

All slightly damaged by water during the LATE FIRE ON CANAL STREET, and which will be sold FIFTY PER CENT. below cost, at

M. COGAN'S,
Nos. 19 and 21 Canal street,
de4 1m Bet. the Customhouse and the River.



FINE-TONED, LOW-PRICED, WARranted. Circulars sent free.
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO.,
(Successors to Blymyer, Norton & Co.) Cincinnati, O.
ap3 1yeow Office and Works, 664-694 W. Eighth St.

LABOR AGENCY AND IMMIGRATION Office, 84 CARONDELET STREET, between Perdido and Poydras streets, where the best and most reliable help, of all nationalities, sexes and colors can be had for city or country, upon short notice, by leaving order; and on the most reasonable terms.

A. HANE, Agent,
84 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

N. B.—My customers at a distance will please arrange for transportation for hands ordered, giving the name of some responsible citizen or merchant here as security to contract and payment of office fees. de11 1y

PAPER MILLS.

ATLANTA PAPER MILLS,

JAMES ORMOND, PROPRIETOR.

OFFICE—NO. 43 BROAD STREET, ATLANTA, GA.

☞ For Specimen of "News" we refer to this issue of this Paper. ☜

Cash Orders Solicited. no6 1y

INSURANCE.

FACTORS' AND TRADERS'

INSURANCE CO.,

37 Carondelet Street 37

NEW ORLEANS, NOV. 17, 1873.

Extract from the Seventh Annual Statement.

| | |
|---|---|
| Premiums for fiscal year ending April 30, 1873 | $735,857 95 |
| Losses paid within the year | 350,200 41 |
| Reserved for unterminated risks, April 30, 1873 | 103,220 00 |
| Interest and savings received | 152,906 31 |
| Net premium profits for fiscal year | 130,982 72 |
| Gross net profits after payment of $100,000 interest | 283,760 03 |

ASSETS,

April 30, 1873 $1,570,278 32

Fire, River and Marine Risks Written at the Current Rates of Premium.

HARMON DOANE, President.
MOSES GREENWOOD, Vice President.
ED. A. PALFREY, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

| | |
|---|---|
| Moses Greenwood, | John I. Adams, |
| W. A. Johnson, | Isaac Scherck, |
| John I. Noble, | R. M. Walmsley, |
| John Chaffe, | William Morrison, |
| Richard Milliken, | Joseph W. Carroll, |
| Samuel E. Moore, | A. Brittin, |
| J. J. Warren, | J. T. Pace, |
| R. T. Buckner, | A. H. May, |
| Samuel Friedlander, | S. H. Snowden, |
| H. Frellsen, | T. Lytt. Lyon, |
| W. S. Pike, | W. C. Raymond, |
| A. A. Yates, | James S. Prestidge, |

Samuel H. Boyd. de1 3m

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.

WILLIAM E. FITZGERALD,
Manager for Louisiana and Mississippi,
NO. 2 CARONDELET ST. (Room No. 10,)
oc23 3m New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BILLINGS' PATENT

Sewing Machine

SHUTTLES.

Twenty Varieties Now Made.

Forged solid from bar-steel and cold pressed.

TRADE B MARK.

Also Wrought Iron and Steel

DROP FORGINGS

of all descriptions, for Guns, Pistols, Sewing Machines, Agricultural Implements, etc.

MANUFACTURED BY

Billings & Spencer Co.,

LAWRENCE STREET,

au25 6m Hartford, Conn.

NEW ORLEANS

SAVINGS INSTITUTION,

156 CANAL STREET 156

Incorporated March 15, 1855.

OFFICERS.

L. F. GENERES, President.
THOS. A. ADAMS, First Vice President.
THOS. ALLEN CLARKE, Second V. President.
CHARLES J. LEEDS, Third Vice President.
SAM JONES, Jr., Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

| | |
|---|---|
| Dr. W. Newton Mercer, | David Urquhart, |
| L. F. Generes, | John T. Gaines, |
| George Jonas, | Carl Kohn, |
| Thos. A. Adams, | Christian Schneider, |
| Thos. Allen Clarke, | Samuel Jamison. |
| Charles J. Leeds, | |

☞ SIX PER CENT. INTEREST on deposits. oc23 3m

GEORGE BURNHAM, JR. J. E. BURNHAM.
C. S. MORRILL.

BURNHAM & MORRILL,

PACKERS AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

HERMETICALLY-SEALED GOODS,

MEATS, FISH AND VEGETABLES,

No. 61½ Commercial Street,

And corner Commercial St. and Burnham's Wharf,

PORTLAND, MAINE.

an28 6m

DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY.

THE LATEST AND NEATEST STYLES.

Mrs. Garbanatti,

625 MAGAZINE STREET 625

(Aurleh Row,) New Orleans.

Best of work. Prices moderate. Country orders solicited.

Every Lady Her Own Dressmaker.

MRS. GARBANATTI, 625 Magazine street, has a novel and useful invention for Cutting Dresses, Basques, etc., with which she will teach ladies to Cut and Fit without waste or possibility of error. Call and see for yourselves, ladies. Terms moderate. oc25 3m

STEAMSHIPS—STEAMBOATS.

FOR NEW YORK.

The Cromwell New York and New Orleans Steamship Line.

Leaving New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage $50 00
Steerage Passage 25 00

Through bills of lading to foreign and coastwise ports issued.

ALFRED MOULTON,
mh20 1y No. 43 Carondelet street.

FOR NEW YORK.

Merchants' Steamship Line.—Sailing from New York and New Orleans EVERY SATURDAY.

Cabin Passage $50 00
Steerage Passage 25 00

Through tickets to Liverpool and the Continent.

New Orleans wharf—Foot of Jefferson street.
New York wharf—Pier No. 4, North River.

JOHN H. LUDWIGSEN, Agent,
fe13 1y No. 190 Common street.

RAILROADS.

GREAT JACKSON ROUTE.

Trains depart and arrive as follows (from Depot foot of Calliope street:)

DEPART.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 7.10 A. M. |
| Mail | 5.55 P. M. |

ARRIVE.

| | |
|---|---|
| Express | 10.45 P. M. |
| Mail | 11.00 A. M. |

Accommodation discontinued.

This line is many miles the shortest and many hours the quickest to all points North and East, and the only line running Pullman's Palace Sleeping-Cars to Louisville and St. Louis (Missouri) without change. Only one change to principal cities North and East. Tickets for sale and all information given at 22 Camp street, corner of Common, New Orleans.

A. D. SHELD